Today In The Stadium

tonight begins the real season for the University of Kentucky. After spending the first three weeks of the 1991 season outside of confines known as the Southeastern Conference, the Wildcats begin league play hosting the Ole Miss Rebels.

The Kentucky-Ole Miss series perhaps means a little more to a certain generation. You see, Kentucky and Ole Miss met each football season for 28 consecutive years (1944-71) before the SEC realigned its scheduling format. And since 1971, the Wildcats and Rebels have engaged in just five meetings.

During those 28 consecutive years, Ole Miss spent much of its time going to bowls and appearing in the weekly national polls under the guidance of legendary coach John Vaught. As a result, Kentucky faithful have long cherished several "memorable" victories in this feud. Victories such as the 1964 win over the No. 1-ranked Rebels and later, a one-point decision in 1969 over 8th-ranked Ole Miss.

Looking through the record books, Kentucky trails the overall series by a 21-11-1 margin. But a closer glance shows the Wildcats with a 6-5 advantage in night games at Lexington, including wins in the last four visits by Ole Miss under the lights in the Bluegrass. Those four straight wins by Kentucky came in 1967 (16-7), 1969 (10-9), 1979 (14-3) and 1987 (35-7).

In each of those night wins, big plays and/or performances have led the Wildcats. In 1967, UK wingback-punter Larry Seiple stole the show, and the game, away from the Rebels. With 30 seconds remaining and the Wildcats clinging to a 9-7 lead, Seiple was prepared to punt as Kentucky faced a fourth-and-41 situation at its own 30. When Ole Miss dropped back for the return, Seiple sped 70 yards basically untouched on an impromptu fake punt to secure the win.

Archie Manning brought the 8th-ranked Rebels to Lexington at night in 1969. In that contest, Bernie Scruggs ran for a six-yard touchdown and Bob Jones added a 36-yard field goal to give the Wildcats the offense. But it was defense which won the game as Kentucky forced an Ole Miss fumble inside the UK 10 late in the fourth quarter to pull off the upset.

In 1979, UK tailbacks Chris Jones and Shawn Donigan rushed for 122 and 120 yards, respectively, lifting Kentucky. And in Ole Miss' last visit to Commonwealth, in 1987, tailback Mark Higgs put on a dazzling running display with 192 yards and two touchdowns.

The most prominent noise made by Kentucky in this series came in 1964 at Jackson. Ole Miss entered ranked No. 1 nationally by Associated Press. By day's end, Kentucky QB Rick Norton had thrown for 236 yards and two TDs and SE Rick Kestner had caught nine passes for a school-record 185 yards to give the Wildcats a stunning, 27-21, victory.

Afterward, long-time Ole Miss coach John Vaught entered the UK locker room and had these words to say: "I've never seen a bunch of boys deserve to win as much as you. You should have beaten us by 40."

Tonight's contest is a little bit special for four individuals on the UK staff. Kentucky tight end coach John Cropp, recruiting coordinator Tommy Limbaugh, assistant recruiting coordinator Sam McCorkle, and your's truly, worked on the Ole Miss staff in the past. Cropp was offensive coordinator at Ole Miss under Coach Steve Sloan from 1978-82, the same period Limbaugh was the Rebels' recruiting coordinator. McCorkle was a part-time assistant coach in 1980 and '82 at Ole Miss. And your's truly is a 1985 graduate of Ole Miss and worked in the Rebel Sports Information Office under Langston Rogers for six years.

As usual, the UK Marching Band will perform in both the pregame and halftime segments of tonight's contest. The UK Band is under the direction of Tom Brawner (Director of Bands) and Brad Ethington (Assistant Director).

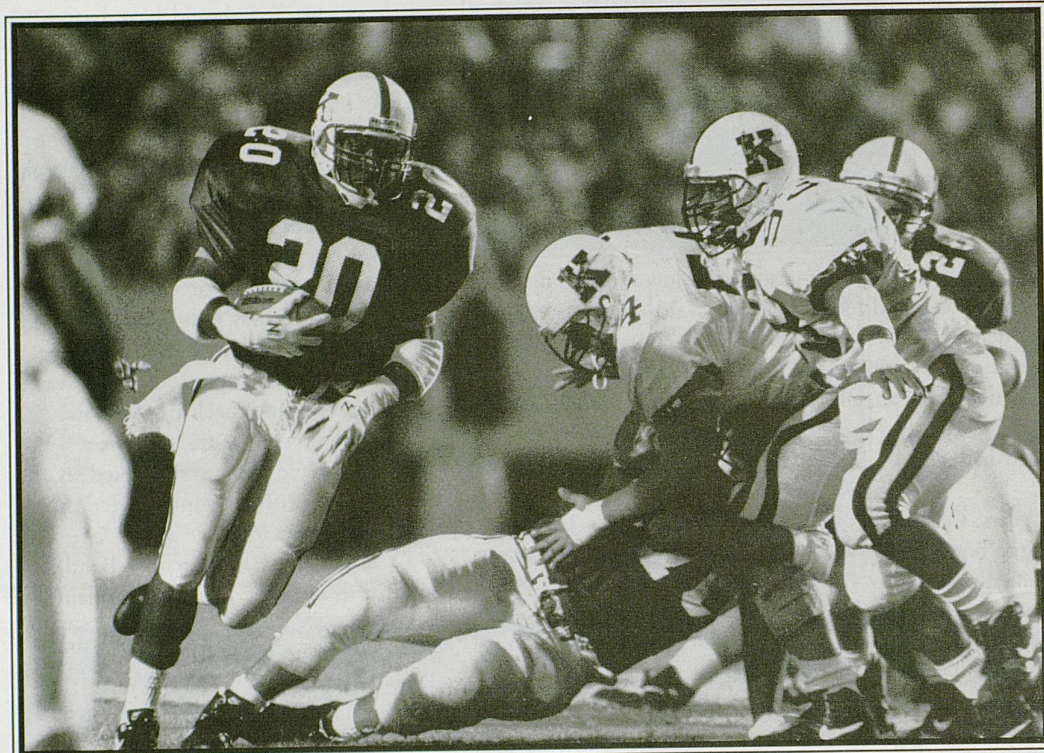

The traditional "Kentucky Fite," the spelling of CATS, and "On, On, U of K," are fixtures in the pregame set. At halftime, the UK Marching Band will perform a medley of famous horse tunes in a salute to the EquiFestival being held in Lexington. The halftime show will conclude with the Huey Lewis tune, "A Couple Days Off" and Bill Conti's "Power," written for the 1988 Olympic weightlifting competition.

In other UK news, check your local listings as to the game time for the UK-LSU contest on Oct. 19 at Commonwealth Stadium. The contest, originally scheduled for 8 p.m., will be telecast live as part of the College Football Association package, by either ABC, ESPN or TBS Sports. TBS has shown the most interest in the contest, therefore, kickoff will likely be set for 12:40 p.m. or 3:30 p.m. Eastern Time. In choosing televised games under the CFA package, ABC, then ESPN, and finally TBS, have choices in that order. The final gametime will be announced either 12 days prior (Oct. 6) or 6 days prior (Oct. 13), depending on which option ABC chooses.

Press Box Preview

The battle-tested Ole Miss Rebels are the perfect SEC barometer for UK

BY JON VADEN
Host Creative Communications

Funny how football scheduling works. Here it is October already and Kentucky has played three football games. A few years ago, that would have been par for the course. But as games are scheduled earlier and earlier each year, it's more common to see a slate like that of the Ole Miss Rebels. They're 4-1 already, and today's game marks the mid-point of their regular season.

The Rebels began their season on the last day of August, and they have yet to have a Saturday off. Not to worry, though. After they face the Cats today and the (Georgia) Dogs next week, Billy Brewer's squad will get a week of rest. They'll play two more games after that (Vandy and LSU) and then have another respite.

Of Ole Miss' first five games, four were against non-conference foes and the only Southeastern Conference tilt was a 23-13 loss to Auburn.

As such, Kentucky leads the Rebels in the SEC race without having played a conference game. In fact, the Wildcats are the only team in the league yet to play an SEC foe.

Well it's about time. After three puzzling interconference tests, the Wildcats will begin to learn where they really stand today.

Carlos Collins

ball nine times for 66 yards last week.

Sure, they dispatched Miami (Ohio) and Kent, but no one quite knows what to make of those victories. Good to have the W's, no doubt, but what did they really prove?

And then there was the heart-breaking loss at Indiana. UK fought to the end in a tight one, but those Hoosiers are another mystery team. They are believed to be a valid contender in the Big 10, but like the Cats, they have yet to play a conference game, tying Missouri last week and getting gronked by Notre Dame in the season-opener.

All this schedule talk really proves is that the old coaches' adage is true: you've got to win it on the field.

Ole Miss has most certainly been doing that. Aside from the Auburn blemish, the Rebels' wins have been good ones. And much like last year, when their only regular-season setbacks were to Auburn and Tennessee, the Rebels again appear to be for real — even though some SEC fans still seem reluctant to take Billy Brewer's superb squad seriously.

However, Mississippi has gained enough acclaim that a UK win today would help establish the Wildcats' claims of progress in the SEC.

After last Saturday's 24-6 win over Kent, Kentucky's defense looks to be in fine shape entering the SEC season. While the Golden Flashes successfully moved the ball between the 20s on several long drives, the Wildcat defense clamped down when it counted most to keep Kent out of the end zone all but once.

"I'm not pleased with the way they were able to move the ball against us," said coach Bill Curry after the game. "But you have to give them credit for playing under some pressure situations, because we were not just standing around on defense.

"Another good point was that every time they got close, we were able to shut the door. And that is characteristic of a team that is developing into an outstanding team. Generally, as the playing field shortens, the best teams play better on defense."

Allowing only 13 points per game, UK's defense is showing it's on its way to becoming Kentucky (2-1) is the last Southeastern Conference team to commence league play. It's crucial opener comes against a hot Ole Miss club.

Ole Miss (4-1) is off to its best start since last year, when it went 8-1 before falling to Tennessee and seeing its SEC title hopes dashed.

Last Saturday, linebacker Marty Moore turned in a tremendous performance, along with nose guard Joey Couch, who's obviously a proven force. They'll need continued support from the rest of the Cats, but in all, things are looking good on defense.

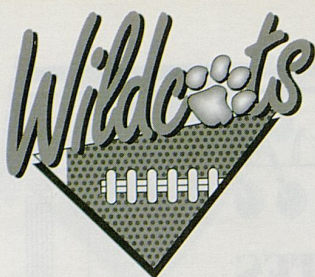

The offense, meanwhile, is still feeling for its true identity. The rushing attack looked less anemic last week than it has so far in 1991. There's no question UK has a roster full of able runners, but most of them still need a heap of experience in order to become dependable in a bind. Freshman tailback Carlos Collins made the most of his chances against Kent, when he gained 66 yards on just nine carries. And he was just one of 11 Wildcats who carried the ball in that game. UK's 213 net rushing yards went a long way to enhancing the team's average.

And receivers? Fourteen Cats have caught at least one pass in '91. Somewhere in that mix, there's sure to be a super-talent that will emerge as time passes.

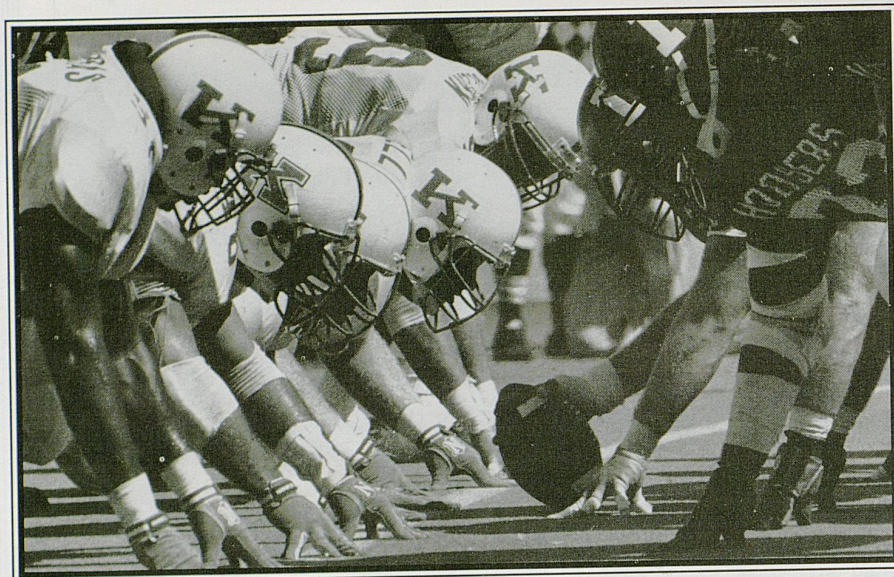

Against Kent, Curry tried quite a few younger players at every position. It was a chance for him to get a good long look at Kentucky's future.

