SEVENTH KENTUCKY VOLUNTEER INFANTRY.

The 7th Kentucky Infantry was organized at Camp Dick Robinson, Kentucky, under Colonel T. T. Garrard, and mustered into the United States service on the 22d day of September, 1861, by Brigadier General Geo. H. Thomas. As soon as organized it was ordered to Wild Cat, Kentucky, to repel the invasion of General Zollicoffer, and participated in an engagement with the enemy at that point, which was the first general engagement fought on Kentucky soil. In this battle the 7th won distinction for the gallant manner in which it repelled the repeated attacks of the enemy. From Wild Cat it returned to Camp Dick Robinson again, and soon after marched for Cumberland Gap, having been assigned to General George W. Morgan's Division, which occupied and held this thoroughfare until its evacuation in September, 1862. Throughout the retreat of General Morgan from the Gap to the Ohio river, it performed arduous and responsible service, and at all times received the merited praise of the Division Commander. On arriving at the Ohio river, it crossed to Oak Hill, where, after a short rest, it was ordered with the rest of the Division to the relief of General Cox in the Kanawha Valley, Virginia. After a short stay in Virginia, it was ordered South via Memphis, and participated in the numerous battles incident to the siege of Vicksburg. The following congratulatory letter was received by the Governor of Kentucky from Major General McClernand, commanding the 13th Army Corps, in which the 7th Kentucky Infantry, among other Kentucky regiments, is highly commended for gallantry, &c., viz.:

"HEADQUARTERS 13TH ARMY CORPS,
"NEAR VICKSBURG, June 5th, 1863.

"GOVERNOR: I have the honor to inform you that there are two general officers and three regiments, the 7th, 19th, and 22d Kentucky, in the 13th Army Corps, Department of the Tennessee, under my command, who crossed the Mississippi river with me at Bruensburg, below Grand Gulf, on the 30th day of April, and who took part in the battles of Thompson's Hill on the 1st of May, Champion Hills on the 16th, Big Black Bridge on the 17th of May, and at Vicksburg, beginning on the 19th of May, and continuing up to the present time.

"I am most happy, sir, to congratulate you, and through you your noble State, for the victories won by the common effort of her brave sons with those of sister States, and to bear testimony to the gallantry, bravery, and good conduct of her officers and men in all these bloody struggles. They bore themselves with the unflinching steadiness of veterans, both under galling fires of artillery and musketry, and in making charges upon fortified lines. They have shown themselves compeers and fit companions in arms with brave men of sister States in a series of battles in which it has become impossible to make particular mention of those who distinguished themselves, without mentioning individually both officers and men.

"Your most obedient servant,

"JOHN A. McCLERNAND,

EIGHTH KENTUCKY VOLUNTEER INFANTRY.

The 8th Kentucky Infantry was organized at Estill Springs, Kentucky, under Colonel S. M. Barnes, and was mustered into the United States service on the 15th day of January, 1862, at Lebanon, Kentucky, by Captain C. C. Gilbert, 1st United States Infantry. This Regiment was raised chiefly in the mountain counties of Kentucky, and was composed of men who were distinguished for their unflinching bravery and patriotism. It was assigned to the Department of the Cumberland, and was engaged in all the early battles in Kentucky and Tennessee. It performed quite an active part in the battles of Stone River, Chickamauga, and Mission Ridge, and received the commendation of the Division Commander for its bravery and thorough discipline. Among the other gallant officers of the Regiment, Captain John Wilson distinguished himself in the memorable charge on Lookout Mountain, Georgia. It is to be regretted that the muster-out rolls of this gallant command are not included in this report. With the exception of Company D, I was compelled to substitute the muster-in rolls, thereby excluding the military history of the men. Repeated efforts were made to obtain the retained copies of muster-out rolls from the officers, but, with the exception of Captain Smallwood, of Company D, all of them treated my request with silence. The veterans and recruits of this Regiment were transferred to the 4th Kentucky Infantry, the non-veterans being mustered out at Chattanooga, Tennessee, November 17th, 1864.

NINTH KENTUCKY VOLUNTEER INFANTRY.

