Monday.

The sun has nearly departed behind the western hills for the close of another day, with all its joys and pleasures that with sorrow and pain are blended. They are now all numbered with the things that are past and gone. Oh! how many of the countless millions of human beings that move on the face of the earth are today bowed down with heavy hearts, that are oppressed with trials, sorrows, and pain. Then how thankful ought we to be to God who made us, that we have passed through this glorious day of sunshine without one shadow to mar its brightness. This has been a very pretty day but rather cool. I missed an my Philosophy to day and I regret it very much because I missed. Mr and Mrs Berry was at our house this evening. I went to the post office this morning but did not get any mail. I took a music lesson this evening I do not know whether I will go to church to night or not. Aunt Bettie went down to Mrs Browns this morning but did not stay long. I went down to Dr Davis' this morning.

Thursday.

I have been sitting in my window listing to the noisy "Katy dids" for nearly an hour, In my fain attempts to find out what "Katy did" I come to the conclusion that I had better write a few lines in my journal and let Katy alone. With eyes ears and mouth wide open I would listen for the startling events to be produced when again I would hear a weak voice say Katy did, and a shar shappish creature would assert coldly Katy didn't I am still unable to say. This has been a very fine day. Mr Patterson did not hear our Philosophy to day he is going to hear it. The [illegible] I missed one and I first thing in the morning. Annie Lou told Mamie Wilson and myself to sit over in Mr Patterson's room. Mamie went over there to day but I didn't go but I am going to morrow.

This has been such a pretty day indeed. I have not been any where to-day but over to Mr Patterson's. I was over there to practice but did not get to practice much because there was some one at the piano all the time I was there nearly. I hope to-morrow will be a pretty day so I can get to go to Church. Emma Cook has come to school ~~to-day~~ yesterday for the first time this week.

Hannie Evans didn't come to school yesterday because she was sick. Mr Patterson is going to give holiday next Thursday it is Thanks giving.

Wednesday night.

While how many of the countless millions of human beings that move on the face of the earth, are to-day bowed down with heavy hearts that are oppressed with trials, sorrow, and pain. When how thankful ought we to be to God who encircles us that we have passed through this glorious day of sunshine without one shadow to mar its beautiful. This has been such a fine day. I went to school to-day and recited all of my lessons perfectly except Philosophy I missed one and I regretted it very much. I took a music lesson to-day the name of the piece of music I am taking is "Love in a cottage" I think it is so pretty. I went to the post office this evening but did not get any mail for my self. Aunt Lou Patterson was at our house this evening but did not stay long. Cousin Frank Carrington came out our house this morning but did not stay all day. Mr. Dowda is not going to teach to-morrow he is going to give holiday because it is "Thanksgiving" therefore he is not going to teach. Jennie While is going home with Lida Lilliard to night and it coming back Friday morning. And good many of the girls have gone to the country. Mr. Patterson heard Philosophy today he said the greatest powers of man was steam, & he said that there were coal a ship until 18?. and he said he could remember when his Grandpa built his cabin made that his Grandma hackled the logs to build it. Fannie Evans didn't come to school today I guess she was sick the reason she did not come to school. Emma Collins came to school today for the first time this week. She has been helping mom down to the new place. She seems to like it very much. But nothing is like home to me. I had rather live where she used to live than to leave my dear old book and go to a new one. Diary you must excuse me for not having a longer diary I would like to have six pages as Mr Patterson requested us to write six pages out to date diary. But you must excuse me as I am so sick with the headache that I can not write to save my life. but you must let me off with three pages and a half.

Jan. 13th 1873.

Tuesday morning.

This has been a very pretty day but very dark. I went to school to day and recited all of my lessons perfectly except Spelling in which I could not write one example and Mr Patterson made us get it over for to morrow. I took a music lesson to day. Nannie Brown did not come to school to day. Annie Gary has got the measles she was sick all day yesterday and to day she is in bed. Mr Patterson had a new scholar yesterday her name is Billie Jones. Mr Patterson heard Philosophy to day I did not miss any I believe no one in the class missed. Nannie and Annie Wilcox are going to stop school. They

The winter King has again made his appearance and it seems as if he had drawn up the reigns tighter-cold. The snow fell the other night to the depths of three inches. Today it seems to be melting a little though it is still cold enough to freeze snakes. Several to school today. Hannie Wilson did not come to school to-day. I don't know why either but I reckon she is sick or stayed at home because it was so cold to-day. Mr Judy and our little boy Bess was here this evening. I got a letter from Romulus Brown this morning. She said she was coming to school Monday if she does well enough. Hess Nesbit heard Grammar this evening. She made the class for 15th over for to morrow. Mr Patterson I think you might give me forty five this week as I have tried to learn.

March. 21. Th 11 1874

Saturday evening.

This has been a very pretty day indeed I went over to Mr Pat Evans this morning to practice but did not practice much because Nannie Patterson was practicing when I went over there and I had to wait an while to get through, Aunt Billie is looking for Sadie to come home today but I do not look for her much. Aunt Billie and I went down to Cousin Mr Mitchells last night and it was a little while she had all of her teeth pulled out and you do not know how funny she does look with out them, Diary I have not been any where to day therefore I do not know much to write. I went down to the store this morning for Aunt Billie.

Sunday.

This has been a beautiful day indeed. The little birds are singing their sweetest notes. I think nothing more pleasant than to listen to the little birds sing their morning songs. I went to Church to day and Sunday school too, I got a sunday school paper and some little tickets. Sudie came home to day I was so glad to see her Cousin Edd Kennyon brought her home. She was getting ready to go to uncle Johns Carrie Cox and cousin Edd come by for her and asked her if she wanted to come home and she said yes she did, and he brought her, I seen Emmie Collins to day and she said she was coming to school to morrow if nothing happened.

March 20th 1874.

Monday.

This has been a very cold day. I went to school to day and recited all of my lessons purfectly. Mr Patterson did not hear our Algebra Friday I guess it was because he did not have time. Aunt Bettie went down to Mrs Browns this evening and she said Mrs Brown was very sick. The doctor thought she had the fever. I think it is awful. Mrs Brown and Mrs Bowers both sick. Miss Hollie heard Sterling this morning and she made seven one in the class day in after school but three. And then she heard it this morning and some of them had to stay in again. Aunt Bettie got a letter from Sadie this morning she said she could be home Saturday

if nothing happened so she could not come. Mr.
Patterson heard Arithmetic to day he gave us a lesson in "Ratio". I practiced a little this morning but not long for Miss Jo wanted to give us lessons on the new piano. Fannie staid all night with Mrs Sydnell last night. Mrs Barnes wanted Aunt Bettie to stay but Grandma was sick and Aunt Bettie sent word down to Mrs Barnes that she could not come but Fannie might stay.

March. 24th. 1874.

Tuesday.

This has been a beautiful day. I went to school to day, and recited all of my lessons perfectly, except Sixth Reader.
I missed one in it, and a good many other girls missed besides me, and Miss Mollie made me say the lesson over at dinner. Mr Allen was at our house to day, but did not stay long. Aunt Bettie is going to sit up with Mr. Brown to night. Mr. Patterson did not hear I go to see Cedar. I do not know who rules it was that he did not have time to hear it. I took a lesson to day. The name of the piece of music I am taking is "The Cross Waltz". I think it is beautiful. Hannie Bell Patterson and Clifford Patterson have their coming. I went to the post office this even but did not get any mail for my self.

March. 26. 1874.

Wednesday.

This has been a very pretty day indeed. I went to school to day but did not recite very many lessons because Mr. Patterson was singing all day with the choirs. Aunt Bettie went down to Mr. Brown's this evening. She said she was not any better. I have been so sick all day I did not feel like going to school this morning but I had to go. I had the rock heart ache but I have gotten well now. Lonnie went to the post office this morning but did not get any mail for my self. Aunt Sue Patterson was at our house to day but did not stay long. Diary you must excuse me for writing so badly as my hands were shaking so badly I could not write to save my life. Aunt Bettie is up with Mrs Brown last night March 29th 1874.

Thursday.

This has been a very pretty day indeed. I went to school to day as usual and recited all of my lessons perfectly. Mamie Wilson and Sudie Potts came to our house to day at noon. They came to get me to go down in town with them. I went to the post office to day at noon, but did not get any mail for my self. Aunt Bettie and Fannie went down to Mrs Brown this evening but did not stay long. Mrs Brown said she wanted Fannie to sit up with her to night she said she knew Aunt Bettie was not able to sit up with her. Aunt Bettie told her if Fannie could do her any good she might stay. Fannie Dick Brown came up to the school house to day. She said she came to see Annie but Saturday, Mary Liza Jones got mad the other day at Miss Mollie and would not come in the Grammar School any more. She got mad because Miss Mollie told her she looked ugly and she did look so, but I would not tell her so, as the old saw is, "The truth should never hurt." Mary Liza cried just like a baby. If I had looked as I could tell her so.

Saturday.

This has been a very pretty day indeed. I went to the post office this evening and got a letter from one of my old school mates Neva Cobb. I think so much of Neva. I went over to Mr Patterson this morning to practice but I did not practice long because all of the girls wanted to practice and of course I would not insult them.
I am going to church to night and there fore I will have to go and get ready to go.
Lizzie Brand came up from Paris yesterday evening on the stage and is going to stay until Monday. Aunt Billie is looking for Brodie home to morrow but I do not know whether she will come or not March. 29th 1874

Sunday.

This has been a very pretty day. I went to Sunday school and got a nice little Sunday school paper and a ticket. Sudie and Carrie McDaniel spent the day at our house to day. I was sick & had to lie down. I went down to Mrs Bens this morning to see Lizzie Brown she came up from Paris last Friday. She wanted me to go over to Mrs Patterson's with her this evening. I told her I would go with her. I got a letter from one of my friends to day her name is Nora Cobb.

March. 31st 1874

Monday

This was been a very jolly day indeed. I went to school to day and recited all of my lessons perfect by Mrs Patterson had two new scholars to day their names were Sallie Horner and Allie Goff Mrs Goff spent the evening with us and Lou to day. I got a letter from one of my old schoolmates this morning her name was Nora Cobb. She said she was coming down to the examination this June.

I went to the post office this evening but didn't get any mail for my self. Aunt Bell and I took a walk this evening. I went down to ~~the~~ Mrs Odells this evening for Grandma but she was not at home. Nannie Dow did not come to school to day I guess it was because she was sick.

Tuesday.

This has been a very disagreeable day indeed. It has been raining all day just as hard as it could. Lillie Thomas said her ma told her if it rained for her to stay all night with Connie, but she said Willie said she had better stay with her to night. Connie was very much disappointed when Lillie told her she could not stay with her to night. I took a lesson to day the name of the piece I am taking is "The Kiss Waltz." I think it is very pretty. Mrs Hollis heard Grandma this evening.

it was not known very well and she made us stay in after school and learn it. Aunt Belle and Fannie are going to set up with Mrs Brown to night. Clifford Patterson was at our house this evening but did not stay long. Mary Lizzie Rogers did not come to school to day. It has been raining so hard all day that it seems as if none of the girls would come such a day as to day. April 1st 1874

April Fool! Wednesday.

Well, is it possible that this is the first day of April. This has been a very stormy day indeed. I went to school to day and recited all of my lessons perfectly. Mr Patterson heard Bible this morning I did not miss any in it. Aunt Belle set up with Mrs Brown last night. She said she was sick last night, but this morning she is better. The boys April fooled me this morning. They told me Miss Joe wanted me I went to Miss Joe's room and asked her what she wanted she did not want me that the boys was trying to April fool me. so I told the boys that I did not go to Miss Lou rens. but I did. Ida Dobyns got a new piano yesterday morning. We have been singing all day. We have some new songs in our book. The solos are Jenny Wiles. I think one of them is very pretty. I. H. Towne.

The Sun has nearly departed behind the western hills for the close of another day. With all its joys and pleasures that with sorrow and pain are intermixed. They are now all numbered with the things that are past and gone. O ki how many of the countless millions of human beings that move on the face of the earth, are to day bowed down with heavy hearts that are oppressed with trials, sorrows, and pains. Then how thankful ought we to be to God who made us, that we have passed through this glorious day of sunshine without one shadow to mar its brightness. Mr Patterson heard our Arithmetic this evening we knew it very well.

Well: diary, Mr Woodard is going to have an Auction to day over what do you think of that. He is going to sell out and go into Dry goods business. Jennie Bel-Howerton came to school to-day for the first time for three months. She was perfect in all of my lessons to day.

I hope I will get forty five this week. I went down to Mr Brooks this evening.

Miss Clara Hauschaft and Minnie Rice is coming up to night to sit up till bed time. The girls played base to day. I went to the post-office this evening but did not get a letter. I was very much disappointed.

I have not any news of importance to write in my diary. So I reckond I will have to close. Although I have not finished the other line

Raining Raining it seems as if it would never quit. It has been raining all day long just as hard as it could. I went to school to day and knew all of my lessons very well. I got up soon this morning and took a walk before breakfast. Nannie Bet Howerton said she was going home with me to night and also Georgia is going. All of the girls played Pig tail to day at dinner. The boys took Tommie Orrock wagon and pulled the girls.

I went to the post office this evening but did not get a letter.

Monday. Miss Nannie Featherage

The sun, that bright luminary that lights up the earth, has long since gone to his western chamber— the birds have ceased to warble their songs; the flowers have closed their petals, and now slumber in the quiet and of evening. While all nature seems to be thus reposing I will try to write a few lines in my new diary. School has again opened, and I am again among the merry band that assembled in the old chapel last Monday week. We have about sixty scholars. Some of the old pupils returned, but many strange faces greet me when I enter the Chapel. Miss Mollie Key has charge of the Preparatory department. Miss Joe Hutchings is again with us as a teacher of Music.

I must now tell you something in reference to my studies. I have only one new study— Chemistry. It is very interesting and I think I will get along very well after I get started in it. Bro. McGarvey expects to hold a protracted meeting here next week. I am real glad. but I fear we will have to go to the creek to get water to drink. It is very dry indeed. but it is sprinkling some now. I hope it will rain hard before to-morrow. Mannie Wilson is spending the night with us to night. Sallie Deatherage and her Sister and Miss Cob came this evening. I was real glad to see Sallie. I went down on the street this evening after school. Mr. Patterson heard our Arithmetic this evening. We did not know it as well as we ought to. Well. I have ten pages in Chemistry to get [illegible] and I think Mr. Patterson ought to excuse me to night.

Time is surely passing very rapidly. Every thing is passing away. There is not an object in nature that presents itself to our view, that does not bear upon it, the impress of the words, "passing away". Time in its flight is bearing us to an endless eternity. I went to school this morning, and recited all of my lessons perfectly. Miss Mollie heard Grammar this evening. We knew it very well for the time we had to get it. Mrs. Patterson and Miss Joe went to Paris to-day. but they returned before school was out. Mrs. Patterson did not hear Bible to-day. I guess he will hear it to-morrow. We also heard Chemistry. Our lesson was very interesting to-day. I hope it will continue so. Aunt Belle and myself have just returned from Mrs. Brown's. She is alone to night. Mr. Brown, Martin, and Nannie have gone to the Exposition. They started this morning. Mrs. Howard has gone home also. There is no one staying with her to night, but Mrs. Domigan and Mrs. Mitchell. It is turning real cold. Winter is almost here, and we are not prepared for it. Mr. Patterson if you correct this diary you must not mark me low for not writing a longer diary, for I have such a cold that I can not write.

Wednesday. Sept. 24th 1873.

The shadows of twilight are growing upon us. Mother Earth is just ready to take on her mantle of black. The bright little stars come peeping to their places. one by one, soon the heavens will be filled with myriads of stars in the shape of bears, harps, boots, dippers, geese, dogs, ducks and many other things. How strange it is that such things as these could ever be seen. This has been rather a warm day. much warmer than it was yesterday

I hope it will get warmer instead of colder. for I like warm weather better than I do cold. Mrs Patterson did hear many classes this morning as he was busy writeing. and arranging the classes, and telling us the time they recite. Mrs. Patterson heard Bible this morning. it was real interesting. I learn something new every time we recite. Miss Mollie divided our Grammar class this evening. I was real glad she did divide it. because I want Aunt Lou to take our class. Lillie Talbott and Lou are still writing the Paper. Lou asked Miss Mollie to write something to go in the Paper. but she refused and said "I can't." I thought that word had been buried at this Institute. but our assistant teacher has recalled it. Aunt Belle has gone up to Mrs. Gurley's this evening. I guess she will spend the evening. Mr. Wopin came down to-day after Belle to go to the Exposition. with him. Jennie Patterson went with them. I hope they will enjoy their visit. We went down to Mr. Brown's this morning for Aunt Belle. Aunt Lou heard Grammar this evening. She said we knew it better than we ever recited it last year. Our Chemistry lesson recites to morrow and I will have to study hard to-night. if I don't- I will miss. and I do not- like to miss. N. W. Tower. Ky.

I have been sitting in my window- listning to the noisy "Katy dids" for nearly an hour, In my vain attempt- to find out- what- "Katy did I come to the conclusion that- I had better write a few lines in mi Journal and let- Katy alone. With eyes ears and mouth wide open I would listen for the startling event- to be proclaimed when again I would hear a weak voice say Katy did, and a sharp sarcastic creatur would assend- boldly Katy didn't- but- whether Katy did- or- whether Katy didn't- I am still unable to say. This has been a very pretty day. well part of the day. This morning was a rainy morning. but- this evening it cleared off and was a pretty evening. Mr. Pattison had our Chemistry this morning. I am sorry to say that- I did not know my lesson as well as I ought- too. but- in fact- there was not- a girl in the class that- understood the lesson I guess Mr. Pattison marked us low. He is marking us low for not- speaking loud. some girls cannot- speak loud and I do not- think Prof. ought- to mark them but- he has his way. Lou came up in the Chapel this evening with her face scratched. I asked her what was the smaller arow guess what she said. She said Morgan Talbott Eddie Bean and Johnnie Redman were trying to kiss her and Mansie Wilson I wish that Mr. Patterson could see them trying to kiss the girls. Aunt Bettie is very busy. She is making dresses for us children. Mr. Patterson said that he did not want any of the girls to go up on the third story porch I never go up there. therefore it does not hurt me. We recited our Algebra this evening. we did not know the questions very well. Aunt Lou is going out to Mr. Johns Talbotts tonight. I went down town to day at dinner. for Aunt Bettie. Aunt Pow heard Grammar this evening. we knew the lesson very well. I went down to Mrs. Browns this evening. She said she was looking for Martin & Jennie home this evening. Mr. Mark was at the school house this evening. he wanted to see Aunt Lou. Tomorrow is the day that Mr. P— is going to correct the diaries. I know I will get a low mark. but if I do it will not be because I have not tried. Lou & myself took a walk this evening. we walked as far as Mr. Tobe Mitchells. Well Diary, I have told you all the news that has happened to day worth recording in my diary. Well. good by for tonight.

This been a very pretty day. The sun has been shining so brightly all day. and the little birds have been warbling their sweet songs. Effy diary has just been corrected & got party. Sallie Jones corrected mine. Mrs. Patterson is going to hear the Philosophy class this morning. after he gets through correcting the diaries. I went down to the P. O. with Ida Lytton this morning. and as we came back we stoped in Mr. Browns. Lizzie Dobyns was in the parlor practicing. Nannie has gotten back from Cincinnati. She came yesterday. evening. Lillie Talbott and Lou have not finished the paper yet. I guess they will have it ready for this evening. at least they will have to be ready. The Society was called to get by Miss Emma Scott this evening. The duties were very good and the Pastor also. The trial comes off to-day. I wonder what they will do with Mr. Joe. Harris. Mrs. Bean was here this evening after school a while. I went down to Mr. Dobyns to-night. to stay all night with Ida. because Anna was not there but we heard Anna would be home and I would not stay.

Another day has passed and finds me seated in my lonely chamber. Thinking of the events of the day. There has nothing of importance taken place to-day I believe. I have been rowing all the morning. Rev. Mr. Garvey has come. he is going to preach to-night. I am going to church to-night. Sadie spent the day out to Mrs. Dan. Talbotts yesterday. She said she & Saddie burned cribbs her and she fell off. she rode Annie Wilsons horse. I could not wonder. I went to the store this evening for Aunt Bettie this evening. The protracted meeting commences to-night and will hold two weeks. I suppose. ~~Just~~ have Just returned from church. There was a good many out to-night. All of the school girls were there. Aunt Bettie did not go. she was so tired that she did not feel like getting ready. Well it growing late and I am ready to visit "shanty town". I will close bring this uninteresting diary to a close.

How beautiful and glorious all things seems to be as we look upon this wide world of ours. We know that it is all God's management and as he makes the world so beautiful. for our own sakes we ought to try very hard to please him and ever be ready to raise our hands in humble obedience to his will. How thankful we ought to be to God. for these blessings he bestows upon us daily. How nice it is to behold the beauties of nature and reflect upon it a moment. We seem to be enjoying the great and good blessings of God as he pours them down upon us. Not one half of the people in the world are thankful for these blessing yet they ought to be. This has been a very disagreable day. It has been raining most all day. Mrs. Patterson heard Bible this morning. The lesson was very interesting. I did not miss any. Mr. Patterson made all of the girls write a piece for the paper. (I mean) all the girls that did not hand in their pieces. We sent one home after mine. Sallie Deatherage and Mollie McElroy are Editresses of the Paper this week.

Billie Patterson came to-day about dinner

This has been a very pretty day. the sun has been shining very brightly all day. It is real warm to day. Mr. Patterson heard our Chemistry this morning. We did not know it very well. very one in the class missed but two. Fannie Barrongton and Fannie Hedges. I was really sorry I missed. but as .... the old saying "don't grieve over spilt milk." Aunt Lou was here this morning. Mrs. Patterson heard Arithmetic this morning. part of the class understood the lesson very. I think I understand it very well. The buggies are rolling in fast to-night from the fair. Aunt Hedges and Hollie & co. went home to-night to go to the fair to-morrow. I think from what the girls say there wont be many girls at school to-morrow. Miss Hollie heard our grammar this evening. I was perfect in it. and most of the class was perfect. Aunt Belle and Sudie went down to Mrs. Browns to-night. but they have returned. I went down to Mrs. Chevis this morning before school and also at Mrs. Dodges also for Aunt Belle. Well, diary, I have told you all the news that has happened to-day so I will stop writing for to-night:

N. M. Jones, Ky.

Friday. Oct. 17th 1873.

