FOURTEENTH KENTUCKY VOLUNTEER CAVALRY.

The 14th Kentucky Cavalry was organized in the fall of 1862, under Colonel H. C. Lilly. Companies A, B, C, and D were mustered in on the 6th day of November, 1862, at Mt. Sterling, Kentucky, by Captain S. E. Noell. Companies E, F, G, H, I, K, L, and M were mustered in at Irvine, Kentucky, on the 13th of February, 1863.

This organization acted in the capacity of scouts, and operated by battalions. Being raised in the mountain counties of Kentucky, its duty was to prevent those frequent raids by guerrillas which annoyed and often proved disastrous to the loyal residents of that section of the State. For efficiency, bravery, and discipline, this regiment received the highest praise from the Department commander. It was engaged in many skirmishes with guerrillas, in which loss was sustained. It is a matter of regret that the officers of this command neglected to furnish a historic record of the operations, marches, &c., of the regiment.

The muster-out roll of Company B is not on file in the Adjutant General's Office; the military history of the officers and enlisted men of this Company is therefore omitted.

FIFTEENTH KENTUCKY VOLUNTEER CAVALRY.

The following statement is taken from the records on file in the Adjutant General's Office:

The 15th Kentucky Cavalry was organized in the fall of 1862, and mustered into the United States service at Paducah, Kentucky, by Capt. Noell, United States Army, on the 6th day of October, 1862. Gabriel Netter was commissioned Lieutenant Colonel July 25th, 1862, and was killed at Owensboro, Kentucky. A. P. Henry was afterwards, on February 14th, 1863, commissioned Lieutenant Colonel, and entered on duty as such March 5th, 1863, remaining in command until his capture at Spring Creek, Tennessee, June 29th, 1863, when Major Wiley Waller became the senior officer with the regiment, and commanded it on its muster-out of service at Paducah, Kentucky, October 6th, 1863. Company C, of this regiment, was not mustered out until October 29th, 1863.

The 15th Cavalry was chiefly engaged in scouting through the 1st District and western portion of the State of Kentucky, and was for some time the only protection afforded to the loyal citizens of that section. It sustained losses in numerous skirmishes, and at Owensboro, Kentucky, and the battle of Spring Creek, Tennessee.

SIXTEENTH REGIMENT KENTUCKY CAVALRY.

The 16th Kentucky Cavalry was consolidated with the 12th Kentucky Cavalry, per Special Order No. 127, War Department, March 25th, 1864.

SEVENTEENTH KENTUCKY VOLUNTEER CAVALRY.

The following is taken from official records on file in the Adjutant General's Office:

The 17th Kentucky Cavalry was organized in the winter of 1864–5. A portion of the regiment was mustered into the United States service by Lieutenant Russell, in December, 1864, at Russellville, Kentucky; a portion by Captain Smith, at Owensboro, Kentucky, in April, 1865; the remainder was mustered in at Louisville, Kentucky, in the months of January, February, and March. Thos. W. Campbell was commissioned Lieutenant Colonel March 22d, 1865. Saml. F. Johnson was commissioned Colonel April 25th, 1865. The regiment did good service in the Southern portion of the State and along the line of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, guarding that great military thoroughfare. It was finally mustered out at Louisville, Kentucky, on the 20th day of September, 1865. It was engaged in numerous skirmishes, in which loss was sustained, besides the battles at Hopkinsville, Bunker Hill, and in Lyon county, Kentucky.

The officers of this command having failed to furnish any memorandum or official history of its marches and the battles and skirmishes in which it was engaged, a more extended notice of the same cannot be given.

FIRST KENTUCKY VETERAN VOLUNTEER CAVALRY.

The veterans and recruits of the 1st Kentucky Cavalry, comprising Companies A, B, and C, not being sufficient to constitute a regimental organization, were ordered to be consolidated with the 6th Kentucky Veteran Cavalry, which, however, was never effected. The command performed garrison duty, for some time, at Camp Nelson, and was moved from there to Albany, on the Tennessee border, where it remained until mustered out. These veterans and recruits were true soldiers, and, at all times, performed the duties assigned them in a manner worthy of the name so long sustained by the command—known throughout the western army as "Wolford's Cavalry."

SECOND KENTUCKY VETERAN VOLUNTEER CAVALRY.

The 2d Kentucky Cavalry veteranized at Bridgeport, Alabama, February 7th, 1864, after which it was assigned to General Kilpatrick's Division, and participated in all the engagements incident to the Atlanta campaign. This regiment was one of the veteran organizations selected to accompany General Sherman on his celebrated march from "Atlanta to the sea," and received special mention for gallantry, strict discipline, and soldierly bearing. Remaining in General Kilpatrick's Cavalry Division, it marched from Savannah, Georgia, through South Carolina to Lexington, North Carolina, participating in the battle of Bentonville, South Carolina. It was mustered out at Lexington, North Carolina, July 17th, 1865, and ordered to Louisville, Kentucky, for final payment and discharge. The regiment has participated in the following named battles, in which loss was sustained, besides numerous skirmishes and raids, viz: Atlanta, Jonesboro, Georgia; Bentonville, South Carolina; and all the skirmishes in General Rousseau's raid through Alabama, and General McCook's raid in the rear of Atlanta.

THIRD KENTUCKY VETERAN VOLUNTEER CAVALRY.

