"To bring together the records of the past and to house them in buildings where they will be preserved for the use of men living in the future, a nation must believe in three things. It must believe in the past. It must believe in the future. It must, above all, believe in the capacity of its people so to learn from the past that they can gain in judgment for the creation of the future."

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Many individuals and institutions have cooperated in the compilation of this bibliography. Especial mention must be given to Mr. James A. McMillen, Librarian, Louisiana State University Library, whose generous support and interest has made possible the compilation of this list of Louisiana documents; also to Miss Anne Morris Boyd, Assistant Professor, University of Illinois Library School, under whose guidance a large part of the bibliography was compiled as a thesis; likewise to Mr. Robert J. Usher and Miss Muriel Richardson, of Howard Memorial Library; Mr. Phineas L. Windsor, of the University of Illinois Libraries; Miss Grace Macdonald, of the Public Document Clearing House Committee, Providence, R.I.; and many others who contributed aid and encouragement in assembling the material.

Grateful appreciation is expressed to Miss Maud Merritt Cook, and other members of the Louisiana State University Library Catalog Department staff, whose help in proof-reading, verifying references, and in many other ways has been invaluable.

As the greater portion of this bibliography was first compiled as a thesis: Official Publications of the State of Louisiana, acknowledgment is here made to the Graduate School, University of Illinois, for permission to include the thesis material in this publication.

From the very inception of the Historical Records Survey nearly every State, in conducting a program of records inventory, research, and publication, has felt a great need for a definitive listing of official State publications. Likewise, numerous other official agencies, libraries, and individual researchers have been handicapped in their operations through the lack of a comprehensive bibliography; and few states have been fortunate enough to have such bibliographies. In Louisiana, however, there existed such a list in the form of a thesis, Official Publications of the State of Louisiana, compiled by Lucy B. Foote in 1935 in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the Master of Library Science degree at the University of Illinois.

Since 1935 Miss Foote has expanded the original thesis to include Territorial and State publications from 1803-1934. On pages 524-525 will be found entries which came to the attention of the compiler after the duplication process had begun. So much use was being made of the few existing typewritten copies of this list by the Louisiana Historical Records Survey and other agencies that, when the State of Louisiana was unable to publish the bibliography, arrangements for its duplication were made with the national office of the Works Projects Administration, and with Miss Foote, the Louisiana State University, and the University of Illinois.

Work on this volume by the Louisiana Historical Records Survey was begun in 1939 under the direction of Mr. John C. L. Andreassen, State Supervisor, and has been continued under the supervision of Virgil L. Bedsole and Paul M. Eakin who have succeeded to that office. Supervisors immediately in charge of the duplication of this work have been William C. Bennett, and Edward M. Cain, Assistant Project Technician in charge of the newspaper and imprints inventory, under whose direction this work has been brought to completion. Unfortunately publication has been delayed by many mechanical difficulties in duplication and by shortages in material and personnel. However, the issuance of this bibliography now fills an important gap in the tools of Louisiana historical and governmental research.

The Louisiana Historical Records Survey wishes to gratefully acknowledge the assistance and cooperation of Lucy B. Foote, James A. McMillen, Director of Libraries of Louisiana State University, and others whose interest and efforts in this work have accomplished much that would not otherwise have been possible.

The Nation-wide Historical Records Survey program was organized in 1935 to inventory State and local archives, early American imprints, church archives, and manuscript collections. In Louisiana, the Historical Records Survey now operates as a unit of the State-wide Records Project, which is sponsored by the Department of Archives, Louisiana State University, and some seventy local governmental bodies.

The general regulations and procedures of the Service Division of the Work Projects Administration, which are applicable to all project units in the 48 states, have been followed in Louisiana. The administrative offices in in Louisiana and the regional and Washington offices have always given the project cordial support and assistance.

The publications of the Survey are distributed without cost to State and local public officials and libraries in Louisiana, and to a limited number of libraries and governmental agencies outside the State. Requests for information concerning this or other publications of the Louisiana Historical Records Survey may be referred to Dr. Edwin A. Davis, Archivist, Department of Archives, Louisiana State University, University, Louisiana, or to the State Supervisor. INTRODUCTION

The twentieth century has witnessed an enormous expension in governmental agencies both federal and state. There has been no exception to this trend in Louisiana. Each additional state office and board in Louisiana has resulted in a corresponding increase in the amcunt of publications emanating from official sources. The effective use of these state documents has been hindered due to the Lack of adequate bibliographies.

Earlier publications of Louisiana were listed in R.R. Bowker's State Publications, 1908,[1] largely through the efforts of Mrs. Albertine Phillips, State Librarian of Louisiana, at that time. The comprehensiveness of the list of Louisiana documents found in "Bowker" is remarkable when the limited library facilities of that day in Louisiana are taken into account. Yet it is nct without omissions, particularly within the last ten years of its scope. Since its publication in 1908 there has been no comprehensive bibliography of Louisiana documents compiled. The U.S. Checklist of State Publications[2] fluctuates greatly in the number of Louisiana documents listed from year to year. Partial lists have been issued covering the publications within a specific field, such as the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Bulletin no.1199 and its supplements, which include the bulletins of the Agricultural Experiment Stations,[3] also the lists issued by the Public Document Clearing House Committee of statutes, legislative journals, etc.[4] Although under the terms of Act 82, of 1928, an annual list of Louisiana's publications is required to be included in the Report of the Secretary of State, none of these lists has been seen, and it is probable none has been compiled. A thesis, Official Publications of the State of Louisiana,[5] consisting of a list of Louisiana documents, 1898 to date, and including serial publications originating prior to 1898, but continuing into this period, was compiled in 1935. Typewritten copies of this bibliography located in several libraries have proved inadequate in usefulness due to the fact that it covers so limited a period. A comprehensive bibliography covering both territorial and state publications has been needed. It was therefore with this need in mind that the compilation of this list of Louisiana's official publications was undertaken.

It is the purpose of this bibliography to present an inclusive list of the official and semi-official publications of the state of Louisiana from 1803 to 1934. Territorial publications, 1803-1812, precede in the bibliography the list of state documents 1812-1934. A brief statement outlining the establishment and functions of each governmental unit, including the latest form of name as found in the law up to the final date of this bibliography, accompanies the list of its publications. Analytical title lists of Acts, House and Senate Journals, bulletin and circular series, and other numbered or chronological series are given in full. Holdings are indicated for each title. An attempt has been made to list the holdings of three of the larger collections of Louisiana documents: Louisiana State University Library; Howard Memorial Library; and the University of Illinois Library. Holdings for other collections are noted only when the item is not also in one of the three institutions named above. Lastly, due to the alphabetical arrangement of the list under the name of the governmental unit, it has seemed desirable to include a subject index to the bibliography.