And in the SEC race, that future is now.

Keeper Of The Watch

Joey Couch is the senior member of Kentucky's elite Black Watch defense

BY ED KROMER

Host Creative Communications

Across the helmet's white sheen, twin black stripes escort the single Kentucky Blue strip like a pair of bodyguards. That same black trim encloses each blue "K," a fortress protecting a kingdom; like the Black Watch force that defends Scotland's Edinburgh Castle. The face mask, black as night, shields the countenance. Deep within, the eyes stalk the prey.

These marks are those of a special breed, and they are as far from pristine as the men who wear them. The black tape is often tarnished or torn — a thin stripe broken by the smash of a helmet. Rarely does the black face mask come from a game without a parcel of dirt in its webbing, the result of a scramble for an errant ball or a struggle to ensure a ball carrier's muddy demise.

The symbols of Bill Curry's Black Watch represent not perfection, but rather the unbending quest for perfection, manifested on the gridiron. The marks, like the elite defensive unit itself, are not for show. Membership in the squad is not some honorary degree or trivial pat on the back. The Black Watch stands for action. It demands performance.

After nose guard Joey Couch dropped 10 rushers, flattened a fleeing quarterback twice and blocked a punt in last year's Central Michigan win, Curry elevated him to join linebacker Randy Holleran on Kentucky's Black Watch defense. It wasn't so much a reward as it was a challenge to play even better, and Couch knows it.

"It's a great honor and everything," says the senior nose guard. "But it doesn't make you any better. It just makes you have to be that much better because everyone is looking at you. There's been a lot of talk about it, a lot of hype, and you've got to perform. It kind of puts pressure on you, but it's a good pressure."

The kind that can take you to a higher plane of performance, or dash you to the ranks of the overrated and underachieving. Couch welcomes it. He approaches it the same way he approaches his permanent co-captain position, the same way he has handled pre-season All-SEC and even All-American mentions, the same way he handles every snap of the ball: at full speed.

"I don't hold anything back," says Couch, the senior member of UK's three-man Black Watch. "I don't let little things get in my way."

You know, little things. Like brick-wall offensive linemen and steamrolling running backs. Couch, a three-year starter, has stopped far more rushes than a nose guard is supposed to. Speed is his weapon. Quickness. At 6-1, 250 pounds, Couch can hardly go belly-to-belly with the SEC's mightiest mountain chains and expect to shove through. So he uses stealth and swiftness. He finds a crease and slices through. He hones in on the ball and levels its bearer.

Couch loves to play nose guard, a position commonly considered one of the game's most boring. Every play, it seems, the nose dives into the crush, hoping to take the ball carrier down with him but expecting to simply eat space, and a fair amount of turf.

Not Couch, and not in Kentucky's multiple defensive scheme. He goes for much more in the varying sets.

"You're in a lot of action (at nose guard)," Couch explains. "I mean it's always action-packed. There's always something going on, you have two or three people coming at you. So it's never a dull moment, I'll tell you that."

That's just as well. Couch has never been one for dull moments. His neighborhood back in Paintsville made sure of that. "I lived in a pretty rough neighborhood," he recalls. "It was very competitive. We used to have intersquad (football) games with other neighborhoods. We had a good time, just backyard ball. We were kind of noted as the roughest neighborhood in town."

Couch may have played sand-lot football for fun, but he played hoops for keeps. He grew up in the cradle of mountain basketball and was turning heads even before high school. Marshall University wrote Couch while he was in eighth grade. "They just sent me an encouragement letter and that really excited me," he says. "I came from a traditionally-rich basketball background so I'm sure that didn't hurt me."

His basketball bloodline may have had something to do with it as well. Couch's father played basketball at UK, and his brother played hoops at West Point.

The youngest Couch didn't disappoint. He joined John Pelphrey — another notable Wildcat senior — in leading Paintsville High to the semifinals of the 1987 Sweet Sixteen. All-District and All-Region honors followed, as well as a spot in the Kentucky-Indiana all-star series.

"I probably had more recognition in basketball than I had in football at the time," he says. "I was getting a lot of letters from a lot of big-time places."

Even a little old dot on the basketball map called Kentucky.

So why did Couch choose to forgo Kentucky's famed roundball pastime? What brought him to Kentucky's football fields?

"I guess my body really made up my mind," he says, "because I just kept getting bigger and bigger."

That wasn't the only thing. Couch became the embodiment of his rough-and-tumble neighborhood, decked out in helmet and shoulder pads, mauling all comers. He was a basketball star who preferred the contact of football.

"I started liking football more and more and more," he admits. "I like the aggressiveness, the intensity. You're allowed to do a lot more on the football field. I mean you can really let out a lot of things that you can't on the basketball court. It's really my game now."

Of course, he had attained a certain expertise at football — anyone who lives for the contact like that usually does. After he played in the Kentucky-Indiana basketball series, Couch starred in the Kentucky-Tennessee football tilt, earning distinction as Most Valuable Defensive Player. He had been football team captain his senior year, and an honorable-mention All-State pick at linebacker.

He enrolled at Kentucky and promptly underwent surgery on his right shoulder, sidelining him for the fall. The following year went more smoothly; Couch played in all 11 games as defensive guard. His sophomore year, he earned the start at right defensive guard, finishing the season with 76 tackles and one sack.

Last year he moved to nose guard, where he racked up 84 tackles, including six sacks. He also blocked two kicks and recovered a fumble. It was a season worthy of a Black Watchman, and Couch was a player worthy of captainship.

"Joey leads by example in his effort," says defensive line coach Bill Glaser. "He keeps on giving you that effort every play whether its in practice or in games. That's contagious. He has a fire about him that carries over to other people."

"We're starting to realize that Coach Curry has instilled in us — pounded in our heads — that this can be a championship season," Couch says. "I feel like a lot of people are buying into what he is saying. We're believing in ourselves and believing in each other."

"All we have to do is get better every week, and if we do that I feel like we will be really successful. We'll be a team to reckon with."

The Black Watch warrior knows. For his opponents, every Saturday is a day of reckoning.

The symbols on Couch's helmet show the wear and tear of the Black Watch.

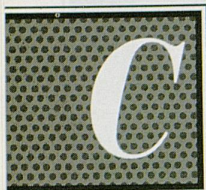

The Married Men

Larry Jackson and Gary Willis are married to the team, and to their wives

BY DAVID KAPLAN

Host Creative Communications

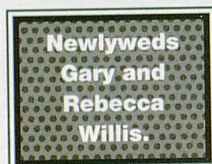

College students spend so much time with the books, they feel married to them. People may spend so many hours at work; they are said to be married to the job.

And a near-marital commitment is the only thing that can provide the type of dedication and sacrifice it takes to be a successful student-athlete.

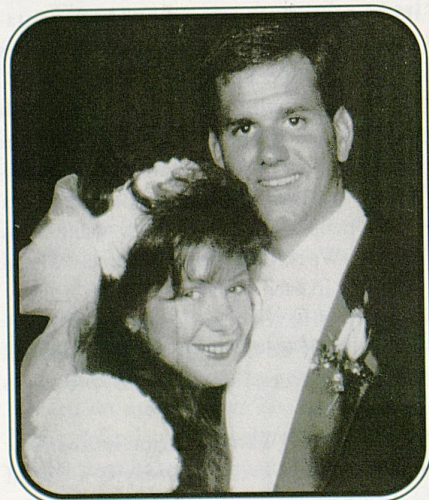

Two UK football players take this idea to another level. You see, Larry Jackson and Gary Willis, two of UK's important cogs in the defense, are dedicated to being student-athletes, and are also married. Married to their wives, that is.

Larry Jackson has been Kentucky's starting rover for much of the past two seasons. He is an integral part of the defense and special teams. Against Indiana this season, Jackson was given the Special Team Wildcat Pride player of the week award.

Splitting responsibilities on the football field and in the home are nothing new to Jackson, who has been married for three years. But it wasn't always easy.

"At first we really didn't have a lot of time to spend together and it was difficult," says Jackson, a senior from Mayfield.

His wife, Quena, missed her husband at first and didn't understand why he wasn't around more. But in time she began to realize Larry would be with football most of the time during the season.

The addition of their one-year-old son, Ja'Tawn, has added to the importance of the time spent together.

"The time we spend together has got to be real valuable," Jackson says. "When we're apart, I miss seeing my little boy."

So Kentucky's main rover has been able to juggle starting football assignments, a wife, a son and homework. Fantastic. But wait, don't price that yet. Jackson does more than just juggle his homework; he blows it away. Jackson is the pride of UK's school of Social Work. He managed a 4.0 grade point average during the '91 spring semester and was named the school's Outstanding Student.

But while Jackson is an old pro at handling all of these things, Willis is a newlywed, experiencing his first season as a married student-athlete.

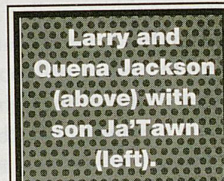

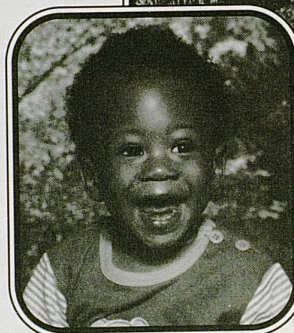

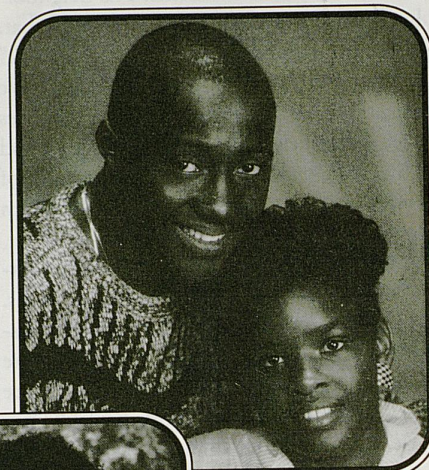

"I knew it would be tough," says Willis, a senior cornerback from Gainesville, Fla.

He didn't know how tough.

"It's tough coming in here to football and leaving all of my personal stuff behind," he says. "If I'm having any personal problems, leaving them behind when I step out on the field is the toughest thing to do."

After practice is difficult as well. Instead of going back to the dormitory after a long day of classes and workouts, Willis has to go to an apartment that requires a fair amount of upkeep. And he is no longer that bachelor who once sailed his own course, picking up when he felt like it. He has more than himself to consider.

"It hit me in the face," he explains. "You have to go back and clean up after dinner, take the garbage out and do other chores around the house."

Willis and his wife, Rebecca, a junior at UK, have been married four months. Rebecca had some trouble adjusting before school started. Gary would come back from practice and want to rest while she would want to go out. But now with school, she is busy with her studies and work.

For his part, Willis keeps pretty busy himself with studies and football. Like Jackson, UK's starting cornerback also made the Academic All-Southeastern Conference Honor Roll last season.

Both of Kentucky's married men have someone to look up to for guidance, someone who can relate to their lives. UK head coach Bill Curry was married while he was a student-athlete at Georgia Tech and is in complete support of his players decision.

"I think it's great, assuming they have found the right person, and I think they have," Curry says.

He has tried to surround his football program in a family atmosphere, and the presence of a few family men doesn't hurt.

"Family is very important," Curry emphasizes. "I'm delighted to see the commitment they have made to their spouses."

