FOREWORD

The Inventory of the County Archives of New Jersey is one of a number of bibliographies of historical materials prepared throughout the United States, by workers on the Historical Records Survey of the Work Projects Administration. The publication herewith presented, an inventory of the archives of Passaic County, is No. 16 of the New Jersey series.

The Historical Records Survey was undertaken in the winter of 1935-36 for the purpose of providing useful employment to needy unemployed historians, lawyers, teachers, and research and clerical workers. In carrying out this objective, the project was organized to compile inventories of historical materials, particularly the unpublished government documents and records which are basic in the administration of local government, and which provide invaluable data for students of political, economic, and social history. The archival guide herewith presented is intended to meet the requirements of day-to-day administration by the officials of the county, and also the needs of lawyers, businessmen and other citizens who require facts from the public records for the proper conduct of their affairs. The volume is so designed that it can be used by the historian in his research in unprinted sources in the same way he uses the library card catalog for printed sources.

The inventories produced by the Historical Records Survey attempt to do more than give merely a list of records -- they attempt further to sketch in the historical background of the county or other unit of government, and to describe precisely and in detail the organization and functions of the government agencies whose records they list. The county, town, and other local inventories for the entire country will, when completed, constitute an encyclopedia of local government, as well as a bibliography of local archives.

The successful conclusion of the work of the Historical Records Survey, even in a single county, would not be possible without the support of public officials, historical and legal specialists, and many other groups in the community. Their co-operation is gratefully acknowledged.

The Survey was organized and has been directed by Luther H. Evans, and operates as a Nation-wide project in the Division of Professional and Service Projects, of which Mrs. Florence V. Kerr, Assistant Commissioner, is in charge.

Commissioner

PREFACE

The Historical Records Survey of New Jersey was organized in February 1936 as a division of the Federal Writers' Project of the Works Progress Administration. In November of the same year, the Survey became a separate Nation-wide unit of Federal Project No. 1 under the technical supervision of Dr. Luther H. Evans, National Director, and under the administrative supervision of Mrs. Elizabeth C. Denny Vann, State Director of Professional and Service Projects. On September 1, 1939, the New Jersey project became a State-wide project under the local sponsorship of the New Jersey State Planning Board. At present, in addition to those mentioned above, the project is under the supervision of Mrs. Agnes Cronin, Regional Supervisor of Professional and Service Projects, and Mr. R. C. Branion, Regional Director of WPA.

The Inventory of the County Archives of New Jersey will, when completed, consist of 21 volumes, one for each county in the State. The individual units are to be numbered according to their respective positions in an alphabetical list of the counties. Thus, the inventory herewith presented for Passaic County is No. 16. The inventories of the State and municipal archives will be published in separate series.

The Survey is now engaged in preparing a comprehensive statement of the general laws regarding county government, to be entitled County Government in New Jersey. It is expected that this book will serve as a handbook on the organization, structure, and evolution of county government in New Jersey, and will make it unnecessary to repeat certain items of general information in the various inventories. The office essays in this inventory are, therefore, limited to information on the creation of the office and its present status, the manner in which it is filled, and the term. In addition, a sentence or two setting forth the major duty or function of the office has been included. All special legislation pertaining to the county will be found in the governmental organization essay. Pending issuance of the volume on County Government in New Jersey it is suggested that the reader consult the Inventory of the County Archives of New Jersey, No. 2, Bergen County, for more detailed information on counties of the second class than is found in the Passaic County Inventory.

Work on the survey of the records in Passaic County began September 27, 1939, and with the exception of "Hope Dell," the county welfare home, records of which were not accessible, was completed October 17, 1939. The field work was supervised by Frank J. Erwin, District Supervisor, assisted by Louis A. Lupton, David Keeffe, Erwin Schroers, and Henry Van Haste. The recheck was made by Henry Losee, James Gallagher, and Lawrence G. Ryan, of the editorial staff.

Preface

The historical sketch was prepared by members of our editorial staff. The essays on housing, care, and accessibility of the records and governmental organization, as well as the maps and charts, are the work of Elmer V. Swan. The office essays were written by B. James Motte and William Yacavone and edited by Calder B. Perryclear. The entries were edited under the supervision of Allyn G. Jackson, with the assistance of Louis J. Perrelli, Harold Waters, and H. Alfred Rapa. Legal research for entries and essays and citation checking was done under the direction of Thomas P. Chichi. The inventory was compiled under the editorial supervision of Gustave Koeppe, editorial assistant, and Max Birnbaum, consultant. The format of this volume was designed and its publication was supervised by Harold P. Mountan. Administrative detail of the project was directed by Carl John Bostelmann, assistant project supervisor.

The inventory in final manuscript form was edited by Mabel S. Brodie, assistant archivist in charge of public records inventories, of the Library of Congress Historical Records Survey project staff.

The various volumes of the Inventory of the County Archives of New Jersey will be distributed without charge to government offices, libraries, and historical societies in New Jersey, and similar institutions and depositories in other states. A list of inventories and other volumes already published will be found on the final page of this book.

This Inventory could never have been completed but for the cooperation of Dr. Luther H. Evans, National Director, Sargent B. Child, Regional Director, and of the officials of the county. Grateful acknowledgment of their aid is hereby given.

The editorial staff of the Historical Records Survey of New Jersey wishes to express its gratitude to Robert W. Allan, State Administrator, for his personal service and attention which were of inestimable aid in the production of this inventory and for the continuance of the Survey under local sponsorship.

Requests for information concerning any unit of the inventory should be addressed to the undersigned at 1060 Broad Street, Newark, New Jersey.

January 1940.

1. HISTORICAL SKETCH

Introduction

Passaic County is unique among New Jersey counties and in the Nation as the scene of the initial impetus given by Alexander Hamilton to organized American industry.[1] The county was created in 1837 from sections of Essex and Bergen Counties.[2] The area, settled originally both by the English from Newark, seat of Essex County, and the Dutch from Hackensack, seat of Bergen County, experienced a development different from that of adjacent regions. Consequently, to understand its history it is necessary to trace these beginnings in the area which has been incorporated into Passaic County.

Settlement

The Indians in New Jersey, prior to 1655, were so numerous and their attitude was so uncertain that the whites did not penetrate far inland. However, the settlers established supremacy after a brief but bloody war, and colonization of the interior began.[3] Newark was settled in 1666 by a group of New Englanders, whose purchase stretched northerly along the Passaic River to the Yantacaw, or Third River.[4]

The first settlement in Passaic County was at Acquackanonk, part of which has become the city of Passaic.[5] Two Labadist[6] missionaries, sent to America from Holland to investigate the possibility of establishing a colony here, have left an account of Acquackanonk.[7] In the journal of the Labadist missionary, Danckaerts, under date of October 28, 1679, the following appears:

> While we were in the village of Bergen, a person came to us who was willing to take us up through the Northwest Kil, (Passaic River) where we were inclined to go, because of Jacques of Long Island[8] and his associates, had bought for a trifle, a piece of land there ... and he had related wonders to us about it; and that above his land, and above the falls which are more than an hour's distance from it, there was another tract still better ... considered by them (the inhabitants of the town of Bergen) the best in all New Netherlands ....[9]

On Tuesday, March 5, 1680, Danckaerts wrote:

> Ackquekenon is a tract of 12,000 morgen ... It is a fine piece of land, the best tract of woodland that we have seen except one at the south ... On one side of it is the Northwest Kill, which is navigable by large boats and yachts thus far, but not beyond ....[10]

This territory was deeded on April 4, 1678, by Captehan Peeters, an Indian Sachem, to Hartman Michielsen, a Hollander, of Bergen.[11] There is a tradition, however, that Acquackanonk was settled about 1674.[12]

The first deed from the East Jersey Proprietors for land in Passaic County granted to Christopher Hoagland, merchant of New York, "two tracts of land at Haquickquenock, on the Pisawack river." It was dated July 15, 1678.[13] In 1679, Michielsen and a number of his neighbors purchased a large tract fronting the river and extending up to the falls[14] and, in 1680, he bought out Hoagland.[15] Five years later, Michielsen perfected his Indian grant by obtaining a patent from the East Jersey Proprietors.[16] The settlement was recognized by the Governor and Council on December 3, 1683, when they ordered a warrant to "be issued forth for the Choyce of a Constable by the Inhabitants at Aquaninoncke .... " [17] Michielsen and his associates subsequently received a patent from the East Jersey Proprietors.[18]

