1989-90 UK BASKETBALL OUTLOOK

I think the players will win in the eyes of the people. Not necessarily wins and losses, because certainly there are no magic wands to building a basketball program. You have to have a certain amount of talent and size to win at any level. But I think these players will win by capturing the hearts of their people, their fans.

A funny thing happened to the University of Kentucky basketball team last season. It lost.

It lost more games than it won for the first time since 1927. It lost two players after graduation, and three more after probation. It lost an entire coaching staff. It lost any chance of being on TV next season, and it lost precious scholarships and postseason play for the next two seasons.

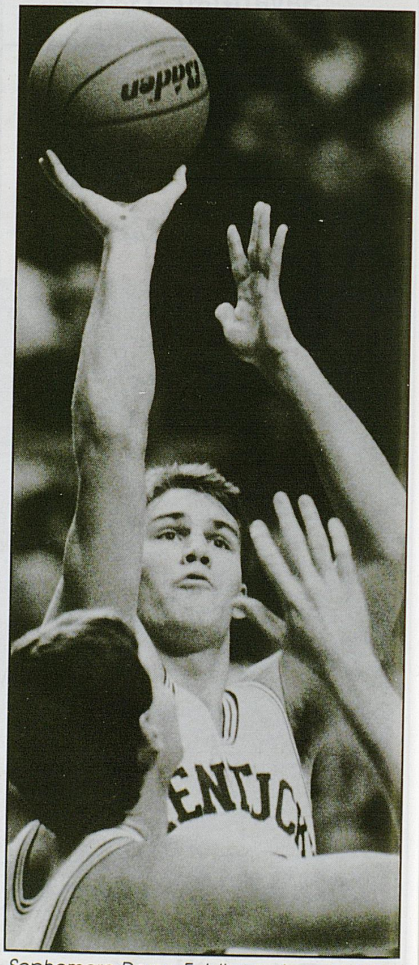

After losing so much, then, why are Kentucky basketball fans feeling like winners these days? Two words. Rick Pitino.

Pitino has faced these types of challenges before. When he went to Boston University in 1978, the school had won only 17 games the previous two years. Know what he did? He won.

When Pitino went to Providence College in 1985, he inherited a team that had gone 11-20 the year before. What did he do? He won.

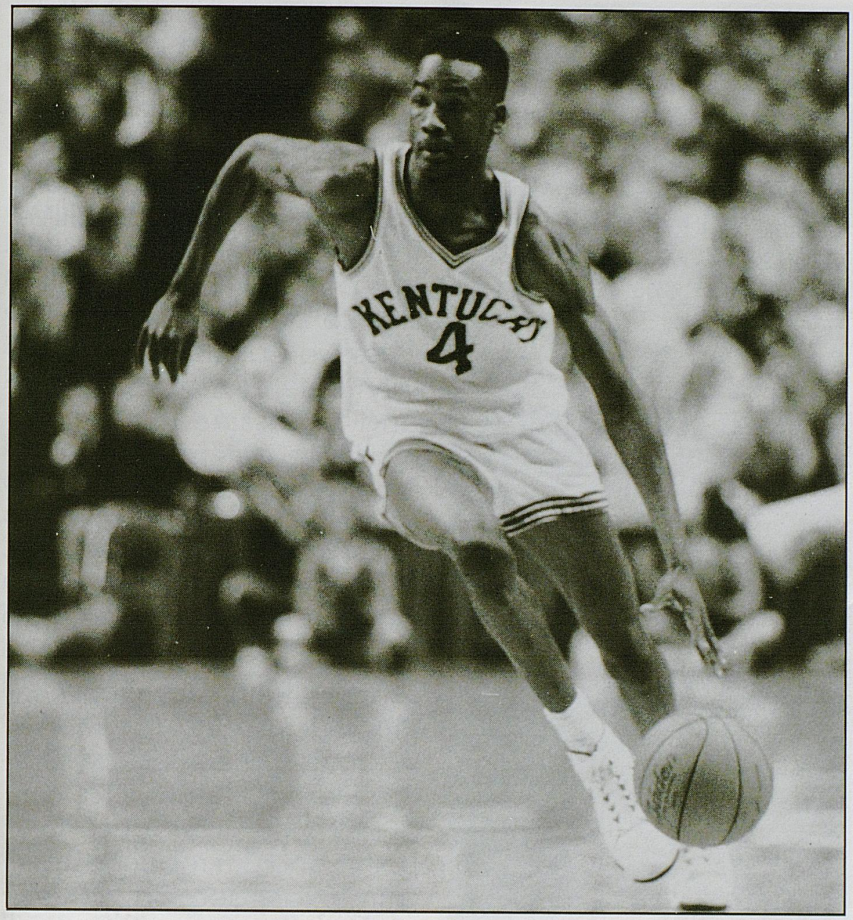

And while Pitino was coaching Providence to the NCAA's Final Four, the New York Knickerbockers were stumbling to a 71-175 two-year mark. When Pitino took over as coach of the Knicks in 1987, guess what he did. You guessed it. He won.

Ironically, as Pitino takes over the program that has won more basketball games than any other, winning is not just enough any more. Pitino's charge is still to win, but to win with class; with integrity; with dignity; with a model program; with putting the student-athlete first. Pitino's reputation in these key areas is what led Athletics Director C.M. Newton to bring him to Lexington in the first place. Now as he attempts to put Kentucky's problems in the past, he must rebuild using the Sophomore Deron Feldhaus showed promise as a freshman and brings his hustling, scrappy style into his sophomore season.

KENTUCKY 1989-90

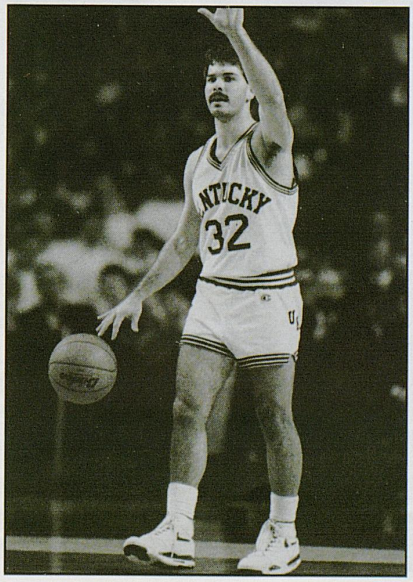

Pitino's bench will be missing last year's leading scorer, LeRon Ellis (16.0 ppg.), who transferred to Syracuse this past summer. Chris Mills, UK's leading rebounder (8.7 rpg.) and second leading scorer (14.3 ppg.) transferred to Arizona. Point guard Sean Sutton, UK's assists leader (4.7 apg.), also transferred. Combine those losses with the graduation of UK's two tallest players, Mike Scott and Jeff Ginnan, and you have a small, inexperienced group.

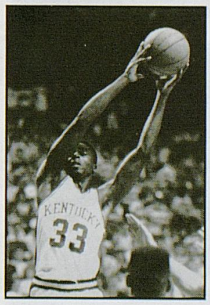

Still, excitement is high in the Bluegrass. Pitino's hiring signaled the end of an unpleasant chapter in Kentucky basketball history, and the beginning of what Wildcat faithful envision as brighter days ahead. While the 1989-90 Kentucky roster nucleus of a team hit hard by last year's controversy. Yet Pitino promises Kentucky fans a winner—right away.

"I think the players will win in the eyes of the people," Pitino says. "Not necessarily wins and losses, because certainly there are no magic wands to building a basketball program. You have to have a certain amount of talent and size to win at any level. But I think these players will win by capturing the hearts of their people, their fans."

may seem lean by Kentucky standards, Pitino's record indicates he is up for the challenge.

Another reason for the excitement is the brand of running, pressing basketball Pitino promises to bring to the Bluegrass. "You're trying to score on the other team's made basket before they turn around and match up defensively, and if you can't do that, to create enough movement that makes it difficult for the defense to help out," Pitino says. "You utilize the three-point shot in the low post game, working inside to out. On defense, it's what we call the 'Mother-in-Law' defense, total pressure and harassment. We are looking to defend people 94 feet from the moment we score until the final buzzer."

Top: Early signee Jeff Brassow stuck with the Cats through adversity and now prepares to begin his freshman season.

Below: Wildcats fans hope for something to cheer about during the 1989-90 season.

Right: Sophomore John Pelphrey, sidelined part of last year with a stress fracture, hopes to be a factor this season.

And just who will help Pitino accomplish this? Although it is not deep, the Wildcat roster does boast some talent, especially in the backcourt. There the Wildcats will be led by senior Derrick Miller, a 6-5 guard who averaged 13.9 points and 3.3 rebounds per game last season. Miller, who showed promise as a freshman but suffered through a nightmarish sophomore season, came into his own as a junior to become a prolific offensive threat.

Richie Farmer, a 6-0 sophomore, joins Miller in the backcourt. The former state of Kentucky Mr. Basketball battled injury and illness through a disappointing freshman campaign, averaging 3.1 points in 27 games.

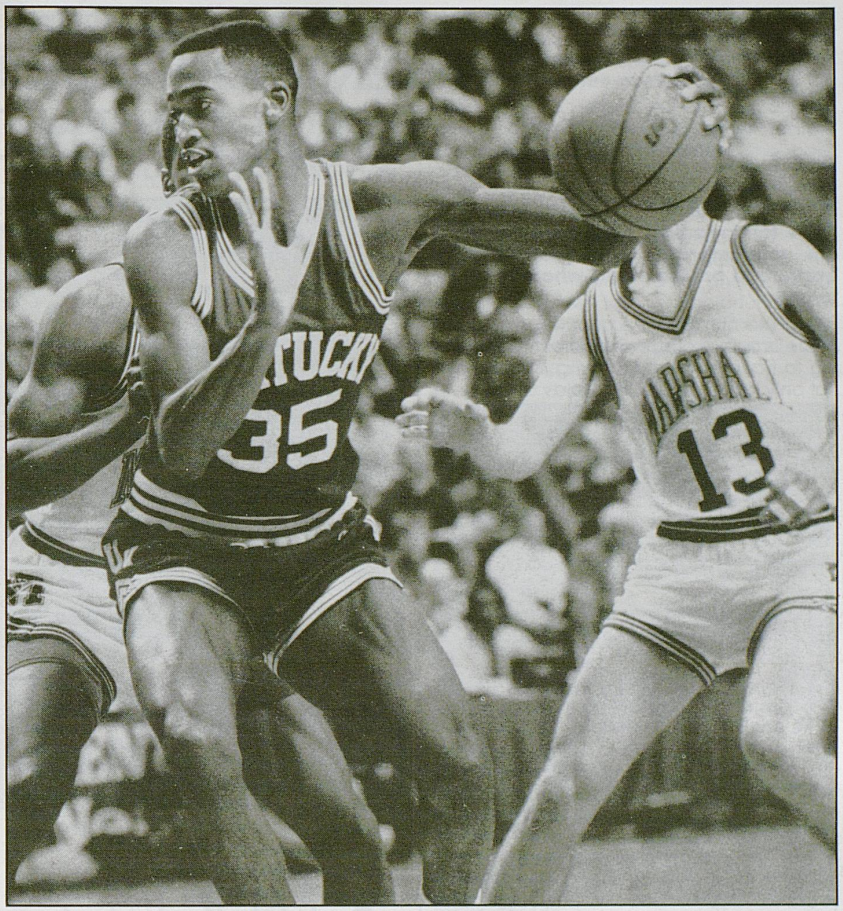

Kentucky's two newcomers, sophomore Sean Woods and freshman Jeff Brassow, will vie for playing time in the backcourt. A third, freshman Henry Thomas, was lost for the season with a knee injury shortly before school began.

Up front, the Cats will be led by junior forward Reggie Hanson. The 6-7 Somerset native averaged 9.8 points and 4.5 rebounds per game last season and is consistently recognized for his defensive skills. Hanson is joined by a trio of sophomores, including 6-7 Deron Feldhaus, 6-7 John Pelphrey and 6-6 Johnathon Davis. Feldhaus may have the early lead on a starting spot following several strong performances last season, in which he averaged 3.7 points and 3.3 rebounds per game.

Still, Pitino says all his players will enter practice with a clean slate on October 15. "I haven't really seen any of them play, I've just evaluated them from a conditioning standpoint," he says. "I did not want to hold anything against the players, so I did not watch any film on them. I want to just go in with a clean slate, and see what they can do on October 15."

With just eight scholarship players on the roster, Pitino predicts playing time for several walk-ons. "In a program such as ours, you have to play 10 people per game," he says. "We need at least two or three walk-ons to play, and another two or three to round out the squad. They'll be of great importance to us, and the significance of it all is that a young man just attending the University of Kentucky will have the chance to participate in the richest tradition in all of basketball."

Junior Reggie Hanson will be a key for Kentucky's front line.

Although doomsayers predict a second straight losing season for the Wildcats, Kentucky has not softened its schedule. "It's probably, if not the premier schedule in the country, one of the most competitive ones I've seen in a long time," Pitino says.

Kentucky's scheule includes the likes of Indiana, Louisville, Kansas, North Carolina and Notre Dame, in addition to the 18-game SEC round-robin.

A CONVERSATION WITH KENTUCKY COACH RICK PITINO

Q: Now that you have been in Lexington for a brief period of time, what are your impressions of the Kentucky basketball program and where it needs to go?

A: The number one priority is that there is a void of size and talent. We're going to have to bring in young players who not only have the ability to play at this level right away, but have the potential in two or three years to go on to the NBA. That's our goal concerning athletes. Academically, we hope to make them overachieve in the classroom the same way they do on the basketball court so that if they don't make it in the NBA, they can leave their college life with the beginning of a great career.

Q: Why did you want to become the basketball coach at Kentucky?

A: I felt that I had the desire to get back into college basketball, and it's rare that the job at a program of the University of Kentucky's stature opens up. So when I looked at a program of this stature, and the opportunity to get Kentucky back to where it belongs, as one of the top 10 programs in America, it was obviously a great challenge, one that I was very excited about. I'm going to spend every waking moment to try and do that in the next few years.

Q: What is the Rick Pitino brand of basketball, and how are you going to bring that to Kentucky?

A: You're trying to score on the other team's made basket before they turn around and match up defensively, and if you can't do that, to create enough movement that makes it difficult for the defense to help out. You utilize the three-point shot in the low post game, working inside to out. On defense, it's what we call the "Mother-in-Law" defense, total pressure and harassment. We are looking to defend people 94 feet from the moment we score until the final buzzer.

Q: You have a reputation of turning programs around. How are you going to do that at Kentucky, and how long is it going to take?

A: I think any time you take a program of this stature, if you have outstanding facilities, both academically and basketball-wise, the easiest part of the job is luring athletes to come to your school. That's the name of the game right now, recruiting. We're in a conference that's one of the premier conferences in all of college basketball, so you not only have to have good organizational skills in this league, you're going to have to recruit with the best of them. Certainly Kentucky has the total package for a student-athlete. We should be able to attract the greatest players from all 50 states to come to this great University.