Scouting The Rebels

BY CRAIG BARONCELLI
Host Creative Communications

Ole Miss must be thinking there are a lot of non-believers out there. There's been a lot of chatter about last season's 9-3 season being a fluke, chatter that because it took Ole Miss almost 20 years to record back-to-back winning seasons the notion of a trifecta is far-fetched. There's chatter that Coach Billy Brewer is rebuilding, big time. There is banter that Ole Miss will finish no better than seventh in the Southeastern Conference race.

Ole Miss is out to prove the chatter is hogwash. And so far the Rebels are proving the skeptics wrong.

The offense and defense are clicking like a winning combination. Ole Miss defeated Memphis State 10-0 after the Tigers had stunned nationally-ranked and overconfident Southern Cal and rolled over Tulane and Ohio. The only blemish to the Rebels' yell for respectability is a tough 23-13 loss at Auburn.

But regardless, Ole Miss is playing fast and furious, particularly in the first quarter, when it has outscored its first four opponents, 30-0.

OFFENSE

A quick glimpse at the Ole Miss stat sheet tells you the offense is steady, yet unspectacular.

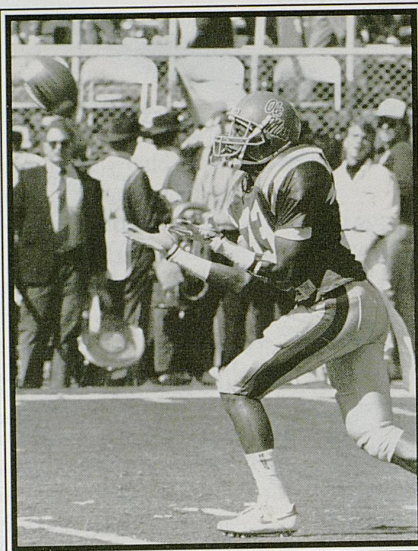

Ole Miss is comfortable at quarterback, currently held down by junior Russ Show. The 6-4 Show has connected on 44-of-89 attempts (49 percent) and is averaging

Chancellor

Senior Tyrone Ashley is one of the Rebels' big-play threats.

125.8 yards a game through the first four contests. Fellow junior Tom Luke is a dependable sidekick, having connected on 60 percent (6-of-10) of his attempts.

The running game is undergoing major renovations after the loss of two starters from last year. Sophomore Marvin Courtney leads Ole Miss in both rushing yards and touchdowns. Senior Tyrone Ashley, one of Ole Miss' top athletes, was switched from free safety to halfback and is averaging nearly six yards a carry.

Ole Miss' receiving corps has several big-play men. Ashley solidifies the aerial attack as the top man in receptions and yardage. Other stalwart performers include Courtney, sophomore Eddie Small and senior Vincent Brownlee.

Tyji Armstrong is Ole Miss' first two-year starter at tight end since 1985-86 and has big-play ability.

The Ole Miss offensive line once was the conference laughingstock, but as of late it is turning into the strong-arm of the offense. Center Cliff Dew, guard Everett Lindsay (6-5, 280), sophomores Clint Conlee and Wesley Melton along with senior David Herring make up the line.

Brian Lee, has bounced back from a sophomore season that saw him connect on only 3-of-13 attempts. Through four games, Lee had completed nearly three quarters of his attempts and already doubled his output from last season.

DEFENSE

Ole Miss returned 25 players from the nation's 23rd-ranked defense of a year ago and despite several critical losses, they've hung tough.

Leading the Rebels intimidating defensive stance is inside linebacker Gary Abide who is tops on the team in tackles. Inside linebacker Pete Harris and outside linebacker Phillip Kent are two more to keep an eye on. Kent is tops on the team in sacks, with right tackle Chad Brown close behind.

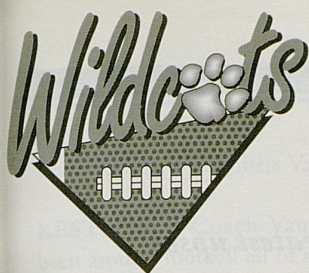

It is a miracle of sorts that Ole Miss has gotten production out of its secondary, considering that during spring drills they looked as though they were extras for a M*A*S*H 4077 reunion show, racking up injuries rather than tackles.

Strong safety Johnny Dixon and free safety Jeff Carter solidify a steady secondary. Dixon is near the top on the team in tackles. Junior Gerald Vaughn leads the team in interceptions.

Punter Robert Chisolm has done admirably, averaging 43.7 yards a punt.

Rockin' The Rebels

Cawood Ledford interviews Rick Kestner on UK's greatest upset

he University of Kentucky football Wildcats have scored many big wins down through the years, but few were bigger or more glorious than the one that took place Sept. 26, 1964. On that sunny afternoon in Jackson, Miss., Charlie Bradshaw's Wildcats bumped off the top-ranked Ole Miss Rebels, 27-21. This interview first aired on Cawood's Notebook.

LEDFORD: In 1964, Kentucky opened the football season with a disappointing 13-6 win over a mediocre Detroit team. The next week found the Wildcats in Jackson, Miss., to take on the Ole Miss Rebels. Ole Miss had won two-straight Southeastern Conference championships, and was, at the time, ranked No. 1 in the nation. Rick Kestner was an end on that Kentucky team and had perhaps his greatest game, hauling in three touchdown passes. According to Rick, the Cats came out with fire in their eyes that afternoon, only to shoot themselves in the foot during the early going.

Rick remembers one peculiar play.

KESTNER: "The play was really supposed to be a running play to Rodger Bird, but Rodger had nowhere to go and had to circle back around. He was going to the right and he circled back around to the left. He spotted Tom Becherer open about 20 yards downfield and threw the ball to Tom Becherer. There wasn't anybody close to him except Tony Manzonelli, our left offensive tackle."

LEDFORD: The touchdown was called back... ineligible receiver downfield. Still, Kentucky drove all the way to the Ole Miss 16. That's when the Cats shot themselves in the foot once again. Quarterback Rick Norton put the ball in the air, only to have it picked off.

KESTNER: "Jimmy Heidle intercepted the pass and ran it back 90 yards for a touchdown. That put us behind 7-0."

LEDFORD: Norton atoned for his mis-cue by scoring on a keeper to tie the score at 7-7. The Cats were off to the races after that. Bird, a halfback, improvised again later in the game, hitting Kestner for a touchdown pass. This time there were no ineligible receivers downfield. The Cats eventually upped their lead over the heavily favored Rebels to 27-21, but Ole Miss had the ball and was moving. The Cats needed a big play defensively if they were to hang on for the upset win. And that's exactly what they got, thanks to Jim Foley and Talbott Todd.

KESTNER: "Jim Foley hit Mike Dennis. Mike went one way and the ball went straight up in the air. Talbott Todd recovered the fumble in the air. Talbott was tackled, and I remember as the clock ticked down we just couldn't believe we'd beat the No. 1 team in the nation."

LEDFORD: It was a great Wildcat victory. While the players were in wild celebration, the dressing room door opened and legendary Ole Miss coach Johnny Vaught walked in. He asked to speak to the UK team. Kestner remembers Vaught's words.

KESTNER: "Coach Vaught said, 'I've been around football all of my life. I'm 60-some-odd-years old and that is the greatest exhibition of football between two teams that I've ever seen. You all are the more courageous team and wanted it more than we did. It is the greatest victory I've ever seen by anybody.'"

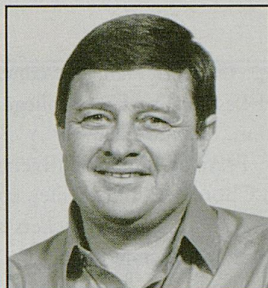

LEDFORD: It was a day for celebrating, yet the biggest celebration was to come later when the Cats landed back in Lexington.

KESTNER: "They couldn't even taxi the airplane to the terminal. There was something like 20,000 people at Bluegrass Field. They were parking all the way into Keeneland's parking lot, they were all over the runway and it was absolute bedlam at Bluegrass Field. It was the most fantastic thing I've ever seen in my life. I've never seen anything like it since."

LEDFORD: Rick Kestner went on to have many magnificent moments as a football player, but it was that long ago day in Jackson that will always burn the brightest in his memory.

Limbaugh Helps Kentucky Land Successful Back-To-Back Recruiting Classes

In just two short years, University of Kentucky Recruiting Coordinator Tommy Limbaugh has worked wonders for the Wildcats football program.

Limbaugh, a 1967 graduate of the University of Alabama, has worked his magic to assist Kentucky in putting together a pair of outstanding recruiting classes in 1990 and 1991. In fact, UK's 1991 freshman signee class ranked 13th nationally by the National High School Football Magazine (Max Emfinger).

According to UK head coach Bill Curry, a school must string together outstanding recruiting classes not just for two years, but for five or six consecutive years to build a solid base or foundation for a program. Under Limbaugh's guidance, the Wildcats are on their way to doing just that.

For the first time since the inception of the "Mr. Kentucky Football" award, Limbaugh helped the Wildcats program ink the award's winner, quarterback Pookie Jones in 1990. Then in 1991, UK signed tailback Damon Hood, last year's Mr. Football.

Overall, Limbaugh is in his 17th season in intercollegiate athletics and spent over half of those doubling as an on-the-field coach. Last season, Limbaugh coached the Wildcats tight ends and helped senior Rodney Jackson achieve All-Southeastern Conference second-team honors.

Following a seven-year stint as a coach in the prep ranks, Limbaugh joined Steve Sloan's staff as an assistant coach at Texas Tech (1975-77), Ole Miss (1978-82) and Duke (1983-86). He served as an administrative assistant and recruiting coordinator at both Ole Miss and Duke, with several of his signing classes being named to the nation's top 10.

He returned to his alma mater in 1987 as assistant athletics director and was promoted to associate athletics director in 1988. Limbaugh was the first person to join Curry's staff at Kentucky, becoming official Jan. 11, 1990.

Take Note Of This

Rey Longyear says there are as many "strange theories" and distortions about the life and death of music composer Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart as there are about the late President John F. Kennedy.

And the recent movie "Amadeus" didn't help clear up any of them, he says.

Longyear, a music professor, knows of what he speaks because he has studied Mozart extensively in his years as a musician.

Longyear and others will show Kentuckians the real Mozart during a six-week Mozart Bicentennial Festival, which begins tomorrow at UK.

The festival includes free concerts, pre-concert lectures, school productions and a concerto competition for high school and college students. All events are at the Singletary Center for the Arts and are free unless otherwise noted.

UK's Operation Read is "Point of Light"

Connie Johnson Bowles, coordinator of the UK employee literacy program, represented the program, which was named one of President Bush's "Daily Points of Light," in special ceremonies at Walt Disney World in Florida the last day of September.

The Bush administration designated Operation Read as the 193rd "Daily Point of Light" in the "Thousand Points of Light" program. The program identifies organizations, families and individuals who deal with social problems in positive ways.

Two representatives of the 575 selected points of light participated in ceremonies at Disney World's EPCOT Center. The ceremonies were attended by President and Mrs. Bush.

Around The SEC

Most pre-season prognosticators picked the Florida Gators and the Tennessee Volunteers as the cream of the Southeastern Conference crop this time around.

And lo and behold, those fortune-tellers are right on the money thus far. But it's still awfully early. Heck, the Kentucky Wildcats haven't even played a league game yet, and a win today over the Ole Miss Rebels could put them in — believe it or not — a tie for first place with a mighty 1-0 record.

Tennessee and Florida have both been perfect in conference play, recording 2-0 records entering today's action. The Vols are idle, so they're guaranteed of holding on to a share of the top spot for at least another week. But they've earned their rest after a 30-21 win over title-contender Auburn in Knoxville last Saturday night.

The Gators, meanwhile, travel to Baton Rouge today for an interesting test against the Tigers of Louisiana State. LSU still appears to be rebuilding, but its clashes with Florida are always emotional and could possibly go either way, even though Steve Spurrier's Fun-and-Gun forces, led by Shane Matthews and Errict Rhett, figure to enter as heavy favorites.

Head Coach Bill Curry

In Pursuit of Championship Performance

Bill Curry's initial Kentucky squad finished the 1990 season with a 4-7 record. But the Wildcats' mentor has big things in store for Kentucky fans. His first campaign in the Bluegrass showed sparks of future greatness. The Wildcats posted a 3-4 record in the mighty Southeastern Conference, the most wins for a UK team since 1984. Academically, the Wildcats tied for the SEC lead in Academic All-SEC Honor Roll selections, with 13. So the optimist looked at the positives.

