A LITERARY SENSATION.

In carrying out our intention to make THE COMMERCIAL not only the cheapest, but the BEST paper published in Louisville, we call the attention of our readers to the fact that we have effected arrangements for the exclusive publication in this section of a series of eight short novels by eight of the greatest living English novelists. These stories will be published from advance sheets, simultaneously with their appearance in England. The writers are the following eminent novelists:

WILLIAM BLACK.
MISS BRADDON.
RHODA BROUGHTON.
WILKIE COLLINS.
THOMAS HARDY.
JOSEPH HATTON.
MRS. OLIPHANT.

"OUIDA."

Such a galaxy of stars of the first magnitude in the literary firmament, cannot fail to arrest attention. The imposing array of front-rank authors whose works are thus to be published in succession is unique. Authors, brilliant by themselves, have, in very limited combinations, written in a series before now; but until the present attempt, no effort has been made to publish, in sequence, the productions of so many leaders in the field of light literature. The list, it will be observed, is eminently representative. All schools of fiction have a place in the group. A mere glance at the names quickens into vivid life some of the most cherished memories—as the charming touches of nature in her sublimest forms, woven into the delightful stories of William Black; the profoundly absorbing creations of Miss Braddon; the true perception of feminine character evinced by Rhoda Broughton; the thrilling mysteries of Wilkie Collins; the dramatic features of country pursuits of Thomas Hardy; the sterling gifts of Joseph Hatton, whose sparkling intellect discovers in every day facts graphic phases of human life; the cultured and refined Mrs. Oliphant, and the exquisite abandon of "Ouida."

The project of short stories is designed to supply a want among the reading classes, and to increase their number. So distinctly has the need been felt, that the observant Saturday Review affirms that the art of writing short stories has been neglected. The reproach is now, however, by this series, wiped away. Three qualities regarded as essential in this department of art—"ingenuity, originality and compression"—we do not hesitate to say will be fully displayed in the works we now announce. That the series will prove immensely popular and add greatly to the pleasure of our readers, is beyond question.

It is intended that the first of the series shall commence publication on Sunday, March 1, starting with a novelette of absorbing interest by "Ouida," entitled, "A RAINY JUNE," a story concluded in three parts.

Might be Termed a Hummer.

From the Lexington Press.

THE LOUISVILLE SUNDAY COMMERCIAL of February 13 contained forty-five columns of interesting reading matter, and was decidedly the most readable issue of any paper published in Louisville. THE COMMERCIAL furnishes a much more readable journal for two cents than any other Louisville paper has yet furnished for five cents. THE COMMERCIAL is what might be termed a hummer.

A Live Paper.

From the Richmond Herald.

THE COMMERCIAL is a live paper in every respect. It is a real prize to the country press, and it is not only holding its own, but often outstrips the big and little dogs of the great metropolis.

The Best in the Southwest.

From the Bowling Green Times.

The Sunday edition of THE LOUISVILLE COMMERCIAL is the best newspaper in the Southwest. It is full of the most interesting matter, and we are not surprised at its popularity.

One of the Finest.

From the Mt. Sterling Gazette.

THE LOUISVILLE COMMERCIAL is one of the brightest and best papers in the State, and the way it shows up the shortcomings of the State is deserving of credit.

Bright and Sparkling.

From the Maysville Daily Bulletin.

THE LOUISVILLE COMMERCIAL which has lately undergone a great improvement, is growing rapidly in popular favor. The edition last Sunday was a bright, sparkling and interesting one.

Very Interesting.

From the Paducah Standard.

THE LOUISVILLE COMMERCIAL is making a specialty of its Sunday paper. Its last Sunday edition was very interesting, and its largely increased sale attests its excellence.

OFFICE OF THE COMMERCIAL.

Louisville, Ky., February 23, 1885.

Your attention is especially directed to the announcement headed "A Literary Sensation," enclosed herewith, and the extracts from other papers appended. The price of THE COMMERCIAL on Sunday having been reduced to TWO CENTS, it is now the cheapest morning newspaper published in the South, the cost per week for its delivery by carriers being but 14 cents. While the price has been reduced the expenses have been increased, in order to make it a cheap paper only in the cost to its subscribers. Its telegraph service has been largely increased for daily use, and the Sunday Paper will sparkle with special Literary and News features to satisfy the demand on Sunday for home reading and plenty of it. On that day a double paper is issued, which is brighter than any other paper published in Kentucky. THE COMMERCIAL will be good-humored and gossippy, and fearless in its discussions of affairs. We are determined to make it the most widely-read newspaper in the South.

If you are not at present a subscriber we should be pleased to have you take it on trial for one month or one week. If so inclined pray indicate as much by postal card and it will be promptly delivered.

Very respectfully,

JNO. R. DUNLAP,

General Manager.

Bloomfield, N. J., April 1st, 1885.

Dear Sir;

I sent you by Mail a Catalogue of my Second Annual Sale of Choice Jersey Cattle, the increase of my Herd for the Season and I invite your careful attention to same. You will see that I shall offer some very desirable animals, both in breeding and age. The Stoke Pogis, Victor Hugo, Rioter, Coomassie and other popular strains will be well represented. My animals are in splendid condition, and can guarantee the health and vigor of each. While in splendid shape they have not been forced, and will be as good in the hands of their new owners as when sold.

Jerseys were never more popular nor intrinsically so valuable. The demand for them is increasing everywhere and will continue to grow

I trust you will make it convenient to attend the sale, and will be obliged if you will bring it to the attention of your friends.

Mrs. James E. Patterson,
Lexington, Ky. Dear Sir:-

Your letter of the 20th inst. has been received and Mr. McKellar deed and Exchange for balance due him will be forwarded by the same mail as this letter, including interest for the month it was delayed by my absence. Mr. McKellar will make a mistake if he does not keep the section of land but as the matter is between you and he I shall not advise him one way or the other. My matters in Kentucky are entirely secure but it is troublesome to be delayed in receiving money that you relied on with confidence. My business will be at New York and Cincinnati but if I get up to Lexington it will afford me pleasure to call on you. Yours with much respect J. S. Daugherty

Dear Sir:

Letter of the 20th inst. has been received and Mrs. Patterson's check and check for balance due have been forwarded by the same mail as this letter, including interest for the amount of your charge by way advance. Mrs. Patterson's certificate is available if the check does not reach the office of Land Office as the matter is between you and her. I shall not receive your money the other. My certificate is undoubtedly correct but it is troublesome to be delayed in receiving money that you should see with confidence. My business will be of benefit and I shall be glad to see you at any time.

President State College

Dear Friend

I rec'd - herewith a statement of amount of expenses incurred by me while in attendance at the annual meeting of the Board of Trustees to wit: $4.50 Four dollars and fifty Cents.

I should not have presented any claim for this trip but have had some more bad luck at home which has occurred, or at any rate I learned of it since I saw you and it is taxing me for every dime I can raise.

I am thinking, Mr President, of resigning my place on the board provided you think you can have the vacancy filled by some one who will be friendly to the interests of the College and one who will work in Harmony with your views concerning its management.

I wish to assure you that my connection with the College and the intimacy existing between myself and the various professors and students will always afford me pleasant reflections.

But I believe the College friends can make a selection of another member who would command more influence in its favor and would therefore, be a more efficient trustee than I can make.

Very truly yours

The JOURNAL AND MESSENGER is the organ of the Baptists of Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Wisconsin and Minnesota, the most intelligent and enterprising of whom are its readers; and has, with one exception, a larger circulation than any other Baptist paper west of New York.

It is an excellent medium for advertisers.
