EDUCATIONAL CONFERENCE

The program for the Southern Educational Conference which meets in Nashville the first week in April is now being prepared, and the Conference promises to be one of the most interesting and enthusiastically attended conventions of any kind ever held in the South. Dr. P. P. Claxton Commissioner of Education of Washington D. C., was in Nashville Saturday to complete all arrangements and to meet the Woman's Board. Dr. Claxton reports that a number of prominent men and women from all over the United States will be present and take part in the program. Among the most prominent are: Mr. Ogden of N. Y. Secretary of the Interior Fisher, the German Ambassador; The Netherlands' Ambassador; Senator Joe Bailey Martian Littleton; Dr. McKelway Editor of the Brooklyn Eagle, Bishop Gailor; Editor Craighead of Mobile Register; Walter Page, editor of World's Work; Dr. Alderman, of University of Virginia; Dr. Mitchell, of South Carolina University; Dr. Houston, of Washington University; Dr. Coulton, University of Minnesota; Dr. Smith, of Mississippi; Dr. Henry Snyder, Dr. Payne, Dr. Knapp, Lawrence Abbott, Mrs. Desha Breckinridge and Miss Cora Stewart, of Kentucky. These have already notified Dr. Claxton that they will be present and the sub-Conferences will invite others who are specialists in their line. The following sub-conferences, will be held: Student's Sub-conferences Rural School Supervisors; Professors of Secondary Education; Negro Education; State Superintendents; Rural Church; Agriculture; High School; School Improvement; College Women; Home making; College Presidents and Professors; Normal School Conference; Peabody Alumni; Professors; Women's Clubs; and Education of woman.

The sub-conference of Women's Clubs is represented by Mrs. L. Crozier French for the Tennessee Federation of Women's Clubs and the federated club interests throughout the South; Dr. Lillian Johnson of Memphis, Chairman of the Southern Association of College Women; and Mrs. Rutledge Smith, Chairman for the press and authors of the South and other women's organizations.

The Middle Tennessee Association of Public School Teachers will be held the same week and every teacher in Middle Tennessee should arrange to attend this Conference, it will be an inspiration to all, a rare chance to hear some of the greatest men and women of the present day.

A limited number of charming social features have also been planned for the visitors and each one will be given an opportunity to make a pilgrimage to the Hermitage and other historical points of interest near Nashville.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

You Are Cordially Invited to the State Convention of the Indiana Equal Suffrage Association
Logansport, Indiana
October 12th, 13th, 14th, 1914

The Convention will be held in the Broadway Methodist church, corner of Broadway and Eighth street.

The opening session will be Monday evening, October 12th, at 7:30. This will be "Voters Night" and the address of the evening will be delivered by Dr. Frank T. Stockton of The State University at Bloomington, Ind. He will speak on "Does Indiana Need a New Constitution." Since this question is to be submitted to the voters at the coming election, the men are especially invited. If you are interested in the welfare of Indiana, do not neglect the things that so vitally affect it.

On Tuesday evening Laura Clay, of Lexington, Kentucky, will speak on "Woman Suffrage and the Home." Miss Clay, a descendant of the noted Henry Clay, is a convincing speaker and a really wonderful woman. Besides giving much time to getting "Votes for Women," she is a practical farmer and personally manages 275 acres of land which she inherited from her grandfather, General Clay.

Florence Wattles, Antoinette Leach, Harriet Houser, Kate Wood Ray, Margaret Casanges, Anna Dunn Noland and many other prominent Indiana Suffragists will speak on different phases of suffrage.

Convention headquarters will be at the Barnett Hotel at the corner of Market and Second street. A special rate of $2.50 per day (American plan) has been secured for all attending the convention. Entertainment in homes will be provided those delegates who wish it.

If you are interested in women's welfare and progress, do not miss this convention. In many respects it will be the most important Woman Suffrage meeting in the history of Indiana.

Every Woman's Society in the state is invited to affiliate with the Indiana Equal Suffrage Association and help get Votes for Women.

Twenty-five cents per member makes you an auxiliary no matter how small your number and gives you the right of two delegates at large and one additional delegate for every twenty members.

Be sure your dues are paid at once and come, bringing your full quota of delegates.

For further information address State Headquarters, 424 1-2 Broadway, Logansport, Indiana.