It has been a very pretty day. The sun has been shining very bright-ly all day. I went to school to-day. Mr. Patterson corrected the diaries this morning. Miss Belle Jones corrected mine I got sixty two. I was very well pleased with my number this week. Lena Trimble and Annie Harp made their Paper this evening, Lena said she did hate to read her Paper so badly this evening. but she could mind it more if there were more girls at school. Carrie got forty-four in her diary this morning. Annie Belle and Sadie went down to Mrs. Brosius last night but they did not stay long. Well, Mr. Patterson is there correcting diaries it did not take him long to correct them because he had help. it is not 12 o'clock yet. I wonder what Mr. Patterson will do. before he dismisses school. Mamie Wilson is President this evening. Lenna Scott is not here. I guess she went to the fair. Mr. Reed came yesterday to see Lizzie. some other gentleman came with him. Nannie Deatherage and Sallie are going to the fair to morrow with Lillie Talbott and Lida Letton. I hope they will have a nice time. if I don't get to go myself Well I will close this interesting diary.

Saturday.

Another disagreeable day has passed away. and finds me seated up stairs in Annie Belle trying to write my diary. All of the boarders went to the fair to-day. all of the girls that wanted to go.

Katie Burroughs Pattie Hutchings Lizzie Reed Mattie Cavanaugh and Nora Cobb did not go. Lou went over to Mrs Pattersons this morning she took Miss Mollie and Miss Joe some pickle.
they divided with Lizzie Reed. there has no person been here to-day but it has been raining. Miss Sue Burroughs and Mr George came yesterday. they went to the fair to-day and took Annie Farr with them. but Anna is coming out to Mrs Scotts to-night. Mr. Joe took Annie Harp. Johnnie Neal took Bettie Jones.
Lou went over to Mrs. Ferguis this evening for Miss Joe. she took a book "St. Elmo". Lonie did not go to the P. A. this evening. I went to the store this morning before the rain. Sadie went down to Mrs. Moore this morning.

Oct. 19th 1878.

Sunday & night.

Another lonely day has passed away and finds me seated in my little room trying to write my diary. I went to church to-day. Mr. Patterson questioned the Sunday school classes this morning. Miss Sid Evans Lou and Annie Green were here this evening but they did not stay very long. We had quite a c last night: I never heard such music in all my life. it sounded like there was two juce-harps and a horn and tin pan. I think who ever that was. that had the tin pan beats his knees out. Lou did not go to church today. I made me a calico dress yesterday yesterday and wore it to church this morning. I thought I would write a letter this evening we are out of stamps envelopes. Well I have all of my lessons to get for to morrow and I have to stop writing and get there. but I know most of my lessons. I have read over Bible.

Monday.

The day is drawing to a close and here I am seated once more in my little room for the purpose of writing my Journal which is a great deal of trouble for me to do. for I have not heard anything worthy to be perused by the Prof.

This has been quite a gloomy day. All nature seems lovely but I miss the voices of the dear little birds which has flown away to a warmer climate from the approaching winter to never return until beautiful spring comes again.

Mr. Patterson heard one

Bible lesson this morning the lesson was very —— interesting. Mrs. Patterson heard the Philosophy also.
they did not know the lesson and he said he was going to keep them in after school.
and he did keep them in. Miss Mollie heard Grammar this morning. I learned so much about the Exercize. she explaines every word to us.
Lizzie Reid and Ida Dobyns are Editresses of the Paper this week. Pam on Soliloquy for next Friday. Katie Rideman was up to the Festibule this morning. we were very glad to see her. Diary, I have something so pretty. it is a beautiful bouquet. I got it to day. Lucy Talbott has one almost like mine. but it is not as pretty as mine. Mrs. Patterson heard Algebra this morning he said he thought we understood the lesson very well. He gave us the "Ox" example to work for Wednesday. We had our stove put up this morning. it was so cold that we could not stand it any longer. Mary Patterson was talking about not letting the girls go home Christmas. I think he ought to let them go for she wont think about anything but home. Aunt Lou said she was going to let them go home. she said she could not get any cook. time Christmas.

Tuesday.

This has been a very disagreeable day. When I arose this morning it was snowing and then it cleared off and was a pretty day. but cool and windy. I never was surprised when I awoke and found it snowing.

Mr. Patterson heard our Chemistry this morning. I was perfect and most of the class was. Miss Hallie heard our Grammar this evening we were perfect in it. The Philosophy had to stay in yesterday after school. and she did not know it and Mr. Patterson is going to hear it this evening. I dread them. having to stay in so much over one lesson. Mrs. Brian and Mary were here this evening. Mr. Patterson heard Arithmetic this morning. He put one to the board. I worked all of the examples he gave out to me. I think I understand Interest very well. Aunt Lou was up in the chapel this evening. I have not been there since Friday. Well I have nothing to do to night. and I must stop writing.

Wednesday Night.

This has been a very pretty day.
The sun has been shining very brightly all day.
Well the first thing this morning was Bible. I was perfect in it. It is warmer to-day than it was yesterday. I wish it would get cold still warmer.
Aunt Belle and Sudie went over to Mr. Patterson's to night to see Miss Joe Cut - they have come back now. I went to the store this evening for Aunt Belle. While I was there Mr. Levi Talbott was drunk and Mr. Judy put him in jail. Miss Hallie heard Grammar this evening. I was perfect in it. Mr. Patterson said Friday week he was going to have Composition reading. he said he had a notion to say day after to morrow. Mary Liza Rogers and Mary Jones were the only ones that did not have three pieces.
Mr. Patterson heard our Algebra this evening. he said he thought we knew the lesson very well.
We recieved a letter from Uncle John Hoffman this evening. He said he was sicker and all the children. The children have the measles.
Aunt Lou was here this evening. Jasmine Davis was here this evening, he came after Mrs. Joe Davis clothes. I must close for to night.

This has been a very disagreeable day. It has been raining some. It is so dark and dismal to-day. The little birds to sing their lovely songs and flitting from tree to tree. Mrs. Patterson heard Arithmetic this morning. I missed one and regretted it very much. Miss Mollie is sick to-day. She did not teach to-day. Aunt Lou taught in her place I expect most of the scholars like Aunt Lou better than they do Miss Mollie. Addie Thomas is staying with us to night. It was raining so when school was out, that she could not go home. Mrs. Patterson heard Arithmetic this morning. She put me to the board. I could not work the examples very well. I expect he marked me rather low. I haven't my Soliloquy written to read to-morrow evening. Aunt Belle is very busy. She is making a fine gross grain silk and she has to get it done by to-morrow. Well, good bye

Friday

Another dark and dismal day. It has not been raining but looks very much like it. I went to School this morning. Miss Mattie Burroughs corrected my diary. I am sorry to say that I got thirty six but I had such a bad pen that I could not write but I am going to try harder and get forty-five I am not going to give in thirty six any more if I can help myself. Mr. Patterson is there correcting the diaries now. It did not take him very long this week as it usually does. I have a Soliloquy to read this evening. I do not like to get up there on the rostrum and read. I would rather stand on the floor. I have it written. I hope I will read it well. There was not but one girl in school that got forty-five and that was Ida Dobyns. Addie Thomas spent the night with us last night as it was raining so hard that she could not go home. The girls are all cutting up so that I can not write my diary fit to read. There is going to be a Concert in town tonight over to the Christian church. I am not expecting to go. but there are several of the girls going from the Institute. Pattie Judy was playing the juice harp this morning.

Saturday.

Another beautiful day has passed away very rapidly. The sun has been shineing very brightly all day. but we have no little birds to sing their lovely songs and fly from tree to tree, & have not much news to tell you to-day as there has nothing of importance happened. Well I ironed a little to day and after I got done I was engaged in something else. Lizzie Bean was here this morneing. She brought us some milk. Jon went over to Mr. Pattersons this morneing and stayed all day. She don't get to see the girls enough every day she has to go on Saturday. I went to the concert last night. It was Prof. Baley and family's concert. I thought it was splendid. There is going to be another one to night in the church. I am not going to church to night. Sudie and Lou are going. but Sudie & I are not going to stay to the concert. Well I have nothing exactly worthy in my diary and I will close for to night.

Sunday Eve.

Here I sit looking first in one place and then in another, thinking how I will commence my diary. but at last I could think of nothing but this one. Here I sit in my room this lonely evening thinking of the past day. This has been quite a dark and bad looking day. It has been sprinkling some ~~this~~ ~~morning~~. to-day. I saw Miss Anna Ragan pass this morning. She did look so sweet. She on such a pretty dress. Mrs. Basil and Bettie Hanly were here this morning they were going out to Mr. Hays to see Miss Ida. she is teaching school for Mr. Hay this year. Connie went down to Dr. Davis's this evening after a box of salve. for Grandma. She has burnt her hand very badly. Ella Trimble was here this evening. she came to see Connie. I am going to church to night if it does not rain before I go. Cardie Hadden is very sick. I do not think she will live long. I did not go the concert last night. I will close for to night.

Monday. Oct. 27th 1878.

This has been such a pretty day. but rather cool. The sun has been shineing very brightly all day. Mr. Patterson heard Bible this morneing. The lesson was short; it was only one chapter. Mr. Patterson did not have time to hear any more of the lesson. Well, diary I have sad news to tells you when I got to school this morneing I heard that Cordie Madden was dead. She died this morneing at five o'clock. Miss Mollie heard Grammar this evening I missed one in the exersize. I regretted it very much. Mr. Patterson has been singing all evening. He had all of the choirs singing. Aunt Belle and Lorene went down to Mrs Browns to night to cut out Cordie's shroud. Nancie Berroughs and Dessie Parr came this morneing. They went home Friday evening. Mrs. Baley and family left one little town to day. and went to Sharpsburg. They are going to have a concert there to night. I went down to Mrs. Dobyns this evening after school for Sudie. Mr. Patterson said all of the girls had to have their Essayes by Thursday morning. and if they did not have them she was going to make them write them in the school room and fast all day. I think Mr. Patterson is too hard on us poor school girls. Miss Sue Bean is to be married Wednesday morning. To Mgr. Jim Bush. and take a bridal trip to Illinois. Neva Cobb got a box from home this evening. Nellie Hedges is sick in bed to day. I did not know she was sick until Nellie Thomas told me. I have told you all the news I will close for tonight

N. M. Town Sq.

Tuesday. Oct. 28th 1878.

Well, Diary I do not feel much like writing this evening. but as I am compelled, I must obey. I have just returned from the funeral. I did not go up and look at Cordie. the girls that did look at her said she did look so badly Mr. Patterson let our school go all of the girls could go to the funeral. This has been such a cold day. It has been snowing off and on all day. Mr. Patterson heard Chemistry this morning. I do believe no one missed with the exception of Lizzie Bean and Mary Rodgers. I have not written my Essay for Friday. Mr. Patterson said we had to have them by Thursday morning. Mr. Patterson heard Arithmetic this morning. He did not promise to the board. Aunt Bettie and Lorraine went down to Mrs. Brown's last night. They stayed until bed time. Aunt Bettie was cutting Cordie's shroud, and making it. Mrs. Dr. Bean and Lou Evans were helping. Miss Mollie Reed did not hear our Grammar lesson this evening. If she had I would not have known it. I have not had time to study it. Miss Mollie came into the Chapel this morning with her hair hanging down. She did look so funny, as I had not seen her with her hair hanging down before. Aunt Bettie and Cordie stopped in at Mr. Brown as they were coming from the Journal. Mary Wilson was here this evening.

St. Mc. Lowe,

Wednesday. Oct. 29th 1873.

Another day has passed away very rapidly. This has been a very pretty day, but rather cool. I went to school to-day. Mr. Patterson heard Bible this morning. I did not miss any. The lesson was very short it was only one chapter

Mr. Patterson lectured this morning a while. I think I could tell who he was hitting at. We had company to spend the day at our house to-day. Aunt Sue Mitchell and cousin Bet Allen. Aunt Bettie is, was cutting a "Redingote" for Mollie Foreman. Miss Mollie heard Grammar this evening. I did not miss any. I have written my composition for Friday, but we have to have them by to morrow morning. Mr. Patterson said we could invite any body we wanted to. I don't think I will invite any body, but Aunt Bettie and Sudie and they are not going. Mr. Patterson heard our Algebra this evening. I knew how to work all of the examples. but he did not put me to the board. I went down to Mr. Brown's and also to Mr. Dobyns store. Lizzie Bean was not at school today, she went to Miss Sue Beans wedding. she was to be married to Mr. Jim Bush. Mollie Foreman was here to day. and eat her dinner. she came to try on her "Redingote". Diary, I have my chemistry to get tonight, and I am so sleepy that I can hardly hold my eyes open. so I think I had better quit writing for tonight. and as my pen is so bad I can hardly make a strait mark with it:

Oct. 30th, 1873.

The day dawned beautiful, How bright the sun came forth from his home behind the hills. The little birds have winged there way home to return no more until the spring time, when Nature will put on her gayest attire to welcome the joyest birds. beautiful flowers and green foliage. Though the beauties of spring are so fastly fadeing away, by the frosts of Autumn the earth is not void of beautiful things and though the little birds whose melancholy note we delight to hear have flown away, yet there is music every where. When "Sol" after a dreary day travel across the sky, in sinking silently from our gaze we not only see Beauty but sublimity.

I got to school rather late this morning. but just did get there in time for Mr. Patterson to call the roll. Mr. Patterson heard our Chemistry this morning I believe no one missed. the lesson was very interesting. Miss Mollie heard Grammar this evening. I was perfect in it. Lou Talbott was here this morning. She came to have her dress cut and made. Mr. Patterson is going to Paris to morrow. We are not going to have any Society in the evening We are going to recite all of our lessons. Mr. Patterson heard Arithmetic this morning Hee put me to the board. I did not understand the ex answers very well. Pattie Judy Lena Smith and Lizzie Dobyns were all here to day at noon Most of the boarders are going home Friday evening Amelia Kavanaugh wanted me to stay all night with her, but I am goneing to the country myself. I went to the store this morning for Aunt Bettie.

Another day has passed away very rapidly. and find me seated in the Chapel trying to write my diary. Mr. Patterson went to Paris to-day. Miss Mollie is teaching us in the Chapel. Mattie Burroughs and Bettie Jones are correcting the diaries. mine has just been corrected I got thirty five. I tried this week and I thought I would get more but I did not. Pattie Judy is hearing the Arithmetic class for Aunt Lou. Miss Mollie is goneing to hear our Grammar this evening. I do not know any of it. I am expecting to go to the country this evening, but I do not know whether I can go or not. Grandma is sick. She has a rising on her hand. We are not going to have any Society this evening. Bell Smith Anna Harp Jennie White and Dealie Hilbert went home to-day. I have not visited a lesson to-day. Jennie Hedges said Mollie was a little better I am glad to hear it. Nannie Deatherage is going home with Lucy Talbott to night. Will school is not over and I will close for to-day.

I have just returned from the country. I went home with Charlie Love yesterday evening. I had such a nice time. This morning Mrs. Pattie Harris came out and brought all of her children. She is going to stay until tomorrow evening. Nannie Lou and myself went blackberrying this morning. This has been a very pretty day, but it has been real cool. No little birds to sing their lovely songs. Though the beauties of spring are so fastly fading away by the frosts of autumn the earth is enwrighted of beautiful things and thoughts the little birds whose melancholy notes we delight to hear have flown away, yet there is music every where. When "Sol" after a weary travel across the sky, is sinking & silently from our gaze we not only see beauty but sublimity. Rev. Daniel was here today from Winchester, he came after Revs. Daniels dinner. Lou Talbott also came after him. Well, I have told you all the news so I will close for tonight.

Another day has passed away rapidly, and never to recall any more. I have returned from Rev. Gina Scotts woods. I walked over to the Institute and I saw the girls going "hickorying" tuning this evening. So I thought I would go with them. We had a very nice time. We rambled all through the woods. We also got some "shack" berries. I went to Sunday School and

and also went to church. There was a good many there. Lonnie went home with Lon Talbert yesterday evening. She intended to come home this evening but I guess she will not be here until morning. Billie and Sudie went down to spend the Mitchell's tonight.

Mollie Forman wanted Sudie to go home with her to day, but she would'nt go.

I heard this evening that somebody broke into Mr. Judy's grocery night before last and took $14.00 and a great many things, such as candy, cigars, sardines &c.

Mr. Joe Harris' trial come off yesterday. He had his trial deferred till the first of April and was obliged to go to jail. He said sooner than go to jail he would rather die. He was gone for good I suppose. His bond run out when he appeared at court. Therefore his father will have nothing to pay.

Poor man! I feel sorry for him.

Misses Anna Greene and Lou Evans were here this evening.

Mr. Neale was here also. I will close as I have told you all the news.

Another bright and beautiful day has passed away. It was cool when I arose this morning, but after a little while, the sun was very warm.

Mrs. Patterson heard Bible class this morning. The lesson was short but very interesting. Lou Talbott was here this morning a while before school. Miss Mollie heard Grammar class this evening. I was perfect in it. I heard that Mr. Jo Harris had run off. The Lawyers in Paris said now was his time to escape. Mollie Forman was here this evening after school. Sudie sent for her to come. She wanted to see her about her hat. Mr. Brown is drunk again. I passed by there yesterday, and he was cutting up. Very Cobb went up to Towns Mill Shoffner's Friday. She came back this morning. Mrs. Patterson heard our Algebra class this evening. Her told us to get the lesson over for Wednesday. We did not know it very well. I could work all of the examples but one, and I could not explain it. Mrs Allen stopped at the gate this morning a while. Carrie went to the P. O. this evening but did not get any smile. Wells Diary you must excuse me for to night as I have my Chemistry to get.

The day is drawing to a close and here I am seated once more in my little room for the purpose of writing my journal.

This has been a beautiful day. All nature seems lovely, but I miss the voices of the dear little birds which has flown away to a warmer climate from the approaching winter to never return until the beautiful spring comes again.

Mr. Patterson heard our Chemistry this morning. I am sorry to say that I missed. He also heard our Arithmetic. He did not put me to the board. He said all that did not understand Saturday would have to stay back and let the rest go on. Aunt Bettie and Sudie have gone down town to night I do not know where they have gone. Ella Mollie heard Grammar this evening

She told all of the class that missed Tuesday in after school. I did not miss. therefore I did not have to stay in. Aunt Lou was up on the Chapel this morning a while Lou Talbott was here this evening after school. I went down to Mrs Collins to-day at noon to take some hats back, that Aunt Billie took up home.

Another day is drawing to a close. and before it gets too dark, I will try to get down a few lines in my journal. Mr. Patterson heard Bible class this morning. The lesson was very interesting. Miss Mollie also heard Grammar. I was perfect in it. Sadie and Aunt Billie went down this evening to look at some the hats. They were going to get me one. Lois Talbott was here this evening, after school. Willie Thomas showed me how to work the Algebra examples this evening I think, I can work them all and explain them. also Mr. Patterson sent to Paris after Math. to-day He did not have any to mark on the board. I went down to recite to Miss Hitchcock this evening before school for Sadie. Mr. Patterson heard our Algebra. We had to work the examples on our slates. Mrs. Bean was at our house this evening. Mary was here also. Grandma gave her some pie & corn she was so proud of it. I went to the store this evening after some paper for aunt Bettie. Well, school is almost out and I know of no news to tell you so I will stop writing for this evening.

Thursday.

I have just returned from school and am seated by a stand writing my journal. I went to school to-day and recited all of my lessons perfectly. I believe the first thing this morning was Testiment and after that our Chemistry. No person missed but Mrs. Patterson & Sallie Bean threw an apple across the room this morning. He said she must give in her this evening. and that was not half enough punishment. I would not have had it been me for anything. Miss Hollie heard Grammar this evening. I missed one. I regretted it very much. I have not missed but once before to day since I have been in the class. Hattie went home with Lou Talbott tonight. I guess she will be back in the morning. Mrs. Patterson heard Arithmetic this morning. She gave us a new lesson. I never was so glad. Because we have been on that lesson for a month. I was playing with a gum ball, Pattie Judy and myself were throwing it over the ice house to-day at recess. Pattie threw it so hard that it bounced up and hit me in the eye. It hurt me very bad, at first but it does not hurt now. I am glad it did not smell any. Well, diary I have told you all the news I will close this monotonous diary.

Friday.

This has been a very pleasant day although it looks dark and cloudy. I went to school this morning. Prof. corrected the diaries. Mattie Burroughs and Bettie Jones assisted Prof. in correcting them. I got forty one. I was very well pleased with my number this week. considering I did not study six last week. I do hate to get up and read my piece this evening before company. Prof. said he had invited Mrs. Harris's school up, and several young gentlemen. Mrs. Pattie Harris and Cousin Liz Mitchell were here this evening. Willie Thomas corrected my piece. Aunt Bettie is making me such a pretty sacque. I hope she will get it done by to morrow.

I went to hear it to church, the Society was called to-gether this evening, with Emma Scott in the chair. The duties were called for, and were very good. They very read well, or at least some of them were. When Annie Wilson got up to read, all of the girls thought she was going to faint, she was so badly scared. frightened. Mrs. Kerns school were there, and a few gentlemen such as Mrs. Johnnie Neal Capt. Lewis Mrs. David Wilson and Miss Annie Green and Maggie Scott. I went to the store this morning for Aunt Billie. after some calico. Sudie has been out to Mrs. Talbotts every since yesterday. She will be back tomorrow I guess. Prof. was bragging on Leggie Dobyns hand writing this morning. I am going to try and see if he won't pay some on my hand writing. You went out to the country to night. She will be back to morrow. She went home with Emma Collins. We did not want her to go because it looked so much like rain. Well. Diary, I must work my Algebra examples before I retire, & so I must do so. close for to day. Nov. 8th 1873.

Saturday.

While meditating quietly upon the past, and thinking of its many, many, sorrows, the thoughts of my dear Journal and its many numerous pages ran into my mind. So now I will endeavor to fill one a many the many, the many pages with a part of my school history.

This has been a very fruitful day. The sun is spreading its brilliant rays over all of our earth, and diffusing its warmth through out. I went over to Rev. Patterson's this evening to see the girls. Sadie came home to-day from the country. Diary, this has been quite a sad day with me. as nothing has happened worth writing in my Journal. We had company to spend the day at our house to-day. Cousin Mary and Liza Mc Daniel were here they also brought the baby. I went to church tonight but was very much disapointed by not hearing Rev. Laird preach. Rev. Patterson sang as he did not have any meeting. Fannie Deatherage and Sallie were here this evening. They stayed most all evening. I have been doing nothing to-day but warm a round. Lonnie Owen was here this morning He came to see Pa. Miss Frank Hamilton was here tonight. She came to go to church with us. Lou did not come home this evening. I guess she will come home in the morning Miss Joe went to Paris to-day, with Lizzie Bean. They returned just in time to go to church. I guess Lizzie got her man that, as that was what she was going after.

Sunday.

Nov. 9th 1873.

