Preface

The present list of Kentucky imprints is issued by the Kentucky state office of the Historical Records Survey with two aims in view: (1) to make available to historians and bibliographers a list which has been long in preparation, and (2) to provide a basic list against which to check in its program of inventorying imprints by field work in libraries. It is hoped and expected that the issue of this list will stimulate the interest of librarians and scholars in Kentucky imprints and lead to the discovery and record of important items of local printed source materials which are as yet unknown.

To this end, notes of new titles or corrections or amplifications of titles herein recorded are earnestly solicited, so that they may be included in a supplementary list or be incorporated in a revised version of the present list.

The compilation of a list of books, pamphlets and broadsides printed in Kentucky from the beginnings of its press in 1787 through the year 1830 was first projected by the undersigned about ten years ago. During the years of 1929 and 1930 considerable intensive work was done on this project. A number of important libraries in Kentucky and elsewhere were personally visited, either by myself or by Mr. Charles H. Good, who was engaged for a time as a field assistant for this investigation, and a large number of early Kentucky books, pamphlets, and broadsides were described from the actual copies seen in the various libraries visited.

In addition, correspondence was undertaken with a number of other libraries which were known to contain Kentucky material, and descriptions of many more titles were received through the helpful cooperation of the librarians concerned.

Kentucky titles were also gathered from the American Bibliography of the late Charles Evans; from the comprehensive bibliography in the second volume of Ralph Leslie Rusk's Literature of the Middle Western Frontier; from the invaluable imprint catalogue of the New York Public Library; from a large collection of book dealers' and book auction catalogues; and from various other sources. An important feature of this preparatory work was the examination of files of contemporary Kentucky newspapers for titles of publications advertised in their columns as for sale at the local printing offices.

Towards the end of 1930, preparations were made for the publication of the list. But in a final effort to locate and obtain descriptions of a considerable number of titles known only from advertisements or from their occurrence in bibliographies or catalogues, the help of the Filson Club, of Louisville, Kentucky, was enlisted for the publication of a list of unlocated early Kentucky imprints in the Filson Club History Quarterly of January, 1931. Directly or indirectly through the publication of this list, much valuable information was received, either in the actual descriptions of titles that were imperfectly recorded, or in suggestions as to where copies of them might be found. Following up these clues meant more correspondence, but it resulted in a notable improvement of the list before it was finally decided to commit the material to type.

Something more than half of a total list of about 1,200 titles had been set in type in 1931, when circumstances such as interfered with many another enterprise in those days made it necessary to suspend the work. The material seemed to have too great a potential value, however, to be allowed to lie wholly unused and unknown. Selections from the list, therefore, have been published from time to time. A check list of Kentucky almanacs, 1789-1830, appeared in the Register of the Kentucky State Historical Society of July, 1932; a bibliography of early Kentucky medical titles was printed in the Register of July, 1933; and a bibliography of early Kentucky statute law was published in the Filson Club History Quarterly of April, 1935. Also, in September, 1934, a number of sets of proofs were drawn from the type just as it stood in unrevised form, of that portion of the list which had been set up in 1931. These proofs, including all titles through 1821 and a part of the 1822 titles, were distributed to a limited number of persons and institutions that were thought to have an especial interest in the material.

Since 1935, until recently, the list of Kentucky imprints has been set back on the stove and allowed to simmer, so to speak, with occasional stirrings as bits of pertinent information happened to come to hand and were dropped in. My associate, Mr. Albert H. Allen, however, was not satisfied to leave the list entirely neglected. From the inception of the work upon it, he has had a particularly keen interest in this record of the early Kentucky press. He therefore undertook, as a self-imposed task for spare moments at home, a thorough revision of the list of early Kentucky titles. This has involved entirely rewriting most of the descriptions already prepared, adding descriptions of new titles as they have been discovered or reported, amplifying or correcting the notes on many of the titles, rearranging the titles alphabetically by years under appropriate author headings, introducing the symbols used by the Union Catalogs of the Library of Congress to identify libraries, and caring for innumerable other editorial details. He has also omitted from the list as here presented a considerable number of titles, of dubious authenticity, which were in the list as originally prepared and as made known in the 1934 proofsheets. These doubtful titles will be made the subject of a later report.

In the latter stages of its compilation, the list has profited through new entries and added locations from the Kentucky titles reported from libraries all over the country by workers of the Historical Records Survey assigned to inventorying imprints. Specially valuable contributions have been made by the Pennsylvania, New York City, Ohio, and Kentucky offices of the Historical Records Survey.

