Kentucky's Leadership Committee

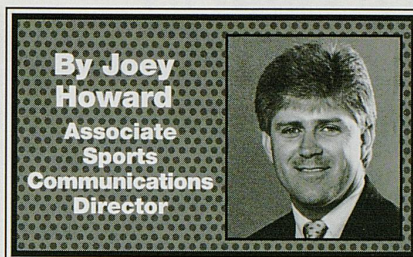

One of the most controversial subjects to enter into Division I-A football surfaced at Memphis State and South Carolina within the last month.

To refresh your memory, student athletes at both institutions staged a boycott of practice. The news accounts which appeared in Lexington cited two main reasons for the boycotts — 1.) Frustrations due to winless seasons and 2.) Internal problems directed toward the particular coaching staffs.

Suddenly, each Division I-A football-playing institution had to look in the mirror. Every head coach had to wonder just what could have been done to detect such incidents.

In the last few weeks, questions have been thrown at Kentucky Coach Bill Curry about the situations at Memphis State and South Carolina. And always, the one question to always came up — “What can you do as a head coach to predict player frustrations or internal team problems?”

Whether it was at his weekly press conference or on the weekly Southeastern Conference teleconference, Curry met the question head-on. His answer was simple:

“The Leadership Committee.”

You see, the University of Kentucky football program implemented the Leadership Committee during Curry's initial season as the Wildcats' head coach in 1990. It serves as the pulse of the entire team, not only scholarship players, but walk-ons as well.

“The leadership committee provides a strong, positive influence on our team,” said Curry, who had similar committees at Georgia Tech and Alabama. “It is a direct line of communication from our players to the head coach. We meet once a week during the season. The sole purpose of this committee is to bring matters of concern from the team directly to me.”

The first time Curry was involved with such a committee was during his first two years in the National Football League. Legendary Coach Vince Lombardi had already installed the same line of communication with his players in the middle 1960s. Then as president of the National Football Players' Association (1973-75), Curry served as the “voice” of the association in matters with the NFL and its owners.

At Kentucky, the Leadership Committee is made up of two players from each year to go along with two walk-on representatives. The representatives are selected by their teammates. The Wildcats' fifth-year representatives on the committee are strike Dean Wells and linebacker Reggie Smith. Others include linebacker Marty Moore (fourth-year), flanker Troy Hobbs (fourth-year), quarterback Pookie Jones (third-year), cornerback Don Robinson (third-year), split end Leon Smith (second-year), bandit David Snardon (second-year), safety Leman Boyd (first-year), strike Howard Carter (first-year), snapper/holder Travis Powers (walk-on) and wingback Matt Riazzi (walk-on).

No, the Wildcats' Leadership Committee does not make Kentucky immune to problems that practically every other Division I-A team might encounter. But to measure the “true” pulse of the team, is there a better way than Kentucky's Leadership Committee?

TEACHERS FOR TOMORROW

Hitachi and the College Football Association Join Hands to Support Teaching in America

“Without teachers there would be no scientist, doctors, lawyers, dentists or any teachers,” says Lindsay Elston, a fifth-grader at Albert Farine Elementary School in Iving, Texas. “Without teachers we would be nothing.”

A world without teachers is unthinkable. But a lingering recession, cuts in financial aid and uncertain career prospects have caused a shortage of students entering the teaching profession. There is an urgent need to recruit highly skilled educators. Hitachi and the College Football Association are challenging America's talented student-athletes to help reverse this trend.

At today's half-time celebration, a tribute will be paid to the merging of sports and education by announcing the “Hitachi Promise of Tomorrow” scholarship. A $5,000 check will be awarded to a deserving senior or graduate student football player, manager or trainer who is pursuing studies in education. A total of $335,000 in teaching scholarships will be given during the 1992-1993 academic year, making this the largest corporate supported scholarship program associated with college football.

The program, developed by the CFA and underwritten by Hitachi, Ltd., is based on the belief that both football and education strive for excellence. Both require leadership, teamwork and discipline. Nowhere are these qualities more evident than on the playing field today. And nowhere could these same qualities be put to better use than in the classrooms of tomorrow.

The rewards of a program such as this are as great as our children's future. In the words of 7-year-old Peter Woods, a first-grader at the Bronxville School in New York: “My teacher made me realize life is the joy of learning.”

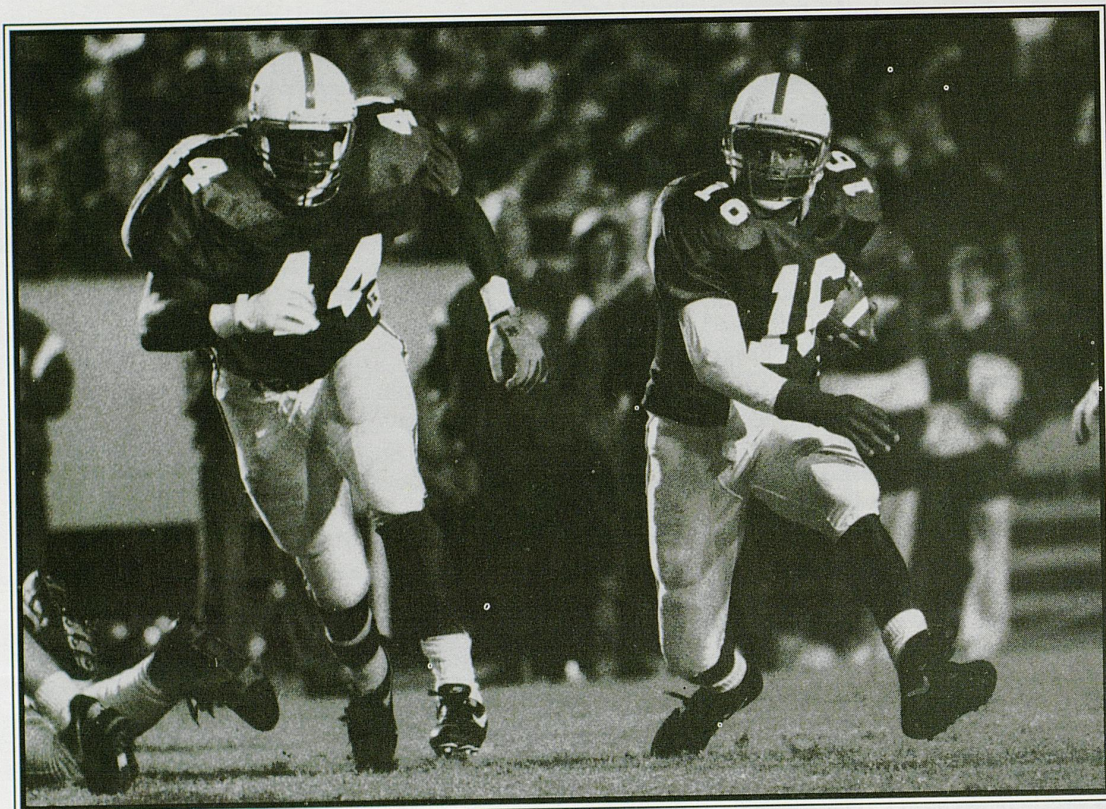

The thoughts of our children on the value of a great teacher in society are mirrored in the words of the American historian Henry Adams, who said: “A teacher affects eternity; he can never tell where his influence stops.”

It is with this sense of vision that “Hitachi Promise of Tomorrow” is endowed. The talented young people who choose to go from playing field to classroom will have the opportunity to guide the next generation of students in realizing the promise of tomorrow.

Why not? As if from one of the coach's dreams, Kentucky's offense won the day. And what if the much-improved defense had a below-average outing? LSU only had the ball 19 minutes, hardly enough time to do any damage.

In all of Kentucky, there is but one Bill Curry. Some may approach his measure of optimism in the concerns of UK football, but none can boast his singular vision, his blueprint for the program's fortunes.

Even the most optimistic of fans sometime find their vision clouded by events like lengthy strings of road losses or mangy wins eked out over the likes of South Carolina at home.

But Curry remains unchanged in his resolve, the Eternal Flame of Kentucky Football. Win or loss, ugly or beautiful, nail-biter or blowout, his vision is always crystal clear 20-20.

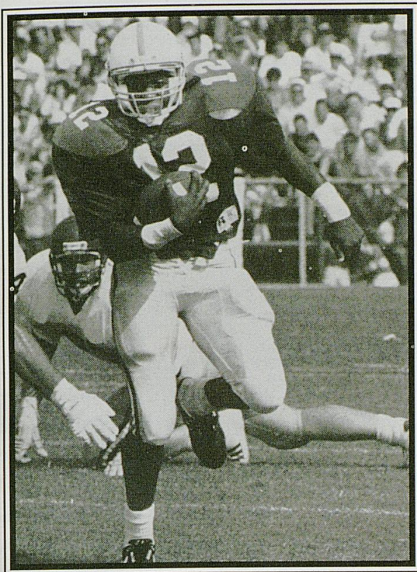

This week everyone has something to boast about — the first SEC road win in quite a spell, a 4-2 record, a real chance to echelon in the East division of the SEC, and that will be tough."

The baddest Bulldog in the East invades Commonwealth Stadium tonight with teeth gleaming and gums salivating over the division crown which is within its grasp. Georgia has fallen only once this year and can't afford another loss, as tight as this season's race has proved to be.

Ray Goff's team has reason to believe that won't happen. A renaissance of sorts has occurred in Athens, and the confidence of a rejuvenated offense and crunching defense has won over players and fans alike.

The Bulldogs have hunkered down in the national polls all season, and are marching steadily forward.

Scatback Garrison Hearst, quarterback Eric Zeier and wide receiver Andre Hastings have been Georgia's prime movers. Hearst has lit up the conference, and the nation, for 1,061 yards through seven games. More impressive is his 8.2 yards-per-carry average while rushing a grueling 19 times per outing.

Zeier runs the attack with the aplomb of a senior, though he is only a sophomore, and has passed for almost 1,400 yards thus far. His favorite target, Hastings, has snagged 27 tosses for nearly 19 yards a catch.

THE LAST MEETING

1991 in Athens. Georgia won, 49-27
Game Recap:

Georgia's freshman quarterback Eric Zeier threw for 302 yards and two touchdowns to lead the Bulldogs to victory over the Wildcats in their last meeting. After a topsy-turvy first half, Georgia sat down with a 35-20 advantage. Kentucky sliced the lead to 8 in the third quarter behind Pookie Jones, who hit 10 of 12 passes on the day for 120 yards and two scores. But the Wildcats would get no closer, and finally fell, 49-27.

THE STORYLINE

Kentucky (4-2) has been energized by its road win against LSU last week, and needs an upset today to step to the front of the SEC East division race.

Georgia (6-1) is well on its way to a major bowl bid and cannot afford a stumble this evening.

is the meager 11.6 points it surrenders per game. Outside linebacker Mitch Davis, tackle Greg Jackson and free safety Greg Tremble lead the pulverizing defensive squad.

This is a team that leaves precious little margin for error.

"(Georgia has) really picked it up a lot in the last couple of years and they gave us a terrible time last year so we better work hard," said Curry.

That shouldn't be a problem considering the magnitude of tonight's game.

And, one might argue, there is one other factor at work. Kentucky seems to have Georgia's number in Commonwealth stadium over the past few years, if you believe in that sort of thing. Two years ago, Doug Pelfrey hit a 32-yard field goal with seven seconds remaining to snatch a 26-24 win over Georgia. In 1988, Kentucky came from behind to topple the 11th-ranked Bulldogs, 16-10.

Nice memories, to be sure. But even Curry the idealist gives way to Curry the realist in these matters. Yesterday's win doesn't ensure a win today, he'd tell you. Performance does, and execution, and heart.

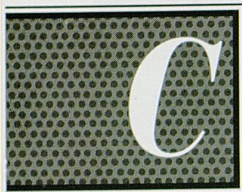

That's the vision, win or lose.

As All-American As...

Placekicker Doug Pelfrey is living a dream, but it's all true

BY MARK BUERGER
Host Communications

Commitment — the life of any college athlete is filled with it. Commitment to the team, to conditioning, to the classwork. An athlete's level of commitment, and ability to live up to that commitment, determine the athlete's success — both on and off the field.

How about playing one of the most pressure-packed positions in sports — placekicker — and changing classwork to graduate school...no, let's try Dentistry. No one could possibly do it all — right? Wrong.

This season, senior kicking star Doug Pelfrey does handle it all well, and that's not the end of it. He does it with as relaxed a demeanor as you would expect to find in a career college student, not a top-notch varsity athlete who finished his undergraduate work in just three-and-a-half years.

Pelfrey and his widely acclaimed foot literally exploded onto the SEC scene in 1990 when he booted a 32-yarder in the final seconds to beat Georgia, 26-24, in Commonwealth Stadium. The kick also earned him a scholarship.

That day against Georgia may have been the true beginning of Pelfrey's storybook career in Kentucky Blue. Certainly he had written a significant introduction, launching a 50-yard field goal on his first college attempt, but the Georgia game truly started Pelfrey on his walk-on-makes-good-and-becomes-a-superstar roll.

