*"All we have of freedom—all we use or know—
This our fathers bought for us, long and long ago."*

—Rudyard Kipling

This collage by New York artist Fred Otnes was especially commissioned by Brown & Williamson for its permanent collection of fine art works.

The freedom to choose our livelihood was provided to us long ago. And it was typified by the struggle of immigrants to America in the early 1800's. People like Adam Gimbel, a humble Jewish peddler from Germany, who later founded the country's first department store. And individuals who became industrial giants, like Andrew Carnegie from Scotland, who built one of the largest steel producing businesses in the United States. America had given both of them the freedom. The freedom to choose.

A free individual does not live without choice. A free society does not prosper without it. Consider, if you will, the personal choices we make every day without intervention from others. Now consider how many we take for granted.

The right to choose is the basis of all freedom—political, social, artistic, economic, religious—for all people. But this right must be protected from those who would chip away at it...either deliberately for personal gain, or innocently for the “betterment” of humanity. It must be protected from those who would make their choice, your choice. These personal freedoms are our legacy as well as our responsibility...to protect and to pass on to those who follow.

Freedom. It's a matter of choice.

John Y. Brown, Jr., became the 51st governor of Kentucky on December 11, 1979. He succeeded incumbent Julian Carroll after defeating Republican candidate Louie B. Nunn.

Born on December 28, 1933, Governor Brown graduated from Lafayette High School in his hometown, Lexington, and obtained a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Kentucky in 1957. He graduated from the UK College of Law three years later.

The Governor served in the U. S. Army Reserve from 1959 to 1965.

He has been named the Outstanding Young Man of America by the National Junior Chamber of Commerce (1965), as one of the outstanding Civic Leaders of America (1967) and Louisville's Outstanding Young Man by the same group. Lions Club International gave him an Outstanding American Award (1974) and he is the youngest person to be named to the University of Kentucky's Hall of Fame.

He has three children by a previous marriage, John Y. Brown, III (17), Eleanor (15) and Sandra (14). He married Phyllis George on March 17, 1979 and they recently added a fourth child to the family, Lincoln Tyler George Brown, born in June, 1980.

DR. OTIS A. SINGLETARY

President, University of Kentucky

The University of Kentucky has become one of the major institutions of higher learning in the United States under the leadership of Dr. Otis Singletary, the eighth president of the University.

Dr. Singletary was named president of the University in August, 1969. He had previously served as executive vice-chancellor for academic affairs in the University of Texas System and director of the Job Corps program for the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Dr. Singletary, a native of Gulfport, Miss., holds degrees from Millsaps College and Louisiana State University.

As president of the principal institution of higher learning in the Commonwealth, Dr. Singletary is greatly concerned with the University's role as a land-grant institution, a "people's university" accessible to all who can profit from education.

In the nine years he has been president, the University has grown to where there are now more than 22,000 students on the Lexington campus and more than 17,000 students in UK's 13 community colleges. The University has also become one of the major research institutions in the country.

Recognition of his service to the University was evidenced by the UK Alumni Association, which presented to Dr. Singletary its Alumni Service Award — an honor rarely bestowed upon a non-alumnus of the University.

Dr. Singletary is the author of two books and several monographs.

A Navy veteran of World War II and the Korean Conflict, he is a commander in the U. S. Naval Reserve. He and Mrs. Singletary, the former Gloria Walton, have three children: Bonnie, Scot and Kendall.

The Singletarys live at Maxwell Place, traditional home of UK presidents.

Athletics Director

Expansion of the football training room and addition of a beautiful player's lounge at Shively Sports Center, new carpeting in the stadium football offices, a new basketball office complex in Memorial Coliseum, rearrangement of the baseball fences and a new surface for the running track are just a few of the recent improvements that signify the continuing progress of UK athletics since Cliff Hagan joined the Wildcat Staff eight years ago.

Recognized nationally as a progressive, business-oriented and promotion-minded administrator, Hagan has seen and overseen vast improvements in all phases of an ever-expanding operation that has encompassed 16 sports since the men's and women's programs were merged in July, 1978.

The merger, under Hagan's direction, has been orderly, with office space remodeled, and in some cases created, to make room for the women's coaching and administrative staff.

The introduction of Hagan into the UK athletics administrative structure came in 1972, when he was named assistant to Harry C. Lancaster and given the task of implementing the Blue & White Fund for 57,600-seat Commonwealth Stadium and later for Rupp Arena. The fruits of his labors in this area have provided the additional financial support that has elevated the UK athletics program into a first class operation.