The lonely hours of evening has come, and has clasped its mighty hand in time. We should grasp every moment that passes, that we may be learned in that are profess. Many, many, have passed away.

on wings of time, never, never, to return to us in the future. I have often heard the old say "Time waits for no man." I have found it to be so, though I have never had the experience of many. There is a time for all things. I have often heard it said from the lips of my mother, but it is like that which says, spare to the rod and spoil the child. This has been rather a cold day. The sun has not been shining very brightly. It is cloudy. I think it will snow or rain one. I did not go to church this morning. Lou went to Sunday school. Mrs. Lard did not come to-day. I think there was good many at church to-day, as I see good many pass. I was going over to see Nannie Heather ago this but did not go. I am on Chronicles for next Friday. We have had company most all evening. Mrs. Odem Mrs. Mitchell Lizzie Bean and Emma Collins were here. Lou went down to Mrs. Golden Tumbles this evening. Mrs. Hopkins was down to-day to see Willie. I think I know all of my lesson for to morrow. I have not read over Bible yet. I must read it over before it grows dark. There is meeting to night at the Methodist church to night but I am not going. It is turning real cold this evening. This morning it was warm.

Monday.

Nov. 10th 1873.

My little friend diary how will I address you I have been sitting here for at least an hour thinking of something to write, but my mind like all school girls wonders here and there. This has been a very pretty day; but rather cool.

I went to school to-day and recited all of my lesson perfectly but Algebra. I was very sorry I could not work the examples. The first thing after prayer this morning was Bible the lesson was very interesting. It was only two chapters. Mrs. Sue Mitchell was here this morning before I went to school. Mr. Patterson, Mattie Burroughs, Bettie Jones and Ida Dobyns were singing to-day at dinner. Miss Mattie heard our Grammar this morning. I went down town this morning, to the Dr's. Aunt Bettie is not at home to night. She went up to Mrs. Judy's this evening. She has not returned yet. Lizzie Dobyns and Mattie Thomas are Editresses of the Paper this week. Aunt Lou went up to her sisters after Clifford. She said she could not stay away from him any longer. Aunt Bettie has the tooth ache very badly to night. She is almost crazy with it. Miss Mattie had a new Scholar to-day—Maud Stivers. She told Miss Joe that she wanted to take music lessons. but Miss Joe. told her she could not give her lessons this session. The girls and boys jumped the rope to day at dinner. Birdie went down to Mr. Mitchells this evening a while.

Nov. 11th 1873.

Tuesday.

This has been a very pretty day. I went to school to-day and am glad to say, I recited all of my lessons perfectly. Mr. Patterson commenced giving his spells to-day. I was so hungry before school was out but I will have to stand it if the other girls can. Mr. Patterson heard our Arithmetic this morning. We recited it very well for such a hard lesson. Miss Mollie heard Grammar also. She told Sara Trimble to sit there by her and take down the names of the Grammar class and those that talked, and she would mark them down two lessons. Mr. Patterson sang a while to-day with all the school. I think the boy he is learning to is beautiful. We received a letter from Uncle John Hoffman this evening. Aunt Belle and Birdie went down to Mrs. Cheris this evening. Mr. Patterson dismissed school this evening at two o'clock. I went down down to the store this morning. Mrs. Sue Mitchell was here this evening. It is running so cold. The wind is blowing so hard. It blows as if it would carry everything with it. Tear pieces.

November. 12th 1873.

Wednesday.

This has been a very windy day. and also rather cold. I went to school to-day. I am sorry to say I was not perfect in all of my lessons. Mrs. Patterson heard Bible this morning. Miss Mollie heard our Grammar this evening. I was perfect in it. Arpie Low came home and brought Clifford this evening. I was real glad to see Lizzie Robyns and Willie Thomas have commenced writing the Paper. I do not think they will finish it by Friday if they do not write fast. Hoover went to the P. O. this evening but did not get any mail. Mrs. Patterson heard Algebra this evening. I worked all of the examples, but did not understand the last one. Lou went to the store this morning before school. Aunt Belle has the toothache this evening very bad. We have had no visitors to-day. I guess it is on the account of the extreme cold weather. Mrs. Patterson if you correct this diary now once - excuse the way I have written it; for - all of my black ink is out and I had to finish it with this. Mrs. Patterson gave us fifteen pages in Chemistry to recite to morrow. I think I know half of the lesson now. I N. M. Dunn, Key.

Thursday.

Diary I have nothing new to tell you to-day as this has been a very dull day. I arose this morning it was snowing very hard. but the snow was soon melted by the sun. I went to school to-day and recited all of my lesson perfectly but Grammar, I was very sorry I missed it. We recited on Chemistry very well this morning. considering we had such a long and hard lesson. Prof. told us to get twelve pages for Tuesday. Hee did not hear all of the lesson. I have not written my Chronicles for to morrow. but I am going to write them to night. We sang this morning before prayers. Mrs. Patterson dismissed school this evening at three o'clock. I went down to Mrs. Bowers this evening after school. I also went to Mrs. Dobyns store. Aunt Belle and Lydia is expecting to go to Paris to morrow. if it is not to cold. I went to the P. O. this evening but did not get any mails. To-morrow is Friday. The last day we have to go to school this week. I do hope I will get forty-five; in my diary. Lizzie Bean and Mary were here this evening after school. Lizzie had on her Aunt Mary Foster's fine velvet cloak. It fit her so nicely. She said she had so many fine clothes. We recited our Arithmetic this morning. Mr. Patterson said the thought part of the class could not be studied. and some of them did not understand the examples as well as we ought. I have no news to tell you to night Diary, so you will have to excuse me to night.

November 14th, 78.

Friday.

This day has passed away very rapidly and it finds me seated up stairs in Aunt Bettie's room trying write my diary. I did not go to school to-day. I was expecting to go to Paris, but got disappointed. Aunt Bettie and Sadie went. they bought me a new dress I think is is so pretty. Bettie Talbott came in and stayed nearly all evening, Diary, I have not been any where to-day. Aunt Lou was here to night. She sat until bed time. Lizzie Bean did not go to school to-day. I do not know why she did not go. Diary guess what I got in my diary this morning early, I know you can't so I will tell you. I got forty-five for the first time this session. I sent it by Lou. We did not go to the post office this evening. Flora Dobyns sent her baby up to us Aunt Belle to-day, but she was not here. Well, I have no news to tell you to-day, as nothing has happened.

Nov. 16th 1873.

The sun, that bright luminary, that lights up the earth has long since gone to rest. the flowers have closed their petals and now slumber in the gracious of evening, the merry warblers too have sought their nests in the old oaks. and every thing presents the appearance of the close of day.

Nothing new or marvelous has taken place to-day, that is worth recording This has been a lovely day all nature seems lovely but I miss the little birds They have flown to a warmer climate to return no more until the beautiful spring time has come again.

Well Diary, I have nothing much to tell you as nothing has happened. but I must say something if I don't for Patterson will mark for it as, I think I had better write something. I have been very busy to-day. ~~that~~ I almost fell like I could not write a bit. We have had no visitors to-day. Lou and Lennie went over to Mrs. Pattersons this morning, when they came back they said, Sallie Dearth was engaged & Lou had come & know they were glad to see him Jeff Hollis went to Mt. Sterling to-day with Mr. Patterson. I have told you all the news for to-day.

Sunday Evening.

Here I sit this evening all alone by a bright fire for the purpose of writing my diary. This has been a very pretty day. I went to Sunday School this ~~morning~~ morning. and also went to church. Mr. Patterson mentioned to the School this morning about the Christmas Tree. I am so glad they are going to let us have one. We had ninety scholars this morning. Mr. Patterson said he thought there would be more in by next Sunday. I went over to Mrs. Pattersons this evening to see the girls. I stayed most all the evening. I went in Jennie Whilō rooms a while, and also in Fannie Deatherage. Sejji Bean and Birdie Talbott were over there also, Birdie went down to see Sejji Van Evans this evening. but she did not stay long. I wrote my piece for the Paper this evening. I believe Fannie Benroughs and Jennie Whilō are Eddibresses this week. We have had no visitors tō-day. Dealie Wilmots and brothers came tō see her tō-day. She said they did not stay long. They came this morning in time tō go tō church.

The day is drawing tō a close, and here I am called by a hand for the purpose of writing my diary, which is a great deal of trouble for one tō do,

This has been a very pretty day, though rather cool. The sun has not shone this bright face tō-day. I did not go tō school tō-day as we had company tō spend the day. Fannie Mary Kemper, Fannie Sloper and Matt McNeil, were all here. I went down tō Cousin Sis Mitchells and Mrs. Brown's this morning, for aunt Billie. I am expecting to go to go to Paris tomorrow with Ruth Talbott and Sudie. Mrs. Allen and Trimble were here this evening. They came to have dresses cut; but aunt Ruth is so busy that she could not cut them. Cousin Mattie McC. Kew had her little girl with her today. It is such a sweet child. I went to the store this evening and also to Mrs. Underwoods grocery, Diary I can not tell you much news to-day as I did not go to school. I do not know what happened there. so therefore you must excuse me. for today Aunt Lou is here to-night. She is going to sit with Ted-Tuesday. I saw Mrs. Joe. and Sallie Deaderick pass this morning going down to the Club. School let out earlier to-day than it generaly does. Mrs. Sue Mitchell Lizzie Dobyns and Fannie Brown were here this evening, Diary I do not know any of my lessons for to morrow and I must study them for fear I will not get to go to Paris to-morrow. I would like a piece for the Paper but did not give it to Lou to give to the Eddidresses. I expect Mr. Patterson called for the pieces to-day. and I was not there to give mine to him. I have told you all the news that has happened to-day I will bring this short and uninteresting diary to a close.

November. 18th 1873.

Tuesday.

Once more the dim shadows of night are stealing softly upon us and before it gets to late and to dark. I will jot down the events of the past day. I sit here thinking of things that would not interest my diary. Night folds her sable wings upon us. and we are now left in ~~total~~ darkness.

Mrs. Patterson heard our Rhemintes this morning. I was perfect in it. This has been a very disagreable day. It snowed a while this morning and then it commenced raining. Miss Hollie heard our grammar this evening. I was perfect in it. She told the class yesterday, if they missed to-day, she would send them over to Mrs. Patterson. Hattie was four or five missed but she did not send them. Mrs. Lee Mitchell was at our house this morning. I expect Pattie Judy will stay all night with me to night. She told me she was, to-day, but I never know when to believe her. She fooles me so often. of late.

We recited our Arithmetic this evening. We did not know the lesson very well. Mrs. Patterson put Mattie Mark. and Pattie Judy to the board. There is going to be meeting to night at the Christian Church. I am not going. I heard it was going to be about the Christmas tree. Sudie was expecting to go to Paris to-day. I do not know whether she went or not. I came off to school before she started. I gave my piece to Nannie Burroughs this morning. I went down to the store this evening after school. School is almost out. Prof. has just heard the last class.

November. 19th 1873.

Wednesday.

This has been a very disagreeable day. It snowed hard last night. When I arose this morning a heavy snow was lying on the ground and it is very cold.

I went to school to-day, and recited all of my lessons perfectly. The first thing this morning was Bible. Mrs. Patterson did not ask many questions. The new music came to-day. Prof. has been giving it out to-day. He did not hear but his lesson to-day. Mrs. Dee Mitchell was here to day. I worked all the Algebra examples to-day, but Prof. did not hear it. Miss Mallie heard Grammar this evening. I was perfect in it. She read out the standing for this month, in it.

I got the highest mark. I was so glad. Belle Smith was next highest. I went down to the steps this morning, to see if any candle came out but; there was nothing. When I got to school this morning. Prof. and the girls were singing. Sadie is making my new dress to-day. I think it is very pretty. Diary, I have no news to tell you as nothing has happened worth writing in my journal. Mrs. Patterson did not give Lou nor myself a song. I guess he thought we cared nothing. But I do not care I did not want any.

Thursday.

Another day is rapidly passing away, and it finds me seated in my room writing my diary. This has been an exceedingly cold day. The snow has not all melted off the ground. I hope it will all be off by to-morrow.

I went to school to-day. Mrs. Patterson heard Chemistry this morning. I missed in it and regretted it very much all of the class missed one.

Aunt Lou was here this morning. She did not stay long. Miss Mollie heard Grammar this morning. I was perfect in it; I have the tooth-ache to night; therefore you ought not expect for me to write much. Mr. Patterson heard Arithmetic this morning. I did not work all of the examples, but I worked all he gave out. I went to the store this evening for aunt Bettie. I heard yesterday evening that Mrs. Charley Stuart was dead, but I found this evening that the report was untrue. A. M. Lowry, Jay.

Friday. November. 21st, 1873.

Another day has passed away and finds me seated in the Chapel writing my journal. I got forty-four in my journal this morning. I did not have any mistakes. Sallie Jones corrected it but I do not see any mistakes. Mr. Patterson told the girls this morning he was going to ring after they got done correcting the journals. Lucy Talbott and Lillie went home with Annie Walker last night. and when they got to school to day Lida Lellow told Lou that her ma was sick. She cried, Mattie Mack and Mollie McCray are going home Lucy tonight. Aunt Lou was up in the Chapel this morning. She heard Lou classes up here. Mr. Patterson did not correct the diaries this morning. Sallie Jones Mattie Burroughs Bettie Jones and Ida Dobyns expected them. I was expecting to go to Paris to-day but Rettie Talbott did not come by for me to go with her. The Society was called to gather this evening with Miss Emma Scott in the chair. The duties were very good and also the Papers. Most of the girls are writing their diaries now. Mrs. Sue Mitchell was at our house to-day. She did not stay long. Miss Anna Green was here this evening. She came to see Sudie.

Saturday Nov. 22nd 1873.

~~Friday~~

Well, is it possible that I have to write another day. Well, I do so there for I must commence. I have been ironing most all day. Aunt Sue Mitchell was here this evening. Diary, I have no news worth telling you to-day, as we have had no visitors. There is church to night at the Christian church. Mr. Lord has come. Sudie and Sam are going. Cousin Hattie Gay was here this evening. He came after cousin Mat Mc Kee's companion. She left her last Monday. I went to the store this evening for aunt Billie. Mrs. Stewart was buried yesterday evening. Aunt Sue Mitchell went to the burying. Lou went over to Mrs. Patterson's this morning to practice. She has not come back yet. Well Diary, I have told you all the news for to-day so I will bring this uninteresting journal to a close.

At home. November 23rd 1873.

Sunday Evening.

The dim shadows of twilight are gathering fast around us, and before it grows too dark I will try to jot down a few events of the past day. This has been exceedingly a disagreeable day. It has been raining hard all day long. I went to Sunday school and church this morning. I got a ticket. I was so proud of it. I was the only one went from our house. Sudie got ready to go, but did not have an umbrella. I saw a Sadie Ferguson and Alice Redenor at church. There was a great many there, for such a rainy day. We had seventy-five scholars in Sunday school this morning. Miss Mollie's class gave ~~fifty~~ fifty-five cents this morning. Sadie Ferguson and Ella Henderson went home with Lizzie Bean to dinner to-day. Aunt Sue Mitchell and Billie Moberley were here this evening. There is church tonight. I do not know whether I will go or not; I think I will if I can get any one to go with me. It is looking so cold this morning. I think it will snow instead of rain. I saw Mrs. Sydnor this morning, and she said that Nannie Dimp had been very sick, but she was almost well now. I am glad to hear she is better. I saw Dr. Bennett to day at church. Well I have told you all the news that has happened to-day.

Nov. 24th 1873.

Monday.

My little friend how will I address you. I have been sitting here at least a half an hour trying to think of something to write but my mind, like all other school girls, wanders here and there. This has been a very disagreeable day. It has been raining all day, and nearly all night last night.

I went to school to-day and recited all of my lessons perfectly. Mr. Patterson heard Bible this morning. He did not hear but one chapter. He said he did not have time. We had company nearly all day. Miss Nettie Talbott and aunt Sue Mitchell over here. I went down to the store this evening with Nettie. She told nearly every one she saw that she was coming in to spend the day with them this week. After she got up to our house she said she did not intend to go any place. She just told them to get rid of them. Mollie Forman was at home this evening. Also, Miss Mollie & did not hear our Grammar lesson this evening. She said it required a great deal of studying. She went over the lesson with us. I went down to Mrs. Talbott's this evening after school. Mr. Patterson lectured a while this morning. Diary, I could not tell you what it was about, but it was about little of every thing. Mr. Patterson did not hear our Algebra this evening. He did not have time.

Wednesday Night.

The day is drawing to a close, and I am seated in my room for the purpose of writing my diary. I went to school to-day. This has been a very pretty day, much prettier than it was yesterday, but still it is cold. Mr. Patterson did not hear Bible this morning. He said there was not much in the lesson. He also told us to get two more chapters. Tomorrow is "Thanksgiving" day. Mr. Patterson said he was not going to have any school. Christ is meeting at the church tomorrow. Miss Mollie did not hear Grammar this evening, last of the class was in the Philosophy class. Miss Mollie said she would hear the lesson Friday, and mark us for three days. Mollie Farmer and Fannie Deatherage were here this evening after school. Mr. Patterson sang this morning until twelve o'clock. Cousin Frank Cunningham was here to-day. Carrie went down to the store this evening after school. She got Sadie a new calico dress. Well, Diary I have no news to tell you so I will close for to day.

Friday.

Another day has passed away rapidly and finds me seated in the chapel for the purpose of writing my diary. My diary has just been corrected. I got Josie Ragan corrected it and I had Journal spelled with a small letter. I knew it was right, because Mr. Patterson has corrected my diary before Mattie Berroughs even did. We did not have any Society this evening.

Mrs Patterson sewed nearly all the morning. Miss Severa Ragan was up in the chapel this morning but she did not stay long. She said she was going home. Miss Mollie heard Grammar this morning as she did not hear the lesson Wednesday. Dannie Talbott was at our house this morning before school. Miss Nellie is sent word yesterday, she was coming to spend the day to-day at our house. Miss Maggie Scott was here to-day. She came to see Sudie. I came home this evening before school was out. I do not know whether Mr. Patterson gets in the diaries or not.

Nov. 29th 1873.

Saturday.

The dim shadows of twilight are gathering fast around us and before it grows too dark, I will write a few lines in my diary. I have no news to tell you to-day Diary
I went down to Capt. Ehrie's this evening Miss Ehrie has just returned from the River. She brought some pretty calico with her.
Mrs. Massie and Mrs. Ann Talbott were here this morning. Lou and Bonnie went over to Mrs Patterson's this evening. Lee went to Pasclico, I went down to Mrs. Brownes this evening. Miss Rellie Talbott went after her dress this evening. Katie Scott was here yesterday. She came to see Sudie. I went over to Mrs. Pattersons this evening for Sudie after awhile Thomas' Geometry, for her to learn her Sunday school lessons for tomorrow. I broke a ride this evening, on Lon Talbotts horse. Well Diary I have told you all the news so I will close, as it is growing late and I am sleepy.

Nov. 8th, 11th 1879.

Sunday.

Another Sunday has passed away, and finds me seated by a stand writing my diary. This has been a very pretty day. I went to Sunday school this morning. We had 184 scholars, more than we have ever had, in our school. Mrs. Patterson divided our class to-day. The girls Mollie Grayson Nora Cobb Lizzie Dobyns and myself in Mrs. Davis class. I do not like her as well as I did Miss Mollie, but I guess I will after I get well acquainted with her. We did not know our lesson very well to-day, but as one had studyed but Nora Cobb. I went over to Mrs. Pattersons this evening to see the girls. I had so much fun with Belle Smith. Sallie Jones was over there she came home with Bettie Jones from church this morning. Aunt Bettie went down town this evening I do not know where she went. Well Diary, I have no more to tell you to day as nothing has happened. I have my lessons to get tonight and I don't know my Chemistry, but that does not recite until Tuesday. Well, I will close for to-day.

Monday. December 8 1895

The day is drawing to a close and here I sit in my little room, for the purpose of writing my journal. This has been a very pretty day. All nature seems lovely, but I miss the voices of the dear little birds which have flown away to a warmer climate from the approaching winter to never return until the beautiful spring comes again.

I went to school to-day. and am glad to-say I was perfect in all of my lessons. Mrs. Patterson heard Bible this morning, most all of the little girls missed. and did not read the lesson over. Mrs. Patterson said the next time they came in the ~~class~~ and did not read the lesson over he would stand them up in a chair and whip them also.

We have had company most all-day. Wallace—Montague Mrs. Massie and Mamie Wilson were here. Miss Mollie heard Grammar this evening.
She said she did not see why we gave her such a bad lesson. and when aunt Lou heard it we al-way gave her a good lesson. I thought we had a very good lesson [illegible] to-day, but she said it was the worst lesson she had ever heard since she had been hearing the ~~lesson~~ class. Mary Bean spent the day here to-day. One of the girls brought some fire crackers to school this morning. and Zerna
Harp got hold of one of them, and shot it off.
She threw it at me. and burnt a hole in my sack. Mr. Patterson heard our Algebra this evening
We knew the lesson very well. Willie Thomas and Lizzie Dobyns had to have a little help on the example that Mr. Patterson gave out to them. He put them on the black board. He also put Willie Bean and Martin Brown. I went to the store this evening for aunt Bettie and also to Mr. Woodwards store.
Mrs. Hedges and Mose spent the day ~~a to day~~ at the Institute to-day. When I got to school this morning, ~~and~~ they were eating breakfast. Mr. P.
and it was nearly nine o'clock. Diary, I have my Chemistry to get to night and it is ~~fifty~~ 15 pages. I know it is is hard, so you must excuse me to-night.

ers a ners lesson. He put Nannie Dalliway Lena Trimble Aeneie Wilcox and Martin Brown to the black board. Ida Dobyns is sick in bed. Lizzie told some of the girls to-day. I miss her so much from school. I am sorry she is sick.

Wednesday. December 10th 1873.

This has been a very pretty day. The sun has been shining very brightly all day. I went to school to-day. Mr. Patterson heard our Bible lesson this morning. The lesson was short but very interesting. Aunt Sal was here to-day. Clifford came with her. Miss Mollie heard our Grammar this evening. I was not perfect in it. I missed one. I recollect it very much. I have been perfect all the time until to-day. Ida Dobyns came to school to-day. I am glad she has gotten well. Miss Nellie Talbott spent the day here to-day. She begged Sudie to go home with her so hard that she went. I do not know when she will return. Miss Annie Rolls was here to-day She came to have a dress cut. Mr. Patterson heard our Algebra this evening. I belive ers one ers the class understood the examples. but Nannie Barrow[illegible]. I worked all of them but did not understand them. I went to the store

Mary Bean was here this evening. Diary, I know of nothing to write as nothing has happened worth writing in my diary. I worked all of my Arithmetic examples for Monday. Lizzie Dobyns and Fannie Deatherage worked them with me. Mr. Dobyns came home this evening and brought Ida a nice ring.

December. 12th 1873.

Friday.

Another day has passed away, and I find me seated in the chapel for the purpose of writing my diary.

This has been a very dark and dreary looking day. It looks so much like rain.