The 9th Regiment Kentucky Volunteer Infantry was organized at Columbia, Kentucky, under Colonel Benjamin C. Grider, and was mustered into the United States service at Camp Boyle, Adair county, Kentucky, on the 26th day of November, 1861, by Major W. H. Sidell, 15th United States Infantry, Mustering Officer, and has marched as follows: On the 15th day of February, 1862, the Regiment, being then attached to the 11th Brigade of the Department of the Ohio, commanded by Brigadier General J. T. Boyle, marched from Columbia, Kentucky, with the Army of the Ohio, to Shiloh, Tennessee, via Bowling Green, Kentucky, Nashville and Columbia, Tennessee. After the battle of Shiloh the Regiment advanced with the army to Corinth, Mississippi, and, after the evacuation of that city, it marched to Battle Creek, Tennessee, via Rienza and Iuka, Mississippi, and Tuscumbia, Florence, Athens, Huntsville, and Stevenson, Alabama. From Battle Creek it marched to Mt. Vernon and Wild Cat, Kentucky, in pursuit of the rebel General Bragg, via Manchester, Murfreesboro, and Nashville, Tennessee, Bowling Green, Elizabethtown, West Point, Louisville, Mt. Washington, Bardstown, Danville, and Crab Orchard, Kentucky; thence it marched to Murfreesboro, Tennessee, via Somerset, Columbia, and Scottsville, Kentucky, and Gallatin and Nashville, Tennessee; thence to Chattanooga, Tennessee, via Manchester, McMinnville, and Pikeville, Tennessee; thence to Dandridge, East Tennessee, via Harrison, Sweetwater, and Knoxville, Tennessee; thence to McDonald's Station, Tennessee, via Knoxville, Loudon, and Cleveland, Tennessee; thence to Jonesboro, Georgia, via the general route of the Atlantic and Western Railroad, through Atlanta, Georgia. These include the principal marches, though the marches and counter-marches, in addition to those above enumerated, will more than equal in number of miles the particular ones mentioned above, say in all, about three thousand miles.

In the engagement at Stone River the Color-Bearer was killed, when the colors were rescued by Moses Roark, a mere boy, who bore them bravely through the battle. He was afterwards promoted to Color Sergeant, and has carried the colors through every engagement the Regiment has participated in since. He was mentioned for gallantry by His Excellency, Governor James F. Robinson, in his annual message to the Legislature in 1863.

This Regiment served with distinction and gained repeated praise from the Department Commanders. Besides numerous others, it participated in the following named battles, in which loss was sustained, viz: Shiloh and Stone River, Tennessee; Missionary Ridge, Pickett's Mills, Rocky Face Ridge, Lovejoy Station, and Kenesaw Mountain, Georgia; Corinth, Mississippi; Adairsville, Atlanta, and Chickamauga, Georgia; and Woodburn and Crab Orchard, Kentucky.

TENTH KENTUCKY VOLUNTEER INFANTRY.

The 10th Regiment Kentucky Volunteer Infantry was organized at Lebanon, Kentucky, under Colonel John M. Harlan, and mustered into the United States service on the 21st day of November, 1861, by Major Sidell, United States Mustering Officer.

In November, 1861, it was assigned to what was then the 2d Brigade, 1st Division, of the Army of the Ohio, Colonel M. D. Manson commanding the Brigade, and Brigadier General George H. Thomas commanding the Division. On the 31st December, 1861, the Regiment commenced its march from Lebanon to Mill Springs. It did not participate in the battle of Mill Springs, being on detached duty, but joined the Division in time to be the first to enter the rebel fortifications. From Mill Springs it marched, via Somerset, Danville, and Bardstown, to Louisville; from which place it went by steamboat to Nashville, Tennessee, and thence to Pittsburg Landing, and took part in the siege of Corinth. A few days after the battle of Shiloh the Brigade, of which the 10th formed a part, was sent, by General Grant, up the Tennessee river on transports, guarded by a gunboat, all under the immediate command of General W. T. Sherman. The forces landed at Chickasaw. The object of the expedition was to penetrate the country from Chickasaw and destroy the large railroad bridge east of Corinth and near Iuka, which was most successfully done. In June, 1862, the Regiment marched to Tuscumbia, Alabama, and garrisoned Eastport, Mississippi, during July, 1862. It then marched through Tennessee and rejoined the Division at Winchester, and garrisoned that place for some time. In July, 1862, two Companies of the Regiment, A and H, then on duty at Courtland, Alabama, were surrounded by an overwhelming force of the enemy and captured. The 10th composed a part of Buell's army in his pursuit of Bragg into Kentucky; after which it returned to Gallatin, Tennessee.