"Certainly Kentucky has the total package for a student-athlete. We should be able to attract the greatest players from all 50 states to come to this great University."

Q: What do you say to recruits when others are saying "Kentucky is on probation and you should not go there"?

A: We tell them that it's a momentary setback, that they are fleeting moments that won't be part of your future. We're not interested in the past, we're interested in the present and the future, and certainly, you're part of the future.

Q: What areas of the country will you recruit?

A: First of all, we're going to start with the state. But I have a little different philosophy. I don't believe in taking in-state players if they're going to round out your squad as the 10th, 11th or 12th man. I believe in taking an in-state player if he's going to compete on the basketball court and be a factor in whether you win or lose a contest. I think it's important that in-state players are not embarrassed, because they're not only playing in front of their fans, but their own personal communities, and I think it's essential that they get the opportunity to play if you go out there and recruit them. That's what we intend to do, which means they're going to have to be the two or three best players in the state.

Q: What are your priorities in recruiting? What do you tell the parents of a prospect when you make a home visit?

A: I tell all the members of the family that I'm going to build and discipline their son into somebody who can stand on his own two feet when his college education is over with, and make him a successful person with any job that he encounters. I'm also going to make him the finest person he can be. So we're just going to build the base that is going to make a young man successful not only in four years here but in life as well.

Q: What message do you have to the fans, who want so much to help you win?

A: I tell them that we appreciate their help at games. We need their support. We need them to be vocal and enthusiastic about their job, which is rooting on the team. But that's all the help I need. I don't need any other help in areas outside of giving to the University. There are channels for their giving, financially and in spirit. They have to just stay within those channels. Any help that they can lend to the University of Kentucky helps UK basketball.

The SEC is not only an outstanding conference as far as athletic talent is concerned, you have some of the more colorful and bright coaches in the game. I'm looking forward to the challenge of competing against these outstanding people.

A young man here is not a Kentucky basketball player for his four years. He's a Kentucky player for life.

Q: How important are Dr. Roselle and C.M. Newton to the athletics program at Kentucky?

A: In order to make anything go, it takes a team effort. You need that coming from the top all the way down to the equipment manager. You need excellence at the top, people with the same beliefs that you have. Dr. Roselle wants Kentucky to be what it's always been, one of the premier programs in the country. He wants it done with a tremendous amount of integrity. We all agree, Dr. Roselle, C.M. Newton, and myself, that that's the way it has to be done, or it's not worth doing.

Q: Have you had a chance to evaluate the talent you have returning?

A: Not really. I haven't really seen any of them play, I've just evaluated them from a conditioning standpoint. I did not want to hold anything against the players, so I did not watch any film on them. I want to just go in with a clean slate, and see what they can do on October 15.

Q: How big a role with walk-ons play this year?

A: Well, we're only going to have eight scholarship basketball players. In a program such as ours, you have to play 10 people per game. We need at least two or three walk-ons to play, and another two or three to round out the squad. They'll be of great importance to us, and the significance of it all is that a young man just attending the University of Kentucky will have the chance to participate in the richest tradition in all of basketball.

Q: Why did you decide not to give the third scholarship (allowed by the NCAA) this year?

A: I would rather save that scholarship than give it to a freshman or sophomore who is going to be with you for a few years who may not be at your level, and who really will help you in the next year or two but down the road will not. I want to make that scholarship available to a player who is capable of not only competing at Kentucky, but who is also capable of being an all-star player.

Q: You had the opportunity at Providence to compete against the Southeastern Conference. What are your impressions of the conference?

A: The SEC is not only an outstanding conference as far as athletic talent is concerned, you have some of the more colorful and bright coaches in the game. With the addition of three or four other coaches in this conference, it's a great challenge for me to compete with these people. I think it's exciting basketball, it's athleticism at its best, it's run and gun basketball at its best, with very colorful people heading up the programs. I'm looking forward to the challenge of competing against these outstanding people.

Q: Compare coaching at Kentucky to your years in the Big East.

A: Well, the Big East, like the SEC, has tremendous basketball. The only difference is that I've never seen such passion, such enthusiasm for the game as the state of Kentucky has to offer. It's just phenomenal the way an entire state backs a team. I've never seen anything the likes of it from coast to coast. It's great. A young man here is not a Kentucky basketball player for his four years. He's a Kentucky player for life. I think they're special not only during their four years at UK, but they're special until they decide to retire from their permanent careers. I think that's the way people look at Kentucky basketball players. It's a lifetime experience, one that they'll never forget.

Q: What will be the responsibilities of your staff?

A: Ralph Willard, our associate coach, has been a high school coach for 13 years, has been an assistant coach at Hofstra, and at Syracuse when they went to the national championship game, and a pro coach for me the past two years. He has invaluable experience in the Northeast. He's going to be our chief scout, and be with me every day in practice. Our other two coaches are going to be on the road quite a bit the first few years. Tubby Smith, from South Carolina, is noted as one of the premier recruiters and teachers in the country. Herb Sendek was with me at Providence, and he is about as organized a young man as I've come across. Billy Donovan played for me at Providence, and with the New York Knickerbockers, and is going to be a big help to me in not only in the little things that go into being a graduate assistant, but also in playing and competing against our people in practice. He's in outstanding shape, and I think our players will gain a great deal of confidence playing against him. So, it's an outstanding staff, and we have, from top to bottom, from C.M. down to our managers, people that I'm very comfortable with, people who are willing to pay the price to be successful.

Q: What are your impressions of the tradition of Kentucky basketball? How are you going to enhance and continue that?

A: When I was a young player, Kentucky basketball was just like UCLA and North Carolina. UCLA had the Wooden era, Kentucky had the Rupp era, and North Carolina, when Dean Smith was just breaking in, they were the programs with the most excitement and the most tradition. Kentucky is a unique, special school. I've never seen such passion in a state for college basketball. It's just a great atmosphere to be associated with. I'm looking forward to the challenge, and making those people proud once again of what Kentucky basketball stands for, and that's excellence.

Q: This year's schedule is challenging. What are your thoughts?

A: It's more than just a challenge. It's probably, if not the premier schedule in the country, one of the most competitive ones I've seen in a long time. Our non-league schedule is as good as our SEC one. We are not looking for easy wins out of conference. Any time you do that, and you're not in a tournament, I think it's exciting, because right now, the regular season is our tournament. We've got to play every game as if it's our last one. So I look forward to playing this type of schedule not only this year, but for many years to come. We want to be in the top five each year in the degree of difficulty of our schedule, and I look forward to that. After coming from 100 games in the NBA, and getting used to playing the Celtics and the Lakers and the Cavaliers and people of that quality, I don't want to play those so-called "easy" games. I would rather play the competitive people, because there are only 27 contests.

> "The foundation has got to be built on the old-fashioned work ethic. It's the players that turn it around, not the coaches."

Q: You have said that the program will win right away. What did you mean by that?

A: I think the players will win in the eyes of the people. Not necessarily wins and losses, because certainly there are no magic wands to building a basketball program. You have to have a certain amount of talent and size to win at any level. But I think these players will win by capturing the hearts of their people, their fans. While they're doing that, I think the wins and losses will improve each year, and then we will get back to having the best of both worlds, not only having the enthusiasm, but the wins and losses as well.

Q: What are your short-term and long-range goals?

A: The foundation has got to be built on the old-fashioned work ethic. In order for our players to over-achieve and win games they're not supposed to, they're going to have to outwork their opponents, and that's not an easy thing to do. Any time you do that, sacrifices come to mind. You have to sacrifice your social time in order to get to that level. The players, I think, are willing to make that commitment, and in order for us to turn around this program in a short period of time, that's what's necessary. It's the players that turn it around, not the coaches.

NEW YORK'S LOTTERY

RICK PITINO

Head Coach

As his book title states, Rick Pitino was "Born to Coach."

Considered by many to be the best young coach in America, Pitino has made a career of rebuilding basketball programs, both at the collegiate and professional levels. At only 37, Pitino has been credited with turning around a dying Boston University program, taking Providence College to the Final Four in only two seasons, and turning the NBA's New York Knicks from perennial losers to division champions in just two years.

THE PITINO FILE

Date of Birth: September 18, 1952

Hometown: New York, N.Y.

High School: St. Dominic's, Oyster Bay, N.Y.

College: Massachusetts/Amherst

Year Graduated: 1974

Sports Played: Basketball (6-foot guard who played four seasons, averaging 28 points per game his senior year)

Wife's Name: Joanne Minardi Pitino

Childrens' Names and Ages: Michael, 11, Christopher, 9, Richard, 6.

His seven-year collegiate record is 133-74 (64.2%) and his record with the Knicks is 90-74 (54.9%), making his nine-year career coaching total 223-148. The 60.1 winning percentage is even more impressive when one considers the condition of the programs when Pitino inherited them.

Pitino was only 25 years old when he accepted his first head coaching job, at Boston University, in 1978. BU had won only 17 games the previous two years, but went 17-9 during Pitino's first season. He stayed five years for a 91-51 record and became the most successful coach in the school's history. He was twice named New England Coach of the Year, and in his final season at BU, he led the Terriers to their first NCAA appearance in 24 years.

Providence was 11-20 the year before Pitino took over in 1985. Using the press and three-point shooting, the Friars went 17-14 and played in the National Invitation Tournament during his first season, and then went 25-9 and into the NCAA's Final Four in his second and final season there. Pitino's coaching honors in 1987 included the John Wooden National Coach of the Year and the Sporting News Coach of the Year awards.

While Pitino was turning Providence's program around, the New York Knicks were stumbling to a 71-175 two-year mark, which was the worst in the NBA. But then Pitino was hired to become the youngest coach in the NBA. In his first year with the Knicks, Pitino worked wonders, spearheading a 14-game improvement over the previous season, the biggest turnaround in club history. The second half of the season, the Knicks won 60% of their games to surge into the playoffs, en route to a 38-44 record. Pitino's pressing, fatiguing defense

WHAT THEY'RE SAYING ABOUT PITINO

"You're going to like the new coach. Love him, actually. It'll even get to the point where you think his New York accent is cute instead of unsettling. The good times, the new times, are here at last, and let's pause right now to give a big round of applause to David Roselle and to C.M. Newton."

— Billy Reed
Lexington Herald-Leader

"Hear this, skeptics: The Pitino Plan is to be successful from Dribble One. Mr. Fix-It is not only young, he's restless. The National Collegiate Athletic Association said the Wildcats can't compete in the tournament for two years, it didn't say UK couldn't create some fun."

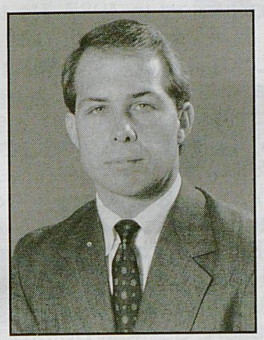

— Rick Bozich
Louisville Courier-Journal

"I think that Rick Pitino and Kentucky basketball go hand in hand. The reason why I say that is that the people in the state love Kentucky basketball, and Rick Pitino loves to coach and teach the game."

— Kenny Walker
New York Knickerbocker
Kentucky All-American

HERB SENDEK

Assistant Coach

Herb Sendek, a former assistant coach at Providence College, begins his first season as assistant coach at the University of Kentucky.

The Storm Before the Calm

Recapping the 1988-89 Kentucky Season

On the court, 1988-89 was a season for the history books; a 13-19 record meant the first losing season at Kentucky since 1926-27. But the real action at Kentucky was off the court, thanks to an intense NCAA investigation that led to allegations, resignations, and, ultimately, NCAA probation.

The 1988-89 season began six months early for Wildcats fans. In April of 1988, the Los Angeles Daily News printed the now-famous Emery Air Freight story, launching a 13-month investigation by both the NCAA and UK itself. Less than a month later, on Friday, May 13th, the bad luck continued for UK fans as the star of the team, Rex Chapman, announced his intention to enter the NBA draft two years early.

By the time the season began in November, UK had received a list of 18 alleged rules violations from the NCAA. With the controversial cloud swirling overhead, the Cats began the season with a lofty challenge—facing the preseason No. 1 team, the Duke Blue Devils, in the Hall of Fame Tipoff Classic in Springfield, Mass. In a rematch of the inaugural Tipoff Classic, Kentucky battled the odds and kept it close until the second half, when a tie game turned into an 80-55 Duke victory.

Kentucky continued its lengthy early-season road swing with a trip to the Great Alaska Shootout in Anchorage. Following a first-round 56-54 victory over Iona, the Cats kept it close with eventual national runner-up Seton Hall, losing by three, 63-60. In the third game, however, Derrick Miller poured in a career-high 36 points as Kentucky bombed California, 89-71, to finish the tournament 2-1.

Notre Dame was next in the Bank One Big Four Classic in Indianapolis. The Fighting Irish took the lead and never looked back in this one, beating the Cats 81-65. Four days later, what should have been a happy homecoming turned to disaster for the Cats, as visiting Northwestern State spoiled UK's Rupp Arena debut with an 85-82 win.

The Cats got back on the winning track with a 78-60 win over Western Carolina, but stubbed their toes again in a 56-54 loss to Bowling Green State in the opening round of the UKIT. Kentucky would settle for third place in its own tournament with a 91-78 victory over Marshall the following night. Three days later, Indiana came to town and went home with its first victory in Lexington ever, 75-52.

Two games in Lexington followed a Christmas break. The Cats clicked on all cylinders in an 85-77 victory over Austin Peay in their annual "home game" in Freedom Hall. Four days later, however, the tables were turned as the Louisville Cardinals took over the home-court advantage and dealt the Cats a 97-75 loss on New Year's Eve.

The new year brought a new season—the SEC season—and Kentucky started off in fine style with a 76-65 victory over preseason favorite Georgia. Derrick Miller then put together back-to-back outstanding games, scoring 27 in a 70-61 victory over Vanderbilt in Rupp Arena and 30 in a 69-56 win over eventual conference champion Florida in Gainesville.

Kentucky's momentum came to a halt, however, when the LSU Tigers came to town and strutted back to Baton Rouge with a victory. A controversial technical foul called on UK coach Eddie Sutton late in the game keyed an LSU rally that eventually gave the Tigers a 64-62 victory. The Cats then traveled to Tuscaloosa, Ala., where the Crimson Tide handed them a 76-74 loss.

The 13-month saga of the NCAA investigation officially ends with the announcement of Rick Pitino as the new Kentucky basketball coach.

Hopes were rekindled, however, the following Saturday when the Wildcats managed what even the 1984 Final Four Wildcats failed to do—beat Tennessee in Knoxville. Derrick Miller scored 23 as the Cats held on for a 66-65 victory over the Vols before the largest crowd ever to see an SEC basketball game— 24,464. The Cats returned home to a grateful Rupp Arena crowd of 23,506 and scored an 86-76 victory over the Auburn Tigers.

The Ole Miss Rebels, however, were the next stumbling block as the Cats hit the road again. UK lost to the Rebels, 70-65, before returning home and posting a 73-61 win over the other Mississippi team, the Mississippi State Bulldogs.