This bibliography has been gradually compiled over a period of about ten years. During this time visits were made to the larger libraries and document centers in the cities of Baton Rouge, New Orleans, Urbana, Chicago, New York, Albany, Boston, Cambridge, Worcester and Washington, D.C. Titles noted in this list from other places were obtained from the Union Catalog of the Library of Congress, and through cooperation of individuals in various parts of the country. Other lists of documents were faithfully consulted including those already mentioned. Many titles are included because they were listed in Bowker's State Publications although they were not located during the compilation of this bibliography. Photostats of title-pages were secured from several libraries; title-page copies plus pagination were contributed by both libraries and individuals. Several privately owned titles are included, notably those from Mr. Edward A. Parson's collection of rare Louisiana items. Personal visits were made to the several offices, departments, bureaus, etc. of the state government, both in Baton Rouge and in New Orleans.

The bibliography of Louisiana documents is arranged alphabetically by the official title of each state agency in direct corporate entry form. Preceding the entry of the required Report is a brief historical sketch of the department or office. The Report is followed by other serial entries, if any. Separate titles in alphabetical order, unless otherwise specified, follow the serials issued by an official body. Bulletin and circular series are listed in numerical order by title. Irregular series of publications, such as compilations of laws, courses of study, maps, handbooks, etc., are listed in chronological order. Compilations of laws, on specific subjects are found under the state agency issuing the compilations, rather than under the form entry: Laws, statutes, etc. The index should be consulted for personal names, subjects, and key words. A modified form of bibliographical description as found on Library of Congress cards has been used. Place and publisher have been omitted when the place of imprint was Baton Rouge, the state capitol. Older titles published in New Orleans, when that city was the state capitol, have full imprint information. Since 1933 nearly all Louisiana documents have been printed in New Orleans by Thomas J. Moran & Sons, state printer. These recent publications frequently lack an imprint.

It was with great reluctance and trepidation the compiler was prevailed upon by several librarians to include holdings for documents in this bibliography. Useful as they are undoubtedly, holdings have a way of fluctuating in libraries overnight! The responsibility for the holdings of the Louisiana State University Library, the Howard Memorial Library, and the University of Illinois Library was accepted by these institutions, and the titles listed as belonging to these libraries stand as they were checked by them and turned over to the compiler. Forbearance is begged if inaccuracies are found in the holdings listed from other institutions.

Symbols used for holdings were originally those used in the Union List of Serials, 1927. They were changed by the Historical Records Survey to conform to the symbols found in Location Symbols for Libraries in the United States, 1939. The plus sign:+, indicating a current serial, and the parallel bars://, denoting a closed entry are likewise used in this bibliography. Holdings for separates are indicated after each title.

TERRITORIAL PUBLICATIONS

ORLEANS (TERRITORY)

The Louisiana Purchase was divided into two territories, the upper and larger portion becoming known as the Territory of Louisiana, the lower portion, approximately the same in area as the state of Louisiana, being called the Territory of Orleans. By an Act of Congress approved March 26, 1804, legislative powers over this territory were vested in the territorial governor and a group of thirteen citizens appointed by the President of the United States. This body was called the Legislative council. The Governor could repeal at will any of its acts, and it was very unsatisfactory to the people of the Territory of Orleans.

Following the presentation of a memorial of the citizens of the territory to Congress protesting this form of government, a new territorial government was set up by Act of Congress approved March 2, 1805. The same territorial governor was retained, but the legislative powers were vested in a General assembly, which consisted of the appointed legislative council plus a group of twenty-five representatives, which were elected by the citizens of the Territory.

This Act likewise granted to the people authority to form a constitution and apply for admission as a state when the population should reach 60,000 inhabitants. By 1810 this requirement had been more than met, and application was made by the Territorial legislature to Congress for admission as the state of Louisiana, and on April 30, 1812, Louisiana was admitted to the Union.

BOARD OF STATE ENGINEERS.

A Board of public works had been established as early as 1833, and a State engineer had functioned since 1842. In 1871, Act 7, which created the Board of state engineers repealed the Board of public works, and superseded the powers and duties of the State engineer. This Act was repealed in 1877, and a reorganization took place in 1878 and 1879.[5] The board now functions as it was organized by Act no.33, 1879. Its powers and duties are to survey watercourses and public works, and levees of the state; to report to the Governor the improvements necessary, and the levees to be constructed, which are of prime importance to the state at large; and submit estimates and specifications of work necessary to be done.

Many of the duties of this board have been taken over by other bodies in recent years, the Federal government having assumed much of the levee work, and the Highway department having charge of the public roads, etc.

This body was first organized under the name of Bureau of labor statistics by Act 79, 1900. It was reorganized as the Bureau of labor and industrial statistics under Act 155, 1908, and has been amended by Acts of the Legislature in 1914, 1918, and 1920. A commissioner to head the Bureau is appointed by the Governor, whose duties, among other matters, are to "collect, assort, systematize and present in annual reports to the Governor...statistical details relating to all departments of labor in the state" especially in its relations to the commercial, industrial, social, educational, and sanitary condition of laboring people; and to the permanent prosperity of the productive industries of the state; and also inquire into the immediate causes of strikes, lockouts, and other disturbances of the relations between employers and employees. The Governor is directed to transmit these reports biennially to the General assembly.

CHARITY HOSPITAL, NEW ORLEANS, LA.

One of Bienville's last official acts in connection with Louisiana "was to found a charity hospital, from a legacy left by a humble sailor for that purpose".[7] Bowker states that it was founded in 1786, as a private institution, and taken over by the state in 1831. However, early acts of Louisiana relate to the charity hospital and its organization as if it were a state institution prior to that date. An act approved Mar.7, 1814, specified that a council of administrators should be chosen by the Governor, and Sec. 5 of this act directed that this council should report annually to the Legislature. This was a fiscal report but a later act approved Mar.11, 1820, required that additional information, statistics on disease number of patients, etc., should be added to this report. Another early act, approved Feb.1817, accepted on the part of the state, a grant of $500 for five years, from the state of Pennsylvania. This was granted in response to a plea made to states along the Mississippi and its larger tributaries, to aid in the support and care of their citizens, who might become ill in New Orleans, and thereby become public charges. Chapter 4270 of the Acts of Pennsylvania, March, 1816 making this grant, stipulates that "it be exclusively destined to give the buildings an extent which may enable them to receive great numbers of sick". It likewise stated that an annual report of the expenditure of this fund must be furnished the state of Pennsylvania by the state of Louisiana.

State support for the Charity hospital was provided for permanently by Act no.73, of 1837. This institution was reorganized by Act 155, of 1855, in much its present form. The board of administrators, appointed by the Governor, is required to make an annual report to the General assembly, of receipts and disbursements, a statement of property, and a "tableau of vital statistics" concerning the hospital. This act has been re-enacted and amended several times since then but with minor changes, only.