To the Women of the Mississippi Valley:

The Mississippi Valley is a center of suffrage campaigns and activities. It is all important that we should convene at this time and plan for greater efficiency in our methods to secure enfranchised citizenship.

We are approaching a national crisis in woman suffrage. The Federal Amendment will pass. What then? When the amendment passes, each state automatically becomes a campaign state. We must prepare. We must win.

Why You Should Go to the Conference.

Because every woman should assist in securing the political enfranchisement of her sex. She has benefited by the faithful toil of those who were loyal to the cause of equal suffrage in the past. Every woman should repay her obligations to the past by being loyal in her own day.

Because every awakened woman wishes to know how she can best serve humanity. She desires to contribute personal service to important social movements. In order to do this, each must learn how to organize the material of her own mind and systematize her own time. The Conference is a school of plans and methods for woman citizens.

Because women are not yet fully enfranchised in any social institution—not in property, not in the family, not in the church, not in the state, not in the school, not in culture, and not in business. Public suffrage for women will help secure their fundamental human rights. Political enfranchisement awakens women to a larger and nobler conception of life and service for humanity.

Come to give and receive. Come to inspire and be inspired.

A LITTLE ROSY-CHEEKED SLIP OF AN ENGLISH GIRL last evening held the attention of a distinguished New York audience, which filled the Carnegie Lyceum, for over an hour and a half. It was Miss Sylvia Pankhurst making her first public appearance in New York to tell the story of the action of the English militant suffragists and the reason for it.

She told her story as a girl might tell it, with absolute simplicity and freedom from self-consciousness. The audience was interested in the story and in the girl.—New York Times, January 7, 1911.

Addressing an audience made up of women of attainments in the literary, business and social world, women not likely to yield lightly their preconceived ideas, this young woman literally talked herself into the hearts of all present, and captivated her audience by the charms of her personality and the simple earnestness of her words.

A pair of big blue eyes looking appealingly from a child face, the soft brown hair parted in the middle and gathered at the back with a total disregard of the prevailing fashion as to quantity, this together with a certain diffidence of manner, argued ill for the success of her mission. Somehow, when she stepped on to the raised platform and stood looking out over the assembled guests, her hands nervously clasping and unclasping, and in her voice a note of self-consciousness, one could not help comparing her with a frightened child. But Sylvia Pankhurst evidently needed no sympathy, and once she had entered on her discourse the words seem to come of their own volition, her voice no longer trembled, and there was a subtle something in her tone and her manner of speaking that caught and held the attention whether or no.—Kansas City Journal, January 31, 1911.

Miss Pankhurst seemed to be inspired, and held her large audience spellbound. Every seat in Memorial Hall and in the balcony was taken, and standing room was at a premium.—The Cincinnati Inquirer, February 4, 1911.

After Miss Pankhurst's lecture in Detroit a newspaper which had not been very friendly toward the "Votes for Women" movement gave considerable space to a report of the lecture and said that she had made more converts to the cause of Woman Suffrage than any speaker that had presented the subject in that city.

MISS SYLVIA PANKHURST, daughter of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the noted English Suffragette, visited America, almost unheralded, for the first time in January, 1911. Most Americans were well informed regarding the work of her mother and also of her sister, Christabel, but had heard little of Sylvia, who had neglected her art work in which she had been so successful in order to shoulder the burden of the work of The Woman's Social and Political Union when it was interrupted by the arrest and imprisonment of her mother and sister. Her zeal in pushing the work of the Union soon led to her own arrest and imprisonment. As a result of her confinement in Holloway Street jail she has brought home vividly to the English people a realization of the need of reform of their prison system. She feels that for this reason alone her time in prison was well spent, as it has caused her to pledge herself to the work of prison reform.

☐ Shortly after her arrival in America she spoke in Carnegie Lyceum, under the auspices of the Woman's Political Union, and made such a favorable impression that immediately requests were received from all parts of the United States and Canada for her, so that within ten weeks she had spoken at more than fifty meetings—in most cases in large auditoriums. In St. Louis she was invited to address six hundred prominent business men at the midday and held their attention for an hour.