Hagan was named Athletics Director in July 1975 following Lancaster's retirement.

Hagan has also been an advocate of a strong scholar-athlete program, feeling "a genuine commitment to provide all the academic support and encouragement we can to help our athletes leave our campus with a college education and a degree."

On the personal side, Hagan received one of his highest individual honors in 1978 when he became the first University of Kentucky basketball player to be installed in the Naismith Memorial National Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass.

He is married to the former Martha Milton of Owensboro. They have four children: Lisa, Laurie, Amy and Kip.

Larry is entering his fifth year as Assistant Director of Athletics for Finance. Ivy, who came to the University of Kentucky as director of housing in 1969, is involved primarily with the administration and management of the business operations, and helps to develop and initiate policies for accounting procedures and related financial management.

A native of Alabama, Ivy graduated in 1961 from Huntsville High School, where he lettered in four sports. He is a 1967 graduate of the University of Alabama and earned his MBA from Alabama in 1968.

He is married to the former Barbara Foster of Huntsville. They have one daughter, Kim, 10.

Ivy is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack F. Ivy of Huntsville.

Frank Ham became assistant director of athletics soon after Cliff Hagan succeeded Harry C. Lancaster as director of athletics.

A native of Scranton, PA, Ham came to the University in 1969 as administrative assistant to football coach John Ray, and was reassigned to the athletic director's staff in 1972.

Ham graduated from high school at Niles, Michigan and completed his undergraduate work at Olivet College. He did graduate work at Indiana University and coached high school football and track at John Adams High in South Bend. He then returned to Olivet as athletic director and head football and basketball coach.

In 1962, he became assistant to the president at Olivet, with responsibilities in public and alumni relations. He was in private business from 1956 until 1968.

Wildcat Coach

JOE B. HALL
Basketball Coach

Joe B. Hall begins his ninth season as head coach of the Kentucky Wildcats with eight returning lettermen, including three starters, and another banner recruiting class.

For the second consecutive season, the Kentucky freshmen have been tabbed the top group in the country. Last season, Hall led a youth-dominated squad to a 29-6 record and to three championships. The 1979-80 Wildcats won the Southeastern Conference title for the fifth consecutive year and claimed tournament championships in the UKIT and the Great Alaskan Shootout.

While leading the Wildcats to a 29-6 record last year, Hall upped his eight-year UK record to 183-60 (75.3%), an average of 22.9 wins per season, to keep ahead of the pace set by his former coach, Adolph Rupp, who averaged 21.5 victories a season over a 41-season span to become the winningest collegiate basketball coach of all time.

Hall has won such honors as Kellogg's 1978 National "Coach of the Year," three Southeastern Conference "Coach of the Year" awards (1973, '75, and '78) in seven years, and nomination for Kodak's 1975, '76, and '78 (finalist) "Coach of the Year" awards.

In 1978 when Kentucky won its fifth NCAA title, Hall was also presented the Rupp Cup (presented to the SEC Coach of the Year by the Birmingham Tipoff Club) and Hall's most coveted personal award, the Dr. James Naismith "Peachbasket" award, which previously had been awarded to UCLA's John Wooden, Oklahoma State's Hank Iba, Kentucky's Adolph Rupp, and the Boston Celtics' Red Auerbach.

Entering this season, Hall's 14 year career coaching record stands at 259-116, (excluding a 17-2 record on a 1974 Australian tour, a 7-0 record on a 1978 Japan tour, and six pre-season exhibition wins against foreign and domestic teams) and that record was compiled against nationally ranked non-conference teams and teams in a conference that fast is becoming recognized as among the toughest in the nation. Broken down, it shows a 57-50 five-year mark at Regis, a 19-6 record at Central Missouri, and a 183-60 record at UK.

Hall began his tour as UK head coach in rather auspicious fashion, becoming in 1973 the first rookie coach in the SEC to be designated Coach of the Year by his fellow coaches and by Coach and Athlete Magazine.

Gathering such honors has been one of Hall's trademarks during a coaching career that began at Shepherdsville (Ky.) High School in 1956 and continued through Regis College and Central Missouri State College before he returned to UK July 1, 1965, as an assistant to his former coach, Adolph Rupp.

A three-letter winner and team captain in both sports in high school at Cynthiana, Ky., he played freshman basketball and one year of varsity basketball in the "Fabulous Five" era at the University before transferring to the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn., where he set a school single game scoring record and was team captain. Coach Lon Varnell, upon retirement, rated Hall as No. 1 of the three best players he ever coached.