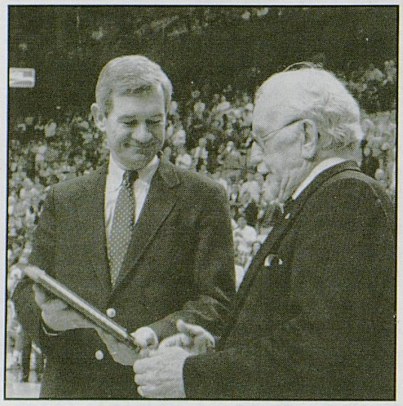

With an 11-10 record, the Cats were protecting their 62-year non-losing streak, but the next six games proved disastrous. It all started with an 84-72 loss to Georgia in Athens, then continued with Kentucky's worst defeat of the year, an 81-51 thrashing by the Vanderbilt Commodores. Next, the Florida Gators came to Rupp Arena and took home a 59-53 victory on their way to the SEC title. The Cats then traveled to Baton Rouge, La., and again kept it close through the second half of the game only to lose, 99-80. A pair of losses to the two Alabama teams—71-67 to Alabama at home and 77-75 to last-place Auburn in Auburn—all but erased UK's hopes for a non-losing season.

But the Cats broke their six-game losing streak by completing a rare sweep of the Tennessee Volunteers with a 76-71 win in Lexington. But four days later, it was on to Syracuse for a pay-back date with the Orangemen. Kentucky actually led that game, 54-53, with 14:12 remaining, but the Orangemen poured it on late to take an 89-73 victory.

The most thrilling finish of the year happened the next week as Richie Farmer canned a three-pointer as time expired to lead the Cats to a 70-69 win over Ole Miss. But in the next game, turnabout was fair play as Mississippi State's Todd Merritt canned a three-pointer of his own to lead Mississippi State to a 68-67 win over the Cats.

In the SEC Tournament, Kentucky took a 21-8 lead over Vanderbilt but could not hang on. Barry Booker and Frank Kornet each scored 17 points as the Commodores took

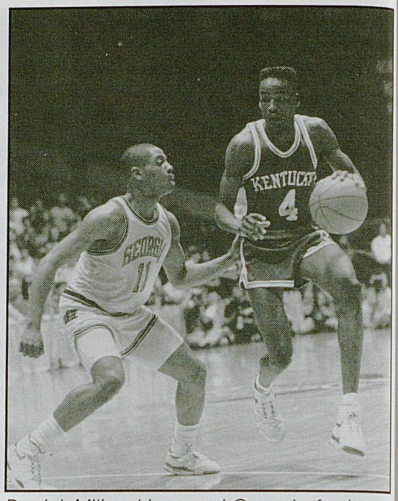

1988-89 REVIEW

Joe Burch, who served as UK's Acting Director of Athletics, presents a plaque to "Super Fan" Steve Rardin, who passed the 600 consecutive games milestone early in the season. Rardin's streak was broken, however, when he became ill and was hospitalized before the game at Syracuse.

the 77-63 victory, thus ending the long saga of the 1988-89 Kentucky basketball season—on the court, at least.

When the dust settled in May of 1989, UK resurfaced with a new director of athletics—C.M. Newton, a new head basketball coach—Rick Pitino, and a vow to return to the top of the college basketball world with integrity. Pitino and his staff must rebuild within the confines of a three-year NCAA probation that includes a ban on live television appearances during the 1989-90 season, a ban on postseason play during the 1989-90 and 1990-91 seasons, and scholarship limitations those same years.

Derrick Miller drives past Georgia freshman Litterial Green in a game in Athens. Miller is Kentucky's leading returning scorer.

STREAKS ARE BROKEN IN 1988-89—1988-89 brought a halt to several streaks and a mark in the record book in several categories. Noteworthy items include:

CONSECUTIVE NON-LOSING SEASONS—The Wildcats had not had a losing season since 1926-27, when the Cats were 3-13. That 60-year streak of non-losing seasons was a national record.

CONSECUTIVE NCAA APPEARANCES—The Cats had appeared in nine straight NCAA Tournaments. Only North Carolina (14) and Georgetown (10) had appeared in more consecutive NCAA Tournaments.

MOST LOSSES—The 1988-89 team lost the most games in school history. The previous high for losses was 13.

MOST RUPP ARENA LOSSES—The Cats lost six times in Rupp Arena last season, a new record.

MOST SEC LOSSES—UK tied its record for most SEC losses in a season. The 1966-67 Cats also finished 8-10. UK did, however, manage to avoid finishing lower than sixth for the first time in school history.

SUPER FAN STREAK—Even the streak of Wildcats "Super Fan" Steve Rardin ended in 1988-89. Rardin had attended 627 consecutive Wildcats games, dating back to New Year's Eve of 1968. He became ill, however, at Syracuse and was hospitalized there, thus missing UK's game with the Orangemen.

College basketball's all-time winningest coach-Adolph Rupp.

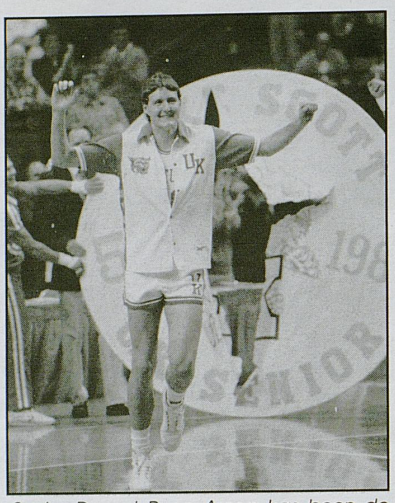

THE UNPARALLELED TRADITION OF KENTUCKY BASKETBALL

The Boston Celtics.
The New York Yankees.
The Kentucky Wildcats.

All are synonymous with one word — tradition. Each represents the very best of their sport. Those banners hanging from the rafters at storied Boston Garden paint a picture of NBA history. Memories of legends like Babe Ruth tell the story of major league baseball. And to thousands of Kentuckians and basketball fans everywhere, the heart of soul of college basketball reside in Lexington, Ky. Home of Adolph Rupp; Dan Issel; The Fabulous Five. Home of Kentucky basketball.

Kentucky basketball is the dull thump-thumping of a basketball on a dirt, backyart court. Sneakers squeaking on a gym floor in the dead of summer. An automobile parked in just the right spot, its radio straining to bring in a distant signal. The deafening roar of 23,000 voices at Rupp Arena screaming their hearts out to somehow help their young, blue and white-clad heroes pull out another victory. Five extraordinary athletes racing for the easy two points at the end of a trademark fast break. It's Kentucky basketball. Not just basketball — Kentucky basketball.

No other college has won as many basketball games as the University of Kentucky. The legendary Adolph Rupp compiled more victories than any coach in the history of college basketball — 879. Rupp took a good program and put it on a pedestal from which it has never fallen.

Senior Day at Rupp Arena has been described by NBC-TV commentator Dick Enberg as "Truly one of the most touching moments in all of sports."

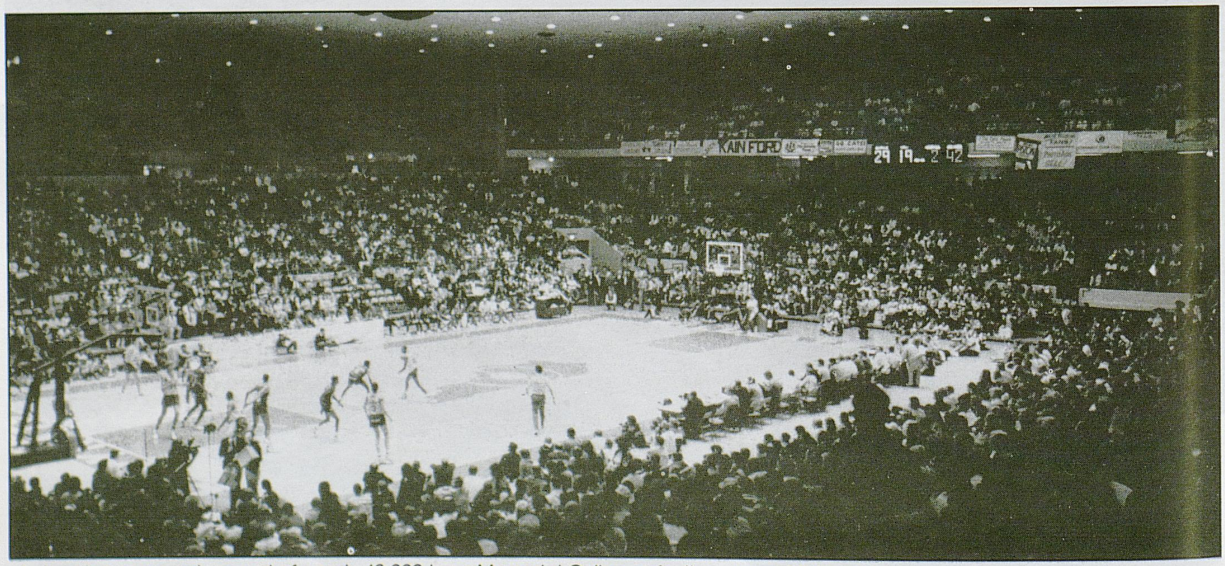

The Wildcats have captured five NCAA championships and two NIT titles. UK has won 36 Southeastern Conference titles — more than the other nine schools combined. Yet there is something else that goes along with the wins and trophies. It is the spirit that has infected practically all of Kentucky.

Indeed, the term "Kentucky basketball" refers as much to the state as to the school. When the Wildcats conduct preseason scrimmages at high school gyms across the Commonwealth, the fans pack the 4,000-5,000-seat facilities to the rafters for a chance to watch an intrasquad game. Tickets are scalped in the parking lots of those events.

Kentucky's home games are played at the 23,000-seat Rupp Arena, and season tickets are sold out before the season starts, as they have been for over 30 years.

A game night at Rupp Arena is an event that brings out goosepimples in even the cynical. A young coach on Kentucky's schedule brought his team in for its initial practice session and stood silently surveying the grandeur of Rupp Arena. After several moments of silence, he commented with a reverence, "I have heard about this place but didn't believe it. It's awesome. This has got to be THE place to play basketball. You can FEEL the tradition."

There's nothing quite like the unparalleled tradition of Kentucky basketball.

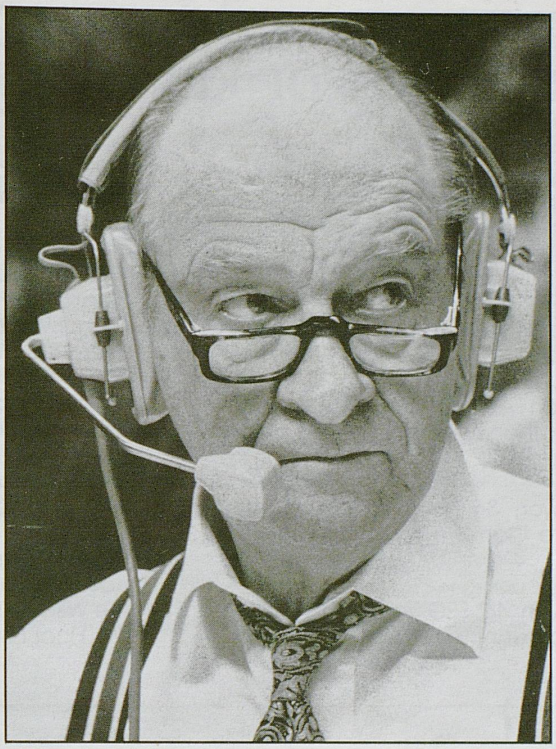

A standing room only crowd of nearly 12,000 jams Memorial Coliseum for the annual Midnight Madness practice session.

AMERICA'S 'TOP-DRAWER' PROGRAM

Quoting NBC commentator and former Marquette Coach Al McGuire

"My genuine opinion of the Kentucky basketball program is that there is only one and it is top drawer, Park Avenue, and that all other basketball programs in the country think they are, but they are not. The closest ones to get to it (Kentucky) are North Carolina, maybe Indiana and UCLA. But at Kentucky, basketball is a type of religion, such a fanatical obsession that they expect to be national champions each year, and they live and die with each ball game. One of the things that is so different about Kentucky is that they have more than 100 stations that the games are broadcast over, while most colleges that have three or four think they are the greatest thing since sliced bread. Kentucky puts SRO — 23,000 people — in Rupp Arena; if they built an arena seating 50,000, there would still be a waiting list. "I'm not looking to throw a party for Kentucky, but that is how I feel. I think it's an honest appraisal because I've seen all the programs, touching them as a coach, a player, and as an NBC broadcast commentator. . .I have touched all the so-called capitals of basketball, but when it gets down to the short stroke the only true capital of basketball is Lexington. I even think there are times when the horses kinda bend down a little to the roundball."

Legendary play-by-play announcer Cawood Ledford is part of the tradition of Kentucky basketball. Ledford has completed 36 years of calling the action for the Cats.

Since Rupp Arena opened in 1976, UK has finished either first or second nationally in attendance each year.

 Kentucky has been either first or second in national attendance the past 12 straight years.

 The Wildcats have won their regular-season home finale for 24 straight years.

 Legendary radio announcer Cawood Ledford has now completed 36 years as the "Voice of the Wildcats." Ledford is also the radio voice of the Final Four on CBS Radio.

Camping out for basketball tickets became so popular in the early 1980's that students would sometimes begin their camp-outs on Wednesday for Sunday ticket distributions. The first-come, first-served distribution method was subsequently dropped in favor of a lottery system.

WHO WERE? . . . . .

Rupp with the "Fabulous Five" Wallace "Wah Wah" Jones (27), Alex Groza (15), Cliff Barker (23), Ken Rollins (26) and Ralph Beard (12).

THE FABULOUS FIVE

One of the most frequently-asked questions tossed at basketball historians and sports authorities is, "Who were the 'Fabulous Five' of Kentucky?" The answer is Alex Groza (center), Ralph Beard and Kenny Rollins (guards), "Wah Wah" Jones and Cliff Barker (forwards). This famous 1947-48 team, captained by Rollins, won 36 and lost 3 while sweeping to Kentucky's first NCAA title. The Fabulous Five then went on to participate as a unit in the Olympic Games, helping the USA team capture the world championship. Rollins graduated after the 1948 season, but the remaining foursome continued to play havoc with collegiate basketball and copped another NCAA title for Kentucky in 1949 with a record of 32-2.

THE FIDDLIN' FIVE

Before the 1957-58 season began, Coach Adolph Rupp commented about the upcoming season, "They might be pretty good barnyard fiddlers, but we have a Carnegie Hall schedule, and it will take violinists to play that competition."

When the Wildcats became notorious for, as Rupp put it, "fiddlin' around and fiddlin' around then finally pulling it out at the end," the team was tagged with the nickname "The Fiddlin' Five."

