DECISIONS OF THE COURT OF APPEALS.

(Reported expressly for the Kentucky Yeoman by DANIEL JAMES, Attorney at Law, Frankfort.)

The Harrod's Creek Railway Subscriptions Constitutional—Recitals in the Preamble of Legislative Acts.

Allison and others, vs. The Louisville, Harrod's Creek, and Westport Railroad Company. Louisville Chancery. Lindsay, Judge.

The Legislature, at its last session, enacted: "That the County Court of Jefferson county subscribe for 1,250 shares of the capital stock of the said Louisville, Harrod's Creek, and Westport Railway Company, in behalf of said Harrod's Creek precinct, and issue to said railway company, in payment therefor, the coupon bonds of the said precinct, in denominations of not less than one hundred nor more than one thousand dollars payable to bearer twenty years after date, and bearing interest at the rate of six per centum per annum, interest until paid, and payable semi-annually."

The duty here imposed upon the County Court is purely ministerial, and it was invested with no discretion, but was required, as the agent of the General Assembly, to do a given act, the propriety of which had already been passed upon by the law-making power. The time at which the subscription was to be made is not fixed in the act, but it must be assumed that it was the intention that it should be made within a reasonable time after the act took effect. The imperative character of the language used forbids the conclusion that the subscription was not to be made until $100,000 of stock had been subscribed for by private individuals. The sixth section of the act seems to contemplate the possibility that with this subscription the road could not be extended further than the Oldham county line; and this court is of opinion that the conviction, upon the part of the General Assembly, that the subscription by Harrod's precinct for 1,250 shares of the capital stock of the company would enable it to extend its road to that point, exercised a controlling influence in inducing the enactment of this mandatory statute. This court cannot, therefore, adjudge that the provisions of this act are to be regarded as modified or restricted by anything contained in the original or amended charter of the company.

For the purpose of this litigation the doctrine may be accepted as correct, that local communities cannot be required to become stockholders in a private railway corporation without their consent, and yet the lower court properly refused the injunction prayed for. The preamble of this act recites that it was passed upon the petition of a majority of the voters and tax-payers in the precinct. Generally the consent or approval of the community to be subjected to the character of taxation involved in this case is obtained by a submission of the question to the people, at an election held for that purpose, and the acceptance of the provisions of the act by a majority of those voting, has uniformly been held sufficient to authorize the imposition and collection in the shape of taxes of such sums as may be necessary to pay the sum subscribed. In this case the Legislature declared that it had secured in advance, the consent of not only a majority of the voters, but of the tax-payers of Harrod's precinct. If this declaration be accepted as true, we have the consent which appellants insist is necessary to bring the act within the constitutional power of the Legislature, and the courts cannot interfere to defeat the legislative will. The case of Simendorf vs. Carmichael, 3 Littell 489, where a recital in a purely private act was not treated as true, is not in point. This is a public act, intended to operate upon a local community it is true, but for the purpose of accomplishing an end deemed by the Legislature a matter of public interest to that community. It diverts no private rights, and affects the citizen only to the extent that it requires him to perform a public duty, or rather to submit to an assessment against his property for the good of the local public. Whether the recital in the preamble that the necessary consent had been obtained, is, or not conclusive, need not be decided, but in the absence of allegation and proof to the contrary, the courts must treat it as at least prima facie evidence of the fact. (8 Bush, 456.)

The act under consideration does not attempt to render valid a subscription for stock therefore attempted to be made by the County Court for Harrod's precinct, but provids for a new subscription altogether. It is not therefore subject to the rule announced in the late case of Allison, &c., against this Railway Company, and in Gaines vs. Gaines, 9 B. Mon; 295.

Judgment affirmed.

another. He defied any man, from the time of Blackstone to the present time, to frame a provision that would restrict a people in this right. He cited the Constitutional Convention of Ohio and spoke of the Ferguson bill. The author of our intellect never gave the capability to restrict this right. The only way to accomplish it was by a property qualification. The man who in the time of a country's peril contributes his muscle and his sons to defend that country has the right to a voice in its government. The people have the right to say for what they shall be taxed. You want to tie their hands, and do a thing which Great Britain had never done, and which he would never favor. The abuse of the power was the reason assigned for taking the principle away. This provision could not be engrafted in the Constitution. If our State Government cannot afford redress for local grievances, away with it, and substitute a centralized despotism. The whole tendency of public sentiment is, that the Legislature should provide for local legislation. We had done all we could do on this subject, and further restriction was impossible.

REGISTRATION.—The Legislature had the power to give the city of Louisville a registration law. Why had it not been asked for? He thought it a good thing for Louisville, but there was too much apathy with the people of his county to exercise their right to vote now. That may do for Massachusetts, New York, or Philadelphia, but he asked to be delivered from it in his county. He wanted this right to remain just where our Constitution placed it. He thanked the House for the indulgence in hearing the views of his constituency through him. The success of the Democratic party and of the country were against Constitutional reform. 40,000 colored votes were a unit on the question. Who are the allies of the Democrats in favor of Constitutional Convention? The negroes and Radicals. The results of the labors of that convention will be confided to the views of a powerful majority. Do you wish to place yourselves in a position where, to accomplish your desire, you have to make concessions to the Radicals and negroes? We have a Constitution by which the peace, propriety, and happiness of the State have always been maintained.

There is no homogeneity of views with the friends of the measure; and if they do not agree now, how will they agree when the convention assembles? Look at the past and the future—what our present Constitution has done, and the evils we will subject ourselves to by a convention. Look at the subject calmly and dispassionately, and let it stand or all as it possesses merit.

Castelar's Letter to Gen. Lew. Wallace.

President Castelar's letter is as follows:

MADRID, November 4, 1873.

Gen. Lew. Wallace:

DEAR SIR: I have received your superb work, which I shall keep in my library as a literary monument, and in my heart as a memorial of friendship. The cultivation of the history of Spain by some of the most eminent men of Saxon America proves that our people will become brothers more and more as ages pass. The sentiments which you express toward me are a transcript of those which I entertain toward you. I admire in you a writer who has illustrated the history of my race by his genius, and as a soldier who has wielded his sword in defense of the greatest and most illustrious of modern republics. I have expressed to my esteemed friend Gen. Sickles my gratitude for your courtesy in sending me your highly prized book.

I beg to assure you of the friendship and admiration with wich I am your comrade in political faith. EMILIO CASTELAR.

Demons at Work Again—A Specimen of Ku-Klux Literature.

The villainous piece of composition which we give below was received through the post-office one day last week by Sam Winlock, an industrious, inoffensive colored blacksmith, who lives on the Bardstown pike near Donaldson's shop, about seven miles from this place. Sam is a good workman, and his shop was a great convenience to the neighborhood, but about six weeks ago it caught fire very mysteriously and burned to the ground, entailing a loss of about $700 upon its owner. Unaware that he had an enemy in the world, he bought lumber and set about rebuilding, which called forth this warning from his cowardly foes. The precious document is written in backhand, with the evident design to conceal the author, while the top of the page is ornamented with a sketch of a coffin. It reads as follows:

"Nigar Fate—Sam Winlock you dam Old Son of a Bitch I see you are preparing to Build your shop Woe be to you if you do it will be burned sure as hell we are watching you and that dam Donahue the Dam Niger Sympathiser if he dont walk strait he will go up to if you do build we are going to set house and shop both in the creek the best thing you can do is to quit this part of the country and that as soon as possible and learn how to talk to white folks before you go Bully Boys K. K. K."