After touring Europe with the Globetrotters in 1951, Hall returned to U.K. in 1955 to complete requirements for his B.A. and later (1964) received his M.A. at Colorado State.

Perhaps the best appraisal of the job Hall has been doing at the University came from Rupp, who died in 1977. "A good coach," Rupp said, "is a person who can take good material and win with it. Joe has done that."

He is married to the former Katharine Dennis of Harrison County, Ky. They have three children—Mrs. Rick Derrickson and Steve of Lexington, and Mrs. Mike Summers of Greenville, S. C.

LEONARD HAMILTON
Associate Coach

Leonard Hamilton was named the University's first associate basketball coach on Oct. 15.

Hamilton has been a Wildcat assistant coach for six years. He came to Kentucky after spending three years as an assistant coach at Austin Peay.

He has always been noted as an outstanding recruiter and as a defensive specialist. Most remarkable in his coaching career is the fact that in eight of his nine years on the college scene, the team he has been associated with has advanced to post-season play. Only in his first season at Austin Peay has Hamilton not been involved in a post-season tournament.

A native of Gastonia, N.C., Hamilton lettered three years in football and twice in basketball as a prep-ster. He captained his team for two seasons at Gastonia Community College in Dallas, N.C. He also captained his team at Tennessee-Martin, where he graduated in 1970.

The 32 year old Hamilton is married to the former Claudette Hale of McMoresville, Tenn. They have a son, Lenny, 10.

Coaches

JOE DEAN

Assistant Coach

A vital and vibrant member of the Wildcat coaching staff, Joe Dean enters his fourth year at Kentucky.

A native of Baton Rouge, La., he attended Baton Rouge High School where he earned letters in basketball and football.

Dean got an early taste of Kentucky basketball when he played against the Wildcats three years for Mississippi State University. After graduating from State in 1976, he served one year as Bulldog graduate assistant while earning a masters degree in physical education. Outstanding in academics, he was named to the 1976 Academic All-SEC second team.

Putting Dean's youthful enthusiasm to full use, coach Hall has appointed the young coach director of the annual Wildcat Coaching Clinic and the popular Wildcat Summer Basketball Summer Camp in addition to regular duties.

He is married to the former Ellen Elizabeth Anger of Jackson, Mississippi. They have a son, Scott, 1.

The Wildcats are fortunate to have the services of volunteer coach Harry Lancaster and part-time assistant coach Bob Chambers this season.

Both bring to Coach Joe Hall's program many years of basketball experience working with young players.

LANCASTER

CHAMBERS

Harry Lancaster, former athletics director and assistant basketball coach at the University of Kentucky, came to Kentucky in 1946 and served as an assistant coach under the legendary Adolph Rupp until 1968. In 1968, he was named acting athletics director of Kentucky, and in 1969, he was named athletics director.

Bob Chambers has 20 years of high school coaching experience, 13 as a head coach. His overall record is 317-116. For nine years prior to 1979-80, he coached at Tennessee High in Bristol and fashioned a 228-68 mark and made three trips to the state play-offs. Last season, eight of his former players, including Kentucky's Derrick Hord, played college basketball.

Game plan.

Success in basketball requires plenty of training, good coaching and team play. And it requires a game plan.

At McDonald's, our game plan is simple. We have the team to produce winners every season.

Winners like Quarter Pounder,[™] Big Mac,[™] Golden French Fries, and Triple Thick Shakes.

And our game plan includes careful handling. We never drop the ball when it comes to service. Prompt and courteous—whether you're home team or visitor.

So, before or after the next battle on the hardwood, include McDonald's in your game plan.

Dicky Beal: Big Little Man

If one's value to a team is measured by how well one plays his assigned role, Dicky Beal would no doubt garner some votes for MVP.

The 5-11 guard from Covington has become more comfortable each game in his role as the spark, the catalyst, the man Coach Joe B. Hall can count on to push the ball down court quickly and penetrate a tough defense. He is an exceptional ball handler, a press breaker and already a crowd favorite.

"When I go in and the crowd's behind me hollering, it gets me going, gets the glow going," Beal explains, "When I touch the ball I just want to go as fast as I can, get it down the court and try to get it to somebody who can put it in for a layup. With 23,000 behind you, you can't go wrong."