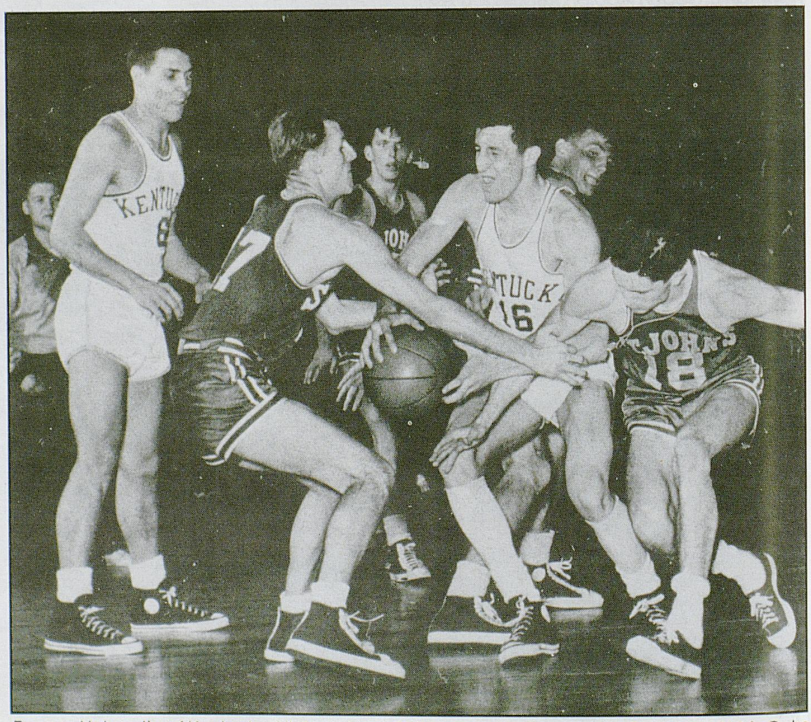

The "Fiddlin' Five," became Rupp's fourth national championship team when it defeated Elgin Baylor and Seattle in the title game at Louisville's Freedom Hall, 84-72. After the game, Rupp said, "Those boys certainly are not concert violinists, but they sure can fiddle."

RUPP'S RUNTS

The 1965-66 UK team earned this nickname because the biggest man among the Wildcat starting five was guard Tommy Kron, at 6-5. Center Thad Jaracz, who worked his way into the starting lineup, was also 6-5, while forwards Larry Conley and Pat Riley were 6-3 and guard Louie Dampier was 6-0.

The team became one of Rupp's favorites during his long tenure at Kentucky. Before the season started, Rupp commented, "I honestly believe that man-for-man we just might have in the making a better team than we had in 1958, when we won the national championship."

The Runts did indeed turn out to be one of the outstanding teams in UK's glorious history, compiling a sparkling 32-2 record, but coming just one game shy of the NCAA title when upset by Texas Western (now UTEP) in the finals, 72-65.

Former University of Kentucky All-American Cliff Hagan (6) looks on as St. John's Al McGuire (18) and Frank Mulzoff (17) combine efforts in an attempt to wrest ball held firmly by Kentucky's Lou Tsioropoulous (16) in 1951 NCAA Eastern Regional Semifinal at Madison Square Garden. Kentucky won the game, 59-43.

The leader is Louie Dampier, who scored 13,725 points, average of 18.9 in nine years with the Kentucky Colonels, and the second, Dan Issel, who scored 12,823 points, average of 25.6 (3rd best) in six years with the Kentucky Colonels and Denver Nuggets.

TRADITION

KENTUCKY IN THE SOUTHEASTERN CONFERENCE

Perhaps the greatest supremacy enjoyed by any team in any sport is reflected by Kentucky's basketball success in the Southeastern Conference. Against SEC teams in regular season, the Wildcats have annexed a record of 617-161, an amazing winning percentage of 79.1.

The Wildcats have won 36 league championships. The next-highest number of titles belongs to Tennessee with seven.

In addition, more than 60 team and individual records from regular-season and tournament play are held by Kentucky and its players. Kentucky's record against SEC teams since 1933, including nonconference and tournament games, is shown below:

NOTE: From 1933 through 1950 the Southeastern Conference basketball championship was determined by a tournament, except for 1935. Since 1951, when the round-robin schedule was introduced, the title has been decided by percentage of wins on the designated schedule. From 1951 through 1964 the round-robin consisted of 14 games; in 1965 and 1966 it was 16 games, and since 1967, 18 games. The SEC Tournament was renewed in 1979, with the winner representing the conference in the NCAA tournament. The SEC championship is still determined by the regular 18-game schedule.

* The Southeastern Conference presidents voted to strip UK of the 1988 SEC Championship because of NCAA rules violations.

TRADITION

KENTUCKY IN THE SEC TOURNAMENT

The Wildcats have enjoyed unparalleled success in the league's postseason tournament. In the 30 years the event has been held, Kentucky has captured 15 titles and has won 83.9 percent of its games in the tourney. Next in line among the schools in tournament titles are Tennessee and Alabama with four apiece.

30-YEAR COMPOSITE SEC TOURNAMENT STANDINGS

	Titles	Won	Lost	Pct
KENTUCKY	15	73	14	.839
Tennessee	4	43	25	.632
Alabama	4	35	25	.583
LSU	1	29	29	.500
Georgia	1	22	29	.431
Vanderbilt	1	17	27	.386
Auburn	1	15	27	.357
Ole Miss	1	12	26	.316
Florida	0	10	24	.294
Miss. State	0	7	29	.200

In the 11 years the tournament has been held recently, seven different schools have captured the title. Only Florida, Mississippi State and Vanderbilt have failed to win the event since 1979. Kentucky is one of only two teams that have won two titles since the renewal of the event, having won it in 1984 and 1986. Alabama has three titles.

Through the years, Kentucky players have been selected to the first team All-Tournament team 50 times. Since the renewal of the event, nine Wildcats have been tabbed with the honor:

1979—Kyle Macy (MVP) and Truman Claytor
1980—Sam Bowie and Kyle Macy
1982—Dirk Minniefield (MVP)
1984—Melvin Turpin

NO PLACE LIKE HOME: ALUMNI GYM

(1924-50; Won 262, Lost 25)

A young boy dribbles a basketball on the immortal hardwood of old Alumni Gym.

There's no longer a bustling crowd or a fiery, legendary coach calling plays from the sidelines. Cobwebs dangle from the corners and dust stirs in the nooks and crannies of the old edifice.

But the young boy can sense an air of excitement and the electricity that still lingers in the backboards of the historical landmark. The tradition built in the 64-year-old building passes through his hightops as he runs down the court.

He's in the first house that Rupp built.

And as the ball falls through the net with a gentle whisp, just like it did in the days long before Memorial Coliseum and Rupp Arena, he knows he just stepped into a tradition.

* * * * * * * *

Memorial Coliseum is often referred to as the "House that Rupp built". The Wildcats' current home, Rupp Arena, was built and dedicated to the legendary coach. But the rich Kentucky basketball tradition began 26 years before the ink was even dry on the Memorial Coliseum plans.

Alumni Gym, built in 1924, holds claim to the birth of Wildcat basketball mania. The building served as the home floor for Wildcat squads from 1924 to 1950. During that time, Kentucky lost only 25 of its 287 games while laying the groundwork for the best NCAA record in the history of collegiate basketball.

In 1924, the Athletics Council members argued to the Board of Trustees that the old gym in Barker Hall's Buell Armory was unsafe for even the small number of people it could accommodate. Large crowds that had to turned away and the probability that the popular high school tournament would be moved were two major factors that convinced the Board members that a new gymnasium was in order.

The 2,800-seat structure was approved and the Alumni Association began efforts to raise the $100,000 needed for the Wildcats' first "white elephant."

Tradition seeps from the hardwood floors where Rupp's teams established a home record of 201 victories and only eight losses in his 19 years of coaching. He led the Wildcats to 84 consecutive victories in the confines of Alumni and also 64 consecutive wins in the Southeastern Conference. During the Wildcats' last 17 seasons in the Gym, they won 12 conference tournament crowns and three Sugar Bowl championships.

During the Alumni Gym era, Kentucky suffered only one losing season while also having twelve campaigns with three or fewer losses.

Kentucky basketball became a dynasty in 1948 after winning the SEC and NCAA championships and the coveted Olympic gold in London, England. Led by All Americans Alex Groza, Ralph Beard and Wallace Jones, the United States squad soundly defeated France, 65-21, in the gold medal game to become the 1948 World Champions.

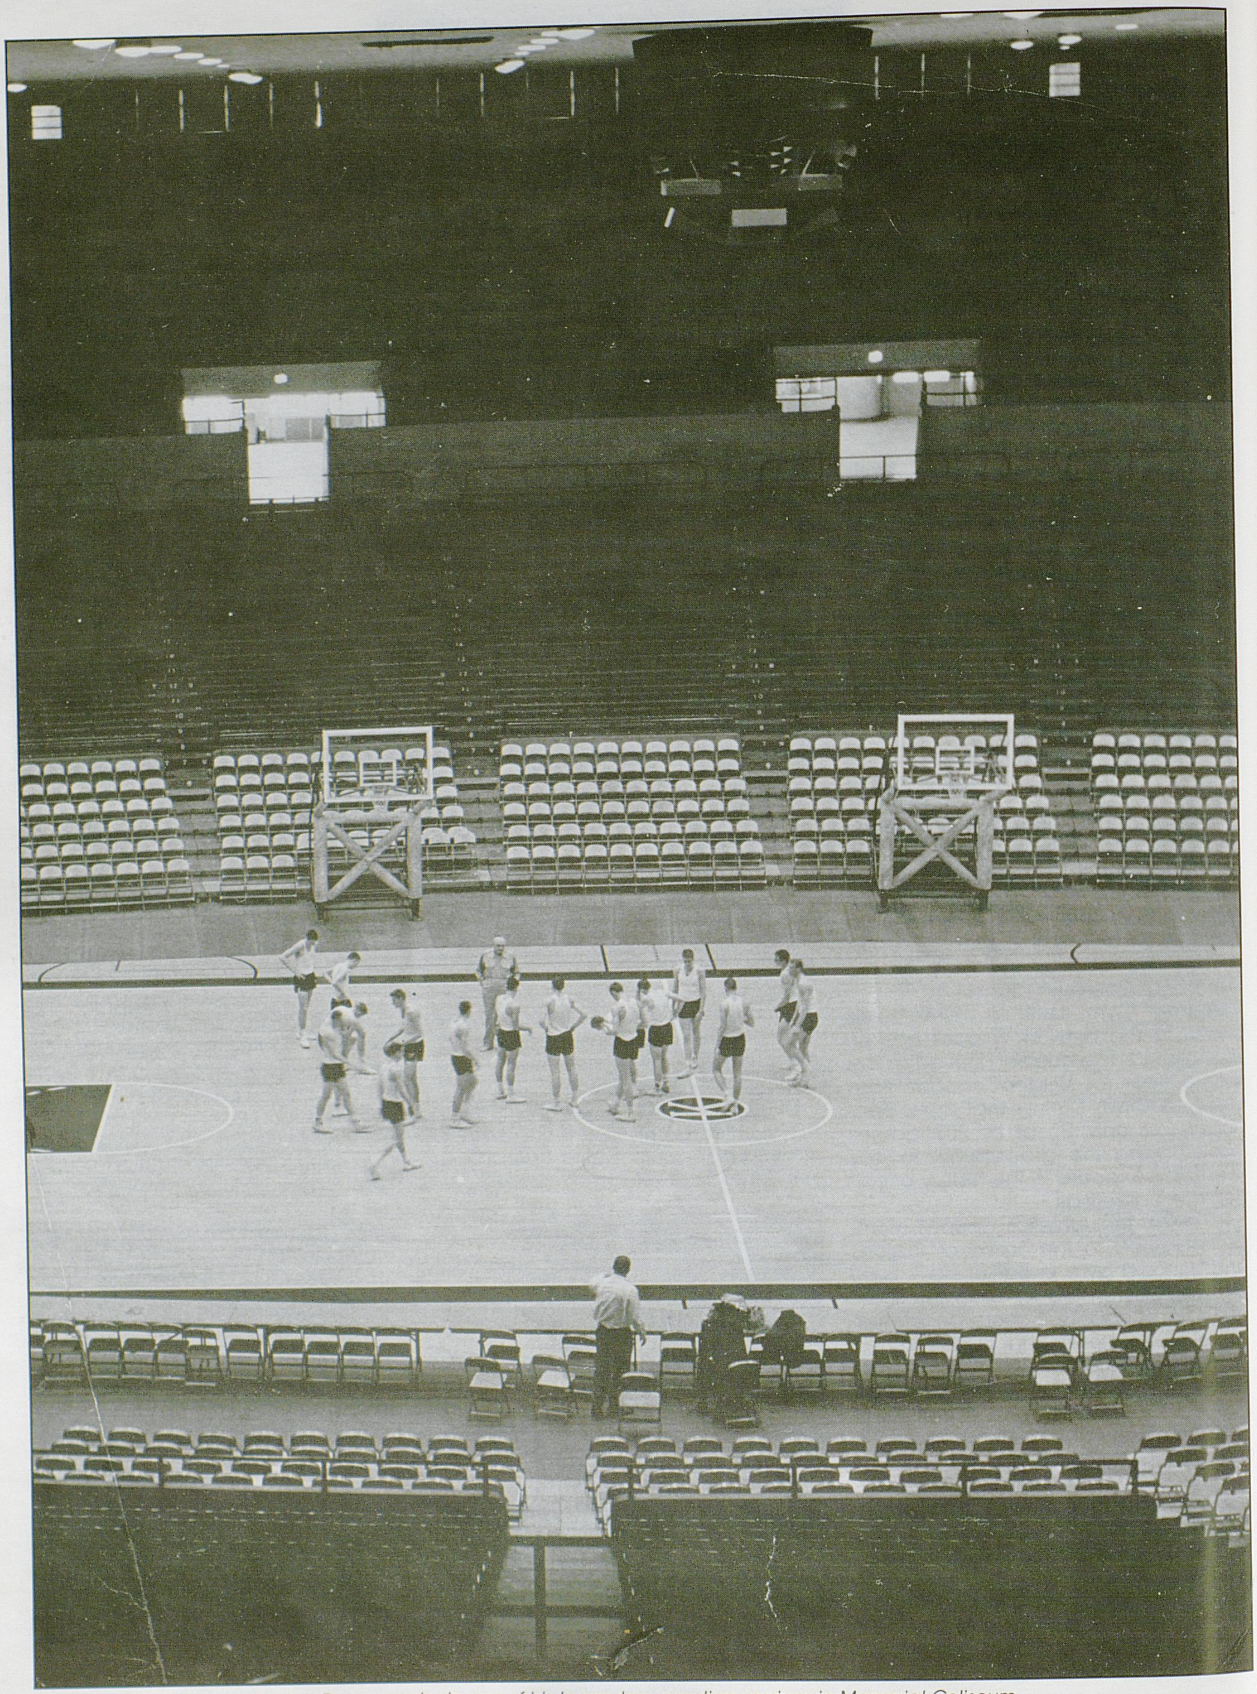

Kentucky's reign in Alumni Gym ended in 1950 after construction on Memorial Coliseum was completed.