As the law affords no protection to poor workingmen against these cowardly incendiaries and murderers, we hope Sam Winlock and Donahue will follow the good example of the old negro Dan'l Johnson, and afford us the very great pleasure of recording the utter demolition of the first "K. K. K." that attempts to molest them. Such villainous threats are best answered by "villainous saltpetre" and "lead, the pious metal most requisite on such occasions." That this is no idle threat is proven by the first burning, and the best way to avert it is to administer a load of buckshot to its infamous author the moment they attempt to put it into execution.

Dr. Tutt's Pills are composed of many ingredients. Prominent among them are Sarsaparilla and Wild Cherry, so united as to act together; the one, through its admixture with other substances, purifying and purging; while the other is strengthening the system. Thus these Pills are at the same time a tonic and a cathartic, a desideratum long sought for by medical men, but never before discovered. In other words, they do the work of two medicines and do it much better than any two we know of, for they remove nothing from the system but impurities, so that while they purge they also strengthen and hence they cause no debility and are followed by no reaction.

Dr. Tutt's Pills have a wonderful influence on the blood. They not only purify, without weakening it, but they remove all noxious particles from the chyle before it is converted into fluid, and thus make impure blood a utter impossibility. As there is no debilitation, so there is no nausea or sickness attending the operation of this most excellent medicine, which never strains or tortures the digestive organs, but causes them to work in a perfectly natural manner; hence persons taking them do not be some pain and uneasiness, but on the contrary, while all impurities are being removed, the combined action of the Sarsaparilla and Wild Cherry purifies and invigorates the body, and a robust state of health is the result of their united action. Price 25 cents a box. Sold by all druggists. Depot, 10 Cortlandt Street, New York. dec13 1y

The Child Wonder.

Little James G. Speight, who died in Boston recently, was not quite seven years old. His father telegraphed that he died of heart disease; but this interpretation of the cause of his death is considered doubtful by physicians in this city. He was buried at Mount Auburn at 2 o'clock yesterday. His whole life had been phenomenal. Those who knew him as the infant leader of the orchestra at Niblo's, will remember the precocious abandon with which he surrendered himself to the spirit of the piece which he chanced to be performing. This was only natural, and the daily life of the little enthusiast was consistent with it. When he was five years old he was brought to this country from England by his parents. They were persons not remarkable for musical ability, but naturally were proud beyond measure of their little son's genius. Almost the first public exhibition in which he appeared was Niblo's, and he sprang, in an evening, into national fame. He could remember an air as soon as he could utter articulate sounds. The little prodigy at four years old, used to be the sole performer in home exhibitions, to which the neighbors would be invited to come. Though he never laid any special plans, he seemed to grasp the whole scope of his possible future. From his conversation and incidental expressions, it could be seen that the child looked forward to greater and more lasting triumphs. He seemed to despise his success, and said that by and by he would "make some music" of his own. Sometimes one of the orchestra, during an exhibition, would "play a point" on him, "as the expression among them was—that is, would purposely make a mistake by twitter him. On these occasions he not only recognized the error, but was able to distinguish from the nature of the sound that it was done on purpose. He would turn with a rogueish assumption of anger and smack his fist at the player who gave it forth. On his first came off the stage his spirits were still upborne by the music and the excitement incident to his position, and he would see exclaim, adopting the technical stage expression for success before an audience, "did I hit em to night? Did I hit em?" Or, greater times he would break out with clear emphasis on the interjection, "Oh! I made a mistake—played bad; but you'll see me hit em to-morrow night!" Until eight or nine months ago he played nothing but music. From that time he studied hard at music, and with a success that was almost as surprising as his natural gift. He was adept at work at reading and writing, and showed him-elf an extraordinary bright child at these studies. It is feared that he was allowed to use his precocious brain too continuously. Yet he never knew a day's sickness, and the agony which, as he say in to by his father's side last Saturday night, pierced from him the piliral cry, "Never mind, make room for a little fellow!" was the first serious pain, perhaps, that he had ever felt. He was the friend of everybody, and was the special pet of the ladies of the company. On Sunday, Mr. Zimmerman, of Niblo's Garden received a telegram from the father, beginning with the words, "Break this to Fanny as gentle as possible," and narrated briefly the circumstances of his son's death. The broken-hearted mother hastened to Boston by a night train.

SPREAD OF CERTAIN DISEASES.—It is to be regarded as a settled fact that diseases of a contagious nature are caused and spread by influences largely within the control of our control. This fact has recently been strongly urged by Dr. Symes Thompson, a well-known English physician, in a lecture delivered by him in London. Every form of infectious fever, he asserts, has its idiosyncrasy. Thus enteric fever and cholera tend chiefly to disseminate themselves through the pipes into the wells and fountains of daily supply; scarlet fever hibernates in a drawer, and after long months comes forth with some old and cast-aside garment, to be thrown with a jerk around the throat or head of some new victim, and so start thence upon a fresh career; typhus fever crawls sluggishly from hand to hand and mouth to mouth; typhoid fever generates itself where filth, overcrowding, and impure habits of life prevail. So well known are these characteristics, and the means of control, that the existence or spread of such disease is directly attributable to neglect of the most simple laws of prevention.

The New Combustible.

We stated, says Galignani's Messenger a short time ago that a Belgian peasant had made extraordinary discovery that earth coal and soda, mixed up together, would burn as well and better than any other combustible, and the fact has since been proved beyond a doubt. The way in which he found this out is curious. He had been carrying the ashes of his cellar with a shovel, in order to bring all the bits of coal lying about into a heap, which, mixed as it was with earth and other impurities, he put into the stove. To his astonishment he found that this accidental compound burnt better instead of worse than he expected, and emitted much greater heat. Being an intelligent man, he attempted to discover the cause, a d found that a great deal of soda, probably the remnant of the last wash, had worked out of the lime of the ceiling, and that some of it must have got into his heap. He then made a few experiments, and at length improved his compound sufficiently to render it practical. The publicity given in Belgium to this discovery caused trials to be made everywhere, and it has now been ascertained that three parts of earth and one of coal dust, watered with a concentrated solution of soda will burn well and emit great heat. Many Parisian papers talked of it, but only one, the Moniteur, went so far as to make the experiment at its printing office. A certain quantity of fraiba and slightly sandy earth was mixed with the quantum of coal dust prescribed; the two ingredients were well incorporated with each other, and then made into a paste with the solution above mentioned. The fireplace of one of the boilers had previously been lighted with coal, and fire was kept up with shovelful of the mixture. The latter, in a few seconds, was transformed into a dry, brown crust, which soon after burned very brightly, and then burned brightly, but without being very rapidly consumed. The fact of the combustion is, therefore, well ascertained; but before the system can be universally adopted, several important points to be considered, such as the calorific power of the mixture compared to that of pure coal, its price, and, above all, a remedy for the great drawback attaching to it—its fouling the fregrate considerably.