Walking on may have been the most difficult part for Pelfrey to stomach. The three sport star for Scott High School in Taylor Mill, Ky., wasn't used to being the low man on the food chain.

"My first year (a 1988 redshirt season) I was very disappointed, because at Scott High School I played quarterback on the football team, point guard on the basketball team and in baseball, I had a role in every game. Whereas being a backup kicker at UK was like being on a deserted island. You're a nobody," explained Pelfrey. "It really put me in my place and I had to deal with it."

The adjustment from high school star to college backup was made even more difficult by frustration with Pelfrey's other UK athletic pursuit — baseball.

"I didn't get to play as much as I felt like I should. I was just kind of bitter about the whole situation, but I was excited to be here, because it had been a childhood dream to play for UK," said Pelfrey, who considered baseball his best sport.

The Edgewood, Ky., native abandoned his baseball career after that disappointing 1989 season to concentrate on football. He was voted best defensive walk-on in the spring of 1990. Oh, did I say defense? Pelfrey originally intended to play defensive back for the Wildcats. Oddly enough, it was his success as a kicker that ended that hope. After the Georgia game, he was told to hang up the defensive work.

Pelfrey added to his fairy tale in 1991. He showed incredible leg strength — hitting four tries from outside 50 yards. One of his two misses from over 50 yards came from a whopping 57 yards out. The other was a 50-yard miss into a 14-mile per hour wind.

Pelfrey's leg strength has never been in question. And, if you ask kicking coach Don Riley, neither has his dedication to the game.

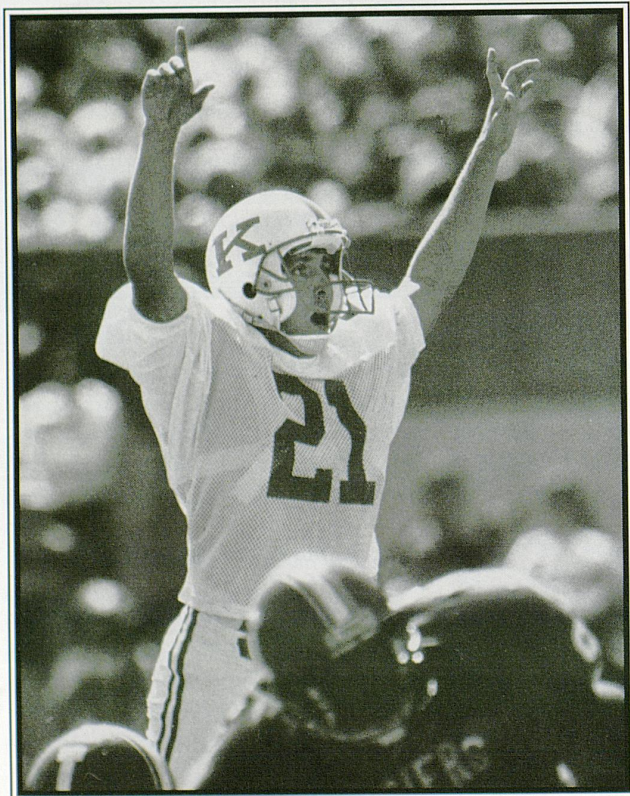

"He's got a lot of confidence in himself," says Riley, "and he's willing to work out his flaws. He knows he's not perfect, but Doug has that quality to concentrate, the ability to understand if he made a mistake why he made it and he'll adjust."

Pelfrey's kicking was only part of the story last season, however. He hit a 53-yard attempt as time expired to win the homecoming game against Cincinnati last year. On the same day his girlfriend, Carla Wilson, was named homecoming queen. It goes on. Now Pelfrey, the football star, and Wilson, the homecoming queen, are engaged to be married. Is this for real?

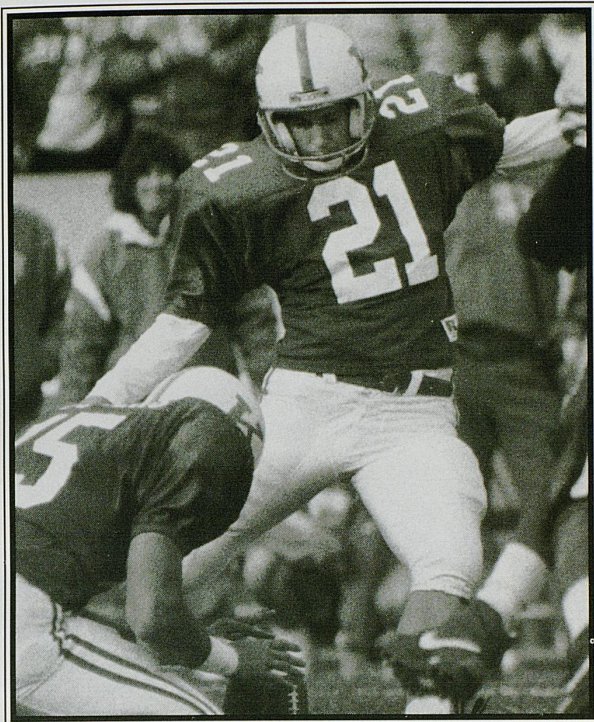

Pelfrey takes some ribbing for his All-American Boy story. He doesn't let it bother him.

"I try to take it all in stride," he says. "People always say that it kind of makes them sick," he continues, with a big smile crossing his face.

The story isn't over yet. It gets better. Pelfrey can add outstanding student to his Doug Pelfrey has hit from 50 or more yards out on seven occasions.

Pelfrey's kicking exploits earned him a spot on the 1991 All-SEC squad.

in baseball, placekicker can be a lonely position. Does the easygoing 22 year old let that bother him? Of course not.

"You have to be calm, but at the point of impact attack the ball," he explains. "It is a unique position. You can't get involved in the emotion. It's just important to stay within yourself, really."

One bit of emotion that Pelfrey does let himself get involved in is the youth of the Lexington area.

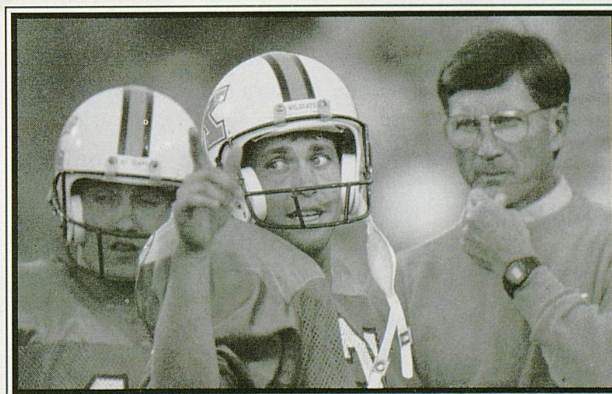

Dental school, football and community service — this is a joke right? Wrong. Pelfrey has found time around his other commitments to give a great deal of his time to local charities, especially those dealing with young people. It is something he feels very strongly about. And when talking to him about it, it's one of the few times that he's not smiling.

"I think it's really important for players to get involved with the community and especially with kids," he says with an unusually serious tone. "I always had certain role models to look for (among them former UK basketball player Troy McKinley) and with the world changing the way it is, you can't go to an elementary school without finding guns or something like that and it's just a joke."

Pelfrey is more than willing to help.

"There needs to be more positive role models out there."

Bill Curry looks to his senior placekicker when it's crunch time.

That's one of the reasons I play sports, so I can provide a positive role model for kids," he says, but he admits this brings even more responsibility. "I realize that kids are looking up to me now and that I have to be as perfect as I can in front of them." It's almost certain that the kids are more understanding than the radio-show callers.

OK, let's add up the score sheet — football star, engaged to homecoming queen, dental student and community service activist. Are you sure this guy is for real? The answer is yes. Talking to Pelfrey, there is never any doubt that he absolutely means what he says. He is just as comfortable talking about dentistry school and football as he is talking about his suburban Northern Kentucky hometown and the kids he grew up with. A conversation with Pelfrey is just short of a lecture on how college athletics works when it's done right.

Pelfrey's college football career ends at the close of this season. He says the last trip to the Commonwealth Stadium turf will be tough.

"I remember coming here as a 17-year-old, snot-nosed walk-on kicker," he says. "To have accomplished the things I have, and for my career to end the way it has is just incredible. There's a lot of fans here. It gets me kind of choked up just thinking of all the fans and how I'm going to be leaving Commonwealth Stadium. It's a shame it's ending so quickly but I've enjoyed every minute of it."

He still hopes that he and the Wildcats can write one more chapter for his storybook.

"I think the final chapter in my career here is going to a bowl game. I think we have every opportunity to go." If Pelfrey has his way, his field goal in the last second of the last game will seal the trip.

football and future-husband-of-the-homecoming-queen duties. And he's not just any outstanding student. Pelfrey, an All-Academic Southeastern Conference pick last season, finished his undergraduate work last spring. He is in his first semester at the UK College of Dentistry. Are you sure this is for real?

Pelfrey admits it's a struggle keeping up with both football and school.

"People in the dental school say they don't know how I do it and I really don't either. I have a calendar on my wall that I mark my classes," he says. Time constraints forced him to organize. "I have priority lists all over the place so I don't forget to do anything."

Success has added to the pressure on Pelfrey. In addition to regular football practice, games and a course load that includes Hystology, Embryology and Bio-Chemistry, fans expect him not to miss. After a missed 48 yarder against Mississippi, Pelfrey took a beating on a local call-in show — for a 48-yard miss? Fair or not, Pelfrey doesn't let the pressure bother him.

"I kind of thrive on pressure situations," he begins. "If the game is going to be decided, I want to decide it. The only pressure that's put on me is by myself."

Tailor-Made Tight End

Neil Page fit the suit — and the position — and now graces the starting lineup

BY MATT MASON
Host Communications

azing down onto the football field, watching Neil Page trod on the green turf, it's as though the tight end position was crafted especially for him.

He has the size. At 6-4 and 255 pounds Page can easily congregate with the linemen without looking like Jack surrounded by a field of beanstalks.

He has the hands. Neatly hidden by a pair of white gloves, Page's soft paws latch on to most every ball tossed his way.

And he has the attitude. Despite his reoccurring dreams of receiving glory, Page has little trouble shelving his pass catching visions and focusing instead on blistering the man who waits across the line.

For Neil Page, tight end is his home. "I really like tight end," Page says. "I like being on the offense. The offensive linemen are all my friends, and I can really fit in with them. I just found a spot. It has been really neat that I've found a position I feel so good about."

And coach Bill Curry couldn't be more pleased that Page hangs his hat at tight end. Says Curry: "He is a dominating personality. He knocks people off the ball. He blocks down on linebackers, and the first thing that hits the ground is the back of their headgear. The guys like that. He also catches the ball real well and runs good routes."

What Page finds so rewarding about his spot at tight end is two-fold. "You can stay big (at tight end), but you can still do the finesse things like catch passes," he says. "I get to run the ball some. You can be a big guy and get a lot of respect still from your size. You don't have to get down to 180. It's fun when you get about a six-yard run when you start and you're 250 and a guy 190 is trying to tackle you. You can buck them a little bit."

But lining up beside his friends at tackle has not always been Page's ultimate desire. In fact, until arriving at Kentucky, Page's passion was preventing scores, not trying to make them.

While attending Riverside Military Academy in Gainesville, Ga., Page led the Blue Devils in tackles as a senior and was the team's Most Valuable Player his junior year. This is not to say the defensive huddle held Page's exclusive rights. He also took plenty of snaps at running back, rushing for nearly 1,300 yards in his final two seasons. But the backfield is not where Page belonged, and college coaches knew it. Recruited by the likes of Clemson, North Carolina, North Carolina State, Florida and Kentucky, Page's suitors saw the linebacker in this Roswell, Ga., native.

So, linebacker it would be, and after some healthy deliberation Lexington, Ky., would be his new home. But Page's linebacker face was soon reshaped. "At the start of my freshman year, they moved me right to tight end. Me and Terry Sanders," Page recalls. "I remember I was heartbroken because I wanted to play linebacker."

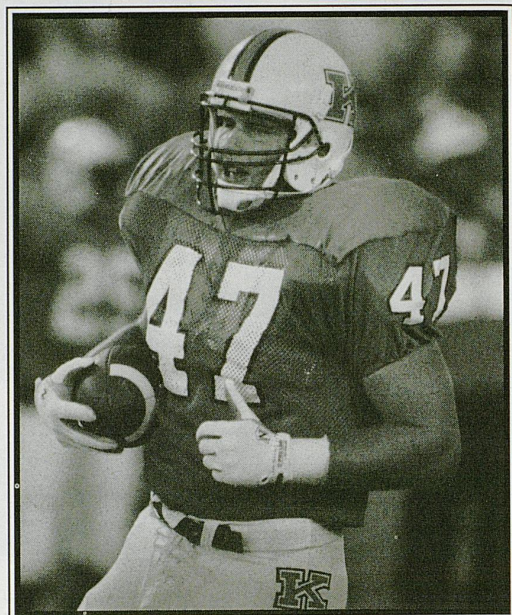

"But boy, it was just a great move. It turned out to be a position I love and I wouldn't go anywhere else on the field."

