PREFACE

The Inventory of Federal Archives in the States is one of the products of the work of the Survey of Federal Archives, which operated as a nation-wide project of the Works Progress Administration from January 1, 1936 to June 30, 1937, and has been continued since that date as a unit of the Historical Records Survey, also operating as a nation-wide project of the Works Progress Administration, and a group of state or local projects of that Administration.

The plan for the organization of the Inventory is as follows: Series I consists of reports on the administration of the Survey, acknowledgments, and general discussions of the location, condition, and content of Federal archives in the states. Succeeding series contain the detailed information secured by workers of the Survey, in inventory form, a separate series number being assigned to each of the executive departments (except the Department of State) and other major units of the Federal Government. Within each series No. 1 is a general introduction to the field organization and records of the governmental agency concerned; the succeeding numbers contain the inventory proper, separate numbers being assigned to each state in alphabetical order. Thus, in each series, the inventory for Alabama is No. 2, that for Arizona No. 3, that for Arkansas No. 4, etc.

For each local office information regarding each series, or unit of related records, is presented in the following order: title, inclusive dates ("to date" indicating an open file at the time the information was secured), general description of informational content, description of the system of filing or indexing (if any), a statement of frequency and purpose of use, form of the record itself (bound volumes, sheets in folders, etc.), linear footage, description of the containers, physical condition of the records (not stated if satisfactory), location by room number or other identifying information, and finally, the number of the Form 58SA on which this information was originally recorded by a Survey worker and from which it was abstracted for the Inventory. This form is on file in The National Archives. When it contains substantial information on addenda sheets which has not been included in the mimeographed abstract, indication of this is given by use of the reference "See addenda."

In Indiana the work of the Survey was under the direction of Professor William O. Lynch, with Mr. Harley Nichols as his assistant from its inception until July 15, 1936 at which time Mr. Nichols succeeded him as director. From July 1937 to December 1938 Mr. A. W. Fishback was in charge of the project and since February 11, 1939 Mr. Samuel J. Kagan, State Director of the Historical Records Survey has been supervising the work of the project. This Inventory of the records of the Civil Works Administration in Indiana was prepared in the Indianapolis office of the Survey and was edited before final typing by Miss Elizabeth Edwards of the Washington office. It is reproduced in mimeographed form through the facilities of the Historical Records Survey.

THE FEDERAL CIVIL WORKS ADMINISTRATION

INTRODUCTION

The Federal Civil Works Administration was created by Executive Order on November 9, 1933. On November 15, at the invitation of the administrator, Mr. Harry Hopkins, who was also the head of the Federal Emergency Relief Administration, the governors of a number of states met in conference in Washington to devise plans for putting the program into effect.

On Friday, November 17, Governor Paul V. McNutt of Indiana called a meeting in Indianapolis of more than a thousand local, city, county, and township officials, and related to them the high points of the Washington meeting. He gave instructions to the above officials to make applications for projects and to have them in the State office the next day, and to start work on the projects the following Monday, November 20, 1933.

When the Civil Works program began in Indiana, the Governor's Commission on Unemployment Relief became the administrator of it. This Commission, created by an Act of the Indiana General Assembly, approved March 8, 1933, consisted of an executive committee of seven members, appointed by the Governor, a district chairman in each of the twelve congressional districts of the State, and a county chairman in each of the ninety-two counties. The Commission's executive personnel at that time included a state director, two assistant directors, one in charge of general business administration and one in charge of investigation and case work, an auditor and statistician, a public relations director, a director of transient service, and the director of the Indiana State Employment Service, with the necessary clerical and stenographic help.

Various projects were set up in the different communities to remodel, redecorate, and repair courthouses, schools, city halls, city buildings, etc. Wherever it was possible the community in which the work was carried on furnished the materials, while the Civil Works Administration supplied the labor.

A total of 681 projects employing 4,515 women were set up. Some of these projects were as follows: Sewing, nursing, recreation, studies, surveys, research, office work, janitorial, cleaning, and unclassified.

Various other projects were sponsored by different agencies of the Federal Government. Some of these were: Census of American Business, Census of Record Preservation, Real Property Inventory, Farm Housing and Part Time Farming, Experimental Station in Morgan-Monroe State Forest, and several projects by the War Department located at Fort Harrison near Indianapolis, Jeffersonville, and the National Cemetery at New Albany.

Upon the termination of the civil works program in Indiana in April 1934, practically all the records of the 92 counties of the State were sent to State headquarters. These are now in the custody of the Indiana Works Progress Administration at the Old Deaconess Hospital Building, 308 West Ohio Street, Indianapolis, Indiana. A few others were found in the custody of the Park Board at Evansville, and in Green's Jewelry Store at Rising Sun.