THE BEST EVIDENCE.

The following letter from Mr. E. S. WEST, Pastor M. E. Church, Natick, Mass., will be read with interest by many readers. Also those suffering from the same disease as mentioned in the case of the Rev. E. S. West. No person can doubt this testimony, and thousands can testify to the wonderful powers of VEGETINE!

NATICK, MASS., January 1, 1873.

Mr. H. R. STEVENS—DEAR SIR: We have good reason for rejoicing over VEGETINE, a medicine of the purest and best quality, and that it has been the means of saving our son's life. He is now nearly twenty-one years old, and for two years has suffered from necrosis of his leg, caused by scrofula, which at times so reduced him that nearly all who saw him thought his recovery impossible. A council of able physicians could give him no encouragement, and he was failing, when the doctor advised us to use his precious brain too continuously. Yet he never knew a day's sickness, and the agony which, as he say in to by his father's side last Saturday night, pierced from him the piliral cry, "Never mind, make room for a little fellow!" was the first serious pain, perhaps, that he had ever felt. He was the friend of everybody, and was the special pet of the ladies of the company. On Sunday, Mr. Zimmerman, of Niblo's Garden received a telegram from the father, beginning with the words, "Break this to Fanny as gentle as possible," and narrated briefly the circumstances of his son's death. The broken-hearted mother hastened to Boston by a night train.

Respectfully yours, E. S. WEST.

The range of diseases which it did to the influence of this medicine extends to all those diseases when it never fails to cure, to greater than any other single medicine has ever been ever recommended. It is by no other than the proprietor of some quack nostrum. These diseases are Scrofula and all tempers thereof, Salt Rheum, Ulcers, Consumption, Neuralgia and Sick and Nervous Headache, Dyspepsia, Costiveness, Piles, all Syphilitic diseases, Kidney and Bladder diseases, Dropsy, the whole train of female complaints, arising from disorders of the blood and system, which are always caused by a torpid liver, and the great and universal cure of American mankind, Heartburn, Pain, Costiveness, Nervousness, Inability to Sleep and Indigestion.

This is a fearful list of human ailments for any medicine to cure, and it would be thought by most probable that any one article before the public would not be able to cure all these, but we say that VEGETINE! It has in the seat at the root of the disease, by its alterative or tonic, imparting from the blood, promoting the secretions, opening the pores and causing a healthy action of the skin, invigorating the liver to its full and natural action, cleansing the stomach and strengthening digestion. Thus it is that VEGETINE does cure all and the permanent cure of not only the diseases we have mentioned but likewise those of a kindred nature and most national disorders, is certain to follow. The testimonials of the Rev. E. S. West show that it so quickly and so easily that it can accomplished cure almost before the patient is aware of it himself.

VEGETINE is composed of Roots, Barks and Herbs. It is very pleasant to take. Every child likes it. Sold by all druggists. feb7-4w

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which curse from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

No one remedy is longer called for by the necessities of the American people than a cure for and sure cure for Fever and Ague. Such we are now enabled to offer, with a perfect certainty that it will eradicate the disease, and with assurance, founded on proof, that no taint can arise from its use in any quantity.

That which protects from or prevents this disorder must be of immense service in the communities where it prevails. Prevention is better than cure, for the patient escapes the risk which he must run in visiting the haunts of the baleful distemper. This "Cure" expels the miasmatic poison of FEVER AND AGUE from the system, and prevents the development of the disease, if taken on the first approach of its premonitory symptoms. It is not to be a bed remedy if ever yet discovered for this class of complaints, but also the cheapest. The large quantity by supply for a dollar brings it within the reach of everybody; and in bilious districts, where FEVER AND AGUE prevails, everybody should have it, and use it freely, both for cure and protection. It is hoped this price will place it within the reach of all—the poor as well as the rich.

A great superiority of this remedy over any other ever discovered for the speedy and certain cure of intermittents is, that it contains no Quinine or mineral; consequently it produces no quinine or other injurious effects whatever upon the constitution. Those cured by it are left as healthy as if they had never had the disease.

Fever and Ague is not alone the consequence of the unhealthy properties of a majority of Herbs, Roots, and Barks, but also of Miasmatic Poisons, Malaria, Bilious, Toothache, Earache, Catarrh, Asthma, Palpitation, Painful Affection of the Spleen, Hysterics, Pain in the Bowels, Colic, Paralysis, and derangement of the Stomach, all of which, when originating in the same cause, not in the intermittent type, or become periodical. This "Cure" expels the poison from the blood, and consequently cures them all alike. It is an invaluable remedy for the benefit of those and persons travelling or temporarily residing in the malarious districts, and the inhabitants of those daily while exposed to the infection, that will be expected from the system, and cannot accumulate in sufficient quantity to ripen into disease. Hence it is even more valuable for protection than curing, and will cure and suffer from intermittents if they avoid themselves of the protection this remedy affords.

For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity of the Liver, it is an excellent remedy, stimulating the Liver into healthy activity, and producing many truly remarkable cures, where other medicines fail.

FRIDAY.--------FEBRUARY 13, 1874.

☞The Louisville Commercial does not like to contemplate the effects of Republican rule in the Southern States as shown up a few days ago in THE YEOMAN, but says "turn to the prosperous North and West." Very well. The people of the West are so tired of Republican rule that they are organizing themselves into a great Farmers or Grangers Party, for the express purpose of cutting loose from the Republican organization and combating some of the giant evils growing out of and sedulously fostered by Republican rule. And then too, look at Ohio. Since the inauguration of Governor Allen in Ohio, some peculiar facts have been unearthed, which serve to show that Republican rule is much the same all over the country. In 1856, when the Democratic party went out of power in that State, the entire State and local taxes amounted in round numbers to $8,000,000 per year. The State has since been under the uninterrupted control of the Republicans, and the result is that last year the taxes for all purposes amounted to the enormous sum of $25,000,000. Such is the exhibit made by the journals of that State, and the statement has not been denied in any quarter that we have seen.

☞If the soldiers now scattered over the Southern States, where they are of no earthly use except to familiarize the minds of the people with military rule, had been stationed out upon the Western frontiers instead, the country would not every month or so be startled by the sickening intelligence of Indian massacres of the pioneers and their helpless wives and children, not to speak of the small squads of soldiers who are sometimes overpowered and murdered, as was the case in the Territory of Wyoming last Tuesday. It is about time our whole military system were overhauled, both for the benefit of the hardy pioneers of the West, and that of the people at large and the United States Treasury. The frequent recurrence of these massacres, burnings, and raidings by the Indians, while thousands of soldiers are idling away their time on useless "garrison duty" in the South, is another one of the beautiful outcroppings of the effects of Republican rule to which we have lately adverted.