The territory near Acquackanonk was so attractive that, between 1679 [19] and 1711,[20] all the land now included in Passaic County was purchased.[21]

Organization of County

About 1820, pressure was exerted on the legislature to create a county in the district surrounding Paterson.[22] In the winter of 1828-29, bills were introduced to form new counties. One bill was for the formation of a Paterson County from parts of Essex, Bergen, and Morris Counties. Another would have set off Pompton, West Milford, and parts of Morris into a county to be called Pompton.[23] Both bills failed due to opposition by the southern counties.[24] A compromise was reached in 1837; one northern (East Jersey) county and one southern (West Jersey) county were to be established. The act was passed February 7, 1837.[25] By this act, Acquackanonk Township in Essex County (wherein was located the village of Paterson) and the townships of Pompton and West Milford and the western parts of Saddle River Township in Bergen County were set off to form Passaic County.[26]

Boundaries

Passaic County is in the northeastern section of New Jersey. It is bounded on the north by Orange County, New York, and a portion of Bergen County, New Jersey; on the east by Bergen County; on the south by Essex and Morris Counties; and on the west by Sussex County.

The only change in the boundaries of Passaic County occurred in 1907, when 48 acres of land were taken from the "townships of Acquackanonk and Little Falls and annexed to and made a part of the town of Montclair, in the county of Essex." [27]

Courthouses

The act of 1837 provided that all persons in office, "except clerks, surrogates, and prosecutors of the pleas," were to hold office "as if they had been elected and appointed to their said offices ... provided however, that all judges of the court of common pleas and justices of the peace shall qualify, according to law ... on or before the first day of May next ...." [28] Until the seat of justice for the county was determined, courts were held at

Ira Munn's home in Paterson.[29] Courts first convened there in April 1837, and later were held in the old Cross Street Methodist Church.[30] The property for a courthouse was deeded to the county by the Society of Useful Manufactures July 3, 1837,[31] and the cornerstone was laid in Paterson on October 13, 1837.[32] On May 8, 1839, the board of freeholders first used the new courthouse for their meeting place,[33] and on July 16 of the same year the building was dedicated.[34] The structure was enlarged in 1872,[35] but was again outgrown within a decade.[36] The present courthouse was authorized June 19, 1897. Its cornerstone was laid on April 27, 1898, and the new building was ready for occupancy on October 26, 1903.[37]

Revolutionary War

Passaic County was often traversed by the British and American Armies and skirmishes occurred at Acquackanonk in 1776 and 1778.[38] In 1775, Acquackanonk and Newark residents held a meeting to co-ordinate defense measures, despite opposition by many leading citizens.[39] Notwithstanding this reaction one of the first companies of New Jersey militia was raised among Ringwood workmen.[40] The main American Army was camped at Totowa during the summer and autumn of 1780.[41] A part of the city of Paterson rests on that campground.[42]

Civil War

The people of Passaic County responded with enthusiasm to the call for troops during the Civil War, and fought at Bull Run, Williamsburg, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, and Antietam.[43] Many volunteers, unwilling to wait for the President's second call, entered the Excelsior Brigade and other organizations in New York and Pennsylvania.[44]

World War

During the World War, every branch of the service had a Passaic County resident, many of whom were cited for valor, Louis Van Iersel, of Passaic, said to be the most decorated man in the American Army, received 13 of the highest awards for courage from the Allies.[45]

Religion

In 1686, Dominie Petrus Tassemaker ordained elders for the Hackensack church and probably organized a church in Acquackanonk about this time.[46] The earliest Acquackanonk church record goes back to June 1693, but a church is mentioned in a deed, dated April 10, 1693.[47] In 1693, Guillaume Bertholf, at first voorliser (reader) in the Hackensack and Acquackanonk congregations, was ordained in Holland. He became New Jersey's first settled minister of the Dutch Reformed Church in 1694.[48] The first church building in Acquackanonk was built about 1702, but the oldest existing record of this church is for 1726.[49] The first Dutch Reformed Church at Totowa (Old Dutch Church of Totowa) was erected in 1755. It was the only church in existence when Paterson was founded, and the first church organized in the new town was the First Presbyterian Church.[50] On May 2, 1814, the trustees of this church met and "staked out the Church Lot on the Square ...." [51] An election of trustees was held "at the School House" in October 1814,[52] and the completed church building was first used for an annual meeting November 7, 1821.[53]

Education

Almost as soon as they had established a church, the Acquackanonk settlers provided for a neighborhood school where, probably, the rudimentary subjects were first taught in the Dutch language. The church and the schoolhouse stood side by side for more than a century.[54] Guillaume Bertholf, who describes himself in the records of April 10, 1693 as a "schoolmaster and authorized writer," [55] was the first schoolmaster in the county.[56]

The oldest reference to a schoolhouse is found in a Pompton road return in 1768. It mentions a road "beginning at the fence of Abraham Bertholf, Near the schoolhouse." [57] In April 1794, the Society of Useful Manufactures employed a teacher to instruct, on the Sabbath, children who were employed in factories.[58] Many schools were established during 1806-30, in what became Passaic County,[59] but most of these were private.

The children of the wealthy, who were not sent from home for a higher education, attended one of the schools established in the neighborhood by some classical scholar. Thus, early in the nineteenth century, Dr. Blachley taught a classical school at Acquackanonk, and there was a similar school in Paterson.[60] In 1832, there were 20 pay schools in Paterson, 1 free school supported by the town, 1 infant school for poor children between the ages of 3 and 8, and 7 Sabbath schools.[61]

The legislature, on January 26, 1836, passed an act providing for the establishment of public schools in Paterson.[62] In 1856, Dr. John M. Howe, who had moved to Acquackanonk from New York, was chosen town superintendent and made president of the school trustees. He agitated for a schoolhouse (there being none except for the dilapidated building on the church lot), but was voted down. He then built his own private school, later called Howe's Academy, which became famous.[63] Gradually, public schools came into favor. In 1873, the first high school class was graduated. By 1881, the school population of Passaic had reached 2,000 students, and there were 19 teachers and 90 pupils in the high school.[64] The combined elementary and high school population of Passaic County at present is 54,216.[65]

Industry and Labor

At the end of the Revolutionary War, Alexander Hamilton, convinced that "the establishment of manufactures in the United States [would be]... of the highest importance to their prosperity," [66] planned the organization of a gigantic stock company to invest in American manufacturing.[67] New Jersey was selected because "the State having scarcely any external commerce and no waste lands to be peopled can feel the impulse of no supposed interest hostile to the advancement of manufactures." [68] The company was granted a charter "of the most liberal character" [69] and was incorporated, November 22, 1791, as the Society for Establishing Useful Manufactures.[70] After considering various localities, the society decided to locate its works at the Passaic Falls because of the fine water supply available for power and transportation and its accessibility to harbors.[71]

At the time of the incorporation of the Society of Useful Manufactures, Paterson was a small settlement of "ten dwellings and one church." [72] The necessity for a permanent community to serve as a center for the industry about to be undertaken caused the directors to obtain incorporation of the township of Paterson[73] with extraordinary powers.[74]

The officers were: "a mayor, recorder, twelve aldermen, and twelve assistants, and town clerk," who were "appointed by the Council and General Assembly ... in joint meeting, and commissioned by the governor ...."[75] Any seven officers could hold a court of quarter sessions. They could also act as a court of common pleas and as justices of the peace.[76]

In 1794, the Society of Useful Manufactures built a small cotton mill.[77] Meanwhile, Bull Mill, a temporary frame building where coarse yarns were spun by oxenpower and horsepower, had been erected.[78] This was the first cotton mill in New Jersey.[79] In 1796, the society found its means exhausted and decided to discontinue work.[80] Since then, the organization has expended its efforts, capital, and water power for establishing manufactures by others.[81] By 1810, the several hundred inhabitants of Paterson were nearly all dependent on the industries established there.[82]