A three-year starter at Covington Holmes, Beal averaged 24 points per game in leading his team to the Ninth Region championship and the state tournament. He is also an excellent leaper who can dunk with either hand.

But it is his assists that get the Rupp Arena crowd jumping and his teammates hearts thumping in anticipation of easy layups and end-to-end action. He goes on instinct.

"I've been playing like that all my life," Dicky was saying after a recent victory. "I never try to do anything spectacular, I just try to get it to the open man. Because of the way I do that, I guess it looks fancy. But I don't try to be fancy."

Unlike many shorter guards, Beal doesn't bristle at being labeled a "small" man.

"Well, you ARE the little man when you are out there with players like Sam and Bret. There's no other way you can put it. I build my confidence up taking the ball down the lane against the big men. I know because of my size, I can't be shooting over people."

"I'm in the learning process right now, getting to know the system, the coaching staff. Right now, I'm just trying to learn anything I can."

And what about Dickey Beal off the court? He is a good student who is going through the same adjustments any freshman goes through.

"I just like to have fun, I like to meet people, to talk to them and see what's on their mind. Once I came down here, I got kind of scared to say something to people because I didn't know them. I am starting to know everybody now and starting to joke around and be the best of friends."

The Coach and the Program: Academic Program Stresses Discipline

Ask anyone.

Ask a fan to describe the Kentucky Wildcat basketball program and they will use adjectives such as disciplined, tradition-laden, hardnosed—and successful. That is the basketball environment that Coach Joe B. Hall's Wildcat players inhabit.

While those adjectives apply to the Kentucky program on the court, they also describe the program off the court. These players are STUDENT-athletes and no collegiate athletic program can be justified unless the "student" is emphasized. At Kentucky, the result of the commitment to academics speaks for itself.

During the past eight years under Coach Hall, 21 out of 24 senior basketball players received their undergraduate degrees from the University.

Three Academic All-Americans have played for Coach Hall: Jimmy Dan Conner (1975), Bob Guyette (1975) and Kyle Macy (1979). Chuck Verderber was Academic All-SEC last season.

Gone are the days when a young athlete could just take a few phys ed courses, get his sheepskin and count on getting a high school coaching job.

"Academics are so much tougher than it used to be," said Hall. "There is so much more responsibility to see that your players get through with a good education.

"There are many reasons for this commitment to the student-athletes. First of all, I graduated here at the University and I had prodding to stay in line, I had people who cared about me and my future. But I saw student athletes that did miss classes, and for missing classes, flunk out of school and never receive a college degree."

The commitment to the well-rounded athlete starts with recruitment.

"We talk to the parents. We sell them on our program here at Kentucky. So we have an obligation to the parents to see to it that their sons do not neglect their education," added Hall.

"Second, we have an investment in the athlete from our recruitment and the work that we put in developing his talent and we don't want to lose him either. And third, it's a general overall concern about their future well-being and their being a credit to our program once they graduate and that's the real basis, or the real strength of our program. If our program is built on a foundation of caring about our athletes, caring about the way they live, the medical attention they get, the food they get, the discipline that they receive and the encouragement academically they get, then you have a sound program. We can build on that."

The Kentucky program involves the student-athlete with academic advisers, tutors, daily breakfast sessions with the basketball academic adviser and supervised evening study halls. Coach Hall receives a weekly report from each of the student's professors and academic advisers as well as a daily report on class attendance.

Supervising the basketball program's four graduate assistants is Assistant Athletics Director for Academic Affairs, Bob Bradley.

"The idea of our program is to provide the day-to-day guidance toward the degree," said Bradley. "We believe in preventive counseling and advising as opposed to crisis. You know, Kentucky has such a proud faculty, you can't go to a professor and 'patch after crash.'"

Chuck Verderber was All-Academic SEC in 1980.

More than a few of Kentucky's players will tell you one of the reasons they chose the University is the discipline—on and off the court—that has become a tradition here.

"It (discipline) has become a tradition here," added Coach Hall. "How do the military schools maintain it, how do other schools that have the same philosophy—I think it is just tradition. Our older players recognize the good that it does, and they recognize our program—the exposure and the fishbowl that they live in—and they are very appreciative that we handled them through their formative years like we did and now that they are near the completion of it, they see the changes they've made. So they are encouraging to our younger players. The older players don't want that tradition to be let down and they pretty much see to it that it gets carried out."

"The older players don't want that tradition to be let down . . ."