LEGISLATIVE—CONTINUATION OF THE DEBATE ON THE UNIVERSITY QUESTION IN THE HOUSE.

In the House yesterday at 12 o'clock—the hour at which it was understood that the debate on the University Question would be resumed—there was not so dense a crowd of either ladies or gentlemen present on the floor or in the lobbies. The public interest in the debate seemed to be subsiding, and there was a general desire expressed to know how the House would vote upon the momentous question already decided by the Senate.

When it was announced that the unfinished order from the day before—the bill, substitute, and amendment in reference to Bacon College—would be taken up, Mr. Ward rose in his place and said he had a motion to make which, to prevent misconstruction, he would preface with an explanation. The theme of providing for the education in the higher branches of learning of one's own race, was one that might well tempt any member to his best and highest effort as a speaker before this body. It was one of the loftiest themes that could engage the attention of legislators. But, this theme, and the questions growing out of it in connection with Kentucky University, had been thoroughly discussed in all their phases and ramifications. Every one would admit that. Besides this however, the session was rapidly drawing to a close, and there was still a vast amount of almost equally important legislation, which imperiously demanded attention before the final adjournment. In view of these considerations, and, although he was one of those who believed that Kentucky University belonged to the Christian Church and that substantial relief ought to be granted to the petitioners of that church by this General Assembly, yet he deemed it his duty to move and did move the previous question.

Mr. CLAY said he hoped the motion would be withdrawn. A great deal of latitude had been allowed on yesterday, to the gentleman from Woodford, who had indulged in severe personalities, and he thought the other side ought now to be heard. He hoped the motion would not prevail until the other side was heard.

Mr. BLACKBURN replied that the gentleman from Bourbon did him injustice. He had in his remarks the day before expressly disclaimed personal criticism. His animadversions, however severe, had been aimed at the official conduct of the individuals he had named. He desired also to say, in this connection, that his remark on yesterday in reference to the constitutional objections of Mr. Ward to the amendment of Mr. Scales as not being worth consideration, was not intended to reflect on the legal attainments of the gentleman from Harrison for which he had the highest respect. He had simply meant to say that the argument of unconstitutionality, in the face of the express stipulation in the charter of Kentucky University reserving to the Legislature the right to alter, amend, or repeal, was not worth a moment's consideration. Nothing more.

Mr. WARD's motion being then rejected, Mr. Preston obtained the floor and addressed the House in an able and forcible argument of some thirty-five or forty minutes, of which the following is an outline:

MR. PRESTON'S REMARKS.

Mr. PRESTON said he did not intend to enter upon the general discussion of this question. It would not be consonant with his feelings to do so. He had no desire or intention, even if it were in the line of his argument, to go into any personalities, or to make any reflection whatever upon the Christian Church or its members. His whole purpose was to give his reasons for the final vote he intended to give upon this bill. He should confine himself to the legal aspects of the question. Where was the use of denunciation, upon a question resting solely upon a basis of law? The churches do not now claim the ownership and control of the Kentucky University—they have abandoned that ground, and their advocates here now claim it for the Donors. But, he denied that even the Donors had any legal or moral right to recall or control the gift they had parted with to the Curators. Therefore the substitute was equally inadmissible with the original bill. Mr. Preston here read from the printed report of the minority the Joint Committee made a week or two since. Then, he said, it was maintained that the churches owned and ought to control the University property. Now, by means of this substitute, they come before us and abandon their late position, and say, that the Donors are the proper owners of the property and ought to control it! This was certainly clearly inconsistent, and was, indeed, a more untenable position than the first. He then read from the opinion of Chief Justice Marshall, of Kentucky, in reference to an institution at Louisville, where the city of Louisville, as the donor of the property of that institution, subsequently claimed on that account the control of the institution, and the endowment funds; but, the claim was disallowed by the Chief Justice. This, he said, was a precisely parallel case. But, if the property does not belong to the church or to the donors, who does it belong to? Plainly he believed, to the Curators, in whom it was vested by the charter. But, if the Curators mismanaged, to whom were they accountable? And, is there any evidence before us that they have violated the conditions of the charter under which they hold the property? There was, he said, no such evidence or facts, in any legal form before this Legislature. All of the charges and arguments were hypothetical. Not a single scintilla of proof had been adduced by any of the learned gentlemen on the other side that the Curators or Mr. Bowman had in any way mismanaged the institution or violated the conditions of the trust reposed in them. Mr. Bowman stood before this body unblemished and untarnished. No fact had been adduced in any legal form against him. The House ought to listen with caution to gentlemen who make insinuations without proof. Mr. Preston read from the charter of the University to show that the funds and the legal title to all of the property—money and lands—were fully vested in the Curators, and could possibly be in no one else. They were, indeed, under that charter, visitors, guardians, and controllers of the institution in all of its details. Now, if they have been guilty of any malfeasance in office, then it is perfectly competent for the courts of the country to take it out of their hands and repose the trust in the hands of other Curators or trustees. Nothing had been shown here derogatory to the characters or conduct of these Curators; nothing to warrant a court of justice, much less this Legislature, in taking the control away from men in whom both the legal ownership and right of control are vested. He read from an elementary law book to show that the visitorial power of Kentucky University was vested solely in the Curators, and was so vested by the donors, and this right could not be impaired by legislation. He would not deny that the Legislature had the right under the language of the charter to change or even repeal the charter. But, he would also say that we ought to be extremely cautious and prudent how we exercised such a power over a great institution like this. Shall we adopt this substitute? Under that substitute, it is sought to take away the property vested in the Curators, and give it to others. This would be a violation of justice and of vested rights, and if passed, would be declared by the Courts null and void. What has been done by these Curators that they should forfeit their charter and their chartered rights? If we take the facts as presented before us, not a single charge of mismanagement or infidelity to their trust, has ever been made or established before this body. The substitute asks us to form new contracts with new individuals. But, for himself, he would answer, No. He would not be led away by this unreasoning noisy clamor—he would be no more misled by insinuations such as had been made by a number of gentlemen, and especially by the distinguished gentleman who sat before him (Mr. Blackburn). Here, Mr. Blackburn arose and denied that he had dealt in insinuation, but had made all the charges he had to make, in plain unmistakable language such as no man could possibly misunderstand or misconstrue. Mr. Preston, resuming, said, he was glad that gentlemen would act cautiously in this matter. All he asked, was, that this question should be relegated to the courts—the Chancery Court—where it properly belonged: that was the tribunal to which it should be remitted. It was a matter peculiarly within the jurisdiction of the courts, because there the facts could be brought out and witnesses would be subjected to the solemnity of an oath. In this way, the whole truth in legal shape could be brought out. If, as he had shown, everything had been conducted by Mr. Bowman and his coadjutors with the utmost propriety, why all this clamor? Has any awful murder been committed? Has any crime or any grievous and startling misdemeanor been committed? No—it is something else—it is something hidden behind the scenes: it is not apparent to this Legislature; and, therefore he said let it be remitted to the Chancery Court, where the cause of all this trouble could be brought to the light of day. He begged gentlemen to shut this question out from this Hall. The only parties in this case were the Curators and the State of Kentuck. Has any donor ever complained to the Legislature or to the Courts? No: then, where are the grounds, what are the causes of grievance? They are hidden from view; and, if he were disposed, like some of the gentlemen on the other side to speak his suspicions on this floor, he would say that these hidden causes of grievance have been sedulously propagated and disseminated for the sole purpose of ousting Regent Bowman and the present Board of Curators, and placing certain impecunious gentlemen in their seats: but he would not say so. Mr. Preston concluded by repeating that he would dispose of this whole question by relegating it to the Court of Chancery. Let us, as Representatives, do justice, though Heavens should fall.