The Third Kentucky Cavalry was organized in 1861, at Calhoon, Ky., and veteranized at Nashville, Tennessee, in March, 1864. After the expiration of the thirty days' veteran furlough allowed by the War Department, it was ordered to Chattanooga, Tennessee, and assigned to Gen. Kilpatrick's Cavalry Division. The active campaign of Gen. Sherman, in his advance on Atlanta, Ga., gave the cavalry constant and active employment, and in the numerous battles and engagements incident to that march, the superior discipline and gallant bearing of the regiment were abundantly demonstrated. It was selected to accompany Gen. Sherman on his march from Atlanta to the sea. In this march through the enemy's country, cut off from all supplies, the whole army depended upon the cavalry, and the efficiency with which it performed the duties assigned, was expressed in General Orders by the commanding General.

From Savannah, Ga., this regiment marched through the Carolinas, participating in all the battles and skirmishes until it arrived at Lexington, N. C., where it was mustered out on the 15th day of July, 1865, after the surrender of the Confederate forces.

FOURTH KENTUCKY VETERAN VOLUNTEER CAVALRY.

This regiment veteranized at Rossville, Georgia, in January, 1864, and was then furloughed for thirty days, at the expiration of which time it rendezvoused at Lexington, Kentucky, and was immediately ordered to Nashville, Tennessee, and from thence on foot to Chattanooga, where it was mounted and encamped in Wauhatchie Valley. Here it remained for some weeks, scouting through that portion of the country for hundreds of miles around. In June, 1864, under command of Major Bacon, it formed part of the expedition under General Watkins to Lafayette, Georgia. Whilst there, the regiment was attacked by a greatly superior force, and was, with a part of the 6th Kentucky Cavalry, cut off from the balance of the command. Being hard pressed by the enemy, it fell back, and occupying the Court-house, held it against repeated and furious attacks of the enemy from 4 o'clock A. M. to 3 P. M., when the attacking force withdrew, leaving over one hundred killed and wounded on the field, besides a much larger number of prisoners captured from them while on their retreat.

From Lafayette the regiment marched to Calhoun, Georgia, scouting through the country, and constantly skirmishing with Wheeler's rebel cavalry, and thence to Resaca, Georgia, constituting part of the small garrison which held that place against Hood's army for three days after he had flanked Sherman at Atlanta. Here the regiment, under Colonel Cooper, was repeatedly complimented by the commanding General. A part of the regiment, under Major Weston, made a successful charge on the rebel fort ———, causing the enemy to retire.

It marched in advance of Sherman's army to Gadsden, Alabama, driving the enemy's rear guard the entire distance. It then came via Chattanooga and Nashville to Louisville; was there remounted, and proceeded to Hopkinsville, Kentucky, driving Lyon's command out of the State, when it went to Nashville, Tennessee. After the battle of Nashville it marched to Waterloo, Alabama; thence to Eastport, Mississippi; thence to Chickasaw, Alabama. After recruiting both men and horses at this place for some weeks, the regiment joined General Wilson's command, and was with him during his famous and distinguished march through Alabama and Georgia. It drove the enemy out of Montgomery and held that city for two hours before any other troops arrived; thence marching via Macon and Albany, Georgia, to Tallahassee, Florida, and returning via Albany to Macon, Georgia, it was finally mustered out at this last named place on August 21st, 1865.

It participated in the following engagements, in which loss was sustained, viz.: Lafayette and Calhoun, Georgia; Lavergne, Franklin, and Campbellsville, Tennessee; Russellville, Randolph, Scottsville, Centreville Selma, Tuskegee, and Montgomery, Alabama, and at Columbus, Georgia.

SIXTH KENTUCKY VETERAN VOLUNTEER CAVALRY.

The 6th Kentucky Cavalry veteranized in January, 1864, at Rossville, Georgia, and returned to Kentucky on the furlough of thirty days allowed by the War Department; at the expiration of which, it returned to Chattanooga, Tennessee, and was assigned to the 3d Brigade, 1st Division, commanded by General L. D. Watkins. From Chattanooga it marched to Wauhatchie, Tennessee, and remained there near two months, and then marched to Lafayette, Georgia; from thence to Calhoun, Georgia, and Resaca. From Resaca marched with the advance of General Sherman, by way of Dalton and Snake Creek Gap, to Gadsden, Alabama, where the horses giving out, the regiment returned to Louisville, Kentucky, to be remounted. From Louisville, after being remounted and equipped, it was ordered to Nashville, Tennessee, and participated in the pursuit of General Lyon through Kentucky; after which it marched to Waterloo, Alabama, at which point, the cavalry being reorganized, this regiment was assigned to General Croxton's 1st Brigade of the 1st Division of General Wilson's Corps, and marched to Chickasaw, Alabama; from there marched with General Wilson through Alabama. Leaving the main command at Montevello, the 6th proceeded to Tuscaloosa, where it met the enemy in force, and was engaged in a severe battle. From Tuscaloosa it marched by way of Newnan to Macon, Georgia, rejoining the main command of General Wilson. From Macon it marched to Louisville, Kentucky, where it was mustered out on the 6th day of September, 1865, having participated in the following battles, viz.: Lafayette, Resaca, Snake Creek Gap, Georgia; King's Hill, Tuscaloosa, Alabama; Nashville, Tennessee; Summerville, Georgia, and Hopkinsville, Kentucky.

PATTERSON'S COMPANY OF MECHANICS AND ENGINEERS.

