The Spirit of Fraternities

I, the Spirit of Fraternities, represent among the students a symphony of high purpose and helpfulness in which there is no discordant note. It is my purpose to train men and women to live constantly above snobbery of word or deed; to place scholarship before social obligations, and character before appearances; to work earnestly, to speak kindly, to act sincerely, to choose thoughtfully that course which occasion and conscience demand; to be manly and womanly always; to be discouraged never; in a word, to live their lives faithfully and earnestly according to the highest and noblest teachings.

Resolved that students living at Woodland be prohibited from visiting at each others rooms after 6:00 P.M. during study hours. (1869)

The University was in financial trouble because the stock they invested in wasn't paying dividends. (1873)

The Paddock Restaurant, done in race track motif, is one of several after dance rendezvous. Sandwiches, hamburgers and waffles are common choices of food. Milk is also in high esteem. (1939)

"Only in winter does it swell to the proportions of anything like a lake. Students in the fall are greatly disappointed to find nothing but a morass, instead of (as they thought) a sparkling surface of water dotted with sails." One of those misled was the new dean of the Education Department, who arrived at the college with his boat in 1909. He stored it at Miller Hall for years.

Varsity Basketball

By Daniel Goodman

COACH RUPP

Facing the prospects of a somewhat dubious season as a result of a large loss of basketball material by graduation in 1930, and as a result of the introduction of the new fast break system to the boys of Kentucky, the netmen of the varsity basketball squad fought their way through one of the most successful seasons in many years, to climb to the finals of the southern conference tournament only to lose one of the most heart-breaking games ever played on the hardwood to the University of Maryland by a score of 29 to 27. Fighting their way throught a total of fourteen games, ten of which were with southern conference teams, the Wildcats emerged from the season with only two losses, one being against a team which at another time was defeated by the 'Cats, while the team which downed the Kentucky men for the other loss failed to go as far in the tournament as did the Wildcats.

The Kentucky quintet adapted itself in creditable fashion to the new fast break system used by Coach Adolph Rupp, and, winning favor from sports writers throughout the South during the season, with Captain Carey Spicer leading southern scorers, succeeded in placing three of its men on the Associated Press' first all-Southern team, after the tournament tilts. With George Yates, stalwart center, making himself almost the unanimous choice for the all-Southern center position, Louis 'Lil' McGinnis led his team mates and all others in the tournament for scoring honors, and Carey Spicer followed closely to capture third place. Jake Bronston, sturdy guard for the 'Cats, won much praise from critics of the game in the South, while Ellis Johnson, sophomore guard, who was prevented by injury from playing in the last games of the season, and Charles Worthington, another sophomore who became a regular guard in the last games of the season, displayed ability which marked them as worthy of the team which brought so much fame to the Blue Grass.

Bill Trott, another guard on the Kentucky five, proved a valuable man on the squad, while Darrell Darby and Aggie Sale, sophomore forwards, won much favorable comment, whenever called upon to aid the 'Cats in their fight for a conference victory.

OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR

FRANKFORT, KENTUCKY 40601

August 31, 1970

LOUIE B. NUNN
GOVERNOR

Dear Student:

As Governor and as father of two college students, let me extend a personal welcome to you in the beginning of this new academic year.

Kentuckians are proud of the responsible manner in which almost all of our students have responded to contemporary issues and problems. Our confidence in the young is reflected in the unique opportunities that have been afforded for youth participation in public affairs -- 18 year old voting; age of majority for 18 year olds; student representation on public college governing boards; student membership on state environment regulatory agencies; legislative and administrative intern programs.

However, incidents here and across the country now threaten the peoples' confidence in the young. As a result, public attention and concern will certainly be focused on the campus this fall.

Traditionally, the university has been one of the primary means for promoting human progress in an enlightened, reasoned manner. It is crucial that our institutions of higher learning continue to be equal to this challenge.

All of us must be concerned that disruptive and violent action on the campus may encourage a public and legislative backlash that could drastically affect the academic freedom we cherish. Furthermore, such a response could seriously undermine our ability to maintain the secure financial base which we have worked so hard to establish for public higher education in Kentucky.

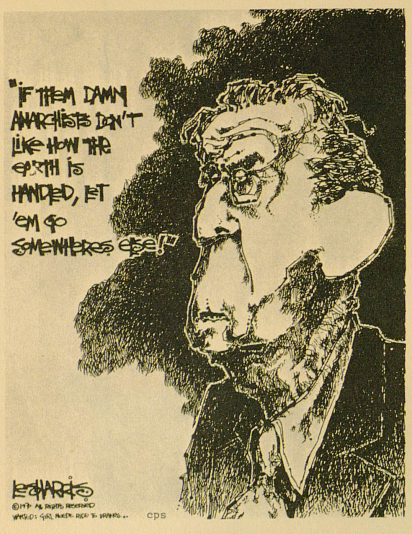

You have a personal responsibility to make sure this does not occur. I know you will want to be among the vast majority of responsible students who are working constructively to build a better future and to make sure that our colleges and universities continue to fulfill the educational purposes for which they were established.

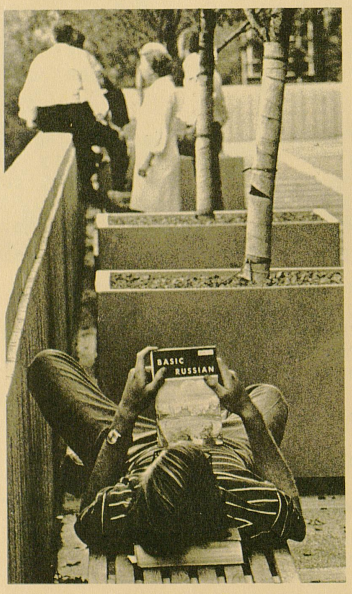

You have my very best wishes for a productive and enjoyable year.