"Our program wouldn't work if it weren't for Coach Hall," said Bradley, adding, "If I need to see him, I get in and if we have a problem, he moves expeditiously. I don't know of many coaches who have sat starters (on the bench) when he thought it in the best interests of the kids. He believes in kids and the academic program falls into line with that."

Such a program takes a while to develop. The goal is to get the academic program to a point where it carries itself and, says Hall, "ours is about at that point."

"We have very little problem with class attendance and academics because we have a program in gear and it is pretty much accepted by all our players."

And what of the rewards for the student-athlete? The young player must benefit from his Kentucky experience long after the cheers of 23,000 fans at Rupp Arena fade. The discipline stressed at UK is carried over into the world of professional athletics, the world of business, the world of education, the world of medicine, law and administration.

"Well," said Hall, "you know you are doing what's right for them and they are going to know it sooner or later. Very seldom does one fail to come back and thank us."

Some 120 paintings by Kentucky artists will be on exhibit in the University of Kentucky Art Museum, Jan. 25 through March 15. Discussing the exhibit are Arthur F. Jones, UK associate professor of art, and Bruce Weber, curator of the UK museum. The two cooperated in compiling the exhibit and the catalog.

UK Art Museum Exhibit Throws Spotlight On Kentucky Artists

An exhibit of the works of 70 Kentucky artists, some of whom have an international reputation, currently is on display at the University of Kentucky Art Museum.

The show marks the first time a comprehensive exhibition of Kentucky painters from the 19th and early 20th centuries has been assembled, according to the director of the UK museum, Priscilla Colt.

"We feel the exhibit will contribute to a greater awareness of the diversity and aesthetic excellence of Kentucky's artistic heritage," Mrs. Colt said.

Altogether there are about 120 paintings in the exhibit, including such nationally recognized Kentucky painters as Matthew Harris Jouett, Edward Troye and Frank Duveneck. Other Kentuckians with a regional reputation for their works to be included in the exhibition are William Edward West, Joseph Bush, Oliver Frazer, Carl Brenner, Harvey Joiner, Paul Sawyer and Robert Burns Wilson.

The exhibit also includes paintings by artists who are not native Kentuckians, but whose works often have a Kentucky flavor. These are such artists as Chester Harding, George Healy, John James Audubon, Thomas Waterman Wood, J. Rusling Meeker and Alexander Wyant.

The exhibit should give viewers a feel of Kentucky's artistic heritage, says Mrs. Colt.

Throughout the early and mid-19th century, portrait painting was the dominant field of artistic endeavor in Kentucky. Landscape, genre, still life, historical and religious subjects were seldom sought by art patrons. This changed only after the Civil War.

Major exhibitions of American and European art began in Louisville and nearby Cincinnati and there evolved a new breed of art enthusiasts and collectors in Kentucky.

A new awareness of contemporary artistic trends by Kentucky artists also has its influence. Their works began to reflect the styles of Dusseldorf, Barbizon and the Munich schools of painting—as well as French academic art. At the turn of the 20th century, Impressionism and Post-Impressionism influenced a growing number of artists in the Commonwealth.

Throughout the 19th and early 20th century, Lexington and Louisville maintained their positions as Kentucky's leading art centers. However, smaller communities such as Bowling Green, Frankfort, Paris and Danville also supported local painters and attracted prominent visitors.

Artists in northern Kentucky—Covington, Newport, Augusta and Maysville—were closely associated with the Cincinnati art community. Little is known about the activities of artists in eastern and southeastern Kentucky—the coal and mountain regions of the commonwealth.

A majority of the works in the exhibition have been loaned to the UK museum by institutional and private collections in Kentucky and Ohio. Other contributors include the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the National Portrait Gallery, the Corcoran Gallery of Art and the Museum of Art, Carnegie Institute.

The exhibition catalog provides an overview of the history of painting in Kentucky through World War I. Brief biographical sketches of the artists and individual analyses of the paintings are featured.

The exhibition has been coordinated and the catalog written by Bruce Weber, curator of the UK museum, and Arthur Jones, UK associate professor of art history.

The exhibit is titled "The Kentucky Painter from the Frontier Era to the Great War," and will run through March 15. The UK Art Museum, located in the west wing of the University Center for the Arts, is open Tuesday through Sunday from noon to 5 p.m.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, PROTECT YOUR ENGINES.

Everyday, you put your car to a driving test as grueling as an afternoon at Indy. Through stop and go traffic. Sustained speeds on the highway. Things that can really put the heat on your engine.