☐ MISS PANKHURST won her way into the hearts of the people wherever she went. They were surprised to find this woman who had battled for the ballot and had suffered imprisonment because of her principles, a rather frail, medium-sized person with the engaging manner of youth, sweetly winning ways, and not even a suggestion of demagogism about her. After people have listened awhile to her argument and the story of the fight for women's rights, they feel what a birth-right was hers in being the daughter of the undaunted leader of the militant suffragists, and of Dr. Pankhurst, a leading barrister, who ever fought for woman's political and religious freedom. Although Miss Pankhurst is simple and unaffected in manner, while on the platform she shows the same fire and spirit that has enabled her mother to gain so much for the cause she represents.

☐ MISS PANKHURST is the author of The Suffragette: The History of the Militant Equal Suffrage Movement, which has had a large sale in America.

☐ MISS PANKHURST will arrive in America early in January, 1912, and will be available until the first week in March.

4. PARLIAMENTARY LAW.—This will give women practical training in organizing and conducting meetings, in making clear reports, and otherwise improving their business efficiency.
5. ORGANIZATION AND SUFFRAGE ACTIVITIES.—This will give full and practical directions for organizing new districts, carrying on assembly district work, enrolling, canvassing, campaign work, etc., and for discovering and using all agencies that might help suffrage.
6. PUBLIC SPEAKING.—This will give practical training in suffrage speaking, with personal advice and criticism. It will prove invaluable for all who wish to acquire confidence and ease in speaking. All suffragists should be able to speak in private and in public, even though their main work may be in other directions.

AMERICA

My Country, 'tis of thee,
Sweet land of liberty,
Of thee I sing;
Land where my fathers died,
Land of the pilgrim's pride,
From every mountain side,
Let freedom ring.

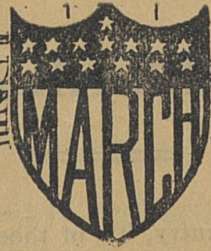

Our father's God to thee,
Author of liberty,
To thee we sing;
Long may our land be bright,
With freedom's holy light;
Protect us by thy might,
Great God, our King!

The Star Spangled Banner

Oh, say, can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched, were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night that our flag was still there.
Oh, say, does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

Oh, thus be it ever when freemen shall stand
Between their loved home and the wars desolation,
Blessed with vict'ry and peace, may our heaven rescued land
Praise the Pow'er that hath made and preserved us a nation!
Then conquer we must, when our cause it is just,
And this be our motto: "In God is our trust."
And the star-spangled banner in triumph shall wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

[Oct 10, 1916]

"OUR day's work is in the main directed to the immediate aspects and demands of the struggle, but we cannot act wisely nor fully understand the meaning of the hour in which we live, unless we keep in mind the underlying cause for these conditions and the fundamental principles of justice. Today, as yesterday, 'where there is no vision the people perish,' and today, as yesterday, the spirit must be born to see the vision, to hold it, to live and die for it. To release and to set free this spirit so that it may achieve its purpose foretold in the hidden heart of man—to show the path of freedom, to bring hope, faith, courage to those held in bondage and crushed under the weight of wrong—and to give them the message, 'To you, too, has been given dominion over life,' this is our task."

School for Active Workers in the Labor Movement

National Women's Trade Union League

166 W. Washington Street
CHICAGO, ILL.

THE labor question and its democratic solution constitute distinctively the problem of our generation. Organization of the workers is imperative, for the sake of the girl and for the sake of the community. If we are to serve our time as we ought to serve it, representing as we do the hope and the aspirations of the great women's working group of America, organized and unorganized, we have to make possible an equipment to train and send forth women organizers.

To set free for service those Trade Union women now held within the ranks who have already shown qualities of leadership is the purpose of the School for Active Workers in the Labor Movement.

At the convention of the National Women's Trade Union League, held in New York City, June 7 to 12, 1915, it was voted that a year's scholarship be given to the students in the School in preparation for active leadership in the labor movement.

Four months will be devoted to the study of the following:

Business English	Labor Problems
Book-Keeping	Protective Legislation
Effective Speaking	Trade Agreements in Theory
Economic History	and in Practice
Industrial History	Legal Decisions in Labor Dis-
	putes

Eight months will be spent in active field work under the direction of the leading Trade Union women organizers in New York, Chicago and Boston. This time will also include practice in

Office Administration	Study of Police Court Methods
Writing for the Press	Conducting Meetings

EXTENSION DEPARTMENT

REALIZING that the students who can come to the School must represent a limited number, and in response to a general demand from trade union women across the country, an extension department has been opened which will include:

I. Correspondence Courses in:

English Composition	Legal Decisions in Labor Disputes
Business English	Book-Keeping
English Literature	Parliamentary Law
History of Suffrage for Women	Trade Agreements

Correspondence courses are open to direct and affiliated members of the Women's Trade Union League, and to men in the labor movement as well as women.

