TRIBUTE

TO ONE WHOSE PERSONALITY, WIT AND CHARM ARE INVALUABLE TO THOSE WHO KNOW HIM AND ARE IMMORTAL IN HIS UNIQUE PRESENTATION OF KENTUCKY LIFE.....

COTTON NOE

Dr. James Thomas Cotton Noe

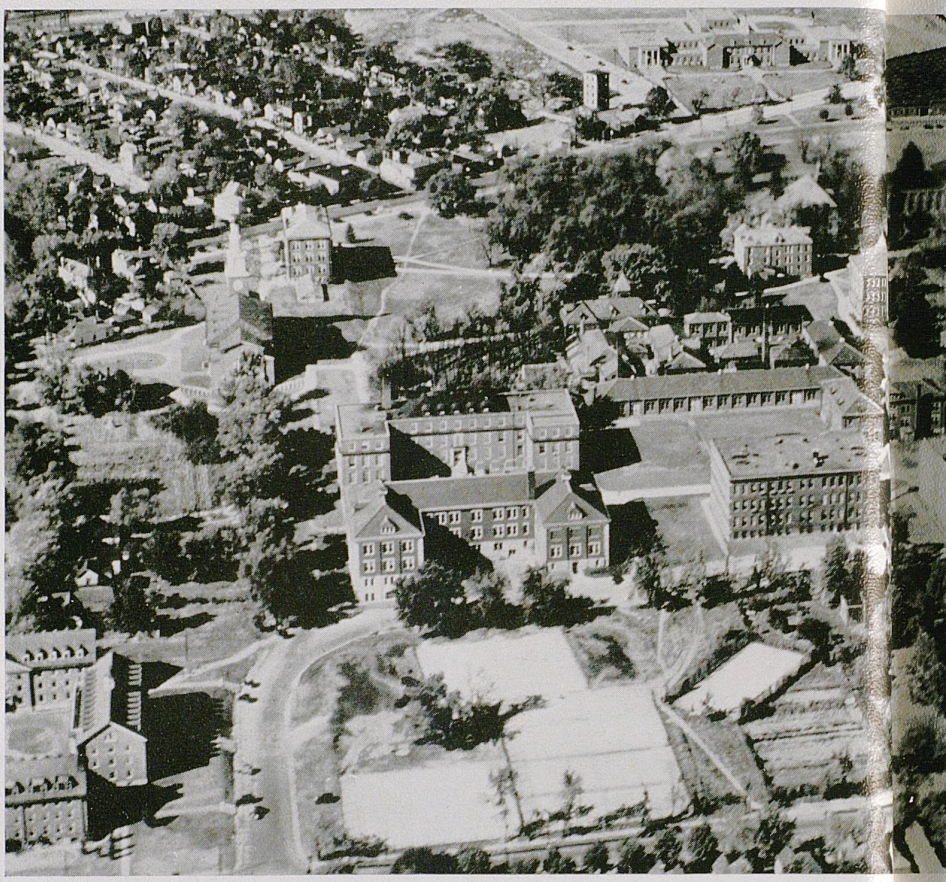

THE THEME of this book is a tribute to the Commonwealth, and no sweeter tribute could be framed than the one which was written by the genial, loveable, poet laureate to whom this volume is dedicated, James Thomas Cotton Noe. He speaks through the lips of Daniel Boone:

"I love Kentucky.
A hundred years her hundred streams
Have poured their waters through my dreams,
A hundred years her Bluegrass plains
And wooded hills have been my fanes.
God never made a land
More beautiful than Kentucky.
I loved her when the savage hand
Was wet with the blood of the pioneer,
The rugged beauty of the river flowing near
My resting place
Still moves me with the joy of ancient days.
And looking out across the space
Of green and blue upon that gem of art,
Kentucky's capitol, ablaze
In sunset, or in the golden haze
Of autumn, I know the heart
That placed it there did also love
Kentucky.
But there is beauty far above
What any eye
Has ever looked upon in cloud or sky.
O lovers and guardians of Kentucky,
Out yonder is a little child who craves the light,
Out yonder is a clouded heart that cannot see aright
The rainbow's finest colorings.
Back yonder is a soul that never sings.
If you would honor me,
Who first loved beautiful Kentucky,
Dispel the darkness of the feud,
Illume the night of ignorance and of servitude,
Turn on the blazing light that all may see."

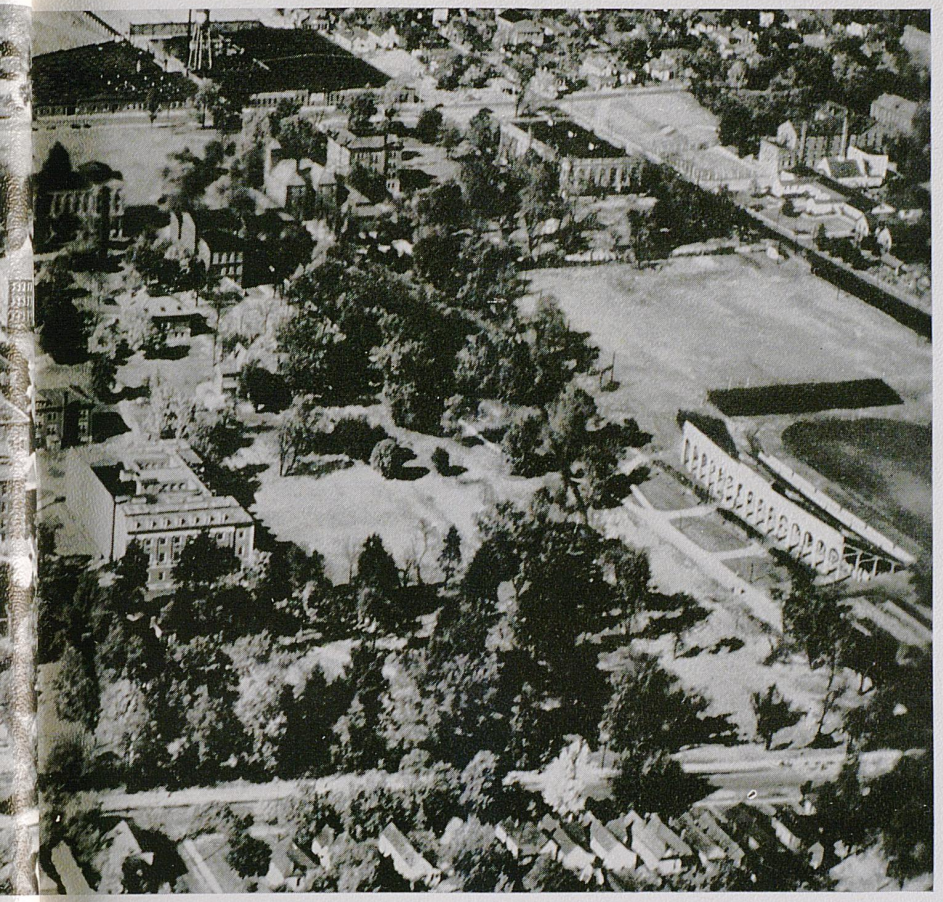

IRVIN S. COBB

"A University is a Spirit . . . . "

W. D. Funkhouser, dean of the Graduate School, was born in Rockport, Indiana, and was one of those boys who go to school with snakes and toads in their pockets. His chief interests are bugs, snakes, and dead Indians. His work has carried him to practically all of the countries of the world; to the Okefinokee swamp in search of new species of snakes and birds, and to the Sahara Desert in search of the great-grandson of the asp that stung Cleopatra.

People from all over the world send bugs to Dr. Funkhouser just to find out what they are, exactly. He has written 229 books and pamphlets and when poor Floyd Collins got into his cave and couldn't get out, they put Doctor Funkhouser in charge of the rescue operations.

He hesitates to name his favorite sport, because, you see, he is the chairman of the Athletic Council and secretary of the Southeastern Conference, so he can't show a preference.

Thomas Poe Cooper, dean of the Agricultural College, was born in Pekin, Illinois, but loves Kentucky so much that he considers himself a Kentuckian through and through. His travels have carried him all over the United States and into Canada and Mexico. He once took a canoe trip in northern Minnesota, and relates that such a trip can never be forgotten, what with five-mile portages up hill and the like.

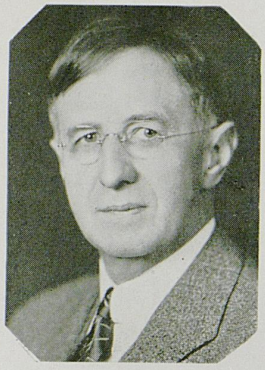

For recreation he works in his garden, and when it comes to eating anything goes, just so it includes beefsteak, rare roast beef or turkey.

Like most fishermen, he finds that the biggest ones always get away, but he did once catch an 18-pound land-locked salmon on the Canadian border—and he can prove that.

They like pets at the Cooper home and have two dogs—one a Scottie and the other—just dog.

Dean W. S. Taylor, who has been head of the College of Education since 1923, was born somewhere in Kentucky "not so many years ago." He is a graduate of the University of Kentucky and received his Master's degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1913. He has the title of Doctor, which he procured at Columbia University in 1923. He has the reputation of being a very busy man, but sometimes dashes off from his labors to take a hike thru the surrounding hills and woods. He belongs to many honorary organizations. His hobbies center around gardening and a game of golf is his favorite sport. Every summer "Wisconsin beckons to him" and it is reported that he is planning a trip to Yellowstone Park this summer.

DEAN BOYD, dean of the Arts and Science College, was born in Cameron, W. Va., but since that time has traveled all over the United States and Canada. He was reared down in Arkansas, and his earliest ambition, as he now remembers it, was to become a pirate. Later, however, he majored in mathematics and took a pre-medical course in college. As a 16-year-old boy, back in 1893, he traveled up to Chicago to see the World's Fair, getting a job as bell-hop in a hotel there. Last summer he went to the Fair again, but somehow it just didn't have the same kick as it did back in '93.

Reading, long trips, and college sports interest him very much, and he reads the sport pages religiously. He has a weakness for sweets, but his health has always been excellent. Dean Boyd has two daughters; Betty, who is a senior at the University, and Virginia, who is a secretary of the music department.

LEVI JACKSON HORLACHER, assistant dean of the Agriculture College, was born in Frankfort, Indiana. Originally he wanted to be a farmer, but while in college decided on teaching for a career. His travels include considerable of the United States and some of Canada, which he considered a very interesting country from an agricultural standpoint. Sheep are a specialty with him, and the walls of his office are adorned with pictures of thoroughbreds.

For recreation he reads, drives, bowls, and plays diamond ball and volley ball with considerable enthusiasm.

Dean Horlacher has two daughters, Helen, who is 14, and Frances, who is 7. When supper time comes around you'll find him the happiest when the meal is built upon a framework of broiled beefsteak and French fried potatoes—a combination he is sure can't be beat.

T. T. JONES, dean of men, hails from Clay County, Kentucky. At an early age he decided to follow teaching. He obtained his bachelor's degree here at the University, and later earned his Ph. D. at Harvard. He is interested in almost all sports, is fond of traveling, and eats whatever is set before him.

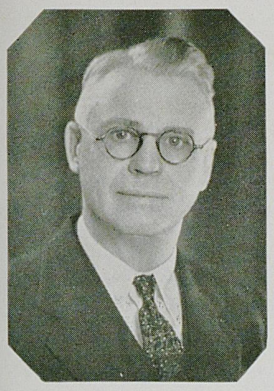

Last winter he and Dean Evans were on the way to the Wallace banquet in Louisville when they collided with a telephone pole, but fortunately neither was seriously hurt. As a boy he liked to ride horses, but of late, having neither horses nor time to ride them, has neglected the sport.

Dean Jones lives on a suburban estate about one and one-quarter miles from the campus. He has one child, a daughter, who is a senior at the University.

W. E. Freeman, a native Lexingtonian, has been acting dean of the College of Engineering during the past year. He was graduated from Transylvania College and later received his Master's degree from the University. When he was rather young (not very long ago) he journeyed to New York where he worked for a few years.

He is another one of our deans who likes to work in his garden. When his gardening is done he dashes off to Herrington Lake to angle for members of the finny tribe. College football and basketball appeal to him very much. But smoking has no attraction whatsoever. He has two daughters, Jane, a freshman at the University, and "Little Marjorie."

Alvin E. Evans, dean of the Law College, was born in Valley, Nebraska, and has ridden horses since he was less than 4 years old. The male members of his family were noted for their strength, and in his youth Dean Evans was an accomplished wrestler.

He has traveled all over the United States, and enjoys flying. While in Washington, D. C., he flew in a monophane with a Navy officer, and four years ago he had a ride in an autogyro.

His son, Palmer, is a singer and stands 6 feet and three inches at 16. He has intention of becoming and engineer, but his little sister, Pat, who is seven, is determined to be a dean of women.

Dean Evans decided on law for a career when he was twenty-five. At this time he was studying Latin and Greek. He got interested in Roman law and this in turn lead to his study of the common law.

Edward Wiest, dean of the College of Commerce, hails from Florida. He has lived all over the United States and prefers Vermont and Kentucky. He found Vermont especially enjoyable because it gave him the opportunity to skate and toboggan.

Cutting grass and tending flowers gives him much enjoyment, but he also likes to fish and once caught an 11-pound dogfish in Lake Llelanau, Michigan.

Dean Wiest tries to follow the rules of good diet, but admits a weakness for deserts and sweets—especially cocoanut custard.

While working his way through school he did considerable work with the weather bureau in Washington, D. C., and in New York City.

The pet of the family is a Chile dog named Ching Boy, who is especially fond of the Dean's daughter, Marjory, who is a student at the University.

Sarah Gibson Blanding is dean of women and assistant professor of political science. She was born right here in Fayette County, has traveled all over the United States, and spent some of her time studying in England. As a very young girl she wanted to be a doctor, but an active interest in physical education led her into this field.

Dean Blanding is fond of swimming and once swam out to a lighthouse six miles off New Haven. Swimming and canoeing interest her greatly, and when it comes to food, she doesn't like deserts, sweets or meats, prefering instead fruit and vegetables.

In the summer time she conducts a camp for girls on the Kentucky River. Once a year they take a trip down the river, twelve girls going on horseback and the rest aboard a double-decked barge on the river.

She is fond of riding, but says her technique consists in getting on, and staying on, or rather trying to.

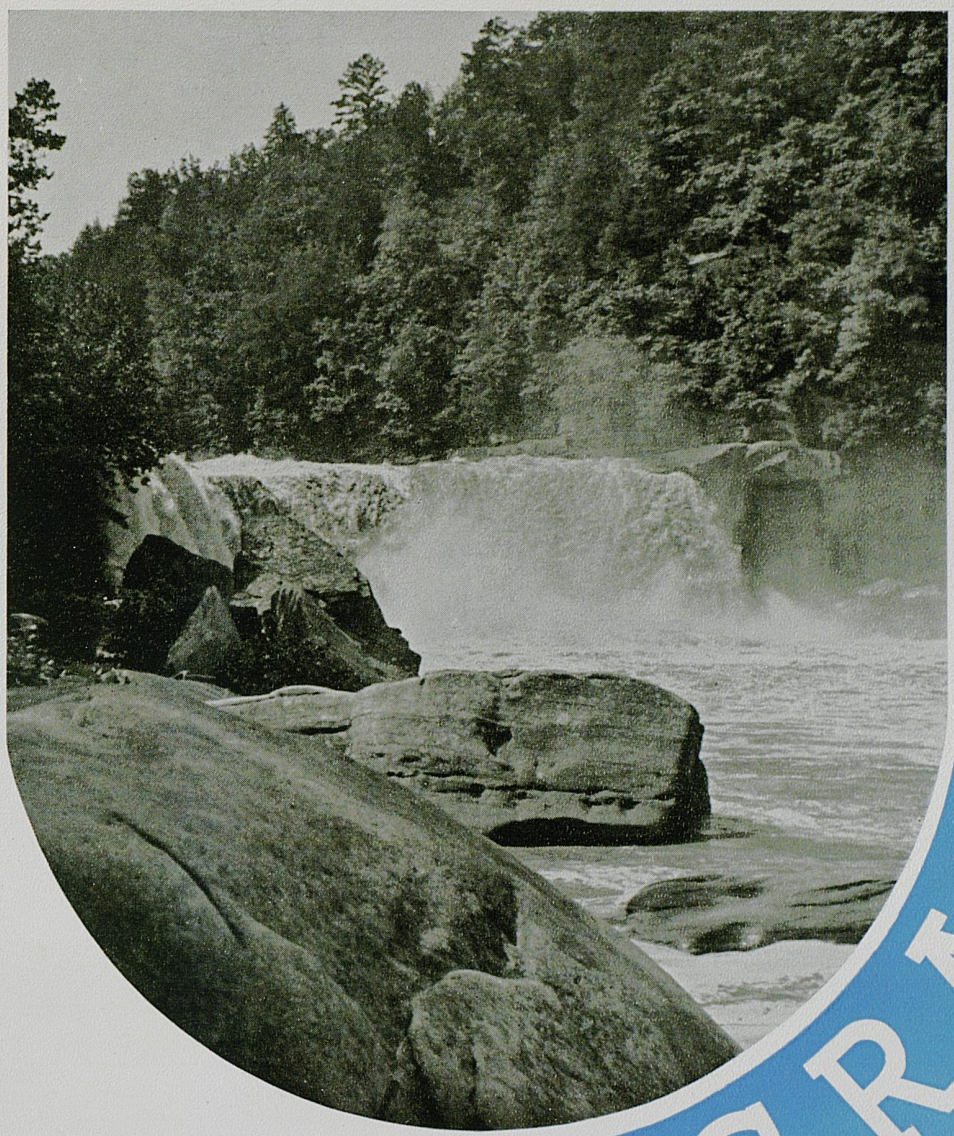

Mrs. Sarah B. Holmes, assistant dean of women, has lived in Pennsylvania, New England, Ohio, Arkansas, Kentucky, and Mexico. It was revolutionary times when the Holmes family moved to Mexico so that Mr. Holmes could organize a physical education department there. They were in Mexico City when Diaz was driven out by Madero's forces, and Mrs. Holmes was in the hospital then with typhus fever. Later they visited Cuernavaca, where the Morrow home is located, but had no better luck there. The Zapata bandits captured the town while they were there, and even the railroads for a considerable length of time, thus preventing the escape of the citizens and the Holmes family.

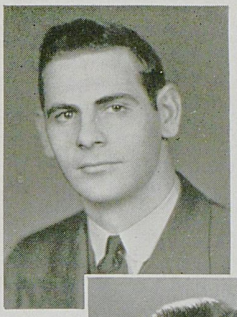

Mrs. Holmes likes to drive, walk, and read, and is considering taking up golf in self-defense. She has four children, Mildred, John, Kendall, and Lillian who has won considerable distinction as a campus beauty.

PRO PATRIA

Tip Sams had twins
And a razor-back sow,
Five dogs and a mule
And an old roan cow;
A bone-spavined filly
And a one-room house,
And a little wrinkled woman
Just as meek as a mouse.
Old Tip raised tobacco
And he trafficked in skins,
For he had seven sons
In addition to the twins,
And every mother's son,
And the little mammy Jude,
Smoked a pipe all day
And the twins both chewed.
But Tip kept a-digging
And he never lost heart,
For the dogs hunted rabbits
And they caught a right smart;
And the bone-spavined filly
And the mule pulled a plow,
And they lived off the givings
Of the old roan cow,
And the acorn-fattened farrow
Of the razor-back sow.
But here the story closes
Of my little romance,
For the seven sons are sleeping
On the battlefields of France;
But their daddy grows tobacco
And trafficks still in skins,
And the little wrinkled mammy
Has another pair of twins.

FOOTBALL

Varsity Football

By Norman "Moon" Garling

Capt. Joe Rupert

THE game that is fast becoming a national past time—football—came into a realm of its own last year at the University of Kentucky under the tutelage of Coach Chet Wynne, whose personality and manner won him the hearts of all those connected with the University in any way.

Although the Wildcats did no more than break even in the ten games they played, the fans noticed an entirely different atmosphere around the team, that had not been there in former years.

Coach Wynne's first year here has been a great success in many ways. The major one being the fact that he turned out a comparatively good football team, and at the same time innovated a new system of play—the Notre Dame System. When Wynne came to Kentucky he had to start from scratch, and with this in mind his first problem was to gain the confidence of the men who were going to be molded into a smooth-working football machine. He did this in a manner that is little short of miraculous, and he had not been here a week before everyone of the players were putting out their best for this man of magic.

With only four weeks of practice behind them the Wildcats opened their football season against Maryville, and defeated this much smaller team, 26 to 0. Every one expected the score to be much larger, but it was the first time that the Big Blue team was using the Notre Dame system, and the newness of it had not worn off. However, Coach Wynne did not let the Wildcats open up in this initial encounter, and so the spectators and sports writers could gain nothing of importance from the first game.

The Wildcats received their first setback the following week when a strong Washington and Lee eleven came to Lexington and defeated them 7 to 0, amid a downpour of rain that made open play impossible. With the gridiron turned into a swamp by the rain, both teams resorted to a kicking game, and a total of 70 punts were kicked that afternoon with Johnson doing the kicking for Kentucky, and Ellis punting for Washington and Lee.

It was not until late in the third quarter that the W. & L. team got the opportunity to score, and that came when the Kentucky safety man fumbled a punt. A pass of nine yards gave the Virginia boys their only score. Soon after this, Bert Johnson, Kentucky's All-American, broke away on one of his long runs, but stepped out of bounds and was called back.

Even though the statistics show that Washington and Lee outplayed the Kentuckians, there are many persons who believe that the Wildcats would have defeated W. & L. by at least two touchdowns if the field had been dry.