On the 25th December, 1862, the Brigade, to which the 10th was attached, started from Gallatin, Tennessee, under command of Colonel John M. Harlan, in pursuit of the rebel General John H. Morgan, and to protect the Louisville and Nashville Railroad. Morgan was overtaken on the 29th December at Rolling Fork and driven from the line of the railroad. In that affair General Duke, of Morgan's command, was dangerously wounded. The Regiment returned to Nashville, Tennessee, and was immediately sent, by General Rosecrans, with other troops, in pursuit of Forrest and Wheeler, on the Harpeth River, where it suffered terribly from cold and rain. It was then stationed at Lavergne, Tennessee; at which place, on the 7th of March, 1863, Colonel Harlan resigned the Colonelcy of the Regiment, duties having devolved on the Colonel, by the death of his father, the late Hon. James Harlan, which required his personal attention. As a testimonial of the patriotism of Colonel Harlan, an extract from his letter of resignation is here inserted:

[Extract.]

"I deeply regret that I am compelled, at this time, to return to civil life. It was my fixed purpose to remain in the Federal army until it had effectually suppressed the existing armed rebellion, and restored the authority of the National Government over every part of the nation. No ordinary considerations would have induced me to depart from this purpose. Even the private interests, to which I have alluded, would be regarded as nothing, in my estimation, if I felt that my continuance in or retirement from the service would, to any material extent, affect the great struggle through which the country is now passing.

"If, therefore, I am permitted to retire from the army, I beg the Commanding General to feel assured that it is from no want of confidence either in the justice or ultimate triumph of the Union cause. That cause will always have the warmest sympathies of my heart, for there are no conditions upon which I will consent to a dissolution of the Union. Nor are there any conditions, consistent with a republican form of government, which I am not prepared to make in order to maintain and perpetuate that Union.

"I have the honor to be, General,

"Very respectfully,

"Your obedient servant,

[Signed,] "JOHN M. HARLAN,

"Colonel Commanding 2d Brigade, 3d Division, 4th Army Corps."

After the resignation of Colonel John M. Harlan, Lieutenant Colonel Wm. H. Hays was promoted Colonel of the 10th, and remained in command until it was mustered out of service.

The Regiment was with Rosecrans in his summer campaign from Murfreesboro to Chickamauga, participating in actions at Hoover's Gap, Fairfield, Tullahoma, Compton's Creek, and Chickamauga, returning with the army to Chattanooga. It was under General Thomas at Chickamauga, and took part in the battle of Mission Ridge, and pursued the enemy beyond Ringgold, Georgia. It marched from Chattanooga and participated in the action at Rocky Face Ridge February 25th, 1864, and, returning to Ringgold, which was then the outpost of the army, it remained there until May 10th, 1864, when it started with General Sherman on the Atlanta campaign, taking part in nearly every action or movement in that long and eventful campaign. The flag of the 10th was the first to be planted on the enemy's works at Jonesboro, Georgia, September 1st, 1864. It was the first regiment to break the rebel lines at that place, and entered their works, capturing the 6th and 7th Arkansas rebel regiments and their colors.

On the 9th July, 1864, the 10th had a severe engagement on the north bank of the Chattahoochie river, engaging, single-handed and alone, a brigade of the enemy and holding them in check until reinforcements arrived. It would be impossible to give a full history of this regiment in the short space allotted for the purpose; the last campaign alone would fill a volume. Suffice it to say, that, in the three years of its military existence, the 10th Kentucky Infantry performed its whole duty, and has at all times maintained the proud reputation of its State. It was mustered out of the United States service at Louisville, Kentucky, December 6th, 1864.