That's why you need a motor oil like Valvoline®... tough enough to take that kind of punishment. Valvoline, the

Is Northwestern Mutual Crazy?

Yeah, like a fox.

When the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company announced its "GET MORE OUT OF LIFE" program this year, other life insurance companies were a bit worried. Imagine America's 9th largest life insurance company offering permanent policyowners a 14% average increase in coverage without increasing the policy premium*. While future dividends will be slightly lower than they would have been, future cash values on these policies will be higher. This offer is made possible because of a massive and dedicated effort in research and development. It provides a tax savings which can be channeled back to the true owners of the company, the policyowners. The "GET MORE OUT OF LIFE" program is just another example of over a century of continued dedication to providing the best possible life insurance value. As for those other life insurance companies ... guess you can say they've been out-foxed again.

*Policies issued after December 31, 1977 already contain these improved features.

Remember When

1975: UK vs. INDIANA

Kentucky stunned previously undefeated Indiana 92-90 to capture the Midwest Regional Championship in Dayton. The victory was even more gratifying for the Wildcats because they had outmuscled a team which defeated them 98-74 earlier in the season.

The win earned the Wildcats a trip to San Diego and an appearance in the Final Four, their first since losing to Texas Western in 1966.

As things happened, Kentucky's victory was earned for many different reasons. The first was the play of guard Mike Flynn. A resident of Indiana known more for his defensive ability, Flynn tallied 22 points, 14 in the second half.

Like Flynn, Jimmy Dan Conner scored 12 of his 17 points in the second stanza. The performance of both guards earned them places on the all-tournament team.

Head coach Joe B. Hall got tremendous efforts out of freshmen Mike Phillips and Rick Robey. The initial meeting of the season in Blomington saw IU center Kent Benson do the pushing and shoving, but Phillips and Robey returned the favor and in between, tallied 10 points apiece.

"Our offensive strategy was to work for the early shot before Indiana could set up their half-court pressure defense. I told Conner before the game I wanted him to shoot. I said, if you miss five in a row, try five more," commented Hall.

Mississippi State Relies On Youth

Mississippi State begins the rebuilding process with one of the youngest teams in years. Eleven freshmen and sophomores dominate this year's squad. All-American forward Ricky Brown is gone—along with his 20.5 ppg and 14.4 rpg.

Although State has had a rough time in conference play so far this season with the youngsters, the talent is there.

Sophomore Jeff Malone, All-Freshman SEC pick last year, leads MSU with an 18.3 ppg average. The 6-4 swingman is hitting nearly 50 per cent of his shots. What, with 6-5 Terry Lewis joining him at guard, the State backcourt is the biggest in the SEC. Lewis (8.1 ppg) leads the team in assists.

Sophomore Kalpatrick Wells (6-9) starts at center and carries a 7 ppg scoring average and a team-leading 10.1 rebounding average (he finished sixth in rebounding in the conference last season). The forwards are freshman Donnell Allen (6-8, 8.7 ppg) and Ron White (6-7, 9.9 ppg), one of only two seniors on the State squad.

Coach Jim Hatfield can look to the bench for experience at the point guard position. Senior Tom Schuberth has faced Kentucky many times and he provides a steadiness to the State attack. If Hatfield needs more guard help he can call on another big man, 6-4 freshman Butch Pierre. Underneath, the Bulldogs can count on 6-8 freshman center Tim Peyton and still another first year man, 6-5 Mackey Whyte. Another freshman, 6-6 Michael Green is counted on to contribute this season, also.

Kalpatrick Wells

The loss of Brown means the Bulldogs will have to be more team-oriented, both offensively and defensively. It's no secret Coach Hatfield relishes the fast-break so fans are sure to see an enthusiastic, scrappy and loose Bulldog team tonight.

DR. JAMES D. McCOMAS

University President

Dr. James D. McComas, 51, came to MSU from the University of Tennessee where he served as Dean of the College of Education from 1969 to 1976. Before that, he was Dean of the College of Education at Kansas State University and professor and head of the department of elementary and secondary education at New Mexico State University.

He holds a bachelor of science degree from West Virginia University in vocational and agricultural education and biological sciences, a master of science in vocational and secondary education from Ohio State, and the Ph.D., also from Ohio State, in agricultural-vocational education with additional study in educational administration, sociology and educational research.

A former high school teacher, he held assistant professorships at New Mexico State and Ohio State. Dr. McComas is a native of Pritchard, W. Va.

JIM HATFIELD

Head Coach

Jim Hatfield enters his third season as head coach of the Bulldogs.