MR. BIDWELL'S REMARKS.

Mr. BIDWELL next obtained the floor. He commenced by assuring the House that he should speak only ten minutes. The substitute had placed him in an equivocal position. He believed that the Christian Church should control the University, and he could not vote for the substitute which gave the control to the donors. The repeal of the act of 1858 would legislate the University out of existence, and the instant that is done the property would revert to the donors. By what authority could Transylvania University be transferred to the new corporation created by the substitute? It cannot be done without destroying the University. This, he was unwilling to do. He was unwilling to destroy an institution that belongs to the Christian Church. Rather than do this, rather than pass the substitute, he believed it would be better to acquiesce in the action of the Senate; go home to the people for justice; and in two years from this time a new Legislature would do the Christian Church justice. But he would prefer to vote down the substitute; amend the original bill; pass it; he, for one, would vote for it with a shout; for he believed it would save the University from impending ruin. For thirty long years the women of Kentucky had followed that University like a human Holy Ghost; and it would be sacrilegious now to destroy it by such legislation as is proposed by this substitute. In this matter, he did not know John B. Bowman, and would vote on the question as though no such man existed.

MR. STONE'S REMARKS.

Mr. STONE desired to reply to some of the extraordinary positions of Mr. Preston, who had taken the extraordinary position that the University belonged absolutely to Regent Bowman and the rest of the Curators. That gentleman had said let us resort to the courts; but who could bring this suit against such irresponsible owners as he had made out the Curators to be? Here Mr. Preston interrupting said that any one interested in or benefited by the institution could bring the suit. Mr. Stone contended that if any party had abandoned its position in this matter, it was the other side. He read from a report of the Curators to show that they had acknowledged themselves the trustees of the Donors, and claimed that they had faithfully administered their donations. How could they be both trustees, and absolute owners, as contended by the gentleman from Trimble? Mr. STONE then proceeded to answer Mr. Bidwell's argument against the substitute, saying that the Christian Churches would retain control through the donors, all of whom were members of the Christian Church. He adverted to the conduct of the Regent in the management of the funds, stating that there were $48,000 loaned out by him as Treasurer, and that he refuses to give any information about it—he will not even tell where it is loaned or invested. He repelled the insinuation of Mr. Preston that some impecunious persons were trying to get into Mr. Bowman's shoes, and said it was unfair. He contended that the substitute still assured the control of the University to the Christian Church. The charter compels this Legislature to make the University subservient to the Christian Church and to its agents, in the diffusion of knowledge. Every true friend of that church was called upon to vote for the substitute as the best that could now be done.

Mr. J. M. WRIGHT, to solve the question of the rights of the donors, caused to be read by the Clerk an extract from Gen. Withers' argument before the Joint Committee, showing that he said then that "the donors, as such, even those within the church, are not the owners of the institution, and have no right to any voice in its control."

The House then rejected Mr. Scales' amendment by a vote of yeas, 30; nays, 61.

Mr. SCALES explained his vote for his own amendment. He said that he claimed the honor of offering the only amendment offered in the interest of the State. He should now however vote for it with regret, as he saw that it was the determination of the majority to stultify themselves by rejecting it, and that Democracy here was gravitating toward Radicalism.

Mr. R. A. JONES said he had at first voted for the amendment, but in the meantime he had heard the able argument of the gentleman from Harrison, showing its unconstitutionality and had been convinced thereby. He should therefore now vote NO.

The sub-stitute proposed by Mr. D. W. Wright was then read by the Clerk; after which, the vote was taken upon it and it was rejected by a tie vote. When Mr. Badger's name was called he said that the substitute, in one of its provisions, established a test of orthodoxy without establishing any tribunal before which questions of orthodoxy could be decided. He should, therefore, vote NO.

For the remainder of the proceedings with the final vote of the House adopting the original bill by a majority, see our regular report elsewhere.

AUGUSTA COLLEGE.

The following is the report of the Senate Committee on Courts of Justice relating to the sale of the property of Augusta College:

The committee, to whom was referred leave to bring in a bill to authorize the sale of Augusta College property, in Bracken county, have had the same under consideration, and are unanimously of opinion that the Legislature has no authority to pass a law authorizing a sale of said property except upon conditions, some of which appear in the bill submitted.

They say that the title to the same is by deed vested in certain trustees for college purposes, and there is nothing appearing to this committee to show that all of the trustees are asking for a sale; and so long as authority is withheld by one trustee, we hold that a sale cannot be authorized by judicial proceedings.

The committee are of opinion, further, that this Legislature has no authority to authorize a sale of said property and distribute the proceeds among the several school districts in Bracken county, because all of the trustees are opposed to such action, as the committee infer from their silence in the matter.

The committee ask to be discharged from the farther consideration of the leave.

HON. E. A. GRAVES' AMENDMENT TO THE UNIVERSITY BILL.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, February 12th, 1874.

Editor Yeoman:

SIR: As I was unable to get my amendment before the House, and obtain a vote thereon, to what is commonly called the University bill, I would most respectfully ask you to give it an insertion in the Yeoman. It was in the words following:

Amend the substitute by striking out sections two, three, and four, and inserting instead: The individual living donors to the several funds of the Kentucky University, including the donors of Transylvania University and Bacon College, and the Trustees of the Transylvania University, and the Governor of Kentucky in behalf of the Agricultural fund, or their proxies, are hereby authorized and empowered to elect thirty persons as Trustees of Kentucky University. The first election shall be held in the city of Lexington, Kentucky, on the first Wednesday in April, 1874, and every five years thereafter. Each of said living donors shall be entitled to one vote for each one hundred dollars subscribed by him or her. The Trustees of the Transylvania University shall vote for that University on the basis of one vote for each one hundred dollars of its fund not voted by living donors of that institution. The Trustees of the State shall cast one vote in person or by proxy for each one hundred dollars of the Agricultural fund invested for the benefit of the Agricultural College, so long as said College is connected with the Kentucky University.

Respectfully,

E. A. GRAVES.

PROCLAMATION BY THE GOVERNOR.

