This second installment of the Check List of Kentucky Imprints carries the record of early Kentucky titles through the year 1820. The circumstances under which these titles have been gathered, compiled, and edited, and the important part played in their publication by the Kentucky state office of the Historical Records Survey, are substantially as described in the preface to the Check List of Kentucky Imprints 1787-1810 which was published earlier in the year 1939.

It is hoped and expected that the publication of these titles for the period 1811-1820 will still further stimulate the interest of librarians and scholars in early Kentucky imprints and thus lead to the discovery and record of important items of local printed source materials which are as yet unknown. To this end, notes of new titles, or corrections or amplifications of titles herein recorded, are earnestly solicited, so that they may be included in a future supplementary list or incorporated in a revision of the present list. The supplement published with the present list, containing newly discovered titles of the period 1787-1810, shows that the possibilities of discoveries in the field of Kentucky imprints have by no means been exhausted.

This installment of the Kentucky check list presents 429 titles—408 for the period 1811-1820 and (in a supplement) 21 new titles for the earlier period 1787-1810. The supplement also contains improved descriptions of three items previously recorded. The number of titles for the first thirty-four years of the Kentucky press has thus been brought to a total of 808.

Of the 429 additional titles 50 belong to the classification of broadsides, leaving 379 which are pamphlets or books. Seven of the broadsides and 14 of the other titles will be found in the supplement.

Locations in libraries or private collections are indicated for 406 items (48 broadsides and 358 books or pamphlets). Thus there remain 23 items (2 of them broadsides) of which copies have not yet been located. Of these unlocated items, 16 are known as yet only from contemporary advertisements of them or other acceptable evidence that they were actually printed.

The 406 located items are distributed among 158 libraries and 24 private collections. Of the located items, 204 are thus far known from single copies only. These "singletons" include 44 of the broadsides (4 broadsides have been found in 2 copies each) and also 55 single copies of the minutes of various Baptist associations. But there still remain over a hundred other items, many of them of considerable bibliographical or historical interest, of which only single copies can be recorded at this writing.

Nineteen Kentucky libraries and 13 private collections in Kentucky have been found to contain 201 of the 406 located titles, including 57 of those that are known in single copies only—50 distributed among 7 libraries and 7 in 4 private collections. Out of 64 titles of which only 2 copies are recorded, 33 are represented in 7 Kentucky libraries and 3 private collections. In one case, both of the two known copies are in Kentucky libraries.

The most widely distributed title in the present list is no. 612, of which a total of 56 copies have been located in 54 collections. No. 728 has 39 copies in 38 locations; nos. 394 and 553 are found in 27 locations; nos. 504 and 646 in 26; nos. 508 and 685 in 25; nos. 430, 468, 691, and 725 in 24; nos. 390 and 676 in 23; nos. 415, 605, 726, and 761 in 22. Other titles of which ten or more copies have been found are nos. 435 (18 copies), 564 and 601 (15 copies), 511, 584, 681, and 745 (14 copies), 549 (13 copies), 458, 641, and 729 (12 copies), 454, 620, 642, 712, and 721 (11 copies), and 767 (10 copies).

Of these 33 titles that have best withstood the test of survival, 19 are law books (session laws, collected statutes, court reports, and the like), 7 are religious or theological, and 4 are histories.

During the period covered by the present list of titles, the press of Kentucky was still much occupied with matters affecting the religious life of the community and the activities of religious organizations. There are about 80 books and pamphlets of religious controversy and propaganda, sermons, hymn books, and the like, and about 90 titles of the minutes of Kentucky's numerous associations of Baptists—a total of about 170 titles concerned with religion. The next largest group comprises some 80 titles concerned with civil government—laws, statutes, digests and compilations of laws, legal text books, court reports, legislative journals and resolutions, messages and proclamations of the governors, and the like. There are 26 Masonic titles, 20 almanacs, 11 school books, about a dozen titles dealing with the economic life of the state, about the same number of works of fiction and verse, and also some valuable histories and personal memoirs concerned mainly with Kentucky's part in the War of 1812.