Paterson's silk industry began in 1839, when Christopher Colt, son of Elisha Colt, of Connecticut, established his first silk mill.[83] The next year John Ryle introduced the art of silk dyeing in Paterson.[84] In 1862 or 1863, the Phoenix Silk Manufacturing Company was organized and, in 1867, Dexter Lambert and Company moved to Paterson from Boston.[85] The silk production of Paterson by 1870 was almost half of the country's and, in 1880, about 90 percent of New Jersey's silk manufactures were located there.[86] John Clark started the first machine shop in New Jersey when he leased the lower floor of the Society of Useful Manufactures' cotton mill in 1795.[87] The Danforth Locomotive and Machine Shops, one of the largest organizations of its kind in the United States, had its beginnings in Paterson about this time.[88] Other enterprises which developed in Paterson were: The Patent Arms Factory, which manufactured automatic pistols;[89] the woolen industry, which started with a fulling mill, established in 1808;[90] and the flax, hemp, and jute industries.[91]

Indicative of the industrial development in Passaic County during the last century is the fact that Paterson's industries, in 1827, employed 1,453 workers, whose annual pay was $221,123,[92] whereas, on October 15, 1939, there were, in 58 manufacturing establishments of that city, 14,369 workers receiving $403,202 in wages, weekly.[93]

Acquackanonk, at the head of the tidewater, was the shipping hub for the products of the forests, fields, and mines of Hunterdon, Sussex, and Bergen Counties in New Jersey, and of Rockland and Orange Counties in New York. It possessed the only bridge over the Passaic River; used, incidentally, by the contending armies during the first 2 years of the Revolutionary War.[94]

The county's, and perhaps the State's first manufacturing industry was a tannery established by Stephen Bassett, who settled in Passaic County in 1735.[95] The legislature empowered Brant Van Blarcom and John S. Van Winkle, in 1828, to build a dam across the river and dig a canal to furnish power, but they lacked the capital to do so.[96] The Dundee Water Power and Land Company[97] built the canal in 1858,[98] and developed the manufacturing area known as the Dundee section of the city of Passaic. A foundry was established in Acquackanonk about 1840.[99] The manufacture[1] and bleaching[2] of textiles are the most important of Passaic's industries.[3]

On October 15, 1939, there were, in 46 manufacturing plants in the district of Passaic and Garfield, 23,555 wage earners whose weekly salaries totaled $550,932.[4]

Existence of iron works at Pompton was noted in a survey made in 1726.[5] In 1816, the Pompton works were conducted in connection with Ringwood's,[6] built in 1742.[7] Others were erected during the latter half of the eighteenth century.[8] By the middle of the nineteenth century, there were many forges in northern Passaic County, and there was an excellent red sandstone quarry at Little Falls.[9]

Newspapers

There are 39 newspapers in Passaic County; 3 of them are dailies.[10] The first newspaper published in Passaic County, records indicate, was the Paterson Bee, a small weekly started in 1816, which lasted 1 year.[11] The Paterson Intelligencer, established in 1825, was the first paper which prospered in Paterson.[12] The Passaic Guardian was founded by Andrew Mead in 1836, and it ceased publication in 1915.[13] In 1872, the Passaic Herald News was established. It is the oldest paper still published in the county.[14]

Highways, Bridges, and Railroads

The earliest routes in Passaic County were Indian trails.[15] During 1682,[16] 1716,[17] and 1718,[18] the New Jersey Legislature passed laws aiding the establishment of roads and bridges. The first road constructed by white settlers probably was the "King's Highway, along the river, near the Acquackanonk Church." It is mentioned in a Dutch deed, dated April 10, 1693.[19] The oldest record in which the laying out of a public road in what is now Passaic County is noted, bears the date March 26, 1707.[20]

The first railroad in the area which became Passaic County was the Paterson and Hudson. It was opened in 1832 and connected Paterson and Jersey City.[21] Another important railroad was the Paterson and Ramapo line, constructed in 1851.[22] When the Erie Railroad Company leased the Paterson and Hudson and the Paterson and Ramapo Railroads, Paterson achieved direct communication with the West.[23]

Because of its location on the Passaic River, the problem of erecting bridges has been incessant in Passaic County. The first bridge[24] was constructed prior to 1741.[25] The Broadway Bridge was built about 1815 by the inhabitants of both sides of the river and, subsequent to 1819, it was accepted by Bergen and Essex Counties.[26] A veritable boom of bridge building occurred during the nineteenth century.[27] Passaic County's network of major highways, waterways, tunnels, and bridges connect it with every part of the State and Nation. It has easy access to New York, Philadelphia, New England's industrial communities, and the West.[28]

Population

The rapid development of industry and internal improvements kept pace with the growth in population. In 1840,[29] Passaic County had 16,734 inhabitants.[30] This figure increased to 155,202 by 1900,[31] and, in 1930, the population had virtually doubled, numbering 302,129.[32] Most of these people are engaged in some phase of industry or business, for with a land area of 125,440 acres, Passaic County devotes only 9.7 percent of its territory to agricultural pursuits.[33]

2. GOVERNMENTAL ORGANIZATION

Introduction

New Jersey created counties, legislatively, as governmental subdivisions for judicial and political purposes. Each county is a body politic, corporate in law, with considerable powers of self-government. The 21 counties of New Jersey have been grouped into 6 classes, based on population, for the purpose of facilitating the passage of legislation appropriate to each class.

Passaic County, in the second class, was established by statute in 1837 from parts of Bergen and Essex Counties. Thus, Passaic County inherited a fairly well-developed county government derived from a century and a half's experience of the older counties.[1] Its present governmental organization represents an alliance of powers delegated to it by the State, and those functions which have been assumed by the county in its capacity as a corporate body with quasi-legislative authority. Since 1837, the county has enlarged its original governmental structure by adding such offices as were necessary to expedite its business. The co-ordination of the functions of the individual units now in operation are explained herewith.

Administration

Administrative control and supervision over the property, finances, and public affairs of Passaic County are exercised by the board of chosen freeholders, except where such powers are vested, by law, in another governmental agency.[2] Legal service and advice to the board regarding its powers and duties are furnished by the county counsel.[3]

Finance: Taxation and Fiscal Control

The taxation function is performed by the county board of taxation, which apportions municipal taxes on the basis of an annual itemized budget statement submitted by the board of freeholders.[4] The fiduciary function is discharged by the county treasurer, who receives and disburses all county moneys.[5] Periodic audits of the county's financial records are performed by a private firm of certified public accountants, employed on an annual contract.[6]

Recording

The recording of instruments affecting title to real property is a duty of the register of deeds and mortgages.[7] Documents pertaining to the probate of wills and related matters are recorded by the surrogate, as clerk of the orphans' court.[8] The recording of peddlers' licenses issued to veterans, gun permits, and certificates of incorporation is one of the duties of the county clerk.[9]

Administration of Justice

The present judicial system in New Jersey is divided, according to jurisdiction, into four general groups: Equity, criminal, civil, and probate courts.

Equity jurisdiction, except for one equity function performed by the circuit court, is exercised exclusively by the Court of Chancery, which is a state court operating in the counties by means of districts or vicinages.[10] Criminal jurisdiction is vested in several courts: The court of oyer and terminer has cognizance over all crimes of an indictable nature, including treason and murder;[11] the court of quarter sessions may try all offenses within the county, except treason and murder;[12] the court of special sessions may try any case, without a jury, triable before the court of quarter sessions;[13] and the criminal judicial district court has concurrent jurisdiction with the courts of quarter sessions and special sessions to try all misdemeanors committed within the district of the court, and has exclusive jurisdiction over all criminal cases formerly heard by recorders, police justices, and justices of the peace. It also has concurrent jurisdiction with the juvenile and domestic relations court in cases involving domestic relations.[14] The Supreme Court has original and appellate jurisdiction in criminal, as well as civil matters.[15]

Civil matters are heard in the court of common pleas, which has jurisdiction over civil actions irrespective of amount;[16] the circuit court has jurisdiction concurrent with that of the Supreme Court in all cases within the county except those of a criminal nature.[17] Actions involving election contests, confirmation of assessments, eminent domain, and various other matters are within the authority of this court.[18] The district courts are city courts, but have county-wide territorial jurisdiction in civil actions involving sums not exceeding $500.[19] The small cause court functions in municipalities which have no district courts. This court, held by a justice of the peace, considers all civil actions not in excess of $200, and also hears proceedings between landlords and tenants.[20]