This one defeat, however, did not daunt the Wildcats, and they went to Cincinnati and defeated the highly-praised Bearcats, 27 to 0, with the odds four to one against them. Cincinnati evidently thought that Kentucky was a set-up, and that they were giving 13 points against the Wildcats. These odds soon changed, however, when after the first few minutes of play, Johnson scooted around left end for a touchdown.

The Wildcats hit their stride after that first score, and they ran wild the rest of the afternoon, and all the time Coach Wynne kept sending in substitutes. When the game ended the third string Kentucky team was playing against Cincinnati's first team.

After this overwhelming victory over the Bearcats, Kentucky next encountered Clemson and won its third victory of the season, 7 to 0. This game proved to be very uninteresting to the fans. Clemson was penalized eight times for "too much time in the huddle."

However, their slowness did not make for Clemson not to have a good team, because the Wildcats had to put out everything to gain its small-margin victory. It was not until late in the last quarter that Kentucky was afforded to score and then a complete pass was the play that turned the trick.

With three victories in their caps, the Wildcats journeyed to Chapel Hill, N. C., for their fifth game with North Carolina. It was there that the Big Blue team took a defeat from a much inferior eleven, but this was coused by a slip that the quarterback made.

North Carolina defeated the Wildcats 6 to 0, but it was not due to their superior playing. The Kentucky team got a tough break when Johnson ran 60 yards around left end for a touchdown, but the referee called him back, saying that he had stepped out of bounds on the 33-yard line. Kentucky had another opportunity to score in this game, but a misplay gave the ball to North Carolina who punted out of danger.

Coach Wynne and the Wildcats were a little disheartened at that defeat, but made up for it the following week when the Big Blue team handed Auburn a 9 to 0 defeat.

Wynne was the Auburn coach before he came to Kentucky, and they came up here expecting to give the Wildcats a terrible beating, but it looked for awhile as though they were going to do it.

Auburn had a strong team, both offensively and defensively, and there were many times during the game that it looked like they were certain of a touchdown, but Kentucky always held. In the last few minutes of the third quarter the Wildcats started a drive that did not end till they had crossed the goal line, and then Abie Ayres stepped back and place-kicked the extra point.

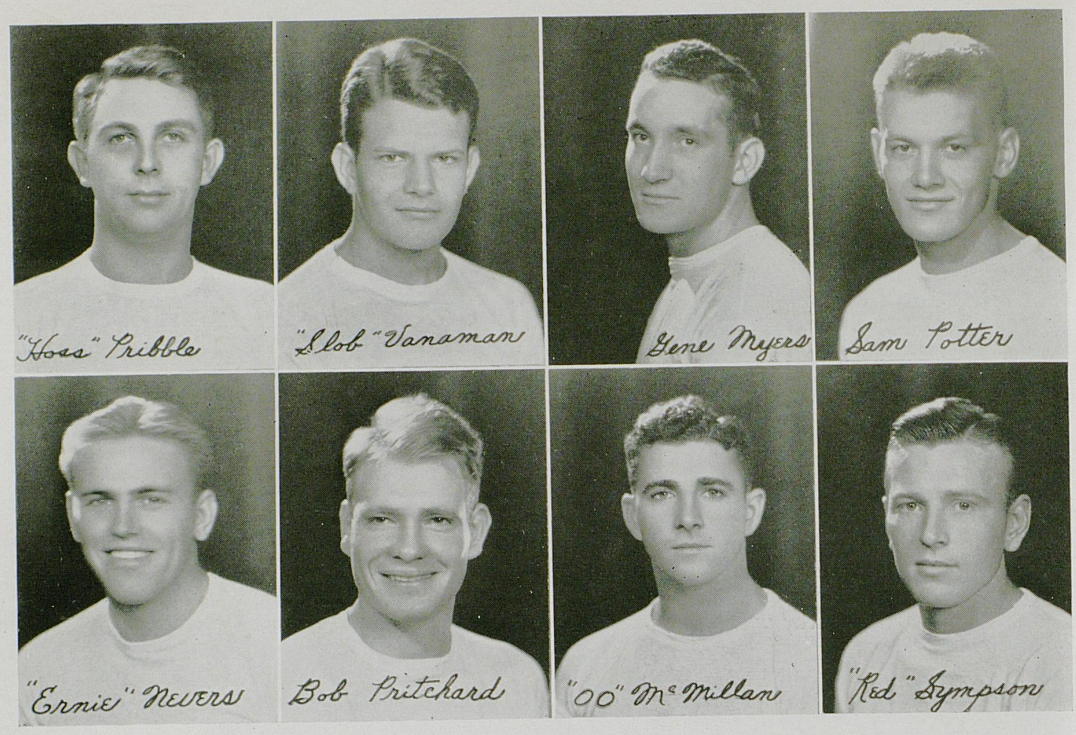

Earlier in the game Kentucky had blocked an Auburn punt that rolled over Auburn's goal line and Jimmy Long, the Captain of the 1935 Wildcats, fell on it and gave the Big Blue team a safety and two points.

Even though Kentucky did win by a fairly large margin, it was one of the toughest games on its schedule.

The next Saturday was November 3 and along with it came Home-coming and the annual game with Alabama's Crimson Tide, who, as you know, was the best team in the country for 1934.

It was understood that Alabama would defeat Kentucky, but it was also a supposition that they would win by at least 30 or 40 points. The first prediction came true, but the second one failed by 10 points, and to top it off Kentucky scored 14 points. With those 14 points Kentucky had the consolation of scoring more points against the Crimson Tide than any other team the Alabama lads had played.

The feature of this game was to see Johnson pitted against Howell—two All-Americans.

Johnson played the entire game, but Howell was sent to the showers after he had ran the first play. They were saving him for harder games. When the final gun cracked the score was 34 to 14, and Alabama had only defeated Kentucky by 20 points. Southwestern was the Wildcat's next opponent and this game was a "breather" before the Tulane game, and Kentucky won a 33 to 0 victory with ease.

Johnson ran wild in this game and scored most of Kentucky's points. It was the first easy game on the Wildcat schedule, and after the first team had gotten warmed up, Coach Wynne sent in substitutes and let the first string men take a rest.

Then came the encounter with the fame Green Wave from Tulane who came to Lexington with expectations of whitewashing the Wildcats, but went away disillusioned because the Kentucky lads had held them to a 22 to 7 score.

The Tulane team was all that the newspapers said it was, and in "Little Monk" Simons, it had one of the best all-around back field men that ever stepped on the Stoll gridiron. He was the whole show for the Green Wave. His kicking was something at which to marvel, and he passed with devastating accuracy.

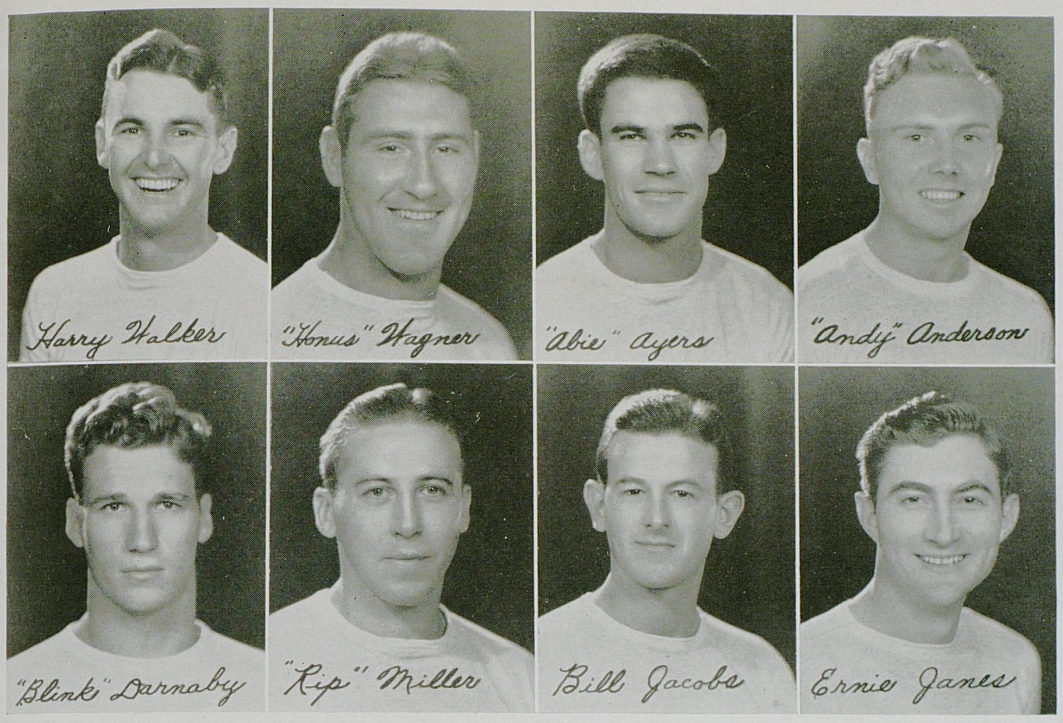

Tennessee was the last game on the Wildcat's schedule, and it was also the last time that a Tennessee team, coached by Major Bob Neyland played Kentucky. The Volunteers defeated the Wildcats 19 to 0, but it was a game that the Tennesseeans will remember for a long time.

In this game that pulled down the curtain on their 1935 football season, the Wildcats gave an exhibition that made Coach Chet Wynne proud. The Volunteers had a much superior team, but Kentucky fought them all the way, and it was only after a long grind that Tennessee came out the victor.

Dr. Maxwell, well-known football official who referred the game, made the statement that Bert Johnson was the best ball carrier that he had ever laid eyes on, and that included the nation's best.

The outlook for a prosperous 1935 football season is very promising, and now that Coach Wynne has become accustomed to the ways of Kentucky, he will probably turn out the best football team that Kentucky ever has had.

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

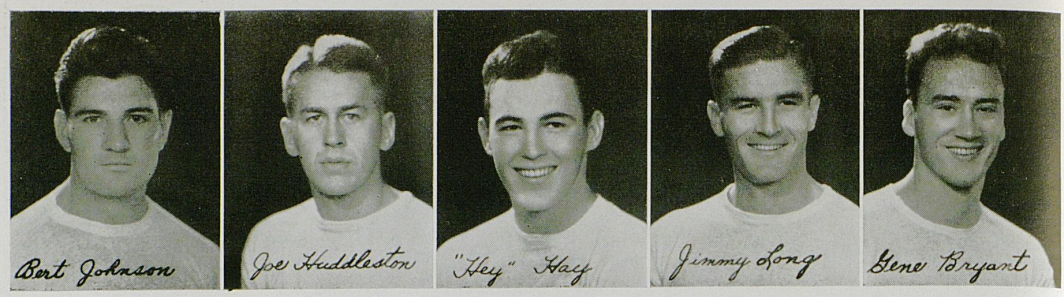

Captain Joe Rupert is one of the most outstanding ends ever to play football at the University of Kentucky. In his sophomore year he was selected as an All-Southern Conference end, and in 1934 he was All-Southeastern Conference, and also received All-American Honorable Mention. Joe came to Kentucky with the express purpose of playing basketball, having never played any football in his high school days. But during the football season he went out for the Freshmen team, and was such a sensation that he gave up basketball and concentrated on the gridiron game. His ability to cover punts was one of the many things for which he is outstanding, and his deadly tackling made him the fear of every safety man.

Jimmy Long, captain-elect for 1935, is another end of great ability, and he held down the right wing of the Wildcat eleven. He is one of the best liked boys on the University campus. When he came to U. K. Jimmy was still green in the art of football playing, because before he went to K. M. I. he had never had a football in his hands. He is one of those persons who learns fast, and it wasn't long before he was at the top of the list. Jimmy is not the flashy player, but instead is the kind that is always in there giving his best and who is mixed in with every play.

Norris "Double OO" McMillan is Kentucky's diminutive quarterback and general. His headlines has won many games for the Wildcats, and his ability to catch punts and slip by the ends a thing of wonder. He contracted the nickname "Double OO" during the 1933 Maryville game, when he caught a punt and returned it 65 yards for a touchdown. Ever since then he has worn a "OO" jersey. He only weighs 151 pounds, but is as hard as nails, and runs like a scared rabbit when in a broken field.

Charles "Slob" Vanaman is the slow, easy-going, lackadaisical boy of the Wildcat football team. Nothing ever disturbs "Slob." When he played Freshmen ball he was a back field man, but when he graduated to the Varsity they changed him into a center, and in this position he has shown great promise, although only a sophomore. On the Frosh team he was a blocking back, and it was partly through his efforts that the Freshmen team of 1933 had such a successful season. With two more years in front of him Vanaman will develop into one of the greatest centers Kentucky ever had.

Bert Johnson without doubt is the greatest football player that ever set foot on Stoll field. His speed, elusiveness, punting, passing, blocking, all are a joy to any coach. There was not a game during last season in which Bert did not break away for at least one long jaunt down the field. A few of these were called back because he had stepped out of bounds, but every fan in the stands was thrilled when he would break loose and race for a touchdown. He is the second Kentucky man to make All-American Honorable Mention, and next year he will be on the first team All-American. During his high school days at Ashland, Kentucky, Bert was twice chosen on the All-American High School team. While playing Freshmen football it was an every day occurrence for him to break through the Varsity and run for a touchdown. A well-known football official said that Johnson was the greatest ball carrier he had ever seen.

Clarence "Abie" Ayres is another diminutive back field man only weighing 155 pounds, but as a passer and place-kicker he has no match. "Abie" did not see much action during the first part of the season, but he came into his own in the latter half, and it was due to his ability as a passer that Kentucky defeated Auburn. Next year Ayers will be one of the most valuable men on Coach Wynne's Wildcat eleven, and will more than likely hold down a regular half back assignment.

Langan "Hey" Hay can be termed the Adonis of the Kentucky football team, but he is also a crackerjack fullback with ability to punt that almost matches that of Ralph Kercheval. During his sophomore year Hay did not play much, but last year he did most of the kicking for the Wildcats. He is a hard driving back and a tough man to stop. With his last year of college football coming up Langan will be one of the outstanding players on the Kentucky team.

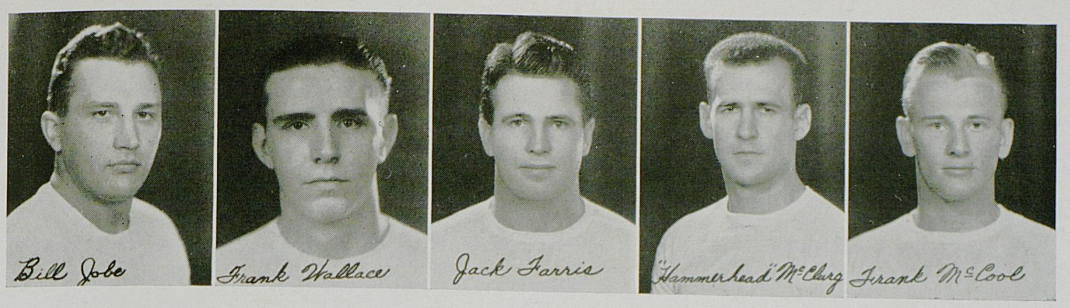

Joe "Winnemac" Huddleston is another lad who came to Kentucky to gain laurels in basketball, but who soon changed his tactics to the gridiron. During his freshmen days and his first year on the varsity, Joe was a back field man, but under the Wynne regime he was assigned to a guard position where he has made a fine r ame for himself. He played at least part of every game on the 1934 schedule, and next year, his last, he will probably get the call for every game. After Joe decided to play football during his college career, he played on the freshmen basketball team, but has not been on the hardwood court since.

Frank McCool, the Wildcat's left half back, is not only a good football player, but is also a fellow with lots of personality, and this trait won him the honor of being elected the most popular boy on the University campus. Frank started every game and usually the greater part of it, and his ability as a quick-kicker is well known. He hails from Kosciusko, Mississippi, and talks with the proverbial southern accent.

Eugene Bryant is the best dressed man on the campus, besides being an excellent football player. He is also one of the most popular college boys, and he has friends every where he goes. Although a substitute for Rupert, Gene played in most of the games, and next year will fit right into the right end position without any missteps. He is a long, lanky lad, and those long legs of his take him down the field under punts at a great rate of speed. He is a sure tackler, and a good tackler. He very seldom fails to catch a pass if it is anywhere within his reach.

Harry Walker ended his college football career midst much praise and glory. It took him three years to become a regular on the Wildcat team, but in his last year he showed the spectators just what he could do with the pigskin. Holding down the quarter back position, Harry directed the fiield maneuvers of the Kentucky team in a style that was thrilling to witness. He did not carry the ball much, but the few times that he did, he made gains.

Millard "Andy" Anderson playing his first year of varsity football came in for quite a bit of praise, although he was not in the regular lineup. Andy's most pronounced fame comes from his exploits on the basketball floor where he is a star guard for the Wildcat quintet, and also one of All-American calibre. For the past two years he has been a regular under Coach Rupp's tutelage, and this year New York scribes praised him to the skies for his performance in the N. Y. U. encounter. Not only is he an outstanding athlete, but he also directs one of the campus' leading dance orchestras. It is due to his miraculous guarding that the Kentucky basketball team has kept its opponents' scores in the low twenties.

James "Blinky" Darnaby has for three years been a member of Kentucky's varsity football team, but it was not till last season that he was allowed the opportunity to display his value. He is one of those persons, who, without their glasses, is blind is a bat, and it is a form of wonderment how he plays on the gridiron without the spectacles.

Charles "Hammerhead" McClurg is one of the boys who made a name for himself while playing football under Coach Chet Wynne's tutelage. It was not until that man came here as coach that "Hammerhead" got the chance play on the varsity, but still has another year in which to rip holes in the opponents' line.

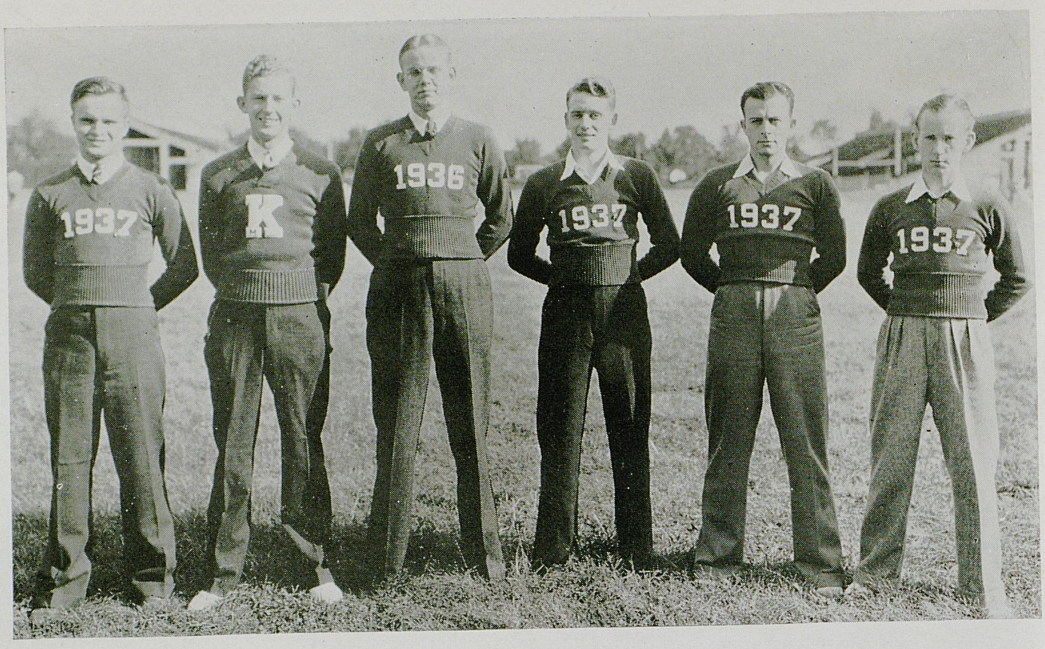

Sam Potter is a boy who looks much younger than he really is, and this is all to his favor. Sam has been on the varsity squad for two years, and although not a regular, has played in a good many games. Last year he also played guard on the Wildcat quintet, but this year he failed to make the grade under Coach Rupp. Sam has a personality that shows up like a sore thumb.

Gene Meyers is Harlan's contribution to the University of Kentucky Wildcats in the form of a center who is powerful and hard to stop. Gene was a sophomore, and so did not see much action on the 1934 schedule, but with the 1935 card coming around it is more than likely that he will be the regular pivot man on Coach Wynne's eleven. In the Tennessee game Meyers was the boy who broke up many plays that Bob Neyland thought were sure-fire, but Gene served up a defense dish that put the clincher on them.

Ernest "Ernie" Janes was the pep and spirit of the entire Wildcat team, and he was always the first man out of the huddle. For three years he has been the pivot man, and for three years he has been a thorn in the opponents' side. As a center he is one of the best, and for him there is only much praise forthcoming from those who have witnessed his spectacular play on Stoll Field. Ernie's uncanniness of sensing the opponents' moves was a constant thing of wonder.

Sheldon Wagner came into his own realm during the 1934 football season, and for the first time in his football career really showed his wares. He was outstanding in every game in which he participated. He was on the bottom of every play. For three long years Wagner struggled to make the varsity and it was not till his senior year that he succeeded in playing in every game during the season. He was outstanding in tackle position, and there were very few plays that broke through his side of the line.

James Miller was on the varsity squad for three years but never quite succeeded in making the first team, although he played in a number of games last season. He is a very well liked boy wherever he goes, and was business manager of the book you are now reading, and one of the main reasons for its success.

Gordon "Red" Sympson is known as "The Bardstown Flash." Although not in the regular lineup, Red has the makings of a good football player. When he came to the University he was a half back, but now he has changed to a full back. Whenever you see a certain girl on the campus, you are sure to find Red right there.