"I'll always be disappointed if we're not 12-0, and I mean that," Curry said. "But we're on the right track and we're moving in the right direction. The speed will vary. But there's no question where this program is going."

The quest for "championship performance" has been the first order of business since Curry came to Lexington in January of 1990 to become the 32nd head football coach at Kentucky.

"I told our squad I'm interested in championship performance, championship people, championship academics and championship football," Curry said. "I'm not interested in anything less than that. That's what we are about. A championship performance in everything."

Curry's football pedigree weighs heavily in his expectations of championship performance. After all, he did play and work under three of the most successful coaches the game of football has ever known — Bobby Dodd, Vince Lombardi and Don Shula.

Curry, 47, lettered three years (1962-64) as a collegian at Georgia Tech under Dodd and served as team captain his senior campaign. Dodd compiled an impressive 22-year record of 165-64-8, including Southeastern Conference titles in 1951 and '52, at Georgia Tech.

After earning his bachelor's degree in industrial management from Georgia Tech in 1965, Curry began his professional career under Lombardi with the Green Bay Packers. He played on two Packer teams which won the National Football League title (1965-66), including the first Super Bowl Jan. 15, 1967. The legendary Lombardi guided Green Bay to five NFL championships in seven years during the 1960s.

Following the 1967 season, Curry was traded to the Baltimore Colts and eventually became All-Pro in 1971. His mentor for two seasons at Baltimore was Don Shula, who today is the winningest active coach in the NFL and has appeared in more Super Bowls (6) than any other coach.

Those credentials alone have made Curry the type of coach who really understands what demands must be met in order to succeed.

Indeed, those qualities opened the eyes of UK Athletics Director C.M. Newton when he began his search in December of 1989 to replace Jerry Claiborne, who stepped down after eight seasons with the Wildcats. But Newton took an interest in another side of Curry.

"William A. (Bill) Curry is recognized by many to be at the very top of his profession," said Newton during his introduction of Curry to the media. "He has been credited for dignity, class and integrity with which he conducts his football programs, both on and off the playing field."

Curry has that rare mix of both worlds.

He came to Kentucky from the University of Alabama. His overall record of 26-10 at 'Bama was the Crimson Tide's most successful three-year total since Paul "Bear" Bryant compiled a 27-8 record in his final three campaigns (1980-82). In his last season, Curry led Alabama to a 10-1 regular-season mark and a share of the SEC title. He took three Crimson Tide teams to bowls — the 1987 Hall of Fame Bowl, the 1988 Sun Bowl and the 1990 USF&G Sugar Bowl.

In all, Curry owns a 61-60-4 record in 11 seasons as a collegiate head coach.

Curry, a native of College Park, Ga., signed a scholarship with the Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets after a fine prep career at College Park High School. At Georgia Tech, Curry helped lead the Yellow Jackets to a 21-9-1 record and a Blue-bonnet Bowl berth during his final three seasons. He was co-captain during the 1964 campaign.

Before his professional career was over 10 seasons later, Curry played at Green Bay (1965-66), Baltimore (1967-72), Houston (1973) and with the Los Angeles Rams (1974). Curry was a member of three Super Bowl teams, two National Football League Championship teams and was selected to the 1971 and '72 Pro Bowls. A knee injury forced him to retire in 1975.

A year later, Curry was back at his alma mater as an assistant coach under Pepper Rodgers. Then in 1977, Curry returned to the pro ranks as an offensive line coach with the Green Bay Packers under former teammate Bart Starr. Curry answered Georgia Tech's call once again in 1980, this time as head football coach.

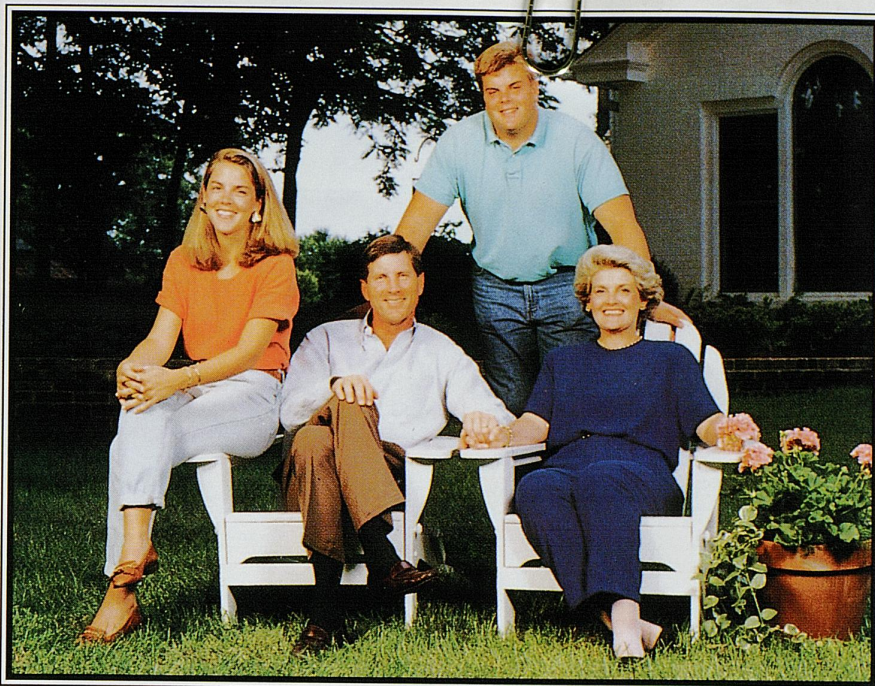

Facing a pair of daunting schedules, Curry and Tech turned in 1-9-1 and 1-10 records in 1980 and '81, before things began to change in 1982. During his final five years at Tech, Curry produced a 29-24-3 ledger which included a sparkling 9-2-1 season in 1985. The successful '85 campaign earned Tech an All-American Bowl bid and victory over Michigan State, 17-14. It was Georgia Tech's first bowl appearance since 1978.

The success of Curry's teams has not dropped off. In his last seven years as a head coach, he owns an impressive 50-28-3 (.679) record. In 1987, Curry moved to Alabama and replaced Ray Perkins.

Curry was named the 1985 Atlantic Coast Conference Coach of the Year by the Associated Press and ACC sportswriters, the 1987 SEC Coach of the Year by United Press International and the 1989 SEC Coach of the Year by AP and the Nashville Banner. Curry received a special honor after the 1989 season when he was named the Bobby Dodd Coach of the Year, in honor of his former collegiate mentor.

Curry is married to the former Carolyn Newton of College Park, Ga. Carolyn has a Ph.D. in history and teaches in the history department at UK during the spring semester. They have two children — Kristin, 23, and Billy, 20.

during the last academic year, a 17 percent increase over the previous year.

Academic Programs

Currently, there are 17 academic colleges and a graduate school. Students have a choice of 108 undergraduate majors from which to choose. The University is recommended in five books or publications for its value in providing higher education.

Research

UK ranks among the Top 100 research institutions in the nation, and is one of only 45 public universities in the United States — the only one in Kentucky — to be classified as a Research University of the First Class.

Medical Center

The Albert B. Chandler Medical Center, including a 461-bed hospital, is located on the Lexington campus. More than 2,700 students are enrolled in its five colleges — medicine, dentistry, nursing, pharmacy, and allied health professions.

Library

The UK Library System contains more than two million volumes and is interconnected by computer with each of the 14 community colleges. The Library is ranked 55th among all university research libraries in North America and the University has announced a fund-raising campaign to build a new $40 million library in future years.

Sports

With the addition of men's soccer last year, the current number of UK sports on the varsity level is 18 — nine men's sports, eight women's sports and one coed sport. The men's sports consist of football, basketball, baseball, cross country, indoor/outdoor track, tennis, swimming, golf and soccer. For the women, UK sponsors basketball, volleyball, swimming, golf, tennis, gymnastics, cross country and indoor/outdoor track on the varsity level. The one coed sport is rifle.

rom its modest beginnings in 1865, when it was known as State College, the University of Kentucky has grown into one of the nation's most outstanding institutions of higher learning.

As a comprehensive land-grant university, UK offers an educational experience that cannot be matched anywhere in the Commonwealth. In fact, only a small number of institutions across the nation can offer the wealth of opportunities that awaits students at UK. At Kentucky, there is a tradition of value.

University History

UK was founded in 1865 as a land-grant institution, and the present name dates to 1916. The Lexington campus has 673 acres. Dr. Charles T. Wethington, Jr., is UK's 10th president.

Students

The University of Kentucky now has more than 63,000 students with 23,000 on the Lexington campus and 40,000 at the 14 community colleges across the state. UK now educates 37 percent of all students in Kentucky attending a public or private college or university. There are 4,600 students enrolled in graduate school with 86 master's and 58 doctoral programs offered.

Faculty

There are 1,566 full-time faculty on the Lexington campus and another 1,050 faculty in the community colleges. Faculty brought in more than $70 million in grants, contracts and gifts to the University Shared dreams.

There is a special magic in the sharing of dreams, and something even more wonderful that happens when those dreams come true.

We had a dream which we shared with the people of the Commonwealth of Kentucky. That dream was to be able to manufacture our popular Camry sedans at a location in the United States where we could meet or exceed our international standards for automotive excellence.

The people of Kentucky showed us the way to Georgetown, a warm and inviting community in the beautiful Bluegrass region of Central Kentucky. Georgetown more than met our stringent criteria and, so, we built a $1.1 billion assembly plant in the heart of the Bluegrass.

Today, we are producing 800 Camrys a day. We're building engines and we're expanding the automobile assembly plant. Our location is superb in every respect. And the economic climate of Kentucky virtually nurtures success.

Overall, the greatest contributions to our success have been made by the more than 3,800 people (95% of whom are Kentuckians) who make up our Team Toyota. We will proudly match their skills, dedication, productivity and spirit against any work force in the world.

The Commonwealth of Kentucky and Toyota Motor Manufacturing, USA: A partnership that began as a dream and continues to flourish as a strong economic reality for today and for our tomorrows.

Thinking Caps.

Wildcat Football. It's hard-hitting, physical, competitive...and smart. On and off the field, the student athletes and coaches know that winning takes more than talent and physical effort. It takes mental preparation.

You have to anticipate the other team's moves. You have to plan your own offensive and defensive plays. And you have to learn how best to use your talents and abilities to reach your goals. It's this type of thinking that directs all your physical efforts into achieving success in football...and in business.

Southern States applies the same mental process in cultivating innovations to serve the constantly changing needs of our farm, home and garden customers in 131 Kentucky communities. Supported by 13 wholesale and manufacturing facilities across the state, our local dealer/store network is committed to delivering only the highest quality products and services. From GrowMaster® Crop Services to petroleum, from horse and livestock feed to pet foods, and from lawn care products to grain marketing, Southern States is continually thinking of new and better ways to serve you.

Southern States is proud to support the "thinking game" behind U.K. Football because success has always been something worth thinking about.

C.M. Newton

Director of Athletics

When Charles Martin (C.M.) Newton became the University of Kentucky's seventh director of athletics April 1, 1989, he hit the ground running.

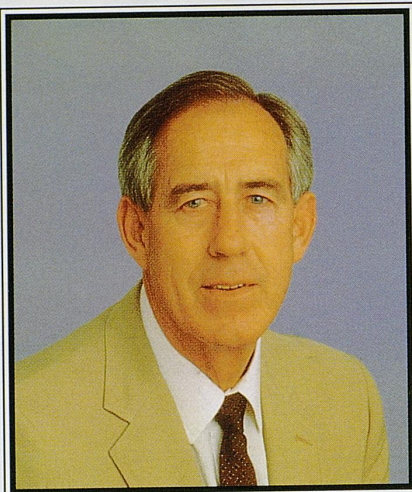

Newton's first order of business was to bring respectability back to a basketball program hit hard by an NCAA investigation. He did so by hiring New York Knickerbockers head man Rick Pitino to coach the Wildcats. A few months later, Newton was faced with the task of hiring a football coach to replace the retiring Jerry Claiborne. Newton again rose to the occasion, luring Southeastern Conference Coach of the Year Bill Curry from the University of Alabama to lead the UK program.