Probate actions are heard in the orphans' court, which also has jurisdiction over assignments for the benefit of creditors. The power to probate wills where no objection is registered is given to the surrogate, though he does not hold court.[21] Special jurisdiction is granted to the juvenile and domestic relations court, which hears cases concerned with juvenile delinquency and domestic relations. However, in Passaic County the criminal judicial district court has concurrent jurisdiction with the juvenile and domestic relations court in cases involving domestic relations.[22]

The custody of court records is invariably the responsibility of the clerks of the various courts. The county clerk serves as clerk of six courts, and the surrogate is clerk of the orphans' court.[23] The original records of the Supreme Court and those of the Chancery Court are kept by their respective clerks at their Trenton offices.[24]

Execution of judicial process, which entails the service of all processes, summonses, and writs of execution issuing from the county courts, Court of Chancery, and the Supreme Court, is performed by the sheriff.[25] The function of summoning jurors has always been exercised by the sheriff. Since 1913, the sheriff and a duly appointed citizen of Passaic County have discharged this service as commissioners of juries.[26] Whenever the venire is directed to the coroner, he may perform this function.[27]

Inquests are held by the coroner when ordered by the county physician.[28] In lieu of inquests, complete investigations into the manner and cause of deaths attended by suspicious circumstances are conducted by the prosecutor of the pleas.[29] The burial of unidentified bodies is in charge of the county's morgue keepers.[30]

Prosecution of criminal offenders accused of violating state laws within the boundaries of the county is the duty of the prosecutor of the pleas.[31] The supervision of persons placed on probation by any of the courts, and of persons ordered to make payments for support in a decree of divorce or legal separation, is assigned to the chief probation officer.[32]

Enforcement of Law

Law enforcement in the county is assigned to several offices. Arrests and criminal investigations are performed by the offices of the prosecutor of the pleas,[33] and the sheriff, who is the chief police officer of the county.[34] Imprisonment is in charge of the sheriff, who also has custody of the county jail.[35] The maintenance of the State standards of weights and measures and the inspection of all weights and measures used in trade within the county are the charge of the superintendent of weights and measures.[36]

Elections

Primary and general elections, including commission form of government elections held within the county, are supervised by the county board of elections, assisted by district boards overseeing the polls in municipal wards.[37]

Education

Supervision over free public education in all counties, including Passaic, is the function of the State Board of Education, an office first established in 1866.[38] All regulations promulgated by the State Board of Education are enforced in Passaic County by the county superintendent of schools.[39]

Welfare

The care and housing of the indigent within the county has, since 1931, been in charge of the welfare board, which manages "Hope Dell," the county welfare house.[40] Under control of the board, the director of welfare, who is also the county adjuster, supervises the settlement and relief of the poor and serves as approval officer in cases requiring old-age assistance.[41] Supervision of the preparation of papers relative to commitment of the insane, epileptic, feeble-minded, and tuberculous persons is the duty of the county adjuster.[42] In order to provide healthful recreation for underprivileged children, Passaic County has established a health camp, called Camp Hope, which is under the supervision of the commission for the administration of Camp Hope.[43] Proper burial for deceased indigent war veterans and nurses, as well as care of their graves and erection of headstones, is furnished by the county under the direction of the superintendent of soldiers' burials.[44]

Health

Since Passaic County has not established a county board of health, the function of preserving public health, with the exception of the care of hospitalized persons suffering from tuberculosis and contagious diseases and the medical care of the inmates of the county jail, is almost entirely under the jurisdiction of municipal boards of health which operate under the supervision of the State Board.[45] Tuberculars have been given medical attention at the county tuberculosis hospital known as "The Valley View Sanatorium" since it was established in 1927.[46] The county physician and another duly licensed physician certify commitments of mental cases to state institutions.[47]

Public Works

Public works activities in Passaic County are administered by the following officials and commissions: County road supervisor, county engineer, county park commission, mosquito extermination commission, and the county planning board.

The building of roads, bridges, storm sewers, and drains within the county is under the jurisdiction of the county engineer.[48] Responsibility for the care and maintenance of county roads is assigned to the county road supervisor.[49] Provision for public recreation within the county, a relatively recent activity, is assigned to the county park commission, which, since 1926,[50] has laid out and supervised public parks within the county.[51] The elimination of mosquito breeding areas has been the duty of the mosquito extermination commission.[52]

The State Legislature, in 1935, cognizant of the growth of the public works function of county government, authorized the establishment of a county planning board whose duty it would be to submit recommendations on the physical development of the county to the board of freeholders.[53]

Passaic County, however, had found it necessary to establish such a commission in 1929, 6 years prior to legislative action.[54] The office now functions in accordance with legislative provisions.

Miscellaneous

As an aid to all the county officials, Passaic County, in 1890, appointed a librarian in charge of the county law library.[55]

3. HOUSING, CARE, AND ACCESSIBILITY OF THE RECORDS

The courthouse was for many years Passaic County's most important public building. It was the center of the county's governmental functions, housing the courts and nearly all of the county offices until as late as 1937. In that year, in order to relieve overcrowding of the administrative offices, the county purchased and remodeled the former United States Post Office of Paterson to serve as the administration building.

Two courthouses have served the county since it was created in 1837. The first courthouse was planned in 1837 and completed 2 years later "at the head of Main Street near the Catholic Church" in Paterson, the county seat.[1] It was a two-story brownstone structure approximately 50 x 50 feet, surmounted by a square cupola, which was removed from the building in 1846. The building was more than doubled in size when a two-story extension, 70 x 50 feet, was added to the original structure in 1871.[2]

Prior to the erection of the first courthouse, the first court of the county convened in the home of Ira Munn, afterwards the old Passaic Hotel. While the courthouse was being built, the courts sat in the old Cross Street Methodist Church. During that period, the county clerk used an office in a private building rented at a cost of $80 per year.[3]

The present large courthouse, the county's second, located at Clark, De Grasse, and Hamilton Streets, Paterson, was completed and ready for occupancy on October 26, 1903. It is a three-story structure, with a basement, built of marble and granite, and its dimensions are 171 x 152 feet. It is built in the shape of a Greek cross, with porticoes at the front and rear featuring Corinthian columns and sculptured pediments. The building, surmounted by a large copper-covered cupola, is 90 percent fireproof.

The basement or ground floor of the courthouse now houses the offices of the sheriff, room 1; the county librarian, room 2; the clerks of the first and second criminal judicial district courts, room 4; the courtroom of the first and second criminal judicial district courts, room 6; the commissioners of juries, room 7; and the Federal Naturalization Bureau, room 9.

The first floor contains the offices of the register of deeds and mortgages, room 11; the surrogate and State Inheritance Tax Bureau, room 12, and the county clerk, room 14.

On the second floor are located the offices of the chief probation officer, room 23; the prosecutor of the pleas, room 26; the courtroom of the circuit court, room 21, and the courtroom of common pleas court, No. 1, room 22.

On the third or top floor of the courthouse are the courtroom of the court of common pleas, No. 2, room 31; the chambers of the Chancery Court, room 36; the meeting room of the grand jury, room 37, and the office of the clerk to the grand jury, room 37. The courtroom of the court of common pleas, No. 1, is used at intervals by the court of quarter sessions, the court of special sessions, the orphans' court, and the juvenile court. The court of over and terminer uses any available courtroom for its hearings and its records are kept by the county clerk.

The sheriff occupies a suite of offices located on the west side of the south wing. It consists of two large rooms used respectively as a public waiting room and a general office. The five smaller rooms serve as the process servers' office, a record room for the identification bureau, a dressing room for court attendants, and the sheriff's private office, adjoining which is a small waiting room. All rooms, except the identification bureau's file room, have good light and ventilation. Approximately 40 percent of the sheriff's records are kept in the general office in a fireproof safe, vault, and in modern steel filing cabinets, and 15 percent of the records are distributed among the other rooms. The sheriff keeps 45 percent of his records at the county jail, where another identification bureau is maintained. The records are in good condition and special permission, available only to lawyers, must be obtained from the sheriff or his deputy for access to the files. The facilities will soon be exhausted because of the rapid accumulation of records.