The following letter from Lieutenant Colonel G. C. Wharton is the only information we have in regard to the disposition of the veterans and recruits of this regiment:

"The veterans and recruits of the 10th Kentucky Infantry were never properly assigned to any regiment after the discharge of the 10th. The descriptive rolls of these men were left with some officer at Chattanooga who was careless enough to lose them. They were organized under a non-commissioned officer, and sent down on the road between Chattanooga and Atlanta to guard some post, and when Gen. Sherman cut the road and started on his march to the sea, they were left without orders or officers; some of them marched after Sherman and served under the old Division Commander, General Baird, through that campaign; others came up and joined General Thomas at Nashville, and fought through the war somewhat 'on their own account.' I have had much difficulty in having these men discharged and paid because of the loss of their descriptive rolls, for which they were not responsible. I am not sure as yet all these men have been discharged and paid. They were generally excellent soldiers, and have suffered grievous wrongs at the hands of their commanders."

Besides numerous other engagements, it participated in the following, in which loss was sustained, viz: Chickamauga, Mission Ridge, Jonesboro, Corinth, Rolling Fork, Hoover's Gap, Fairfield, Tullahoma, Compton's Creek, Rocky Face Ridge, Resaca, Chattahoochie River, Atlanta, Vining's Station, Pickett's Mills, and Courtland, Alabama.

ELEVENTH KENTUCKY VOLUNTEER INFANTRY.

The 11th Kentucky Infantry was organized in December, 1861, at Calhoon, Kentucky, under Colonel P. B. Hawkins, and was mustered into the United States service by Major W. H. Sidell, United States Mustering Officer. After remaining at Calhoon a short time after organization, it was ordered to Tennessee, and participated in the battle of Shiloh. From that date until mustered out it was actively engaged, and participated in all the early battles in Tennessee. The officers of this command having failed to furnish a historic record of the part which it took in suppressing the great rebellion, and the regimental papers having been captured by the enemy at Pulaski, Tennessee, in November, 1864, it is impossible to furnish, from the records on file in the Adjutant General's Office of Kentucky, a succinct statement of its marches, engagements, &c. It has participated in the following named battles, in which loss was sustained, viz: Shiloh, Stone River, and Knoxville, Tennessee, and the battles incident to the Atlanta campaign. It was mustered out at Bowling Green, Kentucky, on the 16th December, 1864, the recruits and veterans being transferred to Company I, of the 6th Veteran Cavalry.

TWELFTH KENTUCKY VOLUNTEER INFANTRY.

The 12th Kentucky Infantry was organized in October, 1861, at Camp Clio, Pulaski county, Kentucky, under Col. W. A. Hoskins, and was mustered into the United States service on the 30th January, 1862, by Capt. J. M. Kellogg, Mustering Officer. The officers of this command having failed to furnish a history of the marches and operations of the regiment, and the muster-out rolls of the non-veterans not being on file in the Adjutant General's Office, it is impossible to give a full statement of the active part taken by this gallant regiment in suppressing the rebellion. After serving faithfully the three years of its original enlistment, it veteranized. It was engaged in the following named battles, in which loss was sustained, viz: Stone River, Chickamauga, and all the battles of the Atlanta campaign.

THIRTEENTH KENTUCKY VOLUNTEER INFANTRY.

The 13th Kentucky Infantry was organized in December, 1861, at Camp Hobson, Kentucky, under Colonel Edward H. Hobson, and was mustered in December 30th, 1861, by Captain S. M. Kellogg, United States Mustering Officer. Immediately after organization it was placed upon active duty and assigned to the Department of the Cumberland, and participated in all the early engagements in Tennessee. On the 13th March, 1863, Colonel E. H. Hobson was promoted to Brigadier General, and Lieutenant Colonel Wm. E. Hobson was commissioned Colonel. It was one of the best volunteer regiments in the service from Kentucky, and by prompt action, discipline, and gallant bearing, won the esteem and praise of all its commanding Generals. At the memorable battle of Shiloh the stern and unflinching character of this command was demonstrated, and its unwavering ranks were repeatedly assaulted by the enemy, but without effect. In this struggle the regiment established a name for bravery which it gallantly sustained throughout the whole rebellion.

It has participated in the following named battles, in which loss was sustained: Shiloh, Tennessee; Huff's Ferry, Tennessee; Lenoir Station, Tennessee; Knoxville, Tennessee; Resaca, Georgia; Dallas, Georgia; Cassville, Georgia; Atlanta, Georgia, and the numerous engagements incident to the capture of that place. It was mustered out at Louisville, Kentucky, January 12th, 1865, the recruits and veterans being transferred to the 6th Kentucky Veteran Cavalry.