I went to school to-day. Mr. Patterson went to Mt Sterling this morning. He left the larger girls to correct the diaries. mine was corrected and I got forty four. Miss Bettie Jones corrected. Miss Mollie heard our Grammar this evening. I was perfect in it. I believe no one missed in the class but Charlie Low. He did not sing any to-day. as Mr. Patterson was not there. Aunt Ann was here this evening. Aunt Bettie and Sudie went down to Mrs. Harris this evening.

yesterday evening after school. Sadie stayed all night with Mrs. Massie last night. When she got home this morning. We were through eating breakfast, Sallie Jones came in school to-day with her face all swollen up. I guess she had the tooth ache. Diary, you must excuse me tonight. I do not know only Chemistry and I must stop writing and get it as it comes the first thing in the morning.

December. 11th 1873.

Thursday.

My little friend diary how will I address you. I have been sitting here at least a half an hour trying to think of something to write in my diary. But my mind like all other school girls wander here and there. This has been a very pretty day. It looked so much rain this morning, but this evening it was a beautiful evening. Mr. Patterson did not hear any Lessons to-day. We have been singing all day. We sang with all the school. Sadie came home this evening. Miss Alice Davis was here to-day. Miss Mitchell was here today and spent the day. Mr. Patterson gave us twelve more pages in Chemistry to-day. That is 24 pages for Monday. We will have to study hard to get them. I went down to Mrs. Massie's this evening for Sadie.

Mary Bean was here this evening. Diary, I know of nothing to write as nothing has happened worth writing in my diary. I worked all of my Arithmetic examples. Lizzie Dobyns and Fannie Deatherage worked them with me. Mr. Dobyns came home this evening and brought Ida a nice ring.

Saturday.

Well, is it possible that I have to write another diary. well I do as I must obey. This has been a very pretty day but very cold and windy. The sun has been shineing very brightly. All nature seems lovely. but I miss the dear little birds songs. They have gone to a warmer climate never to return again until the beautiful Spring time.

Diary I have nothing much to tell you. to-day, or nothing of importance has taken place. There is going to be meeting to-night at the Christian Ch. Lord preacher. I am going I guess. Lizzie Dobyns was here this morning she came after a slipper pattern for Miss Nannie Greene. Aunt Belle made me such a pretty hat to-day. Aunt Sue Mitchell was here this evening.

Aunt Bettie Sadie and myself stoped down to Mrs. Massis this evening after church. Mr. Patterson came home to-day from Mt. Sterling. Amelia Cavanaugh Sisters came yesterday. They just did get here before the rain. Well, Diary I have told you all the news I will close for to night and as it is late.

Sunday.

What a lonesome day this has been Here I sit trying to write my diary and get my lessons before night. This has been exceedingly a beautiful day. The sun has been shining very brightly all day. I went to Sunday school and church this morning. I did not know my Sunday school lesson very well to-day. as I did not have time to learn it last night. Cousin Fannie Stofer Matt Mc Kay and Ben Stofer were at meeting this morning. Aunt Bettie went down to Mr. Bowers this evening Sadie went with her also. There is meeting to-night I believe I will go if Aunt Bettie and Sadie goes. I think I know half of my Chemistry lesson for Tuesday. and I can work all of my Algebra lessons for to morrow. I believe that is all of my lessons. Laura Hunton and Wallace Montague were here this evening. They came to see Sadie. but she was not at home. I must read my Bible lesson over before night

Mary Cobb & sister and Nannie Deatherage's ma came this evening. It is raining & snows very hard. it seems as if it does nothing but rain.

Monday.

This has been a very pretty day. The sun has been shining very brightly all day. I went to school to-day and recited all of my lessons perfectly Mr. Patterson & Dilwot hear Bible this morning. I do not know who he did not hear it. Miss Mollie did not hear our grammar this evening. She said she would hear it twice a week. She will hear it every Tuesdays and Thursdays. I would rather for her to hear it on Mondays and Wednesdays, because all of my lessons come on Tuesday. Aunt Lou was at our house this evening after school. She wanted Annie Bettie to go down to Mrs. Maxie's with her Mrs. Sue Mitchell was here also. Mr. Patterson made Lou Bemhill, Emma Collins and Julia Hutchings stand up in a chair to-day because they missed their Philosophy lessons. Mary Jones did not come to school to-day. Mr. Patterson heard Algebra this evening. We did not know it very well. He put Lizzie Bean and Frankie Jones Patterson and myself to the Black Board. I worked all of the examples that Prof. gave out to me.

Sadie is busy to-night making presents for the Christmas tree. Diary, you must excuse me for to-night as I have my Chemistry lesson to get: and it is twenty-four pages. A. M. Town. Esq.

Tuesday. December 16th 1873.

Another day has passed away and finds me seated in the chapel trying to write my diary. This has been a lovely day. It seems as if it was a day in spring. but I miss the dear little birds songs which used to sing so sweetly. I went to school to-day and am glad to say I recited all of my lessons perfectly. Mr. Patterson did not hear our Chemistry until evening. We knew the lesson very well. No one missed but Lena Trimble. Mr. Patterson did not hear our Arithmetic. I was so glad that he did not hear it; because I did not work all of the examples. He said it was a very long lesson and some of the class had not worked half of them. Diary, I feel very bad to-day. After sitting up until eleven o'clock last night: I went down town this evening. for the first time for nearly a week. Miss Mollie heard our Grammar this evening. I was perfect in it. She said she would have read out the report to-day, but she had'nt made them out yet: School is almost out. Mr. Patterson is hearing the last class now. Mr. Jim Brown is drinking again. He came up to Mr. Patterson's last night and made Lizzie Reid play on the piano for him. Jennie said Lizzie was afraid of him. Aunt Bettie is making Lou such a pretty dress. Well, I have nothing more to say that has happened worth writing in my diary to-day.

The beautiful sun is just sinking behind the western hills. He sees birds adieu to the terrestrial globe. How beautiful to behold the glimmering rays of the setting sun as he leaves the earth to be veiled in darkness, for a time. And then to see the beautiful orb, in its ever during course through the blue canopy of heaven, as it rises at morning to pursue its daily career to shine bright and resplendent over all that inhabits this globe. Such blessings, dear friend constantly being showered upon us from the great creator. Mr. Patterson did not hear Bible this morning. I guess he will not hear it this week. He also did not hear Philosophy. Pattie Jordy heard the little Algebra class. Mr. Patterson heard our Algebra class this evening. We knew the lesson very well. He gave us a new lesson. Mrs. Sue Mitchell was here to-day. Aunt Bettie and Sadie went down to Mr. Dobyns last night to sit until bedtime. Diary I can not write any more to night for I have my Chemistry lesson to learn.

Thursday. December, 18th, 1873.

This has been quite a dark and cloudy looking day. The sun has not been shining much to-day. I went to school this morning and the first thing I heard when I got there was Mr. Patterson please sing to-day. and "sure enough" he did sing and sang all day. He sent Tommie down town after Mr. Johnnie Seal and Mr. DeVeiller to come up and help sing. Wallace Montague and Laurd Winslow were here this evening. They come to see Sadie. I am going to write to Katie Yingling to night. Tomorrow is the day to correct the diaries. I hope I will get forty-five because I have not gotten forty-five but once this session. Diary, what do you think, it is raining I have been thinking it would rain all day. Clifford was here this evening after school. He came home with Tommie. Sadie went down to Mrs. Maries this evening awhile. Aunt Belle and Sadie are invited over to Aunt Lou Patterson's to night. I do not know whether they will go or not as it is raining now. Hannie Hodges and Mollie Fossom were here this evening after school.

Willie Mosier and Lonnie Patterson were here also. I must stop writing for tonight.

North Middletown, Ky.

Friday. Dec. 19th 1873.

Another day has passed away and it finds me seated in the Chapel for the purpose of writing my diary. This has been a very disagreable day. It has been raining most all-day. I went to school to-day but did not recite any lessons. Mattie Burroughs Bettie Jones Ida Dobyns and Sallie Jones corrected the diaries this morning. I got forty-four. I had but one mistake. Sallie Deatherages ma and Sister came to see her yesterday evening after school. Nevy Cobbs sister came also. They are going to stay until Monday. Miss Mollie is staying up in the Chapel this morning keeping order. Mr. Patterson is down here. She told her to not to let one of them to leave their seats without permission nor speak either Mrs. Burroughs came after Mat and Nan this morning to take them home. I believe Annie Farr and Julia Hutchings went with them. I am learning how to bead. I made me a pin cushion last night. Miss Mollie did not hear Grammar to-day. She said she would hear it Monday

Saturday.

Well this has been a very pretty day. but miserable cold. the sun has not been shining much to-day. I have been ironing most all-day. Diary I have nothing much to say to-day as nothing much has happened. Aunt Lou is here to-night: just laughing and talking away. Mr. Boots was here this evening. Pa went over to the church this evening. and when he got back he said that Mrs. Hart and Settles had the bees out-esp. I do not know what they will do to-morrow, there is going to be there to-morrow. Lizzie Reid and Annie Hart came over after Aunt Lou and brought Cliffords with them. Lou went over to Mr. Patterson's this evening to practice. Well Diary, Christmas will be here in four or five days. I can't hardly wait until it comes. although I am not expecting any thing on the tree. Most all of the boarder have gone home. Mr. Burroughs came after Hattie and Nannie yesterday. Mary Bean was here to day. Sallie Deatherages has not come home yet. Nannie said they were not going home until Monday. Well, I will close as I have told you all the news that has happened worth writing in my diary.

Sunday.

Another day has passed away and it finds me seated by a stand trying to write my diary. This has been exceedingly a cold day. Although the sun has been shining very brightly. I did not go to Sunday School nor [illegible] meeting either. Diary I have not much news to tell you to-day, as I have not been any where. Sadie Lee & Lennie went to Sunday school. Lee got a nice present this morning. it was a set of cuff buttons from Mr. Bobbs. Lennie went over to Mr. Patterson's this evening with Nannie Brown to see Mollie Deatherage. Mrs. Deatherage and all the school girls take walk this evening. Sadie Bobbs came to Lennie with Lee from Sunday school this morning. Nannie Brown was here this evening. Well, Diary, I have told you all the news that has happened to-day. To-morrow is School day and I do not know my lessons so I must stop writing and get them.

North Middletown, Ky.

Monday.

This has been a very pretty day, but exceedingly cold. I do believe it will snow before night. I went to school to-day, but did not recite any lessons. Mrs. Patterson has been over to the church all day. Pattie Judy worked us in Algebra a while this morning. None of the class had worked the the examples. I went down town this evening, but did not stay long. Sudie went down to see Evans this evening, and also to Mrs. Chevis store. Diary, I haven't much to say to night, as I know of nothing to write. Mrs. Brown is drunk again. She has been drunk for a week. Miss Bettie Jones said she was looking for Miss Bettie Bunch to-morrow. I want to see her as bad. I would rather for her to come to the Institute than any one I know of. Mrs. Deatherage and Miss Pattie Cobb went home this morning. I can hardly wait until Christmas comes. I am nearly dead to see the Christmas tree. I must close to night, and get my lessons for Prof. will hear our lessons tomorrow Dec. 23rd 1873.

Tuesday.

Another disagreeable day has passed away and it finds me seated in my little room trying to write my diary. This has been such such a disagreeable day. We had a very heavy snow last night. I was so surpised when I awoke this morning and found snow on the ground. Miss Bettie Bergin came this morning. I never was so glad to see her. Her Pa came with her. Aunt Lou is here tonight. I dont see how I can write when aunt Lou is talking and laughing. I went down town and bought such a pretty scarf for aunt Bettie this morning. Miss Mollie said she was going to hear our Grammar this morning, but she did not. She will hear it to morrow. Aunt Lou said Mr. Patterson was going to take the girls over to the church to morrow to sing. I do hope he will because I do not know any lessons. I have not recited a lesson to-day. I came home this morning about 11 o'clock. All of the girls went over to the church this morning and stayed all day. Sudie went over there also. Well Diary, I have no more news to tell you to night so I will close.

Dec. 24th 1873.

Wednesday.

Well, here I sit by a bright little fire trying to write my diary. This has been a very cold day although the sun has been shining. I have not been to school to-day because there wasn't any. I went down to Mrs. Browns this evening. Aunt Bettie was there also. Connie went to the P.O. this evening but did not get any mail. Diary, I haven't much to say to-night but I will promise to say plenty to-morrow. All the school went up & over to the church to sing. We all got to see the presents that was on the tree. There was not many on it. I think the tree is beautiful. Aunt Bettie and Sadie went down to the store this evening and brought some things. I went down down to Mrs. Mason's this evening. I will store to-night as I am looking for "Santa Claus" and it late I am afraid he will not come.

Dec. 26th 1873.

Christmas day. Thursday.

This has been a very cold day. It is very slopy. The snow has all melted off of the ground, and it is so mucky. Heigh! Ho!! Fiddle sticks and connecticks. Christmas comes but once a year and then only should I be not be in a great glee, since it comes so seldomly. I was not very fortunate to-day. "Santa Claus" arrived here very late last night but was not very heavily loaded. I guess his Reindeers were so very tired, and his sleigh broke down, after going the road went. I suppose he had to foot it up the road, and therefore I attribute it to his age,

He being so old he could not pack much. What a curious being this "Santa Claus" must be. Just to think no one ever gets a kiss at him, I have often imagine that he resembles those plaster of paris peddlers. I guess ever strand of hair in his head is trying with a toy, at Christmas time. It is a great wonder to me that he is not bald headed for some of his toys are so heavy that it seems that they will pull every strand out. I have not been any where to-day. I am going to the Christmas tree tonight but I am not expecting any presents Well, I will close as I will tell you more tomorrow.

Dec. 26th 1879.

Friday.

This has been quite a disagreeable day. It has been snowing. I think it will be a very heavy snow by morning. I am staying over to Mrs. Patterson tonight with Amelia Kavanaugh. I have been running down town most all day. The first place I went to-day, was down to Mrs. Brown, but Mr. Brown was so drunk that I did not stay long, after that I went over to the church with Aunt Sue Mitchell. I got a few paper flowers over there. Amelia Kavanaugh and Lillie Jones were here to-day. I went down to Mrs. Jeckyl's grocery with them to buy some candy. We also went down to see Tom Talbott & Mrs. Talbott was not there. She was in Paris. I went to the Christmas tree last night and got three presents. The — tree was beautiful. of course it would be pretty to one as I had never seen one before. Lizzie Bean got a great many presents. there was two watches on the tree, one for Mollie Mc Kay and Mrs. Jeckyl. Lizzie Bridges is going to stay all night with Jennie to night. Miss Jennie Ragan came down yesterday evening. Well, I have nothing more to say to night so I will stop writing.

Dec. 27th 1873.

Saturday.

This has been a very disagreable and cold day. It has been snowing most all day. I have not been any where to day but the store. I went down this evening after some bread. It has been snowing most all day. Miss Jennie Ragan and Clifford were here this morning. They stay nearly all day. I did not go to the P.O. this evening. This has been such a dull Christmas. Everybody feels along with the usual sober look. No one seems gay. I do blame the saying "go it while you're young." I have had nothing but fire crackers for two or three nights. Last night the young gentlemen from the country, came round to the South and shot off Independence balls. They did look so pretty from the front. Well, I will close.

Sunday.

Dec. 28th 1873.

This has been a very cold day. The snow is still on the ground. I did not go to church this morning nor Sunday school either. I am not going anymore if I have to go in Mrs. Davis class. I do not like her much as a teacher. Mr. Lard preaches here to-day. Lillie Jones came home with Sadie from church to dinner. I went over to Mrs. Patterson's this evening with her, but I did not stay long. I went to church tonight. Mr. Lard preached a very long sermon. I thought he never would get done. Aunt Betty Sadie and Lonnie went down to Mrs. Browns this evening. I do not know whether Mr. Brown is sober or not. Mr. Brown from Paris is up visiting Martin. There is going to be a pound party tomorrow night at Mrs. Dobyns. Sadie and myself are invited but I do not expect to go. Lou went over to Mrs. Patterson this evening and stayed nearly all the evening. I have my piece written for the Paper, but I guess we will not have any Paper this week and put it off until next week. Diary I must close for to night, and as it is late, and I am sleepy.

Dec. 29th 1873.

Monday.

Evening again has come, and what shall I write in my journal. The best way to answer this question is to commence and see what I can accomplish by a little exertion of my mind. I could write something, if my mind was not so fluctuated. I do wonder if he has gone home, but I suppose not.

I went to school to-day, but did not recite any lessons. Prof. has been sitting in the Chapel all day. He heard Latin this evening, and that was the only lesson he heard. He said he would hear all the lessons to-morrow. Miss Mollie taught us in the Chapel to-day. She said she was going to hear Grammar to-day but she did not hear it. Miss Annie Ragan has not gone home yet. She is going to-morrow. Mary Jones did not come to school to-day. We had quite a small school to-day, nearly all of the boarders went home but six. Miss Mattie and Nannie Burroughs Annie Sue Julia Hutchings Amy Cobb and Amelia Cavanaugh. I went to the P.O. this morning, and got a catalogue for aunt Bettie. I also went down to Mrs. Spillman's grocery. Sadie and myself are invited to the "grand party" tonight. It is going to be at Mrs. Dobyns. I cannot go I have my lessons to get: and as we are expecting company. Aunt Lou and Miss Annie are over here to-night. Lou Talbott is going to have a party to-night out in the country. I am invited to a party Wednesday night; but I do not know whether I will go or not. Mrs. Hart was here to-night. Diary I must stop writing for I have my Chemistry lesson to learn.

Dec. 30th 1873.

Tuesday.

Long since the shadows of night envelopid our earth; but here I sit in solitude trying to think of something interesting to tell my journal. but I find nothing. This has been a beautiful day. but very cloudy. I went to school to-day. We had a larger school to-day than we did yesterday. Jennie Hulett came yesterday evening after school. Mrs. Patterson heard our Chemistry this morning. We knew the lesson very well.

I believe we are missed. Miss Mollie heard our Grammar lesson this morning. She made out our report for this month. Albert Trimble got the highest marks. Mr. Patterson heard Arithmetic this morning. I was not in the class. I was in the Grammar class. I did not work all of the examples. I went down on the street this evening after school. He had company to eat until bed time last night. Mrs. Mason. Mrs. Mitchell Mrs. Patterson and Miss Jennie Ragan. They brought Lizzie Bridges and Lizzard Patterson with them. Miss Jennie Ragan has not gone home yet. I do not know when she is going. Day after to-morrow is New years. Mr. Patterson said he wanted to get diaries this week from the girls. I do not think he will get a good one from me. Fannie Hedges got back to the Co. this morning. I heard she had run off with Mr. Kerr. Miss Fannie Keese and Miss Annie Dreese were here to-day. They came to see Sadie. Mrs. Dobyns was at our house this morning. There is a party tonight at Mrs. Evans. I do not expect to go. although I am invited, I must stop writing for tonight. I must get my lesson and work my Algebra examples.

Dec. 31, this 1873.

Wednesday.

I have just returned from school and am seated by a stand for the purpose of writing my diary. I haven't much news to tell you to-day. as nothing much has happened. This has been a very pretty day. The sun has been shining very brightly all-day. I went to-school to-day. The first thing that Mr. Patterson heard this morning was Bible. The lesson was very interesting, and short. I was perfect in it. I went down town yesterday evening for Amelia Haraungton. Jennie White and Ella Hopkins. Mr. Patterson heard our Algebra this evening. I believe all of the girls and boys worked the examples. Mr. Patterson gave us a new lesson. There is a party at Mrs. Beard's to-night. I am invited but I do not expect to go. I have my lessons to get. Sadie went last night to come at Mrs. Evans. She did not get back until eleven o'clock. Mr. P. did not hear Arithmetic to-day. I guess he will hear it to-morrow. Diary, to-morrow is New years. I do not think Mr. Patterson ought to teach school to-morrow, but I know he will. Mrs. Harris was here to-day. but she did not stay long. Miss Joe came yesterday evening. I was real glad to see her. Hannie Brown is sick in bed, so I heard to-day. Aunt Love Miss Annie Ragan Lizzie Bean and Addie Stewart

Thursday.

School is nearly out and I am seated in the chapel for the purpose of writing my journal. This has been a very disagreable day. It has been raining most all-day. I went to school this morning, and am glad to-day I was perfect in all of my lesson. Mr. Patterson heard our Arithmetic this morning. He also heard our Chemistry. He knew the lesson very well. Belle Smith came yesterday evening. Mr. Elisha Brown and Mr. Willie Neal came up yesterday, after Sadie [illegible] to go skating, but she did not go. They also went up after Lizzie Bean. She went with them but was alone girls went and she came back. Miss Mollie heard our Grammar this evening. I was perfect in it. I believe no one missed. I was invited to a party last night up to Mrs. Bians but I did not go. Miss Addie Stewart was at our house to-day. There is no party to night. They gave it up until Friday night. Mr. Brown is drinking again. he is worse now than he was last week. Tomorrow is this day that Prof. corrects the diaries. I hope I will get forty-five. I have never gotten it but once. I went down street this evening. Today is the first day of January. The Old year is gone to return no more. Jan. 2nd 1874.

Friday.

Har another day truly gone. Yes and though the sun lingers yet he will be entirely obscured from our gaze. Finding myself alone in the presence of my friend, I cannot resist the temptation of conversing with you, Now Diary, I will not promise to write a good diary to night for I know of nothing that has transpired.

This has been a very dark and cloudy looking day, It looks so much like rain. I went to school to-day, but did not recite any lesson, Prof. and the larger girls corrected the diaries this evening They corrected for two weeks. I got forty-three both weeks. I was very well satisfied this week with the number I got; although I got forty-four last week. Aunt Sri Mitchell was here even this morning. Sadie went down to Mrs. Barnes this evening, Mrs. Christia came up home with her She also went down to Mrs. Harris, to see Laura Winston, but she returned in a few minutes, Prof. did not tell us to-day whether to write a piece for the Paper to hand in Monday or not. I do not know whether to write one or not. but I hope we do not.

Jan. 8th 1874

Saturday.

Another day has passed away and I'm finds me seated in my little room for the purpose of writing my diary. This has been a very pretty day, but very windy. It looked very much like rain this morning, but it turned out to be a beautiful day.

Diary, I haven't much to tell you to-day for I know of nothing that has transpired. Miss Kavanaugh was here to-day, to bring Aunt Lous dress. I went down to Mr. Dobyns. store this evening for Grandma, I got her a beautiful shawl. Mr. Laird preaches here to night & Sadie and myself are going. Elisha Barron left our little town this morning on his way home. He went out home with Addie Stewart. They were here last night and it a while. Torrens Patterson and Willie McClanahan were here this evening. They were also here to night. Diary, I am so sick to night it will not do to tell you what it is about. Lou went over to Mr. Patterson this evening, to practice. Lizzie Dobyns was here this yesterday evening. Well, it is getting late and I am so sleepy that I will have to close writing for to-night.

Jan. 4th 1874.

Sunday.

Being able to know that the past events of the day are yet to be recorded, I have gotten up my writing materials and seated myself for that purpose. This has been a dark and gloomy day. It has been sprinkling some to-day.