And that includes linebacker. "The big difference is a great play at linebacker is tackling a 230-pound running back running at full speed and that's not too much fun," Page says. "Catching a touchdown pass or making a big play like the one against Indiana, that's just the best feeling in the world."

Against the Hoosiers, Page caressed the longest pass of his four-year career, a 36-yard aerial. But the endzone was not at the end of his long road. Nor has he yet to hit paydirt in his fine collegiate career. A fact that does tease somewhat at Page's noggin.

"I need one of those (touchdowns)," Page says, grimacing. "I have been inside the five about four times. It is real frustrating, but I am going to get one this season."

Frustration over reaching the endzone, however, hardly compares to the mental anxiety caused by Page's first two seasons. After seeing action in seven games as a freshman, Page looked at UK's roster for his sophomore campaign and saw five senior tight ends listed before him on the depth chart. A redshirt appeared to be headed straight for Page's new fall wardrobe, and he entertained some thoughts about ending his football career.

"There was just so much pressure (early on in college), I just didn't handle it well. I was so young. I didn't know anybody on the team. I was from out of state. I wanted to quit at times, because I would get in there and I wasn't sure. I learned a lot from it, not to get so pressured up over everything. I really think that helped me a lot. Since I've been here, my freshman year has helped me out the most."

But injuries and improved play moved Page up the charts as a sophomore, and the rest, as they say, is history. Each Saturday, Page, a two-year starter and well-qualified All-SEC candidate, lines up at a spot he relishes and proceeds to do what the Cats need done to win — blocking or catching.

Scouting The Bulldogs

BY JAI GIFFIN
Host Communications

A year ago, coaches and players tagged the 1991 season as the mission of "Operation Turnaround." Georgia won nine games and re-established itself among the list of invitees for holiday bowl parties. The mission was launched successfully but now the remainder of the job is being carried out by this year's Bulldog team.

Georgia entered the 1992 season with a team of youngsters who benefitted greatly from "Operation Turnaround." Despite returning some young marquee players, the Bulldogs entered the season enduring the loss of 16 seniors — the most significant loss since 1988. Graduation especially took its toll on the defense. Among the players lost were all-SEC linebacker Dwayne Simmons and three-year starting linebacker John Allen, along with three of four secondary starters.

But, the Bulldogs have mended the holes left by last season's departures and have been among the Southeastern Conference leaders through the first half of the 1992 season.

OFFENSE

Behind sophomore quarterback Eric Zeier, the Bulldogs boast one of the most explosive offensive attacks in the conference. Zeier, who didn't receive his first starting assignment until the sixth game of last season and then went on to set school records for most pass completions (159), pass attempts (286) and passing yardage (1,984), has put fear in the eyes of many defensive backs this season.

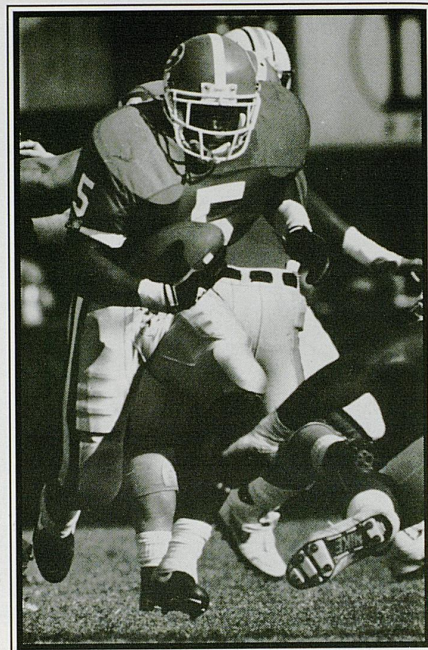

In 1992, Zeier has compiled two of the top three passing performances in school history with 354 yards against Tennessee and 327 yards against Ole Miss. He owns three of the four 300-yard passing games in school history and five of the top 10 passing efforts by a Bulldog.

His favorite target is flanker Andre Hastings. Having caught a Bulldog record-breaking 48 passes last season, Hastings is having another spectacular season. Against Tennessee his 269 all-purpose yards (150 receiving, 85 punt return, 34 kickoff return) was the fifth-best total in school history. But Hastings is not the only receiving threat the Dogs possess. Tight end Shannon Mitchell, the team's third-leading receiver last year, and Brian Bohannon can also provide very good options.

Much of the burden has been placed on the shoulders of scatback Garrison Hearst. Hearst, who some Bulldog coaches compare to Herschel Walker, can do it all. This season he ran for four touchdowns against Cal-State Fullerton and caught a 63-yard touchdown pass against Ole Miss. The junior has already accounted for more than 10 touchdowns and has already surpassed the 1,000-yard mark this season.

DEFENSE

With many new faces filling holes on defense this season, the Dogs have banded together to become one of the stingiest groups in the SEC, giving up less than 300 total yards a game to opponents.

Although the defensive line of Tom Wallace, Casey Barnum and Greg Jackson provide an intimidating wall for opposing runners, the strength of the defense is its linebacking corps. All-SEC candidate Mitch Davis, who is also on the preliminary list of candidates for the 1992 Butkus Award, which recognizes the nation's outstanding collegiate linebacker, is the leader of the pack. Freshman Randall Godfrey and junior Carlo Butler are also capable of making the big play.

The secondary began the season short on both numbers and experience, which compelled head coach Ray Goff to make several adjustments. Returning strong safety Al Jackson provides plenty of leadership and experience, while junior college transfer Greg Tremble has stepped in to a starting role at free safety and is among the Bulldog leaders in tackles this season. Chad Wilson, who was moved from wide receiver last spring, and Charles Pledger provide support on the corners.

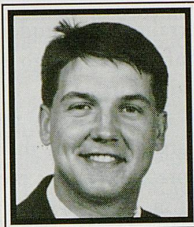

Scatback Garrison Hearst can do it all for the Bulldogs.

Behind The Scenes: Trainers

UK's training staff helps the Wildcats overcome the game's hard knocks

BY BRANT WELCH
Host Communications

hen little boys get hurt playing football in the backyard there is one person they'll usually run to — Mommy.

When a University of Kentucky football player gets hurt his mother isn't hanging around on the sidelines at Commonwealth Stadium or the E.J. Nutter Center practice field. So they pay a visit to the ones who can come closest to emulating their mother's care. They take a stroll into the training room in the Nutter Center to see the UK training staff.

"In layman's terms we are Mom, Pop, babysitter, nurse and maid," admits head trainer Al Green, who is in his 13th year at Kentucky.

"We oversee the prevention, treatment and rehabilitation of athletic injuries. It's a catch-all place. We do many things. We are involved in many different aspects of the football team."

Head coach Bill Curry said he has been impressed with his training staff and thinks they do an excellent job of helping his team.

"On a day-to-day basis, our training staff does as good a job with our athletes as anyone in the country," Curry says.

"I have been extremely impressed with our medical staff, headed by Al Green. Our staff has an excellent rapport with our players and that's important."

The training staff consists of many people who work hard to keep the student-athletes healthy and ready for gridiron action.

Green's primary responsibility is football, but he oversees 18 other sports at UK.

He is not alone in performing his training duties. A large staff aids him. Sue Stanley is the associate trainer in her 10th season at UK. She mainly works with the football players, but she also helps with many other sports. Assistant trainers Jo Ann Hauser and Walt McCombs also are available to help heal the players' wounds. UK has six graduate assistant trainers and 26 student trainers. So student-athletes have plenty of people to go to with their physical ailments.

A typical day for Green and his staff is grueling, to say the least. During two-a-day practice sessions the trainers will arrive at 6 a.m. They will sit down and tentatively plan their day. The football players will roll in for their treatments and evaluations before their morning practice. When the players begin practicing the trainers have to be on the sidelines, ready in case something happens to one of the players. After practice, the players who have physical problems will again be evaluated and treated. When the players go to class the trainers must do their own homework. They head into the training room to catch up on their paperwork, file injury records and set up doctor appointments. The players then return in the afternoon and the process starts all over again, sometimes lasting well into the evening.

"By the time you get everything done it's 11:30 p.m. and it's time to go to bed and get up at 5:30 a.m. and start the whole thing again," Green says with a laugh. "We work about 13-14 hours a day, seven days a week."

As the hours indicate, the life of a trainer is not at all glamorous. Though trainers are vital to the success of a football program, you won't find them gracing the cover of Sports Illustrated.

"Being an athletic trainer is a background job," Green explains. "If you are in it for the money and the notoriety you are in the wrong profession."

The UK Trainers are always there to pick up a wounded Wildcat.

The pressure to keep the players in top shape can get pretty intense.

"There's stress in having to solve all the problems," Green continues. "You have to try to keep everyone ready and able to play for the upcoming game."

So why would someone want to become a trainer? Why go thru the long hours and the stress that comes along with it?

Green credits personal satisfaction from the job as his primary motivation.

"I enjoy it because I like working with the kids," he explains. "I enjoy watching and helping them grow and mature. And of course helping them through tough times, an injury, a psychological problem, a family crisis or whatever."

"When a player comes in and gives you a handshake, when they come in and give Sue (Stanley) a hug then you are compensated for your hard work."

Mark Higgs, former UK running back now with the Miami Dolphins, hasn't forgotten what Green and his staff did for him. When Higgs was at Kentucky he blew out his knee. The training staff helped Higgs successfully come back from an injury that has ended many a career. Higgs keeps in touch, which makes Green feel rewarded for the training staff's efforts.

"Any time Mark is in town he stops by and sees how we're doing," Green says.

"That makes you feel good. It's more personal satisfaction than a monetary or notoriety one."

"That is what makes you feel good when you go home at night, knowing that you have helped someone."

Homecoming '92

nder the banner "Homecoming '92: Where the Wildcats Are," a student committee has been busy preparing an exciting array of events which should have an appeal for all UK fans.

A Homecoming Parade begins at 6:30 p.m. Friday, Oct. 30, in the red lot of Commonwealth Stadium and proceeds to Memorial Coliseum for the traditional Wildcat Roar festivities. Parade grand marshal is head volleyball coach and assistant athletics director Kathy DeBoer.

Emcee for the Wildcat Roar, which starts at 7:30 p.m. in Memorial Coliseum, is Korean-born, Tennessee-raised comedian Henry Cho. Cho has performed regularly on the Tonight Show. Coach Bill Curry, team captains, the UK Marching Band and cheerleaders will lead the cheering.

An All-University tent will be set up from 5-7:30 p.m. before the Homecoming game with Mississippi State. Homer Ledford and the Cabin Creek Band will perform. ABC daytime soap opera star, David Ledingham, who plays Suede on "One Life to Live," will be at the tent. Ledingham will present an ABC scholarship at halftime, and the 1992 Homecoming king and queen will be crowned.

UK Student Bar Honored

The UK College of Law Student Bar Association has been named the Student Bar Association of the Year for the central region of the United States.

Doug Kemper, student bar president, LaGrange, said the chapter was cited for its public service work including fundraising efforts to benefit the American Heart Association and muscular dystrophy. The students also helped the college raise $40,000 to endow an "SBA Most Improved Scholar Award."

This year, the student bar is sponsoring a Homecoming 5-K run starting at 9 a.m.

Saturday, Oct. 31, at gate two of Commonwealth Stadium. Part of the proceeds from the run will help the students start a new pro bono legal clinic in the college.

Research At A Glance

Why do teens feel compelled to drink alcohol? That's a question UK psychology professor Greg Smith has answered as far as children in suburban Detroit are concerned. Now Smith is extending his study to children in eastern Kentucky to see if they feel the same way. Smith said some children in Detroit, before they take their first drink, "believe that alcohol can produce a variety of highly desirable, positive effects, so certain expectancies are already in place and determine, in part, what the real experience turns out to be. It becomes a kind of self-fulfilling prophecy."

Smith is collecting data from a study of 350 Mount Sterling students in grades one through six, and plans to start comparing the results soon.

Mel T And Vince D

UK's own Vince DiMartino had a close musical encounter with Mel Torme, who performed at the College of Fine Arts benefit concert Oct. 20.

Vince plays lead trumpet on Torme's recently released Christmas album, available at fine music stores everywhere. It is Torme's first Christmas album and the first time he has recorded the "Christmas Song" which he wrote. In case you don't recognize it by that name, the first line is, "Chestnuts roasting on an open fire..."

Calling Torme the "dean of traditional American male singers," Vince added, "He's very professional — he knows what he wants, and he knows how to get it."

Did he write that one, too?

Another Freedom Forum Scholar

Angela Jones, a junior from Paducah, has become the second UK student this year to receive a journalism-based $2,500 scholarship from the Freedom Forum. This is the fourth year Angela has won the award.

okay, so Alabama looks pretty indestructible in the West division of the Southeastern Conference. A trip by the Tuscaloosa Titans seems less likely each passing game.

None of this news, however, can lessen the Oscar-worthy drama unfolding in the East.

The shootout in Kentucky's division is sprinting toward a stirring climax in the coming weeks.

Georgia is still the frontrunner at 4-1, but with Kentucky today, Florida and Auburn still in the Bulldogs' dinner bowl, a case of heartburn could ruin the feast.

Tennessee has slipped twice, and has yet to meet South Carolina, Kentucky and Vanderbilt, all with spoiling on their minds.