Newton has scored with UK fans again and again. He announced that UK's football and basketball games would once again be carried on Louisville's clear-channel, 50,000-watt WHAS Radio, for the first time since 1986. He kicked off a fundraising campaign to build a new indoor practice facility adjacent to Commonwealth Stadium. And he announced the addition of varsity soccer to the UK Athletics program.

After little more than two years on the job, Newton has become one of the most popular public figures in the Commonwealth of Kentucky. In addition to a lengthy, impressive list of credentials, Newton brought to Kentucky a sparkling reputation of integrity at a crucial time in the history of UK Athletics.

He capped an illustrious basketball coaching career by leading his 1988-89 Vanderbilt University squad to a 19-14 record, a second-place SEC finish and its second consecutive NCAA tournament appearance. He was named SEC Coach of the Year by the Associated Press and received the Kodak NABC District IV Coach-of-the-Year award.

Newton served as head basketball coach and associate athletics director at Vanderbilt after 1982, compiling a 129-115 hoops record. In 32 years of coaching at Transylvania, Alabama and Vanderbilt, Newton compiled a 509-375 overall record, ranking him among the top 10 active coaches in the game in terms of total victories at the close of the 1988-89 season. Newton's Alabama teams won three consecutive Southeastern Conference championships and more games than any other coach in Crimson Tide history. He ranks second in career victories in Southeastern Conference games behind his mentor, Adolph Rupp.

Perhaps more impressive, however, was Newton's ability to produce winning teams that also possessed exceptional academic credentials. During Newton's tenure at Vanderbilt, 18 Commodores were named to the Academic All-SEC team — over 50 percent more than any other league school. And including his last graduating class, all 21 seniors received their diplomas.

Newton is highly regarded on the national level. He has served on the board of directors of the National Association of Basketball Coaches. He worked six years on the NCAA Basketball Rules Committee, serving as chairman for five years. He currently serves as vice president of USA Basketball, the nation's governing body for international basketball, and as chairman of its Games Committee, which is responsible for all international competition, including the Olympic Games.

C.M. Newton has scored with UK fans again and again.

Newton has literally circled the globe to promote basketball. He served as team manager — a combination coaching and administrative position — on the 1984 U.S. Olympic team that won the gold medal.

In 1983 and 1987, Newton took his Vanderbilt squads to the Republic of China (Taiwan) to represent the United States in the R. William Jones Cup International Tournament, winning the gold medal in 1983 and the silver in 1987. He has conducted coaching clinics in numerous countries.

After playing on the 1951 national champion Kentucky Wildcat squad and pitching in the New York Yankees' minor league system, Newton began coaching at Transylvania College (now Transylvania University) in Lexington.

In 1969, once again with the backing of Rupp, Newton took on the challenge of building the downtrodden Alabama basketball program. During his 12-year tenure, Newton orchestrated a turnaround in the Crimson Tide's basketball fortunes, compiling a 211-123 record.

With few horizons left to conquer at Alabama, Newton resigned at the end of the 1980 season to accept a job as assistant commissioner of the Southeastern Conference. A year later, he began his stint at Vandy.

John Cropp is in his first season at UK and his 14th campaign as a collegiate assistant coach.

Cropp, a 1961 graduate of Vanderbilt University, comes to Kentucky after spending the last three years as Assistant Athletics Director for Compliance at his alma mater.

Cropp began coaching football while serving in the Army in Germany (1965-66). After fulfilling his service requirements, Cropp began a highly successful high school coaching career.

Cropp returned to his alma mater in 1973 as an assistant coach under Steve Sloan. He followed Sloan to Texas Tech (1975-77) as tight ends and receivers coach, Ole Miss (1978-82) and Duke (1983). At Ole Miss, Cropp was offensive coordinator and running backs coach. He continued his role as offensive coordinator/running backs coach at Duke for one season.

In 1984, Cropp returned to Vanderbilt again as an assistant coach, this time under George MacIntyre. He coached the running backs in '84 and served as offensive coordinator in 1985.

He entered private business for two years (1986-87) before returning to Vanderbilt in June of 1988.

Daryl Dickey is in his second season at UK. His responsibilities include coaching the UK quarterbacks and coordinating film exchange with opponents.

Dickey, 30, is in his third year as a collegiate assistant coach.

Most Kentuckians remember Dickey from his collegiate days as quarterback of the Tennessee Volunteers. In 1985, Dickey helped lead the Vols to a 9-1-2 record and the Southeastern Conference title. He was named most valuable player in the 1986 USF&G Sugar Bowl after engineering Tennessee's 35-7 victory over Miami (Fla.).

Following a brief stint with the San Diego Chargers of the National Football League, Dickey returned to his alma mater as a graduate assistant coach for two years (1987-88).

He then moved to Florida State, where he coached quarterback Peter Tom Willis during the 1989 season. Dickey helped Willis earn a No. 7 ranking nationally in total offense and passing efficiency while Florida State went 10-2.

Last season, UK's quarterbacks completed over 55 percent of their passes while throwing for the second highest total of passing yards (2,152) in UK history.

Bill Glaser is in his 15th season as an assistant football coach at the University of Kentucky and his 16th as a collegiate coach. His responsibilities include coaching defensive tackles and nose guards and coordinating the annual Bill Curry Football Camp during the summer.

Glaser, 48, came to Kentucky in 1977 from Morehead State. He has worked for three head coaches at UK — Fran Curci, Jerry Claiborne and Curry. Glaser was the only full-time UK assistant retained by both Claiborne and Curry.

After graduating in 1965 from Bellarmine College, Glaser began coaching at St. Xavier High School, his alma mater, as an assistant football and baseball coach. He was named head football coach in 1974 and led St. Xavier to consecutive state titles and a two-year slate of 25-0.

Glaser was named defensive coordinator at Morehead State in 1976, where he completed work on a master's degree. A year later, he moved to UK as defensive line coach under Curci. In the Claiborne era, Glaser coached the UK defensive guards.

John Guy is in his second season as assistant head coach for football operations and outside linebackers coach at Kentucky, and his first season as special teams coordinator for the Wildcats. This is his 19th season in the college ranks.

Guy coaches the strike and defensive end positions as well as the UK placekickers. As assistant head coach, his responsibilities include the maintenance of all UK football facilities and assumption of head coaching duties in the absence of Bill Curry.

After graduating from North Carolina A&T in 1973, where he had a successful four years as defensive back and placekicker, Guy served as defensive line coach at North Carolina in 1974. Guy remained at UNC for five seasons after earning his master's degree in psychology in '74.

In 1978, Guy moved to Virginia Tech as assistant coach, and then to Duke as outside linebackers coach in the same year. He remained there for three years, before joining Curry's staff at Georgia Tech in 1981. Guy followed Curry to Alabama and then Kentucky.

WALTER LEWIS
Running Backs

Walter Lewis is in his second year at Kentucky, third as a college assistant coach. He is responsible for coaching the running backs.

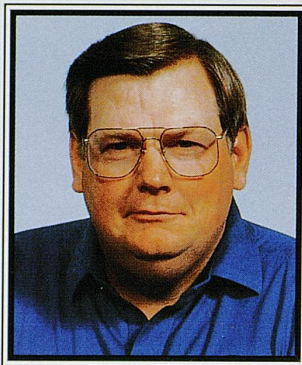

Lewis, 29, came to Kentucky from Alabama after spending one season as running backs coach under Bill Curry. Before that, he was a standout quarterback for the Crimson Tide in the early 1980s.

During his career at Alabama, Lewis completed 286 of 504 passes for 4,257 yards and 29 touchdowns, and rushed for 1,433 yards and 13 touchdowns in four years. He was named All-SEC in 1983.

Professionally, Lewis played for Memphis of the USFL, Montreal of the Canadian Football League and New England of the NFL.

Lewis coached junior Siran Stacy at Alabama in 1989. The senior running back finished fourth in the SEC with 1,079 yards rushing and 17 touchdowns in 1989.

The follow-up was Lewis' efforts in helping Al Baker explode for an outstanding senior campaign a year ago, nailing down a No. 5 ranking in the SEC rushing charts (70.9 ypg) and hauling in 35 passes.

LARRY NEW
Defensive Coordinator
Inside Linebackers

Larry New is in his second season as defensive coordinator and inside linebackers coach at Kentucky, his 27th coaching the college game.

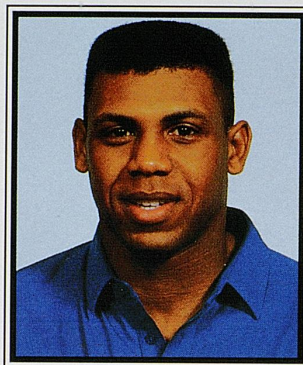

New, 47, came to UK from Alabama, where he was a defensive line coach for three years under Bill Curry.

New lettered two seasons (1962-63) as nose guard at Illinois. He helped the Illini to a 17-7 victory over Washington in the 1964 Rose Bowl.

New began coaching at Wheaton College as a defensive coordinator in 1965. After three years at Wheaton, New moved to the Division I level and joined Dan Devine's staff as defensive line coach at Missouri (1968-70), then worked with Frank Broyles in the same capacity at Arkansas (1971-74).

In 1975, New began a seven-year stint under Jim Carlen at South Carolina. New served as defensive line coach during his first five years under Carlen then was promoted to defensive coordinator in 1980.

New joined Curry at Georgia Tech in 1982 as defensive line coach. He remained on Curry's staff through 1986 at Georgia Tech and for three years at Alabama.

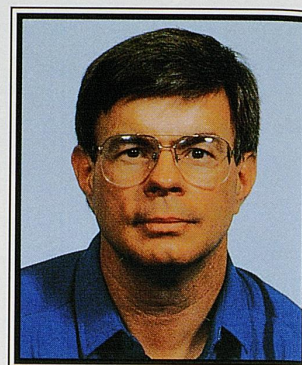

JOKER PHILLIPS
Wide Receivers

Joker Phillips begins his first season as an assistant coach at Kentucky. His responsibilities include coaching flankers and split ends.

Phillips, a 1986 graduate of Kentucky, was a four-year letterman as a wide receiver. During his career (1981-84), Kentucky appeared in the 1983 and '84 Hall of Fame Bowls. Phillips' best season was 1984, when he grabbed 28 receptions for 305 yards and five touchdowns. Entering the 1991 season, Phillips ranked sixth on the UK career reception list with 75 catches for 935 yards and nine touchdowns.

He played briefly in the National Football League and the Canadian Football League and was a member of the 1987 Washington Redskins team which won Super Bowl XXII.

Phillips began his coaching career as a graduate assistant coach at Kentucky (1988-89) under Jerry Claiborne and was responsible for the receivers. In 1990, he was named assistant recruiting coordinator under Bill Curry. He also worked with UK recruiting coordinator Tommy Limbaugh last year and coordinated the Wildcats' walk-on program.

RICK RHOADES
Offensive Coordinator
Offensive Line

Rick Rhoades is in his first season as offensive coordinator and his second year coaching the offensive line at Kentucky. This is his 11th season in collegiate coaching.

After lettering four years in football and baseball at Central Missouri State, Rhoades, 44, embarked on a high school coaching career at Mountain Brook in Birmingham, Ala. His 1976 squad captured the state title with a 14-0 record.

In 1981, Rhoades moved to the collegiate level as offensive coordinator at North Alabama.

He moved to Troy State as defensive coordinator in 1983, before being named head coach at that school. His three-year head coaching stint produced an NCAA Division II national championship in 1987, earning Rhoades National Coach of the Year honors as chosen by the American Football Coaches Association and The Sporting News.

In 1988, Rhoades moved on to Division I-AA Southern Illinois at Carbondale as its head coach. A year later, he joined Bill Curry at Alabama as the offensive tackles and ends coach. The following year, he moved to Kentucky.

RICK SMITH
Defensive Backs

TODD FUGETT
Volunteer Assistant

Rick Smith is in his second season at UK, his 12th overall as a collegiate assistant coach. He is responsible for coaching the defensive backs.