Active interest in the project of publishing the list of early Kentucky imprints revived with the inauguration of the nationwide American Imprints Inventory as a project of the Historical Records Survey under the direction of Dr. Luther H. Evans, a Federal activity of the Division of Women's and Professional Projects of the Works Progress Administration. It was believed by the authorities of the Historical Records Survey and the Division of Women's and Professional Projects of the Works Progress Administration in Kentucky that the issuance of this list and the establishment of an American Imprints Project would prove helpful and would further the prosecution of the imprints work in this state. A project application was approved for a state-wide imprints project to be operated under the administrative direction of Mr. Walter M. Hoefelman, State Director of the Historical Records Survey. Mrs. Prentice W. Hurst was appointed project supervisor soon after the project began operations in April 1938. The work of cutting the stencils for the check list of early Kentucky imprints was done by Miss Thelma Bryant.

It has not been found possible, however, to issue the whole list through 1830 at this time. All titles through the year 1810 are here presented as a first installment. It is hoped that the publication of the rest of the list will not be long delayed.

This list of issues of the early Kentucky press, except for newspapers and other periodicals, comprises 379 items, printed or presumed to have been printed within those years. Of the total, 51 items fall into the classification of broadsides, leaving 328 which are books or pamphlets.

Copies have been located of 323 items, of which 47 are broadsides and 276 are books or pamphlets; 56 items, including four of the broadsides, have been included in the list because of evidence, considered satisfactory, that they actually were printed, although no copies of them can now be located. Of the 56 unlocated items, 34 (including 17 which are also recorded in Charles Evans' American Bibliography) were advertised in contemporary newspapers as having appeared from Kentucky presses; two are accepted on the authority of Evans alone; eight were specifically ordered to be printed by resolutions of the Kentucky legislature; five are from recent sales catalogues or similar sources; four are mentioned in other contemporary books or pamphlets; and only three (legislative journals of house or senate) rest on the pure assumption that they were printed because the journals of the companion houses have been found in printed form.

The 323 located imprints have an unusually wide distribution in 103 collections, of which 19 are private libraries. It is also noteworthy that 165 of these titles can thus far be recorded in single copies only. To be sure, 45 of the 165 are broadsides, a kind of printed matter which survives, if at all, only in a limited number of copies; only two of the Kentucky broadsides in this list have been found in more than one collection. But there remain 120 of these "singletons" which are books or pamphlets, and many of these are of considerable historical or bibliographical interest. The figures following the symbols in the "Key to Symbols for Libraries" show the total number of these early Kentucky titles located in each collection, including (in parenthesis) the number recorded from that collection only.

Libraries and private collections in Kentucky have been found to contain 144 of the 323 titles of which copies have been located. Of 43 items (only three of which are broadsides) the only known copies are in Kentucky--40 distributed among eight libraries, two in the collection of Mr. J. Winston Coleman, Jr., and one in the collection of Mr. John Wilson Townsend, both of Lexington. In addition, there are 34 titles of which a Kentucky library or collection has one of two known copies, and in six of these cases both copies are to be found in Kentucky only. Of 95 titles found both in Kentucky and elsewhere, 27 of the copies in Kentucky are recorded only from private collections, notably those of Mr. J. Winston Coleman, Jr., and Hon. Samuel M. Wilson, both of Lexington, and of Mr. William Marshall Bullitt, of Louisville, and 68 are distributed among 13 Kentucky libraries.

The most widely distributed title in the present list is no. 118, of which 22 copies have been located. Nos. 340 and 363 each are found in 19 copies, and 15 copies each are known of nos. 298 and 356. Other titles of which 10 or more copies are nos. 131, 157, and 360 (13 copies); 180 and 339 (12 copies); 89, 280, and 295 (11 copies); and 185 (10 copies). It is interesting to observe that of these 14 titles which have the largest number of copies, 10 are law books and the other four are political tracts dealing with issues which were of considerable moment at the time.