II. Public Lectures on:

Women, the Workers
The Minimum Wage
The Girl and Vocational Training
The Women's Trade Union League
Working Women and the Vote
The Vote—and After
Effective Voting or the Ashtabula Plan (with Model Election)
The City of Today

Miss Alice Henry, formerly editor of Life and Labor, now Staff Lecturer of the National Women's Trade Union League, will arrange any or all of the above lectures for large audiences or small groups.

III. Library on Social and Economic Subjects:

Printed Catalogs of all available books and reports on a given subject will be mailed upon request, and copies of books will be loaned for a small deposit.

Call to Convention

Fiftieth Annual Convention and Double Anniversary

1869—1919

The National American Woman Suffrage Association calls its State Auxiliaries through their elected delegates to meet in annual Convention at St. Louis, Hotel Statler, March 24 to March 29, 1919, inclusive.

In 1869, Wyoming led all the world by the grant of full suffrage to its women. The Convention will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of this event.

In 1869, the National and the American Woman Suffrage Associations were organized—to be combined twenty years later into the National American Woman Suffrage Association. The Convention will celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the organization which without a pause has carried forward, during half a century, the effort to secure the enfranchisement of women.

As a fitting memorial to a half century of progress, the National American Woman Suffrage Association invites the women voters of the fifteen full suffrage States to attend this Anniversary Convention, and there to join their forces into a League of Women Voters, one of whose objects shall be to speed the suffrage campaign in our own and other countries. The Convention will express its pleasure with suitable ceremonials that since last we met the women of England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales, Canada and Germany have received the vote; but it will make searching inquiry into the mysterious causes which deny patriotic, qualified women of our Republic "a voice in their own government," while those of monarchies and erstwhile monarchies are honored with political equality. Suffrage Delegates, Women Voters, there is need of more serious counsel than in any previous year. It is not you but the Nation that has been dishonored by the failure of the 65th Congress to pass the Federal Suffrage Amendment. Let us inquire together. Let us act together.

THE WOMAN'S AUXILIARY will meet on Thursday at 10:30. Luncheon will be served at 12:15 by the April Chapter, Mrs. Thomas Underwood, Chairman.

DUE TO THE ILLNESS of the Rector, the Confirmation Class for adults which was scheduled for Sunday afternoons at three, will be transferred to Friday nights at 7:30, in the Rector's office, beginning Friday night, April 29th. AN EASTER PLAY will be given in the Church on Low Sunday evening, April 24, at 8 o'clock. This play is based upon the Resurrection Narrative as found in the Gospel according to St. John, and we trust that it will prove to be a beneficial visualization of it, and a very real spiritual experience.

Your Girl and Mine

NOT ONLY as an argument for suffrage, but as a play with a story, a "punch" and a mission, "Your Girl and Mine" was produced under the direction of the National American Women's Suffrage Association.

Olive Wyndham forsook the "legitimate" stage for the time to pose as the heroine of the play. Katherine Kaelred, leading lady of "Joseph and His Brethren," took the part of a woman lawyer battling for the right. Sydney Booth, of "The Yellow Ticket" company, posed as the hero of the experiment. John Charles and Katherine Henry played the villain and the "honest working girl." About three hundred secondaries were engaged along with the principals.

It is melodrama of the most thrilling sort in spite of the fact that there is a moral concealed in the very title of the play. But who is worried by a moral in a play which has an exciting hand-to-hand fight between a man and a woman in one of the earliest acts—when the quick march of events range from a wedding to a murder and an automobile abduction scene that breaks all former speed records. "THE CAUSE" comes in most subtly and poetically, a symbolic figure that "fades in and fades out" at critical periods in the plot. Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, the famous suffrage leader, appears personally in the film.

"Your Girl and Mine" is a big play with a big mission built on a big scale. It is a whole evening's entertainment and a very interesting evening at that.

PROGRAM No. I

Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables"

Arranged by Mrs. Haskell.