The Kentucky legislative journals and session laws of the 19th to the 29th sessions, inclusive, are all represented in the present list by copies located in various libraries. It should be noted, in the case of the legislative journals, that each title page, as printed, bore the year in which the session began, although the sessions (with the exception of the 29th) all continued until January or February of the following year before adjournment. In this list, therefore, the legislative journals will be found under the years in which the sessions adjourned and in which the printing of them must have been completed, and not under the years printed under their imprints. For example, the journals of the 19th session, which began on December 3, 1810, but did not adjourn until January 31, 1811, will be found in this list under 1811, although the printed title pages bear the date 1810.

As with the previous list, each title in the present list has been cleared through the Union Catalog of the Library of Congress. The information available from the resources of that catalog, as always, has been of invaluable assistance in finding locations of copies of a large number of the titles here presented.

To the librarians of all the libraries represented and to the owners of the private collections the compilers of this list are under continued and gratefully acknowledged obligation for assistance received, directly or indirectly. A great many of the librarians and private owners have most patiently and generously responded to innumerable direct requests for aid in the preparation of bibliographical descriptions or in other details of the work. A great many others, with whom no direct contact has been made, have cooperated with the many workers who have been assiduously collecting material for the American Imprints Inventory of the Historical Records Survey. Thus they, too, have made their contributions to the preparation of this list. During the last few years, in fact, the final stages in the work of bringing this list to publication have become a cooperative effort to which so many persons have contributed that it is impracticable to make acknowledgments individually.

With the "Key to Symbols for Libraries" there is here presented a revised count of the number of titles thus far known to the compilers as located in each library for the entire period 1787-1820—including many locations of copies in the previous list which have been reported since that list was published. It must be understood that this count does not by any means purport to be a complete census of all the Kentucky titles through 1820 which are to be found in each library or private collection represented. In fact, the figures are decidedly "subject to change without notice." Many librarians, on checking the lists, will undoubtedly find that their libraries contain titles which have not been credited to them. And it is expected that, as the material now being collected by the American Imprints Inventory is sorted and made accessible for examination, considerable additions will be made to our knowledge of the distribution of these early Kentucky titles throughout our American libraries. It is also expected that still other titles will be found which have not yet been recorded.

In addition to the "Erratta" at the bottom of p. 80, some copies have also a slip, attached to the verso of the title page, containing other errata. Of "Mr. Craighead's Letters," whether or not printed in Kentucky, no copy has been found. In The Pelagian Detected, on p. 24, the title of the Craighead book is cited as Letters containing original philosophical disquisitions; Campbell quotes from it frequently, with page references, the citations showing that it contained at least ten letters and at least 83 pages. "Craighead's Letters to J. P. Campbell" is included in a list of books advertised in the Clarion and Tennessee Gazette, Nashville, in the issue of March 3, 1813. The Craighead letters were doubtless published in reply to Campbell's Several Letters, Addressed to the Rev. T. B. Craighead (Lexington, 1810; see no. 349, above), which appeared in the same contemporary binding with The Pelagian Detected.

On p. 66, Campbell calls Craighead "the grand heresiarch of the west," responsible for the schism of 1803 which resulted in the "Springfield Presbytery" headed by Craighead with Barton W. Stone, Richard McNemar, and John Dunlavy.

13 x 20.5 cm. 132 p.

"Advertisment," p. [iii]-iv, dated April 4, 1811.

A slip containing errata is pasted on p. 102. Pages [103]-132 contain Review of Mr. Merrill's Seven Sermons, on the Mode and Subjects of Baptism (caption title). This refers to "seven sermons . . . by a Mr. Daniel Merrill, A.M., of Sedgwick, District of Maine." Campbell quotes "the Washington edition, made 1810."

University of Chicago has this in contemporary binding with Several Letters, Addressed to the Rev. T. B. Craighead (see note on no. 378, above).

"There is no authority in the department of this state to order out troops at this immediate juncture--when they are most in wanting to repel the savage barbarity that is stalking with gigantic strides through our lands.
 But should we fail in Volunteers, a requisition by way of draft will enclosed resolution passed by the Legislature of this state, at their present | session. | [Frankfort: William Gerard. 1812.] [426]

20 x 24.5 cm. [6] p.