STATE OF KENTUCKY, EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

WHEREAS, IT HAS BEEN MADE KNOWN to me that on the night of the 30th of January, 1874, a band of men in disguise entered the town of Smithsville, in our county of Monroe, and broke open the county jail and rescued therefrom one George Taylor, who was confined therein upon a charge of being a fugitive from justice, and of having committed murder in Clay county, Tennessee; and that said band of men, so disguised, in company with said George Taylor, on the same night after the rescue, went to the house of J. P. Grimstead, Sheriff of Monroe county, and shot at and attempted to kill said Grimstead, and threatened to burn his house, and did thereby greatly terrify and abuse the family of said Grimstead and other citizens of said town; and it having been made known to me that said George Taylor and said band of disguised men have eluded the vigilance of the officers of the law, made good their escape, and are now going at large.

Now therefore, I, PRESTON H. LESLIE, Governor of the Commonwealth aforesaid, do hereby offer a reward of THREE HUNDRED DOLLARS each for the apprehension and conviction of said parties of the crime herein set forth.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the Commonwealth to be affixed. Done at Frankfort, the 10th day of February, A. D. 1874 and in the 84d year of the Commonwealth.

LEAD FROM OUR

Henry County Mines.

THE FIRST SPECIMEN OF PIG LEAD FROM the Furnace of the Louisville enterprise can now be seen at the office of the Silver and Lead Mining Company, Masonic Temple, with Colonel Hodges, Secretary of the Company. It is solid and pure, and equal to any lead in the market. We have more than two hundred tons of ore on our mineral floor that will yield 25 per cent. of lead, and we can take out one ton per day for every man employed on the vein from the lower side, in addition to what we take out of the shaft, now about 40 feet deep, and holding a vein from 2 to 4 feet wide, varying ranging from 12 to 20 inches. With an addition of from ten to three thousand dollars worth of machinery for crushing and cleaning the ore, we can produce from one to three tons of pig lead per day (the amount will depend upon the number men employed), at a cost for labor, and the additional machinery required. Our vein is a true reserve, therefore invaluable. The Company has length of vein sufficient for five companies to work. The above are facts which we can prove to any one who will take the trouble to investigate this matter. We have all the buildings the Company requires for the present.

We now offer 500 shares of stock at $10 per share, paid up in quantities to suit the purchaser. For further particulars and stock call on or address

It increases the GROWTH and BEAUTY of the HAIR. It is a delightful Dressing. It eradicates Dandruff. It prevents the Hair from turning gray. It keeps the head cool, and gives the hair a rich, soft, glossy appearance. It is the SAME in QUALITY and QUALITY as it was over a QUARTER of a CENTURY AGO, and is sold by all Druggists and Country Stores at only Fifty Cents per Bottle.

DAILY KENTUCKY YEOMAN

FRIDAY.....FEBRUARY 13, 1874.

STABLE BURNED.—Last night, a little before 8 o'clock, the city was startled by a sudden alarm of fire coming from the quarter North of the Capitol, whence, a few seconds later, a bright flame shot up toward the sky, illuminating almost the whole heavens. On repairing to the spot, it was ascertained to be an old stable belonging to Capt. Sanford Goin, on the lot near his former residence, at the corner of Mero and St. Clair streets. The stable, being filled with combustible material, soon burned down; but all the horses were saved. The fire brigade, with its engine, was promptly at the spot, and did good service in confining the fire to the stable. It is believed to have been the work of an incendiary. Loss about $300 No insurance.

THE HELEN D'ESTE TROUPE AT MAJOR HALL.—The Hidden Hand, presented by the Helen D'Este Troupe at Major Hall last evening—the fifth of their engagement here—served still further to bring out in bold relief the versatility of the whole Troupe, and especially of Miss Helen D'Este herself, and Mr. J. J. Stuttz. Mr. C. V. Basye, who made so fine a hit the evening before as "the Spectre Bridegroom," acquitted himself with equal success as Col. Lenoir, while Mr. C. T. Wolfe, as Ira Warfield, and Mr. J. H. Thorne in the part of Wool, frequently brought down the house. By the by, the house was, as usual, a full one.

The Troupe will give their sixth performance this evening, on the occasion of Miss Helen D'Este's benefit, when she will appear in her celebrated part of "Leah," in "Leah, the Forsaken;" to be followed by the farce of "The Rough Diamond."

☞All the principal railroads in the State, have signified their purpose to issue round trip tickets for those wishing to attend the Democratic State Convention.

☞In view of the crowd expected to be present at the State Convention, it has been suggested that it be held at Major Hall, instead of Representatives Hall, as with the floor of the latter encumbered with desks, but a small number can be accommodated. The idea strikes us a good one.

☞The Paris Patrie asserts that the German and American Governments are exchanging sharp and unfriendly notes on the subject of emigration.

☞JOHN SHERIDAN, "the great hotel thief"—so says the sapient press reporter—the same who robbed Lord Talbot, at the Pacific Hotel, Chicago, a month ago, was captured at the Palmer House in the same city on Wednesday last. He gave up a large amount of plunder, and then shot himself in the head—for shame no doubt. He will probably die—a thing he ought to have done before.

☞Gen. D. W. Lindsay gave an elegant entertainment last night to the Court of Appeals and members of the bar. The company numbered sixty or seventy gentlemen.

☞Now that the University question has been disposed of in the House, it is to be hoped that every energy will be bent to cleaning the calendar of the large number of bills which are awaiting action, especially those of a general nature.

☞The Masquerade to be given by the Assembly Ball Club on Tuesday night is the theme with every one, and a grand affair is expected.

☞The question of consolidating the office of Police Judge with that of Mayor—that is, giving the Mayor judicial as well as executive and administrative functions—is agitating the public mind of Owensboro. The Monitor favors the project.

DENTAL NOTICE.—Dr. Floore has returned to Frankfort, and is ready to operate for any who may desire his professional service. tf

☞J. M. Duncan, Esq., President of the Louisville Board of Trade, was in the city yesterday.

☞Among the most agreeable social features of the winter have been receptions given every Thursday evening during the session by Mr. and Mrs. J. Watts Kearny. Their parlors were, as usual, thronged last night with visitors, and it was matter of general regret that it would be the last, in consequence of the fact that Lent will begin next week.

☞We observe that Col. Phil. Lee is announced in the Louisville papers as a candidate for re-election as Commonwealth's Attorney for the Ninth District. The Courier-Journal of yesterday alludes to the fact in the following terms, so just to the talents and official capacity of Col. Lee that we reproduce them:

COL. PHIL. LEE.—We announce this morning Col. Phil. Lee as a candidate for re-election to the office of Commonwealth's Attorney, which he has filled with signal ability for one term. He has proven himself a most efficient and successful prosecutor. His superior in the high position which he holds cannot be found. The records of the Jefferson Circuit Court show more convictions in capital cases under his prosecution than under those of any prosecutor the State has ever had. He is vigilant and indefatigable to the discharge of his trying and difficult duties. If his success as an advocate has been great, his powers as an orator are unquestioned—they are of the very highest order, and would distinguish him in any sphere. There are those who well remember instances in which distinguished counsel made his impassioned and eloquent appeal to the jury grounds for a new trial. He is eminently the man for the times and the place to which he aspires, and we trust that the people of the Ninth Judicial District will see that he is triumphantly re-elected. Indeed, we hope he will have no opposition. We are glad to observe his restored health.