Holton "Hoss" Pribble has been on the Wildcat football squad for three years and has taken many beatings in that triad, but has always come back for more. "Hoss" is one of the largest boys on the campus, but there is one small person who can handle him with the greatest of ease.

Bill Jobe without a doubt was the largest man on the Wildcat squad, and it usually took two men to put him on the ground. Bill plays a guard position and when the opposing back field men get by him they deserve it.

Bill Jacobs has been a member of the Wildcat football squad for three years, but his luck has been against him and he has never been able to make the regular lineup, although he has played in numerous games. He is one of those boys who takes things as they come and never worries his head about anything.

Stanley "Ernie" Nevers is one of the main reasons why Coach Wynne's Wildcats had a successful season. Although only a sophomore, he played in the regular lineup at a tackle position and always played with the ferocity of a tiger. He was probably the most experienced man on the Kentucky team, and he tips the scales at 207 pounds.

Jack Farris is another Ashland contribution to the Wildcat gridiron team. He is a halfback, and usually plays in the blocking position. Being only a sophomore he did get into the lineup much, but when he did play he made things hum.

Bob "Warhorse" Pritchard was the Wildcat's plunging full back. It was he who went over the line of scrimmage to make that extra point for a first down; it was he who crashed through the center to make a touchdown. Bob ran into a lot of tough luck during the last football season, and was on the injured list quite a few times, but whether he was ailing or not, he was in the starting lineup.

Frank Wallace was the tallest man on Coach Chet Wynne's squad. He did not go out for football till late in the season, and consequently did not see much action. However with two seasons ahead of him he will have plenty of time to show the fans just what he can do.

Freshman Football

Kentucky not only had a successful Varsity eleven, but they also had a great freshmen football team, composed of lads who will graduate to Coach Chet Wynne's Wildcat team with honors. It has been said by those who should know that it was the best frosh gridiron machine to be at the University of Kentucky.

They were almost more than the Varsity could handle and it was often that a spectator while watching the two teams scrimmage in practice would see a red-shirted freshman dash the length of the field for a touchdown, or break through the Wildcat defense for a long gain. It was due in part to their efforts that Coach Wynne put forth such an excellent Big Blue eleven.

The Kittens only played two games during the season, but they won both of these without much trouble. They defeated the Morehead State Teachers College 14 to 0, and later on defeated the Tennessee yearlings, 13 to 0. The score of this second encounter would have been larger but a few misplays caused them to lose the ball when they were in a position to score.

In the Morehead game it was Davis, the Dayton flash, who led the Kittens to their victory when he scored both touchdowns. He scored once from the 10-yard line, and then again slashed through left tackle and traveled 25 yards to make his second tally. The Morehead boys tried hard to retaliate but the Kittens were not to be denied, and held the Teachers scoreless.

In the Tennessee game "Suitcase" Simpson was the shining light when he intercepted a pass and ran 77 yards for a touchdown. The Kittens had many opportunities to score in this game, but fumbles in the critical moment caused them to fail.

With men like Craig, Simpson, Davis, Robinson, Hinkebein, and a few other outstanding players, Coach Wynne will not have much trouble in rounding out his 1935 Wildcat team. Davis is noted for his kicking ability, and it is said that he will be another Kercheval before he ends his career on Stoll Field.

In Simpson, Craig, and Robinson, Coach Pribble had three triple-threat men. Craig is fast and elusive, and the some is with Robinson. Simpson is a hard plunging full back who hits the line like a stone crusher, and the line usually gives way to his ferocious attempts.

The Kitten line was almost as big as that of the Varsity, and it took all the experience and power that the Wildcat team possessed to stop the onslaught of the Freshmen.

Most all of the men who played on the Kitten team will be Sophomores in 1935 and will be a great aid to Coach Wynne whose schedule for next year is one of the toughest to be played by a Kentucky team.

ENOCH

He never knew what Darwin said,
What Moses wrote he never read,
But every night he bared his head
In sweet communion with the stars;
And every morning when the bars
Of darkness tumbled down he fled
To mountain tops whence he could see
The superhuman jubiliee
Of Dawn, till earth and every tree
Were filled with fire and song that seemed
An anthem of the world redeemed.
So Enoch walked with God and knew
That Nature's miracles are true;
That Sin is blindness of the soul
Which Love and Beauty can make whole.

WITH THE CHAMPS ON THE HARDWOOD

Varsity Basketball

By Norman "Moon" Garling

Coach Adolph Rupp, Kentucky's affable basketball mentor, soared to greater heights of fame last season when he piloted the Wildcats—recognized as one of the best teams in the nation—through an overwhelmingly successful year. Scheduling 22 games for his boys, he had the exhilarating experience of seeing them win 20 of these games; losing one to a strong Eastern team and the other to a powerful Northern quintet.

Last year was the sixth in Coach Rupp's regime, and during that sextet his Kentucky cage teams have won 89 games, and have lost only 11. Six of these eleven encounters have been lost by one-point margins. Kentucky became a member of the Southeastern Conference when it was organized four years ago, and in that time the Wildcats have never lost a game to a Conference opponent. Last season they had to divide Conference championship honors with Louisiana State University, because they, too, came through the Conference undefeated.

In the 1933-34 season the Wildcats set a world's record among university teams when they won 24 consecutive games before losing in a post-season encounter during the Southern Conference tournament. They had high hopes of breaking that record last year, but their luck was against them and they failed after winning six consecutive tilts.

Coach Rupp, the founder of Kentucky's great cage teams, is a native of Kansas and starred as a guard on the University of Kansas quintet under Phog Allen, who is recognized as one of the most outstanding men in basketball today. After Coach Rupp graduated from Kansas he attended Columbia University, and now holds three degrees.

Negotiations for the Wildcats' 1934-35 schedule were begun at the end of the 1933-34 season, and Coach Rupp picked on some of the toughest teams in the country. When the card was finally completed New York University, Michigan State, Creighton, and Xavier appeared on it.

With this suicide assignment in front of him, Coach Rupp laid his plans of attack and built a team that scored more than 1,000 points, and from which two All-Americans were chosen—Dave Lawrence, forward, and "Big Ed" Edwards, center. This great quintet was built around a nucleus of Lawrence and Tucker, co-captains and two forwards who were playing their last season of college competition. The three other men he gathered into the regular fold were Warfield Donahue, sophomore guard, Millard "Andy" Anderson, junior guard, and, of course, the 6-feet 4-inch LeRoy Edwards, for the pivot position.

Coach Rupp
The Builder of Champions

With this array of talent the Wildcats opened their seoson with the usual procedure of a practice game against the Alumni and, according to the tradition, defeated them 55 to 8. Nothing could be predicted from this initial encounter, inasmuch as it was against a much inferior team, and so no comments were made. But in the next encounter against Oglethorpe, the Big Blue team opened all ports and the final result was 81 to 12. This time the sports writers crammed their columns with praise for the great Kentucky team, and a good deal of these laudings went to "Big Ed" who, in that second game, started along the All-American road by dropping in crip shots from almost impossible angles.

The next tilt was with Chattanooga—this being scheduled at the last minute to fill in between the 13th and 20th of December. Chattanooga came to Lexington with predictions of defeating the Wildcats, but they evidently got their reports mixed, because Kentucky came out of the fray on the long end of a 66 to 19 score.

After these two elevating victories over teams who had been reported to be good, the Wildcats donned their traveling togs and journeyed to New Orleans where they met Tulane's Green Wave in a two game series during the first part of the Christmas holidays. The usual predictions were out—Tulane had their best team in many years, but to Kentucky this was just so much water off a duck's back, and the Wildcats proceeded to administer a thrashing to Coach Dauber's Green Wave, defeating them on two consecutive nights, by scores of 34 to 9 and 54 to 12.

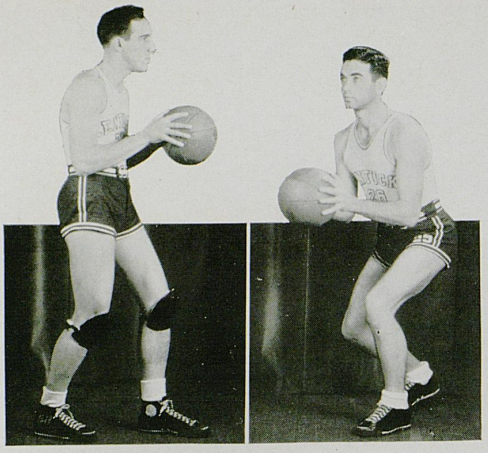

Upon their return to Lexington the Wildcats began to get into condition for their game with the University of Chicago, who was supposed to have one of the best teams in the Big Ten, and who also had Bill Harlow, an All-American forward. Kentucky defeated the Maroons 42 to 16, thereby giving them the worst beating they received all the year. This game turned out to be a rough-and-tumble affair, both teams fouling freely, and the Chicago boys took profound delight in arguing with the referee about his decisions.

Then came the Wildcat's downfall—the New York University game in Madison Square Garden. This game was a forward step in commercializing college basketball, and the result was that 16,568 persons witnessed the Kentucky-N. Y. U. tilt, which the Violent Violets stole from the Wildcats by a score of 23 to 22. It was this game that writers described as being the one to decide the National Basketball Championship, but they were wrong, because the Wildcats did not receive a square deal from the officials. However, this was blamed on misinterpretation of the rules—the eastern officials looking at them from a different light than that of the western and southern officials.

The 16,568 fans who saw this game, the largest crowd to ever witness a college basketball game, voiced their disapproval of the officiating with loud boos and catcalls. Offers were made for Kentucky to meet New York on a neutral floor, but the Violets would not agree. Later in the season N. Y. U. played Yale at New Haven and were defeated—it being the first time in two and one-half years that the Violets had not played on their home court.

The defeat at the hands of N. Y. U. was bitter medicine for the Wildcats, who had high hopes of going through another undefeated season. On their return home Coach Rupp gave them a few days' rest, and then primed them for another two-game series with Tulane. This second set of tilts was a duplicate of the first set, in that the Wildcats again swamped the Green Wave on two successive nights—63 to 26 and 53 to 12.

Tennessee was the next team to come to the slaughter block, and the Wildcats defeated them 48 to 21. This game was slow and uninteresting, although the Volunteers put up a good fight throughout the game. After this game the Wildcats started on their third road trip which included games with Alabama, Vanderbilt and Xavier. The Alabama tilt proved to be the toughest opponent for Kentucky in the Southeastern Conference, and the Wildcats only defeated them 33 to 26. Hank Crisp's boys were out to knock the Big Blue team off their pedestal, and almost succeeded in doing so. After a sluggish first half, Kentucky started clicking and gained a lead that the Tide could not overcome.

The next night the Wildcats played Vanderbilt at Nashville. At the beginning of the season the Commodores were slated to have the class of the Conference, but Kentucky changed this idea in a hurry when they defeated Josh Cody's quintet 58 to 22. The Wildcats then crossed the river and played Cincinnati's Xavier and defeated them 40 to 27. The newspaper forecast for this game was in favor of Xavier, and their coach said that his team could whip Kentucky with ease.

Georgia Tech was the next victim and the Big Blue team handed them a 57 to 32 defeat. Then came the second game with Alabama's Crimson Tide, and Coach Crisp was out for blood, being a bit peeved over the outcome of the first Kentucky-Alabama tilt in Birmingham. His ranting and raging were of no avail, because the Wildcats duplicated their former performance and defeated the Tide 25 to 16.

Following their victory over Tech and Alabama the Ruppmen again took to the road, this time going to Lansing, Michigan, and Knoxville, Tennessee. The trip north of the Mason and Dixon line proved fatal for the Wildcats and they went down to their second defeat of the season at the hands of Michigan State, the team who had been defeating all the Big Ten teams. However, the northern boys had a tough time in putting the Wildcats down, and it was only after they had used every trick they knew, that they finally defeated Kentucky 32 to 26.

With two black marks against their credit, the Wildcats moved on to Knoxville, and there, by the skin of their teeth, they defeated Tennessee's Volunteers for the second time 38 to 36. This was the closest game that Kentucky played all season. The score was tied in the last minute of play, and Garland Lewis, substituting forward for Jack Tucker, who was out because of a broken hand received in the Michigan State game, dropped a long shot through the net which gave the Wildcats a two-point margin. With fifteen seconds of play left, a Tennessee player was fouled, and given one free throw. He missed it, and then the referee tried to give him another shot, but the final gun cracked and the Wildcats left the floor.

Starting down the home stretch the Wildcats encountered Creighton University on two successive nights, and defeated them 63 to 43 and 23 to 17, respectively. The first tilt of this two-game series was the most spectacular and thrilling game that Kentucky played all season. It was in this game that Edwards set a new floor record when he scored 34 points, and he did not play the entire game. At half time the score was 10 to 9, the Wildcats holding a one-point margin, but when they came out for the second period they started a barrage of shots that carried them into a lead that was too big for the Nebraskans to overtake.

The second game of this series was very different from the first encounter, in that Creighton entirely changed their style of play. In the first tilt they used an open offense and played man to man defense, coming out past the center line for the ball. In game number two they played a waiting game, and "froze" the ball on offense. This change of tactics confused the Wildcats, and before they knew what was happening the first half was over, and Creighton had a 11 to 9 lead. The Nebraskans continued their "freezing" tactics in the second period, but Kentucky managed to get hold of the ball long enough to put them back into the lead. This game was quite a let-down after the performance of the two teams on the preceding night.

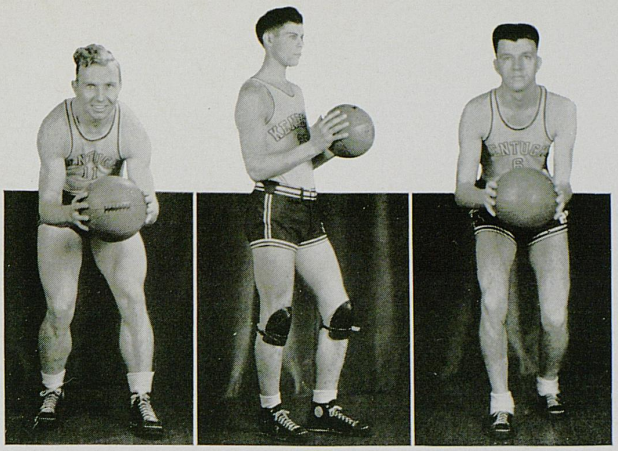

To bring down the curtain on the 1934-35 season the Wildcats encountered two teams they had met earlier in the season—Vanderbilt and Xavier. The story was the same as before, and Kentucky won both of these games with ease.

Next season Coach Rupp will have the same team with the exception of Lawrence and Tucker, but he will have to be a miracle man to find two forwards that will even come close to the two co-captains. However, his second string team is just a little bit short of being as good as the varsity, and so with all this material Kentucky is slated for another successful basketball season.

As yet no permanent schedule has been made, but according to Coach Rupp it will be as hard, if not harder, than last season's. The one game that is sure to be on the schedule will be the one with New York University.

Two All-Americans, 20 victories, more than 1,000 points, and a new southern scoring record are the honors that go to this greater than great University of Kentucky Wildcat basketball team for the 1934-35 season.

ANDERSON EDWARDS DONAHUE

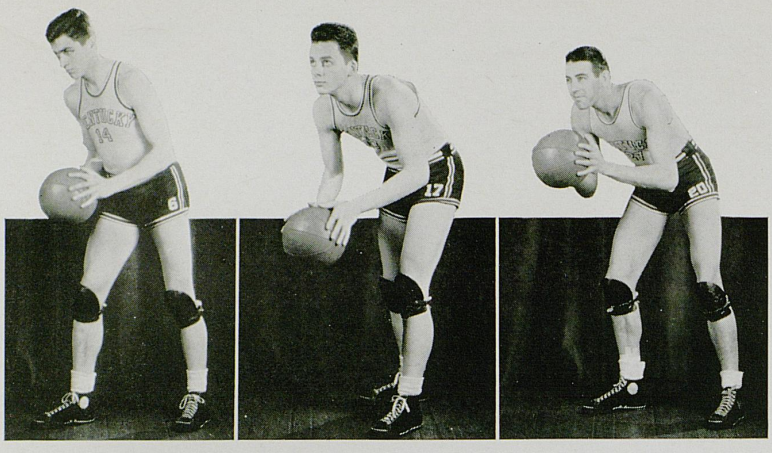

DAVE LAWRENCE, co-captain of the 1934-35 Wildcats, was one of the key men in Coach Rupp's successful cage combination. Dave was chosen as an All-American forward by a well known basketball official last season, but being an All-American basketball player is nothing new to him, because he was twice chosen on the All-American scholastic net team when he was playing on the Corinth, Kentucky, high school quintet. Besides being an excellent goal shot and a phenomenal ball handler, Lawrence is deadly on defense, and but few goals have been made by his man in the many collegiate games he has played. Dave has been a member of the Wildcat varsity for three years, and during that time he has always been a star forward.

JACK TUCKER was the other forward and co-captain of the Wildcats. He was not a spectacular player, but instead heady and conservative, and always knew what to do with the ball when he got his hands on it. Jack got a tough break in the latter part of last season, when he received a broken hand in the Michigan State game that put him on the sidelines for the rest of the year. With Tucker out of the lineup, the Wildcats were never quite as steady as they were when he was in there with a guiding hand. Although not selected as an All-American, Jack deserves only the highest of praise for his performances on Kentucky's hardwood court.

LEROY "BIG ED" EDWARDS is Kentucky's contribution to the All-American team of 1935. Without a doubt he is the best basketball player to ever step on the floor of the Alumni gymnasium. His name has been lauded in sport columns all over the country, and he is only a sophomore, with two more years of college competition ahead of him. He played the pivot position and was the key man of the Wildcat's offense. His ability to make crip shots was short of miraculous. In the first Creighton game he scortd 34 points to set a new floor record. Visiting teams would use two and three men to guard him, but this did not affect him, and he always came through with at least six points. While playing Freshman ball he scored more than 400 points in 17 games that the yearlings played. Last season he was high point man for the Southeastern Conference, scoring a total of 130 points in 11 Conference tilts, which gave him an average of 12.3 points per game. In two more years Edwards will probably develop into the greatest basketball player the country has ever seen.

WARFIELD DONOHUE, sophomore guard, is one of Louisville's three contributions to the great Wildcat quintet. He started in every game, and very rarely had a substitute. Donohue was always cool, even when the going was tough he kept his head. His most thrilling play was when he would bring the ball down the length of the court and then make a crip shot before the opponents knew what was happening. With two more playing seasons in front of him, he promises to be one of the best guards that Coach Rupp ever had the pleasure of coaching.

MILERD "ANDY" ANDERSON was the main reason for the Wildcat's great defensive play. It was he who broke up many of the opponent's plays. He was uncanny in sensing the other team's maneuvers, and wherever the ball was, Andy was sure to be there. Anderson is also a football player of no mean ability. He is popular on the campus, and is a well-known leader of one of the campus' outstanding dance bands. He is only a Junior, and next season will find him in the

CARLISLE BLISS LEWIS

All-American ranks of basketball.

GARLAND LEWIS, although not a regular, was one of the few Wildcats who could play more than one position. He understudies Edwards and also played a forward position. Lewis did not get much chance to play until the latter part of the season when Tucker was benched because of an injury to his hand. He was in the starting lineup during the last five games, and his brand of play warrants him a regular place on Coach Rupp's 1935-36 Wildcat quintet.

RALPH CARLISLE was one of Kentucky's outstanding reserve men at the forward position. He is a former Kavanaugh star, and was regular forward on the Kitten team in 1933. Ralph is only a sophomore and will probably take Dave Lawrence's place next season. He is an excellent goal shot, and a good defensive man.

JAMES BLISS is another sophomore forward, and consequently did not see much action last season. He is a long shot artist and can drop the ball through the net without it touching the rim. Coach Rupp expects Bliss to turn into an excellent forward during the next two years.

JAMES GOFORTH is another Louisville prodigy, and a guard. Jimmy did not play much last season, but next year Coach Rupp plans to place him at a forward position, for which he is more adapted. He is also a football player, and last year, his first season on the varsity squad, he turned in some very commendable performances on the gridiron.

RUSSELL "DUKE" ELLINGTON is the lad on the Wildcat basketball squad who can drop them in from back of the center line and not blink an eye. "Duke" is only a sophomore and so his chance to play in the regular lineup will come later on.

ED TIERNEY, the "Battling Irishman," is one of the few graduating seniors of Coach Rupp's powerful edition of the 1935 Wildcat basketeers. On every team there must be a supply of dependable substitutes. Tierney can rightfully be classed here. In quite a number of games Coach Rupp gave Tierney his chance and he usually came through with a good performance. Tierney's athletic accomplishments are not confined to basketball alone. His name is on the athletic records at the University of Kentucky as being 155-pound boxing champion.

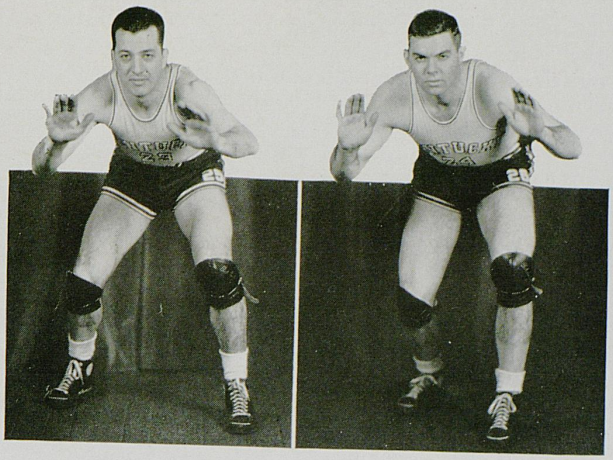

BRUCE DAVIS -- During the halves of the varsity basketball games the spectators usually saw a tall cotton-topped youth out on the floor with several other substitutes. That boy was Bruce Davis. His accuracy with the ball seemed perfect. He played in a number of games during the season and on several occasions his labors were rewarded with markers on the score card. He was formerly a star with the Henry Clay High school right here in Lexington and his name joins those other stars that the local school has sent to the University of Kentucky. Davis has one more year in school and we are expecting to see quite a bit of action from this blonde athlete.