Florida has gotten off to a slow start, and needs some help to earn a spot in the SEC championship game. Besides, with Georgia, South Carolina and Vandy still ahead, the Gators will have to fight to stop the losing at two.

Kentucky has Georgia today, with a chance to jump back into the race.

And Vanderbilt and South Carolina, well, to the spoiler go the victories.

Stay tuned, it should be interesting.

Bill Curry

UK Head Coach

One consistent detail has followed Bill Curry in the collegiate coaching ranks. Beginning with Georgia Tech, moving to Alabama and now at Kentucky, the theme has remained the same — program builder.

To some, those two words mean only a set number of victories on various Saturday afternoons sprinkled throughout the fall. To Kentucky's third-year coach, "program building" goes much deeper. It goes to the inner souls of young people and touches their every angle.

"I'd like to say that I'm a person that really likes to serve young people," said Curry. "It is my wish to have every single one of them be the best they can be in every aspect of their lives, and that certainly includes a championship football program."

Curry's football pedigree weighs heavily in his expectations of championship performance. After all, he did play and work under three of the most successful coaches the game of football has ever known — Bobby Dodd, Vince Lombardi and Don Shula.

Curry, 49, lettered three years (1962-64) as a collegian at Georgia Tech under Dodd and served as team captain his senior campaign. Dodd compiled an impressive 22-year record of 165-64-8, including Southeastern Conference titles in 1951 and

'52, at Georgia Tech.

After earning his bachelor's degree in industrial management from Georgia Tech in 1965, Curry began his professional career under Lombardi with the Green Bay Packers. He played on two Packer teams which won the National Football League title (1965-66), including the first Super Bowl Jan. 15, 1967. The legendary Lombardi guided Green Bay to five NFL championships in seven years during the 1960s.

Following the 1967 season, Curry was traded to the Baltimore Colts and eventually became All-Pro in 1971 and '72. His mentor for two seasons at Baltimore was Don Shula, who today is the winningest active coach in the NFL and has appeared in more Super Bowls (6) than any other coach.

Those credentials alone have made Curry the type of coach who understands what demands must be met in order to succeed.

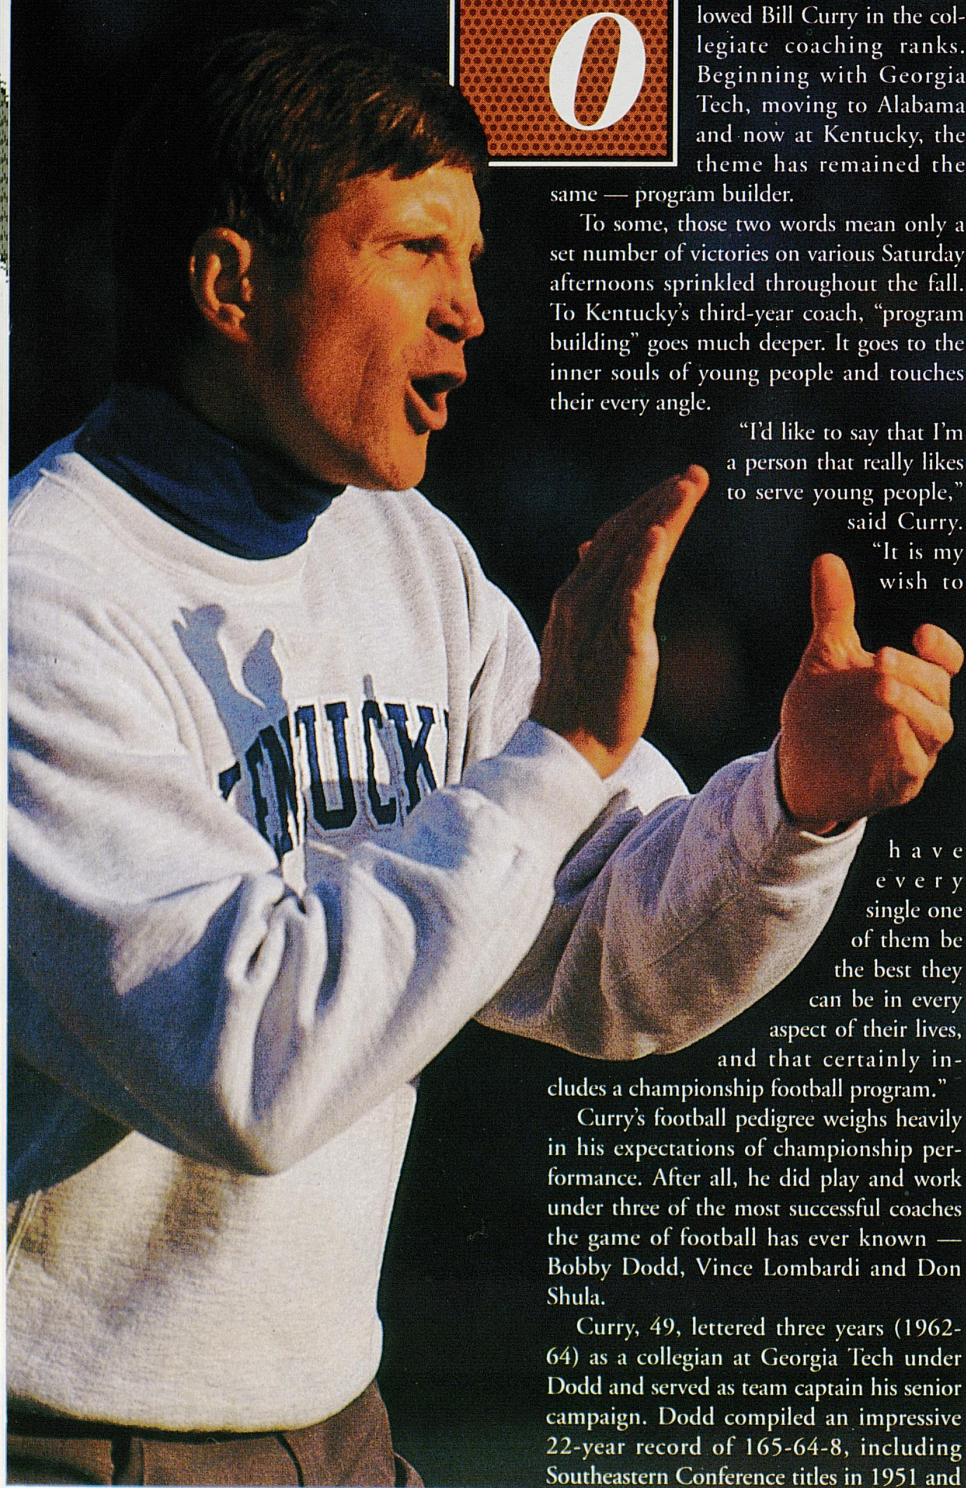

Indeed, those qualities opened the eyes of UK Athletics Director C.M. Newton when he began his search in December of 1989 to replace Jerry Claiborne, who stepped down after eight seasons with the Wildcats. But Newton took an interest in another side of Curry.

"William A. (Bill) Curry is recognized by many to be at the very top of his profession," said Newton during his introduction of Curry to the media. "He has been credited for dignity, class and integrity with which he conducts his football programs, both on and off the playing field."

Curry has that rare mix of both worlds. He came to Kentucky from the University of Alabama. His overall record of 26-10 at 'Bama was the Crimson Tide's most successful three-year total since Paul "Bear" Bryant compiled a 27-8-3 record in his final three campaigns (1980-82). In his last season, Curry led Alabama to a 10-1 regular-season mark and a share of the SEC title. He took three Crimson Tide teams to bowls — the 1987 Hall of Fame Bowl, the 1988 Sun Bowl and the 1990 USF&G Sugar Bowl.

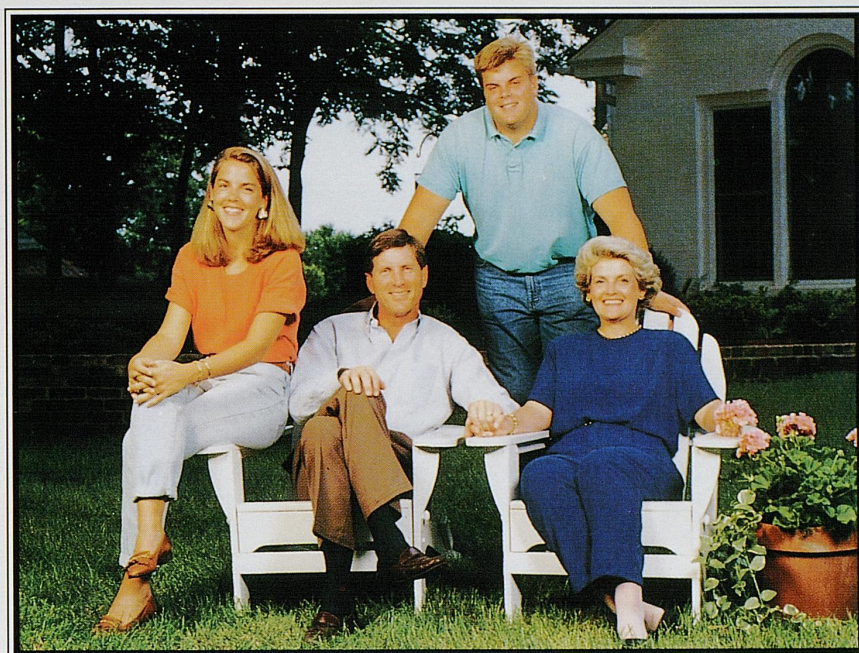

In all, Curry owns a 64-68-4 record in 12 seasons as a collegiate head coach.

Curry, a native of College Park, Ga., signed a scholarship with the Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets after a fine prep career at College Park High School. At Georgia Tech, Curry helped lead the Yellow Jackets to a 21-9-1 record and a Bluebonnet Bowl berth during his final three seasons.

Before his professional career was over 10 seasons later, Curry played at Green Bay (1965-66), Baltimore (1967-72), Houston (1973) and with the Los Angeles Rams (1974). Curry was a member of three Super Bowl teams and two National Football League Championship teams. A knee injury forced him to retire in 1975.

A year later, Curry was back at his alma mater as an assistant coach under Pepper Rodgers. Then in 1977, Curry returned to the pro ranks as an offensive line coach with the Green Bay Packers under former teammate Bart Starr. Curry answered Georgia Tech's call once again in 1980, this time as head football coach.

Facing a pair of daunting schedules, Curry and Tech turned in 1-9-1 and 1-10 records in 1980 and '81, before things began to change in 1982. During his final five years at Tech, Curry produced a 29-24-3 ledger which included a sparkling 9-2-1 season in 1985. The successful '85 campaign earned Tech an All-American Bowl bid and victory over Michigan State, 17-14. It was Georgia Tech's first bowl appearance since 1978.

Curry was named the 1985 Atlantic Coast Conference Coach of the Year by the Associated Press and ACC sportswriters, the 1987 SEC Coach of the Year by United Press International and the 1989 SEC Coach of the Year by AP and the Nashville Banner. Curry received a special honor after the 1989 season when he was named the Bobby Dodd National Coach of the Year, in honor of his former collegiate mentor.

Curry is a member of the NFL Former Players Advisory Committee and is serving his second term on the AFCA Ethics Committee. Last February, He was inducted into the Georgia Sports Hall of Fame.

Curry is married to the former Carolyn Newton of College Park, Ga. Carolyn has a Ph.D. in history and has taught at UK. They have two children — Kristin, 25, and Billy, 21.

academic year, a 32 percent increase over the previous year.

Academic Programs

Currently, there are 32 academic colleges and a graduate school. Students have a choice of 96 undergraduate majors from which to choose. The University is recommended in five publications for its value in providing higher education.

Research

UK ranks among the Top 100 research institutions in the nation, and is one of only 45 public universities in the United States — the only one in Kentucky — to be classified as a Research University of the First Class.

Medical Center

The Albert B. Chandler Medical Center, including a 461-bed hospital, is located on the campus in Lexington. More than 2,700 students are enrolled in its five colleges — medicine, dentistry, nursing, pharmacy and allied health professions.

Library

The UK Library System contains more than two-million volumes and is interconnected by computer with each of the 14 community colleges. The Library is ranked 53rd among all university research libraries in the U.S. and the University has announced plans to build a new $58 million state-of-the-art facility.

Sports

With the addition of men's and women's soccer last year, the current number of University of Kentucky sports on the varsity level is 19 — nine men's sports, nine women's sports and one coed sport. The men's sports consist of football, basketball, baseball, cross country, indoor/outdoor track, tennis, swimming, golf and soccer. For the women, UK sponsors basketball, volleyball, swimming, soccer, golf, tennis, gymnastics, cross country and indoor/outdoor track on the varsity level. The single coed sport is rifle.

rom its modest beginnings in 1865, when it was known as State College, the University of Kentucky has grown into one of the nation's most outstanding institutions of higher learning.

As a comprehensive land-grant university, UK offers an educational experience that cannot be matched anywhere in the Commonwealth. In fact, only a small number of institutions across the nation can offer the wealth of opportunities that awaits students at UK. At Kentucky, there is a Tradition of Value.