In its heyday, Alumni Gym was one of the few buildings in its area.

NO PLACE LIKE HOME: MEMORIAL COLISEUM

(1950-76; Won 308, Lost 38)

For 26 years, the pulsating cries of "Rip 'em Up, Tear 'em Up, Give 'em Hell Wildcats" rang through one of the grandest of all basketball palaces—UK's Memorial Coliseum.

In 1941, when Dr. H. L. Donovan became president of the University, one of his first recommendations was for a building "that will properly take care of our athletics, our health service, physical education and recreation." From this beginning came the plan that culminated in the construction of 11,500-seat Memorial Coliseum, an unparalleled edifice costing $3,925,000 by the time it was completed in 1950.

A great many persons freely suggested that the arena would prove to be a "white elephant" that would never be filled by spectators of a sport that then was considered little more than a winter pastime.

But the hardwood game blitzed the nation and Kentucky's teams forged to the national forefront in such a crowd-pleasing manner that the "huge" hall soon could not begin to accommodate the large number of fans seeking to whet their newfound basketball appetites. The situation, in fact, soon developed to the point where only the student body and faculty were admitted and for several years about all Kentuckians-at-large knew of their state University's famed cage teams consisted of information gleaned from the radio and newspapers.

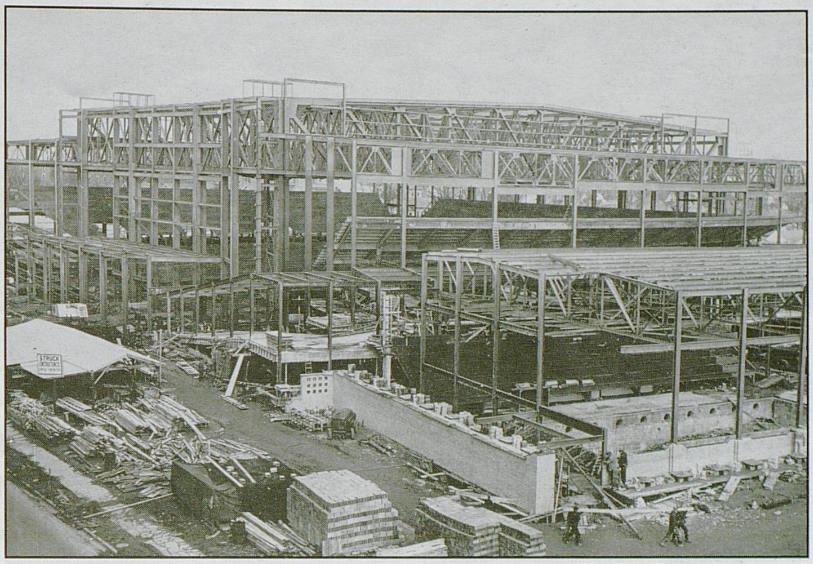

The Wildcat basketball teams got off to a fine start in the Coliseum, winning every game played in the building for the first three seasons. When Georgia Tech upset Kentucky, 59-58, on Jan. 8, 1955, it marked the first time the Wildcats had lost on their home court since Jan. 4, 1943, dating back to the Alumni Gym days. Between those two dates, Kentucky won 129 straight basketball games at home, a record that still stands in the NCAA record books.

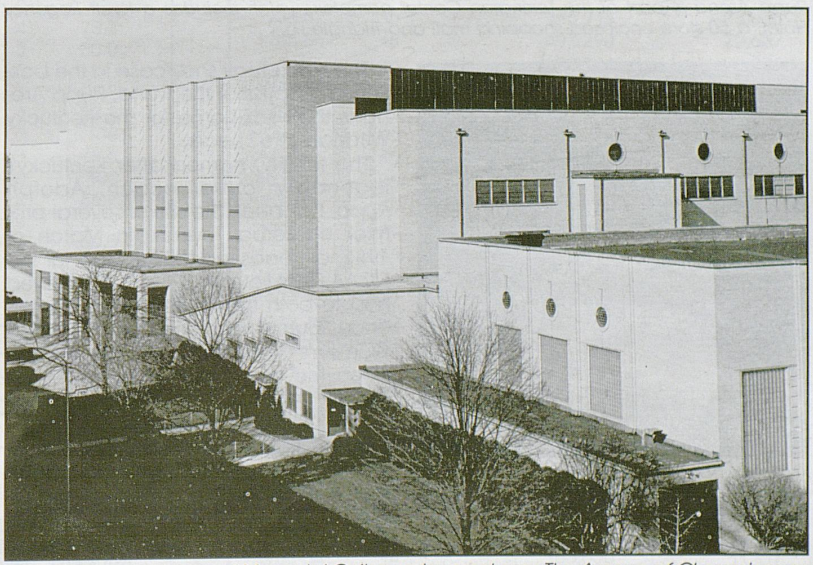

Veteran UK radio announcer Cawood Ledford remembers that first loss at the Coliseum.

"When the game was over, nobody moved," says Ledford. "Everyone sat in absolute stunned silence. I would say it was a good five minutes before anyone made a move to get up. But Kentucky sure didn't lose very many times there."

Indeed the Cats did not. In 26 years, Kentucky came away a loser only 38 times in 346 games.

From the early 1960s on, the sale of UK basketball season tickets has been closed to the public with season ticket holders taking all the allotment other than student seating. When the Wildcats moved into Rupp Arena for the 1976-77 season, the cynics once again labeled it a "white elephant." But they, too, underestimated the fervor displayed by Kentucky fans. The only seats available are ones students don't use.

The steel superstructure of Memorial Coliseum towered over The Avenue of Champions as it was being constructed in the late 1940s. Today, the Coliseum is still home to several UK athletics teams.

While Rupp Arena affords UK the third-largest built-for-basketball facility in the country with 23,000 seats, old-timers will tell you that the new building doesn't match the atmosphere of Memorial Coliseum. The character of great tradition permeates the air with near spiritual force, even today, when the building serves as the Wildcats' primary practice facility.

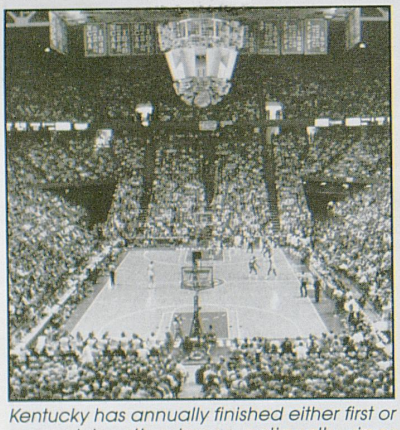

The huge building, which serves as a memorial to the nearly 10,000 Kentuckians who lost their lives in World War II and the Korean conflict, covers an entire city block and contains as much space as a seven-story office building. Situated along the Avenue of Champions, the Coliseum still houses the UK Athletics Association offices and is the home to many Wildcat athletics teams.

NO PLACE LIKE HOME: RUPP ARENA

(1976-present; Won 177, Lost 24)

Rupp Arena is part of the Lexington Center complex, which includes a Hyatt Regency Hotel, a 50-store enclosed shopping mall and Triangle Park.

Kentucky has annually finished either first or second in attendance nationally since Rupp Arena opened its doors in 1976.

The basketball showcase in the basketball capital of the world, Rupp Arena is the third home for the Kentucky Wildcats in 62 years.

The facility, named after Kentucky's legendary former coach, Adolph Rupp, has been the site of several premier basketball events. In March of 1985, all roads led to Lexington for the NCAA Final Four. In 1986, Rupp played host to both the Southeastern Conference Tournament and the the NCAA Women's Final Four. The arena has been the site of numerous NCAA regional tournaments, including the 1989 NCAA Southeast regional that included North Carolina, Oklahoma, Virginia and eventual national champion Michigan.

An awesome structure in sight and scope, the arena is divided into two seating areas. The lower level features 10,000 fully cushioned, theater seats in block coloring of blue, red, orange and purple, offering a spectacular splash of color. The upper level has 13,000 seats on epoxy-coated metal bleachers. The latter can be visually isolated to provide a more natural setting for small shows.

Built by the city of Lexington, the arena is the major portion of the $53 million Lexington Center complex, which includes a convention-exhibition hall, a 50-store tri-level enclosed shopping mall, a luxury Hyatt Regency Hotel and, a block away, the historic 1,200-seat Lexington Opera House, which was recently refurbished.

The arena is fully air-conditioned, equipped with a specially designed, high-quality sound system appropriately named "Big Bertha," and features complete lighting for events and color television coverage. Special attention has been paid to such facilities as dressing rooms, service entrances and storage areas.

The Wildcats command an exclusive dressing room 365 days a year, while other facilities include six team-size and eight smaller units.

The portable basketball court, which lies on a concrete sub-flooring 118 feet below the ceiling, is 60' x 120' and is made of a light shade of northern maple trimmed in Kentucky blue. The floor was specially designed to convert from the 94' length required for college and professional basketball to the 84' length for high school simply by removing two panels.

Four 35' x 4' custom-made scoreboards are placed so spectators can see at least three of the boards from any seat in the arena.

NO PLACE LIKE HOME: LOUISVILLE

(Won 96, Lost 26)

The University of Kentucky has built an impressive record playing in Louisville over the years. The Wildcats have won an NCAA championship (1958), nine Southeastern Conference Tournament titles and have defeated some of the best teams from around the country before Wildcats fans at Louisville.

Kentucky began playing in Louisville in 1908, when the Cats lost to Louisville Coliseum, 30-18. They defeated the University of Louisville, 26-13, lost to the Cards, 26-15, the following year and then defeated them, 32-24, in 1916. Two years later, UK lost to Centre, 22-12, in the state championship game played in Louisville. The Cats defeated the Cards there in 1922 and then did not play again in the Derby City until the 1936-37 season, when they dropped a 41-28 decision to Notre Dame.

Most of those early games were played in the Armory downtown before Freedom Hall was opened during the 1957-58 season. The Cats captured the 1958 NCAA title with victories over Temple and Seattle and the spacious arena has played host to Kentucky teams every year since. Kentucky's record at Freedom Hall now stands at 33-12.

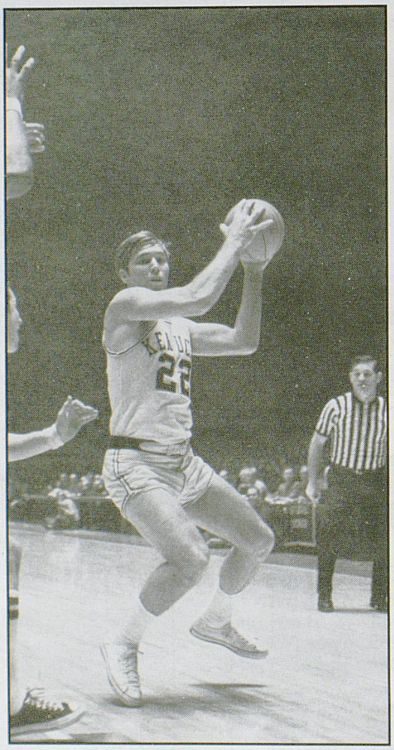

The Wildcats' overall record in Louisville is now 96-26. Broken down, the Cats are 47-20 in regular-season play, 43-3 in SEC Tournament play and 5-3 in postseason competition.

Kentucky's most impressive string of victories in Louisville came when the Cats won 32 straight games between 1946 and 1951. Only 10 of the 27 teams Kentucky has faced in the 115 games in Louisville have been able to knock off the Cats. The longest running series has been with Notre Dame, with the Wildcats holding a 23-9 advantage over the Fighting Irish.

Kentucky established a new Freedom Hall attendance record three years ago as 20,053 jammed the arena to watch the Cats take on Georgia. At noon the day of the Georgia game, UK fans continued a Wildcat tradition, as more than 19,000 arrived for a brief Kentucky shooting practice. Three days earlier, the Wildcats handed the University of Louisville its worst defeat ever at Freedom Hall, 85-51.

Kentucky and Louisville cheerleaders personify the "United We Stand, Divided We Fall" motto as they lead the crowd in the singing of "My Old Kentucky Home."

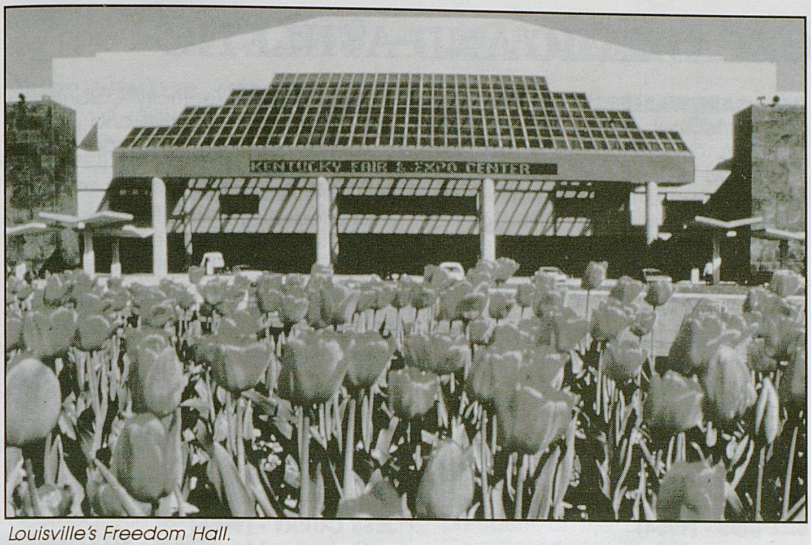

UK's Mike Pratt gets set to sink a crucial shot in Kentucky's thrilling 102-100 victory over Notre Dame in December, 1969. Pratt earned the Shively Award for his play in that game. The Shively Award is presented to the MVP of the Kentucky-Notre Dame Game.

BASKETBALL

FREEDOM HALL SEATING CHART

SUCCESS — ACADEMIC AND ATHLETIC

Through the years, the University of Kentucky basketball program has produced one of the top graduation rates in the country. In the last decade, more than 80 percent of the players who have completed their eligibility at UK have earned a degree.

In the last 10 years, two Wildcat basketball players have been awarded the Sullivan Medallion, the highest single honor that can be received by a UK student. Since 1977, the award has been presented to a male and female student who most exemplifies the characteristics of heart, mind and conduct evident of a spirit of love and helpfulness to other men and women. The Wildcats honored recently were Jack Givens (1978) and Kyle Macy (1980). Other Wildcat basketball players who have been awarded the medallion are Gayle Mohney (1928), George Skinner (1933) and James Line (1951). The University of Kentucky has produced seven Academic All-Americans:

Louie Dampier, 1966 and 1967
Dan Issel, 1970
Mike Pratt, 1970
Mike Casey, 1971
Bob Guyette, 1975
Jimmy Dan Conner, 1975
Kyle Macy, 1979

Guyette also was awarded one of the prestigious NCAA Post-Graduate scholarships following his graduation from UK. He used the scholarship to attend the UK Dental School.