The above is on the first page, the verso of which is blank. On the third page, with the heading "State of Kentucky. | In General Assembly," is a resolution concerning war with England. The resolution is continued to the fourth page. Both sides of the final leaf are blank; the leaf containing the resolution is tipped in between the other two.

Signed "Chas. Scott" and addressed to the President. No imprint, but undoubtedly printed by William Gerard, the state printer.

Resolutions, | Upon the subject of the national Militia. | [Filet] |
[Frankfort, 1812.] | [427]

18 x 26 cm. Broadsheet, printed both sides.

"Resolved by the General Assembly for the state of Kentucky--That, whereas the subject of our national militia at all times important, seems from the aspect of our Foreign Relations to be peculiarly so at the present time; and experience having shown, that the present system has great defects, . . . " The resolutions offer certain suggestions, to be transmitted to the Congress of the United States, for the organization, training and equipment of the nation's militia.

At end: Secretary's Office. Frankfort, February 15th, 1812. I certify the foregoing to be a true copy of enrolled resolutions, filed in this office. [Autograph signature, J. Bledsoe] Secretary.

The Address of Mathew [sic] Lyon, to his friends and the patriotic Citizens generally, of the first | Electoral District in Kentucky. | [1812.]

28 x 44 cm. Broadside. Text in 3 columns. [433]

Name and date at end: M. Lyon. | September 29th, 1812.

This broadside, on coarse, brownish paper, looks like the product of a Kentucky country press, but there is no clue to its origin. In it, Lyon solicits election as a presidential elector. At its date Matthew Lyon resided on a tract of land at Eddyville, in what is now Lyon County, Kentucky. There was no press in that region at the time, the nearest being Matthew Duncan's, at Russellville.

13.5 x 21 cm. 36, 39 p. Printed paper wrappers.

This title is followed by a blank leaf, an errata slip tipped in, and a second title page on p. [1] which was evidently the title under which the author originally intended to publish the first of the two pamphlets in this volume. This second title page reads:

A Sermon, | on Prov. IV. 23, | Handed to the Presbytery of West-Lexington,

"A refutation of the calumnies, circulated with a view to destroy my public and private standing in society, by a certain Samuel Brown, and a few unprincipled confederates, who have seized the occasion to gratify the most malignant passions which deform the character of man." The "calumnies" consisted of the statement that at the beginning of the attack in the battle of New Orleans, January 8, 1815, Poindexter supposed himself to be wounded and fled from the battle field "in search of a doctor" to dress his wounds. Most of the pamphlet consists of letters offered to show the falsity of the statement.

In defence of the constitutionality of the succession of the lieutenant governor to the governorship without a new election. Governor George Madison died October 14, 1816, and Lieutenant Governor Gabriel Slaughter became acting governor. Slaughter's appointment of John Pope as secretary of state in place of Charles S. Todd aroused the opposition of the Kentucky anti-Federalists, who demanded that an election be held to choose a new governor. The general assembly refused to call an election, but also refused to give Slaughter the title of governor, maintaining that under the constitution he was "lieutenant governor and acting governor." See no. 596.

Contains no clue to printer or place of printing except the statement on the verso of the title page: "This Book will be sold by the different Book-Sellers, in the several Places, viz: Lexington Kentucky, Nashville
West Tennessee, Knoxville East Tennessee, Winchester, Woodstok [sic], Staunton, Lexington, and Abington [sic] Virginia." The leading position of Lexington, Ky., in this list of places, together with the title of the book, suggests Kentucky printing. A later edition (4th) was printed at Harrisonburg, Va., in 1821.

The book is poorly printed on inferior paper of two weights. The text abounds in typographical errors. The musical notation is printed from worn and defective music types of antiquated design.

No imprint and no date. The final paragraph has the caption: "Extract of a letter to the Printers of the Reporter." This gives reason for believing that the pamphlet may have been printed at the Reporter office. The letter is over the name of Walter Carr.

