PREFACE

The Inventory of Federal Archives in the States is one of the products of the work of the Survey of Federal Archives, which operated as a nation-wide project of the Works Progress Administration from January 1, 1936 to June 30, 1937, and has been continued since that date as a unit of the Historical Records Survey, also operating as a nation-wide project of the Works Progress Administration, and a group of state or local projects of that Administration.

The plan for the organization of the Inventory is as follows: Series I consists of reports on the administration of the Survey, acknowledgments, and general discussions of the location, condition, and content of Federal archives in the states. Succeeding series contain the detailed information secured by workers of the Survey, in inventory form, a separate series number being assigned to each of the executive departments (except the Department of State) and other major units of the Federal Government. Within each series No. 1 is a general introduction to the field organization and records of the governmental agency concerned; the succeeding numbers contain the inventory proper, separate numbers being assigned to each state in alphabetical order. Thus, in each series, the inventory for Alabama is No. 2, that for Arizona No. 3, that for Arkansas No. 4, etc.

For each local office information regarding each series, or unit of related records, is presented in the following order: title, inclusive dates ("to date" indicating an open file at the time the information was secured), general description of informational content, description of the system of filing or indexing (if any), a statement of frequency and purpose of use, form of the record itself (bound volumes, sheets in folders, etc.), linear footage, description of the containers, physical condition of the records (not stated if satisfactory), location by room number or other identifying information, and finally, the number of the Form 58SA on which this information was originally recorded by a Survey worker and from which it was abstracted for the Inventory. This form is on file in The National Archives. When it contains substantial information on addenda sheets which has not been included in the mimeographed abstract, indication of this is given by use of the reference "See addenda."

In Indiana the work of the Survey was under the direction of Professor William O. Lynch, with Mr. J. Harley Nichols as his assistant from its inception until July 15, 1936 at which time Mr. Nichols succeeded him as director. From July 1937 to December 1938 Mr. A. W. Fishback was in charge of the project and since February 11, 1939 Mr. Samuel J. Kagan, State Director of the Historical Records Survey has been supervising the work of the project. This Inventory of the records of the Emergency Relief Administrations in Indiana was prepared in the Indianapolis office of the Survey and was edited before final typing by Miss Elizabeth Edwards of the Washington office. It is reproduced in mimeographed form through the facilities of the Historical Records Survey.

EMERGENCY RELIEF ADMINISTRATION

INTRODUCTION

The Indiana Emergency Relief Administration was organized in May 1933. It was under the supervision of the Federal Emergency Relief Administration and the Governor's Commission on Unemployment Relief. The Governor's Commission on Unemployment Relief (referred to as GCUR throughout the Inventory) was a state agency that coordinated and administered all emergency relief activities. By executive orders of the Governor, this Commission was abolished April 1, 1939 and reestablished August 11, 1939 as the Indiana Commission on Unemployment Relief. From April 1 to August 11, its duties, activities, and functions were taken over by the Indiana Department of Public Welfare under the Division of Unemployment Relief.

Prior to April 1, 1934 grants were made from the Federal Emergency Relief funds to the Federal Civil Works Administration for work relief, and to township trustees for a part of direct relief costs. After the Federal Civil Works Administration was terminated April 1, 1934, the FERA work relief program as well as direct relief was administered by the Indiana Emergency Relief Administration.

Work projects under the direction of county work directors were set up in each of the ninety-two counties in Indiana. The projects were planned to give employment to the largest possible number of relief clients. They were sponsored in accordance with the general FERA regulations, that is, by state departments and local political sub-divisions, and by the State ERA office. Projects were sponsored by city and county engineers, boards of county commissioners, town councils, other public administrative bodies, and officials. State projects were sponsored by the State office, often in cooperation with the state departments.

Generally speaking, the projects in each county were coordinated by the county work director and the local public officials to assure that the work done was most essential to the general welfare of the community. Projects were distributed roughly in proportion to population, e. g., Marion County, where Indianapolis, the largest city in the State is located, had three hundred ninety-eight projects, while Lake County, in which Gary, Hammond, East Chicago and Whiting are located, had three hundred three projects; Scott County had six projects; Union County had seven projects; and Switzerland County had eleven projects. Every effort was made to approve projects and put them in operation to alleviate unemployment.

Workers were selected for the projects from the relief rolls by the social service division of the ERA. Selections were made on a basis of the relief client's need. Every effort was made to place workers on projects that were best suited to their abilities. When projects were closed, workers were given preference over direct relief clients on new projects being started. Workers with large families were given preference in all cases. The maximum time for any person to work was twenty-four hours per week.

Some of the outstanding projects under this program were surveys of sewers, county roads and bridges, grade and track elevation, coal mine drainage, rural electrification, and location of section corners; county coordinated projects, planning for Indiana National Guard, and conservation work (fish hatcheries).

For records originating directly or indirectly under FERA auspices, now in other custody, and for records closely relating to its work, see the Indiana Inventories for the Federal Civil Works Administration, the National Reemployment Service, and the Departments of Agriculture, Labor, and the Treasury.