The county librarian maintains an office and law library which is located on the south side of the west wing. The room is equipped with modern steel bookracks, shelving, and file cabinets. All the records of the office are housed here and may be seen upon application to the librarian. Ventilation is good, but artificial light is needed during the day.

Opposite the law library, on the north side of the west wing, is the surrogate's record vault, adjoining which is the office and record room of the State Inheritance Tax Bureau, in which are housed some of the county records relating to this office.

In room 4 of the basement, on the east side of the north wing, are located the combined offices of the clerks of the first and second criminal judicial district courts, adjoining which are the judges' chambers and a courtroom, which are shared by both courts. All the records of the two courts are kept in modern fireproof safes and steel cabinets in the offices of their respective clerks. Space will be needed to house the increasing volume of records, which will soon exhaust the present facilities. Lighting and ventilation are poor. Access to the records is obtainable by permission of the court clerks. Domestic relations cases, also, are heard in this courtroom.

Housing, Care, and Accessibility of the Records (First entry, p. 38)

On the north end of the east wing is the record vault of the county clerk.

The commissioners of juries occupy a two-room office on the east side of the south wing. One room is used by the clerks and houses all of the department's records. These are well maintained in modern steel filing cabinets. The other room is the private office of the commissioners. Lighting and ventilation are good and ample room is available for future records. The records are not open for inspection.

A large office and record room comprise the quarters of the Federal naturalization bureau, which is located in the east side of the south wing. In its well lighted and ventilated rooms, housed in modern steel filing cabinets, are most of the bureau's records. Ample space is available for the proper maintenance of future records. Some of the records of this department are kept by the county clerk in his naturalization files, which are maintained for the common pleas court.

On the first floor in the south side of the east and west wings and in the whole south wing, the register of deeds and mortgages, who heads the most important record-keeping department, maintains a suite of four large rooms: A general office, a typists' room, and two record rooms for the use of title searchers. A searchers' vault, modern steel filing cabinets, and equipment, house the unbound records, while the bound volumes are placed on steel roller-type shelves, which line the four walls, and on additional shelf racks in the center of the record rooms. These record rooms will soon reach their maximum capacity. All of the register's records, 85 percent of which are kept in the two large record rooms, are at present in excellent condition. The general office and typists' room house 2 percent of the records, while 13 percent are kept in the basement vault adjoining room 2. Permission to inspect the records may be obtained from the clerks in charge. Lighting and ventilation are good in all but the record rooms.

The county clerk maintains a general office, and a record room containing a searchers' vault in the north side of the east wing on the first floor, in addition to a private office, a public waiting room, and a "dead" vault which are in the basement, directly under the general office. A fireproof safe and modern steel filing equipment comprise the record-keeping facilities of this department. The searchers' vault and basement "dead" vault house the bound volumes on steel roller-type shelves. The "dead" vault contains approximately 20 percent of the county clerk's records; the searchers' vault, 60 percent; and the general office, 10 percent. About 8 percent of his records are housed in the basement vaults adjacent to room 2 and room 6. The remainder of the records are kept in the naturalization bureau, room 9; register's searching vault, room 11; the cupola of the county courthouse; the upper vault, room 201, administration building; county counsel's office; and in the freeholders' office, room 212, administration building. A small room adjoining the office of the naturalization bureau is used for storage of the county clerk's election supplies.

Housing, Care, and Accessibility of the Records (First entry, p. 38)

A suite of three rooms on the first floor and an old record vault in the basement comprise the office of the surrogate. The rooms are located in the west side of the north wing and north side of the west wing of the building. The largest room houses the main or general office, in one corner of which is a small partitioned room used by the surrogate as a private office. Next to the large room is a typists' workroom, which adjoins the searchers' record vault. The former room is lined on two side walls with steel file drawers containing about 25 percent of the department's records, while the latter room, lined on all walls with steel roller-type shelves, contains approximately 60 percent of the records. A stairway in the main office leads to the surrogate's basement "dead" vault, where approximately 15 percent of the bound records are stored on steel roller-type shelves. Some old correspondence files are stored in the cupola. Adjoining the basement vault is the combined office and record room of the State Inheritance Tax Bureau, where some of the county records pertaining to this office are kept.

The record-keeping equipment and facilities of the surrogate and the inheritance tax bureau are modern and their records are in excellent condition. As in the case of several other county departments in the courthouse, the surrogate could advantageously use additional space for his records. With the exception of the surrogate's vault for searchers, and the "dead" vault, lighting and ventilation are good in the surrogate's department.

In the suite of rooms located in the entire north wing of the second floor are the offices of the prosecutor of the pleas and the chambers of the common pleas court judge. The prosecutor's department uses seven rooms: A private office for the prosecutor, one for each of two assistant prosecutors, one for county detectives, a waiting room, a general office, and a record vault, which contain approximately 65 percent of the records. The remainder are kept in the basement vaults of the county clerk and the prosecutor. The facilities for record-keeping are modern fireproof steel cabinets. More room should be provided for the prosecutor's office for the greater efficiency of the office and better care of the records.

The judge of common pleas court No. 1 uses two rooms: One as a receiving or waiting room and the other as a private office. His records are kept by the county clerk.

In the south wing of the second floor are located the offices of the chief probation officer and the chambers of the circuit court judge. The former occupies a suite of six rooms: A waiting room, the private office of the probation officer, a general office room, two smaller rooms used by clerks, and one record room, which houses all the records. The department has ample space for expansion of record-keeping facilities when the need arises. The equipment is modern and consists of a fireproof safe and steel filing cabinets which now house all the department's records. Lighting and ventilation are good. The records of the probation officer are not open to the public.

Housing, Care, and Accessibility of the Records (First entry, p. 38)

The chambers of the circuit court judge consist of a waiting room, the judge's private office, and a typist's room. The records of the court are filed in care of the county clerk as follows: 70 percent in the county clerk's searchers' vault, room 14; 28 percent in basement vault adjoining room 2; and 2 percent in basement vault adjacent to room 6.

In the east and west wings of the second and third floors are the courtrooms of the court of common pleas, No. 1, and the circuit court.

On the third floor, in the north wing, are the courtroom of the court of common pleas, No. 2, and the judge's chambers. At intervals, the courtroom of the court of common pleas, No. 2, is also used by the court of special sessions, the orphans' court, the court of quarter sessions, and the juvenile court. About 70 percent of the court of common pleas records are filed in the county clerk's searching vault, room 14, and in the clerk's basement vaults. The rest of the records are kept in the naturalization bureau, room 9. Records of the court of special sessions are also filed in the county clerk's searching vault and in the basement vault adjacent to room 6. Orphans' court records are filed in the surrogate's vault, room 12. Of the records of the court of quarter sessions, 80 percent are kept in the county clerk's searching and basement vaults, while the remainder are filed in the grand jury room; the prosecutor's vault, room 26; and in the upper vault, room 201, administration building. The juvenile court records are filed with the county clerk.

The common pleas court judge's chambers consist of the judge's private office, a clerk's office, a waiting room, and a jury room.

The south wing of the third floor houses the chambers of the Chancery Court and the grand jury room. The records of the former are maintained in Trenton, while the records of the grand jury are kept in fireproof steel cabinets in the grand jury clerk's office.

Four district courts serve Passaic County: The First and Second District Courts of Paterson, located on the second floor of the City Hall Annex on Ellison Street; the District Court of Passaic, located in the Lawyers' Building on Main Avenue; and the District Court of Clifton, located on Clifton Avenue. Each of these courts maintains separate records, which are housed in the offices of their respective clerks.

In 1937, a hundred years after the county was created, Passaic County acquired the Paterson Post Office Building, which is located in the same block as the courthouse and connected by a corridor at the basement level. To make the structure suitable for use as an administration building, it was necessary to remodel its interior floor plan. Built in 1899, of brick and stone, it was designed, in Flemish architecture, as a replica of the famous Market Building in Haarlem, near Amsterdam, Holland. The clock tower is an innovation. The building is three stories high, contains a basement, and is 140 feet long and 88 feet wide. Lighting and ventilation in all rooms are excellent, and the building is 90 percent fireproof.