CONSTITUTION.

An enabling act was passed February 20, 1811, which provided for the calling of a convention to meet in New Orleans to frame a constitution for Louisiana. It was modeled largely on the Constitution of Kentucky, and was adopted on January 22, 1812.

In 1845 in order to have a constitution more similar to those of other states, Act no.64 of 1844, provided for the calling of a convention to meet in the town of Jackson, in August, 1844, to revise the Constitution of 1812. The convention adjourned after a few days in Jackson, and reconvened in New Orleans the following January. Hence the break in the Journal of the Constitutional convention of 1845. The new constitution was adopted on May 14, 1845.

Act 73, of 1852 called an election to decide upon holding another constitutional convention to further revise the constitution.

CONSTITUTION. (Continued.

The convention met in Baton Rouge, and the resulting constitution was adopted in July, 1852.

The convention which met in Jan.1861, to discuss the impending secession movement, and which passed the ordinance of secession, and adopted the Constitution of the Confederacy, also changed the phraseology of the Constitution of 1852, to conform to the new government. This constitution is known as the Constitution of 1861.

After the larger portion of the state had fallen into the hands of the Federal troops, a new constitutional convention was held under their auspices in New Orleans, April, 1864. A new constitution was adopted on July 23, 1864. Two state governments functioned in Louisiana, thereafter until the fall of the Confederate government.

The Constitution of 1864 did not meet the radical requirements of the carpetbag government which followed the Civil war and a convention was called in 1867 to frame another constitution, which was adopted March 7, 1868.

When the Reconstruction government was finally overthrown, the Constitution of 1879 was adopted by a convention which had convened in March of that year. Its rigid provisions were soon outmoded, and Act 52 of 1896, authorized another convention which met February 8, 1898, in New Orleans, and adopted a constitution on May 12th.

This Constitution of 1898, was discarded by the adoption of the Constitution of 1913, which had been drawn up and adopted by a convention called into being by Act no.1, Extra session, 1913. This still did not meet the requirements of a changing age, and Act 180, of 1920, gave authority for holding a constitutional convention in Baton Rouge, in March, 1921. The resulting constitution was adopted on July 18, 1921.

The Secretary of state is authorized to print the Constitution of the state of Louisiana. From time to time additional copies are ordered printed by the Legislature.

Amendments to the constitution, ratified by the people at the regular elections, are printed in succeeding volumes of the Acts of the Legislature. They are also frequently issued as separates by the Secretary of state.

Several entries in the following list are not strictly state publications.

DAIRY COMMISSION.

This short-lived commission was created by Act no.95, 1928, to supervise the production, manufacture, and sale of milk and milk products. It had the power to make and publish rules and regulations with reference thereto. According to the Report 1928/29 of the State board of health, "The dairy commission supervised the milk supply of the state until June 1, 1929, when it went on record as not functioning owing to the lack of funds. The State board of health being responsible for the public health, it devolved upon this board to resume the enforcement of the regulations of the sanitary code governing the production and distribution of milk".

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE AND IMMIGRATION.

Created by Act 41, 1880, under the name Bureau of agriculture and immigration, with the duty of encouraging, advancing, and protecting the agricultural interests of the state, and to aid and encourage immigration thereto, this bureau superseded the Bureau of agriculture which was created in 1874. The words "and immigration" were struck out of the title by Act 53, in 1884. In 1894, the Bureau of immigration was merged with the Bureau of agriculture again. Act 126, of 1898, gave it the name of State board of agriculture and immigration, under which it so long functioned. The Constitution of 1921, however, terms this office the Department of agriculture and immigration, and many of its recent publications bear this imprint.

Its duties are extensive. It is supposed to make investigations into fruit culture; production of silk, and wool in Louisiana; damage by insects, and possible remedies therefor; diseases of grain crops and remedies; development of dairy industry, and livestock breeding improvement; improvement of staple crops; sugar, rice, cotton, etc.; promote competitive exhibits of agricultural products, etc. Reports on these investigations and projects are to be made from time to time. A function inherited from the old Bureau of immigration was the compilation of handbooks for the information of immigrants, giving values of land, accessibility, facilities of transportation, sale of crops, and other incidental information. When the State crop pest commission was abolished by Act 36, 1910, its duties were partially transferred to this department, particularly the publications which it had issued.

As early as 1886, the Bureau of agriculture had been required to print and distribute circulars setting forth the brands of fertilizers sold in the state, their analyses as claimed by the manufacturer, and their relative and commercial values. Act 72, 1894, revised the earlier provisions and enforced actual inspection and analysis of these fertilizers by the bureau. This remains a duty of the present department by terms of Act 39, of 1916. Similarly, circulars are issued by this department setting forth the analyses of brands of commercial feeding stuffs sold within Louisiana, under Act 153, 1904, as reenacted by Act 38, 1916. Act 119, of 1914, required that analyses of seeds shall be made and the results thereof published.

The State entomologist was directed by Sec.6, Act 36, 1910, to prepare and publish a list of dangerous crop and fruit pests, and infectious and contagious diseases of plants, known and suspected to be present in the state. He was also to prepare and have printed, with the approval of the Commissioner of agriculture, bulletins containing information, remedies, and preventatives for these diseases and pests, for distribution to farmers and other interested persons.

Reports on the yield and condition of crops were required by Act 42, of 1900.

The Bureau of marketing is a division of the Department of agriculture and immigration. This bureau publishes the Weekly Market Bulletin. Its work is to aid in the development of agriculture by improving the market conditions for the farmers of Louisiana.

Although the Department of agriculture and immigration had sponsored farmers' institutes all over the state and had published their papers and proceedings, it was not until 1908, by Act no.162, that a Farmers' institute conductor was appointed by the Commissioner to devote his time exclusively to this work. Section 2 of this act specified that Louisiana state university should furnish lecturers from the faculty and student body, and courses of study should be arranged to include the results of the most recent investigations in practical and scientific agriculture. These assemblies have been held under the auspices of the State university and their reports are usually contained in the University bulletins.

DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION.

A Commission on natural resources was created by Act 144. 1908. This was the beginning of the present Department of conservation. It published a report known as: Report of the Louisiana Conservation commission of 1910, thus giving itself the name by which it became legally known under Act 127, 1912, which established a Conservation commission. Sec. 24 of the above act gave it power to make rules and regulations for the preservation of natural resources. Sec.6 abolished the Board of commissioners for the protection of birds, game and fish, and transferred the property and functions of this board to the new commission. Sec.27 abolished the Department of forestry which had been created in 1904, and transferred its duties to the commission. A biennial report was required by this act, and the first report of the new commission was issued in 1914. The Department of conservation is also directed to make rules and regulations for the comprehensive control of birds, fish, shell fish, and wild quadrupeds, and minerals and soils and the natural resources of the state. The Constitution of 1921 changed the status of the Commissioner of conservation from that of a statutory officer to that of a constitutional officer, by Art.V, Sec.1. It likewise created the Department of conservation, continuing the functions of the commission, but making it an executive department of the state.