Prior to coming to State, he totally rebuilt Southwestern Louisiana's probation-torn program in three short years. His first team finished 7-19 but he followed that up with 21-8 and 19-8.

The Knoxville, Tn. native played on Tennessee's 1961-62 freshmen team before transferring to East Tennessee State where he started at guard for three years and graduated in 1965. After a brief stint in private business and a hitch in the Marine Corps as a lieutenant, he returned to basketball as head coach at Orlando (Fl.) Lyman High School. Following the 1969 season Hatfield became an assistant to Murray Arnold at Birmingham Southern, staying there from 1970 to 1972.

Hatfield, who holds a Master's degree in education from Montevallo (Al.), then became an assistant to Joe B. Hall at Kentucky (1972-74).

University of Kentucky: Great and Growing

Truly one of the leading land grant institutions in the nation, the University of Kentucky has a national and international reputation in such diverse fields as medicine, business, engineering, law and agriculture.

More than 22,000 students are enrolled on the main campus in Lexington. Another 17,000 students are enrolled at the 13 community colleges operated by UK across the state at Ashland, Henderson, Cumberland, Elizabethtown, Prestonsburg, Hopkinsville, Somerset, Louisville, Paducah, Hazard, Maysville, Madisonville and Lexington.

UK has a graduate school and 17 academic colleges . . . Arts and Sciences, Agriculture, Engineering, Business and Economics, Education, Home Economics, Library Science, Social Work, Architecture, Communications, Fine Arts, Law, Medicine, Dentistry, Nursing, Allied Health Professions and Pharmacy.

Kentucky is noted for its research efforts, especially in the fields of energy, tobacco and cancer.

UK's Institute for Mining and Minerals Research is a national leader in energy-related research, especially in the areas of coal liquefaction and gasification.

Kentucky's Tobacco and Health Research Institute is a world-wide leader in research on the problems of tobacco and health.

The UK College of Agriculture has been responsible over the years for the development of 80 percent of the burley tobacco varieties grown anywhere in the world, and its research on tobacco diseases has saved farmers millions of dollars.

Scientists at UK did much to save Kentucky's thoroughbred horse industry a few years ago when a dreaded disease, called contagious equine metritis (CEM), struck the industry. Horse vaccines developed at Kentucky for horses are being used all over the world.

UK has an outstanding faculty with some of the top teachers and researchers in the nation. The Kentucky mathematics department has seven faculty members who have been awarded the prestigious Sloan Fellowship, and the Political Science department consistently ranks among the top such departments in the nation in the number of scholarly papers published.

In the arts, close to 100,000 people attend the many art, music and theatre productions at UK. The Kentucky Marching Band is one of the best collegiate contingents in the country, and the UK orchestra, chorus, theatre and opera offer sterling performances throughout the year.

A real boon to the arts at Kentucky was the opening of UK's new Center for the Arts. The building contains a 400-seat recital hall, a 1,500-seat concert hall and the 20,000 square feet University of Kentucky Art Museum.

UK's Albert B. Chandler Medical Center has a wide range of programs in education and research. In addition to its 20-year mission as a major teaching and research center, the facility serves as a medical complex for the Lexington community and a regional center for the Commonwealth.

The Medical Center offers, through direct patient care or referral, more than 40 services ranging from primary care and family practice to highly specialized areas such as open heart surgery, renal transplants and cancer treatment.

The five colleges of the Medical Center—Medicine, Dentistry, Nursing, Pharmacy and Allied Health — have more than 2,000 students pursuing bachelor, masters and doctoral degrees in health-related fields. Extramural funding in support of teaching, research and public service has more than doubled in the past 10 years to some $11.4 million in 1979.

Of major significance in the area of medical research is the recent opening of the Sanders-Brown Research Center on Aging, one of the first facilities of its kind in the nation. The building, made possible by a matching grant from the John Y. Brown, Jr. Foundation, will enable UK scientists and researchers to study the biological aspects of aging with the ultimate goal of improving the quality of life for the elderly.

School spirit is on a continuous high at UK. The 1979-80 cheerleading squad was judged the second best collegiate cheerleader in the nation. The Kentucky band receives standing ovations wherever it appears.

The University has had only eight presidents since its founding in 1865. Dr. Otis Singletary, now in his 12th year as UK president, is a history scholar and nationally-recognized university administrator. He came to Kentucky from Texas where he served as executive vice chancellor for academic affairs of the University of Texas system.