The Library of Congress has written on the title page, in what seems to be a contemporary hand, "James Crawford Esq. for the good of the public." Perhaps James Crawford was "Free Suffrage" ?

The writer advocates an election to fill the vacancy in the office of governor caused by the death of Governor George Madison on October 14, 1816, rather than permitting the succession of Lieutenant Governor Gabriel Slaughter.

Evans 24225 curiously dates this 1792.

The | Holy Bible | Containing the | Old and New | Testaments: | Translated out of | the original tongues, | and with the | Former editions diligently compared and revised. | [Short thick-thin rule] | Stereotyped for the American Bible Society | By D. & G. Bruce, New-York, | [Filet] | Lexington, K. | Printed for the Kentucky Auxiliary Bible Society | By William G. Hunt. | [Double row of dots] | 1819. [709]

10.5 x 18 cm. 837 p.

The title page of the New Testament on p. 639 has imprint: Stereotyped | for the American Bible Society | by D. & G. Bruce. | [Filet] | New-York, | 1817.

See the circular of the Kentucky Auxiliary Bible Society of August 15, 1816 (no. 606, above), in which the publication of this Bible was promised: "As a further inducement to engage your attention, we are happy to inform you that, from a letter lately received from the Secretary of the American Bible Society, the people of the Western country have reason to expect that in six or eight months from this time, we will have a set of Stereotype Plates [of the Bible] in Lexington, furnished by that Society." In using these plates the Lexington printer provided his own title page for the volume as a whole, but left the 1817 title page of the New Testament as it stood in the New York stereotype edition of that year.

In the notes of the late Charles Evans which are now in the American Antiquarian Society is the following: "The first western edition of the sacred scriptures in English. A German Bible was published in Somersot, Pa., in 1813. It consists of 2000 copies, printed on a good paper, with the minion stereotype plates belonging to the American Bible Society, and has been executed by the direction of the Kentucky Auxiliary Bible Society." This has the appearance of having been taken by Evans from a contemporary advertisement.

SUPPLEMENT
KENTUCKY IMPRINTS
1787--1810

Since the publication of the Check List of Kentucky Imprints, 1787-1810, information has been received of 21 additional titles, descriptions of which appear below. The numbers assigned to these titles indicate their places in relation to the titles published in the Check List. One of the new titles (no. 158a) is known from a library catalogue entry, but cannot now be located.

Also included are full descriptions of two titles (nos. 49 and 221) which were previously recorded only from contemporary advertisements of them. One of these (no. 221) was listed under 1804, but the imprint on the copy now described shows that it was issued in 1803; it therefore has been given a new number, 185a, to indicate its position among the 1803 titles. There is also a somewhat more complete account of no. 151, which, however, still remains unlocated.

[Sarjent, Abel M.]

The | Alethian Critic; | or | Error Exposed, | by an | Exhibition of
Truth. | [Thick-thin rule] | To be continued quarterly. | [Thin-thick rule]
| Vol. I. | [Thick-thin rule] | [5 lines, quotations] | [Thin-thick rule]
Lexington: | Printed by D. Bradford, Main-Street. | [Filet] | 1804.

10 x 15.5 cm. 72 p.

[222a]

On p. [2] is a short notice to subscribers, over the name of Abel M. Sarjent, Lexington, Ky. On p. [3] is a caption title: The Doctrine of Endless Miseries Investigated; or the Sinews of Antichristian Religion Exploded; text under this title continues to p. 29. Other and shorter subjects occupy p. 30-42. On p. [43] is a caption title: A Declaration of the Constitution and Standard of the Millennium Church; text under this title continues through p. 72, concluding with 12 stanzas of verse.

Advertised in the Kentucky Gazette of May 15, 1804: "Just published, the first number of the Alethian Critic; or Error Exposed by an Exhibition of Truth, . . . " Although this advertisement as well as the above title page indicate an intention to publish a continuation at quarterly intervals, this "Vol. I" is apparently the only one that was ever printed. For this reason it is now accepted as a Kentucky pamphlet imprint, rather than reserved for a list of Kentucky periodicals.