BOB TAYLOR, the northern Kentucky lad, has been a great help to the 1935 Wildcats. He saw action in many of the games and has another year to further demonstrate his ability on the hardwood court. Taylor and "Andy" Anderson are fellow townsmen and played basketball together before they matriculated at the University of Kentucky. Coach Rupp has his eyes on Taylor and from all indications will use him much during the 1935-36 season.

GEORGE CAMPBELL, the varsity manager, has come in for very little praise as yet. While "Big Ed" and his cohorts were making All-American and All-Conference honors George was busy with the various functions that each athlete demands. No sports writers picked him for their All-

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

Southern team; no newspaper mailed him a card of merit for winning a place on their chosen team, but Campbell was the "man behind the scene" on the Wildcat squad. In the words of several members of the Kentucky quintet we say, "Campbell is okay and a swell manager." The Kentuckian picks him as "Captain of the All-Conference managers."

ELLINGTON GOFORTH

COACH RUPP has been heralded throughout the sporting world as one of the greatest coaches in the nation today. To every athlete on the University of Kentucky campus he is not only recognized as the greatest coach, but also as one of the greatest fellows that ever existed. Many outsiders have been overheard to remark that, "It's no wonder that those boys get out there and work for Rupp." Every successful coach must possess this certain spark of personality that enables him to get the most from his athletes with the least effort. No other coach in the United States can claim such a brilliant record as the Kentucky mentor has recently established. During his five short years at the University of Kentucky, Adolph Rupp has made athletic history. Not once during these five years has he failed to place at least two men on the All-Conference team.

What other coach in the basketball world has produced three members of the official All-American team and two other players who were chosen on minor teams of national recognition? This is part of Coach Rupp's accomplishments during his five years here. Once he has taken his Wildcat basketeers to the tournament at Atlanta and brought home the title of "Southeastern Champions." Another time his quintet was defeated in the finals by a very small margin. The other three times his Wildcat teams has been considered as the strongest contender. The congenial Rupp has put Kentucky's basketball on the map. If he ever decides to leave the University, lucky will be the school that gets him. But the students of the University are hoping that Coach Rupp will decide to make Lexington his permanent residence and it is an accepted fact that the Athletic Council is more than pleased with him as long as he is producing in the manner that has characterized his teams during the past five years. The 1935 Kentuckian says, "Congratulations to you, Mr. Rupp." May you be even more successful in the years to come at the University of Kentucky."

At the annual banquet held in honor of the basketball team after the close of the season, Millard "Andy" Anderson was elected captain of the team for 1936. This wise selection was only fitting, since "Andy" was the only regular on this year's quintet who would be a senior next year. Garland Lewis will be playing his last year of varsity competition next year, but he has been handicapped by the fact that he has played on the team with two of Kentucky's greatest centers — Demoisey and Edwards. Consequently, Lewis has been the understudy of these men throughout his career. This, however, in no way lessens Lewis' ability on the hardwood.

"Andy" was a regular on the freshman team of '33 which had a very successful season. The next year he was teamed up with "Little Bill" Davis, and proved to be one of the most consistent players on a great Blue five which bowled over all competition, and then was upset by a fighting Florida team.

This season "Andy" was still out for football when the varsity started practicing and had not hit his stride when the season opened. As a result, he was not in the starting lineup for the first few games, although he always saw action in the early stages. Then he found his old form and proved to be a sensation in the N. Y. U. game at Madison Square Garden. Eastern sport critics could not find words enough to offer their praise of "Andy's" outstanding floor work.

The remainder of the season found "Andy" back in the starting line-up, in spite of the fact that he seldom made any points. He was mentioned in several All-American selections and was given honorable mention on the official All-Southeastern five.

FRANK "SKIPPER" MANN — Every man who has participated in sports at the University of Kentucky has a warm spot in his heart for "Skipper." To those who do not know him, "Skipper" is that congenial, soft-spoken trainer who untangles those tired and aching muscles, rubs out those "charlie-horses," and daubs a little iodine on that cut or bruise when you return from a rough evening on Stoll Field or the gym. Any time during the day you can find a group of boys hanging around "Skipper's" room listening to his tales of big league baseball while the violet ray lamps heat their anatomy.

"Skipper" has been with the athletic department for a number of years and that partly accounts for his multitude of friends. He numbers them by the hundreds.

During his early days "Skipper" was with several major league baseball teams. His tales of the big time diamond artists are a classic to hear. He numbers many of the more prominent stars among his personal acquaintances.

Every Kentucky athlete has a good word for their friend and trainer —"Skipper" Mann.

Next season Coach Rupp will be handicapped in getting another outstanding schedule because the Southeastern conference tournament has been revived and will take place the second week in February. This will limit the Wildcat's schedule to 14 games, unless the schedule can be continued after the tourney is over.

This season's card which was a very representative one is expected to be duplicated next year, as only eight conference games will be played; leaving six games and possibly eight more to be played with outstanding intersectional foes.

The frosh crew, although not as strong as some of the greenie aggregations of the past, produced several men who will materially aid Coach Rupp in molding his varsity next year.

Billy Spicer, an expert ball handler and crack shot, though a trifle weak on the defense, should prove a material addition. This Lexington boy who played three years of ball for Coach John G. Heber at Henry Clay high school, and was also a member of the same team at Kavanaugh that produced the great "Buster" Borries, was twice named on the All-State five.

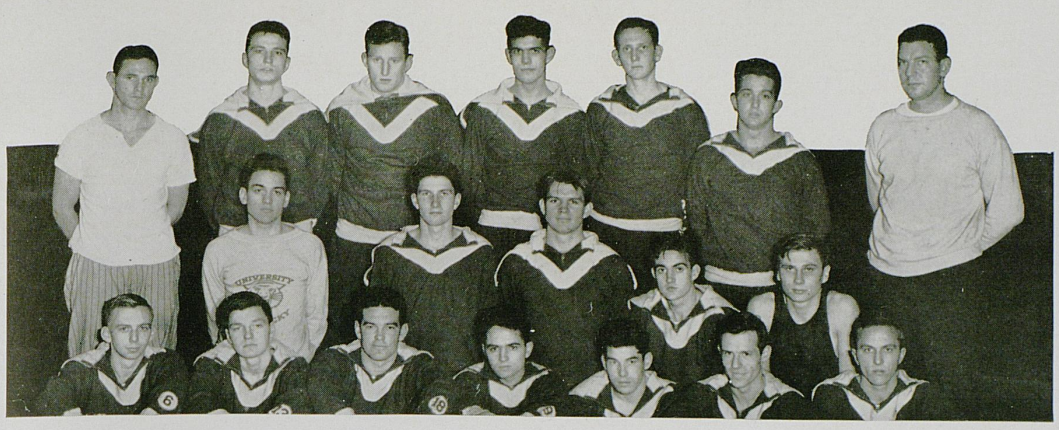

"Red" Craig, also twice All-State while a member of the great Ashland Tomcat teams, is a fleet, accurate shooting guard, who is one of the cleverest floormen seen on the first year team in several years. Another redhead, Joe Hagan, a former member of St. Xavier high school team at Louisville, and named as All-American forward at the National Catholic tourney in Chicago in 1933, was one of the mainstays of the greenies this season and will probably make Rupp the best man of any of the Kitten players.

Dick Robinson, a stocky guard, played fiine defensive ball for the young 'Cats and should crowd the varsity hold-overs for a place on the traveling squad. But in 1937 this boy should have become polished enough to make the ball club with ease. He played for Madison high school in Richmond and for two years was a member of the K. M. I. quintet. Some of the less heralded frosh may prove valuable assets next year, as have some of the varsity stars in former years.

Coach Adolph Rupp has enjoyed great success with the stars which he has developed in his five seasons at Kentucky. Especially in 1933, when the 'Cats won the first Southeastern conference net championship and placed four of their five players on the All-Star team. Aggie Sale, Frenchy DeMoisey, Bill Davis, and Ellis Johnson, being named to the team.

At the annual banquet, Coach Rupp emphasized the fact that the team had closed a very hard schedule because they played most of their games in bunches, with only short periods for rest. For instance, the Big Blue played Georgia Tech, Alabama, Michigan State, and Tennessee within an eight-day period, traveling 1,500 miles in a week's time.

With the College Humor's All-American selection yet to be made, Edwards will probably be chosen by that magazine as center and perhaps Dave Lawrence and Andy Anderson will be given places on the mythical team or at least favorable mention.

Freshman Basketball

For the second consecutive year the University has had a brilliant yearling basketball team. In the past two years they have played 34 games, and have lost only one of them. Last season the Kittens were under the tutelage of Coach Paul McBrayer, former Wildcat star, who replaced Len Miller.

Some of the most prominent high schools, ollege fresrmen, and independent teams in Ohio, West Virginia, and Kentucky fell before the onslaught of the Kittens. Manual of Louisville, Maysville high school, Williamson, West Virginia, high, Georgetown College frosh, Pikeville Junior college, and Puritan Club of Cincinnati were among the victims. The only team in the state that defeated the yearlings were the Paris Independents, in the last game of the season for the Kittens.

When the first call was issued by Coach McBrayer, approximately 25 candidates reported, among them some of the most outstanding high school athletes in the state. When the season ended 19 men were left on the roster. They were Joe Hagan, Billy Spicer, J. Rice Walker, Fred Scroggins, J. T. Craig, Dick Robinson, Bob Davis, J. Boxley, Charles Combs, Nick Lutz, Sunny Boland, Arthur Voll, Bobby Evans, Bain Smith, Charles Jones, Gene Combs, Harold Huber, Cecil Hellard, and Parker Lary.

The most outstanding men on the Kitten team were Red Hagan, former star at St. Xavier in Louisville, who was named on the All-American Catholic team at the National Catholic tournament in 1933; Billy Spicer, formerly of Henry Clay high of Lexington, and named on the All-State high school team of last year; J. Rice Walker also a star of the Henry Clay team; J. T. Craig, of the famous Ashland high Tomcats, who was elected to the All-State team of 1933 and 1934, and in 1933 was selected as the most valuable player to his team of the entire tournament; Dick Robinson, former Kentucky Military Institute star. These boys composed the first team and to them is due much of the credit for the successful season.

With this caliber of material to work with next year, Coach Adolph Rupp should not have any worries about having another championship quintet.

A RONDEL

October, queen of autumn days,
With green and crimson leaves is crowned;
Her russet cheeks are sun-embrowned,
Her hair all golden in the haze.

She sits upon a throne ablaze,
Her limbs with royal robes are gowned—
October, queen of autumn days,
With green and crimson leaves encrowned.

But now o'erwhelmed in sad amaze
She hears a far-off, rising sound;
The hills and booming seas resound;
The plaintive wind her requiem plays—
October, queen of autumn days.

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

WITH THE 'CATS ON THE CINDER PATH

Varsity Track

By Norman "Moon" Garling

UNDER the tutelage of Coach Bernie Shively, the University of Kentucky track team completed a somewhat successful season in 1934, winning three meets and losing two. But these two meets that they lost were against the two strongest cinder path teams in the South, Georgia Tech and Tennessee.

The entire team was built around Captain Douglas Parrish, star dash man, and with such a nucleus, the Wildcat team won meets from Vanderbilt, Hanover, and Berea.

As usual the first meet was with Vanderbilt at Nashville, Tennessee, with the 'Cats winning 74 to 43; taking ten firsts, and tying for another. It was in this meet that Captain Parrish gave his best performance of the season when he took first place in four of the five events that he entered.

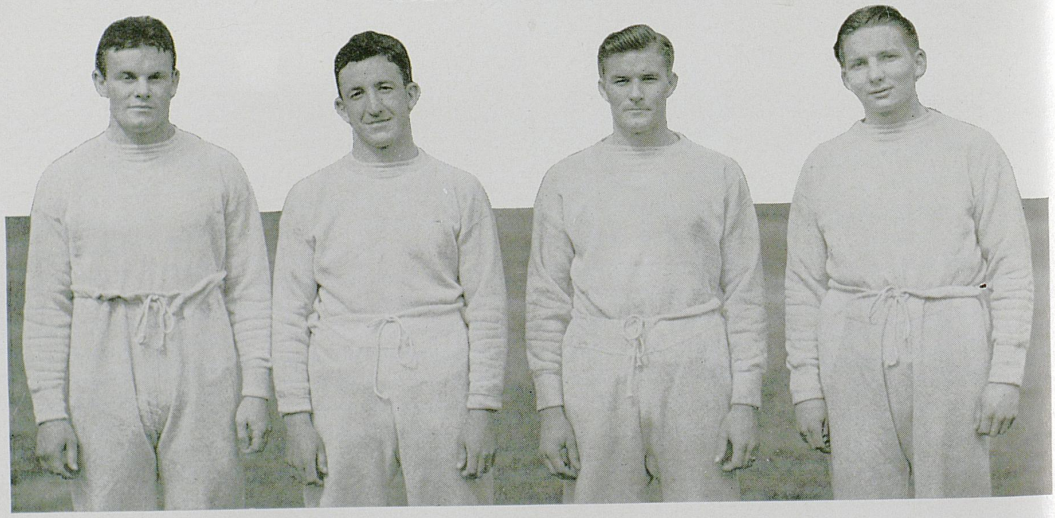

The second meet was with the strong Georgia Tech team, who reputedly had the best track team Kentucky has met since Coach Shively began his regime. They lived up to this reputation and defeated the Wildcats in the first dual meet of the season on Stoll Field by 79 and one-third to 46 and two-thirds. Cold and rainy weather was afforded this meet, and by an agreement of coaches the mile relay was not run.

The Hanover and Berea meets were push-overs for the Kentucky team, and they won them both, 99 to 18 and 80 to 51, respectively. Parrish again distinguished himself in these two meets, taking first place in eight events and third in another, to be high point man.

Tennessee was the last meet on the 1934 slate, and the Knoxville boys won a closely contested meet, 67 to 50. Doug Parrish and Ralph Kercheval both closed their college careers with this track meet.

The outlook for a successful 1935 track season is rather bleak at present, but Coach Bernie Shively probably has a few aces up his sleeve.

MILE RELAY TEAM

KERCHEVAL CASSADY LONG OLNEY

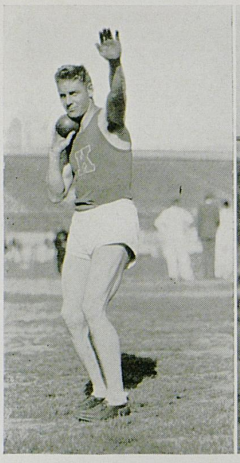

LETTERMEN: Capt. Doug Parrish, Cameron Coffman, Ralph Kercheval, Doty Jackson, Langan Hay, Tom Cassady, Holmes Ellis, Charles Olney, Fil Gilmer, Joe Rupert, Jimmy Long, Walter Hocker, Gene Miller, Jack Fields, and Frank Adams, manager.

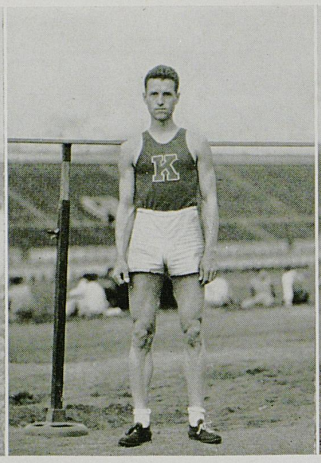

DOUGLAS PARRISH — During the 1934 track season the Wildcat cinder artists were led by their star and captain, Doug Parrish, who goes down in athletic history at the University of Kentucky as perhaps her most versatile and colorful track man. We undoubtedly place him on the throne with Warne Claire, "Shipwreck" Kelly, Bill Gess and others who have made track history at Kentucky. Parrish showed his ability for several years by participating in several events and continually winning first places. His best events were in the dashes and the hurdles, in which he excelled. Other entries that claimed the carrot-topped track star was the broad jump, the pole vault, the high jump, and the 440-yard dash. Parrish established a new University record in the 120 high hurdles of 15.3 seconds. This bettered the old record of 15.6, which was set by Warne Claire several years ago. Parrish journeyed to he Southeastern meet at Birmingham and raced the national champs, "Slats" Hardin and Al Moreau, of Louisiana State, in the high hurdles. Parrish was a close third to these two champion timber toppers although he went the route in the excellent time of 14.7 seconds. Coach Shively is a bit skeptical about replacing his red-headed star in the near future. Parrish will be greatly missed by the track and field fans.

RALPH KERCHEVAL — The Wildcat football ace, has been a member of the track and field aggregation for the past three years. To Kercheval goes the distinction of being among the greater athletes at the University. During the 1934 season Kercheval showed unusual ability in the javelin throw, by going through the season undefeated. But we cannot stop here. He also took many first places in the broad jump which was one of his specialities. The 440-yard dash also attracted the attention of this agile star. To complete a glorious season on the cinder path he ran "anchor man" on the mile relay team. During his sophomore and junior year, "Kerchy" was an outstanding hurdler. An injured leg forced him to give up these two strenuous events. Kercheval's presence on the track always drew many fans to the meets. His popularity with his fellow athletes and townspeople; his sportsmanship on and off the field; and even his presence seemed to inspire and add "that certain something" to the teams on which he participated. Athletes at Kentucky probably will never have another Kercheval.

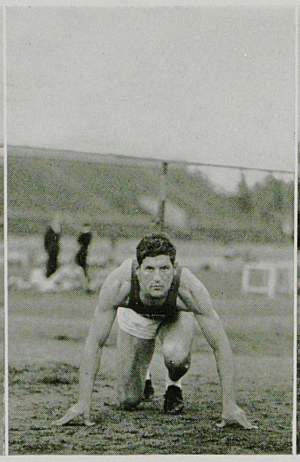

FILMORE GILMORE — "Fil", as he was known to the multitude of friends, completed a most successful first year on the varsity track team at Kentucky. His special event was the dashes and he

was awarded a varsity letter for his services. The dashes were not his only attraction as we remember Gilmer when he outjumped his Vanderbilt rivals and scored a first place in the high jump. On several occasions Fil competed in the broad jump. His berth on the Wildcat team will be hard to fill as he did not return to school last fall.

GENE MILLER — Miller, the married man of the Wildcat thinlies, was Coach Shively's chief high jumper. Gene journeyed all the way from New Jersey to earn his place on the University of Kentucky track team. Miller was awarded a varsity letter two successive years for his services. He competed and won places against stars from Vanderbilt, Tennessee, Georgia Tech, Berea, and Hanover.

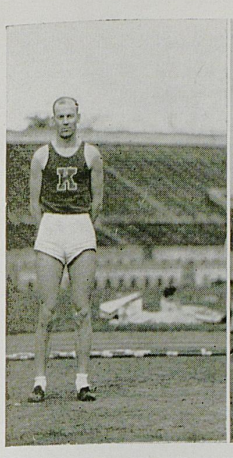

TOM CASSADY — For three years the veteran Cassady served the rack fans of the University with many a thrilling races in the 440-yard dash. Last spring he was the "number one" man of the mile relay team. Tom, who is known as the "Jimmy Durante" of the squad, comes from East St. Louis, Ill. Track is not his only sport as he was a member of the football team for three years as a varsity halfback. His antics will be greatly missed by the members of the team who return to compete in the spring of '35. His services to the team will be difficult to duplicate.

DOTY JACKSON — This tall blonde athlete journeyed all the way from Mississippi to contribute his services to the Wildcat teams of the University of Kentucky. Doty's chief attraction was the pole vault. He gave promise of developing into one of the leading vaulters of the Southland. But, Dan Cupid stepped into his path last summer and now there is a Mrs. Doty Jackson. So Coach Shively is on the lookout for a successor to a great pole vaulter—Doty Jackson.

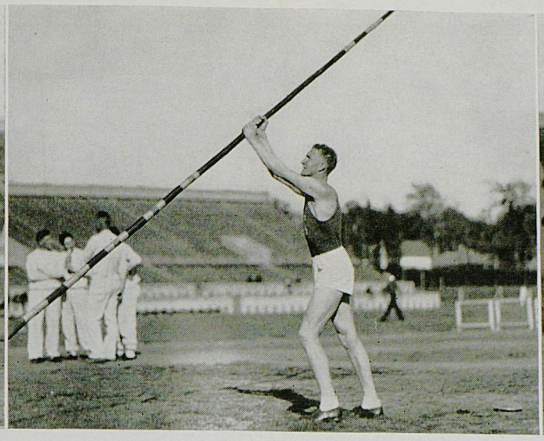

LANGAN HAY — In his search for Doty Jackson's successor Coach Shively probably has the answer in Langan Hay. This was Hay's first season as a member of the Wildcat track team. Although he did not present a great threat to Jackson in the vault, he showed ability and should again be listed among the letter winners during 1935 when another edition of 'Cats make their debut. Hay is another football man who has shown his versatility in another field.

CAMERON COFFMAN — After several years of plugging Coffman finally landed a berth as a high hurder. He was the understudy of Capt. Doug Parrish and Coach Shively is searching for a timber topping partner for this lanky youth. Coffman may be faced with the problem during the spring of '35 of trying to match strides with Ben Willis, the freshman star of last season, who is a fancy hurdler, but who may devote his entire time and talent to the dashes for which he is better adapted. Coffman was listed among the winners of a varsity award for his winning of places against Vanderbit, Tennessee, Berea, and Hanover. The only meet in which he failed to place was Georgia Tech. Coffman, we're expecting even a better record than that during the spring of '35.