Perhaps the greatest measure of success of the Wildcat basketball program has been how the players have fared AFTER earning their degrees from Kentucky. UK has turned out professionals in nearly every field, from basketball to doctors, from businessmen to teachers.

KENTUCKY TRADITIONS

BLUE AND WHITE

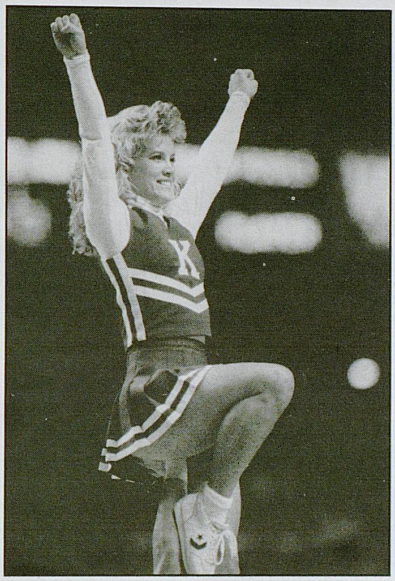

The University of Kentucky adopted blue and white as its official colors in 1892. Originally, however, UK students had decided on blue and light yellow prior to the Kentucky-Centre College football game on Dec. 19, 1891. The shade of blue, which is close to a royal blue, came about when a student asked the same question, "What color Blue?" At that time, Richard C. Stoll (who lettered in football at UK in 1893-94) pulled off his blue necktie and held it up. The students then adopted that particular shade of blue. A year later, UK students officially dropped the color light yellow for white.

The Wildcat mascot stalks the sidelines preparing for a shootout at Rupp Arena.

WILDCATS NICKNAME

The official nickname for the University of Kentucky athletics teams is "Wildcats." The nickname became synonymous with UK shortly after a 6-2 football victory over Illinois on October 9, 1909, on the road. Commandant Carbusier, then head of the military department of old State University, told a group of students in a chapel service following the game that the Kentucky football team had "fought like Wildcats." Later the name Wildcats became more and more popular among UK followers as well as with members of the media. As a result, the nickname was adopted by the University.

WILDCAT MASCOT

The Wildcat mascot originated during the 1976-77 academic year at the University of Kentucky. Gary Tanner was the original Wildcat, dancing and entertaining thousands of UK fans at Commonwealth Stadium and Rupp Arena during athletic events. Today, the Wildcat mascot also attends several academic functions as well and generally serves as a friendly ambassador for the University.

UK PEP BAND

With over 100 members strong, the University of Kentucky pep band is the largest in the nation. Clad in their recognizable blue and white striped sweaters, the pep band is directed by Dale Warren.

CHEERLEADERS HAVE TRADITION OF THEIR OWN

Under the direction of advisor T. Lynn Williamson, the University of Kentucky cheerleaders have established a tradition of excellence. The Wildcats squad has been national champion three of the past five years (1985, 1987, 1988), national runner-up once (1989) and a national finalist the other year (1986). The squad was the first ever to win back-to-back titles and also the first squad ever to win three Universal Cheerleaders Association national championships. Williamson is assisted by former UK cheerleaders Renee Mussetter and Dawn Duncan.

Wildcats mascot Jay McChord trains a future UK cheerleader in the traditional "Kentucky" spellout.

Cheerleader Bobbi Jean Wilson of Lebanon, Ky. leads the cheers in Rupp Arena.

1989-90 University of Kentucky cheerleaders — (Front Row, L to R) Chance Maguire, Louisville; Sarah Engle, Paris; Wildcat Jay McChord, Lexington, and Tricia Wood, Chagrin Falls, Ohio. *W.B. Wendt on Jan. 9, 1969 verified that State College opened the 1906 season against Kentucky U. in the YMCA. Athletic committees of the two schools had cancelled all games after a fight at a football game in November, 1905. Wendt and the Kentucky U. manager, agreed to play at the YMCA and list the State College foe as YMCA instead of Kentucky U. State College won but Mr. Wendt didn't remember the score, which he hadn't listed.

* As part of sanctions imposed upon the UK basketball program in 1989, the National Collegiate Athletic Association ordered Kentucky to erase from the record three NCAA tournament games from the 1987-88 season. Kentucky's 99-84 win over Southern, a 90-81 win over Maryland and an 80-74 loss to Villanova have been deleted from the records, thus changing the 1987-88 season record from 27-6 to 25-5.

The presidents of the Southeastern Conference institutions voted to strip Kentucky of the 1987-88 SEC regular-season and SEC Tournament championships. Kentucky was not forced to forfeit any of those regular-season or tournament games.

New Kentucky Athletics Director C.M. Newton.

DAVID ROSELLE
PRESIDENT

Dr. David P. Roselle became the ninth president of the University of Kentucky on July 1, 1987.

In his first year as president he quickly became acquainted with the University's alumni and friends, and thousands of Kentuckians, by traveling the state extensively. He has met with hundreds of clubs and organizations from one end of the Commonwealth to the other.

On campus, he meets frequently with faculty and staff groups, and shortly after assuming the presidency announced a new program of free tuition for University employees.

Dr. Roselle came to UK from Virginia Tech in Blacksburg, Va., where he served for four years as provost, the No. 2 administrative position there.

He had a reputation as an innovator at Virginia Tech and has shown the same innovative style at UK.

He has been one of the main participants in the University's efforts to attract adequate public funding of the University, and his leadership was recognized by a top national award from the Council for the Advancement and Support of Education.

Dr. Roselle believes that the new technology in computation and communications is important not only to academia, but also to business, government, and industry. Consistent with that belief, he helped design and implement a strategy at UK to provide wider access to the new technology. As a result, computing and communications are increasingly an important part in the management of the University, in the academic programs, and in the service programs that support all the citizens of the Commonwealth.

Thanks to Dr. Roselle's efforts, UK is one of a small number of universities in the country to have a "supercomputer" operating for the benefit of faculty researchers and students.

Dr. Roselle's announced goal is to make the University of Kentucky recognized nationally for the quality of its scholarship, research, and graduates.

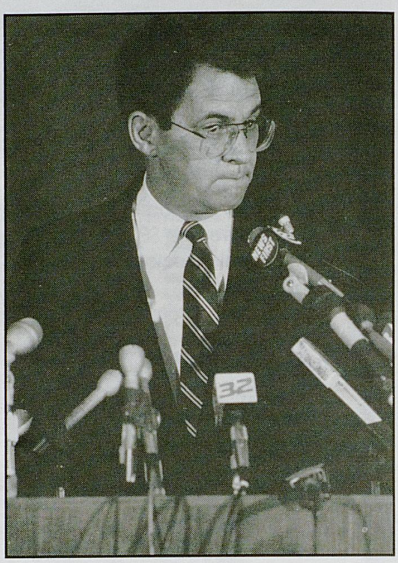

A native of Pennsylvania, Dr. Roselle earned a Ph.D. in mathematics from Duke University. He was a mathematics professor and researcher at the University of Maryland and Louisiana State University before going to Virginia Tech, where he moved up through the administrative ranks.

He is a nationally-known mathematics scholar and editor of two books, and was on the editorial board of a third.

He and his wife, Louise, have two children—a son, Arthur, 18, and a daughter Cynthia, 17. The Roselles live at the traditional home of UK presidents on the UK campus, Maxwell Place.

Dr. David Roselle gives a "thumbs up" to former Governor Martha Layne Collins at UK-Georgia game in '87.

C.M. NEWTON

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS (KENTUCKY 1952)

Calling it "A new day for Kentucky athletics", University of Kentucky President Dr. David Roselle named Charles Martin (C.M.) Newton UK's seventh Director of Athletics, effective April 1, 1989.

In addition to a lengthy, impressive list of credentials, Newton brought to Kentucky a sparkling reputation of integrity at a crucial time in the history of UK Athletics. In accepting the position at his alma mater, Newton summarized his goals and objectives by saying, "I have a resolve to try very hard to continue that great tradition, and at the same time, to totally do it within the NCAA and Southeastern Conference rules and not sacrifice the academic integrity of this University."

Newton capped an illustrious basketball coaching career by leading his final Vanderbilt University team to a 19-14 record, a second-place SEC finish and its second consecutive NCAA tournament appearance during the 1988-89 season. He was named SEC Coach of the Year by the Associated Press and also received the Kodak NABC District IV Coach of the Year award. Newton served as head basketball coach and associate athletics director at the Nashville, Tenn., school since 1982, compiling a 129-115 record. In 32 years of coaching at Transylvania, Alabama and Vanderbilt. Newton compiled a 509-375 record overall, ranking among the top 10 active coaches in the game in terms of total victories. His Alabama teams won three consecutive Southeastern Conference championships and won more games than any other coach in Crimson Tide history. He finished his career ranked second in career victories in Southeastern Conference games to his mentor, Coach Adolph Rupp.

Perhaps more impressive, however, was Newton's ability to produce winning teams that also possessed exceptional academic credentials. During Newton's tenure at Vanderbilt, 18 Commodores were named to the Academic All-SEC team, over 50 percent more than any other league school. And including his last graduating class, all 21 of his seniors will have received their diplomas.

Newton is highly regarded on the national level. He has served on the board of directors of the National Association of Basketball Coaches. He worked six years on the NCAA Basketball Rules Committee, serving as chairman of that elite group for five of those years. He also served as vice-president of ABAUSA, the nation's governing body for international amateur basketball.

Newton has literally circled the globe to promote the game of basketball. He served as team manager, a combination coaching and administrative position, on the 1984 U.S. Olympic team that won the gold medal. Indiana coach Bob Knight, who tabbed Newton for the Olympic staff, called him "the finest gentleman in our business". In 1983 and 1987, Newton took his Vanderbilt squads to the Republic of China (Taiwan) to represent the United States in the R. William Jones Cup International Tournament, winning the gold medal in 1983 and the silver in 1987. He has also conducted coaching clinics in numerous countries.

Newton began his coaching career at Transylvania College (now Transylvania University) in Lexington. Recommended for the job by Coach Rupp, Newton guided Transy to a 169-137 record in his 12 years at the helm despite the handicap of a limited scholarship program.

In 1969, once again with the backing of Rupp, Newton answered a call from Paul "Bear" Bryant to take on the challenge of building the downtrodden Alabama basketball program. During his 12-year tenure, Newton orchestrated a complete turnaround in the Crimson Tide's basketball fortunes, compiling a sparkling 211-123 record.

In addition to the three SEC championships, Newton guided the Tide to two trips to the NCAA Tournament and four berths in the NIT. A satisfied Bryant once remarked "C.M. Newton is a winner, and that's important, but more than anything else he wins or loses with class and that's more important."

With few horizons left to conquer at Alabama, Newton resigned at the end of the 1980 season to accept a job as assistant commissioner of the Southeastern Conference. A year later, when Vanderbilt athletics director Roy Kramer was searching for a coach of national stature to head the Commodore basketball program, Newton was the obvious man for the job.

Newton was born Feb. 2, 1930, in Rockwood, Tenn. He grew up in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. where he was eventually named a charter member of that city's Sports Hall of Fame, along with Chris Evert Lloyd, Julius Boros, and the late Brian Piccolo.

After high school, Newton enrolled at UK on a basketball scholarship. He was a letterman on the Wildcats' 1951 national championship team. Also a standout baseball pitcher, Newton hurled in the New York Yankees minor league system before entering college coaching.

Newton is married to the former Evelyn Davis of Ft. Lauderdale. The Newtons have three grown children — daughters Deborah, and Mrs. Tracy Thompson and son Martin — and three grandchildren.

THE SOUTHEASTERN CONFERENCE

DR. HARVEY SCHILLER
Commissioner

The ten universities comprising the Southeastern Conference began athletic competition with one another as members of the Southern intercollegiate Athletic Association, organized at a meeting of the faculty representatives, called by Dr. William L. Dudley of Vanderbilt, in Atlanta, Dec. 22, 1894.

Student teams from the schools were meeting in various sports with little pattern to their contests. Baseball was the most popular campus sport at the time, but the American adaptation of the English game, rugby, called "football," was drifting down from the East and Midwest. Southerners were quickly attracted to this sport formalized by Princeton and Rutgers in 1869.

Kentucky A&M (now UK) liked what they saw, organized a team, and in November of 1881 played Transylvania a three-game series, winning the first 7½ to 1, then losing 1 to 2 and 2½ to 3¾. By 1895, nine schools now SEC members were playing.

Basketball moved quickly to the South. Originated by Dr. James Naismith at Springfield College, Mass., in 1891, it was being played at the Nashville, Tenn., YMCA by Vanderbilt University in 1893. The Commodores won 9-6 in a game with nine players on each team. It became an intercollegiate sport in 1901, and by 1908, Vanderbilt was meeting Columbia and Yale intersectionally.

Representatives of seven schools attended the SIAA organizational meeting and twelve more joined during the first year of operation. Dr. Dudley was elected president and served until his death in 1914. By 1920 the SIAA had expanded to 30 members, so on Dec. 12-13 of that year, in a meeting at Gainesville, Fla., the larger schools reorganized as the Southern Conference. Professor S. V. Sanford of the University of Georgia, who called the meeting, served as the first president. Despite an original limit of 16, the membership grew to 23 by 1928. At one time or another the SIAA and the SC included most of the Southern colleges, ranging all the way from Virginia to Texas.

At the annual SC meeting of Dec. 8-9, 1932, in Knoxville, Tenn. the 13 members west and south of the Appalachians reorganized as the Southeastern Conference, with ten coast members remaining as the Southern. Dr. Frank L. McVey of Kentucky was elected President of the new conference. He held an informal meeting of the presidents of the schools Feb. 16, 1933 in Birmingham, Ala., then the first full meeting in Atlanta, Feb. 27.

Alabama, Auburn, Florida, Georgia, Ga. Tech, Kentucky, LSU, Mississippi, Miss. State, Sewanee, Tennessee, Tulane and Vanderbilt were the charter members of the SEC. On December 13, 1940, however, Sewanee withdrew, then on June 1, 1964, Ga. Tech, and on June 1, 1966, Tulane.

The office of Commissioner was created in 1940, due to the great amount of detail work developing, especially in recruiting and eligibility. Martin S. Conner of Jackson, Miss., a former governor of the state, took office August 21 of that year as an extension of the authority of the presidents.

Late in 1946 Mr. Conner became incapacitated due to illness and the Secretary of the Conference, Dean N. W. Daugherty of Tennessee, served as Acting Commissioner during the fall of 1947. Bernie H. Moore, former coach of LSU was appointed as second full-time commissioner Feb. 21, 1948, and guided the league to national respect in his 18 years of service. A.M. (Tonto) Coleman succeeded Moore on his retirement April 1, 1966. The native of Alabama, reared in Texas, and experienced in coaching and administering athletics in both the Southwest and Southeast, served 6½ years.