Patterson's Company of Mechanics and Engineers was organized at Somerset, Kentucky, under Captain W. F. Patterson, and mustered into the United States service by Chas. S. Medary, Lieutenant, United States Mustering Officer, and has marched as follows:

This Company, as enlisted, was employed in the construction of defenses for Camp Hoskins, Kentucky, then under command of Colonel Hoskins, up to the 2d of December, 1861, when Brigadier General Shoepff assumed command, and continued the work of defense in the vicinity of Somerset, Kentucky, until the battle of Mill Springs, on the 19th January, 1862. On the 16th January this Company, together with seven companies from the command, were employed in the repair of the road from Somerset to Stanford, Kentucky. On the 8th February the seven companies were relieved, and the work continued by this Company, under orders of General Thomas. On the 12th April it was ordered to report to Headquarters Seventh Division, Army of Ohio, Cumberland Ford, Kentucky, by General George W. Morgan, where it arrived on the 20th, repairing roads on the way. From the 25th April to May 1st engaged, with large detailed force added, in the repair of the road for supplies. From 1st May this Company constructed roads and bridges forty miles for a flank movement upon Cumberland Gap through Cumberland Mountains, which was accomplished successfully on the 18th June. From this date a new detail was added of 230 men, and engaged in the construction of buildings, roads, &c., up to the 18th September, when all was destroyed by order of General Morgan, together with nine siege guns. Marched with the advance of column, clearing blockades, building bridges, &c., to Greensburg, Kentucky, 200 miles, arriving on the 3d October. Continued with the column to Charleston, Virginia. Embarked on transports 1st November, 1862, for Memphis, arriving about 1st December. On 26th December embarked on transports for Yazoo river, arriving and debarking at Chickasaw Bayou on the 29th December. A battle occurred on the 27th. From the 29th to the 1st January, 1863, this Company was constantly engaged, night and day, in preparing earth-works, and on the 29th was greatly exposed in an effort to throw a pontoon bridge across Chickasaw Bayou, under a destructive fire from the enemy. Sergeant Welsh, in charge of the party, relinquished the effort only when the boats were so damaged as to be useless. On the 1st of January, 1863, embarked on transports for Arkansas Post, arriving on the 10th. After the battle and surrender, the demolition of the fort and siege guns was assigned to this Company, with a large detail from the command. A note of compliments was received from the commanding General on the 14th. Embarked for Young's Point on the 14th; arrived 22d January, 1863. By Special Order No. 177, February 2d, 1863, Headquarters 13th Army Corps, two Pioneer Corps, 150 men each, were ordered to report to Captain Patterson for duty. From this date to 29th March built two miles of wooden road, half mile of levee, seven feet high, besides work done on the canal. On the 30th March marched to Richmond, Louisiana, with 60th Indiana, the advance of the army, for the rear of Vicksburg. On the 1st April built floating bridges 300 feet long across Bayou Roundaway, a rapid stream, inside of twenty-four hours. On the 15th prepared a casemate for a 12-pound howitzer on board a flat-boat, with which General Osterhaus advanced upon Carthage, on the Mississippi, driving the enemy five miles down the river. From 6th to 19th worked two saw-mills, and built twenty flat-boats. On the 19th, under orders, reported to General Hovey with a barge to build a bridge 780 feet long across Bayou Vedell, 12 miles below Carthage, which was completed in fourteen hours. Marched two miles; built a bridge across Negro Bayou 250 feet long same day. By means of the flat-boats 150 tons of ammunition were transported to the Mississippi from Richmond, and they were then used by Captain Jackson, of General Hovey's Division, to bridge Mound Bayou, 650 feet broad, which was completed 26th April. This was 45 miles from Milliken's Bend, then flooded with water. For greater certainty a squad of this company was left in charge until the army passed. No accident or delay occurred on this work. Leaving this point, it marched 4 miles to Perkins' Plantation, on the Mississippi. On the 28th April embarked on transports for Grand Gulf, debarking same day at Hard Times, 2 miles above Grand Gulf. On the 29th a fleet of seven gunboats fired upon the rebel works, retiring at 4 P. M. The rebels continuing their fire, the troops marched below, following the levee, and camped for the night. On the 30th crossed to east bank of Mississippi, and marched with General Carr's division in the advance. On May 1st the battle of Port Gibson was fought. On May 2d was ordered in front of General Logan's division, 17th Army Corps, by Colonel Wilson, Engineer on General Grant's staff, to build a bridge across Bayou Pierre over 100 feet long, which was done in less than three hours. Reached Big Bayou Pierre 12 P. M.; repaired burnt bridge 300 feet long with new floor. The troops crossed at daylight. Reached Raymond on the 11th. The pontoon train arrived, crossing our bridges from Milliken's Bend. On the 16th the battle of Champion Hills was fought, and on the 17th the battle of Big Black river. Constructed bridge across Big Black 200 feet long—troops crossing at sunrise on the 18th.