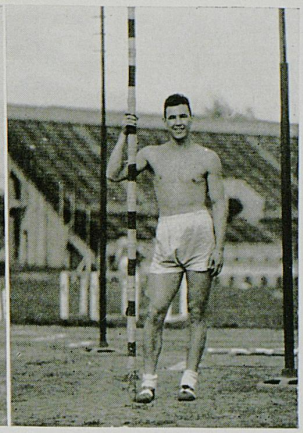

CHARLES HOLBROOK — Charley, who was known to the boys of the team as "Old Lady," took enough time off from his studies in the Law college to devote a few hours each day to his second love—the broad jump. A hard worker. A good fellow who will be missed on the squad.

JACKSON

HAY

JOE RUPERT — A good track man who kept in training all fall by leading the Wildcat football team to a successful season as their Captain. Joe has one more year on the track team and his presence will greatly aid the cause of the cinder aspirants.

WALTER HOCKER — This elongated youth has been running the two miles for the 'Cats for the past two years. The 1935 season will wind up a brilliant career for "Flash of Nicholasville," who does not hesitate to tell his questioners where he is from and where Nicholasville is. Another two-miler as good as Hocker will be hard to find or develop. He has truly been an asset to the team.

JIMMY LONG — This promising sophomore, competing in his first year of varsity track, gave a phenomenal performance each time he circled the quarter-mile track. In running the grueling quarter Long never failed to put out to the limit. The popularity and respect that he has maintained during his stay here warranted him the Captaincy of the football team for 1935. He has two more years on the track team and the same great performances that characterized Long's running are expected of him again.

CHARLES OLNEY — Another newcomer to the team who turned in several sparkling performances that insure him a varsity award. During the next two years on the team Olney should show even more of his ability as a quarter-miler. He was a member of the quartette that comprised the relay team. The others were Ralph Kercheval, Tom Cassidy, and Jimmy Long.

TO HOLMES ELLIS AND JACK FIELDS goes the credit of holding down that grueling race—the half mile. A very popular race with the spectators, but one that draws very few entrants, offered both Fields and Ellis plenty of competition. Fields also has the distinction of competing in the mile run and deserves extra commendation for his ability to "take it" in two races that usually take a different entry in each. Ellis has one more year, while Fields was competing for his first and last time as a member of the Blue and White tracksters.

LEN VAN ARSDALE — The little Auburn-headed Yankee from upper New York was not a regular runner on the team, but he did compete in several home meets. His specialty was the two-mile run and to those several hundred spectators who saw the two-mile race with the Hanover College speedsters last spring will always remember the finish that Van Arsdale made to win from his rival. It was truly a "Frank Merriwell" finish. It cannot be forgotten by those who saw it.

FRANK ADAMS — Every team must have a manager. The 1934 edition of the Wildcat thinlies had one of the better type. Frank "Quincy" Adams handled the affairs of the team in a professional manner. His successor, Henry "Hank" Rollwage, will have to do some fancy stepping to equal the work of Frank.

COACH "BERNIE" SHIVELY — The Kentucky track teams received a break when the New Deal in athletics at the University decided to keep "Shive" as a member of the athletic staff. Besides being a good coach, the boys have labeled "Shive" as being one of the "keenest fellows that ever existed." Good luck to you, "Shive" with your team of '35 and thereafter.

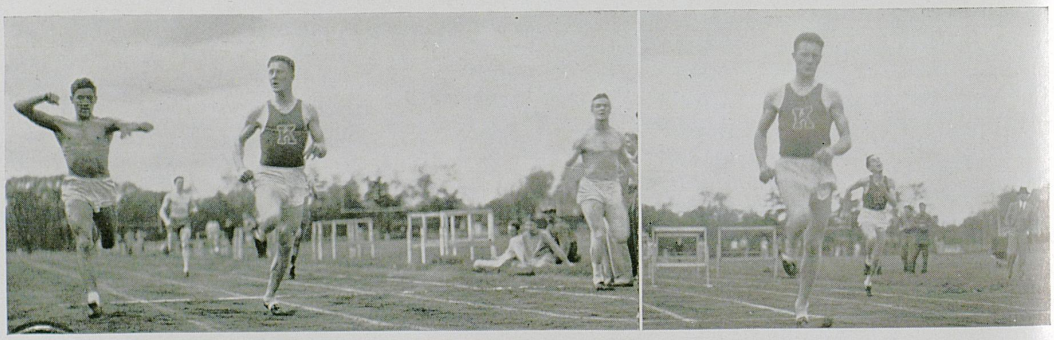

FIELDS ELLIS CAPTAIN DOUG PARRISH VAN ARSDALE HOCKER

FRANK "SKIPPER" MANN — Coach Shively is not the only keen fellow that devotes much time and patience to the runners and jumpers. Trainer Mann is always on hand to tape an ankle, rub some of that hot linament on a bruise, or give you advice as to the care and treatment of injuries. "Skipper's" room is always packed with a group of athletes who are looking for an interesting chat with an interesting fellow.

To make a prediction of the '35 season would be rather difficult. Coach Shively had the misfortune of losing the majority of his star performers in Capt. Doug Parrish, Ralph Kercheval, Tom Cassidy, Gene Miller, and Jack Fields via the graduation route. Then the track mentor was more disappointed to discover that two of his sophomore stars, Doty Jackson and Fil Gillmer, did not return to school in September.

As the Kentuckian goes to press, the Wildcat thinlies are earnestly practicing for their first meet of the season April 13 on Stoll Field with Vanderbilt University. The 'Cats expect to repeat their victory of last year. Berea and Tennessee will also be met on Stoll Field, while Georgia Tech and Hanover will be host to the Kentucky runners.

Ben Willis, sophomore ace, will take care of the dashes and will be assisted in the hurdles by Cameron Coffman. Charles Olney and a trio of new quarter-milers will run the mile relay. Joe Rupert and Ernie Nevers look like good bets for the weights. Langan Hay will take care of the pole vaulting, while Walter Hocker will have little trouble in winning a varsity berth in the distance runs.

Parrish, Gilmer and Kercheval run "one, two, three" against Hanover

Again Captain Parrish and Coffman take first and second in the 120 highs

Freshman Track

Although the 1935 edition of the freshman track team engaged in but one dual meet it was shown that several members would break into varsity competition during the 1935 campaign.

Concurrent with the Varsity-Berea meet, the Kittens engaged the Berea frosh and more than doubled the score on the young Mountaineers.

Ben Willis, the freshman star, turned in sparkling performances in the dashes and hurdles and led the scorers of the day with four first places. He is a cinch for a varsity berth on the 1935 Wildcat thin clad aggregation. Willis is Coach Shively's best bet to replace the veteran Capt. Parrish in the dashes and hurdles.

Willis alone was not the individual star, as Ford, a quarter and half-miler, showed excellent form to win his events. He should be a big aid to his brother Wildcats when he becomes an upperclassman.

Other freshmen who should break into varsity competition are Travis, miler; Smith, broad-jump; Ledridge, quarter-miler; and Spragens, two-miler.

The following members were awarded numerals at the close of the season: Willis, Honaker, Smith, Green, Meyers, Carlisle, Murphy, Ledridge, and Spragens.

The Kentucky Kittens had very little opportunity to demonstrate their ability against recognized opponents, but they offered the varsity much opposition in several practice meets.

Jerrold "Jake" O'Bryant, who was captain of the Kentucky team in 1932, was coach of the '34 Kitten team. He is listed among Kentucky's greatest track stars. To him goes the credit of breaking the mile record while running under the colors of the Blue and White. Although his specialty was the mile, he participated in several other events. Much of the success of the freshman thinlies is directly due to O'Bryant's experience and instruction.

AD AMICOS MEOS

Love Would Not Let Me Go

I heard the boatman singing on the river Styx;
The night was dark; the stars like dying candle-wicks.
Low tides were softly lapping on some distant sea,
As Charon turned his prow a straight swift course to me;
"A host of friends," he said, "whom I have ferried o'er,
Tonight are waiting for you on the other shore,
Eager to greet you and explain so many things
That you have longed to know,—so many questionings."
Voices which I had not heard for years, and row
On row of faces lured me till I wished to go.

Then you came trooping to me with your simple gifts
Of love and beauty,—beauty riotous in drifts
Of dahlias, asters, zinnias, cosmos, roses,—each
Perfection's masterpiece which only God can reach.
And now a symphony of color—music I
Had never heard before filled earth and sea and sky,
"I will not go." Surprised, the grisled pilot cried:
"Repulsed! I leave you then; you have the gods defied."
And angrily he wheeled his age-old boat and steered
For other ports, while you stood on the bank and cheered.

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

BASEBALL

Varsity Baseball

By Norman "Moon" Garling

After being extinct for two years, baseball was reinstated into the Athletic schedule of the University of Kentucky, and because of the many persons who favored its return, it will probably again become one of the leading sports of the University, although last year's team did not make an outstanding record.

Pat Devereux, who was coach before the game was taken out of the sports annals, was again the mentor last season. He was somewhat handicapped by the lack of material experienced. For the 1935 season he will have to build an entire new team, because the 1934 squad was composed mostly of seniors.

Coach Devereaux and Captain Broadbent

The Wildcats played a twelve-game schedule, winning one game, and losing eleven, but after taking into consideration that it was the first time that the boys had played together for two years, their record was not such a black mark against them. The men that made up the varsity squad for 1934 were the same men who played on the freshmen team in 1931, the last time that baseball was a major sport in the University.

To open the season the Big Blue traveled to Starksville, Mississippi, for a two-game series with Mississippi State college. In the first game of their return to the college baseball world, the Wildcats obtained a case of the "jitters," and were defeated 9 to 7. The next day the Mississippians came back with another strong attack and defeated the Kentucky team again, 11 to 4. These two initial games showed that the Wildcats did not have the punch of an experienced team.

After returning from this somewhat disappointing road trip, the Kentucky team opened their home season against the Eastern State Teachers' college squad, whom they defeated 15 to 4, in a game that was nothing more than batting practice for the Wildcats. This was the one game of the year in which the Big Blue team showed signs of having a great team, but this indication was short lived because on the next Wednesday the University of Louisville nine came to Lexington and defeated the Wildcats, 6 to 0. It was in this game that the 'Cats showed a definite weakness in the hitting department, the one thing that lost most of their ball games for them.

Kentucky tried to repeat its performance against the Eastern State Teachers' college in the next game, but were badly fooled when the Teachers defeated them 4 to 2, and also incurred their fourth defeat of the season.

SETTLE HONHORST MATTINGLY WILSON HALEY

In an endeavor to pull out of their slump, Coach Devereux and his Wildcat proteges took to the road, and played three games on the trip. But this trip, like the other one, proved to be disastrous, in that they lost all three games, thus bringing their defeats up to a total of seven. On the trip the Wildcats encountered Marshall college, Morehead, and Cincinnati, and lost to them by respective scores of 10 to 8, 10 to 9, and 3 to 0.

The University of Cincinnati team came to Lexington the following week and defeated the Wildcats for the second consecutive time, 3 to 2. In their final game of the season the Kentucky team again played the University of Louisville, but were on the short end of a 7 to 6 score.

LETTERMEN: Smith Broadbent, Fuller, Simone, Settle, Wilson, Sternberg, Haley, Shearer, Honhorst, Greathouse, DeMoisey, Mattingly, Johnson, Thompson, Gabbert, and Mattingly, and manager Ralph Broadbent.

SMITH BROADBENT is due a lot of credit for the University having a baseball team last year. It was through his efforts that the Athletic Council finally gave their consent to support another diamond team. Smith was the ace hurler for the Wildcats, and though never turning in any outstanding performances from the mound, he was always in there doing his best.

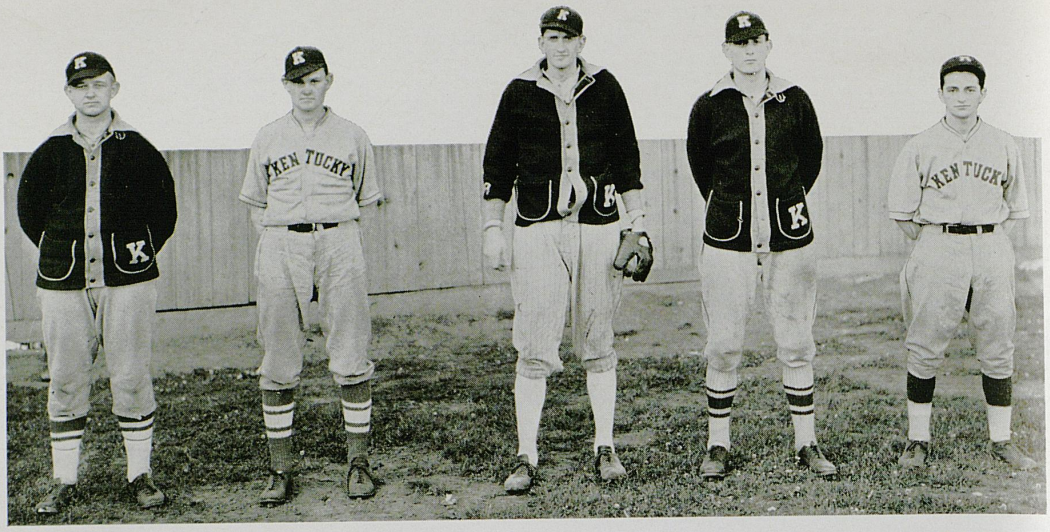

HARVEY MATTINGLY was the other half of the battery, and did a good job as backstop. Besides being an excellent receiver, Harvey also had a good arm, and there were few opponents who stole bases on him. As a hitter he was right on the top, and usually could be depended upon to come through in the pinches.

BILL GREATHOUSE was one of the Wildcat's moundsmen, and although lacking experience, he turned in some creditable performances. Bill's fast ball was his main asset, and with this implement, he mowed down a lot of opposing batters.

EARL WILSON was, without doubt, the most experienced player on the Big Blue team. In the early part of the season Coach Devereux had him in the outfield, but because of an injury to the regular third basemen, he moved him to the "hot corner" where he handled all plays with the ease of a professional. Earl was the "cleanup" hitter in the Wildcat lineup, and he could always be counted on for a base hit.

EVAN SETTLE was Kentucky's second baseman, and his hitting and fielding ability were of much note. As part of a double play combination, Settle was unually the key man, and he very rarely missed the chance of the two birds with one stone. He also was a member of Coach Rupp's 1934 Wildcat basketball quintet.

JOHN "FRENCHY" DEMOISEY was the Big Blue team's fast ball artist, and there was many a batter who felt the breeze of one of Demoisey's fast curve balls. Not only was he a baseball star, but was also the mainstay of Coach Rupp's basketball team. Twice he had been chosen on the All-Southeastern quintets.

BROADBENT JOHNSON DEMOISEY GREATHOUSE SIMONE

William Honhorst played the first base position for the Wildcats, and handled it in excellent style. His fielding was above par, but Bill was weak with the stick, and opposing pitchers did not have much trouble in getting him out of the way.

Tony Simone was Kentucky's diminutive hurler, and his smallness caused opponents no end of trouble. Tony did not have much of a fast ball, but he could throw curves and drops with amazing dexterity. Simone is known for his ability as a boxer, and last winter won a division championship in the Intramural bouts.

Sam Sternberg was one of the Wildcat's hitting threats, and every opposing pitcher feared him. Sam was an outfielder of no mean ability, and there were many times that he went back to the fence and pulled a high fly out of the air that looked good for three bases.

"Lefty" Johnson was the Wildcat's only port-sided hurler, and he did some remarkable feats on the mound. "Lefty" did not see much action on the Kentucky nine, because of his inexperience, but next year ought to see him at the top of the pitching assignment list.

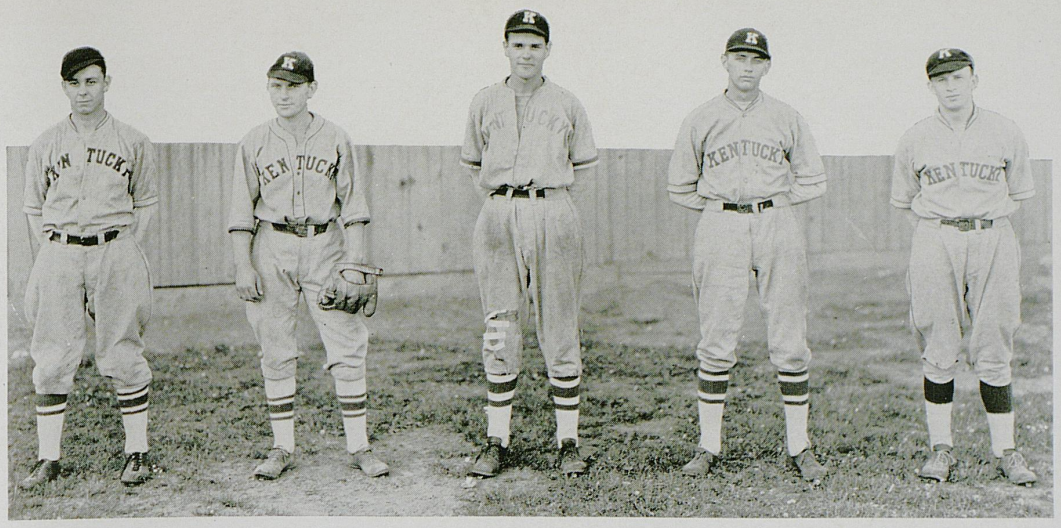

Bill Gilbert performed in the outfield for the Kentucky diamond team, and did an excellent job of it. Although a good ball hawk, Bill could not hit and opposing pitchers found him to be easy "meat."

Ralph Broadbent was Kentucky's genial manager, and could usually be found chasing the foul balls that went over the fence. Ralph took good care of the equipment, and it was like pulling teeth to get a ball from him for practice.

Last year's diamond team was the first since 1931 and there were inadequate facilities for the sport although the athletes were cheerful about it and did the best they could under the circumstances. The principal difficulty in having a team was the lack of an adequate playing field. The Epping baseball club graciously offered the use of their field, but the distance was so far from the campus that it was hardly practicable for use by the Wildcat team.

Baseball has never payed its way at the University, that is not in the last seven or eight years. It has been operated at a loss mainly because of the lack of an adequate place to play, and the lack of a consistent team. The 1930 team was the last aggregation which might have been called a really good one, including such stars as Ray Rhoades, Barnes, Cole, and others.

It was impossible to have a team this season because of the spring football practice being held on the field that has been customarily used for the diamond sport. Then too, there seems to be a dearth of interest in the sport except among a few scattered persons.

SHEARER STERNBERG GABBERT THOMPSON FULLER

Baseball is the national sport and should be recognized as such and students and faculty members are awaiting the time when the Wildcats will be champions in baseball as they are in basketball, and with the same support and enthusiasm of the student body.

Coach Pat Devereaux, who has been coach of the Wildcat teams for many years, has produced many outstanding stars while coach of the Big Blue teams. Ray and Bob Rhoads were sterling pitchers and Ray had a trial in the big leagues, and did very well until his arm went bad on him and he was forced to retire. Louis Toth and Cecil Urbaniak, two fleet infielders, and Johnny Cole, first baseman, also could have gone far in professional ball had they desired to do so.

Coach Devereaux was a professional ball player for many years, playing with several minor league outfits and was a talented hitter and first baseman. He should be given a great amount of credit for the 1934 club, although they won but one contest. He cheerfully donated his services to the school without hope of remuneration because of his love of the sport and the desire to see it revived in the state.

Some of the members of last season's aggregation will be able to participate in the sport if it is reinstated next season. Among the most prominent are Borries and Garling, first basemen; Johnson, pitcher, and Fuller, outfielder. Plenty of other material is on hand if the sport gets a "break" and is returned to the athletic program again in 1936.

Elwood "Swede" Hanson was one of the most useful men on the Wildcat squad although he played very little because of a sore arm. He was a catcher and aided in warming up the pitchers in case a new one was needed. "Swede" was handy with the stick, but was valuable for his knowledge of the game. He was formerly a star at Ohio Military Institute in his home town, Cincinnati, and was one of the best catchers in the history of that school. When the 'Cats have another team this peppy backstop will be missed.

Dick Fuller was another outfielder who was a fine ball hawk, but who could not hit as well as desired. The hitting of all the outfielders was woefully weak with the exception of Sammy Sternberg.

Frank Borries, reserve first baseman who saw little service because of his inexperience, but Coach Devereaux expected him to develop into a good performer for this year's team. With some added experience this stocky athlete should develop into a fine infielder for the 1936 aggregation.

George Shearer was an outfielder on the 1934 team, and saw service in a majority of the games. He performed in a pleasing manner in right field and did pretty good work, both in the field and with the stick.

THE OLD-FASHIONED LOOM

The old log house where mother lived, whose roof had mossy grown,
Reposed amid its clump of trees, a queen upon her throne;
The woodlands rang with feathered song, the meadows were abloom,
When mother plied the shuttles of the rude, old-fashioned loom.

The world has grown fastidious now and laughs at rustic ways
As crude and unesthetic, and scorns the ox-cart days,
But bees then found their nectar in a common clover bloom,
And simple hearts found music in the shuttle of the loom.

The picture that my memory paints is never seen today—
The April sun of by-gone years has lost its brightest ray;
A fancy wrought piano in a quaint, antique, old room,
But mother sang her sweetest to the music of the loom.

She wore a simple, home-spun dress, for mother's taste was plain,
But life was like a song to her, with work a sweet refrain.
The sunshine filled her days with joy, night's shadows brought no gloom,
When mother plied the shuttles of the old, old-fashioned loom.