Housing, Care, and Accessibility of the Records (First entry, p. 38)

The basement or ground floor of the administration building contains the offices of the superintendent of weights and measures, room 1; the mosquito extermination commission, room 5; and the county board of elections, room 6. Four rooms or record vaults are located on this floor.

The first floor houses the offices of the county adjuster, rooms 101 and 105; the board of taxation, room 108; the county physician, room 104; and the welfare board, room 105.

On the second floor are located the offices of the county treasurer, room 200; the county counsel, room 201; the board of chosen freeholders, room 210; the county superintendent of schools, room 205; and the chamber of the advisory master of the Chancery Court, which is also the freeholders' meeting room.

The third or top floor of the administration building houses the office of county engineer, room 301; and the planning board, room 300.

The superintendent of weights and measures occupies a one-room office in the basement of the administration building. His department is equipped with modern steel record-keeping files and cabinets. The records are in excellent condition and all are kept in this office, which also houses measuring standards and confiscated equipment.

A two-room suite houses the office of the mosquito extermination commission and all its records. Furnishings and equipment for keeping records are adequate, and there is sufficient space for expansion of facilities for some time to come.

The county board of elections uses a five-room suite of offices in which to store its records and operate its department. Three large rooms are utilized as a public reception room, an address file room, and a record room; two small rooms are provided for use as a public waiting room and a clerk's office. The department's equipment consists of modern desks and filing cabinets, graphotype and addressograph machines, a fireproof safe, steel index files, steel roller-type shelf cabinets, and steel shelving. The bulk of the records are kept in excellent condition in the record room and file room, where bound volumes are placed on roller-type shelves which line the walls and occupy space in the center of the room. The remainder of the records are kept in its own basement vaults, and also in the freeholders' vault. A majority of the pollbooks are stored in the basement vaults, and a small percentage of them are kept in the county clerk's basement vault, adjoining room 2, at the county courthouse. Permission to examine the board of election records may be obtained from the chief clerk.

The county adjuster, who is also director of the welfare board, maintains two suites of offices. One three-room suite (northwest corner) contains the county adjuster's private office, a workroom for clerks, and a waiting room, adjoining which is a large fireproof vault for storing records. The other suite of offices (on the northwest side of the building) consists of the welfare board's general office, a small room used to keep an addressograph and a graphotype machine and steel filing cabinets, a private office for the deputy director, a small reception room, and a separate office used by the county adjuster in his capacity as welfare director. The equipment and record-keeping facilities in both suites are modern in every respect. The records are in excellent condition and well maintained, and there is ample room for expansion. Because of their confidential nature, the records of these departments are not open to public inspection.

In the southeast end of the building, the county board of taxation occupies three rooms: A large record room, a stenographer's office, and the office of the secretary to the board of taxation. The record room, containing half of the department's records, is lined on two sides with steel roller-type shelves for the bound volumes, while the unbound records of the department are kept in steel files. Approximately 50 percent of the board's records are stored in the freeholders' basement vault. In a few years the increasing volume of records may make it necessary to enlarge present facilities, but the records are now in good condition and well maintained. Access to them may be had by the public by obtaining permission of the clerk in charge.

The county physician uses two spacious rooms for his department: A waiting room and a private office. His records, housed in fireproof steel cabinets, are well kept and in excellent condition. There is ample space for the keeping of records for a long time to come.

On the second floor, in the southwest end of the building, the county treasurer maintains a five-room suite of offices: A large room, used as a record room for current files; a general office; a clerk's office; a waiting room; and the treasurer's private office. Of the total records, 40 percent are filed in the record room; 20 percent are kept in a fireproof vault adjoining the county counsel's office; 5 percent are filed in the freeholders' office. The oldest records of the department, approximately 35 percent of the total, are stored in a basement vault, which is shared by the board of chosen freeholders as a record depository. The treasurer's department is well equipped with record-keeping facilities and its records are maintained in excellent condition in a fireproof safe and steel files. There is sufficient room for future records. The public may inspect the records of this office after securing permission of the chief clerk.

Next to the office of the county treasurer is that of the county counsel, whose suite consists of two rooms. One room is used as a private office and the other as a clerk's office. The records of the county counsel are filed with those of the board of chosen freeholders.

On the north side of the building, the county superintendent of schools occupies four rooms: A general office; a storeroom; an office used by two helping teachers; and the superintendent's private office. His record-keeping equipment is modern and consists of steel files and cabinets. The records are in excellent condition and well maintained. There is ample room to house additional records. The records may be examined with the permission of the superintendent or his assistants.

Housing, Care, and Accessibility of the Records (First entry, p. 38)

The most important county office, the board of chosen freeholders, is located on the south side of the building. The board occupies four rooms: The office of the clerk of the board; a combined general office and waiting room; a large committee meeting room; and a freeholders' board meeting room. The oldest records, approximately 30 percent of the total, are stored in the freeholders' basement vault, while current records are kept in the general office and in the committee meeting room, both of which are equipped with fireproof safes and steel filing cabinets. One sheet of paper, containing minutes of 1840, is kept in the cupola of the county courthouse. The records of the board are in excellent condition and well maintained. The freeholders' board meeting room is also used by the advisory master of the chancery court, whose records are maintained in Trenton.

On the top floor, the county engineer uses five rooms for his department: A private office; a supply room; a clerk's office; the assistant county engineer's office; and a large drafting room. The equipment of the office consists of steel filing cabinets for maps, correspondence files, and a fireproof safe. Of the records, 85 percent are kept in the engineer's office, and 15 percent are stored in the freeholders' basement vault. The records are in good condition and well kept. The county engineer or his clerk will assist any authorized person to obtain data from the files.

Adjoining the county engineer's private office is room 300, which is used as a conference room by various county officials, and as an office of the county planning board. The records of the planning board are in good condition, and well maintained in steel fireproof cabinets.

The superintendent of soldiers' burials does not maintain an office and keeps no records. Any transaction initiated by him is completed by the county treasurer, who subsequently files the records pertaining to the burial of soldiers with those of his own department.

The county jail was erected at the same time as the first courthouse and adjacent to it. It is a two-story brownstone structure with a basement. The first section of the jail was completed early in 1838.[4] Prior to that date it was necessary to transport prisoners and house them at the Essex County jail in Newark and the Bergen County jail at Hackensack. The first jail was rebuilt in 1853, as a combination workhouse and jail, and in 1881, it was enlarged to three times its former capacity, while the old part had been "overhauled and cleaned."[5] Before a county asylum had been provided, it was the regular practice to confine lunatics and paupers in the county jail, prior to their dispatch to other institutions.[6] The present jail building is located on Main Street, near Grand Street, and is 150 x 200 feet. The sheriff maintains an office and an identification bureau on the first floor, where the bulk of the records are filed. A small room on the second floor is used for storing old records, which are filed in wooden cabinets. The files of the jail records are not open to public inspection.

Housing, Care, and Accessibility of the Records (First entry, p. 38)

At 19 Marshall Street, Paterson, is a one-story building adjoining the county garage. Here the supervisor of roads maintains a two-room office, where most of his records are stored. About 10 percent are kept in the freeholders' vault in the administration building. One room serves as a general office and file room, and the other as the supervisor's private office. The records are well kept in steel filing cabinets and a fireproof safe, and may be examined upon receiving permission of the supervisor.

The county park commission occupies a suite of ten rooms at Lambert Castle, originally a private mansion, which is located on Garret Mountain in Paterson. Two fireproof vaults, two storerooms, and six office rooms comprise the department's facilities on the second and third floors of the building, the first floor being used by the Passaic County Historical Society as a museum and library. The records of the commission are well kept in modern fireproof steel cabinets on the second floor, and there is ample room for future expansion of facilities. The building is a large three-story structure, approximately 130 x 75 feet. It was purchased by the county in 1932. From 1928 to 1932, the park commission maintained quarters at 45 Church Street, Paterson, where it occupied a four-room office. The department's records are available to the public upon permission of one of the commissioners. The lighting and ventilation in all rooms are excellent, and the building is 70 percent fireproof.

The records of the three coroners are maintained in the files of the county physician.

The ten morgue keepers in Passaic County invariably keep their records in their respective offices. At the time the inventory was made, only four morgue keepers had records which were inventoried. Since that time, six additional morgue keepers have been appointed, but they have no records as yet.