Reached rear of Vicksburg on the evening of the 18th; was employed up to the 22d planting artillery. During the charge on the 22d, Lieut. Steiner, of the 60th Indiana, led two squads of the pioneers to dig down the earth-works on either side of the railroad, vacated for the time by the enemy. Corporal Hendryx, of the 43d Ohio, reached the face of the work on the left, and continued excavations until ordered to desist, returning with the loss of one man, while the Lieutenant threw up an earthwork across the road on a line with and near Fort Beauregard. June 1st—This company was intrusted with running the saps in front of the 13th Army Corps; reached a point within 15 feet of the Fort on the 3d of July. July 4th—Vicksburg fell. On the 5th this company marched to Jackson, Mississippi, under Lieutenant McIlvain, of the 120th Ohio, and returned August 1st. On August 5th the Pioneer Corps was disbanded, and this company was ordered with the 13th Army Corps to New Orleans, Louisiana, arriving on the 27th. From this date it engaged as mechanics, making water wagons and canvas boats, under command of Major General E. O. C. Ord, up to the 5th of October, when it marched with the advance of the 13th Army Corps to Vermillion Bayou, arriving on the 11th. On the 1st of November it returned to New Orleans with the 13th Army Corps. On the 15th it embarked on transports for Brazos Santiago, Texas, arriving on the 20th. On the 21st was ordered to Arransas Pass, debarking on St. Joseph Island. On November 22d the army marched up the coast, Major General Washburn commanding; reached Cedar Bayou November 24th. On November 25th constructed a flying bridge 300 yards long across Cedar Bayou, and the command crossed. On the 7th of December reached Pass Cavallo, Texas. Built hospitals, signal stations, warehouses, wharves, and did mechanical work generally up to April 19th, when we embarked with the 13th Army Corps for Alexandria, Louisiana, arriving on the 28th of April. Assisted in the construction of the "Great Dam across Red River." On the 13th of May left Alexandria for New Orleans, arriving on the 6th of June. July 3d—Reported to Engineer Department of the Gulf, and, dividing the Company, took charge of mechanical and steam saw-mill in Cypress Swamp, up to November 17th, when the company was ordered to report to Louisville, Kentucky, its term of three years' service having expired. On November 23d embarked on transports for Louisville, Kentucky, arriving December 1st, 1864. The company was finally mustered out January 25d, 1865, at Louisville, Kentucky. It has participated in the following named battles and affairs in which loss was sustained: Mill Springs, Kentucky, Cumberland Gap, retreat from Cumberland Gap, Chickasaw Bayou, Arkansas Post, Port Gibson, Champion Hills, Black River Bridge, Siege of Vicksburg, Vermillion Bayou, Arransas Pass, Pass Cavallo, Alexandria, Louisiana, Mocksburg, Louisiana, Yellow Bayou, Louisiana.

FIRST KENTUCKY LIGHT ARTILLERY.

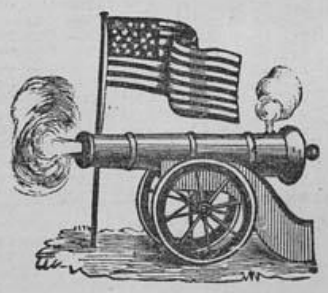
BATTERY A.

This Battery was organized in the month of July, 1861, at Camp Joe Holt, Indiana, by Captain David C. Stone, and was mustered into the United States service on the 27th day of September, 1861, at Camp Muldrough Hill, Kentucky, by Major W. H. Sidell, United States Mustering Officer. This Battery accompanied General Rousseau from Louisville to Muldrough's Hill early in the fall of 1861, and constituted a part of that gallant band who interposed between Buckner and Louisville. It was assigned to the Department of the Cumberland, and was distinguished for gallantry, discipline, and soldierly bearing, and, in the early engagements in Tennessee, won the praise of the Department Commander. It veteranized at Nashville, Tennessee, in February, 1864. After the defeat of the Confederate forces under General Hood, in December, 1864, the Battery was ordered to Texas, where it remained until October, 1865, when, being ordered to Louisville, Kentucky, it was mustered out November 15th, 1865.

BATTERY B.

This Battery was organized in August, 1861, at Camp Dick Robinson, and was originally known as Company D, of the 3d Kentucky Infantry; it was detached as artillery, and mustered into the United States service as such, on the 8th day of October, 1861, by General George H. Thomas. Captain J. M. Hewett enlisted his Company as infantry, and, the service demanding a battery at that time, with the sanction of the Department Commander, he drilled them as artillery, and, by their efficiency and discipline, were permanently detached and formed Battery B. It took an active part in all the early engagements in Kentucky and Tennessee, and was distinguished for gallantry and superior discipline. It was mustered out at Louisville, Kentucky, November 16th, 1864, the recruits and veterans being transferred to Battery A.

BATTERY C.



Battery C was organized at Louisville, Kentucky, in September, 1863, by Captain Jno. W. Neville, and was mustered into the United States service, for one year, on the 10th day of September, 1863, by Captain W. B. Royall, United States Mustering Officer. Being raised for the one-year service, this Battery was assigned to the Department of Kentucky, and performed much valuable service, and participated in many skirmishes and engagements; and, as there were but few batteries in the Department, the marches performed were long and arduous. It re-enlisted for three years at Lebanon, Kentucky, in February, 1864, and was ordered to Arkansas, where it participated in several severe engagements. It returned to Louisville, Kentucky, where it was mustered out July 26th, 1865.

BATTERY E.

This Battery was organized at Louisville, Kentucky, in September, 1863, under Captain John J. Hawes, and was mustered into the United States service, for one year, at Camp Nelson, Kentucky, on the 6th day of October, 1863, by Captain R. B. Hull, United States Mustering Officer. It performed garrison duty at Camp Nelson and Camp Burnside for several months; and, in February, 1864, re-enlisted for three years. It was at Lexington, Kentucky, in June, 1864, when the city was attacked by John Morgan's forces, and, by a few well-directed shots, succeeded in driving them from the city. It remained at Lexington, Kentucky, until November, 1864, when it received orders to march for East Tennessee and join General Stoneman in his expedition against Saltville, Virginia. This Battery participated in the battle of Marion, Virginia, on the 18th December, 1864, and, on the 21st of December, in the capture of Saltville. After the capture of Saltville, all the guns of the Battery were destroyed and the men mounted and returned to Lexington, Kentucky, by way of Pound Gap and Mount Sterling. This expedition was one of great severity, many of the men being badly frost-bitten, but enduring the cold and fatigues with marked courage and patience. From Lexington it marched to Camp Nelson, where it remained until ordered to Louisville, Kentucky, for muster-out, August 1st, 1865.

