PREFACE

This directory, listing clubs, associations, societies, and other organizations in the greater Louisville area available for civilian defense activities, facilitates access to organized community resources. In addition, the lists of officers and committee chairmen provides the coordinator of Civilian Defense for the City of Louisville and Jefferson County with rosters of community leaders with specific civic interests whose assistance can be obtained as needed in the development of the program of volunteer participation in civilian defense activities.

An inventory of the organizations listed in the directory was conducted by porsonnel in the War Services Section of the Work Projects Administration in Kentucky, through the medium of calls made on the officers of these organizations, at which time certain pertinent information concerning these civic groups was obtained for use in the directory.

Editing of this data on each organization, the preparation of extracts from the field data, the compilation of the directory and its issuance in mimeographed form was also accomplished through the agency of W P A.