University History

UK was founded in 1865 as a land-grant institution, and the present name dates to 1916. The Lexington campus has 673 acres. Dr. Charles T. Wethington, Jr. is UK's 10th president.

Students

The University of Kentucky now has more than 70,000 students with 24,000 on the Lexington campus and 46,000 at the 14 community colleges across the state. UK now educates 38 percent of all students in Kentucky attending a public or private college or university. There are 5,000 students enrolled in graduate school with 92 master's and 57 doctoral programs offered.

Faculty

There are 1,658 full-time faculty on the Lexington campus and another 1,114 faculty in the community colleges. Faculty brought in $92 million in grants, contracts and gifts to the University during the last Thinking Caps.

Wildcat Football. It's hard-hitting, physical, competitive...and smart. On and off the field, the student athletes and coaches know that winning takes more than talent and physical effort. It takes mental preparation.

You have to anticipate the other team's moves. You have to plan your own offensive and defensive plays. And you have to learn how best to use your talents and abilities to reach your goals. It's this type of thinking that directs all your physical efforts into achieving success in football...and in business.

Southern States applies the same mental process in cultivating innovations to serve the constantly changing needs of our farm, home and garden customers in 131 Kentucky communities. Supported by 13 wholesale and manufacturing facilities across the state, our local dealer/store network is committed to delivering only the highest quality products and services. From GrowMaster® Crop Services to petroleum, from horse and livestock feed to pet foods, and from lawn care products to grain marketing, Southern States is continually thinking of new and better ways to serve you.

Southern States is proud to support the "thinking game" behind U.K. Football because success has always been something worth thinking about.

President of the University of Kentucky

r. Charles T. Wethington Jr. was elected the 10th president of the University of Kentucky on September 18, 1990.

Wethington began his career in higher education in 1965 as an educational psychology instructor on the Lexington campus of the University and two years later was named chief administrator of Maysville Community College. In 1971 he moved to Lexington as assistant vice president, becoming vice president of the Community College System in 1981.

In the University reorganization of 1982 he was named chancellor of the UK Community College system, one of the three major sectors of UK. In 1987 he was given university-wide responsibilities for public and governmental relations in addition to his community college role, and his title was changed to Chancellor for the Community College System and University Relations.

Wethington earned his master's and doctorate degrees at the University of Kentucky.

The Kentucky native has been active on the national higher education scene. He has been a member of the Executive Council of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools' Commission on Colleges, and served as its vice chairman in 1984. He served as a member of the Board of Trustees of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools from 1986 to 1989.

Wethington is a member of the Southern Regional Education Board and its Executive Committee and currently serves as vice chairman. He currently serves as vice president of the Southeastern Conference Presidents' group.

During 1957-61 he served in the U.S. Air Force Security Service. He studied Russian at Syracuse University, 1958-59.

Wethington is married to Judy Woodrow Wethington, from Danville. They have a son, Kennan, and a daughter, Lisa.

C.M. Newton

Director of Athletics

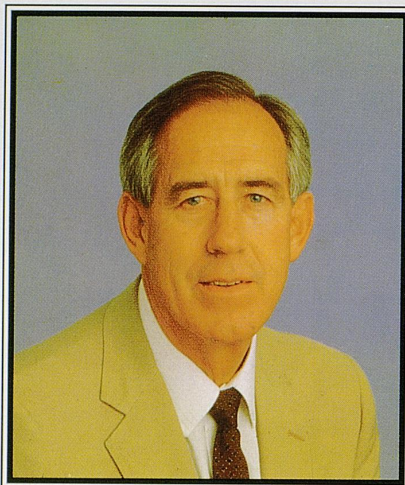

hen Charles Martin (C.M.) Newton became the University of Kentucky's seventh director of athletics April 1, 1989, he hit the ground running.

After a little more than three years on the job, Newton has become one of the most popular public figures in the Commonwealth of Kentucky. In addition to a lengthy, impressive list of credentials, Newton brought to Kentucky a sparkling reputation of integrity at a crucial time in the history of UK athletics. In accepting the position at his alma mater, Newton summarized his goals and objectives by saying, "I have a resolve to try very hard to continue that great tradition, and at the same time, to totally do it within the NCAA and SEC rules and not sacrifice the academic integrity of this University."

He capped an illustrious basketball coaching career by leading his 1988-89 Vanderbilt University squad to a 19-14 record, a second-place SEC finish and its second consecutive NCAA tournament appearance. He was named SEC Coach of the Year by the Associated Press and received the Kodak NABC District IV Coach-of-the-Year award.

Newton served as head basketball coach and associate athletics director at Vanderbilt (1982-89), compiling a 129-115 overall record. In 32 years of coaching at Transylvania, Alabama and Vandy, Newton compiled a 509-375 overall record, ranking him among the top 10 active coaches in the game in terms of total victories at the close of the 1988-89 season. Newton's Alabama teams won three consecutive Southeastern Conference championships and more games than any other coach in Crimson Tide history. He ranks second in career victories in Southeastern Conference games behind his mentor, Adolph Rupp.

Perhaps more impressive, however, was Newton's ability to produce winning teams that also possessed exceptional academic credentials. During Newton's tenure at Vanderbilt, 18 Commodores were named to the Academic All-SEC team — over 50 percent more than any other league school. And including his last graduating class, all 21 seniors received their diplomas.

Newton is highly regarded on the national level. He has served on the board of directors of the National Association of Basketball Coaches. He worked six years on the NCAA Basketball Rules Committee, serving as chairman for five years. He currently serves as vice president of USA Basketball, the nation's governing body for international basketball, and as chairman of its Games Committee, which is responsible for all international competition, including the Olympic Games.

Newton has literally circled the globe to promote basketball. He served as team manager — a combination coaching and administrative position — on the 1984 U.S. Olympic team that won the gold medal.

In 1983 and 1987, Newton took his Vanderbilt squads to the Republic of China (Taiwan) to represent the United States in the R. William Jones Cup International Tournament, winning the gold medal in 1983 and the silver in 1987. He has conducted coaching clinics in numerous countries.

After playing on the 1951 national champion Kentucky Wildcat squad and pitching in the New York Yankees' minor league system, Newton began coaching at Transylvania College (now Transylvania University) in Lexington.

In 1969, once again with the backing of Rupp, Newton took on the challenge of building the downtrodden Alabama basketball program. During his 12-year tenure, Newton orchestrated a turnaround in the Crimson Tide's basketball fortunes, compiling a 211-123 record.

With few horizons left to conquer at Alabama, Newton resigned at the end of the 1980 season to accept a job as assistant commissioner of the Southeastern Conference. A year later, when Vanderbilt athletics director Roy Kramer was searching for a coach of national stature to head the Commodore basketball program, Newton was the obvious man for the job.

Newton was born in Rockwood, Tenn. He grew up in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where he was eventually named a charter member of that city's Sports Hall of Fame, along with Chris Evert, Julius Boros and the late Brian Piccolo.

Newton and his wife, Evelyn, have three grown children — Martin, Deborah and Tracy — and four grandchildren.

LARRY NEW
Defensive Coordinator

Daryl Dickey is in his third season at UK. His responsibilities include coaching the UK quarterbacks and coordinating film exchange with opponents.

Dickey, 31, is in his fourth year as a collegiate assistant coach.

Most Kentuckians remember Dickey from his collegiate days as quarterback of the Tennessee Volunteers. In 1985, Dickey helped lead the Vols to a 9-1-2 record and the Southeastern Conference title. He was named most valuable player in the 1986 USF&G Sugar Bowl after engineering Tennessee's 35-7 victory over Miami (Fla.).

Following a brief stint with the San Diego Chargers of the National Football League, Dickey returned to his alma mater as a graduate assistant coach for two years (1987-88).

He then moved to Florida State, where he coached quarterback Peter Tom Willis during the 1989 season. Dickey helped Willis earn a No. 7 ranking nationally in total offense and passing efficiency while Florida State went 10-2.

Under Dickey, Kentucky threw for 2,151 yards in 1990 and 2,017 yards in 1991 — second and third, respectively, on the Kentucky season charts.

Bill Glaser is in his 16th season as an assistant football coach at the University of Kentucky and his 17th as a collegiate coach. His responsibilities include coaching defensive tackles and nose guards, coordinating special teams, and coordinating the annual Bill Curry Football Camp each summer.

Glaser, 49, came to Kentucky in 1977 from Morehead State. He has worked for three head coaches at UK — Fran Curci, Jerry Claiborne and Curry. Glaser was the only full-time UK assistant retained by both Claiborne and Curry.

After graduating in 1965 from Bellarmine College, Glaser began coaching at St. Xavier High School, his alma mater, as an assistant football and baseball coach. He was named head football coach in 1974 and led St. Xavier to consecutive state titles and a two-year slate of 25-0.

Glaser was named defensive coordinator at Morehead State in 1976, where he completed work on a master's degree. A year later, he moved to UK as defensive line coach under Curci. In the Claiborne era, Glaser coached the UK defensive guards.

Tommy Limbaugh is serving in his second season as assistant head football coach and his third campaign as football recruiting coordinator at UK. On the field, Limbaugh will serve as full-time assistant coach in charge of the tight ends.

Overall, Limbaugh enters his 18th year in intercollegiate athletics and his 10th season as a college assistant coach. He was the first member to be named to Curry's staff at UK.

The Wildcats recruiting under Limbaugh has gained national attention. In fact, the 1991 UK signee class rated 13th in the country by National High School Football Magazine (Max Emfinger). The 1992 class was rated 19th by the same publication.

Limbaugh comes to UK from Alabama, where he had been associate athletics director since 1988, after being named assistant AD the previous year.

The 1967 Alabama graduate got his start in the college football coaching ranks as an assistant to Steve Sloan at Texas Tech (1975-77). He then served as administrative assistant and recruiting coordinator during Sloan's next two stops — Ole Miss (1978-82) and Duke (1983-86).

Larry New is in his third season as defensive coordinator at Kentucky, his 28th coaching the college game. He also coaches field goal/block teams, inside linebackers and bandits, and serves as off-season conditioning liaison.

New came to UK from Alabama, where he was a defensive line coach for three years under Bill Curry.

He lettered two seasons (1962-63) as nose guard at Illinois. He helped the Illini to a 17-7 victory over Washington in the 1964 Rose Bowl.

New began coaching at Wheaton College as a defensive coordinator in 1965. After three years at Wheaton, New moved to the Division I level and joined Dan Devine's staff as defensive line coach at Missouri (1968-70), then worked with Frank Broyles in the same capacity at Arkansas (1971-74).

In 1975, New began a seven-year stint under Jim Carlen at South Carolina. New served as defensive line coach for the Gamecocks.

New joined Curry at Georgia Tech in 1982 as defensive line coach. He remained on Curry's staff through 1986 at Georgia Tech and for three years at Alabama before heading to the University of Kentucky in 1990.

Assistant Coaches

JOKER PHILLIPS
Wide Receivers

Joker Phillips begins his second season as an assistant coach at Kentucky. His responsibilities include coaching flankers and split ends, along with the kickoff return team.

Phillips, a 1986 graduate of Kentucky, was a four-year letterman as a wide receiver. During his career (1981-84), Kentucky appeared in the 1983 and '84 Hall of Fame Bowls. Phillips' best season was 1984, when he grabbed 28 receptions for 305 yards and five touchdowns. Currently, Phillips ranks sixth on the UK career reception list with 75 catches for 935 yards and nine touchdowns.

He played briefly in the National Football League and the Canadian Football League and was a member of the 1987 Washington Redskins team which won Super Bowl XXII.

Phillips began his coaching career as a graduate assistant coach at Kentucky (1988-89) under Jerry Claiborne and was responsible for the receivers. In 1990, he was named assistant recruiting coordinator under Bill Curry. He also worked with UK recruiting coordinator Tommy Limbaugh and coordinated the Wildcats' walk-on program.

RICK RHOADES
Offensive Coordinator
Running Backs

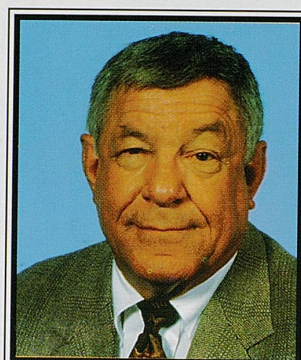

Rick Rhoades is in his second season as offensive coordinator and his third year at Kentucky. This is his 12th season in collegiate coaching.

After lettering four years in football and baseball at Central Missouri State, Rhoades, 44, embarked on a high school coaching career at Mountain Brook in Birmingham, Ala. His 1976 squad captured the state title with a 14-0 record.

In 1981, Rhoades moved to the collegiate level as offensive coordinator at North Alabama.

He moved to Troy State as defensive coordinator in 1983, before being named head coach at that school. His three-year head coaching stint produced an NCAA Division II national championship in 1987, earning Rhoades National Coach of the Year honors as chosen by the American Football Coaches Association and The Sporting News.

In 1988, Rhoades moved on to Division I-AA Southern Illinois at Carbondale as its head coach. A year later, he joined Bill Curry at Alabama as the offensive tackles and ends coach. The following year, he moved to Kentucky.