FIRST KENTUCKY INDEPENDENT BATTERY.

This Battery was organized as Company E of the 1st Kentucky Infantry, at Camp Clay, Ohio, in 1861, and detached as artillery October 31st, 1861, by the Secretary of War, at the instance of General Rosecrans, then commanding in West Virginia. It was mustered into the United States service at Camp Clay, Ohio, on the 3d day of June, 1861, by Major S. Burbank, 1st United States Infantry. It was assigned to the Department of West Virginia, and participated in all the engagements in that Department. It was originally commanded by Captain Seth J. Simmonds until March, 1864, when Captain Daniel W. Glassie assumed command, and, under him, it veteranized at Charleston, West Virginia. It has participated in the following named battles, in which loss was sustained, viz: Tyler's Mountain, Horse Shoe Bend, Cotton Mountain, and Gauley Bridge, Virginia; Frederick City and Antietam, Maryland; Cloyed Mountain, New River Bridge, Lynchburg, and Salem, Virginia. It was distinguished for gallantry, discipline, and soldierly conduct throughout its whole enlistment, and the officers and men have received repeated praise from the Department Commanders under whom they served. It was mustered out at Louisville, Kentucky, July 10th, 1865.

FIRST KENTUCKY VOLUNTEER INFANTRY.

This regiment was organized at Camp Clay, Ohio, in June, 1861, under Colonel James V. Guthrie, and was mustered into the United States service on the 4th day of June, 1861, by Major S. Burbank, 1st United States Infantry. After organization it was ordered to the Department of West Virginia, where it performed much valuable service in the early engagements of the war. Colonel Guthrie resigned in December, 1861, and Colonel David A. Enyart was commissioned in his stead, and commanded the regiment through its whole enlistment. In January, 1862, the regiment was ordered to the Department of the Cumberland, and took an active part in the advance on Nashville, and participated in the following engagements, in which loss was sustained, viz: Gauley Bridge, Red House, and Petytonia, Virginia; Shiloh, Tennessee; Corinth, Mississippi; Stone River, Tennessee; Chickamauga, Georgia. Company E, of this regiment, was detailed as artillery, in 1861, by order of the War Department, at the instance of General Rosecrans, and was known as the 1st Kentucky Independent Battery. The regiment was mustered out of service on the 18th day of June, 1864, at Covington, Kentucky.

SECOND KENTUCKY VOLUNTEER INFANTRY.

The 2d Regiment Kentucky Volunteer Infantry was organized at Camp Clay, Ohio, under Colonel William E. Woodruff, and was mustered into the United States service on the 13th day of June, 1861, by Major Burbank, United States Mustering Officer, and has marched as follows: It left Cincinnati, Ohio, in July, 1861; landed at Guyandotte, Virginia; marched to Barboursville, and drove the rebels, commanded by Jenkins, from the bluff; marched to Camp Poco, Virginia, near Scury Creek, at which place Colonel Woodruff, Lieutenant Colonel Neff, and Captains Hurd and Austin, were captured by the enemy; the regiment then marched to Gauley Bridge, Virginia, and was engaged with Floyd's command of rebel forces. From Gauley Bridge it was ordered to Charleston, Virginia, to go into winter quarters. On the 25th day of January, 1862, it was ordered to Kentucky, and reached Bardstown, Kentucky, on the 5th February; and, marching from thence, arrived at Pittsburg Landing on the evening of April 6th, 1862. It participated in the siege of Corinth, Mississippi. After which, it was quartered at Athens, Alabama; from which place it was ordered to Murfreesboro, Tennessee, to guard the railroad between that point and Nashville; Companies E and G were detailed for the duty, and were captured by Forrest's cavaly in July, 1862. In September the regiment participated in the Bragg and Buell campaign through Kentucky. From Murfreesboro, Tennessee, it moved south to Chattanooga; and, on the 19th and 20th of September, fought at Chickamauga. On the 17th day of May, 1864, the regiment left Ottawa Station, Tennessee, 15 miles from Chattanooga, for Kingston, Georgia, thence to Resaca, Georgia, where it remained doing garrison duty until June 3d, 1864, when it went to Covington, Kentucky, where it was finally mustered out on the 19th day of June, 1864. Besides numerous skirmishes and minor engagements, it participated in the following battles, in which loss was sustained, viz: Barboursville and Gauley Bridge, Virginia; Shiloh, Tennessee; Corinth, Mississippi; Stone River, Tennessee; Chickamauga, Georgia; Charleston, Virginia; Bridge Creek, Mississippi; Nashville, Tennessee; Scury Creek, Virginia; and Cripple Creek, Tennessee.

THIRD KENTUCKY VOLUNTEER INFANTRY.