The Department of conservation is the source of many valuable publications. It has various subdivisions; e.g. the Bureau of education; the Bureau of scientific research and statistics; the Division of fisheries; the Division of oysters and water-bottoms; the Division of fur and wild life; the Division of forestry; and the Division of minerals. The administrative reports of these divisions are to be found in most cases embodied in the Biennial report of the Department of conservation.

The Bureau of scientific research and statistics created by Act 45, of 1930 is charged with the duty of the "scientific study of the natural resources of the state, particularly the wild life, the fish, both salt water and fresh water, the forest and minerals, and any and all natural resources of the state." Certain special studies are outlined for this division by the terms of this Act, as follows:

Sec.6, "Scientific study of the life habits of sea shrimp..."

Sec.7, Study of wild animal life, particularly in relation to those animals whose furs are used for commercial purposes.

Sec.8, Study of oyster culture; survey of oyster bottoms; study of enemies of the oyster.

Sec.9, Study of mines.

Although established in 1904, by Act 113, as an independent body known as the Department of forestry, this body was absorbed by the Conservation commission as early as 1912, and its functions have been carried out by that department. Act 90, of 1922, (as amended by Act 71, 1924), created a General forestry board to be appointed by the Governor and the Commissioner of conservation. The report of this board on the condition and progress of forestry within the state is included in the report of the Department of Conservation. Among other publications, the Division of forestry continues the Arbor day manual, formerly issued by the State department of education.

The Division of minerals was first established as the Department of mines and minerals by Act 254, of 1910, to prohibit unsafe and wasteful practices of mining operations. An annual report was required to be made to the Conservation commission, tabulating the number and character of mining operations, location and annual production, volumes of oil and gas produced, and gas pipe lines in the state. The duties of this department were taken over by the Department of conservation, Division of minerals.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE.

The Constitution of 1921, Article VII, Section 55, decreed that a "Department of justice", consisting of the Attorney general and his assistants should be elected every four years. It has been an elective office under all Constitutions, except that of 1812, under which it was appointive. The Revised Statutes, 131 state that the Attorney general is required to make and submit to the Legislature at the commencement of each session a report of all the official business transacted by him during the preceding year, to include in his report an abstract of the annual reports of the district attorneys, with such observations and statements, as in his opinion, the criminal jurisprudence, and the proper and economical administration of the criminal laws of the state shall warrant and require.

The Attorney general is required to keep two sets of books, or journals, which shall constitute the records of this office; one set shall contain a fair transcript of all the legal opinions given by the Attorney general, and the other set shall contain a statement of all the suits brought by him on behalf of the state. Each set shall have an index.[12]

By Art. 25 of the Criminal code he is required to specify all the suits and prosecutions which he may have attended; the number of persons prosecuted; the crimes for which, and the parishes where, such prosecutions were had; the results thereof; and the punishment therefor; this report shall be in addition to the reports provided for in Art.578 of this code.[13]

As district attorneys and chiefs of police are required to report criminal statistics to the Attorney general, he is also required by Art.578, to compile and publish this information with appropriate graphs tables and diagrams, showing in comparison the crime situation of the state with that of the preceding half year, and with similar periods in other years.

For many years the various reports mentioned above were issued in one volume: the Report of the Attorney general. Beginning with 1924/26 however, the opinions of the Attorney general were published in a separate bound volume, the Report being reduced in size and format to a pamphlet. This report contains the reports of the district attorneys, called "Schedules" A,B,C, etc., also civil and criminal cases, etc. In 1926/28 the title of this report changed to: "Statistical report of the Attorney general ..." A foreword in this report 1926/28, says, "the following report... showing suits of a civil nature...and prosecutions conducted in criminal matters; applications for pardons, commutations and restoration to citizenship; and the reports of the district attorneys throughout the state.

(The opinions rendered by the Department of justice will be published in book form as required by law)". However, the volume of Opinions, 1932/34 contained several of the above mentioned "Schedules", in addition to the "Opinions", themselves.

Briefs for cases to which the state is a party are prepared by the Attorney general's office and ordered printed by this department. Most of the briefs found listed in the following pages were seen in the offices of the Department of justice, both in Baton Rouge and in New Orleans. The office of the assistant attorney general in New Orleans contains a set of over twenty bound volumes containing hundreds of briefs prepared and published by order of the Department of justice, from 1924 to 1932. These briefs were arranged by case number as they were tried before the Supreme court of Louisiana. They are listed in this bibliography by an open entry, and not by titles as separates.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

An executive department, the office of the Secretary of state has been elective, since the Constitution of 1852. The keeper of the state seal, the Secretary of state has the duty of numbering and registering all acts and resolutions of the General assembly, and has distributed these documents since 1814.[15] Under Act 93, of 1838, the Secretary of state had control of the State library, being for many years librarian. This office also included the function of the listing and distribution of the official publications of the state. Act 97, of 1869, provided for the publishing of, not only the Acts, but also the House and Senate journals, and other documents, by the Secretary of state. He is directed by Act 49, of 1906, to compile and publish election returns. As he is authorized to publish the Acts of the Legislature, so he also publishes the constitutional amendments, and is occasionally directed to publish additional copies of the Constitution.[16] The publications and Journal of the Louisiana Historical Society are published by his authority. By Act 267, 1914, Sec.26 (e), the Secretary of state is instructed to compile and publish annually each August a list of the Foreign corporations which have appointed agents for service of legal process.

The Bureau of statistics was created by the Acts of 1848, and was attached to the office of the Secretary of state. The latter was directed to appoint an official to collect and record all information pertaining to population, agriculture, resources, commerce, manufactures, public education, etc., and to present a full report on the same to the Legislature. The "full report" thus called for and mentioned in the two items listed below was not seen. It was probably never published.

By the Acts of 1833, p.141, the Secretary of state was made superintendent of public education in the state. He was directed to prepare and present a formal report to the Legislature containing a statement of the condition of the parish schools, of all academies and colleges patronized by the state. These reports were issued annually until the creation of the State department of education in 1848.

By Act 20, of 1932, the Secretary of state was designated as Vehicle commissioner to provide suitable forms for applications, registration cards, license number plates, and all other forms requisite for the purpose of this act. He is required to adopt and enforce rules and regulations to carry out the intent of this act.