Her warp of life was toiling, and unchanging love its woof;
The web she wove a character beyond the world's reproof;
She did not live in luxury nor dress in rich costume,
But oh, the songs that mother sang to her old-fashioned loom.

Varsity Tennis

THE University of Kentucky tennis team, coached by "Doc" Downing, came through a successful net season in 1934, winning seven matches and losing four.

At the outset of the season the outlook for a successful year was not bright, but as the year progressed the netmen gradually rounded into shape and finished the season in great style.

Coach Downing has high hopes of winning practically every match in the 1935 net season, as he only lost three varsity men by graduation this year.

The Wildcat netmen opened their season with a 5 to 4 victory over the Berea College team, and came back the following week to defeat a strong University of Indiana net squad 7 to 0. In the next two matches the Kentucky team lost two consecutive exhibitions to Vanderbilt University and to the University of Louisville. 6 to 3, and 4 to 3, respectively.

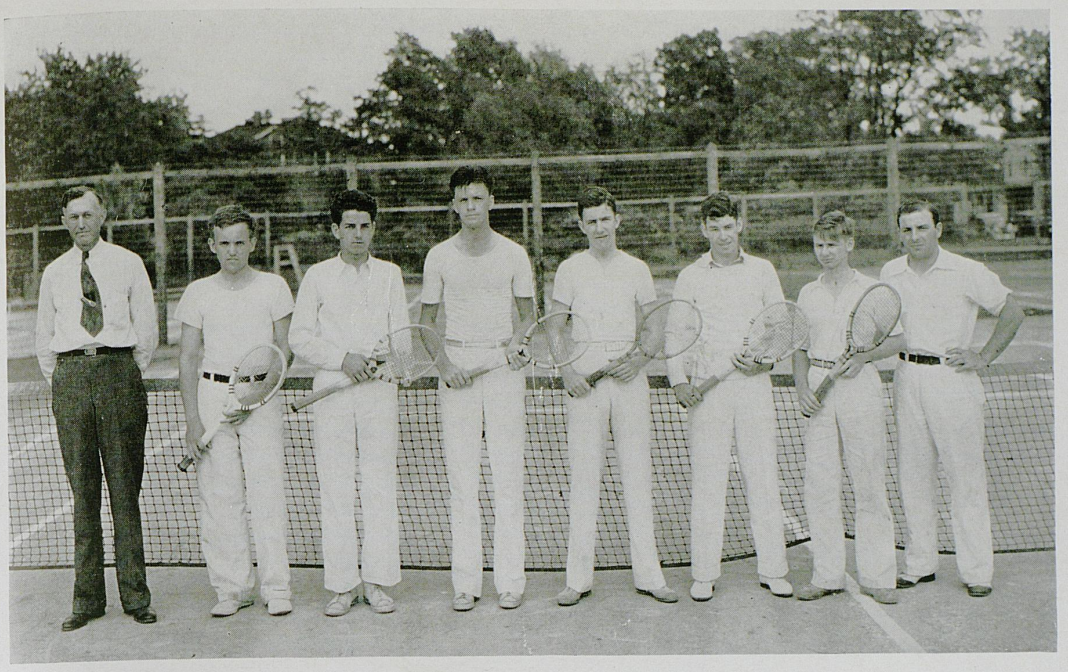

The Kentucky netmen received their biggest defeat of the year at the hands of Tulane, which team has two men who have national intercollegiate ratings. The Green Wave took Kentucky by a score of 7 to 0, in straight sets.

Louisville provided the opposition for the final match of the year and the Wildcats came back to defeat them 4 to 3, exactly the same score that Louisville defeated Kentucky by earlier in the season.

George Yost, number one man of the team, was captain for the 1934 season, and George Tullock was elected captain for 1935, and Jay Lucian was named as manager.

LETTERMEN

George Yost, captain; James Bishop, Lawrence Jenkins, George Tullock, James Moore, Milton Rush, Elvis Stahr, and Webster Cosse, manager.

Freshman Tennis

THE freshman tennis team of 1934, boasting of some of the best material in years, was very successful under the tutelage of Coach H. H. "Doc" Downing and completed the season undefeated. Joe O'Brien was the state high school champion in '32 and was runner-up in '33, while Warfield Donohue was co-champion in the doubles of the state high school met in both '32 and '33.

Paced by these two men the greenies met the varsity of Asbury College at Lexington in a practice game May 8 and eked out a 5-4 victory, winning four singles and one double match.

On May 18 they encountered the varsity of Pikeville College on the home court and were victorious, 6-1, losing only one singles match.

With two victories to their credit the frosh journeyed to Louisville where they met the team from DuPont Manual Training High School. They experienced little difficulty and did not lose a match, winning 7-0.

The squad was composed of O'Brien, Donohue, D. Randall, Montgomery, Dunn, Huston, Nickerson, and Samuel. Numerals were awarded to O'Brien, Donohue, D. Randall, Montgomery, Dunn, and Jay Lucian, manager.

Intramural

Since 1913, under the leadership of E. W. Mitchell, of the University of Michigan, intramural athletics have grown steadily in popularity in the colleges and universities throughout the United States. In the southern States, intramural athletics were not definitely organized as such in the majority of schools until 1928. That year marks the organization of an intramural department at the University of Kentucky in the Department of Physical Education.

With passing years, the student body of the University has made intramural athletics an important part of their life, and where once a student competed only in his freshmen and sophomore years, many are found who take part in the various activities during their entire four years. Intramural athletics has kept pace with the modern trend of social readjustment by providing activities in the program whick will serve as a source of wholesome and stimulating recreation in later life.

This year intramural athletics took on a new atmosphere with two outstanding fraternities, Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Sigma Chi, fighting for permanent possession of the intramural trophy. Each have won it three times, and this year decides which of these two organizations is allowed to keep it as their own.

At the beginning of the year the S. A. E.'s started off with a bang and at one time led the Sigma Chi's by more than 200 points. As the activities progressed, however, this lead was whittled down to a mere 50 points, and during the last two months of competition it will be a nip and tuck race.

PERSONNEL

M. E. Potter, M. A., Head of the Department of Physical Education.
C. W. Hackensmith, Intramural Director.
Sam Warren and H. Stanley, Senior Managers.

Beta Chapter of Alpha Delta Theta was founded November, 1921, at Transylvania college, Lexington, Kentucky. This organization grew out of a local group, Alpha Theta, which started at Transylvania in the fall of 1919. Beta chapter was installed June 11, 1922, at the University of Kentucky. Beta chapter received the first charter granted to an Alpha Delta Theta chapter in 1923.

The official publication is "The Portals"; the flower, the Sweet Pea; and the colors are Turquoise Blue, Silver, and Scarlet.

Alpha Delta Theta now has 25 active chapters and 11 alumnae chapters throughout the country.

Since Beta's existence on the University campus, she has won many honors. She boasts of ranking high in scholastic achievement, two of her members having won Sullivan Medallions. Phi Beta Kappa, Mortar Board, Kappa Delta Pi, Phi Beta, Chi Delta Phi, Theta Sigma Phi, Phi Upsilon Omicron, Cwens, and Phi Upsilon Phi have drawn members from her ranks. Alpha Delta Theta members have also had prominent parts in the various student organizations, such as Y. W. C. A., W. S. G. A., Kernel, Panhellenic, Guignol, SuKy, and the Kentuckian. Last year Lois Robinson was elected May Queen.

Beta Chi Chapter

Kappa Kappa Gamma, second oldest national social sorority, was founded at Monmouth College in 1870, and the Beta Chi chapter was installed on the University of Kentucky campus in 1910. The flower is the Fleur de Lis; the colors, the Blue of the Sky and the Blue of the Sea; the publication, the "Key"; and the jewel is the sapphire.

Kappa Kappa Gamma, which consists of 71 chapters, called the first national Pan-Hellenic convention in Boston, April, 1891. Members of Kappa Kappa Gamma have always figured prominently in the social and extra-curricular activities on the campus, as illustrated by the fact that two "Beuties" were selected this year from the Kappa lodge.

Members in the faculty are Rebecca Averill and Sarah Blanding, dean of women.

Sigma Chapter of Alpha Sigma Phi, national social fraternity, was founded at Yale University in 1845, at a time when the University authorities were inclined to question fraternities of a social nature, resulting in a rather precarious position for several years. Soon after, official sanction was given the group and it entered a period of growth which has resulted in 34 chapters throughout the country. In 1914 a club known as Scroll and Crescent was organized on the Kentucky campus, but later changed to Phi Sigma and as such was granted a charter by Alpha Sigma Phi in 1917.

The fraternity flower is the Cardinal Rose and the colors are Cardinal and Stone.

Members in the faculty are Henri Beaumont, Lewis C. Robinson, Lester O'Bannon, and David M. Young.

Oscar Reuter is Cadet Colonel of the R. O. T. C. regiment, captain of Pershing Rifles, and a member of Omicron Delta Kappa.

Mu Iota Chapter

Alpha Tau Omega, national social fraternity, was founded in 1865 at Richmond, Virginia, and its first chapter was established at Virginia Military Institute. The Mu Iota chapter was installed on the University of Kentucky campus in 1909, being the outgrowth of a local known as Mu Iota, or the "Midnight Imps," as they were sometimes called.

The fraternity flower is the White Tea Rose; the colors, Azure and Gold; and the publication, the "Palm."

Members in the faculty include Bart Peak, L. J. Horlacher, L. E. Nollau, F. A. Hughes, J. W. May, H. M. Meriwether, B. L. Pribble, Watson Armstrong, Niel Plummer, and Philip McGee.

One of the outstanding members of Alpha Tau Omega is "Sunny" Day, who is editor of the Kernel, member of Omicron Delta Kappa, president of the Men's Student Council, and a member of various other campus organizations.

Delta Epsilon of

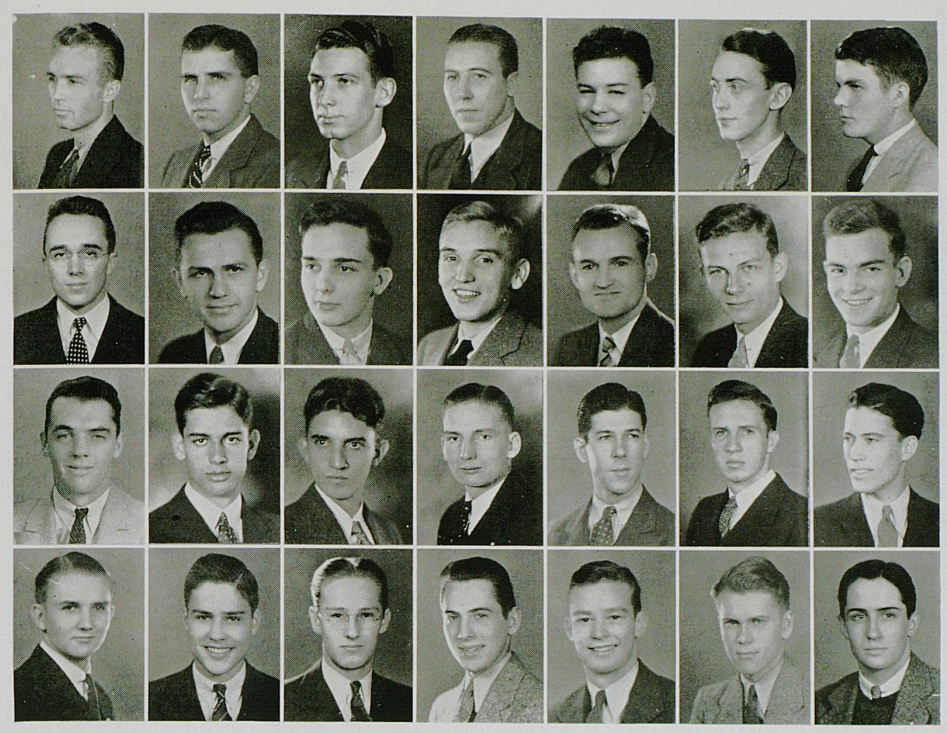

Delta Tau Delta, national social fraternity, was founded at Bethany college in 1859. The local chapter of Tau Delta Alpha petitioned to Delta Tau Delta for a charter and became Delta Epsilon chapter of that organization in 1924. Since that time the chapter has grown until at the present time it is one of the largest on the campus and is the proud possessor of a new specially designed fraternity house.

Members in the faculty are Robert D. Hawkins, R. D. Miller, James Shropshire, and Edward Johnson.

The fraternity flower is the Pansy; the colors are Purple, White, and Gold, and the publication is the "Rainbow."

Among outstanding men on the campus are William Greathouse and David Difford, cadet captains and members of Scabbard and Blade; Edward Turnbull business manager of the Kernel, and Calvin Cramer, member of Tau Beta Pi and Scabbard and Blade; Ralph Kercheval, George Skinner, Cameron Coffman, Jack Crain, and Jimmy Miller.

Theta Chapter

Kappa Alpha, national social fraternity, was founded at Washington and Lee University in 1865 with the special influence of Gen. Robert E. Lee. Theta chapter of Kappa Alpha was the first social fraternity established on the University of Kentucky campus, and originally occupied the same house with the chapter at Transylvania. Theta now occupies an old home which served as a Confederate hospital during the Civil War.

The fraternity flowers are the Red Rose and the Magnolia blossom; the colors are Crimson and Old Gold, and the publication is the "Journal."

Members in the faculty are William E. Freeman, Joseph W. Pryor, Harry Best, Enoch Grehan, and Garrett D. Buckner.

Beta Nu Chapter

Kappa Sigma, national social fraternity, was founded at the University of Virginia in 1869, and has grown until at the present time it has more active chapters than any other fraternity, 107. It has a chapter in every major college in the United States and several in other countries. The Beta Nu chapter was founded on the Transylvania campus in 1896, but was transferred to Kentucky in 1901.

The fraternity flower is the Lily of the Valley; the colors are Scarlet, Green, and White; and the publication is the "Caduceus."

Members in the faculty include William D. Funkhouser and L. L. Dantzler.

Figuring very prominently in campus activities are Sam Warren, who is intramural manager and a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, and Harry Walker, who played on the Wildcat eleven and was chairman of the Junior Prom committee.

Lambda Lambda Chapter

Sigma Chi, national social fraternity, was founded at Miami University in 1855 and the Lambda Lambda chapter was installed on the University of Kentucky campus in 1893. Sigma Chi was one of the first two fraternities to be founded on the University campus, and as a result, has a large alumni group, representing various fields. The fraternity has an outstanding national reputation, due partly to its famous "sweetheart" song. At present the fraternity has 96 chapters. The fraternity flower is the White Rose and the colors are deep Blue and Old Gold. The national publications of the fraternity are the "Magazine of Sigma Chi" and the "Sigma Chi Bulletin," oldest private fraternity publication in existence.

Members in the faculty of the University are: the late F. Paul Anderson, William Hansen, Richard Johnson, Robert Shannon, and G. W. Fithian. Elvis Stahr is one of Sigma Chi's chief claims to fame on the Kentucky campus. The chapter has been intramural champions three times in the last four years, and are among the leaders this year.

Kentucky Chapter

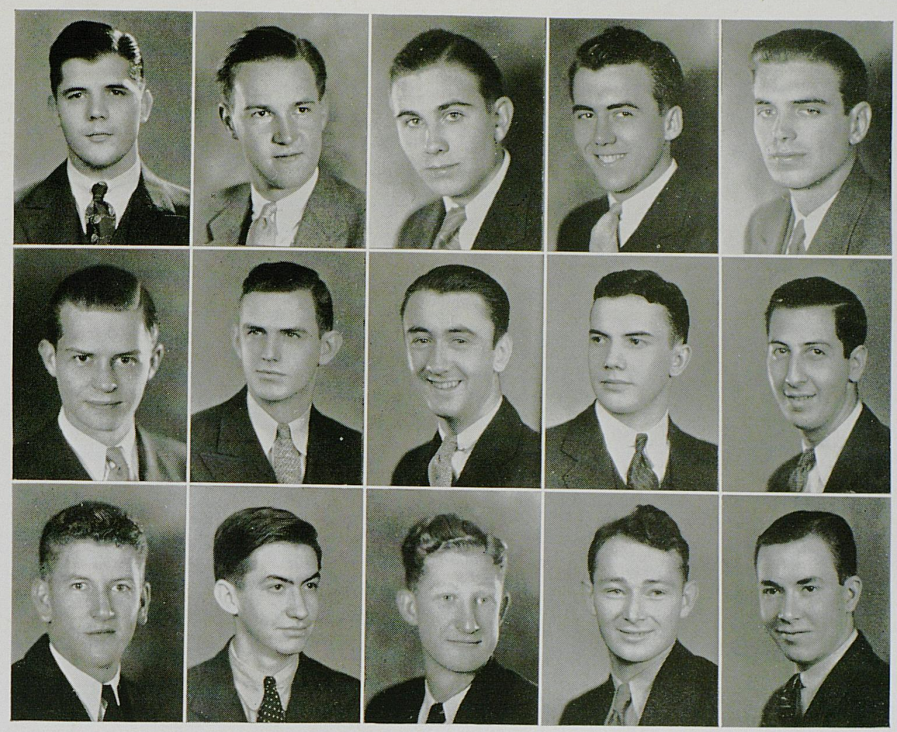

Triangle, a fraternity for engineers, was founded at the University of Illinois in 1907. The fraternity flower is the White Carnation and the colors are Old Rose and Grey. The national publication is the "Triangle Review." There are 16 chapters of the fraternity.

Members in the faculty are Louis F. Nollau, D. V. Terrell, Stephen Saunier, and Robert Spicer.

Officers of the chapter for this year are J. H. Faunce Jr., president; W. A. Duncan, vice-president; K. G. Alley, secretary; Russell Ramey, treasurer; C. P. Reeves, corresponding secretary.

Among the prominent members of the chapter are William F. Eversole, president of Scabbard and Blade, president of SuKy, and member of O. D. K. and Tau Beta Pi; and Jack Faunce, member of O. D. K. and Lamp and Cross. Triangle fraternity was winner of the home-coming house decorations contest sponsored by SuKy this year.

THE MUSE OF ARCHITECTURE

I.

I met her on the great Acropolis
Amid the ruins of the Parthenon.
As pale as frozen Grief she gazed thereon:
"The richest jewel in my crown was this."
I saw the simple Doric edifice
As Phidias left it, gleaming in the sun,
As she took broken fragments, one by one,
And pressed each with a silent, lingering kiss.

And then I knew the pain that pierced her heart,
Remembering what had been, but now was gone:
The Propylaea and Erectheion,
The little Temple, Wingless Nike—art
Creations each, without a counterpart
That any eye has ever looked upon.

II.

I spoke: "You must not grieve and suffer thus.
You loved the beauty of the Parthenon;
But yonder lies the Bay of Phalaron,
And toward the east is Mount Pentelicus.
We still have Homer and Theocritus,
And Sappho, Pindar and Anacreon;
We may see Aphrodite any dawn
New-risen from the sea, voluptious."

But she refused thus to be comforted.
"The gods alone know why man still blasphemes:
The English Abbeys and pathetic Rheims
Are nothing but ugly scars," she said,
"Where erstwhile shrines of Beauty stood instead.
They haunt me now like nightmares in my dreams."

HONORARIES

Omicron Delta Kappa

Nu Circle

Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary campus leaders' fraternity, was founded at Washington and Lee December 3, 1914, by fifteen men. Its purpose, as outlined in the constitution, is to recognize men who have attained high standards of efficiency in college activities and to inspire others to strive for conspicous attainments along similar lines; to bring together the most representative men in all phases of collegiate life and to bring together members of the faculty and student body on a basis of mutual understanding and interest.

Nu Circle was established on the campus in 1925 and since that time has been recognized as perhaps the most active and outstanding honorary on the campus. It has been very instrumental, along with several other honorary societies, in the movement for a Student Union building. Other movements sponsored by this society include the annual inter-fraternity sing.

Lances

Lances, honorary fraternity for outstanding Junior men, was founded at the University in 1927, succeeding the traditional "Mystic 13," which was the first non-scholastic honorary in the history of the school.

TERRELL ISON MOORE | STANLEY HESS MENCHERO | BAKER BOYD STAHR

Its purposes to recognize exceptional attainment in men students of the lower division, to bring together leaders of the Junior class from the various fraternities, and promote class spirit and campus fellowship.

The society is self-perpetuating, each member selecting his successor in compliance with a point system. Pledging is held each year at the Junior Prom. Lances offers a trophy to the fraternity having the best sophomore class of Lances eligibles, based on a point system which recognizes scholarship, leadership, and extra-curricular activity.

THE HALL OF FAME

This building is a Hall of Fame;
Pause here and read each sacred name.
These were your gallant sons and mine,
To whom the vital air was wine.
They loved the fragrant Southern breeze;
The sunlight glinting through the trees;
The sparkling stream, the flash of wing;
They loved to hear the thrushes sing.
They dreamed sweet Youth's ambitious dreams:
They knew the joys of Love's extremes;
Yet gave up all that we might still
Be heirs of blood-bought Bunker Hill.
They did not call it sacrifice;
They did not stop to ask the price;
They only knew that Liberty—
The bride of brave Democracy—
Was threatened bloody ravishment,
By super-beast incontinent.
They passed, your valiant sons and mine,
The scions of a noble line;
And each has left a shining name
In proud Kentucky's Hall of Fame.

SHOT

Preacher stopped and called a counsel,
He had baptised forty-eight,
But the school ma'am, Mandy Hounsel,
Rose above three-hundred weight.