The Third Regiment, Kentucky Volunteer Infantry, was organized at Camp Dick Robinson, under Colonel Thomas E. Bramlette, and mustered into the United States service on the 8th day of October, 1861, by General George H. Thomas, United States Mustering Officer, and it has marched as follows: On September 18th, 1861, to Lexington, Kentucky; October 1st, to Camp Dick Robinson; October 23d, to Round Stone Creek, Rockcastle county, Kentucky, and thence to Crab Orchard; on November 1st, to Somerset; November 13th, to A. R. West's, in Wayne county, Kentucky; 14th, returned to Camp Wolford, near Somerset; on November 19th, to Columbia, Kentucky, its effective strength then being a little over five hundred. The regiment was much reduced by sickness at Columbia, and marched from there, January 7th, 1862, with less than three hundred effective men, to the mouth of Rennick Creek, Cumberland county, Kentucky. On January 16th it marched to the mouth of Greasy Creek, Russell county, Kentucky. Here the health of the Regiment improved rapidly, and on the 18th day of March it embarked on steamers for Nashville, Tennessee, about nine hundred strong. On March 29th it marched, by way of Franklin, Columbia, Waynesboro, and Savannah, Tennessee, to the field of Shiloh, where it arrived on the night of April 7th. From there it moved, by gradual approaches, to Corinth, Mississippi, and invested that place. On June 2d it marched, by way of Iuka, Mississippi, to Tuscumbia, Alabama, and from thence, by way of Courtland, Decatur, Mooresville, and Huntsville, Alabama, and Fayetteville, Shelbyville, and Winchester, Tennessee, to Decherd's Station, where it arrived July 22d. Remaining at this place until August 14th, it then marched, by way of Manchester, to Vervilla, Tennessee. On August 24th it marched to Altamont, and returned to Vervilla on the 26th. On the 27th it went to McMinnville; on September 3d it marched in the direction of Murfreesboro, and continued the march through Murfreesboro, Nashville, and Gallatin, Tennessee, and Franklin, Kentucky, to Bowling Green, where it arrived September 11th. It marched from there on the 16th, by way of Bell's Tavern, Munfordsville, Cave City, Bacon Creek Bridge, Elizabethtown, and West Point, to Louisville, Kentucky, where it arrived September 26th. October 1st it marched, by way of Mt. Washington, Bardstown, Glennville, Springfield, Haysville, Perryville, Danville, Stanford, Crab Orchard, and Mt. Vernon, to Round Stone Creek. October 22d it marched back, by way of Mt. Vernon, Crab Orchard, Stanford, Hustonville, and Liberty, to Columbia, Kentucky, where it arrived October 25th. On the 30th it marched, by way of Edmonton and Scottsville, Kentucky, and Gallatin, Tennessee, to Silver Springs, Tennessee, where it arrived November 10th, 1862. On the 15th it went to Lebanon in pursuit of Morgan, and returned to Silver Springs on the 16th. On the 19th of November it marched to Stone River, and on the 25th to Nashville. Remaining there until December 26th, it then marched to Murfreesboro, where it remained, doing fatigue duty and foraging, until June 24th, 1863, when it marched to Manchester and Hillsboro. It remained at the latter place until August 16th, when it marched across the Cumberland Mountains, by way of Pelham and Tracy City, to Thurman, in the Sequatchie Valley. On September 1st it marched, by way of Jasper, Shell Mound, Chattanooga, Lee & Gordon's Mills, to the field of Chickamauga, Georgia, and from thence back to Chattanooga.

On its return from the pursuit of the enemy after the battle of Mission Ridge, it marched to Knoxville; thence to Strawberry Plains and back to Loudon, where it remained on fatigue duty until April 18th, 1864, when it marched, by way of Sweetwater, Athens, Charleston, and Calhoun, to Cleveland. On May 3d it commenced its movements against the enemy stationed at Dalton, Georgia. It marched, by way of Blue Springs, Red Clay, and Catoosa Springs, to the summit of Rocky Face Mountain. On May 13th, it marched, by way of Dalton, to Resaca, and, on the 16th, by way of Calhoun, Georgia, and Adairsville, to Kingston. On the 23d it marched on the Dallas road to Pumpkin Vine Creek, and skirmished around Dallas and the field of New Hope, on Pumpkin Vine, until June 5th, and, on the 6th, began moving gradually around to the left, by way of Ackworth Station, skirmishing and fortifying night and day. Proceeding, by way of Muddy Branch and Cedar Mountain, it arrived at the base of Kenesaw Mountain June 20th. It skirmished around Kenesaw Mountain until the battle of Kenesaw Mountain, in which the regiment participated. It skirmished around that part of the country until July 3d, when it marched, by way of Marietta, to Vining's Station, and, on the 9th July, marched to Roswell and forded the Chattahoochie river. On July 12th it went to a point on the Chattahoochie near Vining's Station, and, on the 13th, crossed that river five miles above Vining's Station. From there, skirmishing and fortifying continually, it proceeded, by way of Nancy's Creek, Buck Head, and Peachtree Creek, to within one and seven-eighth miles of Atlanta, where it took its position, and fortified it, on the right of the road leading from Atlanta to Peachtree Creek. It skirmished with the enemy continually during the seige of Atlanta, which lasted until August 25th, 1864. At midnight of August 25th it commenced the movement around to the right of Atlanta; crossed the Atlanta and Chattanooga railroad, between Atlanta and the Chattahoochie river, and marched towards Jonesboro; reached the Atlanta and Montgomery railroad fourteen miles below Atlanta, and destroyed the track for several miles; struck the Atlanta and Macon railroad near Rough and Ready, and marched down the same, destroying the railroad for eight miles; reached Jonesboro, and it was then relieved and marched back to Atlanta on 4th September.

On the 9th September it started by railroad for Nashville, Tennessee, and arrived there September 12th. It remained at Nashville doing picket and fatigue duty (and settling its business preparatory to being mustered out) until 6th October, when it proceeded by railroad for Louisville, where it was mustered out on the 18th day of October, 1864. A portion of this regiment re-enlisted as veterans in the month of March, 1864. They remained with the regiment until September 15th, 1864, when such of them as had survived the casualties of war, were, at Nashville, on that date, transferred to the 1st Kentucky Battery.