Emancipation of a Human Soul from Evil by the Power of Love

PART I.—The Bishop's reception of Jean Valjean. The Stolen silver. "You no longer belong to Evil, but to Good. I have bought your soul of you; I give it to God."

PART II.—Jean Valjean becomes M. Le Maire. His interview with Inspector of Police Javert. "Does the end justify the means?" Jean Valjean's decision.

PART III.—"Cosette." * * * The escape to the convent.

PART IV.—Cosette and Marius. The barricade. The escape through the sewer. Javert's suicide—the only answer he could find to the question, "Was there, then, something more than duty?"

PART V.—Jean Valjean's last struggle with his conscience. His triumph. "To die is nothing now."

Mrs. Haskell gives marvellous Recital.—THE TAMPA MORNING TRIBUNE.

The Dramatic Recital given by Mrs. Haskell, of Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables," was nothing short of marvellous. From the moment Mrs. Haskell appeared and began to speak until the close of the program the interest was intense and she was truly magnificent in every scene. Her magnetic personality and deep, strong, resonant voice have fitted her for her successful career as a reader, and to-day she is unexcelled in this line. She depicts joy or sorrow with equal naturalness and fascination and no more delightful entertainment can be imagined than one of her Recitals.

The rendition of "Les Miserables" was indeed the work of an artist; it was a sweetness without affectation, force without bluster, passion without rage, and pathos without effort.—THE PASTOR'S JUST-A-WORD, TOLEDO, OHIO.

Mrs. Haskell entertained an enthusiastic audience and accomplished the seemingly impossible task of condensing "Les Miserables" into an evening's program.—CHICAGO RECORD-HERALD.

PROGRAM No. II

Victor Hugo's "Ninety-Three"

Arranged by Mrs. Haskell.

"Ninety - Three." A Drama of the French Revolution

"The great and mysterious writer of these grand pages has a name—God, and a mask—Destiny."

PART I.—The Children of the Bonnet Rouge. The Corvette Claymore. "In that accursed Vendee it wants a General who is pitiless." The battle between the gunner and his gun. For his courage—the cross of Saint Louis; for his negligence—Death. "The Vendee has found a head."

PART II.—"Shipwreck here— battle there—we have thrown double fives." 9-380. Their last sunrise. The Marquis de Lantenac reads the notice of the price set on his head signed by his grand nephew, Gauvain. The tri-colored flag is laid at the feet of the Marquis.

PART III.—Cimourdain—the terrible offspring of Justice. One corner not dipped in Styx. The Convention. Cimourdain and Gauvain.

PART IV.—A Viscount against a Marquis. The seige of La Tourgue. Via Dolorosa. The Marquis de Lantenac is transfigured.

PART V.—In the dungeon of La Tourgue. The Court-Martial. "Fulfill the law!"

The lines were from Victor Hugo, and she put the very soul of her author in the characters represented, holding her audience spellbound, and in sympathy with her hero, by the magnificence of her voice and beauty and accomplishment in her art.—ARKANSAS GAZETTE, LITTLE ROCK.

The audience with one voice declared Mrs. Haskell superb!—THE CITIZEN, COUSHATTA, LA.

PROGRAM No. III

Dramatic Recital of David Copperfield

(Charles Dickens)

PART I.—David revisits the friend of his childhood—Peggoty, the fisherman—accompanied by his friend Steerforth.

PART II.—David again visits the "old boat," and discovers the disappearance of little Emily, and the treachery of Steerforth.

PART III.—David entertains his friend Traddles and Mr. and Mrs. Micawber at dinner.

PART IV.—David's wooing and marriage of Dora.

PART V.—Death of Ham and Steerforth.

A gifted Missouri woman had been delighting Washington society by her readings.—ST. LOUIS GLOBE-DEMOCRAT.

Mrs. Haskell's clever interpretation of David Copperfield's visits, entertaining, wooing and marriage prove her a woman of high merit and ability. Mrs. Haskell appeared under the especial auspices of the ladies of the Missouri delegation resident in Washington. Many other leading ladies of the official household also being among her patronesses.—WASHINGTON, D. C., POST.

Could Dickens have heard Mrs. Haskell interpret his David Copperfield at the Palace Hotel last night he would have exclaimed: "The dead can live again!"—SAN FRANCISCO REPORT.