Dr. Boyd McWhorter, Dean of Arts and Sciences at the University of Georgia and secretary of the SEC since January, 1967, succeeded Coleman August 1, 1972. Under his leadership the SEC experienced growth in every way possible. McWhorter's first year, the SEC distributed $1,570,591.40; 14 years later in 1986, the SEC distributed $15,000,000 to its schools.

Dr. Harvey W. Schiller, an Air Force Colonel and Faculty Chairman at the Air Force Academy, succeeded McWhorter September 15, 1986.

CENTER FOR ACADEMIC & TUTORIAL SERVICES (CATS)

The University of Kentucky keeps the term "student-athlete" in the proper perspective — student first, athlete second.

For that reason, the University of Kentucky Athletics Association opened the nation's first academic center for student-athletes in 1981. The academic center is simply known as CATS — Center for Academic & Tutorial Services.

The CATS Center is located inside Memorial Coliseum. The center, specifically designed with student-athletes in mind, contains a large general study area, along with several smaller rooms used for tutoring, computer assistance and small group sessions.

Plans are on the drawing board for expansion of the CATS Center. The expansion would add a language laboratory, additional tutoring rooms, an expanded computer facility and a media center.

Currently, the UKAA budgets close to $500,000 per year for the CATS Center.

The philosophy at the University of Kentucky is this: Colleges should be able to offer the student-athlete every opportunity to succeed not only in athletics, but in academic life as well.

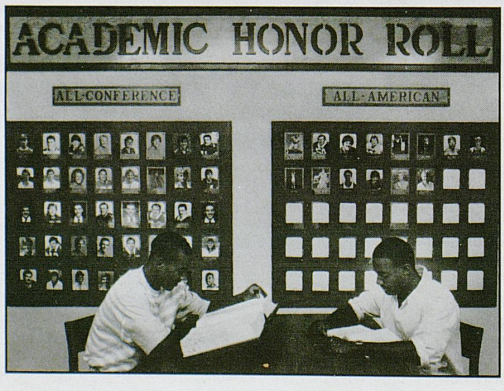

The CATS Center is located in Memorial Coliseum.

"Academically," says UK Basketball Coach Rick Pitino, "we hope to make our players overachieve in the classroom the same way they do on the basketball court, so that if they don't make it in the NBA, they can leave their college life with the beginning of a great career."

Football Coach Jerry Claiborne agrees. "There's no question, the CATS Center is a very important part of not only our football program, but our entire athletics program here at Kentucky," he says. "Academic pursuits come first in our program."

Indeed, academics do come first. The combination of the CATS Center and Claiborne brought a national championship to UK in 1989. The UK football program was awarded the 1989 College Football Association's Academic Achievement Award for the nation's highest graduation rate for its 1983 freshman class.

Bob Bradley, Assistant Athletic Director for Student Services, supervises the CATS Center. Bradley is assisted by Barbara Deniston, Director of Student Development, and Mike Jenkins, Academic Counselor. The CATS Center also employs four graduate assistants and numerous tutors, both from the University and surrounding community.

Not only has the football program flourished, but so has the entire UK Athletics program. Kentucky again placed more athletes on the Southeastern Conference Academic Honor Roll than any other league school last year.

"The CATS Center is an incredible advantage to a student-athlete over another without an academic center," Bradley says. "This is a medium which the student-athlete can get any question about his or her academic endeavors answered."

The philosophy at the University of Kentucky is this: Colleges should be able to offer the student-athlete every opportunity to succeed not only in athletics, but in academic life as well. Looking at recent statistics in Academic Honor Roll selections and graduation rates, Kentucky is standing by its philosophy.

At UK, the CATS Center certainly plays an instrumental part in keeping academic matters and athletics totally in sync.

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY NATIONAL ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

By LIZ DEMORAN

FRIENDraising — that's what the University of Kentucky National Alumni Association does best. FUNraising is the province of the UK Athletics Association. FUNDraising is what the UK Development Office does by seeking contributions to the Annual Fund and individual colleges, by receiving gifts from wills, trusts and bequests and by uncovering corporate support for the University.

The UK National Alumni Association has a dual purpose — serving alumni with programs and membership benefits and serving the University with programs to undergird the continuing academic progress at UK, to attract quality students and to reward a quality faculty.

Among the most popular programs for alumni are area club gatherings and trips to Rupp Arena, the Kentucky Alumnus magazine, membership availability at Spindletop Hall and the basketball scorecard. The Association also sponsors class reunions, Homecoming, overseas trips, an annual photo contest, library privileges, University Press book discounts, and the Hall of Distinguished Alumni recognition program.

Foremost among service programs to the University during the past several years is the grassroots support movement for Kentucky higher education. Working through informed alumni volunteers, the message of formula funding and the needs of UK were firmly impressed upon local legislators as well as the Excutive offices in Frankfort.

Quality students are attracted to a university because the academic opportunities and faculty are first-rate, because scholarship and financial aid is available and because the alumni they know talk proudly about their alma mater. The National Alumni Association helps out on all three counts.

The Association encourages exceptional teaching which is at the heart of a strong academic program by presenting up to five awards annually for "great" teaching. As one program to keep highly qualified professors at UK, the Alumni Professorship is now a designation carried by seven professors who not only contribute in the classroom but also in the research laboratory. How exciting to be taught by the very people who are creating new knowledge, who are discovering how quarks and neurons and monoclonal antibodies and minds work so that that information can be used to increase our life expectancy and enhance our quality of living as well!

In the past five years, funds for Association and alumni club-sponsored scholarships have increased dramatically. In the 1987-88 university year alone, over $40,000 in undergraduate scholarships and grants were made available to UK students in Lexington and another $9,000 to Community College students. The latter awards were funded from unrestricted gifts to the Annual Giving program.

In this Centennial Year of the UK National Alumni Association, 13 alumni of outstanding achievement were inducted into the Hall of Distinguished Alumni. The latest honorees are Wendell E. Berry '56, '86, author and farmer; Judith Grisham Clabes '67, editor of the Kentucky Post; the late Lucille E. Couch '32, leading music educator; Evelyn Gail Freyman '33, labor organizer and theatre owner; William E. Kirwan III '60, major university president; William Markesbery '60, '64, medical researcher and professor; Bobbie Ann Mason '62, author whose book In Country was recently released as a movie starring Bruce Willis; Thomas M.T. Niles '62, first ambassador to the Economic Common Market; Shirley H. Phillips '48, '64, agriculturalist who developed no-till method of farming; Andreas R. Prindl '63, '64, international banker; Patric J. Riley '67, professional championship basketball coach; the late Walter S. Tevis Jr. '49, '57, author, and Doris Y. Wilkinson '58, sociologist and professor.

THE COMMITTEE OF 101

The University of Kentucky is blessed with a unique support organization — the Committee of 101.

While most schools have elaborate booster groups that raise cash for the various athletics programs, the Committee of 101 is a service-oriented group that makes no direct cash contribution to UK. The organization, which has the motto "Dedicated to the support of Kentucky basketball," sponsors the annual "Get Acquainted" preseason banquet and the annual postseason awards banquet. The group's activities extend to non-UK activities, including raising money for such charities as Cardinal Hill Hospital, Big Brothers/Big Sisters and the Bluegrass Boys' Ranch. The most visible work of the Committee of 101 is ushering at Wildcats home football and basketball games, as well as events like the SEC Tournament, regional and national championships. In an effort to promote Kentucky basketball, the Committee produced an album titled "Great Moments in Kentucky Basketball."

The Committee of 101 was born in 1966 when 101 employees of IBM's Lexington plant each gave 25 cents to send a telegram to the late Coach Adolph Rupp at every away game the Wildcats played that season. From those modest beginnings, the club grew into the service organization it is today, which includes 250 members. Since membership is limited to that number, a waiting list is kept for people wishing to become involved. Persons interested in joining the Committee should write:

Commiteee of 101
P. O. Box 22
Lexington, KY 40501

Dues are only $10 per year, but each member is required to "roll up his sleeves and go to work," according to Committee president Van Florence. "We consider ourselves a working organization. . .Any time manpower is needed in UK Athletics, we're there."

THE UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

From its modest beginnings in 1865, when it was known as State College, the University of Kentucky has grown into one of the nation's most outstanding institutions of higher learning.

As a comprehensive land-grant university, UK offers an educational experience that cannot be matched anywhere in the Commonwealth. In fact, only a small number of institutions across the nation can offer the wealth of opportunities that awaits students at UK.

At Kentucky, there is a tradition of value.

• UK EDUCATES ONE-THIRD OF THE COLLEGE STUDENTS IN KENTUCKY

Enrollment on the University's campus in Lexington is more than 22,000, while about 33,000 attend UK's 14 community colleges throughout the Commonwealth. That represents one-third of all students attending public or private colleges, business schools and universities in the state.

• INCOMING FRESHMEN ARE BEST IN STATE

Average entrance exam scores for UK freshmen are 22+ on the ACT, higher than those for any public university in the state and about three points higher than the national average. The result is a better quality student body each year.

• APPLICATIONS TO ATTEND UK INCREASING

The number of students wanting to attend UK increases each year with applications for admission this fall well above the 10,000 mark.

• ACADEMIC SCHOLARSHIP PROGRAM IS GROWING

The University's academic scholarship program — scholarships awarded on merit alone — has grown from $70,000 a year in 1983 to more than $1 million in 1988.

• UK HAS REACHED THE TOP CATEGORY OF RESEARCH UNIVERSITIES

The Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching has classified UK as a "Research University of the First Class," the only such institution in Kentucky and one of only 45 in the nation.

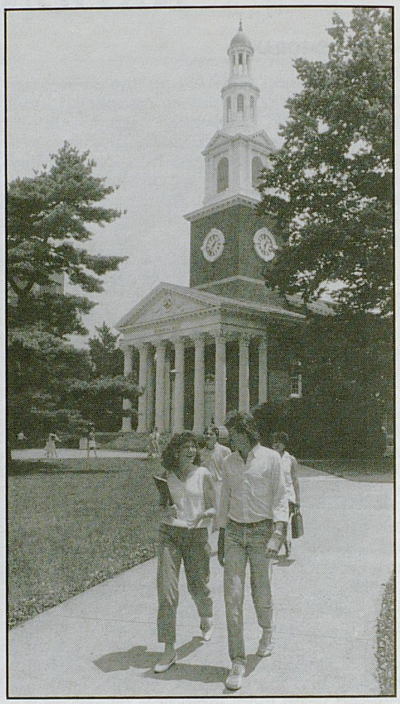

• UK HAS ENTERED THE WORLD OF SUPERCOMPUTERS

The University is now one of only a small number of universities in the nation to acquire a "supercomputer." UK's IBM 300E, with three "vectors," will attract not only more research funding and grants, but it also will be made available to undergraduate students, a rarity at any university.

• UK HAS SOME OF THE BEST FACULTY IN THE NATION

Some examples:

ROBERT SHEPHERD, plant pathology, was elected to the National Academy of Sciences, the only Kentucky resident ever to receive that prestigious honor.

ANTHONY DEMARIA is president of the American College of Cardiology.

DAVID KAO, civil engineering, was named one of the nation's Top 100 researchers by Science Digest Magazine.

VIRGIL HAYES, animal sciences, is president-elect of the Council for Agricultural Science and Technology in the United States.

A Tradition of Value

LEXINGTON — ONE BEAUTY OF A CITY

This is a place where the past and present meet and mesh gracefully.

Where downtown skyscrapers overlook thousands of acres of lush pastures, home to Kentucky's most famous resident — the horse.

This is Lexington, home of the University of Kentucky.

Lexington is one beauty of a city. John O. Simonds, a nationally-known landscape architect and the author of several books on land use, calls the Bluegrass area a "national treasure. The Bluegrass area is superlative countryside." Lexington is the heart of the Bluegrass, the metropolitan shopping, commercial and entertainment hub of eastern Kentucky.

"The Bluegrass area is superlative countryside. A national treasure."

Downtown Lexington under a full moon.

Lexington has all the attractive qualities of a major metropolitan area, but it is small... and there is an overlay of what can be described as Bluegrass tradition to go along with such major companies as IBM, Ashland Oil (Valvoline), Jerrico, Island Creek Coal, Toyota and many other nationally known firms that have major plants or headquarters in the area.

With a population of around 225,000, Lexington is small enough to provide the perfect college atmosphere for the University of Kentucky. But it is also large enough to offer the cultural opportunities usually reserved for larger cities.

The city offers UK students much in the way of entertainment: a Philharmonic Orchestra, Chamber Music Society, the Lexington Singers, a Council of the Arts, and a local Ballet Company. Movie theaters, international restaurants, coffee houses, top-ranked acts of all types at fabulous Rupp Arena in the Lexington Center, historical landmarks, parks, thoroughbred and harness racing, fine fishing in lakes, ponds, and streams, and the internationally famous Kentucky Horse Park, all in easy distance of the UK campus, are just a few attractions of Lexington and the University of Kentucky.

A recent statewide poll indicated that the Lexington area is the most popular place to live, work and play in Kentucky, and it's an area most residents would not seriously consider leaving.

UK'S ATHLETICS FACILITIES — SECOND TO NONE

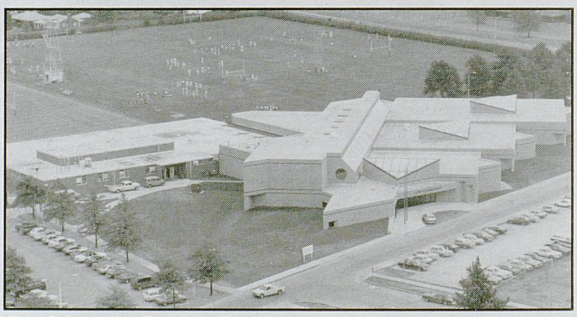

Rupp Arena is the 23,000-seat home of the Wildcat Basketball team.

Commonwealth Stadium seats 58,000 for Wildcat Football.

The E.J. Nutter Training Facility is home to UK Football.

KENTUCKY ATHLETICS IN 1988-89

The University of Kentucky Athletics Association enjoyed another banner year in 1988-89, especially in the women's athletic programs.

For starters, the UK women's cross country team captured its first NCAA championship. Cross country and volleyball each earned a Southeastern Conference title. In all, UK posted 46 points in the race for the women's SEC All-Sports Trophy to finish third. It was the highest finish by UK in the All-Sports Trophy race, bettering the previous high of fourth place set a year earlier in 1988.

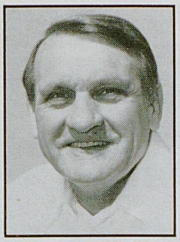

The men's programs did not fare as well in the SEC All-Sports Trophy after finishing a record-high fourth in 1988. The UK men's programs compiled 31 points to place seventh in this year's race. Cross country again was a Kentucky strong point as the Wildcats captured the Southeastern Conference title. In tennis, All-Americans Rich Benson, Mario Rincon and Adam Malik paced the men's tennis team to a second-place finish in league play.