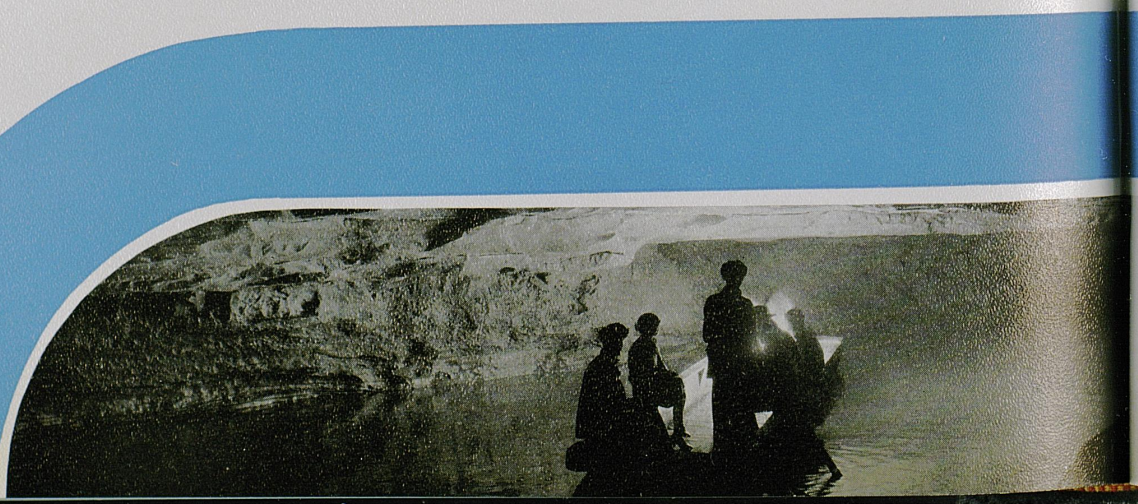

How could a lean five-foot preacher
Baptise her without a slip?
"Think that he can lift the teacher,"
"What if he should lose his grip?"

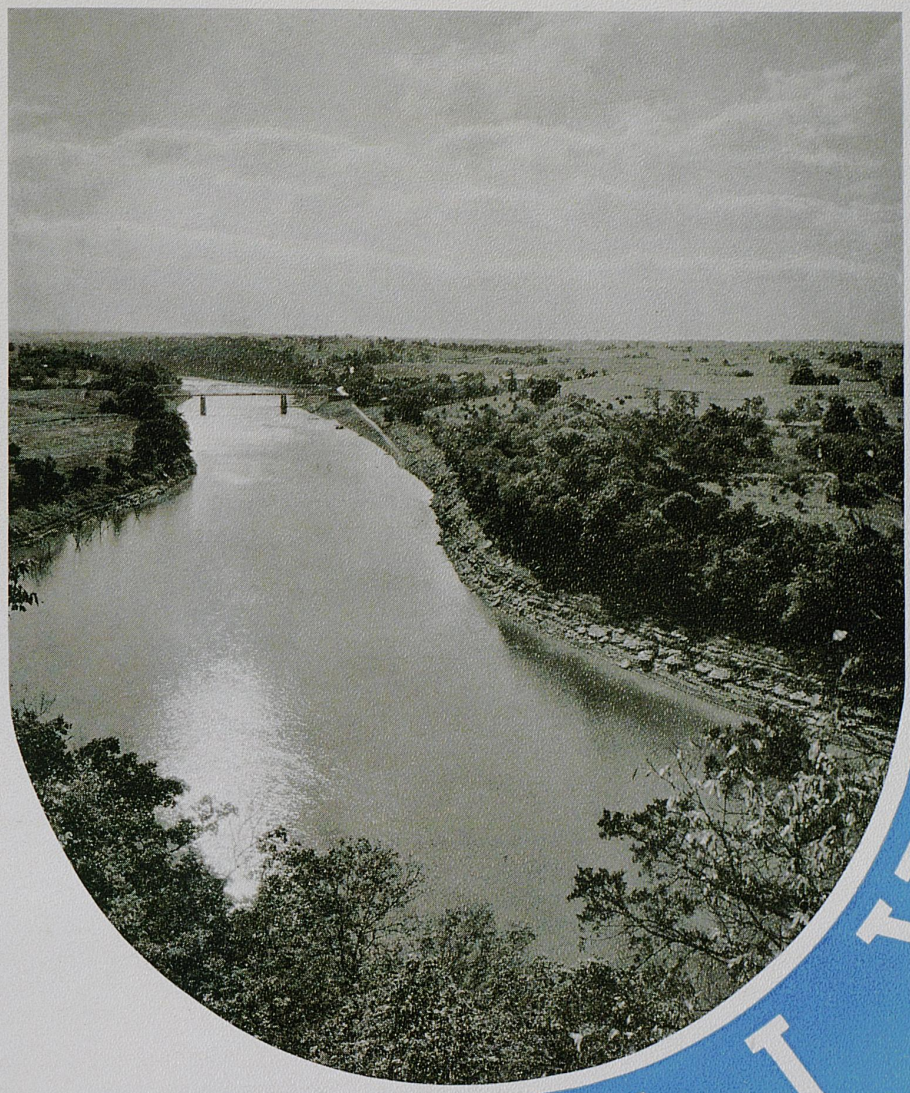

All the hill-side, silent, wondered,
Here and there a smothered sob;
Mandy looked at least four-hundred
Standing by the Reverend Cob.

Then a poor half-witted creature,
Known about the town as Shot,
Shouted out, "Say, Misther Preacher,
Lead her in and let her squat."

Inter-Fraternity Council

The Inter-fraternity Council of the University of Kentucky was founded in 1933 to replace the defunct Men's Pan-Hellenic Association.

It was organized to promote better harmony among the Greek letter social fraternities on the campus and to enforce mutually beneficial rules regarding important inter-fraternity matters.

The Kentucky Council is a member of the National Undergraduate Inter-fraternity Council and each year delegates are sent to the convention of the council.

Each fraternity elects one representative to sit on the council. His duties are to act for his group and to protect its interests.

THE 1935

CAMERON COFFMAN
EDITOR

This staff gave you the 1935 Kentuckian. Our only desire is that it has met with the approval of the majority of the student body. Had it not been for the help of this staff a book of this kind would never have been constructed. Some have worked much more than others, but each deserves a word of commendation.

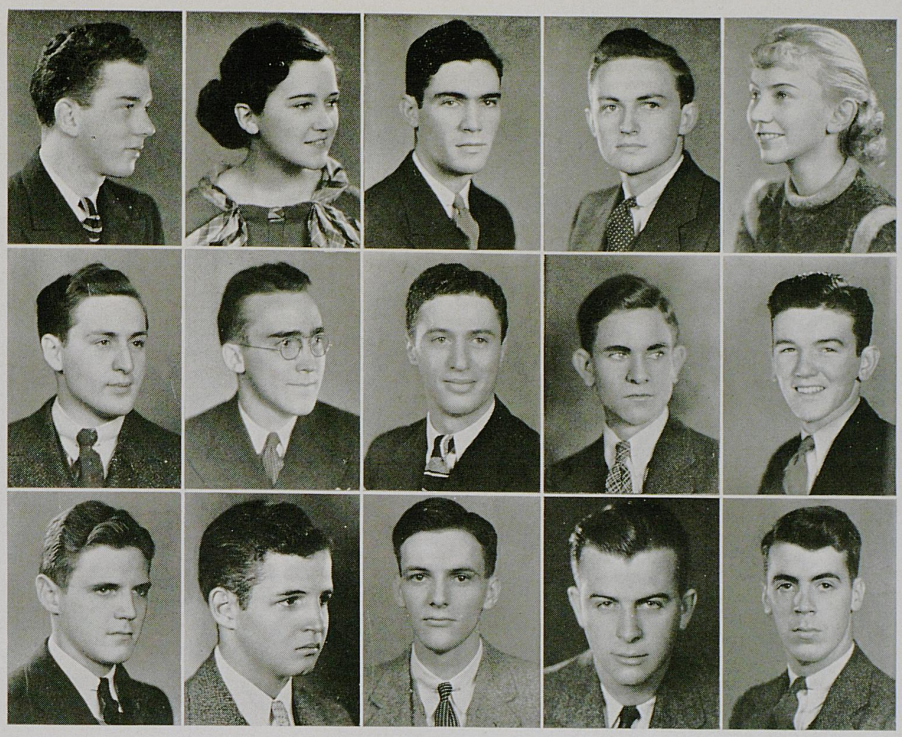

A special word of praise should go to Bazil Baker, whose unfailing attention has been an invaluable asset to what success this book may enjoy. Walter Girdler, another chief assistant, was forced to leave school.

The work of Nancy Becker and Lucile Thornton with the sororities deserves a word of thanks. The same can be said of Bill Greathouse and Dick Boyd with the fraternity work. Lillian Holmes did excellently with the honoraries and clubs, as did Morton Collins with the classes.

"Moon" Garling as sports editor, and Lorraine Lepere as literary editor receive a special word of commendation from the editor.

A good business manager is essential to the success of every project. The 1935 Kentuckian had it—Jimmy Miller was among the best.

To Jo Blackman, "Q" Huston, Tommy Atkins, C. T. Hertzsch and Bill Carrel, the Editor owes many thanks for the services around the office.

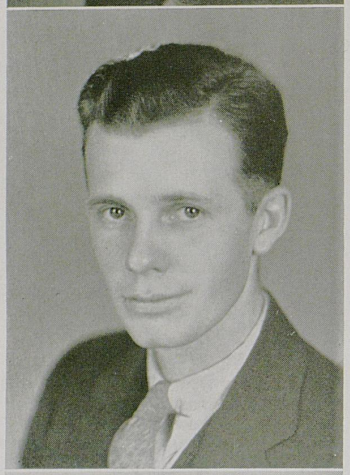

We thank "Dave" Griffith for his invaluable information and untiring patience.

The positions on the staff are as follows: Bazil Baker, junior editor; assistant editors—Dave Difford and Al Miller, military; Harry Walker and Bud Hunt, beauty; Dick Boyd and Bill Greathouse, fraternities; "Moon" Garling and Leo Spence, athletics; Lucile Thornton and Nancy Becker, sororities; Lorraine Lepere, literary; Lillian Holmes and Charlotte Coffman, honoraries; Mary Edith Bach and Tommy Atkins, copy; Cal Cramer and Bill Carrel, photographs; Morton Collins, Betty Earle, and Mary McLain, classes; Bob Maloney and Elizabeth Kriegel, clubs; General—C. MY CAROL

The rhyme I send is all my gift to you,
And though its music's jangled out of tune—
September skies that would be only June—
It's but the hand—the minstrel's harp is true;
For if you heard the song my heart would pen,
'Twould be the choral that the angels sing
That night the hills of old Judea rang
With anthems, "Peace on earth, good will toward men."

MUSIC

M'DOWELL WALKER STOCKTON

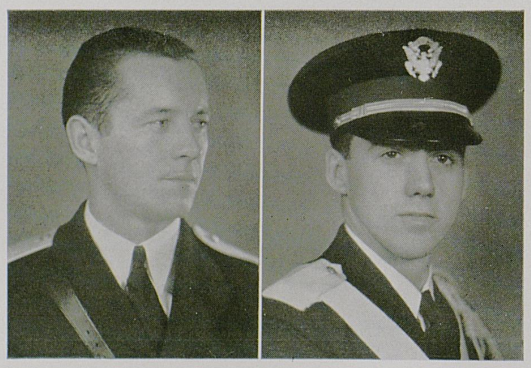

University of Kentucky Band

The University of Kentucky band, which gained a title of "The Best Band in Dixie" when it accompanied the football squad to Atlanta for the Georgia Tech game, ascended to new heights this year. Through the efforts of Major B. E. Brewer the members of the band received new uniforms, which were exhibited for the first time at the Cincinnati game.

The new outfits are a wonderful improvement over the capes which had been in use for the past several years. The Pershing caps, the braid and brass buttons, and the striped trousers, make a combination which presents a smart appearance. The military aspect of the uniforms tended to increase the efficiency in the band maneuvers, which surpassed any that had been presented in recent years.

The excellent drilling of the band was the result of the tireless efforts of Lieutenant Criswell. It received the plaudits of the public and the press on its trips to Cincinnati and Knoxville, as well as at all of the football games played at home.

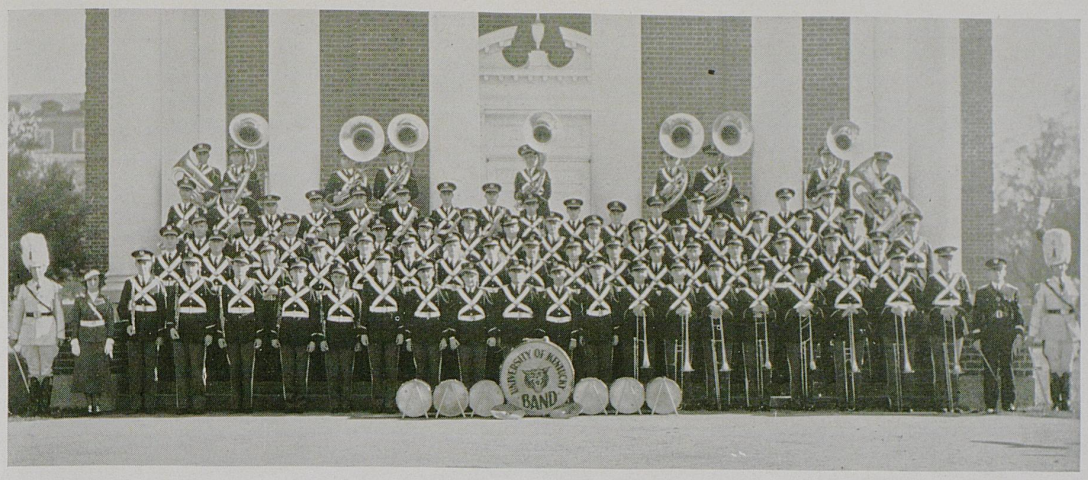

"The Best Band in Dixie" not only played at all of the football games, but was also called upon to play at several basketball games, and at all of the battalion and regimental parades in the spring. When President Roosevelt dedicated the memorial in Harrodsburg there were many bands from the entire state present, but none surpassed the Kentucky band of 85 members.

LEWIS DUNCAN

Margaret Walker was the sponsor for the second consecutive year, and drew much praise from the stands as she marched down the field in step with the two drum-majors, Bob McDowell and Harold Stockton.

The new director, John Lewis, Jr., who replaced Elmer G. "Bromo" 'Sulzer, continues to maintain the standards of his predecessor, with the able assistance of the Personnel Officer, Bill Duncan. This marks the completion of Lewis' second year as the director of the band.

TINKER TOM

Old Tinker Tom could fix a clock
Or pick a Wall Street safety lock;
There was no engine or machine
But Tinker could repair or clean,
Or take out every wheel and screw
And make it just as good as new.
He carved an inlaid checker board;
And once, they say, he built a Ford.
He made a fiddle experts had Pronounced an old Cremona Strad.
There was no home in Waterville
But profited by Tinker's skill.
Rebuilt old worn-out phonographs;
Designed and cut quaint epitaphs.
He served the living and the dead
With facile hand and heart and head.
But this man never worked for pelf;
He loved his art, forgot himself.
And now his grave is quite concealed;
They laid him in the potter's field.

The R. O. T. C. Regiment

The R. O. T. C. regiment at the University of Kentucky is one of the outstanding units in the Fifth Corps Area, having been awarded the Gold Star rating for three consecutive years. The Gold Star rating corresponds to the designating of Distinguished Institutions by the War Department before the war.

The climax of the year's training in the military department is Field Day, at which time the regiment passes in review; competitive drill between companies is held; individual competitive drill to select the best drilled cadet in the regiment is held; presentation of awards to the most outstanding cadets and officers is made; and the cadet officers are presented their commissions in the Officers Reserve Corps.

In conjunction with the military department are the Pershing Rifles company, national honorary basic military fraternity, and Scabbard and Blade, national honorary advanced military fraternity. There is also a R. O. T. C. rifle team, which is coached by Captain Scheibla, and fires matches with teams from universities throughout the entire country.

YEARBOOKS are constructed through the cooperation of a staff, the various organizations and the merchants who contribute their bit toward the final issue with their advertising .... Advertising is very boring to anyone to sit down and read....none of us will do it, so we must resort to this means of getting you to look through the advertising section....so give the merchants a break.... see what they have to offer....So here we go with a bit about the campus personalities and their lodges....Remember, whatever is said in these next few pages are to be taken "with a grain of salt"....In other words whatever is said about any of you'se guys and gals is offered in a spirit of play rather than taking a dirty dig at anyone....If the writer should happen to get off a "fast one" on you just laugh it off with the one about the other fellow....The Kentuckian of 1935 will live for many years, we hope....so in the years to come when you desire to do a bit of reminiscing among your class of '35 just take the 1935 yearbook off the seat of the baby's high chair....lay it on the radiator to dry off, and then turn the musty pages to this section and read a bit....Maybe it will turn your mind back to the Scandal Snickering days of William Ardery, class of '32; or Walter Girdler, ex-'36....or Larry Herron, class of "33.... or even to your own class member, Cameron Coffman, who dishes the dirt about his classmates in conjunction with the lady snooper, Lorraine Lepere....

We all believe that the class of '35 has been the best class that was ever graduated by the University of Kentucky....In our minds it has been....That's what the class of 1936 will think also....But there have been some outstanding students in this class.... To Joe Rupert, Senior class prexy, goes the credit of being one of the best football men ever turned out at the University....We will carry the memory of that champion basketball team that Coach Rupp turned out in '35....Jack Tucker, Dave Lawrence, and Ed Tierney were members of this class....Ralph Kercheval, former ace athlete, returned to the campus after a season in professional football, to get his degree with the class of '35....Sunny Day, Kernel editor; "Hank" McCown, prexy of several organizations; Oscar Reuter, the "big shot" of the army; Ernie Janes, star athlete; Bob McDowell, the high-stepping drum major; Jack Faunce and Bill Eversole, big men in the engineering college, will all receive their degree in June of 1935. ....Then there are others in the guise of Bill Cundiff, Stanford Neal, Bob Hatton, the "man of the hour" in the law college, and Ned Turnbull, the Kernel business head, who will also get the A. B. or the B. S. this spring....And just a word to the ladies.... We can't forget Sarah Whittinghill, the guiding light of the Independent woman, or Elizabeth Hardin, or Marian Conner Dawson, the beauty queen, or Lucy Jean Anderson, or Marjorie Wiest, or Elizabeth Jones, former band sponsor....all of these outstanding ladies will receive their degrees in June... Then there is Margaret Scottow, Margaret Walker, Ann Krafft, Ruby Dunn, and Mildred Holmes Broadbent, who will be remembered for several years to come by their younger classmates....Ben Taylor, big publicity man and campus personality; W. T. Bishop, big dramatic man; Phil Ardery, Ed Carvill, and Bud Hunt, the leaders of the Phidelt chapter; Bill Bryant, S. A. E. president, will all be lost via the graduation route. ....Jimmy Fahey, whose voice was heard many times over the radio at the University; Jimmy Clarke, outstanding Ag student; and another Jimmy—this time, Jimmy Carroll, who has kept the name of Delta Chi on the campus, will leave this year....Here's another Jimmy....Delt Jimmy "The Rip" Miller has made a name for himself as a member of the class of '35....He's leaving this year....The success of this Kentuckian is due chiefly to the watchful eye of this man. ....Another Delt, Bill Jacobs, has won a place in the hearts of many Kentucky students with his slow southern drawl and his bang-up playing on the football field.... He too, will leave us this year....

There will never be another Delmar Adams....This carrot-topped sports writer has been a source of merriment to many during the past four years....Bill Greathouse and Doug Andrews, outstanding military men; Harry Walker, athlete and personality man; Frank "Honus" Wagner, star football man and student; Arthur Muth, who left in January; George Farris and J. B. Croft. O. D. K. member and head cheer leader, will all be listed among the graduates of this year.. Charlie Bringardner, the most outstanding intramural athlete of the year; Lewis Chipps, head man at the S. P. E. house; Bill Conley, campus leader from the Phisig house, and Joe Goodson, grab a sheepskin along with the others....Hunt Thomas, the guardian angel of the Kappasigs, will be on the lookout for a job in June....Over at the Kappa Kappa Gamma lodge some of their most outstanding girls will be numbered among the missing in the fall of 1936....among these are Kappy Waddell, Mary Chick, Martha Alford, "Lady Bird" Bosworth, Betty Ann Pennington, Rissa Hieronymus; Dot Williams, Nelle Duerson, Conner Dawson, Jo Blackman, "Cook" Goodson, Bettie Boyd, Ann Dedman and Pat Parks.

The Alphagams will be missing Anna Jean Blackburn, Sara Congleton, Mildred Holmes, Mary "Pink Lady" Marshall, Catherine Barnes, Lil Smith, Edna Evans, Logan Van Meter, Sue Layton and several others. ....The Kadees will lose Elizabeth Jones, Betty Dimmock, Mary Carolyn Terrell, Willie Hughes Smith and some more of the outstanding gals, including Elizabeth Leslie.... The Tridelts count among their missing; Margaret Walker, the Preston sisters, Marj Feiber and Eleanor Warren.... The Zetas will miss Kitty Cooke and Louise Kuykendall very much....The Alphadeltathetas, Margaret Scottow.....The Alphaxis Ruby Dunn and Mary Heizer....and the Chi Omegas will shed a tear when Marjorie Wiest leaves the lodge in company with Ann Lightfoot Coleman and Phoebe Turner....

The Deltazetas also lose their share of the bright lights when Elizabeth Hardin and Nancy Costello leave this institution in June.