I went to church this evening, but did not go to Sunday school. There was not many there, I guess it was on the account of the weather. To-day is awful windy. There is a party out to Mr. Will Scott's tomorrow night. I am ~~not invited. I expect not go.~~ Aunt Belle did not go to church this morning. I do not know whether she will go tonight or not. Billie Patterson and Lizzie Reid came to the Institute yesterday evening. Lizzie went home last Friday and did not get back until yesterday. It is raining now I do hope we will have some pretty weather, we have had such bad weather for three or four weeks. I don't think I will go to church tonight. It is raining so hard, I think it will be raining tonight. We have had no visitors to-day at all.

Monday.

Round the cheerful fire-side ~~well~~ all sit to-night thinking of something to write in my diary. I have been sitting here at least a half an hour for the purpose of doing a few lines in my diary. This has been a very disagreeable day, it is so cloudy, it rained last night and also snowed, I went to school to-day.

Mr. Patterson heard Birds this morning. the lesson was very interesting indeed. We had four chapters to recite, Mr. Patterson gave us a long lecture on the lesson, Mamie Watson is spending the night with me to-night. Sadie has gone to the party to-night with to Mr. Will Scotts. Mr. Patterson did not hear our Algebra this evening. He lectured so long this morning that he did not have time. Miss Mollie heard our Grammar this evening, I was perfect in it. She said she going to hear it one day and another day, Annie Harp got back to the Institute late yesterday evening. I received a letter from Kate Tingle this evening. I was so glad to hear from her. Mamie Davis was here this evening. I am going to take music lessons commence to-morrow. Annie Deatherage is going to give them to me. Mary Jones did not come to school to-day.

I guess it was on the account of the weather. Kerry Cobb is sick in bed. Bell Smith was in the school room to-day. She has been sick with a sore throat.

Jan. 6th 1874.

Tuesday.

Once more I find myself seated for the purpose of writing my Journal, I haven't much news to tell you to-day. I went to school this morning. This has been a very disagreeable day. It is so slushy, It rained very hard last night and this [illegible].

Mr. Patterson heard our Chemistry lesson this morning. We did not know the lesson very well, as he said. Aunt Low heard our Grammar this morning. I missed one. I did hate it so bad. Minnie Wilson spent the night with me last night; Ella Howse got to leave and went home. Annie stayed at the Institute. Sadie went to the party last night; She said she had a splendid time. I recieved a letter from Hattie Yingle last night. Mr. Patterson gave us 18 pages to get in Chemistry, I think he gave us too much. Mr. Patterson heard our Arithmetic this morning. He put Annie Wilson, Charlie Lord, Willie Bean and Thomas Patterson to the black board. They did not know how to work the

Wednesday.

While meditating quietly upon the past, and thinking of its many, many sorrows, the thoughts of my dear Journal and its numerous pages ran into my mind. So now I will endeavor to fill one among the many pages with a part of my school history. This has been a very disagreeable day indeed. It has been snowing nearly all day. The ground is so sleety. It rained last night and then froze. It is a very traveling I went to school to-day. Mrs. Patterson heard Bible the first thing this morning. I did not miss in it. Mrs. Sue Mitchell was at our house to-day and spent the day. Miss Mollie heard our Grammar to-day. We knew the lesson very well. Mr. Patterson did not hear one Algebra to-day. I do not know why he didn't hear it unless he did not have time. We sang all the morning. We sang all of our pieces that our choir sung. I went over to Mr. Patterson's this evening after school. Mary Jones did not come to school to-day. I heard to-day that Mattie Mark and Mollie McKay were not coming back to school any more. I hope they will

"The Round Party" is going to be out to Mr. Schroders to-night. I guess Sadie will go, as she has never failed to go to any of them. Journal I have nothing more to tell you to-day as nothing of importance has taken place worth recording in my Journal.

Thursday. Jan. 8th 1874.

Night has drawn her sable mantle over us, the bright hours of day has passed away. How pleasant it is to have a few leisure moments, to spend in meditating upon the events of the past day to call to mind all that has passed, and write it down on these dear old pages to read in after life. What a pleasure it will be to us, when we have stopped school to read in this book, things we did when we came to school to Prof. Patterson, This has been a very disagreeable day. The sun came out to-day, and melted some of the snow off of the ground, but the ice is still on the trees.

I went to school to-day, Mr. Patterson heard our Chemistry this morning. We begged him to let us get part of the lesson. He gave us 20 pages to get. He at last gave us ten. Mr. Patterson heard Arithmetic this morning. He put a Sum Deatherage Lizzie Bean Lena Trimble and Charlie Low to the black board. Aunt Lou heard our Grammar this evening. We did not know the lesson very well. Aunt Bettie and Sadie went down to Mr. Mitchells to-night to sit a while. I went over to Mr. Parrishes this evening after school. It is so much more pleasanter than it was yesterday. I do hope it will keep warmer, for we have had such bad weather. Sadie went out to the "Pound Party" last night at Mr. Schroders, She said she had a very nice time.

Friday,

While meditating quietly upon the past, and thinking of its many, many, pages the thought of my dear journal ran into my mind, So now I will endeavor to fill one leaf among the many, with a part of my school history. This has been a very pretty day. The sun has been shineing very brightly all day. I went to school to-day. Prof. heard all of the lessons to-day. We first heard Philosophy and then Chemistry. We knowed it very well. He is going to hear it Monday. He also gave us ten pages. Mary Hamby went in the Philosophy class this morning. Lou did not go to school to-day, nor yesterday either. Sadie is going to stay all night with Mrs. Alexie to-night

I love cousin Hannah and dont you love cousin Martin and Annie (I will ever do as I have never had.

Mr. Patterson heard our Algebra and Arithmetic this evening, There was only four in the class that understood the examples. Nannie Burroughs Mamie Deatherage ~~Lizzie~~ Dobyns and my-self were the only ones ~~that~~ did not that could work them, Miss Mollie heard our Grammar this evening. I missed one, and regretted it very much. When I came from school this evening I found Grandma sick in bed, I went down to Mr. Browns this evening for Aunt Bettie. Journal I will close for I to-night.

Saturday.

Jan. 19th 1874.

My little friend diary how will I address you I have been sitting here at least a half an hour try-ing to think of something to write; but my mind like all other school girls wander here and there. This has been a very pretty day. The sun has been shineing very brightly all-day but now he has hid his bright face, I did not go over to Mr. Patersons this evening. I was this morning, to practice. I went down to Mr. Browns this evening, and also to Mrs. Collins and Mrs. Woodward grocery for Aunt Bettie. Annie Harp and Amelia Kavanaugh were here this evening, They came to see

Sadie, Dr. Davis was here to-day. He came to see who was sick. Grandma was very sick last night and we sent for him then. He did not get back from the county until, to-day, and he said he thought she would come and see who was sick. Sunday.

Night has drawn her sable mantle over us. The bright hours of has away. How pleasant it is to have a few pl leisure moments to spend in meditating upon the events of the past day. to call to mind all that has passed and write it down on these clean pages to read in after life. What a pleasure it will be to me, when we have stopped school, to read in this book, all the things that happened when we went to school to Prof. Patterson This has been a very pretty day. The sun has been out most all day. It has melted some of the snow off of the ground. I did not go to Sunday school and church this morning. Grandma was sick and I stayed home with her. All the rest of the children went; but the came back home as soon as Sunday school was over. Sadie stayed ~~to~~ to church & I went down to Mr. Bowers this evening. Aunt Lou and Mr. Patterson were at our house this evening. I must close for to night.

My little friend Diary, how will I address you, I have been sitting here at least a half an hour trying to write my diary, but my mind like all this school girls wanders here and there. This has been a very pretty day. The sun has been shining very brightly all day. I went to school to-day. Mr. Patterson heard Bible this morning. It was very interesting and short. We had a new scholar this morning, Lillie Jones. Mr. Patterson heard our Rhetoric this evening also. He is going to hear it every day. Miss Mollie heard our Grammar this evening. We did not know the lesson very well she made us get it over, and sit on the recitation bench and get it over. Lucy Talbott came to school to-day for the first time for two weeks. Mr. Patterson heard Algebra and Arithmetic this evening, I worked all of the examples in them both. Lizzie Bean did not work there all in Arithmetic and Mr. Patterson told her if she would not work the examples the next time she would put her back in the small class. Lou did not go to school to-day, she is sick.

Jan. 18th 1874.

Tuesday.

Being able to know that the part-events of the day are yet to be recorded, I have gotten up my writing materials and seated myself for that purpose. This has been a very disagreable day. It has been warming nearly all day. I went to school to-day. Mr. Patterson heard our Chemistry this morning. We knew the lesson very well. Aunt Sue Mitchell was here this evening after school. Mr. Patterson did not hear our Arithmetic and Algebra this evening. He did not have time. Nannie Burroughs took sick in school this morning, and had to leave the school room. Miss Mollie heard our Grammar this evening. Some of the class knew the lesson very well, and others did not know any thing about the lesson. Mrs. Jim Brown was here this evening. She came to see Grandma. She is sick. I heard to-day that Mr. Joe Harris was in Paris. The "Pound Party" is going to be up to Mr. Jerdys to night. They were coming here but they heard that Grandma was sick and they would not come. Miss Ella Offet marries Thursday to Mr. Ogden. They have sent out tickets. Mr. Patterson told the girls to bring their music to morrow that he was going to sing. I hope he will not hear any lessons.

Jan. 14th 1874.

Wednesday.

This has been a very pretty day, but very cool. It rained last night. I went to school to-day. Mr. Patterson & did not hear Chemistry He sang nearly all-day. Mr. Billie Hillman came in and sang tenor. Miss Mollie heard grammar this morning. Aunt Sue Mitchell was at our house this morning. Ida Dobyns has not been to school this week. She is sick. There is so many of the girls sick. I heard Belle Smith say, Annie Lou received a letter from her ma, stating that Delia Wilbert was better. I hope she will get well enough to come to school. The five months are out. Some of the girls are not coming the next. Dicka Letton and Ella Hopkins are going to close, and one or two others. The "Pound Party" did not go up to Mr. Judy's last night. Mary Jones did not come to school this morning. I do not know why unless it was too cloudy. Nannie Berroughs and Anna Yarr are sick in bed. Diary, I have much news to tell you to-day, as nothing has happened. I went down to Mr. Brown this evening after school, but did not stay long. I will stop writing for to-day.

Another day has passed away and it finds me seated in my little room for the purpose of writing my journal. This has been such a cold day. I believe it is one of the coldest days we have had this winter. I went to school to-day. There was not many day scholars there, they went to Mrs. Ogden's wedding. Mrs. Patterson heard Chemistry this morning, I was perfect in it. There was not but five or six in the class. Annie Mitchell was here to-day. Mrs. Patterson heard Arithmetic and Algebra this evening. She put me to the board in both of them. I worked all of the examples in both of them. Mrs. Marie was here yesterday. She came to see Grandma. Miss Mollie heard Grammar this evening. We did not know it and she said she would keep us in after school. but we did not stay in long. Mrs. Jacky was here this evening and sit crystal bid time. I went over to Mrs. Patterson's this evening after school. Well, Journal, I must stop writing for to night.

Jan. 16th 1874.

Friday.

Another day has passed away, and it finds me seated in my little room for the purpose of writing my journal. This has been a very pretty day, but very cold. I went to school to-day and the first thing I heard when I got in the chapel, was Mrs. Patterson said we had to write compositions, I do hate to write a composition, but of course I had to write one if Mrs. Patterson said so. My subject was Home. I wrote all of it but two or three lines, most all of the girls had help on theirs. Mr. Patterson did not correct the diaries this morning. He sang over Mary Rodgers song with her, and heard Miss Mollie's Latin lesson. Miss Mollie told us she was going to hear our Grammar lesson this evening, and if we did not know it she would keep us in after school until we did know it. Mary Jones did not come to school to-day, nor yesterday either. Annie Wilson and Hannie did not come to school to-day. Miss Mollie taught up in the chapel this morning. We read our compositions this evening. Mrs. Mitchell and Lizzie were here this evening.

Evening again has come, and what shall I write in my journal. The best way to answer this question is to commence and do what can be accomplished by a little exertion, if my mind, I could write something if my [illegible] mind was not so flustrated. This has been a very pretty day, much more pleasanter than it was yesterday. The sun has been shining very brightly all day. It has melted some of the snow off of the ground. I went over to Mrs. Patterson this evening. Nannie Deatherage learnt me a song. Mr. Lard teaches here tonight. I am going. Sudie also is going. Aunt Betty is not going. She is sick. I did have so much fun over to Mr. Pattersons this evening with Melia Scarborough and Betty Jones. Lizzie Bean was over there. Aunt Sis Mitchell was here this evening. Nannie Hedges was here this evening also. She came to bring a spool of thread, aunt Lou sent her. Aunt Lou was here this evening. She said Clifford had the measles. but he had not broken out yet. Diary, I must close writing for to-night, for it is most after bed time.

Jan. 18th 1874.

Sunday.

The dim shadows of twilight are gathering fast around us, and before it grows too dark I will jot down a few lines in my journal. This has been a very pleasant day, much pleasanter than it was yesterday. It has been sprinkling some to-day, but the sun has been shining to-day. We had company to spend the day with us to-day, Cousin Mary Kempin and Cousin Edith were here, I did not go to Saturday school nor church this morning either. Aunt Bettie and Grandma are both sick. There is meeting to-night, I am going, if it does not rain, but I think it will rain. I went over to Mr. Perkins yesterday evening. Sergt Bean was over there too, Mr. Land came to Mr. Burgess for dinner to-day. Diary, I haven't much more to tell you to-night, as nothing has happened. Jan, 19th

Monday.

Another day has passed away, and it finds me seated in my little room for the purpose of writing my journal. This has been a very disagreeable day. It has been raining all day. I went to school this morning. Mr. Patterson heard Bible this morning. The lesson was very interesting, and short. It was known very well. Martin Brown threw a rock this morning, and it hit Jennie Patterson in the head and hurt him badly. Martin said he did not do it a purpose. Mr. Patterson heard Arithmetic this morning. He knew the lesson very well. Miss Mollie heard our Grammar this morning. She did not miss a word. Aunt Sue Mitchell was here this morning. Mr. Patterson heard our Chemistry lesson this morning. He knew the lesson very well, but I do not know whether I will know it tomorrow or not; because the lesson is torn out of my book. It will not be in it for five more lessons. I went over to Mr. Patterson this evening after school. Mrs. Patterson did not hear Algebra this evening. The dinner bell rang before school was out. Mr. Patterson was hearing Bettie Jones class, when it rang. Aunt Bettie and Sudie went down to Mr. John Trimble to-night. Mrs. Trimble and three of the children have the measles. Nannie Burroughs isn't any better to-day. Henry Cobb was in the school room to-day. We were all very much surprised to see her. Diary, I have told you all the news for to-night.

June, 20th 1874.

Tuesday.

This has been a very disagreeable day. It has been raining nearly all day. I went to school to-day. Mr. Patterson heard our Chemistry lesson this morning. He knows the lesson very well. He also recited Arithmetic Lizzie Dobyns Willie Bean Martin Brown and myself to the board. He showed how to work all the examples. There is a party out to Mr. John Arnolds to-night. I think they will have a bad night for it. Miss Joe is sick. Nannie Burroughs and Annie Farr are better to-day. I heard that Clifford was sick. I missed seeing out of the school room but I did not know he was sick. Charlie Love came to school to-day for the first time for a week. Mrs. Odem was at our house this evening. Aunt Bettie and Uncle went down to Mr. Mitchells last night and retired bed time. Lou is sick in bed. She has something like the measles. I do hope she hasn't got the measles. Mr. Patterson heard Algebra this morning we knew how to work the examples. Miss Mollie did not hear grammar this morning. I did not know it any way.

Jan. 21, 1874.

Wednesday.

A bright has drawn her mantle over us, the bright hours of day hast fasted away How pleasant it is to have a few leisure moments to spend in meditating upon the events of the past day, to call to mind all that has passed, and write it down on those clear pages to read in after life, What a pleasure it will be to us, when we have ceased school, to read in this book, things we did when we came to school to Prof. Patterson, This has been a very fruitful day. The sun has been shineing very bright-ly all-day. It seems so much like Spring to-day. We have been singing all-day. Mr. Billie Shillenan came up to sing tenor, He haven't but two songs to sing at the concert. Miss Mollie [illegible] heard our Gram-mar this evening. Don has the measles. We did not know a word of our Grammar lesson this evening, and the grades us sit on the recitation bench while school was out, Mrs. Davis and Miss Alice were here to-day. Diary, I haven't any news to tell you to-day as nothing has happened.

Jan 22nd 1874.

Thursday.

The clock admonishes me that it is time to visit "Short-eye-Town" but before retiring I must write a few lines in my journal, I went to school to-day. This has been a very windy day. The sun has been shining very bright-ly all day until a little while this evening. Then it commenced raining. It is raining real hard now. Mr. Patterson heard Schemisby this morning. He did not know the lesson very well. He also recited Arith-metic, ere known that. Miss Mollie did not hear Grammar to-day aunt Lou heard it. I was so glad she heard it. I went down to the store this morning for Sadie. She recited Algebra this evening. Mr. Patterson put Nannie Deatherage Lizzie Bean and Willie Bird Marion Brown, to the board. There is a party out to Mr. John Marks to-night, Lou is a little better to-day. Tomorrow is Friday. I hope I will get July-jane. I tried real hard this week but I know I will not. Diary, I haven't much news to tell you to-day, as I know nothing has happened, worth writing. Lennie went to the P. O. this evening, but did not get any mail.

Another day has passed away, and it finds me seated in the chapel for the purpose of writing my Journal. This has been a very pretty day, but cool. The wind is not as high as it was yesterday. I went to school to-day. Mr. Patterson did not correct the diaries this morning. Miss Belle Jones. Mattie Burroughs and Sallie Jones corrected them. I got forty-four last week and forty-two this week. Mr. Patterson called all of the diaries up to look at them. He said mine was "Orderly" good. Miss Mollie heard our Grammar this evening. We did not know the lesson, and she made us set on the recitation bench until we learned it. That was the only lesson we recited. Mr. Patterson has not been doing any thing but reading music. Diary I will stop writing for this evening.

Saturday.

Jan. 24th 1874.

This has been a very cold and windy day. The sun has been shining very brightly all day. I went over to Mr. Patersons this evening. Lizzie Dobyns was over there. Mr. Paterson was not at home. He went up to Mt. Sterling. Mrs. Oden was here twice to-day. She came to see Lou and Grandma. They are sick. Lizzie Dobyns was here yesterday after school. There was a party out to Mr. Riddles last night

Mr- girls went from town, but Leo Rice and Miss Lizzie Bean. It was a dancing party. Cousin Jet Mc Daniel was here yesterday. Diary I have such news to tell you. Miss Nannie Rodgers is dead, and Mr. Wilson, Miss Joe's brother-in-law. Miss Nannie Rodgers died with "consumption" and Mr. Wilson with "cold-plague". Miss Lou Evans was here to this evening. Well, I will close for to-night- as I have no more news to tell you. Jan. 26th 1874.

Sunday.

Another day has passed away and it finds me seated in my little room for the purpose of writing my journal, I with not promise to write a very long Journal nor a good one, for I haven't much to write.
This has been such a pretty day. The sun has been shinning very brightly all day. I did not go to church to-day. Lou is little better to-day than she was yesterday. I went down to Mrs. Trimbles this evening to see Lelia Jones. I staid all the evening, with her, she was there a time. Aunt Lou was at our house this evening. Diary, I haven't much news to tell you to-day. There was a meeting at the Methodist church to-night. Sudie and myself went, I had a such fun, Tomorrow is school day. I never like for Monday to come, Sudie and Lizzie went down to Mr. Brown's this evening. I will close for to-night,

Jan. 26th 1874.

Monday.

The duties of another day are at length arrived, and I am seated here all alone trying to write my journal. This has been a very pretty day, but rather cool. I went to school this morning, Mr. Patterson heard Bible the first thing. The lesson was very long, and interesting. I did not miss any in it. We also recited Arithmetic and Grammar. We know them both very well. I went over to Mrs. Patterons after school this morning. I had so much fun with the girls playing base. Willie Marpin and Jimmie played with us.
I went to the express office this morning, and also to the P. O. but did not get any thing. Louzen Edward Kemper was here a while to-day. Lola Hopkins came back to school this morning. Two young ladies came this morning to go to school. I believe they are Amelia Kavanaughs cousins. We recited Algebra this morning and knew the lesson very well. Mr. Patterson put Lena Trimble Willie Thomas Mollie Hedges and Lucy Talbott to the board. Annie Harp did not come back to the Institute to-day. I suppose her ma is no better. Mr. Wilson is buried to-day at 11. o'clock. I went to see Lizzie Reid this morning. She is sick in bed. I do not know whether she has the measles or not, but suppose so. Clifford was up in the chapel to-day, a little while.

Jan. 27th 1874.

Tuesday.

The lonely hours of evening have come and have clasped its mighty hand on time. We should grasp every moment that passes. That we may be learned in that we profess. Many, many have passed away, on wings of time, never, never, to return to us in the future. I have often heard the old saying, "Time waits for no man". I have found it to be so, though I have never had the experience of many. There is a time for all things. I have often heard it extend from the lips of my teacher. This has been rather a disagreeable day. It has been raining some to-day. It is burning real cold. When I got to school this morning, there wasn't many say-scholars there. They did not come. I suppose it was on the account of the weather. We had two new scholars to-day, Jennie and Mattie ~~Evans~~ Mrs. Patterson heard Chemistry this morning, while I was in my Grammar class. I think I know the lesson. There was not a word missed in the Grammar lesson this evening. I went down town this morning before I came to-school. We did not recite Algebra and Arithmetic this evening. I do not know why Mr. Patterson did hear them for I think all of the class marked all of the examples. Mrs. Patterson is going to-morrow to-morrow. I guess he will not hear any lessons.

Jan. 28th 1874.

Wednesday.

Evening again has come, and what shall I write in my journal. The best way to answer this question is to commence and see what can be accomplished. by a little exertion of my mind, I could write something if my mind was not so flustrated. This has been a very pretty day but very cold. I went to school to-day. Mrs. Patterson sang most all-day. Then after he got through singing, Joe heard some Arithmetic classes, I went down to Mrs. Bevins this evening after school for aunt Bettie. Miss Alice Davis and Miss Mollie Frazier were here to-day. Miss Alice is learning a dress made. I went down to Miss Sid Evans yesterday evening. Mr. Skillman was up to the Institute to-day. He was not there to sing. Miss Mollie heard Grammar to-day. We did not learn it as well as we did yesterday. It was a pleasing lesson. I went over to Mrs. Patterson this evening after school. Mrs. Patterson did not hear our Algebra lesson this evening. The dinner bell rang before school was out. Miss Joe has not come back to the Institute yet. I do not know whether she will come back at all or not. Well, Journal I have told you all the news for to-day.

Jan. 29th 1874.

Thursday.