Offensive Line

Don Riley is in his first season as an assistant football coach at UK and 28th season in college football. In addition to directing the offensive line, Riley also coordinates the field goal/PAT teams.

The 1956 graduate of East Tennessee State comes to Kentucky from his alma mater, where he spent the past four years as head football coach.

Riley began his coaching career in 1956 as head football coach at his prep alma mater, Lynch High School. After three years, Riley moved to East Tennessee State for one year as a graduate assistant coach. After five more years in the high school ranks, Riley took an assistant spot at Vanderbilt in 1966. He accepted another assistant coaching job in 1972 at Oklahoma State.

In 1976, Riley began a 12-year stint as the offensive line coach at UCLA under Terry Donahue. He was part of the Bruin program which posted a 98-36-7 record during that span, including a 6-2-1 record in nine bowl appearances. When he left for East Tennessee State, Riley was the only assistant to remain from the original 1976 Donahue staff.

LOVIE SMITH
Strikes & Ends

Lovie Smith is in his first year as an assistant football coach with the Wildcats and his 10th season in college coaching. In addition to coaching strikes and ends, Smith, 34, also coordinates the punt return and punt block teams.

The 1980 Tulsa graduate comes to Kentucky from Arizona State, where he served four years as assistant coach under Larry Mamie.

Smith began his coaching career in 1980 as an assistant coach at his prep alma mater, Big Sandy (Texas) High School. After one season, Smith accepted a similar position at Cascia High School in Tulsa, Okla. In 1982 Smith worked as a teacher of special education in the Town and Country School in Tulsa.

In 1983 he joined the Tulsa football staff as outside linebackers coach. Smith remained at Tulsa for four seasons before following Don Morton to Wisconsin in 1987 and serving there as outside linebackers and kicking game coach.

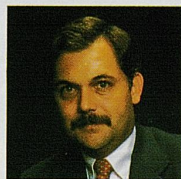

Smith was an exceptional linebacker in his playing days, earning all-state honors three times at Big Sandy and All-America accolades twice while at Tulsa.

New York Life is large, conservative, and dull. Reassuring in times like these, isn't it?

Things are a bit shaky these days in the financial world. Investors are getting a lot less adventuresome. And words like "stability" and "security" are coming back into vogue.

To some, of course, this is just the current economic trend. But at New York Life, we've had a conservative investment policy for 147 years.

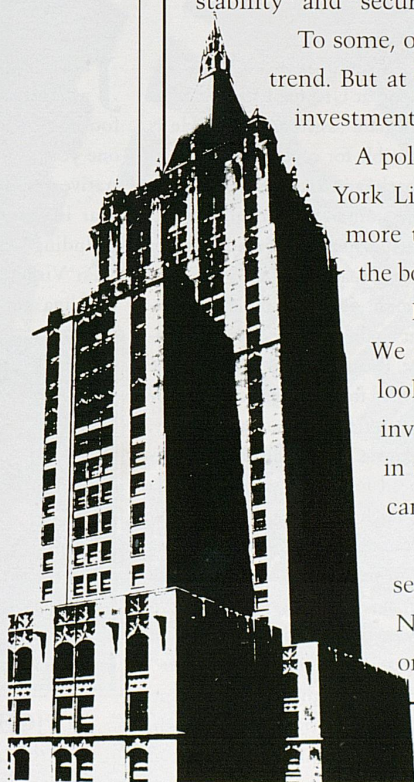

A policy that, over the years, has allowed New York Life to amass assets under management of more than $50 billion. And why 95 percent of the bonds in our portfolio are investment grade.*

Does that make us large and conservative? We should say so. And as for dull, well, we look at it this way: If being exciting means investing heavily in junk bonds that end up in default, that's the kind of excitement we can all do without.

Assistant Coaches

RICK SMITH

Defensive Backs

JACK FLIGG

Assistant Athletics Director/
Football Operations

Rick Smith is in his third season at UK, his 13th overall as a collegiate assistant coach. He is responsible for coaching the defensive backs and kick coverage teams.

He comes to Kentucky from Baylor, where he was defensive backfield coach for three years.

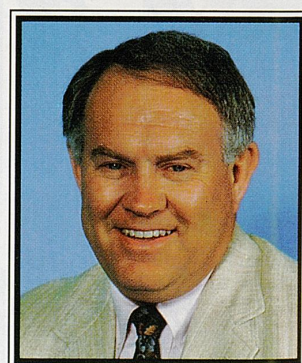

Smith, 44, began coaching football at Godbey High School in Tallahassee, Fla., in 1970, a year before he graduated from Florida State University. After three years at Godbey, Smith was named athletics director/head football coach at Wakulla (Fla.) High School in 1973.

Four years later, Smith served a year as head junior varsity football coach at Georgia Tech. The following year, he served as an assistant coach at East Tennessee State.

His final high school job began in 1979 at Marianna (Fla.) High. Smith again doubled as AD/head football coach at Marianna through the spring of 1982, when he left for Georgia Tech to become Bill Curry's defensive backfield coach. In 1986, Smith moved to Alabama under Ray Perkins for one year.

Smith moved to Baylor in 1987, and the Baylor secondary quickly became one of the most respected units in the nation.

Jack Fligg is in his second year as assistant athletics director for football operations after serving one year as UK Football administrative assistant. This is his 27th year in intercollegiate athletics, including stints at Georgia Tech, West Virginia, Texas Tech, South Carolina and Alabama.

JOHN CROPP

Athletics Recruiting Coordinator

John Cropp is in his first year as recruiting coordinator for the UK Athletics Association, after serving one year as assistant coach with the UK Football program and spending nearly 20 years in collegiate assistant coaching. He is a 1961 graduate of Vanderbilt.

Key plays

In sports, it's the turning point; the crux. Winning or losing depends on its execution. You can't rely on good breaks; how the ball bounces. You anticipate; you're ready with a plan.

Great Financial Federal's services have meant the turning point toward successful goals for generations of Kentucky families. For over 75 years now; we've been the key play in their game plan for financial security.

As you buy a home, save for the future, or plan for retirement, you'll find the key, and the turning point, at Great Financial Federal.

The Saint Joseph Cancer Center

Because There's No Substitute For Experience.

How We're Turning Fear Into Hope
At The Saint Joseph Cancer Center, you'll find some of the most experienced physicians in the area. Combine their talent with our sophisticated technology for detecting and treating the disease and you can begin to see why, today, more and more people are being cured of cancer.

More Than A Healthy Dose Of Technology, A Whole Lot Of Heart
We make living with cancer easier for patients and their families. In fact, we encourage family members to take an active role in the entire treatment process. From the highly trained oncology nurses who care for patients at The Saint Joseph Cancer Center to the specialized dieticians, physical therapists, and social workers, the care and compassion is unsurpassed. We know people have concerns about cancer and sometimes don't know where to turn with their questions. That's why we offer Cancer HELPLINK®. Cancer HELPLINK® is your link to current, medically accurate information provided by a specially trained cancer nurse. Call us at 278-0129 or 1-800-755-0029 Monday through Friday from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and we'll be glad to answer your questions about screening programs, treatment options, or any other information you may need. When it comes to detecting and treating a disease like cancer, there's no substitute for experience.

Commonwealth Stadium

Home of the Kentucky Wildcats

a 68-47-4 record and .588 winning percentage. The Wildcats have averaged 55,183 spectators for contests at Commonwealth since its inception. In total, 6,566,789 spectators have witnessed Kentucky football at Commonwealth Stadium — that's about 1.7 times the population of Kentucky.

Commonwealth Stadium can officially seat 57,800 fans, though standing-room only crowds exceed that figure. Most sat but many of the stadium-record 58,345 spectators stood to watch the Wildcats defeat Mississippi State, 33-19, Oct. 12, 1985.

UK plans to eventually enclose the south end of Commonwealth Stadium to bring its capacity to 72,000. The addition of luxury suites and boxes is also in the plans.

When it comes to football, Kentucky-style, there is certainly no better place than home — Commonwealth Stadium.

The stadium was built in 1973 at a cost of $12 million by the firm of Huber, Hunt and Nichols, Inc. Commonwealth, including parking areas, rests on an 86-acre plot of what was once the UK Experimental Station Farm grounds.

The stadium took on a new look in 1990 with the addition of a $600,000 scoreboard and message center located in the north end zone. The scoreboard is 19 by 78 feet in size, almost 3.5 times the size of the original scoreboards which had been in place since 1973.

The stadium was officially opened September 15, 1973. The Wildcats moved into their new home after spending 48 years at Stoll Field/McLean Stadium across from Memorial Coliseum. Kentucky defeated Virginia Tech in the stadium-opener, 31-26, behind three touchdowns by quarterback Ernie Lewis.

Since its opening, Kentucky has fashioned

Alumni Notes

Homecoming '92!! — October 30, 31 & November 1

BY KAY JOHNSON

UK Alumni Association

here's something going on at UK that you don't want to miss — a fun-filled weekend planned especially for HOMECOMING '92!!

Mark your calendars now for October 30, 31 and November 1.

It all begins Friday the 30th with open house at the King Alumni House for registration, coffee and snacks. Take the time to look for that old sweetheart, roommate, sorority sister or fraternity brother you haven't seen in years.

Choose how to spend your day on campus — there are walking tours, art exhibits, library presentations, bus tours and receptions. Visit your favorite professor, eat in the student center, reminisce with old friends and just relax and soak up the warmth that is UK. Army ROTC alumni are planning a golf tournament, a mess hall breakfast and a trip to Keeneland for the races.

At 5 p.m. return to the Alumni House for a reception hosted by our Alumni Trustees with hors d'oeuvres and an open bar. The Homecoming Parade should pass by the House between 6:30 and 7 p.m. — follow the parade to Memorial Coliseum for Wildcat Roar, the "Yell Like Hell" competition and MORE free entertainment!

Friday evening the 1942 class meets at Spindletop Hall for the first of their reunion gatherings, and the Lyman T. Johnson Alumni group is holding an awards banquet at the Marriott. And, don't forget the concert at the Singletary Center for the Arts with the Kirov Orchestra of St. Petersburg featuring Vladimir Feltsman at the piano.

Saturday is full, too, with brunches, a trip to Keeneland with the classes of 1942, 1947 and 1952, reunion dinners, tailgate parties and — OPEN TO EVERYONE — THE BIG BLUE TENT AT COMMON-WEALTH STADIUM. Inside the heated tent you'll be entertained by Homer Ledford and the Cabin Creek Band, and ABC Daytime star David Ledingham who plays Suede on "One Life to Live." There'll be door prizes! Free soft drinks! Music! Delicious BBQ and all the fixin's can be bought at the tent for $7.50. Then when it's time for the Wildcats to do battle with the Mississippi State Bulldogs you'll be close by and in your seats in short order!

Sunday — don't quit yet! The class of 1942 is having brunch at the Hilary J. Boone Faculty Center at 10:30 a.m. One more chance to see everyone again and finish yesterday's conversations and exchange addresses.

The grand finale — and one of our favorite events — is at 2 p.m., with the UK Marching Band Spectacular at the Singletary Center for the Arts. It's the perfect way to top off a great weekend.

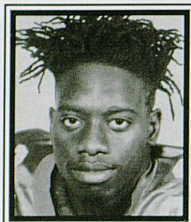

Call 606-257-8905 if you'd like more information on this year's Homecoming and Reunion celebrations.

Actor David Ledingham, Suede from "One Life to Live."

THE COLLEGE ALL-STARS.

Team up with the Army Reserve to earn as much as $38,000 for college.

That includes more than $13,000 in pay during a standard enlistment . . . another $5,040 if you qualify for the Montgomery GI Bill . . . plus repayment of a qualified student loan up to $20,000 if you train in certain specialties.

And that's all for only part-time service — usually one weekend a month plus two weeks' Annual Training.

Be on our team in college. It could help you become an all-pro in your career field.

Think about it. Then think about us. Then call.

INNOVATION

The EIMCO 2810-1 LOW SEAM MINER coupled with the EIMCO 5810 COAL HAULER is like...having your cake and eating it too... the cat's pajamas...or as many customers have said about owning EIMCO equipment...It just doesn't get any better than this.

The 2810-1 and 5810 have been designed in the image of our rugged, proven, and highly productive 2810 mid-seam miner and our market leading 580 series shield haulers. The 2810-1, formerly designated the 2810L low seam miner, has shown during the last year that it is unsurpassed in cutting and loading record setting production in some of the toughest conditions available.

- A 36" wide conveyor • 350 cutterhead horsepower • patented pass through scrubber ductwork • fiber optic radio remote control and • 20" wide forged crawlers prove that the -1 miner is the low seam miner of the future!