The 3d Regiment Kentucky Infantry participated in the following named battles and skirmishes, in which loss was sustained, viz: Waynesboro, Shiloh, Corinth, Mississippi, May 24th, 1862; McMinnville, Tennessee; Munfordsville, Kentucky, September 21st, 1862; Bardstown and Perryville, Kentucky; Stewart's Creek, Tennessee, December 29th, 1862; Stone River, December 31st, 1862, and January 1st and 2d of 1863; Chickamauga, September 20th, 1863; Mission Ridge, November 23d, 24th, and 25th, 1863; Rocky Face Ridge, May 9th, 1864; Resaca, Georgia, May 14th, 1864; Pumpkin Vine Creek, May and June, 1864; Cedar Mountain, June 15th, 1864; Muddy Branch, June 18th; Kenesaw Mountain, June 20th and 21st; Kenesaw Mountain, June 27th, 1864; Nancy's Creek, July 18th, 1864; Peachtree Creek, July 20th; Atlanta, July and August of 1864.

FOURTH KENTUCKY VOLUNTEER INFANTRY.

The 4th Regiment of Kentucky Volunteer Infantry was organized at Camp Dick Robinson, Kentucky, under Colonel Speed S. Fry, mustered into the United States service on the 9th day of October, 1861, by Brigadier General George H. Thomas, United States Mustering Officer, and marched from Camp Dick Robinson October 28th, 1861, to Crab Orchard, Kentucky; on November 19th, from Crab Orchard, via Stanford and Danville, to Lebanon, where it arrived November 27th; on December 31st it marched from Lebanon, via Campbellsville and Columbia, to Logan's Cross Roads, in Pulaski county, Kentucky, eight miles from Mill Springs. On the 19th of January, 1862, the rebels, under command of Crittenden and Zollicoffer, attacked the army, and they were defeated. The army marched to within one mile of the rebel entrenchments on the night of the 19th. The same night the enemy retreated, abandoning his artillery, baggage, and stores. The 4th remained in the rebel cantonments at Mill Springs until the 14th of February, when it marched, via Coffee's Mill, Danville, Lebanon, and Bardstown, to Louisville, Kentucky, and from thence, on the 28th, by boat to Nashville, where it arrived on the 4th of March. It left Nashville March 20th, and marched, via Franklin, to Spring Hill, where it remained a few days, and then marched, via Columbia and Waynesboro, to Savannah, and thence by boat to Pittsburg Landing, arriving at the last named place on April 8th. On April 12th the regiment went with a brigade under Fry and a battalion of cavalry, all under command of General W. T. Sherman, to Bear Creek, by steamer, and marched out to the Memphis and Charleston railroad and burned a bridge.

The 4th moved with the army from Shiloh to Corinth, skirmishing constantly, and entered Corinth May 29th; from thence it went to Booneville, Mississippi, and returned June 12th. On June 24th it left Corinth, and marched via Iuka to Tuscumbia, and on July 24th, via Florence, Lawrenceburg, Pulaski, Fayetteville, Lynchburg, and Winchester, to Decherd, Tennessee, arriving August 4th, and thence via Elk River, Pelham, Hillsboro, Manchester, Hoover's Gap, and Murfreesboro, to Nashville. It remained at Nashville until September 15th, and then marched via Tyree Springs, Bowling Green, Kentucky, Cave City, Munfordsville, Elizabethtown, and West Point, to Louisville, Kentucky, where it arrived September 24th, 1862. Leaving Louisville October 21st, it marched via Shepherdsville, Bardstown, Springfield, Perryville, Danville, and Lancaster, to Crab Orchard, and returned via Lancaster, Danville, New Market, Campbellsville, Greensburg, Glasgow, Bowling Green, Mitchellsville, South Tunnel, Gallatin, and Hartsville, to Castillian Springs, Tennessee. On December 11th it marched to the vicinity of Gallatin, and on the 25th went by railroad to Munfordsville, Kentucky, and thence via Elizabethtown to Rolling Fork, where it skirmished with Morgan's rebel cavalry, and then marched to Lebanon Junction. On January 7th, 1863, it marched back to Munfordsville, and went by cars to Nashville. From thence it marched to Little Harpeth, and returned to Nashville on January 15th, and thence it marched to Lavergne, where it was engaged in scouting for some time, and then marched to Triune, and on June 23d started on the Tullahoma campaign. It skirmished at Hoover's Gap, Concord Church, and Tullahoma, and entered Tullahoma July 1st, and marched thence to Winchester, Tennessee, on the 21st July. On the 18th August it started on the Chickamauga campaign, and was engaged in the battle of Chickamauga September 19th and 20th.

On the 22d of September the regiment enfered Chattanooga, and on the 25th skirmished with the enemy. After the battle of Missionary Ridge, November 25th, the regiment marched thence to Ringgold and returned. The 4th Infantry veteranized early in January, 1864, and on the 19th of the same month went to Louisville, Kentucky, on veteran furlough. After the expiration of furlough it rendezvoused at Camp Nelson, Kentucky, March 2d, 1864, and, being reorganized as a mounted regiment, it returned, via Nashville, Tennessee, to Snake Creek Gap, Georgia, stopping ten days in Nashville. It skirmished at Lafayette on June 24th. In July it left Snake Creek Gap and joined McCook's Cavalry Division at Chattahoochie river. It was engaged at Mason's Church, Lovejoy's, Shakerag, and Newnan, Georgia, where a large portion of the regiment was captured. The remainder of the regiment returned to Nashville to refit, and on the 31st of August started in pursuit of Wheeler's rebel cavalry, and followed them through Tennessee, skirmishing at Franklin and Campbellsville. It then followed Forrest through Tennessee, and skirmished at Pulaski. On October 15th it went to the vicinity of Florence, and on November 5th fought with Hood's forces at Shoal Creek. Retreating before the enemy, it fought them at Campbellsville, Lewistown Pike, and Franklin. It then retreated to Nashville, and on December 15th and 16th fought in the battle of Nashville, after which it followed Hood's forces to the Tennessee river, and then marched to Waterloo, Alabama, and thence on the 22d of March, 1865, with General Wilson, through Alabama and part of Georgia, arriving at Macon, Georgia, May 1st, 1865. It scouted through the country in search of Jefferson Davis, and, returning to Macon, it was there mustered out on the 17th of August, and on the 19th took cars for Louisville, Kentucky, where it arrived in due time and was paid off, and finally discharged August 30th, 1865.