Round the cheerful fireside I sit to-night thinking of something to put down in my journal, I will not promise to write a lengthy journal to-night for I have time, I have so many hard lessons to get. This has been a beautiful day, the sun has been shining very brightly all day. I went to school to-day. Mrs. Patterson heard our Grammar, I mean Miss Mollie heard it; we know the lesson very well. We recited Chemistry this morning, and also Arithmetic. We know them very well. I went down to Mrs. Brown this evening after school for Grandma. Mrs. Brown was here this evening. I went over to Mr. Patterson after school this evening. Hannie Bennough and Annie Yard were in the chapel to-day. I did not know they were well enough to come out of doors. Mrs. Patterson did not have time to hear our Algebra this evening, because she was reading. She is no better to-day. Clifford was up in the chapel to-day. He is nearly well. but his eyes are very sore. Diary, I have nothing more to write as nothing has happened worth writing, to-day, So I will close.

My little friend diary, how will I address you? I have been sitting here at least a half an hour trying to think of something to write in my Journal. This has been a lovely day, all nature seems lovely. The sun has been shining very brightly all day, I went to school to-day as usual, but did not recite any lessons, Mr. Partridge has been writing all day. The large girls corrected their diaries this morning, Mattie Burroughs did not, correct mine this week. Lita Dobyns corrected it. I went down to the P. O. this evening, and got a letter. for aunt Bettie. Miss Mollie heard our lessons this evening, &c. knew our lessons very well, I went over to Mrs Partridge this evening after school.

Jan. 31st 1874.

Saturday.

Well, is it possible that I have another diary to write before afternoon. Well, I do, as I must commence. first as last, This has been a very pretty day, but cold. The sun has not been out to-day. It looks like it was going, to snow, I went down to Mr. Barrons this evening, Mrs. Barron made me play "Ballie a drunkard and mother is dead." She acted the thought it was so pretty, I also went down to see Sis Whitelaw, for Sarah. I did not go over to Mrs. Partridges this evening, Warren is very sick with the measles to-day. She is worse than she ever has been Mollie Hosmer and Billie Wolsely were here yesterday evening. Mrs. Ward preaches here to night, Sadie and myself are going. I went to the P. O. this evening, and got a letter for Aunt Bettie. Mrs. Brown was here yesterday morning to see Lonnie, I must stop writing and get ready for church,

Feb. 1st 1874.

Sunday.

This is the first day of February, and a very dark and cloudy day. It looks as much rain as snow out it is most to cold for rain. I did not go to church to-day. Lonnie is very sick to-day, Aunt Bettie did not go to sitter. Sadie was the only one that went from here. Mrs. Reid and Mrs. Reid Billie Patterson and some other gentlemen came yesterday evening, to see Lizzie. She has the measles. Mrs. Ward preached here to-day. Sadie and myself are going to night. Sadie and I was two brides and grooms to-day at church. Mrs. Sam Riddle and Mrs. Ella Ogden. Mrs. Ward went up to Mrs. Beard to-day for dinner. Diary, I have not any news to tell you. Tomorrow is Monday. and I do not know any of my lessons, Mrs. Patterson is going to Grandpas to-morrow, and will not be back until Wednesday. Mattie Browning is going to-night for Lonnie,

Monday.

Being able to know that the past events of the day are yet ~~forgotten~~ to be recorded, I have gotten esp my writing materials and called myself for that purpose. This is the 2nd day of February. ~~and very little day~~. This has been a very pleasant day, but very dark and cloudy. I went to school to-day. Mr. Patterson went to Frankfort this morning He will not be back until tomorrow evening. Mrs. Reid went with him. Mrs Reid is here staying with Lizzie ~~while~~ Mr. Reid ~~came back~~. Mr. Patterson left Mattie Burroughs to teach. She did not teach any thing but Mathematics to-day. Annie Wilson and Mamie came up to the recitation this morning. Annie is not coming back to school any more. I expect Mamie will. I went ~~over~~ to Mr. Pattersons this evening after school. Miss Mollie heard Grammar this evening. We were all perfect in it. I am giving out to Mrs. Jones Friday evening. I expect Lillie Jones will go too. Mrs. Allen was at our house this evening. Sadie and myself took a walk this evening. Diary, I have ~~to~~ no news to tell you this evening but I have told you all that has happened.

Feb. 8th 1874.

Tuesday.

Another day has passed away and it finds me seated up in the chapel for the purpose of writing my journal. This has been a very cloudy day. The sun has not been out to-day. It looks so much like rain. I went to school to-day. Mattie Bennings did not hear any classes but two Arithmetic classes and one Algebra class to-day. She heard our Arithmetic, but she did not hear Algebra. Hers[illegible] all of the scholars go to Mrs. Richardsons Journal. They were dismissed at two o'clock. All of the girls did not go. [illegible] is a little better to-day, than she was yesterday. Mrs. Oden was at our house yesterday evening. I am expecting to go out to Mrs. Jones Friday but I am afraid I will get disappointed, on account of the weather, as Aunt Lou said the Knights Mrs. Patterson would be back this evening about dark. Miss Mollie did not hear our Grammar this evening. She gave us a very long lesson to get for tomorrow. I did not work all of the examples in Arithmetic to-day. I went down to Mr. Barnes this evening after school. Aunt Bettie and Miss Jennie Bugg were there. I must stop writing for to-night.

Sitting here dreaming of the future and every otherwise thinking of the past, a thought came into my mind that my old journal yet remained unwritten and I think now is the most appropriate time for me to preform that duty so I will hunt up my writing materials and go to work. "Sol" has long since hid his bright face behind the western hills and left our fair "Mother Earth" gloomy and silent. I went to school to-day, but did not recite many lessons. Mattie Burroughs heard our Arithmetic and Algebra. He knows them very well. Miss Pattison will be at home this evening I suppose. Miss Mollie heard our Grammar this evening. He knows the lesson fair very well. Henry Cobb Pa came after her yesterday, to take her home. She went this morning crying almost to break her heart. Many times easier to school to-day, fixed to go out to Mr. Bobbs, Lillie Talbott was going with her, but Lillie would not go after, she got to school. Miss Joe. came back to the Institute this evening. I went down on the street this evening after school. Joe Arnett Bettie, Sudie and myself went down to Mr. Parris this evening.

Feb. 5th 1874.

Thursday.

I cannot say to-night, the sun has set to rest; for I have not seen his bright face to-day, as he has been hid from our view, by dark clouds, Each cloud has a silver lining, and though to-day was gloomy, to-morrow may be very bright. Let not our hearts fall, for God's hand is in it all, and God does all things well. Though all is gloomy within; yet we have a cheerful fire within, and as it crackles, I know God still loves us, although we are very disobedient;

I went to school to-day. Mattie Burroughs heard our Arithmetic this morning and also Algebra. Mrs. Patterson has not returned yet. Aunt Lou said she was looking for him back yesterday, but he did not come. Miss Mollie heard Grammar this evening, She said she was going to make out this report for the five months and read it Monday. MattieB got read mad this morning at the girls for talking out loud. She said she was going to tell Mr. Patterson. I am going out to Mr. Jones tomorrow night, Lillie Talbott and Lillie Jones are going also. I will close for this evening.

Friday.

Night has again drawn her dark veil over our fair earth, The sun has long since sunk behind the western hills, and is now giveing light to another part of the world, The stars are now shineing in superior brightness above us. but they give us but little light, for God in the begineing said, that the greater light should rule the day, and the lesser rule the night, That greater light will rise in the morning to gladden our hearts with its rays. I say he will, but perhaps before he rises again in his glory, God will come, and gather the ransomed together, and they shall dwell in peace forever, He knows not at what time, He will come, therefore we should be like the wise virgins but, He come and find us prepared to meet him with a sweet smile playing upon our face, and hear him say, "Well done", enter into the joy of the Lord, I used to school this morning Hattie Burroughs Bettie Jones and Ida Dobyns corrected the diaries. I got forty-five. I had no ideas I would get forty-five. Mr. Patterson got home yesterday morning. This morning, He made out this report in his office. Miss Mollie heard our Grammar this morning I was perfect in it; He did not recite any lessons, with the exception of Grammar.

Hours after hours pass on, and at this hour it is dark, but still I must write my diary. It makes me glad to write my journal when I have anything to write about; but all has been dull to-day, and therefore writing my diary must be a trouble instead of a pleasure To be sure every thing in nature is pleasant; and should be a good subject to the writer when they feel like writing. Diary, I got so disapointed yesterday evening. Lillie Jones and myself were expecting to go out to Mr. Joe Jones, but Mary did not come to school, and we could not go. But I suppose she couldn was too bad. It was very cloudy and waimy. I got Saty-Jere in my journal yesterday. I am very well pleased this week with my number. I went down to Mr. Burns this evening. Mrs. Oden was here yesterday. I went down to Mrs. Trimble yesterday morning and stayed all night with Lillie Jones. I went over to Mr. Patterson's this morning, and what do you think? They were eating breakfast. Indie went out home with Mollie Forman this evening. She will be back to-morrow. I will close

Feb. 8th 1874.

Well, is it possible that I have another diary to write before retiring. This has been a very pretty day much prettier than it was yesterday. I did not go to church to-day. Aunt Bettie and Sudie went. Sudie went out to Mrs. Allens yesterday evening, and came back this morning, Hollie Inman and Rose came and brought her. To-morrow is Monday. I hate for Monday to come. I am afraid I will miss my lessons for I can't study on Sunday and Saturday. Lorenie is better to-day. She is nearly well. They don't think Mrs. Owens will get well. Dr. Joe Fillivan went out to see him this morning. Nannie Burroughs and Annie Lee have not been out on the ground since they have been sick. I thought they would go to church to-day but they did not. There is meeting to-night at the methodist church to-night. I do not know whether I will go or not. It is real cold to-day. It is so chilly. Aunt Bettie and Sudie went down to Mr. Harris this evening. I went down to Mr. Bowers this evening. Miss Jennie Fergus was there, when I went. Well I will close as I have told you all the news.

Feb. 9th 1874.

Monday.

Doing the lovely hours of night. I will write a few lines in my journal for fear you might think I have neglected my duty. Journal if you will listen to me a short time this lovely evening. I will relate to you the few events of the passed day. Every thing has passed off very pleasantly to-day in the school room. This has been a very pretty day. The sun has been shineing very bright by all-day. Mrs Patterson did not hear Bible this morning. I do not know why he did not hear it. We recited Chemistry this morning. We did not know it very well. Cousin Ed Kamper was here to-day and spent the day. Miss Mollie heard our Grammar this evening. She read out the standing for the first months. Pattie Gray came to-school to-day. for the first time for two weeks. Lard, Ella and Albert Trimble were also there. We did not recite Algebra this evening. Mr. Patterson sick not have time to hear it. Mr. Patterson heard Arithmetic this morning, Lon went over to Mr. Patterson's this evening to practice, Hewit Lon was at over house this evening but she did not stay very long. She was going down town.

Again this earth of ours is enveloped in darkness and we are surrounded by the loneliness of night. Sometimes when I feel lonely and sad, as I am to-night, I love to sit by my little window and reflect on the happy part that is gone never to return any more. How precious are those hours to me. They will always be remembered by me. This has been a lovely day. The sun has been shining very brightly all day. All nature seems lovely. but I miss the voices of the dear little birds which have flown away to a warmer climate to return no more until the beautiful Spring time, but Spring is nearly here. I went to school this morning. Mr. Patterson heard Geometry this morning. I missed one, and regretted it very much. We recited Arithmetic. There was but four that could work all of the examples. Mr. Patterson put those to the board that could work them. I suppose Mr. Patterson will keep to-morrow. We recited Grammar this evening, and know it very well. Aunt Lou was at our house this evening. She made aunt Bettie and Birdie go home with her. [illegible]

Wednesday

My little friend Diary, how will I address you. I have been sitting here so long trying to write my diary. but I suppose you mind like all other school girls wander here and there.

This has been a beautiful day. The sun has been shineing very brightly all day. It seems so much like spring.

I went to school this morning. Mr. Patterson did not hear any lessons to-day. but the large Grammar class. Miss Mollie heard our Grammar this evening. We were all perfect in it. Billie McMillan came up and sang to-day. He sang nearly all day. Mrs. Patterson was at our house this evening. Aunt Bettie and Sadie went down to Mrs. Brown's this evening. Sadie spent the day. She helped Mrs. Brown make her dress. They also went up to Mrs. Woodwards. Lillie Jones did not come to school to-day. I do not know why she did not come. Well, Journal I have told you all the news that has happened worth writing. I will close.

Thursday.

Hours after hours passes on, at this hour it is dark, but still I must write my diary. It makes me glad to write my Journal when I have something to write about; but all has been dull to-day, and therefore writing my diary must be a bother — instead of a pleasure. To be sure every thing in nature is pleasant; and should be a good subject to the writer, when they feel like writing. This has been a beautiful day. The sun has been shining very brightly all-day, but it is very windy.

I went to school this morning. Mr. Patterson heard all of the lessons as usual. He recited Chemistry this morning. He did not know it very well. Lida Sellers was up in the chapel this evening. She came up to see the girls. I went down to Mr. Dobyns this evening after school. Miss Millie Edgar Grammar this evening. She knew the lesson very well. Benelia Kavanaugh and Mammie Wilson had a little fuss this evening, it is idle and I must retire for to-night.

Feb. 13th 1874.

Friday.

Another disagreable day has passed away. It has been raining nearly all day. I went to school this morning as usual. Hattie Bennights and Bettie Jones corrected the diaries this morning. I got forty-four. Mr. Patterson heard the Philosophy class. They did not know it and he made them get it over for Monday. He did not recite Chemistry this morning. I was glad Mr. Patterson did not hear it because I did not know it. I worked all of my Arithmetic and Algebra examples for to-day but Mr. Patterson did not hear them. Jim did not come to school because it was too wet and damp for her to come out. I brought her diary, to be corrected. Miss Mollie said she was going to hear Grammar to-day but I don't believe she is going to hear it; for it is nearly time for school to be out. There warn't but four day scholars at school to-day. Pattie Judy Lillie Jones Lizzie Dobyns and myself. Mr. Patterson has been writing all the morning. Aunt Bettie is sick to-day. She has something like Rheumatism. Lizzie Bean has Rheumatism also. She did not come to-school to-day, nor yesterday. I must close as I have told you all the news.

Feb. 14th 1874.

Saturday. At Home.

Again this earth of ours is enveloped in darkness and we are surrounded by the loneliness of night. I sometimes when I feel lonely and sad, as I am to-night. I love to sit by my little window and reflect on the happy past that has gone, never to return any more. How precious are these hours to me. They will always be remember by me. Diary I feared much more to tell you to-night and I will not promise to write a lengthy journal nor a good one for I do not feel much like writing to-night. There is a meeting to-night at the Christian church to-night. Sadie and myself and Bettie and Lou will go. I went over to Mr. Patterson with Lizzie Dobyns Nannie Brown and Martin and Eddie Bear last night. To play with the girls. I never had as much fun in my life as I did there. Allie Davis was here this morning. I went over to Mrs. Patterson this morning a while. I also went down to Mr. Dobyns. but Lizzie was not at home. She went out to see her Grandpa. They are looking for him to-day. I will stop writing for to-day.

Feb. 16th 1874.

Sunday.

Another beautiful day has passed away and it finds me seated in my little room for the purpose of writing my journal. I did not go to church to-day. Sadie and Lou went. We had company to spend the day at our house to-day. Cowan Hill and Fannie Slifer and cousin Mary Manley were here. Sadie went home with them. I do not know when she will be back. Lillie Jones Lena and Ella Trimble were at our house this evening. They stayed most all the evening. I went to church to-night with Aunt Bettie. Lizzie Dobyns was at our house also this evening. Mr. Patterson is going to commence dancing three weeks to-morrow. I am glad and I am sorry. I went over to Mr. Patterson this evening with Lizzie Dobyns. I must stop writing for to-night.

February. 16th 1874.

Monday.

Time is surely passing very rapidly, Every-thing is passing away. There is not an object in nature that presents itself to our view, that does not bear upon it, impress of the words. "passing-away". Time in its flight is bearing us to an endless eternity. This has been a lovely day. The sun has been shining very brightly all-day. I went to school to-day. Mr. Patterson heard Bible this morning. The lesson was very interesting. It was about the Tabernacle. I did not miss any. We also recited Chemistry this morning we have the lesson very well. Mr. Patterson commenced hearing Arial to-day. I am so glad. Mrs. Hutchings came up to see Julia this evening. Several of the girls and boys played Base to-day. I did not play with them, I did not have all my diaries up, and I thought I would write them while I had a little time. Mr. Patterson and aunt Lou went to Mrs. Sterling Saturday, Lucy Talbott and Lillie are going home with Mary Jones to-night. Mr. Patterson told us Friday that he would mark us lower if we did not improve in our hand writing. I am going to try to improve. this week, Mr. Patterson heard Algebra and Arithmetic this evening. He hears them very well. Miss Mollie also heard Grammar she said we have it very well. Diary, School is out, and I am healed trying to write in my journal. I have told you all the news.

Feb. 17th 1874.

Tuesday.

Round the cheerful fire-side I sit to-night trying to write my journal. This is one thing that must be attended with, ~~very~~ duty. and Oh! how I do dread it. This has been a very pretty day but rather cool. I went to school to-day. Mrs. Patterson heard Chemistry as usual. We learn the lesson very well. Mrs. Reid and aunt Lou started to Cincinnati this morning. Miss Annie and Mrs. Terrill went home. Mrs. Patterson did not hear Arithmetic this morning. but he heard it this evening. Aunt Betty and Mrs. Brown went up to cousin Will Stokes's to-day. to spend the day. Mrs Patterson played some on the fiddle to-day at recess. We recited Grammar this evening. Grandma and Emmie went down to Mrs. Adams to-day and spent the day. Mrs. Patterson made one of the little Algebra class sit in at recess and get the lesson, until he came back to hear it. Ella Hopkins changed her seat to-day. She is now sitting with Lillie Jones. We recited Algebra this evening. Delford has been up in the Chapel all day to-day. Most of the girls played base to-day at recess. Mrs. Patterson put me to the board in Arithmetic and Algebra to-day. I know how to work the examples in Algebra but I could not work them in Arithmetic. Lou went to the P. O. this evening, but did not get any mail. We have had no visitors to-day. as no one was at home. Diary, I have told you all the news. and it is Time for all little folks like me to be in bed.

Another beautiful day has passed away very pleasantly, at least it has been with me. I do not know how it has been with others. I went to school to-day as usual. Mrs. Patterson did not hear any lessons to-day. We sang all-day. Then Mrs. Patterson read a while. Miss Mollie heard grammar this evening. We did not know the lesson, and she told us to get it over for to-morrow. I missed one. Mrs. Patterson told Lena Trimble that he would not excuse her to-morrow, in not a class. if she missed half of a question he would not give her a perfect mark. because she has been so idle all-day. and besides, she has been talking. Diary I haven't much time to tell you to-day as nothing has happened that would be interesting to you. Tillie Jones wrote to Mrs. Burpee to-day in school. She wrote so much foolishness about Mary Jones. She also wrote about Joe Judy taking her to church last Sunday night. I went down town this evening. I went to the P. O. this evening. but did not get any mail. Mollie Hadyes got a Valentine this evening. It is too late for valentines now. Some of the girls played base to-day at noon. Martin Brown came to school to-day. He did not come yesterday. I went over to Mrs. Patterson's this evening after school. I practiced this evening after school. Diary it is time all little girls like me was visiting "Shut eye" town. Good-night.

Sitting here dreaming of the future and thinking of the past, a thought came into my mind that my old journal yet remained unwritten and I think now is the most appropriate time for me to progress that study. So I will hunt up my writing materials and go to work. "Sol" has long since hid his bright face behind the western hills and left our fair "Mother Earth" gloomy and silent. This has been a beautiful day. The girls and boys — played here to-day at recess. Mr. Patterson heard Chemistry this morning I believe we are ahead. I did not go home to my dinner to-day at noon. Miss Mollie said if we did not have our lesson to-day in the Grammar she would send us out to Mr. Patterson. but she did not send us. We have the lesson very well. I am going out to Mr. Jones to-morrow night if it does not rain. Mr. Patterson heard Arithmetic this morning. We all knew how to work the examples. Tomorrow is the day to correct the diaries. I hope I will get forty-five. for I have tried so hard this week. Diary, I haven't much news to tell you to-day, for I know of nothing that has happened. Mr. Patterson was so mad about the piano broken this morning. Has fixed it. there were six keys broken on it. We recited Algebra this morning all of the class worked the examples. I believe. I must close for to-night. and for it is late.

Feb. 20th 1874.

Friday.

Another disagreable day has passed and it finds me seated in my little room for the purpose of writing my journal. It has been raining nearly all day. I went to school this morning, and when I got there Nellie Hedges told me that Mrs. Parrinton was going to make all of the scholars write Essays. I came home and stayed one day. I told aunt Betty that he was not going to have any lessons, and I would have come for if she would let me stay up at home. I am going out to Mrs. Jones to night. Lillie Jones is going also. I hop we will have a nice time. Mrs. Wetherell got home yesterday evening about dark. She was at our house this evening. I have told you all the news that has happened. Lillie Jones was at at our house to-day. Feb. 21st 1874.

Saturday.

Well, well, is it possible that I have to write another diary here returning. I am out in the country engaged myself finely. This has been a very blustering day, but very pleasant. The first thing we did after we eat our breakfast was we played dragents. We had too of the games and we soon got tired of it and thought we could spend our time more pleasantly in writing our journals. Mrs. Davis came out to see Allie this morning. She said Allie was better. Lillie is talking so much about Joe that I can not write any more so I will close.

Night has again drawn her sable mantle over us, the bright hours of day has passed away. How pleasant it is to have a few leisure moments to spend in undertaking upon the events of the past day, to call to mind all that has passed, and note it down on these dear pages to read in after life. What a pleasure it will be to us, when we have closed school to read in this book, things as did when we came to school to Prof. Patterson. This has been a very disagreable day. It has been raining nearly all day. I came up to town this evening Hattie Pennyfeather was in the rockaway, we had so much fun, Lillie and my-self laughed all the way to town. This evening we played our thing you could think of, as we came home this evening, we got to see stones. It was evening. Lillie I never had seen stones before. We all has it was an ocean. She said she would not go down to it for nothing. Burnt Bettie and my-self went down to Mrs. Browns this evening about dark. Martin Tandrie and my-self went in the dineing-room and had a nice saucer of peache and cream and cake. I had so much fun with him. Well, Diary, I have told you all the news that has happened to-day, and it is time all little folk like me was in bed.

Monday.