This office issues from time to time, compilations of laws on various subjects, e.g., Corporation laws, License laws, etc. Copies of individual laws are printed in pamphlet form and distributed by this office upon request. Occassionally similar pamphlets are issued by other offices, such as the Supervisor of public accounts. These may also be distributed by the office of the Secretary of State.

FIRE PREVENTION BUREAU.

The regularly licensed fire insurance companies doing business in the state of Louisiana were authorized by Act 189, of 1904, to organize a Fire Prevention bureau, the purpose of which was to inspect the physical care and condition of risks located in Louisiana; define safe methods of building construction; and supervise installation of electric and heating units.

Sec.4, of this Act directed that an annual report to be furnished to the State fire marshal each January, concerning the activities of this body. This bureau was abolished by the creation of the Fire rating and prevention bureau, organized under Act no.302, 1926, Sec.20. Although a report is specified in the Act mentioned above, it is probable that these reports were not printed. None has been seen.

GEOLOGICAL SURVEY, 1892-1909.

As early as 1891 an appeal was made to the Governor for an appropriation for an agricultural and geological survey of the state. The main object, as revealed in the reports of the Agricultural experiment station, seemed to be for a soil survey. An appropriation was made and a geologist appointed to make this survey. The work was done under the supervision of the Agricultural experiment station, and reports of its progress are to be found in the Annual reports of the director of the Experiment station. Aid was secured from the U.S. Geological survey, the U.S. Department of agriculture, Division of soils, and the U.S. Coast and geodetic survey. The survey lapsed from time to time from lack of funds and was finally abandoned in 1909, for that reason.

GOVERNOR.

Messages from the Governor's office are usually included in the House and Senate journals. Occasionally they reach print as separates. Each governor upon retiring from office is entitled to take such documents whether in print or in manuscript, with him. It was therefore impossible to secure a file of these documents from the Governor's office. Only messages encountered as separates in the course of this study, have been listed below. GRAND PRAIRIE LEVEE BOARD.

This board was created by Act no.24, of 1898. No publications have been noted.

GULF BIOLOGIC STATION.

Established by Act 182, of 1898, for the investigation of problems affecting fish and fisheries of Louisiana, Section 2 of this Act provides that the Board of commissioners for the protection of birds, game and fish "shall have full power and authority to pass all needful rules and regulations for the government and management of said station..." This station cooperated with the U.S. Commission of fish and fisheries. It was directed to publish results of investigations that might be of value in the development of the biologic resources of the state. Act 163, of 1900 re-enacted Section 2 of the above Act, and created a board of control, to which was given the powers and duties formerly ascribed to the Board of commissioners for the protection of birds, game and fish. In 1910, this Act was repealed and the control of the station was again vested in the afore-mentioned board. Through the requirements of Act 182, of 1898, Section 3, all publications originating from this station were issued by the State bureau of agriculture and immigration.

1833-1837, 1840-Jan., 1841, 1843-Nov.,1861, Jan., 1864, Jan., 1865 paged in duplicate.

Sessions held in New Orleans, 1812-1828, 1831-Dec., 1848, Oct. 1864-Dec.1881; at Donaldsonville, 1830, and 1st day of session Jan. 1831; at Baton Rouge, 1850-1861, 1882-1934; at Opelousas, Dec.1862; at Shreveport, May, 1863-Jan.1864, Jan.1865.

Although a session, known as: 2d Legis., Extra session, June, 1867, is noted by Bowker, (p.978), and by the Massachusetts' Handlist (p.144), there was no session of the Legislature meeting at this time. The acts credited to this "session" by the above bibliographies, are in reality Acts 202-206 passed by the 2d session of the 2d Legislature, which convened January, 1867. They were not signed by the Governor until June, 1867, and were not included in the regular volume of acts for January, 1867. This was of frequent occurrence during the Reconstruction period. Three editions of these acts have been issued: The first printed by J.O. Nixon, New Orleans, June 1867: the second, a reprint by T.L. Cole, Washington, D.C., 1894: and the third, a reprint by Otto Claitor, Baton Rouge, 1937. See pp. 154-155 for entries.

An abbreviated form, similar to that used in reference to Congressional documents, indicating the Legislature, the session, and the date of session, immediately precedes each entry of the Acts.

LEGISLATURE.

Under every constitution, the Legislature of the state of Louisiana has been a bicameral body. By Article III, Section 1, of the Constitution of 1921, it is specified that "The legislative power of the state shall be vested in a LEGISLATURE, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives. The other constitutions of the state had termed this body the "General assembly".

The Secretary of state is directed to publish and distribute the Acts of the Legislature. He distributes other legislative documents also.[25] The early proceedings of the Legislature were carried on in the French language. The Constitution of 1812, Article VI, Section 15, provided that they should be published in the "language in which the Constitution of the United States is written". The result was that these publications were issued in both the French and English languages, until the "carpet-bag" Constitution of 1868 forbade the publishing of such documents in any language but English. Later Constitutions stated that the Legislature could provide for the publication of these records in French, also, should it see proper to do so.

Prior to 1856 the various reports of the official bodies of the state government had occasionally been included as appendices to the Journals of the House or Senate. Beginning with that year, the governor was directed to present to the Legislature certain specified documents and reports. The Revised Statutes, 2613 state:

> All executive messages communicated, and the reports of the various state departments and of all standing and special committees of either branch of the General assembly, and the documents accompanying the same, shall be printed and bound in a separate volume, in the manner and form prescribed for the printing and publishing the Journals, and shall be designated "Documents of the ----- legislature, 18--", and there shall be 2000 volumes of the same delivered with the Journals.
> Documents issued prior to 1857, and ordinarily found as appendices to the House and Senate journals are included in the list of contents below.

Each house is required to keep a journal of its proceedings and cause the same to be published immediately after the close of the Legislature. The Secretary of state is directed to keep the original journal, and to distribute the printed copies.

____ Documents. 1844, 1845, 1848, 1850, 1852, 1853, 1855, 1857-1862, 1864/65-1879, 1882, 1904/06-1908/10// New Orleans [etc.]

Irregularly issued as above.

Title varies: Documents, sessional; Legislative documents; Collected documents.

Dates used are those of the sessions of the Legislature when the documents were issued. Reports of departments, boards, etc., found therein are usually for the previous year.

1850, 1852, 1853, 1854 and 1855 are appendices in the House journals for those years.

LEPER HOME.

Act 85, of 1892, required that all lepers found within the borders of the state of Louisiana be confined within an institution, or hospital. This was located in New Orleans. Act 80, of 1894, provided for a board of control for this institution. In 1898, the state authorized the Board of control to select a site for a permanent leper home, and appropriated $25,000 for the purchase of one. This home located at Carville, La., was maintained by the state until 1920, when by Act 77, it was turned over to the United States government for the sum of $35,000, for a national leprosarium. The report of the Board of control for 1918/20 is therefore the last report of this institution as an official body of Louisiana.