"Valley View Sanatorium" (Passaic County Tuberculosis Hospital), in Wayne Township, was erected in 1929 and consists of 16 buildings. The three largest are the infirmary, the dining hall, and community building. Six of the buildings are used as convalescent hospitals, and the remainder include the isolation hospital, the nurses' home, the superintendent's residence, the male staff quarters, the chief physician's residence, the assistant physician's residence, and a service building. The hospital is under the control of the Board of Managers of the County Tuberculosis Hospital. Most of the records are filed in the superintendent's office, but each main division of the hospital keeps its own records. A basement vault houses the institution's oldest records, while the minutes of the board of managers are filed in the freeholders' office in the administration building. Prior to the erection of the sanatorium, all tuberculous patients of the county were cared for in the hospitals of nearby counties.

Hope Dell, which is Passaic County's welfare home for the indigent aged, was erected in 1936, and replaced a very old structure known as the County Welfare Home, which was located on Redwood Avenue, Paterson. The new building, a red brick structure three-and-one-half stories high, and 320 x 165 feet, is located in Wayne Township, a short distance from Valley View Sanatorium. The structure is 100 percent fireproof and contains, in addition to dormitories, modern hospital facilities for Hope Dell's inmates. The records of the institution are kept by the superintendent in his office, where they are maintained in modern steel filing cabinets. At the time the inventory was taken, the records of Hope Dell were not available for inspection by field workers.

Camp Hope, a recreation camp for underprivileged children, located in West Milford Township, is governed by the commission for the administration of Camp Hope. Records of the commission are filed in the office of the board of freeholders.

By and large, the records of Passaic County are well-kept and, except as indicated above, adequate equipment and sufficient floor space are available for future records.

Explanatory Notes

Prior or Missing Records

The search for records not required by law was based upon the assumption that, unless there was evidence to the contrary, all records of a particular office should commence with the date of origin of that office in the county. In the case of legally required records, the assumption was that all records series should commence with the date of the earliest statute concerned with the particular record.

Titles

Exact titles as found on the records are in solid capitals without parentheses (see entry 1). The contents of all untitled records, bound or unbound, are described by means of an assigned title in solid capitals enclosed with parentheses (see entry 2). When the exact title is either abbreviated (see entry 539) or not clearly indicative (see entry 5) of the contents of the record, explanatory information in initial capitals within parentheses is added to the original title.

Cross References

Cross references to related records are in a separate paragraph following the information given on size and location (see entries 306, 821). References below subject headings refer to records in other offices preceded by similar subject headings (see pp. 80, 165).

Indexing

Passaic County uses two copyrighted index systems: Lusk's Complete Directory Indexes (see entry 108) and Russell Index (see entry 109).

The Lusk is an alphabetical index based upon the three first letters in each surname. A combination letter and number table directs the searcher to the proper page of the index where the particular surname can be found. The index page then refers the searcher to the volume and page of the record.

The Russell is based on determining the first Key-letter after the initial letter in the surname for which search is being made. In the column headed by the proper Key-letter, and opposite the initial letter of the surname, the number of the section is designated where the name will be found. Surnames not containing a Key-letter are found in the sections designated by the numbers in the column headed "Misc." All names other than those of individuals are found in the sections designated by the numbers in the column headed "Corps.Etc.," and opposite the initial letter of the first word of the name, disregarding the article "The."

For full information on both systems, see the table of directions prefacing each index system.

Condition of Records

If no comment is made regarding the condition of a record, it may be assumed to be at least fair.

Dimensions

Dimensions of volumes, file boxes, or maps are shown in inches. Dimensions of volumes are given in this order: Length of spine, width of volume from spine to edge of cover, and thickness from edge to edge. Dimensions of file cases, boxes, and drawers are given in this order: Height, width, and depth.

Location

The location noted is that of the date of the final field check of the inventory, approximately four months prior to publication; therefore the Historical Records Survey cannot guarantee that the record will be found in the location indicated in the entries.

I. BOARD OF CHOSEN FREEHOLDERS

The board of chosen freeholders of Passaic County was created a body politic and corporate in law, when the county was established in 1837.[1] It is composed of seven members, one of whom is selected by the membership to serve as director of the board. The members are elected in alternate years for a 3-year term.[2] A clerk of the board is appointed by the freeholders for a 3-year term.[3] The board is the chief governing body of the county, having under its direction all the necessary offices connected with the administration of county government, except where such powers are vested, by law, in another governmental agency.[4]

IV. COURT OF CHANCERY

Upon its creation, in 1837, Passaic County became part of a district or vicinage in which the Court of Chancery functioned.[1] The court consists of the Chancellor, appointed by the Governor, with the consent of the Senate, for a term of 7 years.[2] The Chancellor appoints assistants, known as vice-chancellors, advisory masters, masters in chancery, and special masters, who hear matters referred to them by the Chancellor.[3]

As a court of equity with state-wide jurisdiction, the Court of Chancery affords judicial relief outside of and beyond that given by the common law courts.[4]

The records of this court are maintained in its Trenton office and will be included in the Inventory of State Archives.

IX. CRIMINAL JUDICIAL DISTRICT COURT

The criminal judicial district court was created by a legislative enactment of 1926.1 The court was established in Passaic County in 1931, when the Legislature constituted and defined the two judicial districts of the county and incorporated a court in each district.2 The judge of this court is appointed by the Governor, with the consent of the Senate, for a term of 5 years.3 The court has exclusive jurisdiction over all criminal cases formerly heard by recorders, police justices, and justices of the peace.4 It has concurrent jurisdiction with the courts of quarter sessions and special sessions over the trial of misdemeanors committed within the district of the court.5

X. CIRCUIT COURT

The circuit court, then a part of the Supreme Court, was established in Passaic County in 1837.[1] A year later, a statutory provision separated the court from the Supreme Court and established it as a county tribunal.[2]

The circuit court is held by the Supreme Court Justice presiding in the county,[3] and in his absence, by a circuit court judge, appointed by the Governor, with the approval of the Senate, for a 7 year term.[4] It has concurrent jurisdiction with the Supreme Court except in criminal cases.[5] For other circuit court records, see entries 308A, 397, 399, 401.

The "inferior court of common pleas" was established in Passaic County in 1837.[1] In 1900, legislative enactment gave the court its present title, "the Court of Common Pleas." [2]

The judges of this court, of which there are two in Passaic County,[3] are appointed by the Governor, with the approval of the Senate, for a term of 5 years.[4] The Justice of the Supreme Court also may preside over the court of common pleas.[5] The common pleas court judges also preside over the orphans' court, court of quarter sessions, court of oyer and terminer, court of special sessions,[6] and juvenile and domestic relations court.[7]

The court of common pleas is a court of record, with jurisdiction over civil actions irrespective of amount.[8]

XII. DISTRICT COURT

The first district court in Passaic County was established in Paterson in 1877, pursuant to a state law of that year.[1] Another district court was established in the city of Passaic in 1896;[2] one in Clifton in 1927;[3] and a second such court in Paterson in 1929. Pursuant to a legislative enactment of 1929, the Paterson courts were designated the first and second district courts.[4] The judge of a district court is appointed by the Governor, with the consent of the Senate, for a term of 5 years.[5] The Passaic County district courts are city courts with county-wide jurisdiction over actions of a civil nature at law, where the sum in dispute does not exceed $500.[6] The salaries of the judges and the officials of these courts are paid by the cities in which they are located.[7] For other district court judgment records, see entries 375, 407, 409.

XIII. SMALL CAUSE COURT

An act of 1903 authorized each justice of the peace in Passaic County to hold "the small cause court." [1] This court has jurisdiction over all actions of a civil nature where the sum does not exceed $200, and hears proceedings between landlords and tenants.[2] However, where either the justice of the peace or the defendant is a resident of a city in which a district court is located, the justice loses all civil jurisdiction.[3]

This office maintains no separate records. They are on file (see entries 284-286) in the office of the county clerk.