Once more the dim shadows of night are stealing softly upon us, and before it gets too late and too dark, I will jot down the events of the past day. I sit here thinking things that cannot interest any journal. Night folds her sable wings upon us, and we are now left in darkness. This has been a very pretty day. This morning before school it rained a little, but it turned out to be a beautiful day. Mrs. Patterson heard Bible this morning. All of the class missed one. We did not recite Arithmetic this morning. Mr. Patterson said that there was so many of the students absent. Nannie Deatherage went out home with Willie Thomas Friday. She could not get back to the Institute to-day. Stones was so high. I guess she will get home to-morrow. Miss Wallis heard Grammar as usual. She did not hear it very well. Mrs. Patterson sent after Mr. Hagan to come and help him out of his scrape. Miss Ella Hopkins excused up from the dinner Table to-day and said she feared she would have the sick headache, for she eat a piece of canned peach pie. Mary Jones did not come to school to-day. It rained too hard for her to come. I did not work all of the examples in Arithmetic and Algebra this evening, but I am going to try to work them before I go to the class. I went home to my dinner to-day, but I did not eat any dinner for I was not hungry.

Tuesday.

While deeply meditating upon the past and solemnly dreaming of the future. I find that as the days wear on, life is but a checkard, and a mazy track, and that the objects we gazed at, from afar, are so many points, where virtue, must strive with vice, faith with unbelief, and hope with despair. So, then, why should we not, labor to accomplish, a work, which amid all the anxieties, and troubles shall remain, unchanged, and beautiful to reign forever in songs and triumph of immortality.

This has been a very pretty day. The sun has been shineing very brightly all day. I went to school as usual this morning Mr. Partman heard lessons by. There was not a word missed. Lillie Jones got her a new diary this morning. and she put in it that I never had seen them, before Sunday morning. It was her that never saw it. and she thought she would say that I never saw it. Aunt Lou heard our Grammar this morning She learns the lesson very well. I love for aunt Lou to hear it. We recited Arithmetic this morning. Mr. Partman did not hear Algebra this morning. He called for it and we could work all of the examples and he told us to get another lesson. Lou Talbott is going home with Lillie to-night. I suppose Prof. will sing to-morrow. as he sings every Wednesday.

It is [illegible] time for me to retire. It is nearly ten o'clock. and it is time all little folks like me were in bed.

Feb, 26th 1874,

Wednesday.

With a light hope in the future, the yesterday Wednesday dawned with all of its golden opportunities of pleasure, and engoyments but we are made capable of more exalted engoyments, than can be derived from external nature, and He who formed us with these capacities, has not left us entirely with out the means of exercising them, Originally created in the image of God, the human soul. How precious indeed, the care, which has provided a remedy for our spiritual wants, and an answer for those longings, and fears, which haunts the depths of the "heart deep", and makes earnest inquiries of eternity, How precious that Divine word, which bears assurance of pardon to the sincerely repentant, and promises peace and pardon to the sorrowful, broken hearted which tells of a sorrowful Savior, who was wounded for our transgressions, and who died that we might be saved. This has ben a very disagreable day It snowed very hard last night, The snow is about 2 or 3 inches deep. I went to school this morning as usual. Mr. Patterson sang all day. Mrs. Billie Shellman came up and sang duos for him. Mary Jones brought her future book to school to-day. I copied it off. All of the school wants to copy it, but they wont get mine to copy from. Mr. Patterson did not hear any lessons this evening. I thought Nannie Deatherage was looking very pleasing this morning when I got to school. and she came running to me and said that Martin was at school. Mr. Patterson will have to watch her closely. for if he don't Mary and Martin will be in Abberdeen. Mr. P— sang with the Nightingale choir this evening, and nearly all the evening. Mrs. Rice and Mrs. Patterson played some at dinner. I must also writing for this evening.

Thursday.

My little friend diary how will I address you I have been sitting here trying to write my journal. I could write something if my mind was not so flustrated. This has been a very pretty day. The snow is melting off of the ground fast. It is nearly all melted off now. I went to school this morning as usual. Mrs. Patterson heard Determinity this morning. Hee said she did not know it very well. We also recited Arithmetic. Mrs. P— made us get it over. Miss Mollie heard Grammar this morning. We knew the lesson very well. She said she was going to make us parse all the lesson. She gave us a hard lesson too. Ella Oldenderin and Lara Hinelon came up to see Sallie Deatherage this evening. We recited Algebra this evening. Lillie Jones has been copying the fortune book. today I went down on the street this evening Diary, I have no news to tell you this evening. as nothing has happened.

Bell Smith is going to leave school to-morrow.
I am so sorry she is going to leave. We will all miss her a great deal. She is always ready to play with us.
and she is so lively. The girls played base this even-after school. most of them stayed in the chapel and wrote their journals. I stayed after school and wrote mine. Mattie Burroughs and Nannie got a boy this morning from home. Mattie gave Mrs. Patterson such a nice orange. I will close this uninteresting diary for this evening. Friday. Feb. 27th 1874.
This has been a very pretty day. The sun has been shining very brightly all day. I went to school today as usual. Mrs.
Patterson did not correct the journals this morning. Mattie Burroughs and Bettie Jones corrected the diaries this morning.
Mattie Burroughs corrected mine. I got forty two. but I deserved more. I did not have but one mistake. Mrs. Patterson got a new instrument this evening. I do not know what you would call it. It has a beautiful tone. Mrs. Patterson did not hear any lesson but Arithmetic and Algebra
She did not put me to the board to-day in Arithmetic. She put Nannie Dearmanger Nannie Burroughs Mollie Yeoman to the board and Lucy Talbott. Lucy could not work the one Mrs. Patterson gave out. Pattie Judy had to work three for us. I practiced to-day at dinner. Nannie Dearmanger learned me a song this evening. Well I will close as I have told you all the news.

Sunday.

With a light hope in the future, the glorious Sunday dawned with all of its golden opportunities of pleasure and enjoyment, but we are made capable of more exalted enjoyments than can be derived from external nature, and He who formed an immortal mind capacities, has not left us entirely without the means of exercising them Originally created in the image of God, the human soul. How precious indeed, the care, which answers for those longings and fears, which haunt the depths of the heart deep, and makes earnest inquiries of eternity. How precious that divine word, which bears assurance of pardon to the sincerely repentant and promise peace and pardon to the sorrowful broken hearted which tells of a mournful Savior, who was wounded for our transgressions, and who died that we might be saved. This has been a very pretty day. It is the first day of March I seems so much like Spring. The little birds have commenced to sing. Rev. Laird preached here this morning I did not go. Lon went. Cousin William Stover came down this morning, and brought Sadie Towne, but she went back this evening. She is going to teach school tomorrow at "Sidevview." I am going to church to-night. Mrs. John Trimble and babe were here this evening. I believe they are going to leave town in a week or two. I would to somebody this evening, but Diary I am not going to tell you who it is or at

Monday.

Still another week has rolled its distant round, and it is Monday. It is again the record day of another week. Have I accomplished any good deed in the last week? How many have asked themselves that very same question. Not one. They never think that, in the last day of the world they will be asked that very same question and by one that will warrant a precise and exact answer. If they give Him a perfect answer. He will take them to a start paved with pure gold. and where sorrow is seen never. This has been a very pretty day indeed. I do not know what to write to-night, as I have run clear out of news. Mrs. Patterson heard Birds this morning. I missed one and regretted it very much. We did not recite Chemistry to-day. Prof. did not have time to hear it before noon. and I guess he forgot to hear it this evening. I moved my seat to-day. I am now visiting with Hellie Thomas. I like to sit with Hellie so much. She is such a good girl. Mrs. Odens is here to-night We recited Algebra and Arithmetic this evening. Mrs. Patterson sent me to the board I worked all of my examples but when I got to the board I did not work them right. I felt so badly. Lena Trimble and Ella are spending the night with us to-night. Miss Mollie heard Grammar this evening. I did not miss any.

Tuesday.

'Tis night, a glorious night and silence now is brooding like a gentle spirit over the still and pulseless world. Memory wanders back to the sunny shadows of youthland when our fairy like barque first sailed the crisp current of time. We were happy. Our young eyes looked no further than beyond the hills of our own loved homes. Ah; the years one by one have been added to the great chain of Ages. We now realize the earnest of life with its lofty purposes. The bright visions seem to be over but we are stilled by one knowing but a child, for whom care and sorrow may leave their traces on the brow, and the winter of age begins to shed its prophetic snow upon the human head there may ever be a silver stripe in memory. The bright of these days with the friends of our youth. Let us then resolve to live right so that when the evening shall come we will have the satisfaction of knowing that we have faithfully strived to the stern duties of life. This has been a very dark and cloudy day. The sun has not been shining much to-day. I went to-school to-day. Mrs. Patterson heard Schmidtz this morning. I missed, and regretted it very much. Hoe did not hear Arithmetic. Diary I have said nothing to tell you. Last night Mr. Brown got shot last night: George Jordy shot him. The Dr. think that it is doubtful whether he will get well or not. I do feel so sorry for Mrs. Brown. She acts like she was crazy. Aunt Bettie went down to see him twice to-day. Aunt Lou went down tonight and took Bettie Jones Lizzie Reid Nannie and Sallie Deatherage to see him. Hee called for them to-day. I did not go to school this evening. We had company to spend the day at our house to-day. Lonzie Annie Fletcher. I went to the P.O. this evening for Aunt Bettie. Mrs. Oden and Mrs. Mitchell were here to-day. Pa is expecting to go up in Montgomery to-morrow. but I doubt very much whether he gets to go. on account of the weather. It is raining so hard now. I must stop writing for to-night.

Wednesday.

March. 4th 1874.

Evening again has come and what shall I write in my Journal. The best way to answer this question is to commence and see what can be accomplished by a little exertion of my mind. I could write something if my mind was not so confused. This has been a very dark and cloudy day. We can not turn out to-day. We have been singing all day. Mattie Burroughs heard our Arithmetic. this evening. Aunt Bettie went down to see Mrs. Brown this evening. She came back and said he was dying. Her aunt after Mrs. Parrish to come and see him. Mrs. Parrish went. Oh Diary you cannot imagine my feelings. Mrs. Brown is almost crazy

Mr. Brown told her he was not going to make any will but just wanted a private talk with her and Mr. Mitchell. He says he is not prepared to-day. I cannot write any more on this subject. I must get ~~another~~

There was a little fuss kicked up in school this morning something about Willie Thomas's drink key. There was several of the girls feelings hurt, and Fannie D cried, I wouldn't have cried. For them, Pa went up to Carson Hill Sisters and also at corner yesterday to Mrs. Daniels. Today Diana's they are all eating supper. I will stop writing. until after supper. We have had no visitors to-day. Aunt Bettie and Lennie went down to Mrs. Mitchells to-night to sit a while. Billie Sullivan came up a long time to-day for Mr. Patterson. I heard to-day that Edw Dobyns was not coming to school any more. Miss Mattie heard Germania this morning. I did not know my lesson very well. I must stop writing for to-night.

Thursday.

March 5th 1874.

Long since the shadows of night enveloped our earth, but here I sit in solitude trying to think of something interesting to tell my journal but I find nothing. This has been a very pretty day. It has been exceedingly warm. I went to school to-day as usual. Mr. Patterson heard Shumacky this morning. I missed ten. I heard to-day that Mrs. Brown was better. I do hope he will get well. Aunt Lou came by for aunt Bettie to go down to Mrs. Barnes to-night they came back and said that Dr. thought she was better. but aunt Lou said she thought she would die yet. Mrs. Patterson did not hear Arithmetic to-day. She did not have time this morning to hear it. Clifford is spending the night with us to-night. I had so much fun with Annie Deatherage and Clifford this morning after school down by the rock fence. Clifford was making rhymes. We did not recite Grammar this morning. Miss Mollie asked every one in the class had they passed the lesson over. there was not many that did pass it over. Lena Trimble Lucy Talbott Ella Hopkins Melica Kavanaugh and Jennie Frances were the only ones that passed it over. We recited Algebra this morning. Perry Lizzie Dobyns Charlie Low Willie Thomas and myself to the board. I did not worked all of the examples Charlie Low did not work them all. Aunt Bettie went over to see Miss Joe to-day. Tom sims and Willie Maupin were over here to-night they came after Clifford. but he was asleep and could not go. It is raining so hard to-night. Mrs. Hopkins came up to-day to see Ella. Diary; I believe I have told you all the news so I will close for to-night. and it is late too.

March. 6th 1874.

Friday.

L is the first letter of my sweetheart's name. B. is the beginning of the next name. Are they not beautiful initials? I know some of my schoolmates would not agree with me, but there is no name to me so dear. Nannie Deatherage, says she will agree with me about the last letter of the names. This has been a very disagreeable day. It rained nearly all the morning, but this evening it has not been raining much. I went to school to-day as usual. The larger girls [illegible] have counted the scholars this morning. Master Barrenghed counted mine. She gave me forty-nine. Mrs. Patterson did not hear any lessons this morning but Bible. I was perfect in it. Hattie Thomas received a letter from home this morning. I heard to-day at noon that Mrs. Brown was worse. Drs. Joe and Hasty Fishback came up to-day to see him. Mr. Patterson said he would hear Colesmisty this morning, often but he did not hear it. Miss Mollie said she was going to hear Grammar to-day. I hope she will. Diary. Nannie Deatherage wrote the commencement of this diary. You might know it sounds like her. I heard to-day that Mr. Elisha Brown was in town, but I suppose not as I wanted have seen him. Nannie says she is nearly dead to get acquainted with him. I told her I knew she wanted like him. I am going home with Nannie next month. I know we will have a nice time. I went to-round to the Institute to-night and had so much fun.

Saturday. At home. March. 7th, 1874.

Well, well, is it possible that I have another diary to write before evening. This has been a lovely day although the wind is blowing very hard. The sun has been shining very brightly all day. Cousin Fannie Deatrage was over here this evening. We had so much fun together. We got some Magazines and looked at them. We found one piece was called "Our sweethearts at home." We took that piece home with us to learn. She said he was at home now. Fannie saw John Lence Saturday and she said he was the sweetest boy that ever lived, but she saw both that back. and said besides Martin. She was the sweetest. Aunt Betts and Mamma went up to Mrs. Judys to spend the day. Aunt Sue Mitchell was here this evening. I went over to practice this morning. I took another song yesterday, the name of it was "Is there room among the angels for me." It is such a pretty song. Miss Sid Owens and sister were here to-day. Lou is going to spend the night with Jennie Trimble to-night. We did not get any mail this evening, I will close.

At home. Sunday. March. 8th 1874.

Another day has passed away very rapidly and I finds me seated in my little room for the purpose of writing my diary. This has been a very pretty day but very windy indeed. I never heard the wind any higher. I have not been any where to-day. I have been sick to day. I have Neuralgia in my head. Papa Doby came up and stayed nearly all evening with me

I was so glad she came. for I was so lonesome. Lonnie and Lee were out at home. They went down to see Lura and Elba Gamble. Mrs. John Gamble is going to move to-morrow. Diary, I saw Liza Jourdan to-day! I have not seen her since last summer She is living now out to the "Yale-gate". Mrs. Dobyns is here now. She has not been here before last fall. I heard to-day that Mrs. Brown was better. I suppose he will get well. at least I hope he will. I believe I know my Arithmetic and Algebra lessons. for tomorrow. I do not know my Grammar and Philosophy very well. Diary I believe I have told you all that has happened to-day. and that is worth writing in my diary.

Monday. March 9th 1874.

Above were the dirty slobbers of eight are stealing softly upon us, and before it gets two o'clock, I will put down the events of the past day. While I sit here thinking of things that would not interest my diary. Night folds her wings upon our fair earth and we are now left in darkness. This has been a beautiful day. although cool. I went to school as usual to-day. We recited Bible this morning the first thing. I believe we one missed, but there were several that did not read over the lessons. I brought several songs back to-day and got Lou Talbot to play them over. I think some of them are very pretty. Mrs. Parkinson was out to our house morning. She came to get her dress cut. Prof heard Philosophy this morning. No one missed. I believe. We are nearly done it. Prof said he would not let us review it just now. he would let us review it a month or two. We recited Arithmetic this morning. Prof made us get it over all in the class how to work the examples. but Prof. said we did not understand them. Aunt Lou was over to see Annie last night and she could but two. We recited Grammar and Algebra this evening. We knew our Algebra lesson very well. but Grammar we did not know. Miss Mollie made us get it over for to-morrow. Lou is going out to Dr. Helms to-night and Minnie is going out home with Lou Talbott. Miss Rettie Talbott and Lou were here this evening. Mamma Helms was here this evening. Mr. Detterline was round to the Institute this evening. Well, Journal I believe I have told you all the news that has happened to-day.

March. 16th 1875.

Tuesday.

The immutable wheels of Time have borne us on to still the close of another day. Days glide into weeks, weeks into months, and thus time ever swift passes away. We has been a very pretty day. much pleasanter than it was yesterday. I went to school to-day as usual. Prof. did not hear all of the lessons to-day. We did not have our Chemistry until evening, and then we did not know it very well. We had company to spend the day to-day. Aunt Margret Lexington and aunt Lou Patterson were here. Mattie Burroughs heard our Arithmetic class this evening. Mr. Patterson was down town. Hannie Bet Deatherage was over here this evening after school. Aunt Lou sent her. We recited Grammar this evening. We knew the lesson very well. I went to the P. O. this evening and got a letter from Sister. She said she was getting along very well and liked to board [illegible]. I took Nannie Deatherage some peaches and cake to-day at noon. Diary. I fooled Sallie Deatherage and Billie Jones to-day. I got some [illegible] and bread and took it and gave it to them. I told it was some thing good to eat. They wanted to know who sent it. I would not tell them so I gave it to them. Prof did not have one Algebra this evening. He did not have time to hear it. Mr. Deatherage was round to the Institute this evening. Lida Letton and Sadie Talbott came up to see us this evening. They stayed a good while. Aunt Lou and aunt Billie went down to see Mrs. Allen this evening. Clifford is home to night. Mrs. Brown is so much better to-day. Nannie has been playing on the piano for [illegible]. Journal. I believe I have told you all the news that has happened worth writing.

Wednesday.

March 11th 1874.

Did any of you my friends ever put a thought your heart was a weight of lead so heavy with sad thoughts that it seems as if every bright hope and flower was dead. If so you can well imagine my feelings to-night. This has been a very pretty day. The sun has been shining very brightly all day. I went to school to-day. We have been singing all day. Mr. Billie Stillman did not come up to-sing to-day. Ida Dobyns came up and sang alto. I did not recite but one lesson to-day. and that over Grammar. Some of the class knew the lesson very well. I went down to Mrs. Collins this evening for Aunt Bettie. I also went to the P. O. but did not get any mail. Aunt Bettie and myself have just returned from Mr. Mitchells. We started to take a walk, and we met Misses Reid Evans and Nannie Green just coming from taking a walk. and we stopped in the road and talked. Nannie Deatherage broke down in her song this evening. and cried. Mr. Patterson said he would give her nine for trying to sing it. She said she was scared. Aunt Bettie went down to see Mr. Brown this morning. She said he was not as well to-day as he has been. Mrs. Owens was here to-day. Mr. Patterson is going to have some songs sung Friday night, for Rev. Land. Lizzie Bean and Hallie were not sticking this evening. Lizzie had on her sticking habbit. Aunt Lin went up to Mrs. Bridges this morning. She will not be back until Friday. Lizzie Dolyer brought Doris up to the Institute this evening. The girls like to have eaten him up. They thought it was such a sweet baby. Mr. Cunningham was at our house this evening. I believe I will stop writing for to-night

Thursday.

March 19th, 1874.

While meditating gently upon the past. and thinking of its many many pages. the thoughts of my dear Journal came into my mind. So even I will endeavor to fill one among the many with a part of today's history. This has been a lovely day. All nature seems lovely. I heard the little birds singing their sweet songs to-day. I went to school this morning. but I did not go this evening. I was sick. We recited Chemistry this morning. We had a splendid lesson. there was not half of a question missed. We had company to spend the day at our house to-day. Mrs. Oden and Mrs. Mitchell were here. I commenced peeling me a quilt this evening. I do not know when I ever will get it done. I have not been any where to-day. Nannie Dealtarage said she was going to come over to see me to-morrow evening. I wish she would come. Tommie Owen was here to-day. Journal, I believe I have told you all the news for to-day.

March. 12th 1874.

Friday.

Well, Journal I have seated myself for the purpose of writing my journal. This has been a very pretty day. but dark & gloomy. We had company ~~today~~ to-spend the day at home to-day. Cousin Mary and Todd Kemper. I did not go any where to-day. I am sick. I got perfect-lesson in my journal this morning. Nannie Dealtarage and Julia Hutchings were here this evening to see me. They did not stay long, for it was dark when they came. We have had no visitors to-day. Mr. Lard came this evening, but he did not bring Maggie with him. Lizzie Bean did not get to ride this evening it was too cold for her to ride. Journal, I have told you all the news that has happened to-day. Farewell.

At home. March 15th 1874.

Monday.

Still another week has rolled its distance around, and it is Monday again. The record day of another week has come. Have I accomplished any good in the last week. How many have asked themselves that same question. Not one. They never think that in the last day of the world they will be asked that same question, and by one that will want a correct answer, if they give Him a perfect answer, He will take them to a street paved with gold, and where sorrow is never known. This has been a very pleasant day, but rainy and cloudy. The little birds have been singing their sweet songs all day. I did not go to school to-day. I have been sick. I suppose I will go to-morrow. Aunt Mrs. Mitchell was here this evening. She came to have her dress cut. I have not seen the black horse pass by as often to-day, as I did yesterday. Nannie Deatherage sent me word to-day at noon to copy off the words. to "Is there room among the angels" I copied them for her. I have been sewing some to-day. Mr. Prince Talbott was here this evening to see pa. I wrote to Lydia yesterday evening. Cousin Mary Kemper and Edd were down. and I sent the letter by them. Aunt Bettie Mrs. Patterson and Aunt Mrs. Mitchell are all going down to Mrs. Trimbles to-night if it does not rain. I believe I will close writing for tonight.

At home. March 16th 1874.

Tuesday.

Being able to know what the past events of the day are yet to be recorded, I have gotten up my writing materials and seated myself for this purpose. This has been a very pretty day. The sun has been shining so brightly all day, and it is so warm. I did not go to school to-day but I am going to-morrow, I think, if I am well enough. Diary, I will not pretend to write much to-night, for I do not feel much like writing. We have had no visitors to-day. Fannie Featherage sent me word at noon that she was mad at me for not answering her last note. If she could hear what I have to tell her she would not get mad. She said in her note that she had seen the one that wrote the black horse and that she would like to ride with them. I have got something to tell her about the horse kicking up and throwing them off. I know she would have laughed if she had seen them fall. Aunt Bettie went down to Mrs. Barnes this evening about dusk. Jon went to the P. O. this evening. But did not receive any mail. I was in hopes she would get me a letter. Mrs. Hutchcraft and Aunt Sue Mitchell were here yesterday evening. I have told you all the news that has happened to-day, and that is worth writing in my Journal.

March. 17th 1874.

Wednesday.