LEVEE DISTRICTS

Act 33 of 1879, repealed an act of 1878 creating a Board of state engineers, and in itself created a new Board of engineers. This act divided the state into six levee districts. Sec.8 provided for a Board of levee commissioners for each of these districts, consisting of one member from each parish. Subsequent acts repealed the above act. Each levee district is now controlled by a board, usually appointed by the Governor. These boards are empowered to issue bonds, levy taxes, borrow money from the Federal government, and to construct and maintain levees. These boards are under the general jurisdiction of

The Commission was directed, by Section 6, to obtain reports from all free libraries of Louisiana, and to incorporate them in its biennial report. Section 6, of Act 36, 1926, specifies that all public libraries and their boards shall make an annual report to the Library commission giving such statistics and any other information as may be required.

LOUISIANA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

The Louisiana historical society was first organized January 15, 1836, and was reorganized in June, 1846. The Secretary of state was required by Act 189, of 1848, to deposit with the Historical society for reference and preservation, copies of all printed state documents, and Acts and Journals of both houses, reports of all public institutions, journals of the state conventions and their debates, in French and English, reports of all public officers...and reports of the Decisions of the Supreme court...thus conferring upon the Society an official status.

Act no.6, of 1860, incorporated the Louisiana historical society, and made its domicile Baton Rouge. This act stated that the object of the society was to collect, and preserve facts, documents, records, and memorials relating to the natural, aborginal, and civil life of this state. A room in the state capitol building was assigned for its use. It was further specified by this act that in the event of the dissolution of this society the State library should fall heir to all of its records and documents. The domicile of this organization was removed to New Orleans, by Act 108, of 1877.

The annual report of the Historical society, as well as the Louisiana Historical Quarterly, its official organ, are by the authority of Act 274, 1916, printed by the state to the number of one thousand copies each. Reprints are issued as a form of complimentary remuneration to the contributors to the Louisiana Historical Quarterly, and are not included in this list as state documents.

When the centennial of the official act of the transfer of Louisiana to the United States drew near, the Legislature authorized the society to prepare a program of ceremonies fitting to the occassion and present it to the Legislature for approval.[31] Likewise in 1910,

LOUISIANA STATE UNIVERSITY AND AGRICULTURAL AND MECHANICAL COLLEGE.

The Governor was directed to appoint a commission to select a site for the newly created State seminary of learning by the Acts of 1852. Act 72, of 1853, accepted the site located by the commission in Rapides parish, and created a Board of trustees to supervise the building and establishment of the Seminary. By Act 317, of 1855, the Board of trustees was directed to make an annual report to the Legislature, embracing a full account of the disbursement, and a general statement of the condition of the school. The school was closed during the Civil war due to the fact that the faculty and students, almost to a man, were engaged in the hostilities. Reconstruction and disaster prevented the reopening of the institution immediately. In 1868 it was transferred to Baton Rouge. The name was changed not long thereafter to the Louisiana state university by Act 47, of 1870.

In 1874 the Louisiana State agricultural and mechanical college was established in St. Bernard parish. Act 145, 1876, united this institution with the State university at Baton Rouge under the name Louisiana State university and agricultural and mechanical college. It was placed under the control of a Board of supervisors, which was required by Section 20 of this act to make a "detailed report to the Legislature...one copy of which shall be transmitted under the provisions of the Act of Congress, July 2, 1862..." It was also specified that this report should include "results of important investigations... literary, historical, philological, and philosophical discussions of essays as may be deemed important or useful..." Early reports of the Board of supervisors included such material. This report since 1928/30 has been the President's report to the Legislature. It is included in the University bulletin series.

___ AGRICULTURAL EXPERIMENT STATION.
Act 115, of 1884, authorized the Board of supervisors of the Louisiana state university and agricultural and mechanical college to establish such agricultural experiment stations as complied with the bills then before Congress. Act 100, 1888, gave legislative assent to grants of money from the federal government to establish these stations, and ratified the acceptance by Louisiana state university of this fund. The Board of supervisors of the University was made the governing board of these experiment stations.

LOUISIANA STATE UNIVERSITY AND AGRICULTURAL AND MECHANICAL COLLEGE.

The Sugar experiment station, Audubon park, New Orleans, was the first experiment station to be established. It was moved to Baton Rouge and combined with the station on the State university grounds in 1924.

The largest of the agricultural experiment stations is located at Baton Rouge, on the State university grounds. It began operations in 1888.

The North Louisiana experiment station at Calhoun was established in April, 1888.

Act 113, of 1908, authorized the establishment of the Rice experiment station at Crowley, 1909, for the purpose of carrying on scientific investigations pertaining to the economical production of rice.

The Fruit and truck experiment station at Hammond was established under the terms of Act 49, 1920. The State board of agriculture and immigration was directed to found this station, but its supervision and management were and are the same as other experiment stations under the state university.

An experiment station located in Beauregard parish was authorized by Act 27, 1924. Rapides parish was designated as another point for the establishment of an experiment station by Act 101, 1926.[36]

The Experiment station at St. Joseph was established by ten parishes of north Louisiana, cooperating with L.S.U. in 1929, under Act 138, of 1928. It is subject to the same supervision and requirements to which other branch stations are subject.

Act 86, of 1930, transferred the title of Hope plantation in Iberia parish from the State penitentiary to the U.S. government for an experiment station farm. No report has been seen from this farm.

LOUISIANA STATE UNIVERSITY AND AGRICULTURAL AND MECHANICAL COLLEGE. AGRICULTURAL EXTENSION DIVISION.

Although extension work was actually practiced in Louisiana prior to 1897, by the Department of agriculture of Louisiana, and by the staff of the Agricultural experiment station, as well as the faculty of the School of agriculture of the Louisiana state university, it was not until that date that an appropriation was made for this specific purpose. After 1902 the Experiment station and Agricultural college assumed the task of agricultural extension.[40] "The Extension department of the College of agriculture was organized September 1, 1909, when the Department of agriculture of the United States, and of Louisiana entered into a cooperative arrangement with the experiment stations of the university."[41] Since 1915 this division has been very active and has issued much material, most of which is in mimeograph form. Some of these series such as "Press bulletins", etc., have been regarded by the U.S. Agricultural Experiment stations Library, Washington, D.C., as publications, and they are included in this list as such.

It also had charge of pipe lines within the state. This commission was modeled on the lines of the federal Interstate commerce commission.

It was superseded in 1921 by the Public service commission, which took over its powers and duties, and continued its publications.

RAILROADS

In the 1850's railroads came under the classification of internal improvements, and the State treasurer was authorized to subscribe for the state for one-fifth of capital stock of any railroad organizing in the state, "whenever he shall be authorized by a special law to do so".[45] The president and directors of any railroad in which the state thus became a stockholder were directed to make a report to the Legislature on the general condition of the company, the amount of capital expended, money borrowed, length of road finished, and statement of receipts and expenditures.[46] These reports are entered under the name of railroad companies.