Among her audience were many of the noted literateurs who reside in Washington. The affair was one of the most brilliant and finished performances that has been given in the National Capital this winter.—WASHINGTON TIMES.

In the splendor of the Astor Gallery at the Waldorf-Astoria, Mrs. Haskell's recital was greeted with enthusiasm.—NEW YORK WORLD.

Mrs. Haskell was the guest of the club and recited from Thackeray's Newcomes in a most clever manner. She is a woman of unmistakable personality.—NEW YORK TIMES.

PROGRAM No. IV

"Marse Chan"

A Tale of Old Virginia, by Thos. Nelson Page

Arranged for Recital by Mrs. Haskell.

PART I.—"Dem wus good times, Marster—de bes' Sam eber see!"

PART II.—"I mek yo' a present to yo' family, seh?"

PART III.—"Judy, have Marse Chan's dwag got home?"

Selections, "In lighter vein." "A moan is the finest foils for laughter."

PROGRAM No. V

"Meh Lady"

A Story of the War, by Thos. Nelson Page

Arranged for Recital by Mrs. Haskell.

PART I.—"Old Billy" tells the story from the moss covered redoubt.

"When their Captain comes they knows it; or if they don't know it when he comes they know it pintedly when he goes away."

PART II.—After the battle. "Meh Lady's" red rose. "It don't do to aggravate women folks too much."

PART III.—The old mule George. The Protector is come. "Hannah ain't say he kiss her, but I notice pintedly she ain't say he ain't."

Her characters are not assumed, but natural. She reads the negro dialect as if she had been and reared upon the southern plantation; but it is the same when she reads the lines spoken by a child, or any other character she may be pleased to quote.—GAZETTE, LITTLE ROCK.

Mrs. Haskell scored another succes in her recital of "Marse Chan," showing that she is equally at home in negro dialect as in Dicken's characters, Victor Hugo's masterpiece, or 'Captain January's' sailor brogue. This makes the fourth successive season Mrs. Haskell has recited for us, and completes an engagement of sixteen nights with the branches of our Association.

Since this Mrs. Haskell has given sixteen more recitals, making thirty-two in all for various branches of St. Louis Y. M. C. A.—MONTHLY BULLETIN, ST. LOUIS Y. M. C. A.

When Mrs. Haskell recited "The Golden Wedding" for Ruth McEnery Stuart, Mrs. Stuart looked up with tears in her eyes and said: "Mrs. Haskell, you make my own little story appeal to me!"—RUTH MCENERY STUART

Mrs. Haskell is one of the best readers I ever heard. She has a naturalness of manner which, with her thorough culture, fine presence, subtle voice and superb gift, make her worthy of any platform in this country.—GEO. W. BAIN.

DEAR MRS. HASKELL: Will you give "Les Miserables" for us again? And can you attend our commencement exercises? We want to honor you with the degree of "Master of Interpretation."—SILAS S. NEFF, NEFF COLLEGE OF ORATORY, PHILADELPHIA.

Mrs. Haskell possess a voice full of music, and it is under perfect control. She is emotional in that she lives in her roles rather than outside of them, and gives of herself to her audience. She has a charming personality and a strong, compelling personal magnetism that draws her audience to her in the beginning and holds them as in a spell. She strives for no effects. She is simply natural.—PASADENA (CAL.) NEWS.

PROGRAM No. XV

Dr. Luke of the Labrador

By Norman Duncan.

PART IV.—Dr. Luke and my sister Bessie. The Divine Malady. The Gospel according to Skipper Tommy.

Mrs. Haskell entertains a large audience at Havana, Cuba, Y. M. C. A.

Mrs. Haskell's Reading at the Y. M. C. A. was well attended, and her wonderful talent brought forth applause so generous that it was only limited by her unwillingness to let it continue. She showed herself a master in many kinds of dialect, in the language of youth and old age and in pathos as well as in unrestrained mirth.

Mrs. Haskell is a reader of rare ability, having the power of producing a kind of breathless attention on the part of her audience which was originally expressed by Ella Wheeler Wilcox as “an exquisite torture.”—THE HAVANA POST.

No one could criticise Mrs. Haskell's work if the fault were there, when she steps upon the platform the house is all friendly and whole-souled sympathy. The way she makes old fellows cry who are ashamed to be caught at it, is the only annoyance that her style creates, and as a recompense she has one laughing before he can get the tears away. People sometimes do not like such practical proofs of the instability of their emotions, but the entertainment pays back all the loss of manly dignity on that score. THE MEXICAN DAILY HERALD, CITY OF MEXICO.