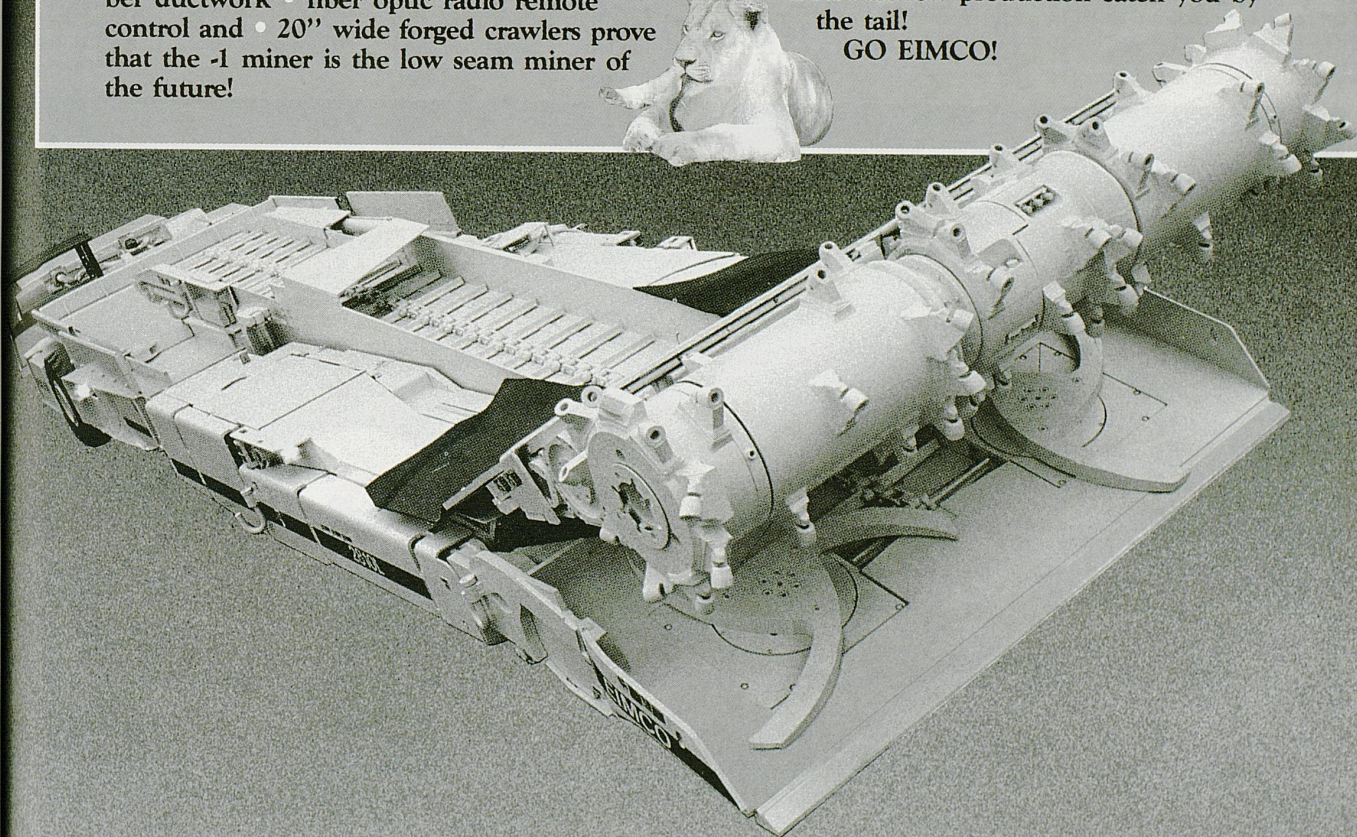

The age old problem of limited flexibility and long haulage cycle times in low and medium seams has now been solved by the introduction of the EIMCO 5810 BATTERY COAL HAULER.

Available in 2-wheel drive or 4-wheel on-demand versions, the 5810 is loaded with features previously unavailable until this time in the coal hauler market.

- A ground base battery changer that does not require battery stands or crib blocks
- front and rear equidistant axles for true tracking
- offset front and rear wheels to limit damage to soft bottom conditions
- 90° crosscut negotiation from 16 foot wide entries
- 12 ton haulage capacity with an industry leading discharge rate.

Don't let low production catch you by the tail!

GO EIMCO!

LIKE MOST BANKS, WE PLACE A GREAT IMPORTANCE ON NUMBERS.

The fiscal and the physical kind.

That's why Citizens Fidelity is pleased to lend our support through sponsorships, events and outings that help our local athletics programs. Whether it's hockey, basketball, soccer, you name it.

Because we believe athletic achievement instills a sense of pride in our community.

And, most of all, we believe athletics give our children the opportunity to grow and learn the value of working together.

Which in essence, is preparation for the biggest game of all. Life.

UK Football Network

Newcomer
Charlie
McAlexander
(L) joins Ralph
Hacker for the 1992 season
of Big Blue Football.

The University of Kentucky will again package one of the most comprehensive radio and television networks among Division I-A institutions.

Sports Communications, Inc., which owns the radio rights for UK football and basketball, has constructed a massive network. WVLK-AM/FM of Lexington will once again serve as the flagship station for the UK Football Radio Network. The feature attraction of the network is clear-channel WHAS (840 AM) of Louisville.

WHAS, a 50,000-watt radio station, blankets over two-thirds of the U.S. and can be heard in 40 states.

The UK Football Television Network features full-game, tape-delay action of all Wildcats home football games which are not televised by a network affiliated with the CFA Package. The Network is also one of the nation's largest. Sports Communications, Inc., administers the network with WKYT-TV of Lexington as the telecast's producer.

Both the radio and television networks take on a new look this fall after the retirement of legendary play-by-play announcer Cawood Ledford.

This fall, Ralph Hacker will step to the play-by-play microphone on the UK Radio Network. The president and general manager of Lexington radio station WVLK-AM/FM is joined by newcomer Charlie McAlexander, a 14-year veteran as the Vanderbilt play-by-play announcer, WKYT-TV's Dave Baker and WKYT-TV sports manager Dick Gabriel, who doubles as sideline reporter for both radio and television networks.

On television, McAlexander serves as play-by-play man with WKYT-TV sports anchor Rob Bromley providing color commentary with Gabriel reporting.

Practice Facilities

E.J. Nutter Center

One of the nation's showcase football facilities rests on the southeast corner of the University of Kentucky campus.

Indeed, the ultra-modern E.J. Nutter Football Training Facility ranks among the best in the nation. Built at a cost of $5.7 million, the facility officially became the home of Kentucky Wildcat football in September 1987.

The Nutter Center, as it is called on the UK campus, encompasses more than 48,000 square feet and is built adjacent to the Shively Sports Complex.

The Wildcat facility is named after Ervin J. Nutter, a UK alumnus who contributed $1 million to get the fund-raising campaign started for the construction to begin. The Nutter gift to the UK Athletics Association is the largest single grant ever received by the Association.

Aside from new dressing facilities, which feature large, personal lockers for every Kentucky football player, the Nutter Center is highlighted by a 9,000-square foot weight room with more than 100,000 pounds of equipment. The center also houses 11 meeting rooms, a state-of-the-art video and editing room for coaches' film, equipment and training rooms, staff and player lounges, an interview area, a 60-yard sprint track, sauna and jacuzzi, an aerobic exercise room and three racquetball courts.

A touch of Kentucky football tradition and history is on display in the foyer area.

The memorabilia case holds UK trophies from the Great Lakes, Sugar, Cotton, Peach and Hall of Fame Bowls, as well as the 1950 and 1976 SEC championship trophies.

"It is a privilege to get to work in a facility such as this every day," said UK coach Bill Curry. "The planning and design with the student-athletes at heart is what we're about today."

New Fieldhouse

The University of Kentucky's new indoor practice facility, available to all UK athletic teams for poor-weather practice, is now under construction. It will be located in the southeast section of the University of Kentucky campus, adjacent to Commonwealth Stadium. The site is the current game-day Yellow parking lot which is behind the South (Tates Creek Road) end zone.

The facility, built at an estimated cost of $8,500,000, will encompass approximately 132,000 square feet of space (the Nutter Center structure is 48,000 square feet). Its height will be 65 feet at its apex.

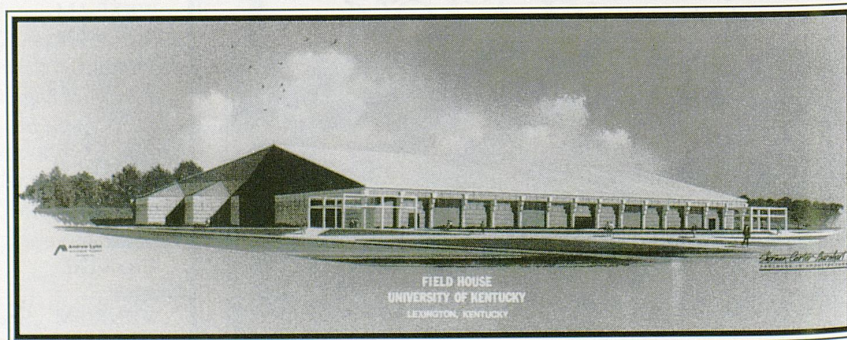

Kentucky's newest multi-sport training center will include an actual playing field area of 108,000 square feet (450 x 240); a full-size artificial turf football field; a six-lane, 317-yard track (290 meters); areas for track and field events (high jump, pole vault, shot put); a Computerized Net System which forms baseball batting cages; portable nets for a golf driving range; a gymnastics room of 9,000 square feet; men's and women's transient locker rooms; storage area of 4,000 square feet; gymnastics, track and building operator's offices and lobby totaling 3,000 square feet.

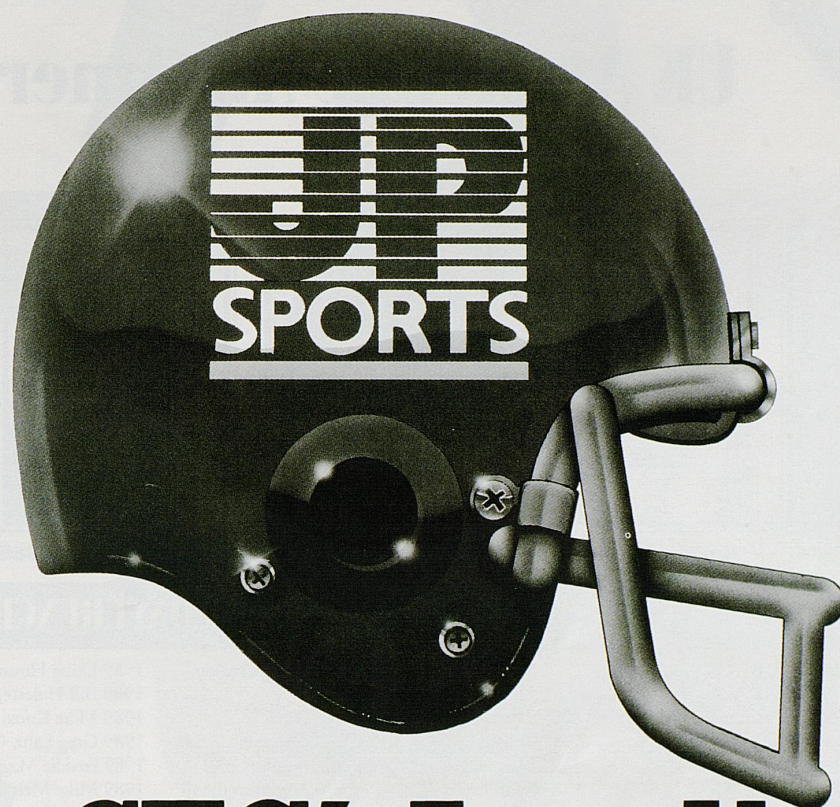

The building's height (65 feet) and netting system will allow punting and placement kicks for football practice. The average indoor track size across the country is 200 meters while the UK indoor track will be approximately 290 meters. The unique netting system will also allow for two full baseball infields.

Construction on the new facility began November 4, 1991 and the building is scheduled for completion in December 1992.

The E.J. Nutter Center is a state-of-the-art training facility.

UK's new fieldhouse should be finished this December.

The SEC's Leading Ball Carrier.

For the first time ever, Jefferson-Pilot Sports will be bringing you Southeastern Conference Football over the SEC Football Television Network.

This means that if you can't make it to the stadium to see the game, JP Sports will offer complete and comprehensive television coverage of thirteen important SEC matchups.

JP Sports is one of the premier producers, syndicators and marketers of collegiate sports in the country. Our lineup also includes SEC Basketball, as well as other regional conference sports in the southeast.

Just clip this schedule and check your local listings for the station carrying the games you want to watch. Then, sit back, relax, and let JP Sports take the ball and run with it.

Center For Academic And Tutorial Services

he University of Kentucky keeps the term "student-athlete" in the proper perspective — student first, athlete second.

For that reason, the University of Kentucky

Athletics Association opened the nation's first academic center for student-athletes in 1981. The academic center is simply known as CATS — Center for Academic & Tutorial Services.

CATS is located inside Memorial Coliseum. The center, designed with the student-athlete in mind, contains a large general study area, along with several smaller rooms used for tutoring.

CATS expanded during the 1990-91 academic year and added a language library, additional tutoring rooms, a media center and a new computer facility.

"Our CATS is one of the best academic services in the land and that's based on results," UK coach Bill Curry said. "For Kentucky to be up there with Duke and Virginia and Notre Dame is a real tribute to first, the student-athletes, but also to our academic support staff headed by Bob Bradley."