FOURTEENTH KENTUCKY VOLUNTEER INFANTRY.

The 14th Kentucky Infantry was organized in October, 1861, at Louisa, Kentucky, under Colonel Laban T. Moore, and mustered into the United States service on the 10th December, 1861, by Lt. C. B. Throckmorton, 4th United States Artillery, Mustering Officer. From Louisa it marched to Ivy Mountain and Middle Creek, Kentucky, on the Virginia border, and had a severe engagement with the enemy at each place. After scouting in Eastern Kentucky for some time, it was ordered to Cumberland Gap to join General George W. Morgan's Division. It remained at the Gap until September, 1862, and was in the perilous march from that point to the Ohio river, through the mountains of Kentucky, with General Morgan in his retreat. In this retreat the arduous duties assigned the 14th were performed to the entire satisfaction of the Commanding General, and reflected great credit upon the officers and men. From Greenupsburg it marched to Louisville, and from there to Danville, Kentucky, via Lexington. After remaining at Danville for a short time it was ordered to Eastern Kentucky, and Colonel George W. Gallup assigned to the command of the District, and, by the prompt, efficient, and energetic manner in which he conducted the affairs of his district, the people once more enjoyed protection from the frequent incursions of Marshall's forces, and earnestly petitioned that Colonel Gallup and his gallant command should be permanently located in that section. But the campaign of General Sherman against Atlanta demanding all the available forces, the 14th was ordered to Chattanooga, and participated in all the engagements incident thereto.

It has participated in the following named battles, in which loss was sustained, viz: Ivy Mountain, Middle Creek, and Salyersville, Kentucky; Lost Mountain, Georgia; Laurel Mountain, Virginia; New Hope Church, Kenesaw, Peachtree Creek, Cass Station, and Jonesboro, Georgia; Johnsonville, Tennessee; Atlanta and Marietta, Georgia.

It was mustered out at Louisa, Kentucky, January 31st, 1865, the veterans and recruits being transferred to the 14th Kentucky Veteran Infantry.

FIFTEENTH KENTUCKY VOLUNTEER INFANTRY.

The 15th Kentucky Infantry was organized in the fall of 1861, at Camp Pope, near New Haven, Kentucky, under Colonel Curran Pope, and was mustered into the United States service on the 14th day of December, 1861, at Camp Pope, by Captain C. C. Gilbert, United States Mustering Officer, and marched to Bacon Creek; thence via Bowling Green, Kentucky, Nashville, Murfreesboro, Shelbyville, and Fayetteville, Tennessee, to Huntsville, Alabama; thence to Winchester, Tennessee; thence to Gunter's Landing and Elk River. On the 31st day of August, 1862, it started on the campaign after Bragg, passing via Murfreesboro and Nashville, Tennessee, and Bowling Green, Elizabethtown, and West Point, to Louisville, Kentucky, where it arrived on the 26th day of September, 1862. It left Louisville, and marching via Taylorsville, Bloomfield, Chaplin, and Maxville, arrived at the battle-field of Chaplin Hills, Kentucky, on the 8th day of October, 1862, and engaged in that severe conflict. It then moved via Danville and Stanford to Crab Orchard, where it turned back, and moving via Stanford, Lebanon, and Bowling Green, Kentucky, and Nashville, Tennessee, arrived at the battle-field of Stone River on the 30th day of December, 1862, and took part in the five days' fight at that place. On the morning of the 4th day of January, 1863, it marched through Murfreesboro, and encamped until June 24th, 1863, near that place. It then marched via Hoover's Gap, Manchester, and Hillsboro, to Decherd, Tennessee, where it remained about a month, and then marched via Stevenson, Raccoon, and Lookout Mountains, to the battle-field of Chickamauga, arriving on the 19th of September, 1863. Participating in the battles of the 19th, 20th, and 21st of September, it covered the army as skirmishers and moved to Chattanooga on the 22d of September, 1863, where it remained on post duty until the 2d of May, 1864, when it started on the Georgia campaign, which was one of continual fighting, skirmishing, and marching for four months, resulting in the capture of Atlanta, Georgia, which was occupied by the United States troops on the 2d day of September, 1864.