STATE BANKING DEPARTMENT.

The office of the State examiner of state banks was created by Act 198, 1898. A biennial report was required by Act 134, Sec.1, 1902, to contain a summary of the state and condition of every state bank, savings bank, and banking association; and a statement of the banks, banking associations, and savings banks whose business has been closed during the preceeding years. By Act 120, of 1902, Sec.19, the Examiner of the state banks was directed to report the condition and general conduct of all building and loan or homestead associations. Act no.140, of 1932, Sec.64, further requires that he make suggestions, as he may deem expedient, to these associations. House concurrent resolution no.4, of the 3d extra session, 1934, authorizes the State bank commissioner to have charge of the debt moratorium in Louisiana, provided for by Act 2 of the same session. He is therefore made Debt moratorium commissioner. Act 187 of 1916, Sec.1, specified that the Examiner should be required to compile and index all laws relative to banking associations, savings banks and trust companies, building and loan, or homestead associations, including the uniform negotiable instruments act. This same act provided for the printing of a thousand copies to be distributed to bank departments of other states and countries, and sold for a moderate price to individuals. Act 140, of 1906, requires reports from all state banks to be made to the State bank examiner four times each year.

It was not until 1910, however, that the State banking department received its present official title under Act 112, Sec.2, which officially created this department, and stated that the State examiner of state banks was to be its chief officer. By Art.VI, Sec.18, Constitution of 1921, his title was changed to State bank commissioner, and he was made supervisor of homestead and building and loan associations in Louisiana.

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

This board was created in 1855. Its chief duty at that time was to make and enforce quarantine regulations and restrictions on vessels entering the Mississippi and Atchafalaya rivers.[53] Other changes and reorganizations were affected in 1876, 1877, and 1882. The board was reorganized in its present form by the Constitution of 1921, carried into effect by Act 79, of 1921. Within this period its powers and duties have become extensive. By Act 92, of 1882, the board was required to include in its report the annual reports of the local boards of health. Through Act 257, 1918, it assumed charge of the recording of vital statistics. Under authority of Act no.79, 1921, the State board of health has control of both land and water quarantine, water supplies, and waste disposal within the state. It is also vested with control over matters of local sanitation which cannot be regulated by the local boards.[54]

The board is charged with the compilation of a sanitary code, which it issues irregularly. It is printed and distributed to all health officers and boards, and to the public generally. The recent practice of the State board of health is to print portions of the sanitary code relating to one subject as separates.[55]

When, in 1932, the State dairy commission ceased to function due to lack of funds, the inspection of dairies, and the enforcement of regulations governing the production and distribution of dairy products, was placed upon the State board of health. It was at the same time directed to make rules and regulations governing this industry, and to print the same.[56]

This commission was established by Act 6, extra session of 1903. It had the power to make and promulgate rules and regulations to control and eradicate fruit and crop pests. Section 6 directed that a list of dangerous fruit and crop pests, and infectious and contagious diseases be published by the commission. It also authorized that the commission publish bulletins for the purpose of disseminating knowledge concerning contagious diseases or injurious pests affecting crops, plants, and trees, etc., and the remedies, preventives, and disinfectants as they may approve, including also rules and regulations. These bulletins were printed and published under the supervision of the State board of agriculture and immigration.

__ BOARD OF STATE INSTITUTE MANAGERS.

Act 64, of 1894, stated that state institutes or summer normal schools for teachers should be held thereafter. A state institute conductor was appointed under the supervision of the Department of education to conduct these institutes. In 1910, a Board of state institute managers was created by Act 223, which board should select this state institute conductor, and have full charge of state institute work. These institutes were held at, and in cooperation with, the State university, and other state colleges. The functions of this Board were finally assumed by them altogether, resulting in the present system of summer schools in connection with these institutions.

STATE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL FOR COLORED YOUTHS.

This school was established by Act 150, 1928, as a reformatory for negro boys seventeen years of age and under. Section 6 of this Act directs that a full report of the operations of this school be rendered to the Governor, with such recommendations as may be needed. None of these reports has been seen.

STATE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.

Act 143, of 1918, created a Louisiana State home for girls. This was re-enacted in 1920, by Act 249 with the wording that "a state reformatory for females to be known as the Louisiana Industrial home for girls and women is herewith established". Not until re-enacted by Act 175, of 1926, to provide for the creation, maintenance, and government of a State industrial school for girls, did this become effective. This last Act requires that the board of commissioners of this school shall render to the Governor a full report of the institution and its operation.

STATE LAND OFFICE.

As early as 1815 a surveyor general was designated who had charge of surveying all the lands in each parish to which the Federal government had no claim. He was supposed to make and "keep records in his office in the city of New Orleans, in a fireproof brick house". The Acts of 1844 created an office for the sale of the unlocated public lands of the state, donated to the state by act of Congress. This office was reorganized by Act 38, 1870 under the carpet-bag regime. In 1880, Act no.75, entitled "An act to readjust the State land office" was passed to supersede the reconstruction statute. This act is still in effect. The Constitution of 1921 made this office a part of the executive department of the state government.

The State land office has authority over the sale and leasing of all public lands, swamp lands, islands, lake bottoms, etc. It must keep an account of these sales, and furnish the State auditor annually a descriptive list of lands sold the previous year. A biennial report is required from this office.

STATE LIBRARY.

Act 93, of 1838, declared that there "shall be erected a public library of the state of Louisiana, which shall be placed in the State House". The Secretary of state was directed to make rules for the administration of this library. Section 6 directed that an inventory be taken before the librarian took charge, showing that there was probably a collection already in existence.

This Act was evidently never carried into effect, for Act 80, of 1844, "revived" the above Act and directed that all books should be collected from the various offices for the library, and specified that the librarian should make "two exact catalogues so as to class separately books and documents which are to be preserved, from those which are to be distributed or sold". By Section 2, the Secretary of state was authorized to appoint a librarian. Act 329, of 1855, reorganized the State library, but with the same provision. R.S. 2191 states that the State librarian is authorized under the direction of the Secretary of state to exchange with the several states of the union, or with any foreign government, scientific institute, or person, any books of this state, such as reports of the Supreme court, codes, digests, etc. for other books. R.S. 2192 also direct the State librarian to distribute such documents among the courts and parishes and public offices of the state.

1822, and the first state penitentiary was erected at Baton Rouge in 1832. In 1844 he was authorized to appoint a Board of directors, who were required by Acts of 1850 to make annual reports to the Governor.