ALPHA DELTA THETA

"There is a tavern in this town".... Right across from the Tavern is the residence of the Alphadeltathetas....The girls have been searching for another campuslite to replace the mainstay, Edna Brumagen.... Little Mary Edith Bach has been keeping the name of the Tavern gals in the eyes of the public....She managed to grab an activity for this lodge when she was elected to sponsorship in the R. O. T. C. regiment...."Tis rumored that this group had a May queen in the spring of '34....but no source has been found to make the rumor authentic....so we will let the matter rest and see what the politicians will unearth this spring....Margaret Scottow is president of the organization and has spent her four years at the University in trying to get Ferne Osborne to have her picture taken for the Kentuckian.... Yea, the gal is rather cute, but undoubtedly a bit modest....Hallie Downing, daughter of the tennis coach and astronomy teacher, got her dad to teach her all about the stars and now she explains the theory to her courtees on these bright Kentucky nights.... Goldie Bell is one of the gals from down Monticello way, the place where the young giant, Brad Lair, is from....Martha Honerkamp is one of the activities big-shots of this lodge....More might be said about the Alphadeltathetas but we are afraid that we might tread on somebody's toes....One of the little gals threatened us before we had even finished writing....in fact, before we came to this part, so don't blame us for stopping so suddenly like this.

ALPHA GAMMA DELTA

This group of congenial girls go on relying on their chief attraction, their garden, to carry their popularity to the top on the campus....But regardless of the big drawing card they do have a group of good gals over there....Among these you can list Lil Smith, Helen Farmer, Mary Marshall, Sara Congleton, Edna Evans and Mary Eckler.... It is reported that during the spring months when asking for a date at the Alphagam house you must reserve a seat in the garden exactly three weeks ahead of time....George Campbell, of the S. A. E. organization, has been unanimously elected as "House Papa for the Year"....The Alphagams succeeded in marrying off several of their members.... Katy Gover became Mrs. Miles Hardin; Marian Pinney said "I do" to Forrest "Doc" Musselman, Mildred Holmes is now Mrs. Broadbent....The "garden girls" welcomed back into their number that cute little collector of fraternity pins, Jean St. John.... She wasn't in school the first semester, so she is not quite so far ahead on her pins as she was when she left last year....Her runningmate, pretty Betty Sewell, got married during the summer to an aviator from the University of Tennessee....Helen Farmer has been monopolized practically all year by Phisig

John Goad....Mary Marshall has been the cause of much agony on the part of several young eds this year....namely Pikap Johnny Shropshire .... Petite Virginia Ruffner brought her career to a close with a bang.... or should we say three bangs....Faber, Congleton, and LeStourgeon....Edna Evans has been making up for those years she lost while she was pinned and has been leading the boys a merry chase....'tis even reported that she has been collecting pins.

Alpha Xi Delta

With Ruby Dunn, "The singing beauty queen," leading the way, the Alphaxis managed to dash through another season on the University of Kentucky campus.... Mary Heizer carried the activity glory of the chapter along through the year....She managed to eke out the presidency of the Women's Pan-Hellenic council amid a storm of feminine politics....These gals have the distinction of winning the May Day float prize more years than any other group on the campus....Of this accomplishment they brag continuously....They eventually got tired of hobnobbing with the Alphadeltathetas in the nurses' home next to the Good Samaritan hospital and finally got up enough energy to move..this time they choose the neighborhood of the Phidelts....Girls, why didn't you stay up there in the neighborhood of the Tavern?....Those Phidelts are bad boys ....Now the Alphaxis are on the lookout for someone to replace Ruby Dunn, Mary Heizer, Avleene Hobday and several others of the attractive ettes....The prospects of replacing these are very good however, since the Alphaxis crashed through with a bang during rush season and snatched several from the gang....Eleanor Davis is being groomed to take the place of Mary Heizer in the activity world....while Irene Sievers, sister of Lois (who married the big blond football hero who caused so many heart-throbs, Doty Jackson) is a cinch to take her place in the social circles....Marie Beebe, a transfer from Bethel, will be an asset to the lodge.

Delta Delta Delta

As we one time said, "The ideal house for any columnist"....Verily, verily, we say unto you....'Tis true....They always have their share of cotton tops, or more, commonly called "Platinum Blondes".....the attractive Betsy Frye kept the name of the Tridelts in the public eye for four semesters ....Then she left and the Linden Walk gals were forced to import the dynamic little Polly Craddock from their Tennessee chapter....She brought with her the high-powered Cathleen Cole....Margaret Walker, although in love with Billy King for four years, managed to do her bit for the Tridelt stables....This group managed to grab a few of the better rushees from the other sororities ....among these was attractive little Blanche Griffin, who in the spring of 1935, had Ralph Kercheval walking the straight and narrow ....Marjorie Fieber rated a military sponsorship for the fourth consecutive time.... "How does she do it?" they ask....The Tridelts also have in their midst the most typical college girl of the year....she is Virginia Throgmorton ... The Louisville Elizabeth Jones has the boys gaga with her antics.... Martha Bittner and Ben Willis seem to be another couple who are doing right well this spring....In this category we also place Joe Rupert and Ann Kraft; Langdon Hay and Scotty Chambers; Jack "Love in Bloom" McConnell and Margaret Humble....The gals from the 3 D's stable gained when Eleanor Warren, a Mortar Board from Florida, decided to come up and see what it's all about. ....Little Anna Bain Hillenmeyer is still seen around with Phidelt Lewis Finley.... that has been going on ever since they started at this man's university....Anna Bess Clark, the personality girl from Paris, really settled down the second semester after Phidelt Joe Arvin came back....Margaret Craft slummed around all year with the sports writer of this book, Moon Garling....Evelyn Merrell was apparently very much in love with Keith Shephard....A romance that has survived has been that of Kitty Hunter and Junior class prexy Billy Lowry....One of those home-town affairs which carried over.... Marj Fieber was the politician this year and dragged down several honors for the Linden Walk lodge.

Delta Zeta

It has been reported all year that there is a Delta Zeta chapter on the campus.... For nine months the campus snoopers and gad-abouts have been searching for this lodge, but of no avail....There was a clue once

Martha Vass, a West Virginia mountaineer, was an added attraction to their group.... but she did not return after the first semester ....Billy Irvin, the Murrell sisters, and Carolyn Stewart are listed among their more prominent....There is a definite rumor that Elizabeth Hardin will become Mrs. "Red" Sullivan after her graduation in June.

pal interest in the university when ATO Milton Rush went to New York the second semester....Katherine Reid, the blond from Owensboro, kept Sigmanu John Houlihan from getting lonesome....Mary Groves created a stir the first few days of school, but ruined it all by getting pinned....It took Deltachi Jimmy Carroll to pull the trick.... Jimmy Irvine fell for the Cleveland manner of Bettie Bewlay and weakened to the extent that he gave her his pin....Dot Nichols continued her winning ways and was a campus sweetheart, being monopolized at times by a Sigmanu....Mary Lou Stark made a big impression for such a little girl....her chief victim was Pikap Jimmy Anderson.... Marjorie Wiest continued to be pinned to Prof. Niel Plummer....looks as if that might last....Among the freshman celebrities of the campus were Martha Ammerman and Betty Jackson.

Kappa Kappa Gamma

Jack Crain, the yodeling mountaineer, used to describe the Kappa chapter as "Just a bunch of Angels"....But evidently he forgot to add anything about the devils in the group....The Kappa gals manage to pledge a beauty queen every so often....in fact they have had three during the past five years.... They also manage to grab a share of military sponsors without the aid of the campus politicians....They suffered very little opposition with their rushees this year and walked off with a number of nifty youngsters.... Toddie Borries, Jean Pat Belt, Sarah Slack, Jessie Van Meter, Dot McCammish, Midge Wheeler, Ann Law Lyons, and several more were among the much sought....Scovell Bryant left the chapter in mid-winter to become Mrs. Tom Scott....Conner Dawson managed to get through four years of college without falling seriously in love....Rissa Hieronymous cut the Kappa social life short for a week by getting the gals quarantined with a measles scare....Toddie Borries disillusioned several young fellows by taking Tom Livingston's pin....Lucile Thornton declined the attentions of Prof. Bill Ward, Cameron Coffman, and several others and

The Zetas got tired of the neighborhood associationship with the Phisig chapter and moved their domicile from East Maxwell to Aylesford Place to the old Phitau house.... Lucy Jean Anderson kept the name of Zeta Tau Alpha in the activity world with her unlimited activities and cheer-leading maneuvors....Kitty Cooke, who journeyed from Chicago to attend school here, sang her way into popularity with her blues singing in a local orchestra....“OO” McMillan was elected “House Papa” at the Zeta lodge by the political management of his true-love, Carolyn Sparks....The other spark of the Zeta chapter, Jeanette Sparks, discontinued her college career during the first semester to become Mrs. Paul Nichols....Louise Kuykendall always made the college boys sit up and stare when she went marching by....Virginia Riley, one of the mainstays of the Zeta's in campus activities, decided to go in for romance this year and took the pin of Beta Wyatt Norvell, a transfer....Mildred Perry was still pinned to Lewis Chipps, so several of the boys found themselves “behind the 8 ball”.....The Phisigs had a monopoly at the lodge this year, with Bill Conley and Sam Tedesco holding down the fort.... Frances Ward, a nominee for beauty queen, was the object of the affections of several young gentlemen, including Phitau Walter Thomas.

Alpha Gamma Rho

Not much is seen of the farmer boys on the campus....They spend most of their time on the experiment farm learning to raise potatoes and milk chickens....But they are in the spot light once a year....The Alpha Gamma Rho “Farmer's Ball” is an annual event on the social calendar of the University....Ernie Janes, postponed his courting of Lil Holmes long enough to make the football team....and did a good job of it too....This group has its way in the Ag college and runs the politics unmolested.... They used to be the big gun in campus politics back in the days of Bus Yeager....But those days are gone forever....Nevertheless they managed to get Sam Crawford elected to the presidency of the sophomore class.... Louis Ison and Jimmy Clarke bore the brunt of the burden of carrying on in the activities where Smith Broadbent left off. Smith took up a new activity....that of being a dutiful husband and also son-in-law to the dean.... This lodge made a “faux pas” when they didn't nominate Ernie Janes for the most popular man on the campus.

Alpha Lambda Tau

The A. L. T.'s, as they call themselves, have had everyone gussing all year as to their whereabouts. . . . They have been described as having the jitters. . . . Never stay in one place very long. . . . They managed to come into campus prominence by pledging several outstanding athletes in Dave Lawrence, Garland Lewis, "Little Bill" Davis, Bob Pritchard and a freshman quarterback by the name of Wadlington . . . . Lawrence Jenkins has been their mainstay on the campus for the past few years. . . . His successor in the activity field will probably be Dick Brown. . . . a very aspiring young man who is looking out for the name of A. L. T. by joining everything in sight. . . . The last we heard of this lodge, they were seen in the vicinity of Woodland Avenue and Rose Lane. . . if they move again before we can get this out, don't blame us.

Alpha Sigma Phi

The Alphasigs have been worthy rivals of the Triangle chapter. . . . each group sees who can pledge the most engineers. . . . The Alphasigs have been in the public's eye for the past few years with such men as Johnny Kane, George Vogel, George Stewart, and Gordon "Babe" Burns. . . . Now they are tearing their hair to find a successor to Oscar Reuter. . . The Alphasigs are putting their money on Ernie Shovea, another of their Schenectady Yankees, to fill the "Big Shot's" shoes vacated by the long string of campus bright lights . . . . Malcolm Shotwell, Bob McDowell and Morton Holbrook managed to keep things going all year. . . . Shotwell is in charge of the stage crew at the little theatre and is doing right well at the job. . . . Holbrook had just about cut everybody out and was getting the ranking of "head man" with Marjorie Powell when he finished school in February. . . . McDowell had been hooked by the literary genius Lepere to the extent that he had parted with his pin. . . . then Lepere decided she liked the climate around Detroit better, and now Bob is a bachelor again. . . . Dick Sproles was the head man with Edna Evans this year. . . . Colonel Oscar Reuter was seen several times with Mary Genevieve Townsend when she returned from Vassar. . . . He completed an outstanding career at the University by being selected as captain of Pershing Rifles and colonel of the regiment. . . . it is seldom that the same man holds these two offices.

Alpha Tau Omega

The A. T. O.'s have given Hugh Adcock board and room for the past nine years just to keep him around the chapter house. . . . 'Tis said that he plants to organize an A. T. O. orchestra just as soon as some of the boys learn to play....He interested Champ Ligon in cornet playing....And told "Red" Harvey that he could play the trap drums ....'Tis said that there are several good boys in the bunch....Sunny Day and Jimmy Fahey have made their mark on the campus will leave a big vacancy in June of '35.... Red Harvey played the role of the dissapointed love when Kappa Nancy Belle Moss middle-aisled it with Pikap Donald Glass last summer....Curtis Willmott is one of the courting men of the chapter, being the pinner of Kadee Temp Faulkner.... Our nomination for the most timid and reserved young man on the campus is Paul Ledridge....he never has a word to say.... The military department was able to continue this year....Ed Wehle took advanced and proved to be Scabbard and Blade material....Tommy Atkins was maneuvering for one of the big jobs on the Kernel next year....Will Headley Heath kept the chapter on an even keel in spite of a shake-up the first part of the year....Milton Magruder pulled down a commission of Lieutenant-Colonel in the regiment....Ye editor Sunny Day took off long enough time running his newspaper to court Betty Bosworth....The burden of carrying on next year will rest on Champ Ligon, Paul Slaton, and Tommy Atkins.

Delta Chi

Ask Jimmy Carroll all about the Delta Chi's....after three weeks of looking the author was unable to find anyone who knew any of the boys....Jimmy helped this lodge weather through a storm and it looks as if everything is clearing up....Harry Porter Dies is one of the big men in the law school. ....John Potter is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, the organization which puts out the Kat every so often....they forgot to wind the alarm clock last time....Hugh Dearing is the other boy in the chapter about whom we heard after our inquiries....he is a credit to the chapter.

Delta Tau Delta

The "Country Gentlemen" managed to get into town once a week....That is Saturday night to attend a dance or open house.... Regardless of their rural seclusion there is some reports around the campus that they have a bunch of outstanding boys in the lodge....Ralph Kercheval, George Skinner, Bill Jacobs, Jim Darnaby, and Jimmy Miller helped them along on the athletic end.... They seem to have a monoply on the publications....with Ned Turnbull, Cameron Coffman and Jimmy Miller holding three of the four principal positions on student publications....There is some report that they will not have a Phi Beta Kappa this year. . . . Dean Blanding must have been right when she said they were going social in their old age. . . . Cameron Coffman, the scandal snooping Kentuckian editor, seems to have done right well with the boys in keeping their scandalous antics out of print. . . . They were well represented in the military department, having Greathouse, Difford brothers, Miller, Staples and Crain. . . . Among the lads who confined their courting were Turnbull, McConnell, Darnaby, Greathouse, and Moore. Jack Crain and Coffman courted the campus in general and made the boys go to the open houses. . . . Steve Featherston did something in one day that Coffman had been trying to do in five years. . . . he took Coffman's pin and pinned a little high school girl the night after he was initiated. . . . Ike Moore is the prospective campus leader of the Delts. . . . if these boys get on the right side of the fence in their politics, they would rule the roost.

Kappa Alpha

"The Southern Gentlemen" live in private seclusion in their colonial mansion on Linden Walk. . . . Do their rushing in Packard cars and tell their prospective pledges all about General Lee and his Kappa Alpha heritage. . . . The boys are content within themselves and explode their social energies once every few years by having Jan Garber play for their formal dance. . . . 'Tis generally known that they threatened one of their members, Walter Girdler, with expulsion because he planned to go in for campus activities. . . . The boys tried to throw a very exclusive dance this year and sent only three or four bids to the fraternities on the campus, many of whom had already invited the KA's to their dances. . . . the tables were turned, however, when it was discovered that 300 guest cards like those to be presented at the door had been distributed over town. . . . too bad boys. . . . The lodge will lose some good men this year in H. V. Bastin, Claude Barnett, Frank Rue, Hal Headley, Coleman Calloway, Billy King, "Pan-Hellenic" Goodwin, Joe Goodson, and Frank Robinson.

Kappa Sigma

The Kappasigs liked the current song hit of 1935, "The Lullaby of Broadway" and decided to do it further justice by moving to South Broadway. . . . Therefore we see very little of them only when Tom Livingston comes to the Kappa house to see Toddie Borries or when Harry Walker attends classes. . . . 'Tis said that they spend much time arguing with the Delts as to whose house is farther from the campus. . . . These lads concentrate on Intramural managers, and do a very nice job of it. . . . Sam Warren, of course, is the necleus of the organization and will be depended upon more than ever when Hunt Thomas, Tom Livingston, and Harry Walker leave school....Dave Salyers is jockeying for a place on the Kernel while Charles Stanley is seeking laurels for the lodge in other fields.

Lambda Chi Alpha

Their biggest rushing asset is said to be the promise to make each pledge a cheer-leader....Their biggest bets for campus fame are J. B. Croft and George Farris.... Croft tried for five years to get the Kentucky students to yell at a football game and Farris stepped into prominence by winning the affections of Chio Pat O'Rear....The true status of this match is not known, however, since Rocky Stephens is seen about as much with the young lady in question as is Farris. ....Croft divided his time between his work in the activity field and the Chio house.... he was making a bid for the affections of Marie Vernon...Pete Reiniger is being lined up to replace Croft....he has already been made head cheer-leader....'tis rumored that this lodge was converted into a miniature Monte Carlo during the winter months.

Phi Delta Theta

The Kappas threatened all year to make the Phidelts pay half of their rent for their unlimited privilege of loafing....It is reported that Phil Ardery, Bud Hunt and Ed Carvill, the trio of Phidelt big shots, tried all year to get the boys to exchange their social ambitions for scholastic attainments, but failed miserably....It is also reported that the Phidelts have not lost a Paris rushee for twenty years....John L. Davis continued his scholastic attainments, even after he went into the law school and crashed through with another big standing....These lads are without a doubt the courtin'est men on the campus....Charles Zimmer handled their politics for then this year and did right well for the boys....Lewis Finley is still seen only with Anna Bain Hillenmeyer....Lon McLoney, a transfer from V. M. I., directed all of his attention in the direction of Mary Lally, the Frankfort flash.....Hal Turner broke down and pinned Kappa Georgia Turnipseed, the gal who got more publicity this year than anyone on the campus.... that is in the scandal column.

Phi Kappa Tau

"The Journalistic Club," as they are commonly called, threaten to give the Delts some competition in the publication field.... Since their installation on the campus they have encouraged their freshmen to work on the Kernel and strange to say several of them have turned out to be good newspaper men ....Frank Borries, Ed Shannon, Jay Lucian, Art Muth and Andy Anderson carried the colors through the year in a most successful manner.

Phi Sigma Kappa

John Goad, their leader for the past several years, attempted to bring the Phisigs into prominence by starting a new political clique in opposition to the strong one already present....Bill Conley added much to this group with his prominence on the campus ....They have been trying for two years to find someone to fill the shoes of their Phi Beta Kappa athlete, Harry Emmerick. This lodge pledged a large number of new men this year in an effort to replace some of the outstanding men on the campus who have graduated....Cullen, Atchinson and Tedesco seem to be the potential candidates for campus honors....Dudley Murphy is being lined up for the activity field....a change in politics would probably prove beneficial to this lodge.

Pi Kappa Alpha

A group of political-minded boys who have been living on the laurels that John Ewing, Bus Yeager and Malcolm Foster laid down for them....They managed to continue their political affiliations and were able to squeeze Bill Lowry into the presidency of the junior class....Bazil Baker looks like a logical choice to replace their lost campus leaders....These lads decided that they were tired of living in their young hotel at Rose and Maxwell streets, so they migrated over into the quiet of Transylvania Park....the neighbors called the police the first few nights, but soon grew accustomed to the noise....Frank Daily couldn't stand the gaff ....he had to step aside for Warfield Donohue over at the Kappa house...."Sport" Ewing has searched in vain for someone to date ever since the Florida blond left the campus....Harry Mason has not been constant in his love-life....while John Shropshire is forced to find a new prospect every week.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon

Joe Rupert proudly remarks, "That's my fraternity".... Since Shipwreck Kelly came into the fold of "deah ole' Phi Alpha" the boys have been taking many of the promising athletes away from the other lodges.... It has been rumored around that about eight men on the varsity football squad were members of S. A. E.....The Sigalph boys have been priming C. T. Hertzsch, an outstanding freshman, to take the place on the campus of Henry "Hank" McCown and Ben Taylor.

and fraternity friends....Needless to say, it was a Sigma Chi show....Elvis Stahr and Red Sympson are the boy's choice for the prominence of Sigmaky on the campus..... Most anytime you can find a group of the brothers loafing at the Tridelt house....This lodge has come up in the last several years, due mainly to the efforts of Stahr, the man with the 3.0 standing...they are at present in the midst of the battle for the intramural trophy mentioned above....these lads are very sociable and even went so far as to have open house for the sororities....They will not lose many men by graduation this year, so the other frats had better look to their laurels next year.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

Turn to Baird's Manual, page 234, for a detailed write-up of this lodge....Dick Boyd has been their guiding light on the campus throughout the year....Sam Potter has carried their heart-shaped badge on the football field and Cordlandt Bliss has been their mainstay on the basketball court ....Louis Chipps left the fold in January and created a deep gap in the organization. ....This lodge just went national two years ago and in that time they have made much progress....The aforementioned Dick Boyd has been very active on the campus, being a member of Scabbard and Blade, Lances, Inter-fraternity Council and all the other well-known fields....he was also one of the fraternity editors of this book....These lads have a lot of spirit, as is shown in their intramural activities....more power to them.

It is also reported that they held a dinner-dance sometime late in the spring of '34.... These lads decided to splurge this year and throw a real week-end....and how....to the tune of twenty-six iron men....yow suh, they ought to have a good time....the band, Carlos Molina, was one of the best heard here this year....Jimmy Moore seems headed for many honors in his senior year.