Life is short and full of changes. first-it thinks how rapidly this week has fled. and what-good have I accomplished in the meantime. If I could first lift the veil and take a peep into the future. But it may be my fate for my future days to be sad, and desolate, and it would cause me to be sad. Now to be aware of the fact that my future path-way would be strewn with thorns and thistles If such is to be my fate, perhaps this old journal will be a source of great pleasure to me. by reading of the happy hours I spent when a school girl. I will let I sweet recollections of those by gone days, dwell in my heart forever, and when I am sad, and lonely what a pleasure it will be to recall those days by perusing its there pages, and let them furnish all sadness from my heart by recalling the sweet memories of my child hood days. This has been a very disagreeable day. It has been raining nearly all day. I went to school to-day. Mrs. Patterson sang nearly all day. This evening he heard Chemistry & Philosophy. We got done Chemistry to-day. We are going to commence reviewing Monday. Annie Wilson came to school to-day to see the girls. Mrs. Billie Pilkington did not come up to the Inst. to-day to-day. This has been rather a gloomy looking day. "Old Sol" did not allow us a single glance at his bright face to-day. It seems so dark and dreary with out his bright smiles. It has been raining some to-day. I went to school this morning as usual. and am glad to-day I recited all of my lesson perfectly Mrs. Parkinson did not hear our recess in Chemistry to-day. He said he wanted hear it tomorrow. He first gave it to us to get for Monday. We recited Arithmetic this evening. We all knew the lesson very well. Mrs. Colbins and Miss Hamm were here this morning. We did not recite Algebra this evening. Mr. Parkinson did not have time to hear it. He added several pages to it for tomorrow. Mrs. Mitchell was here to-days a while. Journal I haven't much news to night to tell you, as nothing has transpired to-day. Lou went out home with Susan Bolls to-night. I & Lizzie Bean received a nice piece of music to-day from Mrs. Yorks. Aunt Lois riders came this evening after school. I went down to Mrs. Brown's to-day at noon. I learned a new song this evening. I think it very pretty. The name of it is "Katie Secret". Willie Thomas learnt it to me. Journal You must excuse me to night, as I have my recess to get in Chemistry, and it is so hard.

March, 28th 1874.

Monday.

Did any of you my friends, ever feel as though your heart was a weight of lead, so heavy with sad thoughts that it seems as if every bright hope and flower were dead. If so, you can well imagine my feelings to-night. This has been a very pretty day. but exceedingly cool. It seems almost like Winter. I went to school to-day as usual. We recited Bible this morning. The lesson was very short. It was five chapters long. but not much in them. Mrs. Patterson heard our recess in Chemistry this morning We knew the lesson very well. I must say. She gave us 20 pages for our next lesson. I do not know whether we will have it recite it tomorrow or not. I do not know what to write to-night, as I have run clear out of news. We recited Arithmetic this evening. We knew the lesson very well. Miss Hollie heard Grammar this evening and also this morning. I was not in the class this morning. I stayed down to Mrs. Browns last night with Mrs. Sydnor. Hattie and Hassie went up to Mrs. Dobyns and stayed. We did not recite Algebra this evening. Prof. did not have time to hear it. Maggie Land came to the Institute this morning. She came with Sallie Jones. We got very much disappointed last night. All of the boarders went to church, we could get us fer as Dr.

Tuesday Eve.

March 24th 1874.

I only wish that I could say my to-days work was done, but I happened to step into my room and there layed my journal on the table. It looks like if it could talk it would say "Don't neglect me for I am of as much importance to you as anything else you study." Sometimes it is a great pleasure to write in my journal the events of the past day. Night & now folds her mantle of darkness around us. Another day has passed and is numbered with those, which we can never recall. To-day has been a beautiful day. I went to-school to-day. but did not recite all of my lessons perfectly. We recited Arithmetic this morning. Prof did not have time to hear it this morning. but he said not put any one up to-night. He did not have any chalk. I went down to Mrs. Brooks this evening with Annie and Bettie and sat until bed time. We also stopped at Mrs. Mitchells. She is very sick. Miss Mollie heard our grammars this evening. We did not know it very well. and She made us learn it and recite it just before school was out. but I am glad to say. I did not look on the book. for I know of two girls at the head of the class looking all the time and have been every since they first started to school.

one looks on for the other. I could know my lessons as well as they do if I could look on, or rather if I would look on. We recited Algebra this evening. We did not recite it yesterday. March 26th 1874.

Wednesday.

Yes, every at nocturnal hours to sit and muse upon the present past and future. To think of things that have taken place in the past, and those that are taking place now. and we only can dream of the future though we know not what it may bring, we should we wish to know, for why should we in life become acquainted with the sad intelligence that perhaps our faith is to be tried with many sore trials. This has been a beautiful day. and I have spent it very pleasantly. I went to school to-day. Mrs. Patterson sung all-day. Mr. Skillman did not come to sing to-day. nor he did not come last Wednesday. I suppose Prof can get a long very well without him. Mrs. Patterson intended to hear our recess in Chemistry to-day but he did not hear it. He did not have time to hear it. Diary, I have come near to kill you. Bell Smith arrived at the Institute this morning about 11 o'clock. I was so surprized to see her come back. I thought she was going to stop school. Miss Mollie heard Grammar this evening. Mary Jones did not come in the class. Miss Mollie asked where she was and why she did not

Another day is being numbered with the past and I again come to perform the task of writing my journal. Night has folded her dreary wings over our earth and earthly things. It is now late at night
The clock has just struck nine, and now all is still I will have my journal to write before I have the pleasure of visiting drawband, which I assure you would be quite pleasure. This has been a very pretty day. The sun has been shineing very bright all all-day. Mrs. Patterson heard the rooms in Chemistry this this morning. He asked Jennie White all of the lesson She knows it very well. Mrs. Patterson said it was a good lesson. We recited Arithmetic and Algebra this evening. Mrs. Patterson did not get any chalk until the Algebra class was reciting. He put Lizzie Johnson Willie Bean and Jennie Patterson and myself to the board. Miss Mollie heard our Grammar this evening.
Two or three missed but she did not make them stay in. I am going to sit up Mrs. Brown to-night if no person else will. did not. Lizzie Bean did not come to school to-day nor yesterday. She has her false teeth. She does not look well with them at all. Several of the girls are going to the country tomorrow evening. Aunt Billie went down to see Mrs. Browns to-night. She is a little better. Nannie Deatherage and myself took a walk up on the hill this evening after school. but we had not gone far until we saw Willie Bean coming. She turned around and came back. Journal. I must stop writing for to-night. and as it is time I was going down to Mrs Browns. March 8th 1879.

Friday.

Another disagreeable day has passed away very rapidly. It has been raining all-day. I went to school to-day. Lizzie Reid corrected my Journal. She gave me forty-four. and I did not have any mistakes. Mr. Patterson did not hear any lesson but Algebra. Mrs. and Mrs. Marpin came up in the chapel to hear us sing. The Nightingale chorus sang a while and then the Mocking birds sang a while. Miss Nellie heard Grammar this evening We know she knows very well. I am staying over to Mrs Pattersons to-night with Nannie Deatherage. We are have had such a nice time. Nearly all of the girls dressed up like and old woman. and went down in Miss Jones room and played. She band went down in the parlor and played. Mrs. Jones and Everett and Miss Annie Pagan Maggie Lard all came here to-night. Do believe I will close

Another day has passed away very pleasantly, at last it has with me. I do not know others have spent it. This has been a lovely day. The little birds have been sing so sweetly all day. The sun rays are shining so bright-ly, I did not go to church to-day. We had company to spend the day at our house to-day. Cousin Mary Mrs Daniel and Sadie came here. Sadie wanted to come yesterday evening, but had no way to come. Lou and Connie went to Sunday school. but did not stay for church. Nannie Brown Lizzie and Fannie Dick were all here this evening. Lizzie is going home in the morning. She doesn't want to go. She says she has had such a nice time since she has been up. She went up to Mrs. Patterson this evening to see Nannie Deatherage this evening. Lizzie said she was going to tell somebody, what I said I ~~will~~ never said anything for her to tell. Journal I have not been any where to-day and haven't seen anyone. Yes I have but not the one I wanted to see. I went down to see Lizzie Brown yester-day evening and had a very nice time. I do not know a word of any of my lesson for tomorrow. If Mrs. Patterson asks me all the lesson in Chemistry I will not know much of it. I will close as I have told you all the news that has happened

March. 20th. 1874.

Monday.

The lovely hours of evening have come and has clasped its mighty hand on time. We should grasp every moment that passes. That we may be learned in that we profess. Many, many, have passed away on wings of time never, to return to us in the future. This has been a very pretty day. The sun has been shining very brightly all day. The little birds have been singing their lovely songs all day and they are still singing. Mrs. Pattison heard Abernethy this morning. He asked Lizzie Bean the Lord's Lord's Lord's and she did not know it very well. He also recited Addie Watts and Agnes this evening. Mrs. Pattison put one to the board. I failed on one example I had worked it before I came to the class but I did not understand it very well. Lizzie Dobyns could not work it either. I went down to Mrs. Bowers this evening after school. Lizzie D. came down and stayed a while. Mrs. Aden was at our house this morning. Miss Wolfe heard Grammar this evening. He did not know it very well. She told us to get it over for to morrow. and if we did not know it then. She would help us in. Aunt Lou was over to our house to-day. We had two new scholars to-day. Miss Hosier and Allie Goff. Mrs. Goff spent the evening around to the Pritchett this evening. Aunt Belle went down to Mrs. Bowers this evening. To see her.

The days rapidly come and go and we are so thoughtless as to let them pass unheeded. We did not thank our heavenly father that God has given us to improve ourselves for the future. In time we study, but our study amounts to but little as we seldom study to profit ourselves. This has been a very disagreeable day. It has been raining nearly all day. I went to school to-day. Mr. Patterson heard nearly all of the classes. He did not take up school until late. He heard our Arithmetic this evening. We will get home tomorrow if Mr. Patterson hears us. But I do not think he will hear it for he sings every Wednesday. I went down to Mr. Brown's this evening. Hannie and myself wrote to Lizzie Brown. Hannie put a good many things about me in that I did not want her to put. We did not recite Algebra this evening. Mr. Patterson did not have time to hear it. Miss Mollie heard Grammar this evening. Every one in the class missed. She made us stay in after school and recite it. We did not stay in long, for we knew the lesson. Mr. Patterson did not hear the last Grammar class this evening. He did not have time. To hear the Journals. I haven't any more to tell you to-night as I have told you all. I know.

April 1st 1874

Wednesday.

Most of the girls are studying and most of them are singing. The Nightingale Choir is on the floor now. Mrs. Billie Skillman came up and sang time, to-day. This has been a very disagreeable day. It is very cool, and it seemed last night; the sun has not shone its bright face to-day. It looks so dark and gloomy. I went to school to-day as usual but did not recite any lesson but Grammar. Patty Lindsey heard it. Miss Mollie was sick I suppose. Aunt Bettie and myself went down to Mrs. Brown's last night to sit up with Mrs. Brown but I did not stay, Aunt Bettie stayed. I had a very nice time. Nannie and myself wrote a letter to Leggie Brown last night. Mrs. Hodges and Edgar came up to see Mollie and Fannie Hodges this evening. Nannie Deadmon is sick in bed to-day. She came down in the chapel this morning before school took up. but she had to go back in her room. I went up to see her to-day at dinner. To-day is the first day of April. I have not received any April fools to-day. nor I have not sent any. Journal, I have run clear out of news. I went to Mr. Woodwards this to-day for Aunt Bettie.

April. 2nd 1874.

Thursday.

I have just returned from school and have watch myself for the purpose of writing my journal I haven't much news to tell you this evening. It is very little storie has run clear out. This has been a very pretty day but very cool. Mr. Patterson heard Chemistry this evening. He did not ask any questions on the lesson He skipped about in it. I missed one. We had compa to spend the day at our home to-day. Miss Mag and Burrie Carrington. We recited Arithmetic and Algebra this evening. We compleld Arithmetic to-day. Mr. Patterson did not give us a review but told us to prepare a lesson and go in the next highest class. We did not know Algebra very well. There was but two in the class that understood the examples Hannie Burroughs and Willie Thomas. Miss Mollie heard Grammar this evening. I believe no one missed I went down to Mrs. Adams this morning for aunt Lou. Ida Dobyns received a new piano day before yesterday. Lucy Talbott has not been to school this week. I heard she was sick. General it is time for me to go to supper. for they have called me, I will finish after I eat. I have just returned from supper and will finish this diary. Well, I have told you all the news, I will close.

Friday

April 3rd 1874.

This day has passed away and it finds me seated in the chapel for the purpose of writing my journal. This has been a very pretty day. The sun has been shining very brightly all day. Mr. Patterson conducted the services this evening. I got forty one. There was but 5 or 6 that got forty five. Mr. Patterson heard the lessons this evening. He heard one Arithmetic. We have the lesson very well to-day. He also heard Philosophy. Miss Wallis heard Grammar. I assure you we have her a good lesson. We thought she would keep ten in but she did not. I went to the store this evening after school. Mrs. Hedges came after Wallie and Fannie to-day. Addie Owen came up to the Institute this evening. I am the girls. I will close. Saturday.

April 4th 1874.

This has been a very pretty day. Although the wind has been so hard all-day. I have not been very close to-day. I have been working flowers beds I am not out-doors with Hannie Lee yesterday evening. She will not be back until to-morrow. We were looking for Sallie home to-day, but she did not come. Fannie went down to Mrs. Adams Brown, and Mitchells to-day. This has been quite a lonesome day to me. I do not know how it is with others. Hannie D. said she was coming home with me to-day but she did not come.

This has been a beautiful day but very windy indeed. We had a visit veird this evening just before church was out. I did not go to church to-day. I went over to Mrs. Patterson and staid with Nannie Deatherage. She got sick in meeting and had to leave. While I was over to Mrs. Patterson's this evening Annie Harp came. I was so glad to see her. She and Mattie Burroughs came over this evening just before the rain.

Monday.

It was after two hours ago, and at this hour it is dark, but still I must write my journal. It makes me glad to write my journal when I have something to write about: but all has been dull to-day, and therefore writing my journal must be a troublesome thing instead of a pleasant one. To be sure anything is pleasant in nature and should be a good subject to the writer, as here they feel like writing. This has been a very pretty day. The sun has been shining very brightly all-day. I went to school to-day. Mrs. Parrish heard Bible this morning. There was small mistakes. Mrs. Parrish heard the Grammar class this evening. She asked several of the girls what was the definition of a noun. Some knew it. She told them it was a substance made from the Stingin fish. We recited Arithmetic this evening. We have the lesson very well. I went down to the store this evening, with aunt Betsy. She got me a beautiful dress. Miss Wolfe heard Grammar this evening. No one knows the lesson. She made us get it over for to-day. She said she would keep us in to-morrow, if we did not know it. Hannah Brown Hannah Sanders and Fannie Brown were here this evening after school. They went over to see Hannie Deatherage. Mrs. Parrish heard Algebra this evening. We did not know it very well. We had not got the last example for to-morrow. I think I can work it

I only wish that I could say my to-days work was done, but I happened to step into my rooms and there layed my journal on the table. It looks like, if it could talk, it would say "Don't neglect me for I am of as much importance to you as any thing you study. Sometimes it is a great pleasure for me to write in my journal the events of the past day. This has been a very pretty day. The sun has been shineing very brightly all day. I went down to Mrs. Brown to-day at dinner. for aunt Betti. We did not recite Chemistry to-day. Miss Mollie heard Grammar this morning. We am back to stay in Int. Mary Barnaby May Goff and Jennie Rush. Miss Mollie said if she had been time study any to-day. She would not have kept them in. Mrs. Cain was at our house this morning. To morrow is the day that Prof always sings. I suppose he will sing. We recited Arithmetic this morning. We knew the lesson very well. Aunt Betti wrote to Lucie last night. Mrs. Pattison did not have time to hear our Algebra this evening. It was after four when school closed this evening. Miss Mollie was sick to-day. but not out of the school room. Lou Talbott was at our house this morning after school. Journal I have my nerve to tell you to-day as nothing has happened that is worth writing in my diary.

Wednesday.

Evening again has come, and what must I write in my journal. The best way to answer this question is to commence and see what I can accomplish by a little exertion of my mind, I could write something if my mind was not so backward. This has been a very disagreable day. It has been raining all day. I went to school to-day. Mr. Patterson heard Chemistry to-day. He hears the lesson very well, I went down to Mr. Brown's last night with aunt Billie. Mr. Brown was so much worse that they had to move Mr. Brown in another room. The Drs. think Mr. Brown will not get well. He visited Bible this morning. We have commenced the book of Deuteronomy. It is very interesting so far as we have been. Prof asked us what was the meaning of Deuteronomy. It means a repetition of the law. Mr. Parrish sang this morning. Mrs. Billie Stillman came up to visit Jeanie. Miss Maggie Laird was up in the chapel this evening hearing the Nightingales sing. Miss Mollie heard Grammar this evening. Several of the students missed their lesson and had to stay in. Mr. Parrish added another page to our Arithmetic for to memorize. We did not get any mail to-day. We have had no visitors to-day. I have not been any where to-day. Lizzie Dobyns was not at school to-day. Ada came up and sang. She said Lizzie was sick.

Rain! Rain! Rain! It has been doing nothing but rain for the last week. It has been raining every day this week. I went to school this week. to-day. There was not many day students at school. Jim Talbott and Lettie were the only ones that came from the country. We did not recite Chemistry this morning. Prof heard it yesterday. Miss Mollie heard Grammar this morning. We did not know the lesson well. We are just one lesson behind Mr. Parrish's Class. I went down to Mr. Brown's last night. To see how Mr and Mrs. Brown were. Mrs. Brown was so much worse she has been, and Mr. Brown was worse. Mrs. Lettie Sydnor and Nannie were there. Mr. Parrish heard Arithmetic this morning. He put all of the class to the board. We all knew the lesson very well. Mr. Parrish also heard Algebra. We knew very well indeed. Lizzie Dobyns Nannie Deskins and myself have been working Algebra, also writing. We have worked them all for Monday. School is nearly out and I am seated up in the chapel trying to write my journal. but I can hardly write for the girls are making so much noise. Mr. Parrish said she was going to hear Arithmetic this morning. to-morrow, but he is not going to hear Chemistry. Tomorrow is the day Prof. corrects the Journals. I hope I will get forty-five. for I have not gotten it-

April 18th 1874.

Wednesday.

Yesterday has passed very rapidly and I am seated up in the chapel trying to write my journal. I can hardly write for listening at the girls talking and laughing. This has been a beautiful day. If to-day is just as pretty as to-day. We will have such a nice time riding. I am going home with Sallie and Nannie Dearinger. I went to school to-day. Mr. Patterson heard Bible this morning. I miss me. I got sick in school to-day just before school was out, and I went in the girls room and laid down and I felt better. We recited Arithmetic this evening. I did not work all of the examples. If Prof had not called it quits I would have had them all worked. Hope Mollie heard Grammar this evening. She did not know the lesson very well. She said she knew we had not studied the lesson. Pa went fishing to-day. I hope he will catch some nice fish.

I went down to Mrs. Libe Mitchells this evening after school. We recited Algebra this evening. All of the girls worked the examples but four. One of the girls told Mollie Kavanaugh her sister had come. Melia ran down stairs but she did not see her sister. It was Misses Emma and Hannie Thomas came up to see Willie. Wallis Hodges and Willie Thomas are going home with Hennie White Wednesday. Mrs. Parrish was better to-day. I came over to see Hannie Dearborn yesterday evening. I staid until dark. She said she did not go to Sunday school or church either. I will stop for the evening.

Sunday. April 14th 1874.

Well, just one more day and we will be off. Hannie and Sallie got a letter from there was raining that the river was past fording. They are taking it very hard. Mrs. Parrish said the river had run down by this time. The letter was written the ninth. We are going to take our Chemistry and Journals with us. It has been a very pretty day. If it just as pretty tomorrow as it is to-day. It will be a beautiful day. I went to school to-day. Mrs. Parrish heard Chemistry this evening. We found the lesson very well.

Evening again has come and what shall I write in my Journal. The best way to answer this question is to commence and see what I can accomplish by a little exertion of my mind. I could write something if my mind was not so bothered.

This has been a very disagreeable day. It has been raining nearly all day. We came up this morning in the Spring wagon. Bettie Jones Sallie Deatherage Hannie and myself all came. We had an accident to happen down street this evening. The blackman was driving so very fast, and the brace fell down. We all were very much frightened. Then we jumped out of the wagon. Several young gentlemen came out and invited us in the hotel. but we did not want to get out of the wagon. There was one young Gentleman among them. I liked very much. Mr. Sid Ellsworth. Has been Sallie and Hannie. Has his in Madison. but he is stanching in a store here. We staid at the depot until ten o'clock. Bettie wanted us to stay with her until the train time, then we went down to Rev. Hardings and staid there all night. We had had a pleasant visit since we have been here. I formed the acquaintance of several young gents to-night. Mr. Hillis and Charles Harding and Mr. Shelton. We went to church to-night

We have been looking for some one to come after us all day. but they did not come. We wanted to go up street this evening. but it rained all day. so we could not. Mrs. Ebbens was at the gate this evening, Hee babbled so long with me that he ruined his overpiece. While church let out eight Mrs. Ebbens came up to Mrs. Harding and Mrs. Shelton. Mrs. Willie and Walter Harding came in the parlor. We had a real nice time. Mrs. Shelton left about ten o'clock. but Mr. Ebbens stayed would not leave until twelve. Mrs. Harding came in and told him he had to leave or go to bed. then he said just we are going a song for him. He sang. one which he liked very much. the name of it was. "The first that we can never recall Jimmie." The young gentlemen said they wanted it to rain. So we could stay in town. The are going to the temperance lecture tomorrow night if we had stay do not go home. Mrs. Willie has been in the house all day. Hee has been in the parlor begging Nannie and myself to sing for him. I sang one for him and Nannie also sang one, Sallie did not have as much fun as Nannie and myself. She has been knitting on Mr. Willie Harding sock. Sallie said she was knitting for her beau. Mrs. Willie Hattie and myself we need not pay aboard if we just owned pay some for him. I saw Mr. Tommie Barkley today. But I did not get to speak to him. Journal, I have had such a nice time to-day and to-night. Mr. Elkins told me to-night that he was coming over to the examination. I would so like so much for him to come to the concert, but not to the examination. Mr. Elkins is related to Mr. Patterson. Journal, I believe I will stop writing for to-night and as it is very late I really believe I will excuse the ink.

Thursday. Friday.

My little friend journal how will I address you. I have been sitting here for least a half an hour trying to think of something that would interest you. This has been quite a disagreable day. It has been raining some to-day. This morning I arose very early, and went down in the parlor Hattie and myself were playing on the piano and Mr. Willie came in and complimented us very highly. Mr. Walter did not come up to breakfast this morning. I suppose he was too busy. Hattie was very much disappointed, when she came off and did not get to tell him good bye. Mr. Hartie Deatherage came after us this morning. Sallie Reid came