He comes to Kentucky from Baylor, where he was defensive backfield coach for three years.

Smith, 43, began coaching football at Godbey High School in Tallahassee, Fla., in 1970, a year before he graduated from Florida State University. After three years at Godbey, Smith was named athletics director/head football coach at Wakulla (Fla.) High School in 1973.

Four years later, Smith served a year as head junior varsity football coach at Georgia Tech in 1977. The following year, he served as an assistant coach at East Tennessee State.

His final high school job began in 1979 at Marianna (Fla.) High. Smith again doubled as AD/head football coach at Marianna through the spring of 1982, when he left for Georgia Tech to become Bill Curry's defensive backfield coach. In 1986, Smith moved to Alabama under Ray Perkins for one year.

Smith moved to Baylor in 1987 and the Baylor secondary quickly became one of the most respected units in the nation.

Todd Fugett is in his second season coaching the Wildcat bandits and rovers, his fifth as an assistant. He is a volunteer assistant.

Fugett comes to Kentucky from Missouri Western State where he served as both strength coach and defensive backfield coach in 1989.

The 1985 graduate of East Central (Okla.) University began his coaching career in the fall of '85 as an assistant coach at Blanchard (Okla.) High School.

He served as graduate assistant at Tennessee (1986) and Baylor (1987-88), working with defensive backs.

Several of his players at UK have received accolades during Fugett's first season. Senior bandit Jeff Brady was a 12th-round selection of Pittsburgh in the National Football League Draft. Sophomore bandit Duce Williams earned Most Improved Linebacker honors during the '91 spring drills and sophomore rover Bill Campbell earned Most Improved Defensive Back honors also that spring.

New York Life is large, conservative, and dull.
Reassuring in times like these, isn't it?

Things are a bit shaky these days in the financial world. Investors are getting a lot less adventuresome. And words like "stability" and "security" are coming back into vogue.

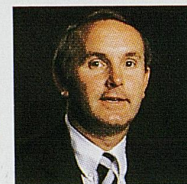

To some, of course, this is just the current economic trend. But at New York Life, we've had a conservative investment policy for 146 years.

A policy that, over the years, has allowed New York Life to amass assets under management of more than $50 billion. And why 95 percent of the bonds in our portfolio are investment grade.*

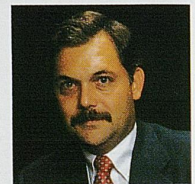

Does that make us large and conservative? We should say so. And as for dull, well, we look at it this way: If being exciting means investing heavily in junk bonds that end up in default, that's the kind of excitement we can all do without.

For information on our products and services, call your local New York Life agent or 1-606-254-2341.

Commonwealth Stadium

Home of the Kentucky Wildcats

Commonwealth Stadium is the home of UK Football.

inception. In total, 6,239,539 spectators have witnessed Kentucky football at Commonwealth Stadium — that's about 1.7 times the population of Kentucky.

Commonwealth Stadium can officially seat 57,800 fans, though standing-room only crowds exceed that figure. Most sat but many of the stadium-record 58,345 spectators stood to watch the Wildcats defeat Mississippi State, 33-19, Oct. 12, 1985. The second-largest crowd, 58,230, gathered a week earlier to watch Kentucky defeat Clemson, 26-7. The third-largest crowd (58,216) watched Kentucky defeat Indiana, 17-14, in 1989.

An enclosed press box, which comfortably seats 120 members of the media, is located underneath the upper deck on the stadium's west side. The press box area has eight private booths (four VIPs), a photography deck and two dining areas. Two elevators link the box to the stadium ground.

The University of Kentucky plans to eventually enclose the south end (Tates Creek Road) of Commonwealth Stadium to bring its capacity to 72,000. The addition of luxury suites and boxes is also in the plans.

hen it comes to football, Kentucky-style, there is certainly no better place than home — Commonwealth Stadium.

Built in 1973, Commonwealth is one of the nation's best showcases for collegiate football. The stadium is located on the southwest corner of the University of Kentucky campus, convenient to both Cooper and Alumni Drives.

Commonwealth Stadium was built at a cost of $12 million by the firm of Huber, Hunt and Nichols, Inc. The stadium, including parking areas, rests on an 86-acre plot of what was once the UK Experimental Station Farm grounds.

The stadium took on a new look last fall with the addition of a $600,000 scoreboard and message center located in the north end zone. The scoreboard is 19 by 78 feet in size, almost 3.5 times the size of the original scoreboards which have been in place since 1973.

The stadium was officially opened September 15, 1973. The Wildcats moved into their new home after spending 48 years at Stoll Field/McLean Stadium across from Memorial Coliseum. Kentucky defeated Virginia Tech in the stadium-opener, 31-26, behind three touchdowns by quarterback Ernie Lewis.

Since its opening, Kentucky has played 113 games within the friendly confines of Commonwealth Stadium. And indeed, the 65-44-4 record and .593 winning percentage is proof positive of the Wildcats' home-field advantage.

Large crowds have followed Kentucky football at Commonwealth Stadium. The Wildcats have averaged 55,217 spectators for contests at Commonwealth since its

WE'VE BEEN SUPPORTING ATHLETICS SINCE THE VERY BEGINNING.

Contrary to popular belief, it takes more than a pair of $150 shoes to support our athletes.

That's why Citizens Fidelity Bank is pleased to lend a hand through sponsorship, events and outings that help support athletics programs. Whether it's football, baseball, basketball, you name it.

Because we believe athletic achievement instills a sense of pride in our community.

And, most of all, we believe athletics give our children the opportunity to grow and learn the value of working together.

Which in essence, is preparation for the biggest game of all. Life.

Consistent Performance

"The mark of a great football player is the ability to deliver consistent performance. When you need an extra yard, you can count on that player to get it for you.

"I look at long distance phone service the same way. You've got to have service that doesn't take a second thought.

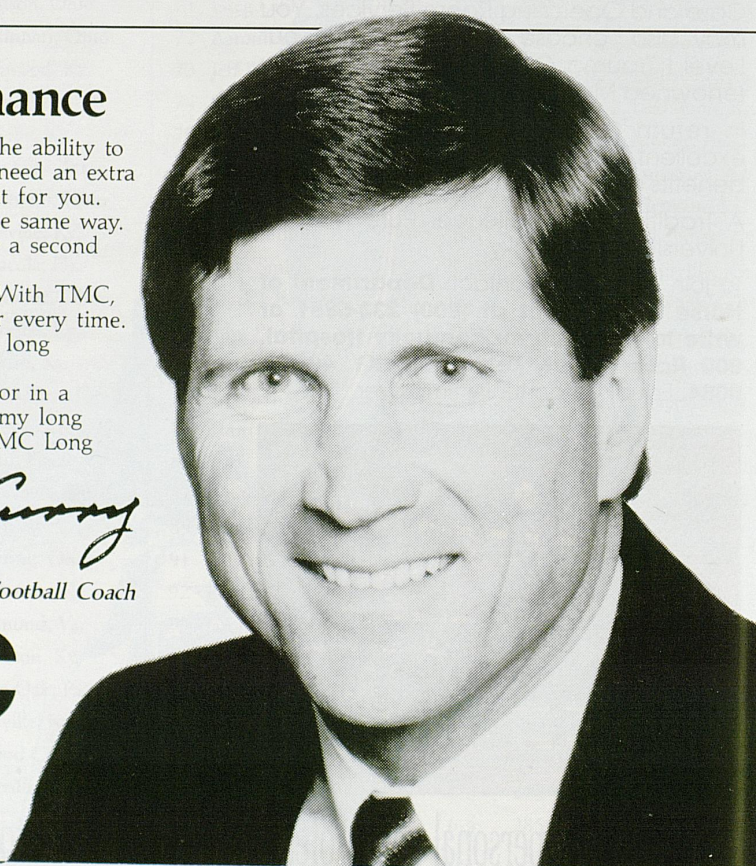

"That's why I use TMC Long Distance. With TMC, I know my call comes through crystal clear every time. Plus, TMC can save me up to 40% on my long distance bills.

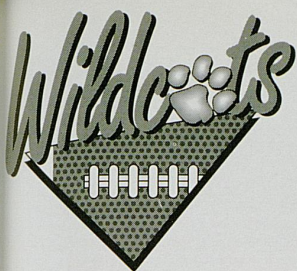

"Consistent performance is what I look for in a football player, and it's what I look for in my long distance phone service. That's why I use TMC Long Distance."

Cawood Ledford (L) and Ralph Hacker return to the airways for another season of Big Blue Football.

University of Kentucky football is brought to the Bluegrass by a veteran Wildcat television and radio network crew.

Calling the play-by-play for the Wildcats on radio for his 39th and final season is Cawood Ledford, 20-time Kentucky "Sportscaster of the Year." When Kentucky plays at home, he is joined by WKYT-TV sportscaster Dave Baker. Hacker calls the color when the Wildcats are away. WKYT-TV's Dick Gabriel reports from the sidelines.

Cheerleaders & Marching Band

Two of the nation's best groups line up beside the Kentucky Wildcats on football Saturdays each fall: the award-winning University of Kentucky Cheerleaders and Marching Band.

Under the direction of T. Lynn Williamson, the UK Cheerleaders have become the model cheerleading squad in the United States. Three of the last seven years, UK has earned the national cheerleading title. They were runners-up in 1988 and 1990.

This squad's ability to help bring the Wildcat crowd into the games and its precision stunts have become a trademark and a source of pride for the University.

The University of Kentucky Marching Band is also recognized around the country, especially for its sophisticated sound and visual images through innovative drill writing.

Under the direction of Tom Brawner, the University of Kentucky Marching Band was one of the first in the nation to use computers exclusively for drill writing. An average halftime show will contain around 130,000 different positions or moving sets for all members of the band, coordinated simultaneously with approximately 180,000 notes.

The University of Kentucky Marching Band numbers approximately 280, with members representing many different states.

The UK Marching Band performs at each home game.

WHAT THEY ARE SAYING . . .

Dr. Charles Wethington, Jr., University of Kentucky President:

"This facility is very significant not only to UK Athletics, but to the entire University of Kentucky community. The indoor facility should aid Bill Curry in taking our football program to another level."

C.M. Newton, UK Director of Athletics:

"We already have the finest coaches in the country, and with the addition of the indoor facility, which I consider the final piece of the puzzle, we will have what we need to attract the finest student-athletes. The facility will be a multi-purpose building, something that will be a tremendous boost to our football, men's and women's track, men's and women's golf, gymnastics, baseball and other programs."

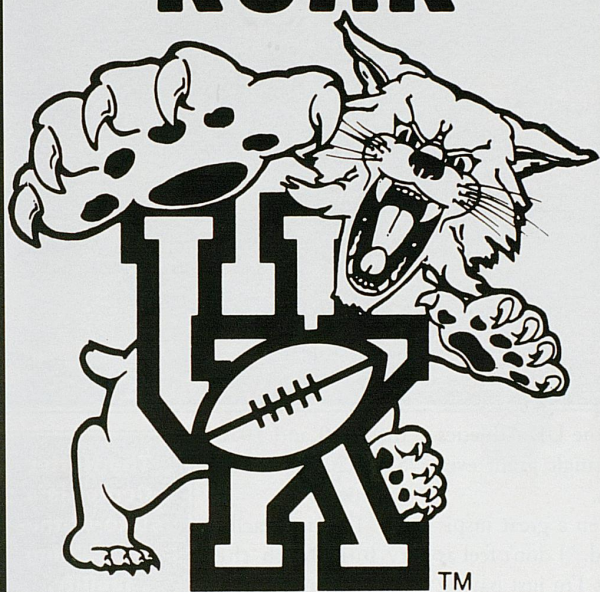

Bill Curry, UK Football Coach:

"The indoor practice facility is extremely valuable to us from three perspectives — 1) togetherness of our athletics programs, 2) performance, and 3) recruiting. In recruiting, what this facility says to all prospective student-athletes is that Kentucky intends on winning in football also. We have a $7 million commitment in that direction. The unique thing about a facility such as this one is the ability to do everything indoors we could do outdoors."

The UK Fieldhouse should be completed by August 1992.

E.J. Nutter Training Facility

One of the nation's showcase football facilities rests on the southeast corner of the University of Kentucky campus.