(For the Yeoman.)

A HEALTH TO THE "SEASONS."

BY J. W. RICKERS.

We love the cold, bleak winter,
And the brandy punches too,
When the pretty girls are skating,
O er the ice, the frost, and snow;
We would like to be among them,
They're a gay and happy crew,
Who would not love the winter
And the brandy punches too?

We love the sunny spring-time,
We love mint-julops too;
We love to stroll into the fields
When the flowers sweetly blow;
When the little birds do softly sing,
And they look so happy, true,
Who wouldn't love the gentle spring,
And her rarest blossoms too?

We love the bright, warm summer,
Ice-cream and sherbet too;
We love the forest, green and dark,
Where the weeping-willows grow;
Where the butterflies are sporting out
Among the flowers, gay.
Who wouldn't love the summer time,
When the zephyrs gently play?

We love the dear old autumn,
And the apple-cider too;
We love the golden harvest,
That autumn's brought for you;
We love the different seasons,
For God hath made them so.
Who wouldn't love dear autumn,
And its gorgeous harvest too?

CALL FOR A STATE CONVENTION.

At a joint meeting of the Democratic State Central and Executive Committees, held at Frankfort, Saturday, December 6th, it was resolved that a Delegate State Convention of the Democracy of Kentucky should be held at the city of Frankfort on Wednesday, February 18th, 1874, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the office of Clerk of the Court of Appeals. In pursuance whereof, I hereby invite the Democracy of the several counties to assemble in county meetings, and appoint delegates to attend said Convention. The Chairmen of the respective County Committees are requested to take the necessary steps for holding said meetings—care being observed that ample notice be given of the time and place for such meetings.

THE SHACKELFORD LETTER.

EDITORS OF THE YEOMAN: Inclosed find copy of the letter written by Prof. Shackelford, of the Kentucky University, which has excited so much comment. Please print and send bill to the undersigned. M.

[From the Missionary Quarterly, March 1873.]

LEXINGTON, Kentucky Feb., 1873.

Dear Brother Munnell: I see you propose the establishment of a separate school for the education of colored men for the ministry. Way cannot they be educated in our existing Bible School? While some may doubt the propriety of mixed schools for general education, does it not seem to you that in a school devoted exclusively to the cause of Christ and his Church, every worthy Christian brother who has the necessary qualifications ought to find admittance? So it seems to me.

I know how difficult it is to overcome the prejudices of race and of education, but God has taught us to call no man common or unclean. Yours, in the Redeemer,

JNO SHACKELFORD, Jr.,

THE INDIANS ON THE WYOMING FRONTIER. MURDERING, BURNING, AND RAIDING AT RANDOM—THE SIOUX ON THE RAMPAGE.

CHEYENNE, Feb. 11.—The information telegraphed from Fort Laramie states that on Monday Lieutenant Robinson, of the 14th infantry, and Corporal Coleman, company K., 2d cavalry, were surrounded by forty or fifty Indians near the saw-mill, ten miles from Fort Laramie, and murdered. Their bodies were found yesterday, and are riddled with bullets and arrows, but are not otherwise mutilated. Two companies of cavalry, under the command of Captain Egan and Lieutenant Allison, have been sent in pursuit of the Indians. Colonel Bullock arrived at Fort Fetterman yesterday, and reports that he saw a large party of Indians on the upper crossing of Horse-Shoe creek, singing and dancing a scalp-dance. The Sioux are reported as raiding in almost every direction, burning ranches, murdering ranchemen, and stealing stock. A company of cavalry, under the command of Captain Wessels, left here to-day for Patter station, on the Union Pacific road, where the Indians have been driving in section men and stealing stock.

LATER INTELLIGENCE.

A telegram from Fort Laramie states that the mail carrier from Red Cloud agency, with guard and escort, arrived at that place, and brings the information that Frank Appleton, who was acting Indian agent, in the absence of the agent, was shot on Monday night, by Minneconjus, a Sioux. On the same night fourteen mules were stolen from the Government freighter, Charles Goreau, within three miles of the agency.

At White Clay agency, the Indians have driven off the beef herders and taken charge, saying they will do their own issuing. The corpse of Mr. Appleton was left with the agency's doctor for Fort Laramie. The doctor says he will not return to be made a target of. Troops have been telegraphed for and the greatest excitement prevails. A large fire was seen in the direction of Red Cloud agency last evening, and it has probably been burned ere this, as there appears to be a general uprising.

The bodies of Lieut. Robinson and Corporal Coleman have just arrived at the fort in a mutilated condition.

Capt. Egan's command is expected to arrive at the fort to-night, as the Indians crossed back to the agency the same day of the massacre. The Quaker Indian policy is now bearing fruit.

THE COMMERCIAL AND THE PENITENTIARY.—The Commercial is terribly exercised because the Kentucky Penitentiary does not pay as large dividends to the State as are derived by the State of Ohio from its Penitentiary. It seems to vex the Commercial that crime can not be made to pay in Kentucky. Throughout all the South, where the Radical party has sway, crime is made to pay. Pinchback, Kellogg, Durell and Lynch, in Louisiana, have made crime a splendid investment. Disclosures daily made in Washington, demonstrate that crime pays, and now the Commercial complains of the shabby dividends declared in Kentucky. It sees splendid opportunities going to waste which, if its party had control, would be made to pan out satisfactorily. It evidently reads the records of South Carolina's reeking corruption, and sighs for universal Radical rule. Pomeroy, Shepherd, Oakes Ames, and Colfax, Credit Mobilier stock and envelop contracts, loom up in grand proportions, and it ponderous that the "good name" of the State demands that the Penitentiary shall make "twenty odd thousand dollars" a year. When crime is made to pay in Kentucky the Commercial will evidently feel happy as a calm at high water.

JOHN W. PAYNE, JR., REPORTER.

THURSDAY, February 12, 1874.

Mr. McCREARY presented a petition signed by Mr. T. Tevis and others, of Madison county, praying the passage of a law protecting them from the trespasses of hunters, which was referred to the Committee on Propositions and Grievances.

Mr. CHILTON—For the benefit of Elizabeth Sutherland. Propositions and Grievances.

PRIVILEGED QUESTION.

Mr. McCREARY called Mr. Graves to the Chair, and had read an extract from a letter written from Frankfort to the Louisville Commercial of the 12th inst., in which it was stated that Mr. Hermes had publicly declared that he had been uniformly treated with discourtesy by the Speaker of the House, whom, he said, refused to recognize him when he was entitled to the floor." Mr. McCreary said that he had endeavored to discharge his official duties as Speaker faithfully and impartially, and without fear or favor, and that the statement just made was unqualifiedly false. He had spoken to Mr. Hermes, and to the correspondent personally, of this untrue statement, but as it was a reflection upon his official duties, he felt it incumbent on him to denounce it on the House, and had only delayed it until this hour because of his desire to have Mr. Hermes present, who had just entered the Hall. As to the correspondent of the Commercial, he said that he believed he had been guilty of a discourtesy to those who had extended to him the courtesies of the floor in publishing such a statement, but he would do the correspondent the justice to say that he disclaimed any such intention.