The regiment was chiefly engaged in garrison duty and guarding railroads until it was ordered to Louisville, Kentucky, where it was mustered out on the 14th day of January, 1865; the recruits and veterans being transferred to the 2d Kentucky Veteran Cavalry.

A reference to the casualty-list will show that this regiment bore an honorable part in the war; the number of killed exceeding 14 per cent. of the entire force, and the number of wounded being in greater proportion.

It participated in the following among other numerous battles in which loss was sustained, viz: Chaplin Hills, Kentucky; Stone River, Tennessee; Chickamauga, Georgia; Mission Ridge, Resaca, Kenesaw Mountain, Altoona Mountain, and all the skirmishes of the Atlanta campaign.

SIXTEENTH KENTUCKY VOLUNTEER INFANTRY.

The 16th Kentucky Infantry was organized in December, 1861, at Camp Lee, near Maysville, Kentucky, under Colonel Charles A. Marshall, and was mustered into the United States service on the 27th day of January, 1862, by Lieutenant George H. Burns, United States Mustering Officer. Before the thorough organization of the regiment, and, in fact, before muster into the United States service, it was ordered from Camp Lee to the Big Sandy, and participated in the battle of Ivy Mountain, losing many men in killed and wounded. After the battle of Ivy Mountain, it returned to Camp Lee and completed its organization, and was mustered into the United States service. It again returned to the Virginia border, under directions of General Nelson, where it remained until July, 1862, when orders were received to march to Covington, Kentucky. After a short stay at Covington, it proceeded to Louisville, Kentucky, and performed guard duty on the Nashville railroad until November, when ordered to Lebanon, Kentucky. It remained in the Southern portion of Kentucky during the winter of 1862, protecting the people and thoroughfare from the frequent invasions of guerrillas from Tennessee. It was ordered by General Burnside to accompany him on his East Tennessee campaign. The majority of the regiment veteranized in January, 1864. It has participated in the following named battles in which loss was sustained, viz: Ivy Mountain, Kentucky; Marrowbone, Kentucky; Kingston, Tennessee; Mossy Creek, Tennessee; Resaca, Georgia; and the numerous battles of the Atlanta campaign.

It is a matter of regret that the muster-out rolls of the non-veterans of this regiment are not on file in the Adjutant General's Office of Kentucky, from which a full military history of each officer and enlisted man might be given. The United States muster-in rolls of this command are also missing, and applications to Adjutant General's Office at Washington has failed to secure them. I am therefore compelled to substitute the State muster-in rolls in lieu thereof.

SEVENTEENTH KENTUCKY VOLUNTEER INFANTRY.

The 17th Kentucky Infantry was organized in December, 1861, at Calhoon, Kentucky, under Colonel Jno. H. McHenry, jr., and was mustered into the United States service on the 4th day of January, 1862, at Calhoon, Kentucky, by Captain Jno. E. Edwards, 3d United States Artillery, Mustering Officer.

Immediately after organization it was placed upon active duty, and proceeded to the front. In April, 1862, this regiment and the 25th Kentucky, having been so much reduced by disease and the ordinary exigencies of the service, an order was issued for their consolidation, the regiment to retain the name of the 17th. The 25th Kentucky, under Colonel J. M. Shackleford, was thus consolidated and lost its designation, but during its short existence won great distinction for the unflinching valor displayed by both officers and men in the battles of Fort Dondson and Shiloh, Tennessee.

The new organization, under command of Colonel McHenry, numbering over a thousand men, was one of the most gallant regiments from Kentucky, and won the admiration of all for the prompt and efficient manner in which it performed the duties assigned it. In December, 1862, Lieutenant Colonel A. M. Stout was commissioned Colonel, and commanded the regiment until its final muster-out.

It has participated in the following named engagements in which loss was sustained, viz: Fort Donelson, Shiloh, Chickamauga, Kenesaw Mountain, Corinth, Atlanta, Marietta, Kingston, Georgia; Dallas, Georgia; Cassville, Georgia; New Hope Church, Georgia, and Altoona Mountain, Georgia.

It was mustered out at Louisville, Kentucky, on the 23d January, 1865, the recruits and veterans being transferred to the 21st Kentucky Veteran Infantry.