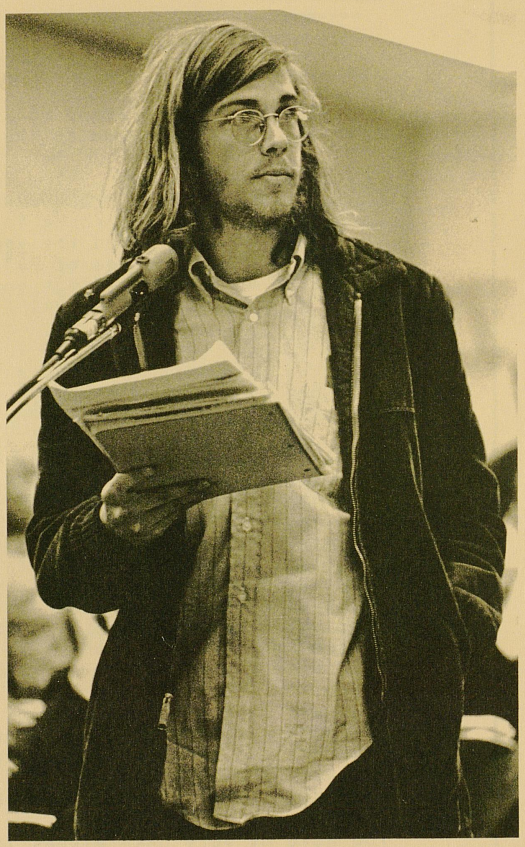

Sincerely,

Louie B. Nunn

REVOLUTIONARY MANDATE 1

These are not the times
to take your friends for granted to assume that they will always be there

They may not be

and if you wait
until the next time
to tell them that they are very special to you

you may wait until someone calls you and says that
So-and-so's body was found beneath the bricks of a dynamited building, or
So-and-so was shot while he slept.

therefore,
it is hereby mandated (by the poets and artists and musicians, who are responsible for the spirit and soul of the revolution)
that when you finish this poem,

you are to call your brothers sisters
and in your own way
make them know that you love them.

Let them know.

Five minutes from now
you may never have the opportunity again.

It went by quickly, actually, this time spent at UK.
We look to the bigger and better with joy, and yet,
with longing back to the time when all we had to do was try to learn.
The creating, the flashes of insight, the dancing, parties, running around in the grass,
the blinding dates, taking time off because no one cared but ourselves,
growing in experience and feeling — we touched it all,
and each other.
We found tragedy, because life became more precious,
and happiness for the same reason.

It could have been another place, but we did it here . . .

"Among those principles deemed sacred in America, among those sacred rights considered as forming the bulwark of their liberty, which the government contemplates with awful reverence and would approach only with the most cautious circumspection, there is no one of which the importance is more deeply impressed on the public mind than the liberty of the press.

That this liberty is often carried to excess; that it has sometimes degenerated into licentiousness, is seen and lamented, but the remedy has not yet been discovered.

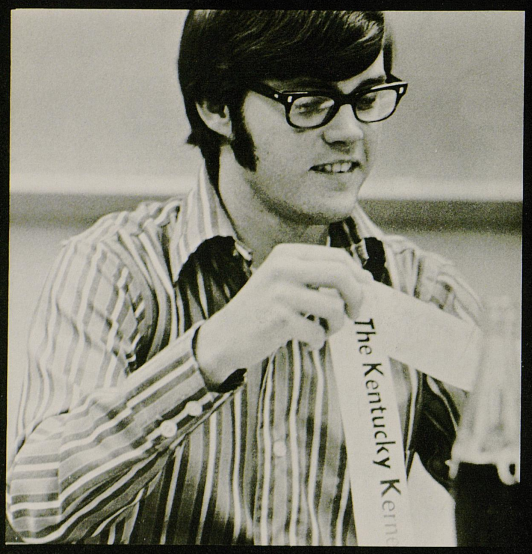

Perhaps it is an evil inseparable from the good with which it is allied; perhaps it is a shoot which cannot be stripped from the stock without wounding vitally the plant from which it is torn. However desirable those measures might be which might correct without enslaving the press, they have never yet been devised in America."

DIRECTIONS

Equipment for game
- 4 tokens
- 1 DIE

INSTRUCTIONS: 2-4 players

To determine order of play, each player rolls the die — the highest number goes first, and so on.

Both blocks and figures count one space.

A roll score of 1 to 4 advances that token the number shown on the die.

If the player rolls a 5 he must go back one space; a roll of 6 means he goes back 2 spaces.

If caught cheating, player is suspended.

All players start at figure one — Freshman Dorms.

Game is over when first person graduates.

Player's final roll to graduate must be the exact number of spaces needed to get to Memorial Coliseum to receive diploma and end game.

For best results "be in high spirits" when playing game.

Those of you who take the time, trouble and expense to actually go through the graduation ceremony are in for a let down.
You'll walk across the stage, wearing the hot, oversized cap and gown and be handed---- a blank piece of paper.
Then your diploma will be mailed to you later this summer.
In the meantime cut out this handy, genuine do-it-yourself copy, courtesy of the Kentuckian.

If you could change anything here at UK what would it be and why?

"Although UK isn't a small university anymore and I realize the administrators want prestige for UK I wish they wouldn't let that go to their heads. A professor's ability to teach and identify with the students is the most important thing to consider when hiring and firing professors. I sure don't care how many books he's written."