In the dry matter-of-fact history given of this regiment, a proper idea of the meed of praise due it cannot be readily formed; it being entitled to the highest encomium of glory and patriotism, having been among the first of Kentucky's brave soldiers to gather around their country's flag in the recent struggle for national existence. It received the praise and commendation of every General Officer under whom it served; and the casualty list clearly shows it to have been ever foremost in the battle. It participated in the following, among other battles, in which loss was sustained, viz: Mill Springs, Kentucky; Corinth, Mississippi; Rolling Fork, Kentucky; Tullahoma, Tennessee; Chickamauga, Chattanooga, Missionary Ridge, Lafayette, Mason's Church, Newnan, Georgia; Pulaski, Tennessee; Shoal Creek, Alabama; Lewisburg Pike, Franklin, Lynnville, Tennessee, &c., &c.

FIFTH KENTUCKY VOLUNTEER INFANTRY.

The officers of this regiment having failed to furnish a history of its marches, &c., the following is gathered from the records of this office:

It was organized in the summer of 1861 under Lovell H. Rousseau, as Colonel, and was mustered into the United States service on the 9th day of September, 1861, at Camp Joe Holt, Indiana, by W. H. Sidell, Major 15th United States Infantry, and Mustering Officer.

L. H. Rousseau was promoted to Brigadier General October 5th, 1861, and Harvey M. Buckley was then commissioned Colonel, and he resigned January 26th, 1863. Wm. W. Berry was, on the 9th of February, 1863, mustered as Colonel, and commanded the regiment until its muster-out of service at Louisville, Kentucky, September 14th, 1864. A portion of the regiment veteranized, and at the muster-out of the regiment the recruits and veterans were transferred to the 2d Kentucky Veteran Cavalry.

It is with regret that a report of this regiment is published without a full history of its career, it having been one of the very first Kentucky regiments which "rallied around the flag" and formed part of Rousseau's gallant command, who, by their timely occupation of Muldrough's Hill, kept at bay the rebel forces, and saved Kentucky from being drawn entirely within the enemy's lines.

The difficulties under which the regiment was raised, having been organized at the time that Kentucky was resting upon her neutrality, assure to its officers the greatest credit for their success.

At the alarm of an invasion of Kentucky by Buckner, this gallant command was thrown out in defense of Louisville by General, then Colonel, Rousseau, and held them in check until reinforcements arrived from Ohio and Indiana, and forever refuted the idea of a State standing in a neutral position when the integrity or unity of the nation was assailed.

From the time the 5th crossed the Ohio river from Camp Joe Holt recruiting progressed rapidly throughout Kentucky. Having been thoroughly disciplined during the time it was encamped at Joe Holt, it took the lead of, and was the nucleus around which, the Grand Army of the Cumberland was formed. It served with distinction, and gained repeatedly praise from the Department commanders. Besides numerous others, it participated in the following named battles in which loss was sustained, viz: Bowling Green, Shiloh, Stone River, Chickamauga, Mission Ridge, Rocky Face Ridge, Resaca, Dallas, Kenesaw, Atlanta, Dalton, Orchard Knob, Liberty Gap, and Blain's Cross Roads.

SIXTH KENTUCKY VOLUNTEER INFANTRY.

The 6th Kentucky Infantry was organized at Camp Sigel, Jefferson county, Kentucky, in December, 1861, under Colonel Walter C. Whitaker, and was mustered into the United States service on the 24th December, 1861, by Major W. H. Sidell, United States Mustering Officer. Immediately after organization it was assigned to the Department of the Cumberland, and entered upon active duty. It was commanded by Colonel Walter C. Whitaker until June 30th, 1863, when he was promoted Brigadier General, and Lieutenant Colonel George T. Shackelford was commissioned Colonel. In all the early engagements in Tennessee and on the Atlanta campaign, this regiment took an active part, and in the battles of Shiloh, Stone River, and Chickamauga, suffered severely in killed and wounded. By reference to the casualty report herewith, it will be seen that the number actually killed in battle exceeds ten per cent. of the number originally enlisted. It has been the recipient of frequent orders of praise for undaunted gallantry, soldierly conduct, and discipline. Throughout its whole enlistment its achievements were brilliant and without reproach, and equal to the best volunteer regiment in the army.

It has participated in the following named battles, in which loss was sustained, viz: Shiloh, Stone River, Readyville, Tennessee, Chickamauga, Mission Ridge, Altoona Mountain, Resaca, Kenesaw Mountain, Dallas, Rocky Face Ridge, Peachtree Creek, Adairsville, and Atlanta.

It was mustered out at Nashville, Tennessee, on the 2d day of November, 1864, the recruits and veterans being transferred to the 4th Kentucky Mounted Infantry.