Reorganized under Act 70, 1900, as amended by Act 168 of 1902, the control and management of the state penitentiary was vested in a general manager appointed by the Governor. The Board of control was required to make annual reports to the Governor by Act 168, 1902. The reports must contain detailed statements of the condition and working of the penitentiary, and of the condition of its inmates, as well as fiscal matters, also such recommendations as may be thought proper. This board was also required to make rules and regulations for the administration of the institution.

The Legislature of 1916, by Act 137, abolished the Board of control, and gave complete power to the general manager, and delegated to him the duty of making annual reports to the Governor. The Annual report for 1916/17 is the first report issued by the general manager.

STATE SCHOOL FOR THE BLIND.

Act 294, of 1855, created an institution for the deaf, dumb, and blind, located at Baton Rouge, and under the control of a board of managers. The Act was superseded by Act 92, 1871, which established an institution for the instruction of the blind exclusively, also located at Baton Rouge. A separate institution was set up for the care and education of the deaf and dumb also. The two institutions were again united by Act 49, of 1898, which created the Institute for the deaf, dumb, and blind, which functioned until 1898, when they were again separated into distinct institutions. This Act, no.145, 1898, required that the board of trustees of the Institute for the blind should report biennially to the General assembly. The name of this institution was changed to the State school for the blind by Act 238, of 1908. This name was confirmed by the Constitution of 1921, Article 12, Section 9, and the State board of education was given direct supervision thereof.

STATE SCHOOL FOR BLIND AND DEAF NEGROES, BATON ROUGE, LA.

A state school for the benefit of the deaf and blind children of the negro race was established by Act 159, 1920. It is under the control of the State board of education, which prescribes the course of study, and makes rules and regulations for the government of the school. No reports have been seen from this institution.

STATE SCHOOL FOR THE DEAF.

The Governor was directed by the Acts of 1838 to enumerate the deaf and dumb persons in the state, and to enter into contract with any other slave holding state for their care and education. This inadequate arrangement was corrected, when in 1852, by Act 322, an institution for the deaf, dumb, and blind was established at Baton Rouge, for the purpose of receiving, supporting, and instructing all persons, deaf, dumb, and blind, who were unable to pay for such instruction. Act 88, of 1871, reorganized the above institution into two schools, one for the blind, the other for the deaf and dumb. The two institutions were re-united by Act 49, of 1888, and were then known as the Institute for the deaf, dumb, and blind.

This Act was superseded by Act 166, of 1898, which re-organized the Institute into two bodies, and established the Institute for the deaf and dumb. This Act instructed the board of trustees to report to the General assembly at each session the affairs and condition of the institution.

The name of this school was changed by Act 239, of 1908, to the State school for the deaf. This name was confirmed by the Constitution of 1921, Article 12, Section 9, and the State board of education was given control of the school.

SUPREME COURT.

The reports of the Louisiana Supreme court from 1804 to 1830 were compiled by F.X. Martin in two series of 12 and 8 volumes, respectively. However, in 1830 it was enacted that a "Reporter of the decisions of the Supreme court should be appointed, whose duty it should be to cause to be printed and published reports of said decisions". These were known as the Louisiana Reports. 19 v. 1830-1841. They were continued by Robinson in 12 v., 1841-1846. The Constitution of 1845 provided that "The legislative and judicial written proceedings of the state shall be promulgated, preserved and conducted in the language in which the Constitution of the United States is written". From then on the "Louisiana Annual Reports" were published in English and covered the period from 1846 to 1900 in 52 vols. Act 87, 1900, authorized the State printer to enter into a contract with a lawyer to edit and index the Supreme court decisions for printing. The Constitution of 1921, Art. VII, sec.17, states that the decisions of the Supreme court shall be reported under the direction of the court and the publication of the decisions shall be let to the highest bidder, who need not be a citizen of the state.

TAX COMMISSION, 1906.

The tax commission, of 1906, was created by Act no.191, of 1906, for the purpose of investigating the system of laws relative to assessment and taxation, and their execution in the state of Louisiana, and other states of the Union. It was directed to report its findings and recommendations in twelve months to the Governor. This report accompanied by the recommendations of the Governor was transmitted by him to the Legislature.

TAX COMMISSION.

Article 10, section 2, of the Constitution of 1921, directed that the "Board of state affairs hereafter shall be called the Louisiana Tax Commission... subject to the Legislature, shall exercise such authority in respect to assessment, taxation, the state budget, and other matters as now is or hereafter may be prescribed by law". The Tax commission therefore assumed all the duties and powers formerly delegated to the Board of state affairs, and issued the reports, budget recommendations and other publications required by Act 140, of 1916, which created the Board of state affairs and so specifically outlined its publications.

The Tax commission was authorized by Act 77, 1930, to make a thorough study and investigation of all taxing systems, plans and methods used in all states of this union and such countries as it should consider advisable, and submit to the Legislature in 1932, a compilation of its findings.

TAX REFORM COMMISSION.

This commission was created by Act 132, of 1932, to make a full study and survey of the present tax system of the state of Louisiana, and of possible and proposed new sources of revenue, or new objects subject to taxation. The commission was directed to report on available new sources of revenue, with the view of relieving the taxes on farms and houses, and to report and recommend to the Governor and the Legislature plans and proposals of tax reform; a system of taxation; and generally, as to the findings of such commissions in economics of administration, and relief from inequitable taxation. Section 10 required that a printed report should be prepared and furnished to the Governor and to each member of the Legislature on or before January 1, 1933, which should contain the results of its efforts, with recommendations for legislation to accomplish economy in the governmental agencies of this state and to afford tax relief to the taxpayers of Louisiana.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

The Constitutions of 1812 and 1845 specified that the State treasurer should be appointed by both houses of the Legislature. This was changed by the Constitution of 1852 which made this office an elective one. A territorial Act of 1808 required that the treasurer lay before the General assembly "the said general accounts". In addition to the biennial report to the Legislature, the treasurer is required to render to the Governor ten days prior to the commencement of the regular session of the Legislature a detailed statement of the condition of the treasury, and its fiscal operations during the preceding fiscal year.

UNIVERSITY OF LOUISIANA, NEW ORLEANS. (TULANE UNIVERSITY).

A medical school was established in New Orleans in 1834. The Constitution of 1845, by Articles 137 and 138 created a University of Louisiana, of which the already functioning Medical college of Louisiana, was a part. Article 139 stated that the Legislature should "be under no obligation to contribute, to establish, or support said university by appropriations".

By Act 43, of 1884, this institution became known as Tulane university of Louisiana. It is exempt from taxation, and the Governor and the State superintendent of education are ex-officio members of the Board of administrators. The state turned over to Tulane university the property of the old University of Louisiana under the terms of this act. Publications of Tulane university are not official publications of the state of Louisiana although those of its predecessor the University of Louisiana are considered state documents.