PROGRAM No. XVI

“The Altrurian Club was so pleased with your recital that we voted unanimously to make the Haskell entertainment an annual event. So you may begin your plans for a visit to Corpus Christi every winter and be sure and save us a date for that purpose.” Signed by SECY. ALTRURIAN CLUB, CORPUS CHRISTI, TEX.

Mrs. Haskell's personality is not to be resisted. Her audience was in sympathy with her from the first. Her voice is musical and strong, and only to hear it is a delight.—LOS ANGELES EXAMINER.

Mrs. Haskell entertained the Park Hill Country Club with readings and impersonations. It was a most delightful entertainment. Mrs. Haskell has a most pleasing personality and a beautifully cultivated voice. She fascinated her audience.—THE YONKERS HERALD.

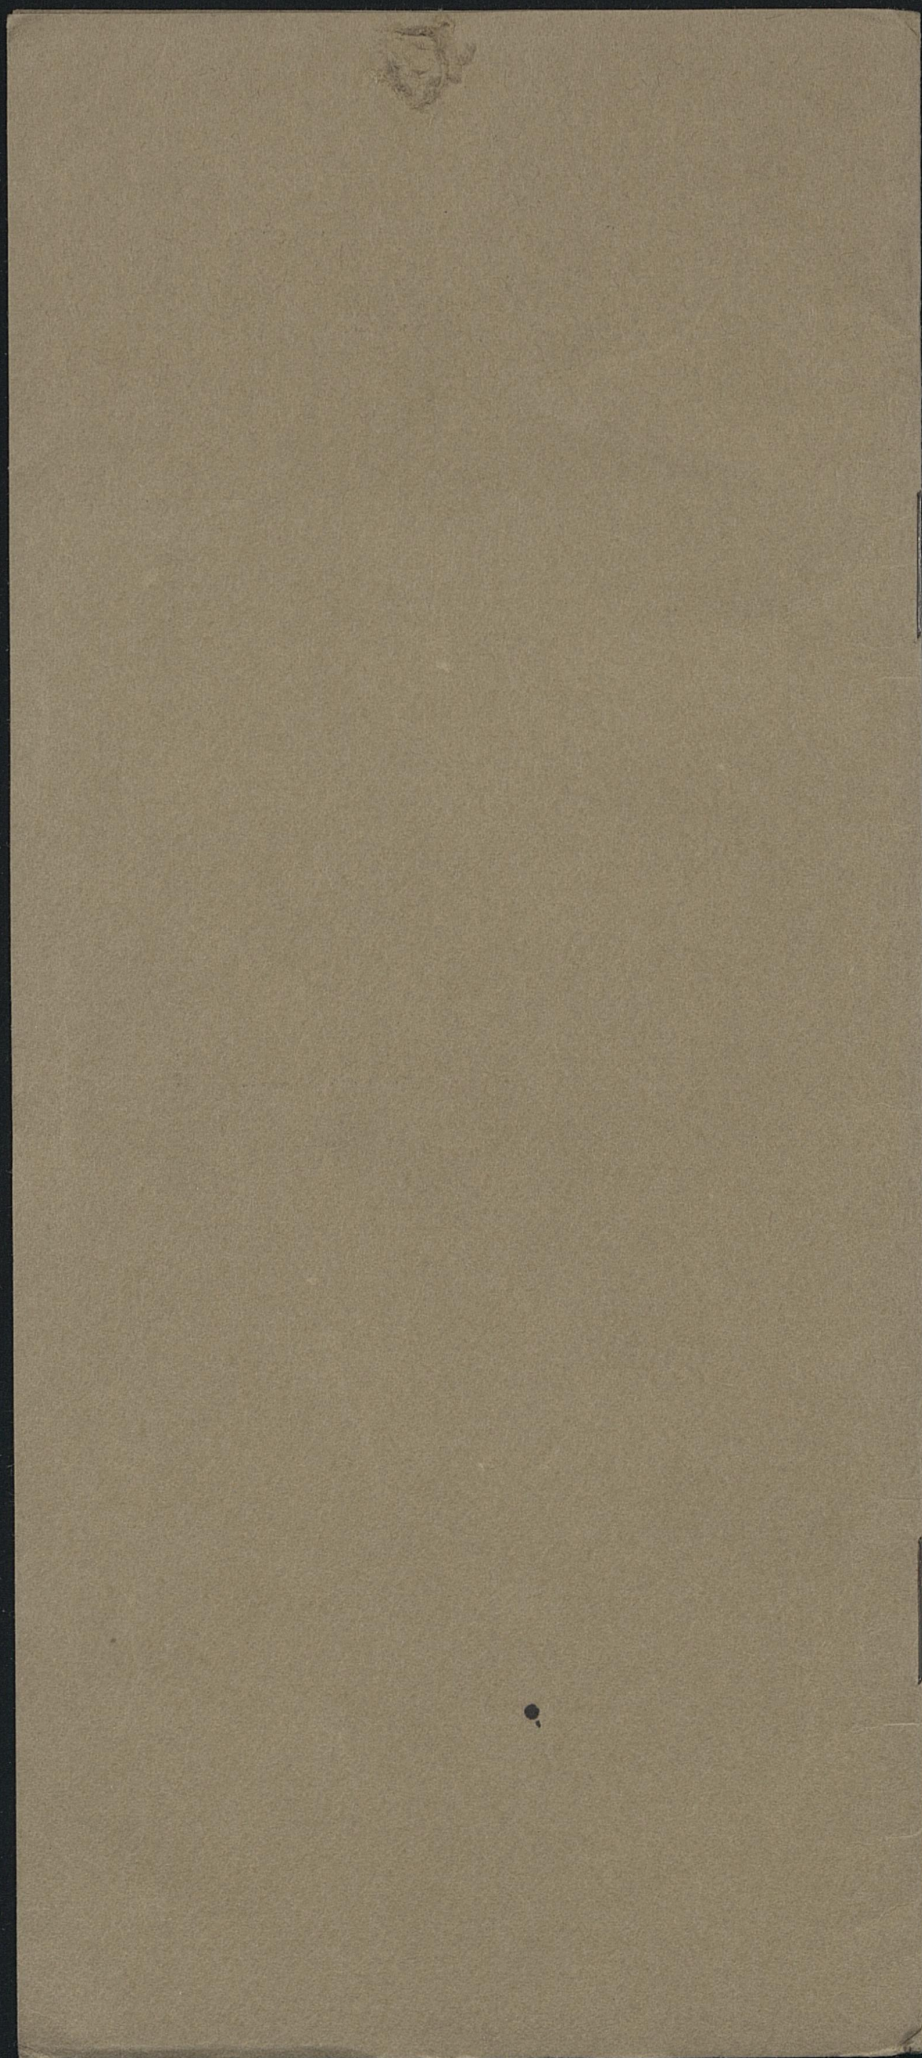

NOTE.—Mrs. Haskell arranges programs on request, taking special selections from foregoing, and from additional material in her repertoire.

Each of these propositions will be presented in a five minutes' speech and then thrown open for discussion.

1. That action be taken to bring about the creation of a joint commission of experts representing Japan, China and the United States, to study the complex and important questions at issue between the Orient and the United States, and to make recommendations to the various governments involved.

2. That action be taken by our Government to establish Federal Control over Aliens.

3. That action be taken to convene the Third Hague Conference at the earliest possible moment.

The following additional subjects are presented for consideration and adoption:

4. Inasmuch as the investment by capitalists of one country in the resources of another and the claims arising therefrom are a fertile source of international complications, the Woman's Peace Party urges the widest possible acceptance of the principle that such investments shall be made at the risk of the investor, without claim to the official protection of his government.

5. Resolution dealing with our relation to our own dependencies, Porto Rico, Haiti, San Domingo, etc.

6. Resolutions dealing with repeal of "Draft" clause in Army Reorganization Bill. (The so-called Hayden "joker," by the substitution of the word "Draft" for "Call," makes conscription in time of war legal for men from eighteen to forty-five.)

7. Resolution dealing with Hensley Clause of the Naval Appropriations Bill. (This authorizes the President to suspend orders before contracts are made after the war ends, provided world organization is established sufficiently to make "unnecessary the maintenance of competitive armaments." The President is authorized to invite the great governments of the world to establish such organizations.)

A fuller statement of these measures will be in the hands of all delegates.