TERRY HALL

Head Basketball Coach

Arriving at the University of Kentucky after an impressive five-year stint at the University of Louisville, Terry Hall looks forward to the challenge of becoming women's basketball coach at UK. She brings with her substantial experience in various levels of women's sports.

Hall, the Cardinals' first full-time women's basketball coach, compiled a 79-53 record at U of L. She directed all aspects of the Louisville program, including scheduling, recruiting, preparing the budget and supervising the athletes' housing. Last season she guided the Cardinals to their first Metro Conference championship and a 17-17 record, defeating highly respected Memphis State in the pre-season tournament finals.

Her 11-year coaching career began at Butler High School in Louisville. Her first coaching assignment at the collegiate level was at Eastern Kentucky University. In addition to her coaching duties, Hall is the chairperson of both the Southern Region II Sports Committee and the KWIC Division Basketball Committee. Earlier this year she was nominated to the National Basketball Committee and the Outstanding Young Women of America.

Hall graduated from Indiana State University in 1966 with a degree in Health and Physical Education. She earned a Master's degree in P. E. from Eastern in 1974.

UK Cheerleaders

What's Number Two in the nation and Number One in the hearts of all Kentucky Wildcat fans? The unanimous choice is the University of Kentucky Wildcat cheerleaders!

The 1979-80 squad finished second behind Indiana State in the National College Cheerleading Championship held in Los Angeles.

The competition was broadcast nationwide last spring on network television.

The UK cheerleaders are practicing a "new look" for the 1980 basketball season. Because of Southeastern Conference regulations restricting cheerleader routines, the Wildcats will be building smaller pyramids but creating more entertaining and crowd-pleasing routines.

New this year to the squad is the UK Wildcat, Ralph McBarron, a senior majoring in marketing from Louisville.

This season's spirited squad includes eight persons from last year's championship team, plus six newcomers.

Sports Information

Russell Rice was named sports information director at U.K. in May, 1969, after serving two years as assistant to Ken Kuhn, who retired after more than two decades of service with the University. Rice came to the Wildcats from The Lexington Leader, where he was a general reporter eight years and sports editor five years. A native of Paintsville, Ky., he won letters in football, basketball and baseball at Van Lear High, served with the U. S. Marines in World War II, attended Kentucky Wesleyan College and received his bachelor's at the University of Kentucky in 1951.

He has served as manager of the NCAA Mid-East Basketball Tournament (1969), and chairman of the Basketball Hall of Fame Committee of the College Sports Information Directors Association and was recipient of the 1971 Churchmen's "Sportswriter of the Year" award.

As a newspaperman, his duties ranged from agricultural hearings in Washington to spending three months as the traveling companion to a Kentucky gubernatorial candidate. He reported the activities of such Wildcat teams as football coach Charlie Bradshaw's "Thin Thirty" and "The Runts" of basketball coach Adolph Rupp. He is a former Kentucky area correspondent for Time - Life - Fortune magazines and was Kentucky editor of Tobacco Magazine and Religious News Service.

For the past 13 years, he has pursued a hobby of researching Kentucky basketball and football. He authored "The Wildcats: A Story of Kentucky Football," and "The Big Blue Machine: A Story of Kentucky Basketball." His latest work is the Kentucky portion of a "History of the Southeastern Conference." He edits the K-Men's Newsletter and has been named an honorary member of that organization. He also was honored by WAVE-TV for "Outstanding Contribution to Televised Sports." He was the first member of the Southeastern Conference Publicity Directors Association to be elected to a two-year term (1977-78) and recently completed his second year as president of the Blue Grass (Kentucky) chapter of the U. S. Harness Writers Association, which was organized in 1977.

He is married to the former Doris Thacker of Knott County. They have four children — Mrs. Rodney Morris of Louisville, Mrs. Mike Covington of Georgetown, Russell James and Kim of Lexington.

Randy Stacy Assistant Sports Information Director

Randy Stacy joined the sports information staff August 25, 1980, after serving as Sports Information Director at Tennessee Tech. A native of Knott County, KY, Stacy graduated from Carr Creek High School, where he was class valedictorian, and earned a bachelor's

A native of Lynch, Ky., Koier graduated from Lynch High School and spent eight months as a sports reporter for the Harlan Daily Enterprise before attending the University of Kentucky and receiving a B.A. in journalism in 1976. After a year with The Courier-Journal, she was a sports reporter and columnist for The Herald-Leader from 1977 until January, 1980.