Indeed, the ultra-modern E.J. Nutter Football Training Facility ranks among the best in the nation. Built at a cost of $5.7 million, the facility officially became the home of Kentucky Wildcat football in September 1987.

The Nutter Center, as it is called on the UK campus, encompasses more than 48,000 square feet and is built adjacent to the Shively Sports Complex. It is located on Sports Center Drive, just a rock's throw away from Commonwealth Stadium.

"I have not seen everyone's new facilities, but the Nutter Center is the finest that I have seen," UK coach Bill Curry said. "It is the best planned and the most spacious facility I know of. Combined with our spacious practice area, the Nutter Center gives us the most beautiful football complex that I have ever been associated with."

The new Wildcat facility is named after Ervin J. Nutter, a UK alumnus who contributed $1 million to get the fund-raising campaign started for the construction to begin. The Nutter gift to the UK Athletics Association is the largest single grant ever received by the Association.

"The University has been a great inspiration (to me)," Nutter said. "I don't feel as if I've given anything away. I'm just paying what the University has done for me."

Now, just three years after the facility was completed, it is beginning to repay dividends to the Kentucky football program, especially in recruiting.

Aside from new dressing facilities, which feature large, personal lockers for every Kentucky football player, the Nutter Center is highlighted by a 9,000-square foot weight room with over 100,000 pounds of equipment. The center also houses 11 meeting rooms, a state-of-the-art video and editing room for coaches' film, equipment and training rooms, staff and player lounges, an interview area, a 60-yard sprint track, sauna and jacuzzi, an aerobic exercise room and three racquetball courts. A touch of Kentucky football tradition and history is on display in the foyer area.

The memorabilia case holds UK trophies from the Great Lakes, Sugar, Cotton, Peach and Hall of Fame Bowls, as well as the 1950 and 1976 SEC championship trophies.

"This is a facility built with the players in mind," said former UK coach Jerry Claiborne, who helped spearhead the financial drive to make the Nutter Center possible. "It does not have coaches' offices like other facilities. Instead, we had the student-athlete in mind in the design and planning and that's how we wanted it to be."

Curry plans to make no changes. "It is a privilege to get to work in a facility such as this every day," the second-year coach said. "The planning and design with the student-athletes at heart is what we're about today."

"Jerry Claiborne's most important accomplishments during his eight years at Kentucky were in the human arena. But his picture, which hangs in the Nutter Center, is a reminder to us just how much he loved this University. For Jerry and Mr. Nutter and the other contributors who helped make this facility possible, they have left a legacy that will surely be exciting to build on."

The Nutter Center is a state-of-the-art training facility.

Center For Academic And Tutorial Services

he University of Kentucky keeps the term "student-athlete" in the proper perspective — student first, athlete second.

For that reason, the University of Kentucky Athletics Association opened the nation's first academic center for student-athletes in 1981. The academic center is simply known as CATS — Center for Academic & Tutorial Services.

CATS is located inside Memorial Coliseum. The center, designed with the student-athlete in mind, contains a large general study area, along with several smaller rooms used for tutoring.

CATS expanded during the past academic year and added a language library, additional tutoring rooms, a media center and a new computer facility.

"Our CATS is one of the best academic services in the land and that's based on results," UK coach Bill Curry said. "For Kentucky to be up there with Duke and Virginia and Notre Dame is a real tribute to first, the student-athletes, but also to our academic support staff headed by Bob Bradley."

Kentucky is in league with the aforementioned schools in winning the College Football Association Academic Achievement Award, given for the CFA school whose program has achieved the highest graduation rate in the nation. Kentucky won the honor in 1989 after graduating 90 percent of its 1983 freshman class. Kentucky is the only other school to have won the award outside of the trio.

"We get more response from parents who visit us on the CATS program than any other part of our program," Curry said. "Parents are really excited about it."

Curry is also excited about the combined effort former UK coach Jerry Claiborne and his staff put forth during their tenure. Since 1982, Kentucky has placed 81 players on the All-Southeastern Conference Honor Roll — more than any league school in that period. In 1989, the Wildcats set a conference record with 17 players named to the SEC Honor Roll. And during the 1991 spring semester, UK football placed 24 players on the Athletics Director's Honor Roll on campus.

"With winning the CFA award and employs six graduate assistants and numerous tutors, both from the University and surrounding community. Currently, the UKAA budgets close to $500,000 per year for CATS.

"We are extremely proud of what we have accomplished in the academic arena," Bradley said. "The CATS program is focused on winning in the classroom. We look at each student-athlete's individual needs, set goals and develop strategies to attain those goals. Our center (CATS) provides our student-athletes with a definite advantage over student-athletes at many other institutions."

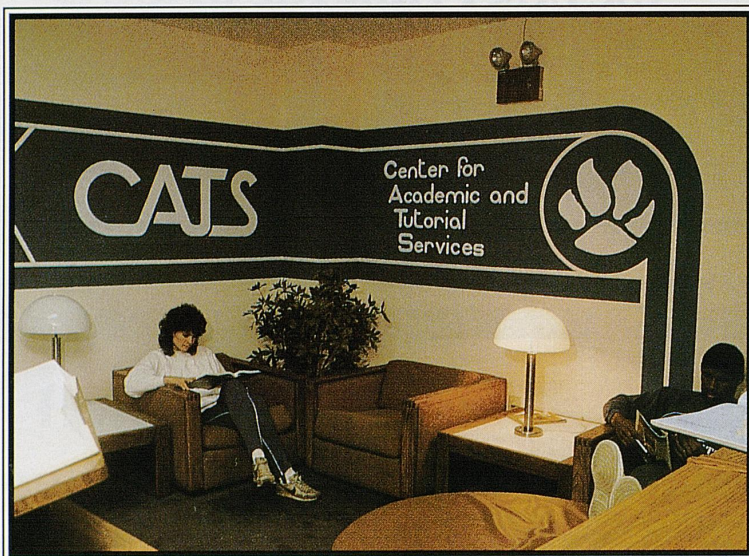

Bradley also says it helps to have head coaches like Claiborne and Curry that place such a strong emphasis on academics.

"Many support systems across the nation do an excellent job at helping their student-athletes," Bradley said. "I have been blessed at Kentucky in having Jerry Claiborne. He really believed in the student-athlete concept. The same holds true for Bill Curry. We are in total sync in the business of educating our student-athletes."

The philosophy at the University of Kentucky is this: Colleges should be able to afford the student-athlete every opportunity to succeed not only in athletics, but in academics as well. Looking at recent statistics in Academic Honor Roll selections and graduation rates, Kentucky is standing by its philosophy.

"We will continue to support our academic staff to the hilt," Curry said. "We're very excited about the work Bob Bradley and his staff have done. We will not accept anything less from our players. We talk about championship performance, we expect championship in academics, too."

CATS helps UK student-athletes to be successful off the field.

leading the SEC in Honor Roll picks, it certainly let everyone know we were serious, and still are serious, about making sure our athletes receive their degree," Claiborne said. "A lot of the credit goes to our CATS Center staff. They do an excellent job in monitoring our student-athletes' academic progress from day one."

Bob Bradley, Assistant Athletics Director for Academics, supervises the CATS program. Bradley is assisted by Barbara Deniston, Director of Student-Athlete Development, her assistant, Sheila Breeding, and two Academic Counselors, Mike Jenkins and Mike Haley. CATS also

University of Kentucky Songs

On, On, U of K

On, on, U of K, we are right for the fight today,
Hold that ball and hit that line; Ev'ry
Wildcat star will shine;
We'll fight, fight, fight, for the blue and white
As we roll to that goal, Varsity,
And we'll kick, pass and run, 'till the battle is won,
And we'll bring home the victory.

My Old Kentucky Home

The sun shines bright on the old Kentucky
home,
'Tis summer, the people are gay;
The corntop's ripe and the meadows in the bloom,
While the birds make music all day.

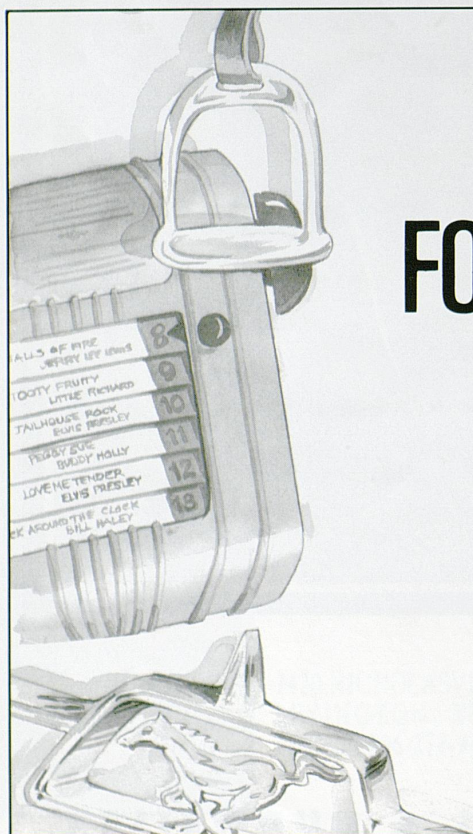

(Chorus)

*Weep no more, my lady,
Oh! Weep no more, today!
We will sing one song for my old Kentucky
home,
For my old Kentucky home far away.*

The young folks roll on the little cabin floor,
All merry, all happy, and bright;
By-n-by hard times come a-knocking at the door,
Then, my old Kentucky home, good-night!

UK Alma Mater

Hail Kentucky, Alma Mater! Loyal sons and daughters sing;
Sounder her praise with voice united; To the breeze her colors fling.
To the blue and white be true; Badge triumphant age on age;
Blue, the sky that o'er us bends; White,

Football Traditions

Blue and White

he University of Kentucky adopted blue and white as its official colors in 1892. UK students had first decided on blue and light yellow before the Kentucky-Centre football game Dec. 19, 1891. The yellow was soon dropped from the combination and replaced by white.

The particular Kentucky shade of blue, close to royal blue, was determined without ceremony. After settling on the base colors, a student posed the logical question, "What color blue?" Letterman Richard Stoll looked down at his necktie and raised it to the air. The vote was unanimous.

And so Kentucky Blue is really Stoll necktie blue.

Nickname

The official nickname of University of Kentucky athletic teams is "Wildcats."

The name became synonymous with

UK shortly after a 6-2 victory over Illinois on October 9, 1909. Commandant Carbusier, then head of the military department of old State University, told a group of students in a chapel service following the game that the Kentucky football team had "fought like wildcats."

The moniker "Wildcats" became increasingly popular among UK followers and the media. The University has since adopted it as its official nickname.

Wildcat Mascot

The Wildcat mascot originated during the 1976-77 academic year at the University of Kentucky. Gary Tanner was the first Wildcat to dance and entertain crowds at Commonwealth Stadium and Rupp Arena during athletic events. Today the Wildcat mascot also attends academic functions and serves as a friendly ambassador for the University.

In the early 1980s, Wildcat mascot Terry Barney began the tradition of doing a one-armed pushup for each of Kentucky's points in front of the student section after every Wildcat score.

Battle for the Beer Barrel

The Beer Barrel, painted blue, orange and white, is the prize awarded each year to the winner of the Kentucky-Tennessee football game. The first barrel was awarded in 1925. Two Wildcat supporters, Guy Hugelot and Rollie M. Guthrie, wanted to produce something to symbolize the fierce rivalry between the two schools.

A whiskey barrel was to be the original trophy, until the Women's Christian Temperance Union ruled it out. A beer barrel was more acceptable to the ladies.

But there was still the problem of Prohibition and the Anti-saloon League, which voiced displeasure at such a trophy. But the resourceful Hugelot and Guthrie appealed all parties by painting "Ice Water" on the barrel.

Kentucky has won the barrel 23 times in the 86-game series.

Battle for the Bourbon Barrel

The Bourbon Barrel is awarded to the winner of the Kentucky-Indiana football game. The series, which was renewed in 1967 after a 40-year break, began in 1893. No one is certain of the origin of this unusual trophy. Some think the blue-and red-striped barrel represents the distillery industry in Kentucky and southern Indiana. Indiana leads the series, 13-7-1, but Kentucky has won four of the last six outings. Both schools have signed a contract to meet each year through 2000.