THE BLUE AND WHITE FUND

Originated in 1973 by former Athletics Director Cliff Hagan, the Blue and White Fund's main purpose is to provide financial assistance to the UK athletics program.

Today, producing and maintaining a quality athletics program is a never-ending process. And for that reason, the University of Kentucky Athletics Association is renewing its efforts to raise the funds necessary to be competitive on the national level in every sport.

The major purpose of the Blue and White Fund is to provide scholarships for UK's student-athletes. Last year, 315 student-athletes received grants-in-aid from the University of Kentucky which allowed them to continue their education.

The Fund also helps underwrite costs associated with the nationally-recognized Center for Academic and Tutorial Services (CATS) located in Memorial Coliseum. In addition, the Fund provides dollars necessary to upgrade the entire athletic physical plant and to plan for the future projects.

Some of the future projects for which the Blue and White Fund would assist include expansion of Commonwealth Stadium from 57,800 to 72,000, the construction of an indoor football practice facility, and the construction of an athletics administration building.

Last year, more than $2.2 million was raised through the Blue and White, up from $800,000 two years before. Under the direction of Associate Athletics Director Gene DeFilippo, the goal next year will double as UKAA becomes more aggresive in its fundraising efforts.

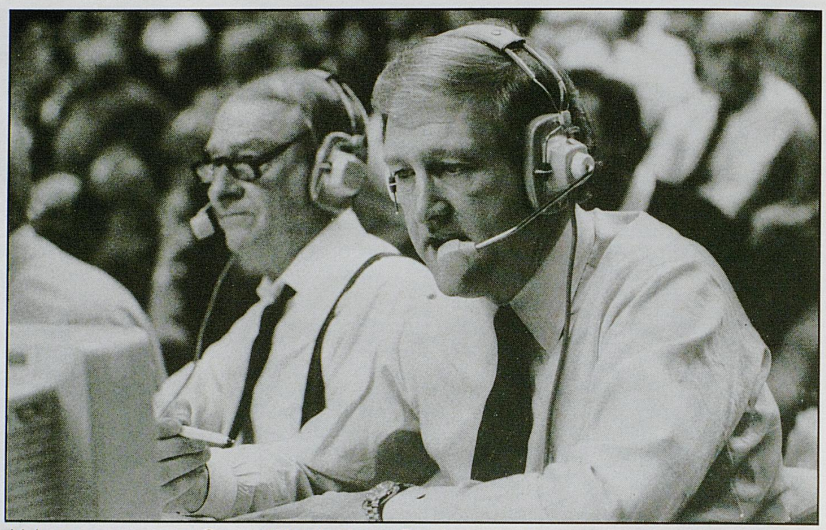

Membership in the Blue and White Fund is open to anyone interested in helping the University of Kentucky student-athletes who participate in one or more of the 19 sports for which UK fields a team.

For more information on the Blue and White Fund, contact Gene DeFilippo at (606) 257-5611.

Veteran announcers Cawood Ledford and Ralph Hacker have worked together for almost 20 years.

A Kentucky basketball tradition through the years has been the ability of the legions of Big Blue fans to catch the Cats on radio. Listening to Kentucky basketball has been a tradition in the Commonwealth and across the country for decades. Nearly every Kentuckian has fond memories of sitting around a radio on a cold winter night, living and dying with the fortunes of the Big Blue.

As usual, the excitement and action of Kentucky's 87th season of basketball will be broadcast to fans across the country on one of the largest college networks in the nation.

The rights to Wildcats basketball are held by Host Communications, Inc. of Lexington, which is in its first season under a new contract with UK.

Cawood Ledford

Now in his 37th season of broadcasting Wildcats games, Cawood Ledford is truly a legend in the Commonwealth. In many drug stores and barber shops across the state, conversations in the winter begin with, "Well, Cawood said last night. . ."

His brisk, informative style has won him a spot in the hearts of Kentuckians for years and to many people who never have a chance to see the Cats in person, Cawood IS Kentucky basketball. As one station promoted him once, "When you listen to Kentucky basketball, you don't just hear it, you SEE it through the eyes of Cawood Ledford."

Ledford has made some of his phrases legendary in Kentucky, especially his traditional, "The Wildcats are moving to the right-hand side of your radio dial." When he appears at courtside at Rupp Arena, the Kentucky band salutes him in unison with a loud, "Hello, Cawood!"

The native of Harlan County (actually Cawood, Ky.) has been named Best Basketball Announcer in the Nation, in addition to being named Kentucky's Sportscaster of the Year 20 times. He is president of his own Lexington-based company, Cawood Ledford Productions, and has produced many award-winning radio and television sports programs.

Ralph Hacker

Ledford's sidekick on Wildcats broadcasting is Ralph Hacker, president and general manager of radio station WVLK in Lexington. Hacker is now in his 18th season on the UK Network, offering his knowledge of the broadcasts, as well as handling pregame, halftime and postgame programs.

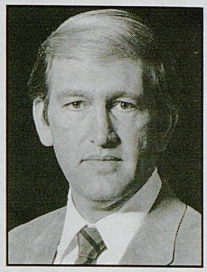

In addition to his UK radio duties, Hacker has ventured into television in the past five years, calling football and basketball games for Jefferson-Pilot Teleproductions, ESPN, the NCAA and CBS.

Dave Baker

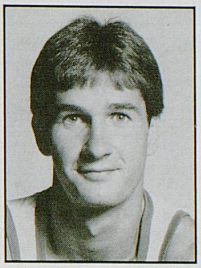

Dave "Buzz" Baker, a native of Franklin, Ohio, joins Cawood Ledford on some radio broadcasts this season, as he did during football season. Baker became a sports reporter for WKYT-TV in 1982, shortly after his graduation from Georgetown College. He was named weekend anchor in 1984 and

THE WILDCATS ON TELEVISION

The University of Kentucky will once again be featured on one of the largest collegiate television networks in the country, this year for delayed broadcasts only, due to the TV restrictions imposed upon the Cats by the NCAA.

Host Communications of Lexington, the firm that handles all radio rights for the NCAA Basketball Championships, administers the television network. WKYT-TV in Lexington and WAVE-TV in Louisville act as co-producers of the telecasts.

Ralph Hacker will handle play-by-play for the network. Former Wildcat letterman Jim Master will serve as color analyst, with Rob Bromley serving as host for the broadcasts.

Rob Bromley

Rob Bromley begins his 10th year on the UK Television Network. Bromley has been the sports director at WKYT-TV in Lexington since 1980, when he took over those duties from the legendary Denny Trease, who now serves as the TV "voice" of the Kansas City Royals.

Bromley is a graduate of Butler University in Indianapolis and worked as a sports anchor in Lima, Ohio, before joining the WKYT-TV staff in 1977.

Jim Master

Jim Master, who lettered for the Wildcats basketball team in 1981-82-83-84, was recently named color commentator for the UK delayed TV network.

A native of Fort Wayne, Ind., Master is Kentucky's 23rd all-time leading scorer, having scored 1,283 points during his career. WILDCATS' NEW TRAINING FACILITY TO BE READY IN FEBRUARY

State-of-the-art weight training facilities, basketball lockerrooms and training rooms, basketball and administrative office space are part of an $850,000 renovation begun recently at UK's Memorial Coliseum. Private donors have provided total funding for the project.

The two-story complex is being built in the north endzone of the Coliseum. The first floor of the complex will include modern dressing and lockerrooms, weight training facilities, and a team meeting room. The second floor will include a central reception area and administrative offices for the basketball staff as well as Athletics Director C.M. Newton and Associate Athletics Directors Larry Ivy and Gene DeFilippo and their staffs.

"Coach Pitino and I agree that we need a first-class support facility for our student-athletes, giving our basketball players a facility that will do for them what the Nutter Center has done for Kentucky football," Newton says. "Memorial Coliseum is an important part of Kentucky basketball history. We do not intend to destroy any part of that history. Rather, we intend to preserve it, and adapt this grand old building to suit our needs for many years to come. The renovation plans have been developed with loving care, to make as little cosmetic change as possible to the building."

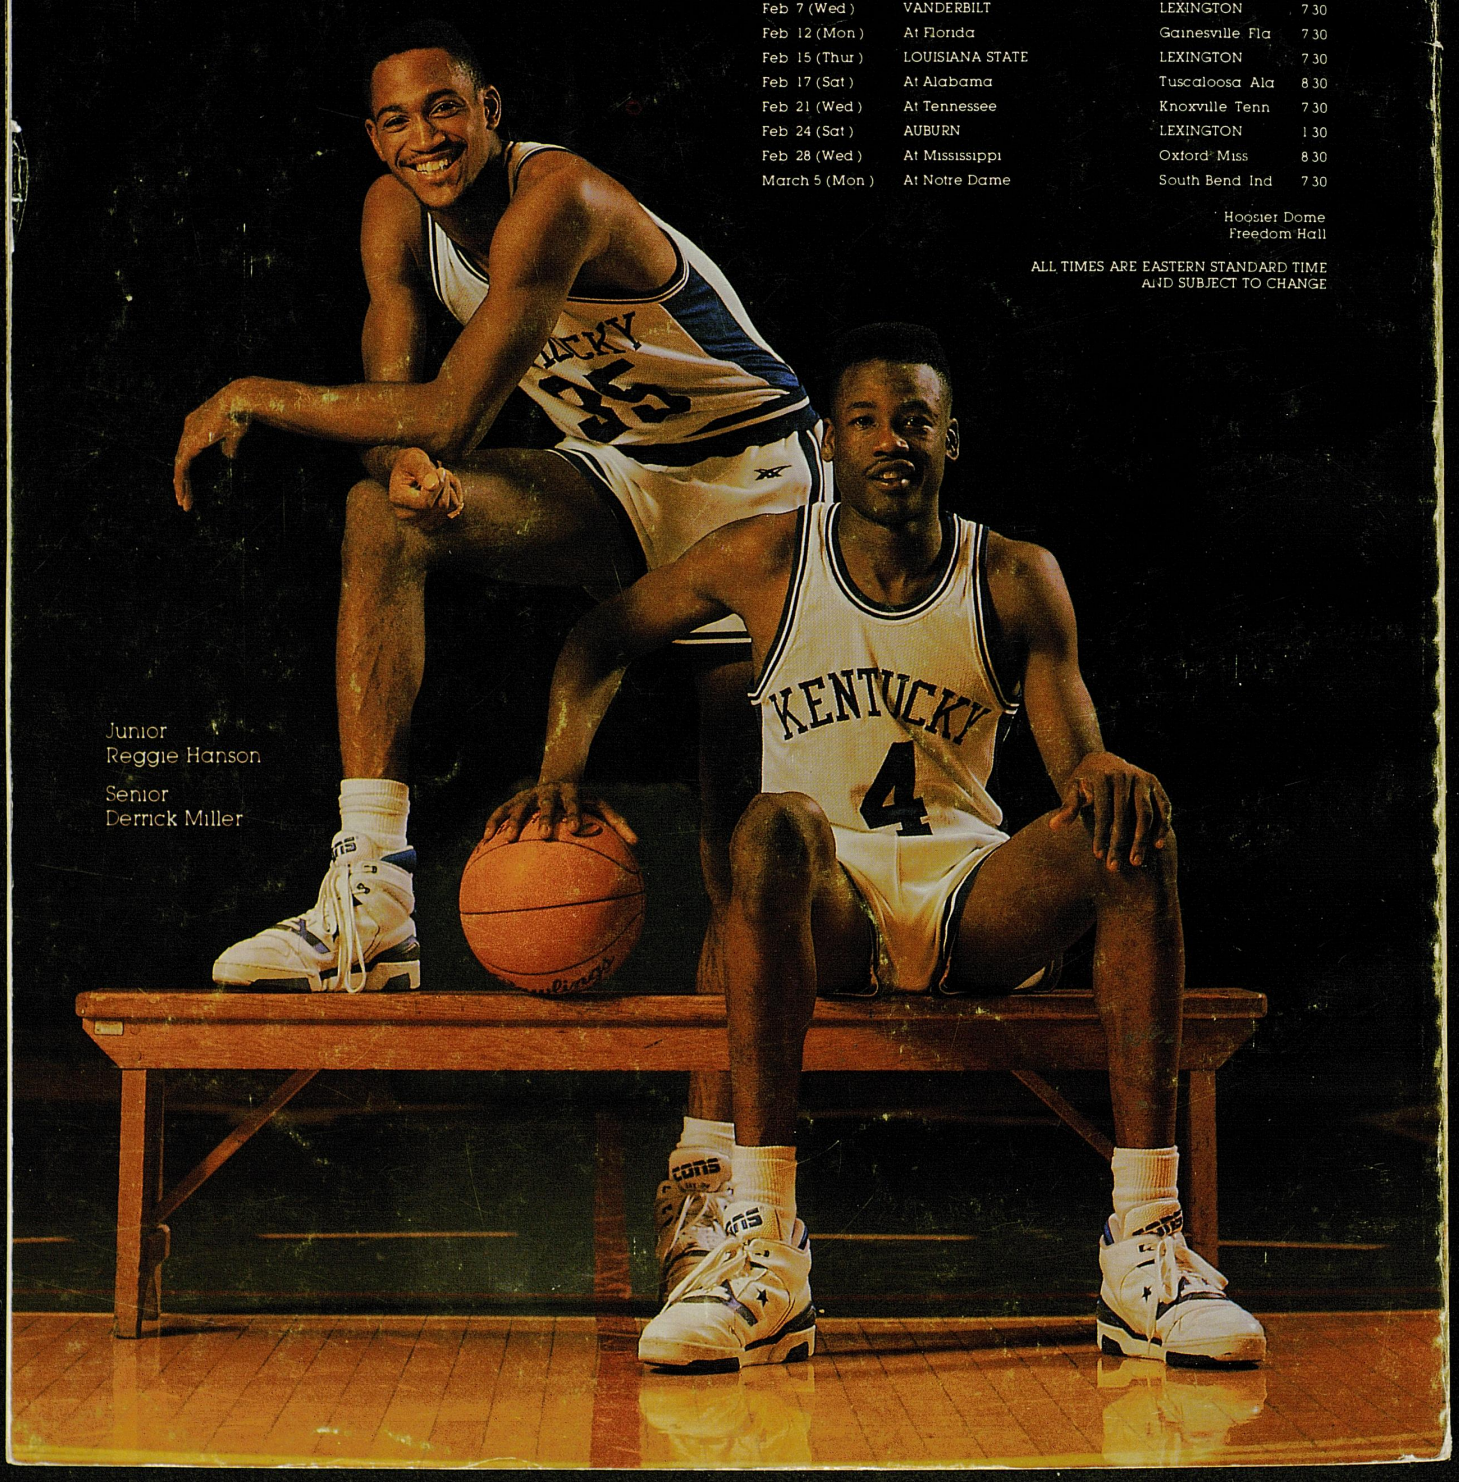

Construction is scheduled to be completed by February 1.