XIV. ORPHANS' COURT

The orphans' court was established in Passaic County in 1837.[1] An act of 1898 framed the present structure of the court, which is composed of the Justice of the Supreme Court holding the circuit in the county, and the judge or judges of the court of common pleas.[2] The orphans' court determines all controversies regarding the existence of wills, fairness of inventories, questions of administration and guardianship, and the allowance of the accounts of executors, administrators, guardians or trustees.[3]

XVI. JUVENILE AND DOMESTIC RELATIONS COURT

The court of quarter sessions and the court of special sessions, in 1900, were given the power to commit juvenile offenders to public institutions especially established for their "care, custody, instruction, and reform." [1] An act of 1903 provided that the judge of the court of common pleas "constitute a court for the trial of juvenile offenders." [2] In 1929, the juvenile and domestic relations court was established, pursuant to legislative enactment of that year.[3] One of the judges of the court of common pleas is designated as judge of the juvenile and domestic relations court.[4] The court has jurisdiction in all cases of juvenile delinquency and disputes involving the domestic relation.[5] However, in Passaic County, domestic relations cases are heard by the criminal judicial district court, which has concurrent jurisdiction in such matters.[6] For other juvenile records, see entries 394, 417, 418, 581, 584, 587, 591.

XVII. COMMISSIONERS OF JURIES

The first commissioners of juries in Passaic County were appointed in 1888 by the Legislature in joint session, in accordance with an act of that year.[1] This law was repealed in 1889.[2] In 1913, a commissioner of juries was appointed by the Chancellor pursuant to a legislative enactment of the same year.[3] The Supreme Court Justice presiding in the county appoints the present commissioner for a term of one year. This official and the sheriff comprise the "commissioners of juries." [4]

The commissioners prepare and deliver to the supreme court justice holding the circuit in the county copies of two lists, designated as "grand jury list" and "petit jury list," 40 days prior to the opening of each term of the circuit court.[5] For other jury records, see entries 287-297, 646.

XVIII. CHIEF PROBATION OFFICER

The first probation officer in Passaic County was appointed jointly in 1905 by the judge of the court of quarter sessions and the board of chosen freeholders,[1] pursuant to a legislative enactment of 1900.[2] This appointive power was transferred in 1922, by statutory provision, to the judge of the common pleas court, who named a chief probation officer the same year.[3] An additional act in 1929 stipulated that all such appointments be made in accordance with civil service regulations.[4] The chief probation officer works under the jurisdiction of the common pleas court, making investigations and reports as required by it. He supervises persons placed on probation by all courts, as well as persons ordered in a decree of divorce or separation to make payments to him for support.[5] For other probation records, see entry 13; for other juvenile records, see entries 394, 417, 418, 558, 559.

XXII. JUSTICE OF THE PEACE

The justices of the peace, who were holding office within the territorial limits of Passaic County at the time of its creation, were authorized to continue in office until properly qualified as officers of the new county on May 1, 1837.[1] There are now 99 justices of the peace in Passaic County.[2] They are elected in each municipal ward and township, and are commissioned by the Governor for 5-year terms. No less than two, nor more than five justices may be elected in each ward or township.[3]

The justice of the peace has civil jurisdiction, and may hold a small cause court where the sum in dispute does not exceed $200. If the defendant or the justice resides in a city wherein a district court is located, the justice loses all civil jurisdiction.[4] His criminal jurisdiction has been transferred to the criminal judicial district courts.[5]

This office maintains no separate records. They are on file (see entries 284-286) in the office of the county clerk.

XXIV. CORONER

The office of coroner was established in Passaic County in 1837.[1] The coroners, of which there are three in this county, are elected for a term of 3 years, and are not permitted to succeed themselves.[2] A statute provides that the coroners summon an inquest when called upon to do so by the county physician.[3] However, there have been no inquests in Passaic County for 25 years, and in lieu of inquests, all inquiries regarding sudden or violent deaths are conducted by the county physician, who reports his findings to the prosecutor of the pleas.

This office maintains no records.

(Defunct)

An "auditor and comptroller" was appointed in Passaic County in 1904 by the board of chosen freeholders.[1] In 1918, legislative provision was made for the appointment of a county auditor.[2] This office was discontinued in Passaic County in 1933 for purposes of economy.[3] The board of chosen freeholders now retains a firm of certified public accountants on an annual contractual basis to make periodic audits of the county's financial records.[4]

A welfare board was established in Passaic County in 1931,[1] in accordance with legislation enacted the same year.[2] The board is composed of seven members: Three male and two female citizens, appointed by the board of freeholders, and two designated freeholders. The citizen members of the board serve for a term of 5 years.[3] The board in conjunction with a superintendent appointed by it, manages the county welfare house known as "Hope Dell."[4] Its duties include the charge and supervision of the relief and settlement of the poor, and the direction of old-age assistance.[5]

He has charge of the preparation of papers relating to the commitment of the insane of Passaic County.[3] The county adjuster is also the director of welfare in Passaic County.[4] For other insanity records, see entries 419, 420.

XXXIII. SUPERINTENDENT OF COUNTY LUNATIC ASYLUM
(Defunct)

The Passaic County board of chosen freeholders authorized, in 1872, the erection of a "county lunatic asylum," [1] but soon abandoned this plan.[2] However, in 1877, a section of the Paterson (City) Almshouse was utilized by the county as a temporary asylum, and the freeholders appointed a superintendent[3] for it, 3 years prior to legislative provision for such an office.[4] Since March 28, 1928, the insane have been committed to the New Jersey State Hospital at Greystone Park,[5] consequently vacating the position of superintendent.

XXXIV. COUNTY PHYSICIAN

Passaic County, as early as 1869, appointed a county physician,[1] but it was not until 7 years later that the legislature passed an act providing for the appointment of this official.[2] He is appointed by the board of chosen freeholders for a term of 3 years.[3] It is the duty of the county physician to view the body in each case of death in prison, or any sudden, violent, or casual death within the county, and to make all necessary examinations to determine whether an inquest shall be held.[4] In lieu of inquests, complete investigations are conducted by the prosecutor of the pleas.[5]

XXXVII. COMMISSION FOR THE ADMINISTRATION OF CAMP HOPE

The Passaic County board of chosen freeholders, in 1938, created a commission for the administration of Camp Hope,[1] pursuant to a legislative enactment passed 1 year earlier.[2] The commission, as selected by the freeholders, is composed of nine citizens of the county, three members of the welfare board, and three members of the board of chosen freeholders. The lay members, in groups of three, serve 1-, 2-, and 3-year terms. The others serve for 1 year.[3] This commission administers and operates the juvenile camp known as "Camp Hope," and determines admissions thereto, with the advice and approval of the freeholders.[4] For other Camp Hope commission records, see entries 824, 825, 827.

XXXVIII. SUPERINTENDENT OF SOLDIERS' BURIALS

A legislative enactment of 1884 required the board of chosen freeholders to appoint a "proper authority" to supervise the burial of deceased indigent honorably discharged war veterans.[1] In 1912, legislative action provided for a "superintendent of soldiers' burials," to be appointed by the board of chosen freeholders for a term of 1 year.[2] Such an official was appointed in Passaic County in 1929, at an annual salary of $300.[3] He has charge of the burial of all deceased indigent war veterans and nurses, the proper care of their graves, and the erection of suitable headstones.[4]

This office maintains no separate records, but they are included in the voucher records of the county treasurer.

XXXIX. COUNTY PLANNING BOARD

A planning commission was formed in Passaic County in 1929,[1] but was succeeded in 1935 by a "county planning board," pursuant to a statute of the same year.[2] The director of the board of chosen freeholders selects the personnel of the planning board, which includes himself, another member of the board of chosen freeholders, the county engineer, and six citizens. The lay members serve 3-year terms. The freeholders and the county engineer serve until the expiration of their terms of office.[3] The duties of this board are to devise and adopt a master plan for the physical development of the county.[4]

XLIII. MOSQUITO EXTERMINATION COMMISSION

The mosquito extermination commission, created by an act of 1912,[1] was established in Passaic County in the same year.[2] In addition to the Director of the State Experiment Station and the State Director of Health, who serve ex officio, the commission is composed of six members appointed for 3 years[3] by the Justice of the Supreme Court presiding in the county.[4] This commission is empowered to perform all acts which, in its opinion, may be necessary for the elimination of mosquito breeding areas, or which will tend to exterminate the mosquitoes in the county.[5]