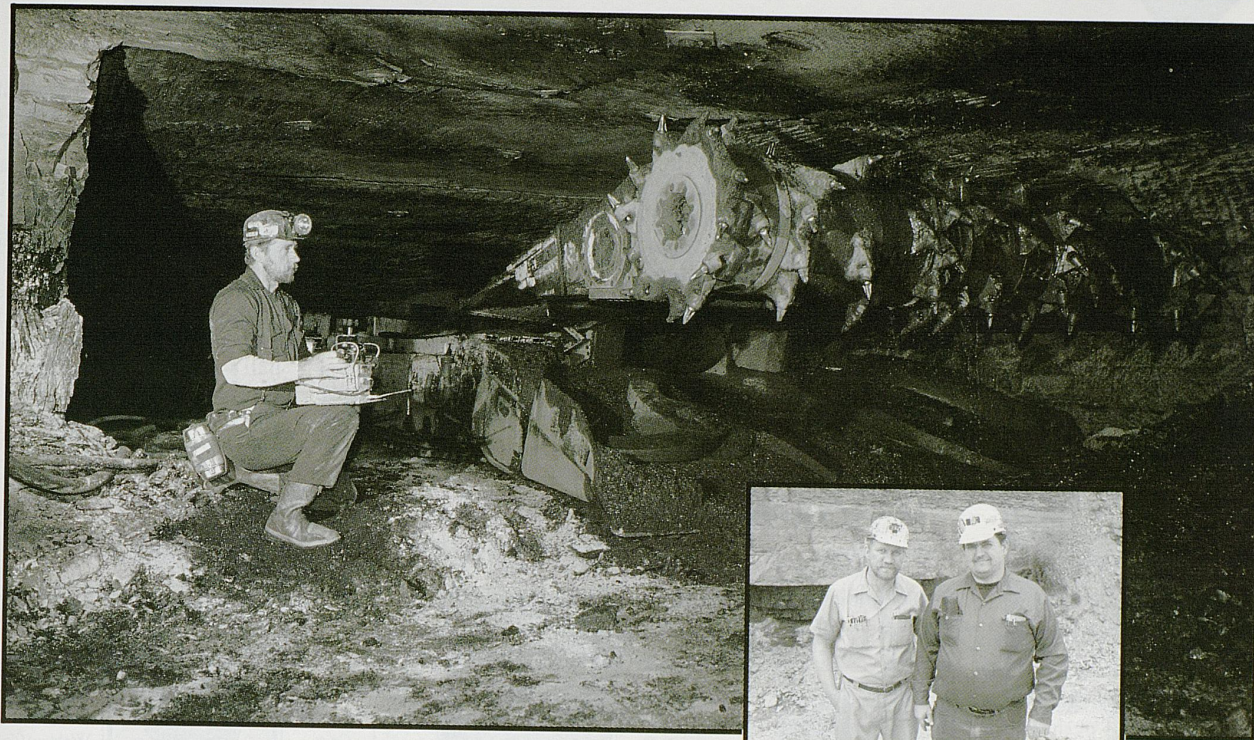

The battle for the Bourbon Barrel has raged since 1893.

The Wildcat has been UK's friendly ambassador since 1976.

EIMCO 2810L

Since its arrival at Elk Run Coal Company's Castle Mine, the 2810L Continuous Miner has been an outstanding performer.

"The L Miner is the most dependable and productive low vein miner I've ever been around," stated Doug Cox, Maintenance Foreman.

"The miner loading rate is very comparable to our four larger EIMCO 2810s," mentioned Eddie Lester, Mine Superintendent.

"The Castle Mine has a wide variation in seam height with a lot of 40" coal. During the last month we have been into extreme conditions as the 2810L is now mining rock 42 inches thick within a 60 inch seam height.

"Another great feature of the 'L' is that it also has the weight and horsepower to set solid when cutting rock. When shearing down in these conditions the miner has no bounce at all. I've also never seen a small miner sump so well.

"The scrubber ductwork passing through the conveyor rather than over the top is a sweet deal that allows maximum loading rates without any type of restriction," continued Lester.

"Even though our 2810L is a pure radio machine without an onboard operator deck, reliability has been greater than 96%," stated Doug Cox.

"And to top it off, EIMCO Parts Availability and Service has been excellent," said Lester.

We are sure that after seeing the performance of the 2810L you will agree with Eddie Lester, "This machine is a real horse."

Dear Friends,
 "The University of Kentucky Athletics Department, through the efforts and generosity of our loyal fans, has become a strong and proud program that boasts some of the finest facilities in the entire nation. The dream of a field house, which has been on the drawing board for some time, can soon become a reality through the combined efforts of our loyal fans. As the northernmost state in the Southeastern Conference, it is vital that our coaches and student-athletes have such a facility for the winter months and during periods of inclement weather. We already have the finest coaches in the country, and with the final piece of the puzzle in place, we will have what we need to attract the finest student-athletes."

"The indoor practice facility is extremely valuable to us from three perspectives - 1) togetherness of our athletics program, 2) performance, and 3) recruiting. In recruiting, what this facility says to all prospective student-athletes is that Kentucky intends on winning in football also. We have made a $7 million commitment in that direction. A major feature of the indoor facility would be the football field. The field itself would be stunning to a prospective student-athlete. It would be a major recruiting advantage for the University of Kentucky".

One World One Olympic Games Fax Network

In the spirit of human accomplishment that embodies the Olympic Games, Ricoh has created the first Olympic Games fax network to link all the National Olympic Committees from around the world.

This same spirit has driven Ricoh to build the world's most popular line of fax machines. From our PF-1 portable fax, which is in the Guinness Book of Records* as the world's smallest portable fax machine, to our broad line of plain paper fax machines.

Ricoh offers our best wishes to all the Olympic athletes as they strive for success in 1992.

To spur your company's success, call 1-800-63-RICOH ext. 1308 and put the fax machines used by more people around the world on your team.

The 8mm Giant.

The new RCA Pro 850 8mm Camcorder weighs 1.7 pounds, is the size of a paperback, and does absolutely everything, including making people smile. It has a super-fast lens ($f1.8$) for great color in low light. The infrared focusing system doesn't blur when you go from one subject to the next. There's a flying erase head, a filter that cuts wind noise, and a two-page titler. All of which can go in your pocket, a feat your RCA dealer will deftly arrange if you'll just stop by. To find out where to find him, call 1-800-336-1900.

Changing Entertainment. Again.™

This Is Lexington

Heart of the Bluegrass

his is a place where the past and present meet and mesh gracefully.

Where the downtown skyscrapers overlook thousands of acres of lush pastures, home to Kentucky's most famous resident — the horse.

This is Lexington, home of the University of Kentucky.

Lexington is one beauty of a city. John O. Simonds, a nationally-known landscape architect and the author of several books on land use, calls the Bluegrass region a "national treasure. The Bluegrass area is superlative countryside."

Lexington is the heart of the Bluegrass, the metropolitan shopping, commercial and entertainment hub of east-central Kentucky.

The city has all the attractive qualities of a major metropolitan area, but it is small...and there is an overlay of what can be described as Bluegrass tradition to go along with such major companies as Clark, Ashland Oil (Valvoline), Jerrico, Island Creek Coal, Toyota and many other nationally known firms that have major plants or headquarters in the area.

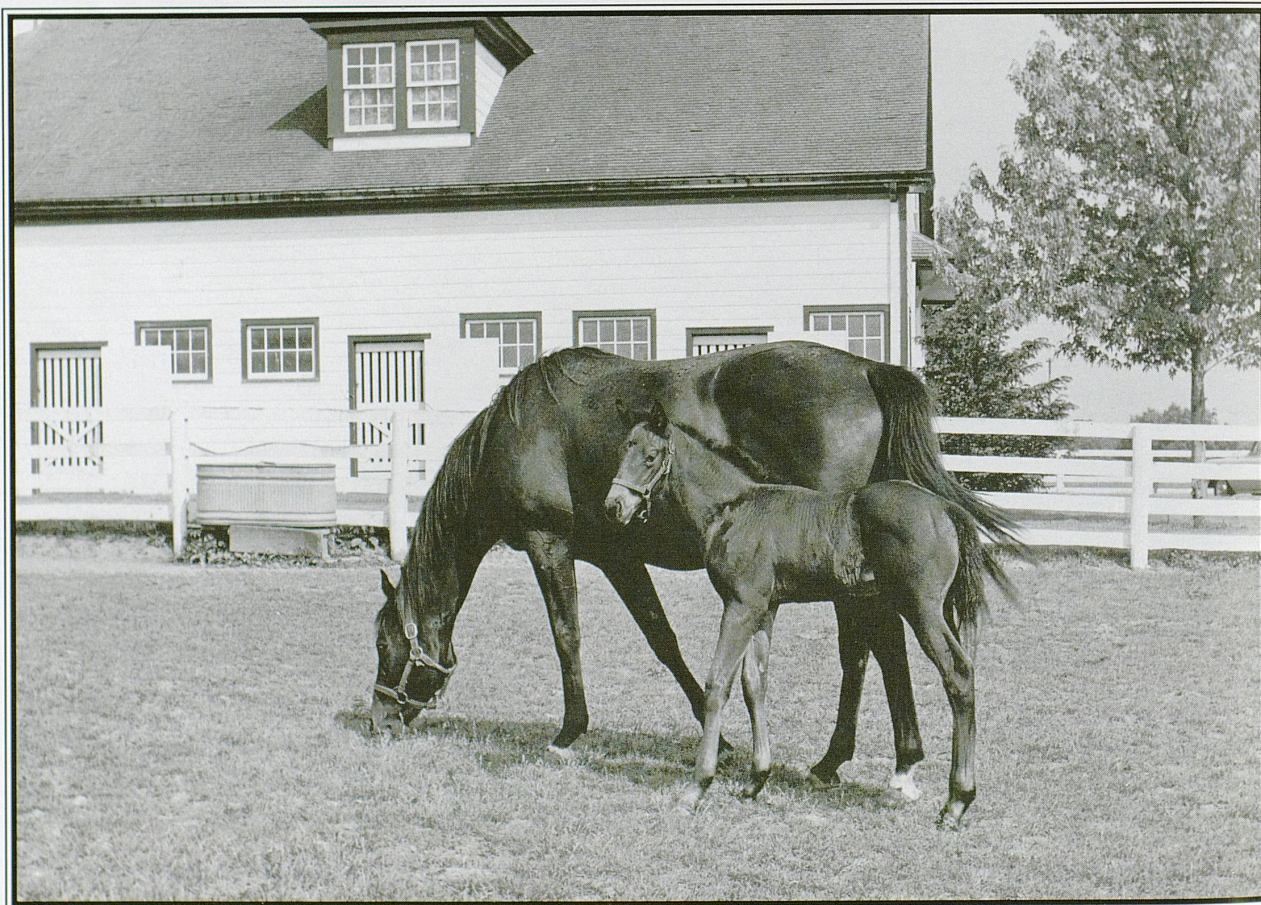

With a population of around 225,000, Lexington is small enough to provide the perfect college atmosphere for the University of Kentucky. But it is also large enough to offer the cultural opportunities usually reserved for larger cities.

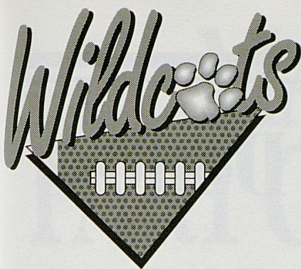

The city offers UK students much in the way of entertainment: a Philharmonic Orchestra, Chamber Music Society, the Lexington Singers, a Council of the Arts and a local ballet company. Movie theaters, international restaurants, coffee houses, top-ranked acts of all types at palatial Rupp Arena in the Lexington Center, historic landmarks, parks, thoroughbred and harness racing, fine fishing in lakes, ponds and streams, and the internationally famous Kentucky Horse Park — all in close proximity to the UK campus — are just a few of the attractions of Lexington and the University of Kentucky.

A recent statewide poll indicated that the Lexington area is the most popular place to live, work and play in Kentucky, and it's an area most residents would not seriously consider leaving.