Kentucky is in league with the aforementioned schools in winning the College Football Association Academic Achievement Award, given to the CFA school whose program has achieved the highest graduation rate in the nation. Kentucky won the honor in 1989 after graduating 90 percent of its 1983 freshman class. Kentucky is the only Southeastern Conference school to have won the award.

"We get more response from parents who visit us on the CATS program than any other part of our program," Curry said. "Parents are really excited about it."

Curry is also excited about the combined effort former UK coach Jerry Claiborne and his staff put forth during their tenure. Since 1980, Kentucky has placed 97 players on the All-Southeastern Conference Honor Roll — more than any league school in that period. In 1989, the Wildcats set a conference record with 17 players named to the SEC Honor Roll. And during the 1992 spring semester, UK football placed 24 players on the Athletics Director's Honor Roll on campus.

"With winning the CFA award and leading the SEC in Honor Roll picks, it certainly let everyone know we were serious, and still are serious, about making sure our athletes receive their degree," Clai-borne said. "A lot of the credit goes to our CATS Center staff. They do an excellent job in monitoring our student-athletes' academic progress from day one."

CATS helps UK student-athletes to success off the field.

UK has led the SEC in academic honors since 1980.

Bob Bradley, Assistant Athletics Director for Academics, supervises the CATS program. Bradley is assisted by Barbara Deniston, Director of Student-Athlete Development, her assistant, Sheila Breeding, and two Academic Counselors, Mike Jenkins and Mike Haley. CATS also employs six graduate assistants and numerous tutors, both from the University and surrounding community. Currently, the UKAA budgets close to $500,000 per year for CATS.

"We are extremely proud of what we have accomplished in the academic arena," Bradley said. "The CATS program is focused on winning in the classroom. We look at each student-athlete's individual needs, set goals and develop strategies to attain those goals. Our center (CATS) provides our student-athletes with a definite advantage over student-athletes at many other institutions."

Bradley also says it helps to have head coaches like Claiborne and Curry that place such a strong emphasis on academics.

"We talk about championship performance, we expect championship academics, too."
— Bill Curry

"Many support systems across the nation do an excellent job at helping their student-athletes," Bradley said. "I have been blessed at Kentucky in having Jerry Claiborne. He really believed in the student-athlete concept. The same holds true for Bill Curry. We are in total sync in the business of educating our student-athletes."

The philosophy at the University of Kentucky is this: Colleges should be able to afford the student-athlete every opportunity to succeed not only in athletics, but in academics as well. Looking at recent statistics in Academic Honor Roll selections and graduation rates, Kentucky is standing by its philosophy.

"We will continue to support our academic staff to the hilt," Curry said. "We're very excited about the work Bob Bradley and his staff have done. We will not accept anything less from our players. We talk about championship performance, we expect championship in academics, too."

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR'S HONOR ROLL

Football Traditions

Blue and White

The University of Kentucky adopted blue and white as its official colors in 1892. UK students had first decided on blue and light yellow before the Kentucky-Centre football game Dec. 19, 1891. The yellow was soon dropped from the combination and replaced by white.

The particular Kentucky shade of blue, close to royal blue, was determined without ceremony. After settling on the base colors, a student posed the logical question, "What color blue?" Letterman Richard Stoll looked down at his necktie and raised it to the air. The vote was unanimous.

And so Kentucky Blue is really Stoll necktie blue.

Nickname

The official nickname of University of Kentucky athletic teams is "Wildcats."

The name became synonymous with

UK shortly after a 6-2 victory over Illinois on October 9, 1909. Commandant Carbusier, then head of the military department of old State University, told a group of students in a chapel service following the game that the Kentucky football team had "fought like wildcats."

The moniker "Wildcats" became increasingly popular among UK followers and the media. The University has since adopted it as its official nickname.

Wildcat Mascot

The Wildcat mascot originated during the 1976-77 academic year at the University of Kentucky. Gary Tanner was the first Wildcat to dance and entertain crowds at Commonwealth Stadium and Rupp Arena during athletic events. Today the Wildcat mascot also attends academic functions and serves as a friendly ambassador for the University.

In the early 1980s, Wildcat mascot Terry Barney began the tradition of doing a one-armed pushup for each of Kentucky's points in front of the student section after every Wildcat score.

Battle for the Beer Barrel

The Beer Barrel, painted blue, orange and white, is the prize awarded each year to the winner of the Kentucky-Tennessee football game. The first barrel was awarded in 1925. Two Wildcat supporters, Guy Hugelot and Rollie M. Guthrie, wanted to produce something to symbolize the fierce rivalry between the two schools.

A whiskey barrel was to be the original trophy, until the Women's Christian Temperance Union ruled it out. A beer barrel was more acceptable to the ladies.

But there was still the problem of Prohibition and the Anti-saloon League, which voiced displeasure at such a trophy. But the resourceful Hugelot and Guthrie appeased all parties by painting "Ice Water" on the barrel.

Kentucky has won the barrel 23 times in the 87-game series.

Battle for the Bourbon Barrel

The Bourbon Barrel is awarded to the winner of the Kentucky-Indiana football game. The series, which was renewed in 1967 after a 40-year break, began in 1893. No one is certain of the origin of this unusual trophy. Some think the blue-and red-striped barrel represents the distillery industry in Kentucky and southern Indiana. Indiana leads the series, 14-7-1, but Kentucky has won four of the last seven outings. Both schools have signed a contract to meet each year through 2000.

The battle for the Bourbon Barrel has raged since 1893.

The Wildcat has been UK's friendly ambassador since 1976.

Consistent Performance

"The mark of a great football player is the ability to deliver consistent performance. When you need an extra yard, you can count on that player to get it for you.

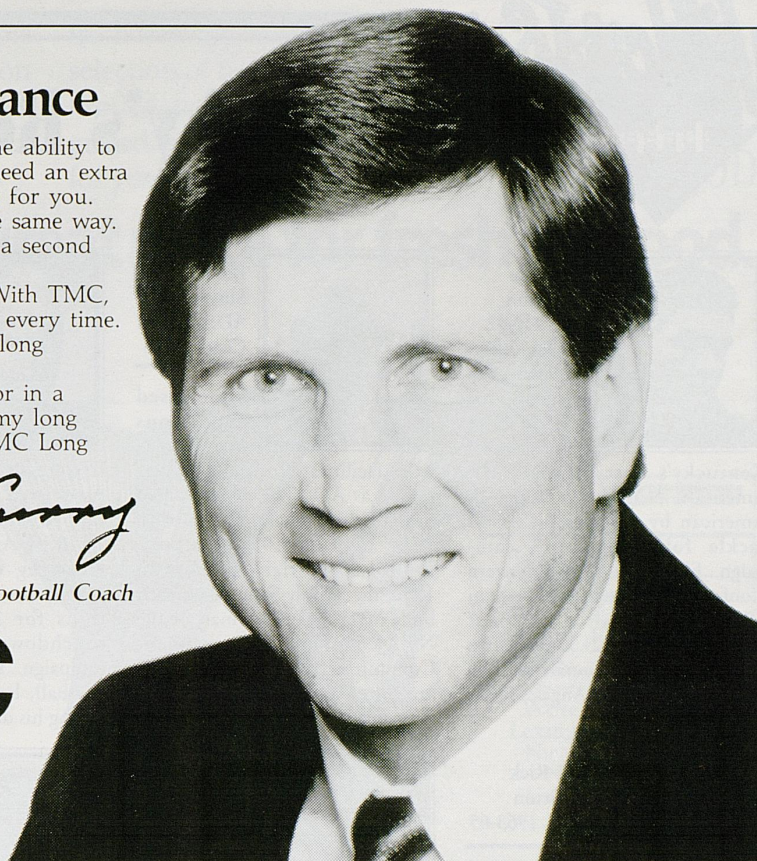

"I look at long distance phone service the same way. You've got to have service that doesn't take a second thought.

"That's why I use TMC Long Distance. With TMC, I know my call comes through crystal clear every time. Plus, TMC can save me up to 40% on my long distance bills.

"Consistent performance is what I look for in a football player, and it's what I look for in my long distance phone service. That's why I use TMC Long Distance."

THE POWER IS ON

UK Songs

On, On, U of K

On, on, U of K, we are right for the fight today,
Hold that ball and hit that line; Ev'ry
Wildcat star will shine;
We'll fight, fight, fight, for the blue and white
As we roll to that goal, Varsity,
And we'll kick, pass and run, 'till the battle is won,
And we'll bring home the victory.

My Old Kentucky Home

The sun shines bright on the old Kentucky
home,
'Tis summer, the people are gay;
The corntop's ripe and the meadows in the bloom,
While the birds make music all day.

(Chorus)

*Weep no more, my lady,
Oh! Weep no more, today!
We will sing one song for my old Kentucky
home,
For my old Kentucky home far away.*

The young folks roll on the little cabin floor,
All merry, all happy, and bright;
By-n-by hard times come a-knocking at the door,
Then, my old Kentucky home, good-night!

UK Alma Mater

Hail Kentucky, Alma Mater! Loyal sons and daughters sing;
Sounder her praise with voice united; To the breeze her colors fling.
To the blue and white be true; Badge
triumphant age on age;
Blue, the sky that o'er us bends; White,

Cheerleaders & Marching Band

The Color and Pageantry of UK Football

wo of the nation's best groups line up beside the Kentucky Wildcats on football Saturdays each fall: the award-winning University of Kentucky Cheerleaders and Marching Band.

Under the direction of T. Lynn Williamson, the UK Cheerleaders have become the model cheerleading squad in the United States. Four of the last eight years — including 1992 — UK has earned the national cheerleading title. They were runners-up in 1988 and 1990.

This squad's ability to help bring the Wildcat crowd into the games and its precision stunts have become a trademark and a source of pride for the University.

The University of Kentucky Marching Band is also recognized around the country, especially for its sophisticated sound and visual images through innovative drill writing.

Under Director of Bands James B. Campbell, Assistant Director Bradley P. Ethington and Drill Designer Gordon

Henderson, the UK Marching Band was one of the first in the nation to use computers exclusively for drill writing. An average halftime show will contain around 130,000 different moving sets for all members of the band, coordinated simultaneously with approximately 180,000 notes.

The University of Kentucky Marching Band numbers approximately 250, with members representing many different states.

The UK Band and Cheerleaders add color to gameday.

A FEW ARE KNOWN FOR THEIR DEDICATION

Dedication. The few who have it stand above the rest. That's true in sports. And in insurance.

For more than 70 years, we've been dedicated to helping Kentucky families and fans protect what's important to them. Good insurance value at fair prices to insure lives, homes, autos, property and businesses.

We received the first-ever Company Award of Excellence from the Professional Insurance Agents of Kentucky in 1991 for our service, support, and claims handling. In recognition of our continuing dedication to the people of Kentucky, we received the award again in 1992.

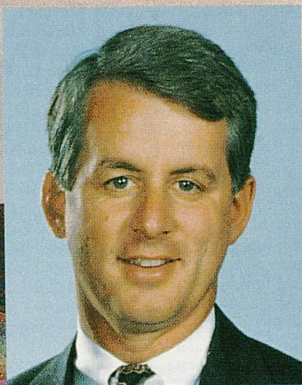

Let us prove our dedication to you. Ask your independent insurance agent about The Ohio Casualty Group for your personal, business and life insurance needs.

IT'S AN EASY DRIVE TO OUR GREENS.

Marriott's Griffin Gate Resort offers three fine restaurants from which to choose, indoor & outdoor pools, a sauna and an 18 hole championship golf course.

It's a long way to Tipperary but not to Lexington's Griffin Gate Resort. Perfect for a relaxing getaway or a fabulous football weekend. Enjoy the fresh air and fall foliage while playing a round of golf on our top rated championship course.

Enjoy dining at one of three fine restaurants including our beautifully restored historic Mansion restaurant. Built in 1873, The Mansion is the only AAA Four Diamond restaurant in Kentucky. Marriott's Griffin Gate Resort is adjacent to area thoroughbred farms, only 2 miles from downtown Lexington's Historic District and minutes from the stadium.

Experience top rated golf, fine dining, excellent service, and very accommodating rooms with turn down service.

Marriott's Griffin Gate Resort, located in the Heart of Bluegrass, at the I-75 & I-64 interchange. Free airport shuttle service. Reservations 606-231-5100 or 800-228-9290.

1800 NEWTOWN PIKE, LEXINGTON, KENTUCKY 40511

After more than 55 years of education, here's what we've learned.

For more than half a century, we've been involved in America's educational system. And through it all, we've learned many lessons. But what have the past 55-plus years really taught us?

First, that there are no overnight solutions. Improving America's competitiveness through education is a constant process. Which brings us to the second thing we know: that we need your help. To succeed, we must all be partners. By working together – by donating our time, our support, and by contributing our collective creativity and experience – we can once again make bright, well-trained minds America's most vital asset.

So join us in supporting our schools. Together, we have the power to improve America's educational system. Together, we have the power to improve the future.

TOM GENTRY FARM...The Winning Tradition Continues.

GOOD LUCK TO COACH CURRY & HIS WILDCATS!