UNFINISHED REPORT.

Messrs. Williams and Jenkins spoke against the amendment, and in favor of the bill.

Mr. WRIGHT'S substitute reads as follows:

§ 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That the Board of Curators of Bacon College and Kentucky University shall not be a member of or Chairman of the Executive Committee of said Board, and the Treasurer accepting or holding the position of member of the Executive Committee shall operate as a vacation of and removal from the office of Treasurer.

§ 2. LOCAL NOTICES.

THROUGH ST. LOUIS TO THE FAR WEST.

St. Louis is attracting general attention as being the shortest and most desirable way to reach the far West. This great metropolis of over 450,000 inhabitants, located in the Valley of the Mississippi, at the mouth of the Missouri, rivers watering upwards of 6,000 miles of country, lays invitingly in the shortest possible route between the East and great West, formed by the St. Louis, Kansas City and Northern Short Line, and connections. This line reaches all the great land grants of the West, and runs two more trains between the Mississippi and Missouri Rivers than any other road. The enormous expenditure of over two million dollars, besides earnings, on roadway, in relaying new steel and iron rails, on broad new ties, and in new equipment, supplied with all modern improvements to contribute to comfort, speed and safety, has made it, in all respects, the best road in the country. A great promoter of comfort to passengers, is the substitution for ordinary cars, of reclining chair coaches, elegantly carpeted, with dressing rooms for ladies, gentlemen and those travelling with children, without any extra charge. We cordially commend the route through St. Louis to the West, over the St. Louis, Kansas City and Northern Short Line, as the shortest and ablest, and feel assured that every ticket agent who sells through tickets to Kansas, Colorado, Nebraska, Utah and California will fully corroborate our commendation of its excellence, it being the only line running through cars between St. Louis and Omaha. For map, circulars and time tables, call on either F. A. Palmer, Indianapolis, Ind., J. F. McCarthy, Cincinnati, O.; or P. B. Groat, St. Louis, Mo., either of whom will furnish any information desired.

☞Jeff. Allen, the old Capital Hotel Porter, desires it generally understood that he is still at his post, and will attend the arrival and departure of all trains, receiving and delivering all Baggage at reasonable prices. Jeff.'s wagon will also be always on hand—thus making him equal to all emergencies. sep6-1y

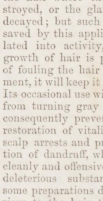
Ayer's
Hair Vigor,
For restoring to Gray Hair its natural Vitality and Color.



A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. It soon restores faded or gray hair to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a new growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent our hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so uncleanly and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre, and a grateful perfume.

Prospectus for 1874—Seventh Year.

THE ALDINE,

An Illustrated Monthly Journal, universally admitted to be the handsomest Periodical in the World. A Representative and Champion of American Taste.

Not for Sale in Book or News Stores.

THE ALDINE, while issued with all the regularity, has none of the temporary or timely interest characteristic of ordinary periodicals. It is an elegant miscellany of pure, light and graceful literature; and a collection of pictures, the rarest specimens of artistic skill, in black and white. Although each succeeding number adds a fresh pleasure to its friends, the real value and beauty of THE ALDINE will be most appreciated after it has been bound up at the close of the year. While other publications may claim superior cheapness, it can scarcely be with rivalry a similar claim. The ALDINE is a unique and original conception—alone and unapproached—absolutely without a competitor in price or character. The possessor of a complete volume can, I doubt not, at the quantity of fine paper and engravings in any other shape or number of volumes for ten times its cost; and then, there are the chromos, besides!

ART DEPARTMENT, 1874.

The illustrations of THE ALDINE have won a world-wide reputation, and in the art centre of Europe it is an axiom that some of its wood cuts are examples of the highest perfection ever attained. The common prejudice in favor of "steel plates," is rapidly yielding to a more educated and discriminating taste which recognizes the advantages of superior artistic quality with greater facility of production. The wood cuts of THE ALDINE possess all the delicacy and elaborate finish of the most costly steel plate, while they afford a better resemblance of the original picture.

To fully realize the wonderful work which THE ALDINE is doing for the cause of art culture in America, it is only necessary to consider the case to the neglected and cheap descent representations of the productions of great painters.

In addition to doing a work for the members of the National Academy, and other noted American artists, THE ALDINE will reproduce examples of the best foreign masters, with a view to the highest artistic success and greatest general interest. Thus the subscriber in THE ALDINE, with a trifling cost, enjoy in his own home the pleasures and refining influences of true art.

The quarterly tint-al plates for 1874 will be by Thos. Moran and J. H. Woodward.

The Christmas issue for 1874 will contain special designs appropriate to the season, by our best artists, and will surpass in attractions any of its predecessors.

Premium for 1874.

Every subscriber to THE ALDINE for the year 1874 will receive a pair of chromos. The original pictures were painted in oil for the publishers of THE ALDINE, by Thomas Moran, whose great Colorado picture was purchased by Congress for ten thousand dollars. The subjects were chosen to represent "The Land of the West." One is a view in The White Mountains, New Hampshire, the other give The Falls of Green River, Wyoming Territory. The difference in the nature of the scenes themselves is a pleasing contrast, and affords a good display of the artist's scope and coloring. The chromos are each worked from thirty distinct plates, and are in size 22 x 16, and appearance exactness of the originals. The presentation of such a work is a feature of America's greatest illustrator—a work that no subscriber to THE ALDINE can fail to be proud of. Perhaps more than one, in view of the successful realization is attested by the following testimonial, over the signatures of Mr. Moran himself.

Newark, N. J., Sept. 20th, 1873.

Messrs. James

Gentlemen: I am delighted with the proofs in colors of your chromos. I never saw wonderfully successful presentation by mechanical process of the original painting.

Very respectfully,
(Signed) THOS. MORAN.

These chromos are in every sense American. They are by an original American painter, with materials American manufacture. Your friends of American recovery by an American printer, and presented to subscribers to the best successful American Art Journal. If to be to be honored of all, they will certainly possess an interest no foreign production can lay claim to, and must, of course, be so. Worse if by reason of peculiar facilities of production the great publishers only a trifle, while equal in every respect to other chromos that are sold singly for double the subscription price of THE ALDINE. Personal taste will prize these pictures for themselves—not for the price they cost or did cost. And, we will appreciate the enterprise that renders their distribution possible.

Hand subscribe, should indeed a reference for a figure subject, the publishers will send "Thoughts of Home," a tender and beautiful chromo, 14x20 inches, presenting a little Italian exile whose speaking eyes tell of the grief of his heart.

TERMS.

$3 per annum, in advance with Oil Chromos free.

For 50 cents extra the chromos will be sent, mounted, varnished, and prepaid to any.

THE ALDINE is not hawked or, be obtainable only by subscription. There will be no premiums to the public; no discounts; no lists to the local canvasser, without responsibility to the publishers, except in cases where the certificate is given, bearing the facsimile signature of JAMES SUTTON & CO.