Even a cursory examination of the titles in the list will reveal that the early Kentucky printers were much employed with the religious life of their communities. Books and pamphlets concerned with religious controversy and propaganda number 67; there are 42 issues of the minutes of various associations of Baptists; and 9 sermons add to the total of 118 titles which may be grouped under the general head of "religion." The next largest group is composed of the 96 titles comprising the official publications of the state of Kentucky--legislative journals accounting for 30 of these, the session laws and separate issues of certain acts for 29, with various legislative resolutions and committee reports, the resolutions and proceedings of the constitutional convention of 1799, and a number of miscellaneous official documents making up the remainder. In this group are found 23 of the list's broadsides. If we add another group of 15 titles comprising compilations of the laws, court reports, legal textbooks, and the like, we have a total of 111 items concerned with the establishment of civil government in the state of Kentucky.

The list contains 35 almanacs, each with its astronomical calculations and "a variety of useful and entertaining pieces in prose and verse," often the only general reading matter to be found in many a remote cabin. Efforts to meet the needs of education are indicated by 13 titles of schoolbooks, of which 6 are known from surviving copies.

Another outstanding interest of the citizens of early Kentucky was politics, as is shown by 37 titles concerned with political propaganda and controversy. Of the items in this class, 20 are broadsides--indispensable media of communication between candidates and voters at a time when the newspapers, no matter how partisan, were too small to carry the gospel of an ardent political faith.

The Masonic order was strong in Kentucky in its first quarter-century, if we may judge by the 18 Masonic titles in the list, most of them being the proceedings of the grand lodge. Industry and professions other than the law and the church are but slimly represented; there is a work on farriery (no. 44) of which no copy is known; one on surveying (no. 293), and a manual of "popular" medicine (no. 364) for a day when self-help was often the only recourse in cases of accident or illness. General literature had at least made a beginning in the period covered by the list; these are six issues of volumes of verse and one "tragic comedy in five acts" in the record, but these are known only from advertisements of their publication; five titles speak for travels and adventure; and two or three titles of orations might also be included as "literary."

The thirteen years 1787-1799 fall within the period covered by the monumental American Bibliography compiled by the late Charles Evans. For this period Evans records 80 titles as Kentucky imprints; 58 of these will be found in the present list; the others have been omitted because of the lack of satisfactory evidence that they were ever printed or, if printed, that they were printed in Kentucky. These 22 Evans titles, together with a few others of doubtful authenticity as Kentucky imprints, will be the subject of a supplemental report.

There follows a list of the 58 Evans titles which are included in the present bibliography. For the period covered by Evans, this bibliography shows 71 titles "not in Evans"--12 known only from advertisements or other indications that they were printed, and 59 (including 28 broadsides) described from copies located in libraries.

To make adequate acknowledgment of all the assistance received in the compilation and preparation of a bibliographical list such as this is practically impossible. Copies of early Kentucky titles are recorded herein from 84 libraries and 18 private collections. To the librarians or owners of practically every one of these collections the compilers are under gratefully acknowledged obligation for replies to queries and requests for bibliographical descriptions of titles.

Among those who contributed extensively to the present compilation may be named: Mr. Willard O. Waters, of the Henry E. Huntington Library at San Marino, California; Mr. V. Valta Parma, of the Library of Congress; Miss Winifred Ver Nooy, of the University of Chicago Library; Miss Lavinia Steele, former librarian, and Mr. Charles C. Hunt, of the Iowa Masonic Library at Cedar Rapids; Mrs. Mary T. Moore, of the Western Kentucky State Teachers College at Bowling Green; Mrs. Jouett Taylor Cannon, Secretary of the Kentucky Historical Society at Frankfort; Mrs. Emma Guy Cromwell, State Librarian and Archivist, Frankfort; Miss Edna J. Grauman, reference librarian of the Louisville Public Library; Mr. Otto A. Rotherth, secretary, and Miss Ludie J. Kinhead, curator, of the Filson Club, Louisville; Mr. Thomas A. Johnson, librarian of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville; Mr. G. Glenn Clift and the late Miss Florence Dillard, of the Lexington Public Library; Mrs. Charles F. Norton, librarian of Transylvania College, Lexington; Miss Margaret I. King, librarian of the University of Kentucky at Lexington; Mr. Eldon R. James, librarian, and Mr. Robert B. Anderson, assistant librarian, of the Harvard University Law School; Mr. Clarence S. Brigham, director, and Mr. R. W. G. Vail, librarian, of the American Antiquarian Society at Worcester, Massachusetts; Mr. L. Nelson Nichols, of the New York Public Library; Miss Eleanor S. Wilby, librarian of the Historical and Philosophical Society of Ohio at Cincinnati; Dr. Wallace H. Cathcart, director of the Western Reserve Historical Society at Cleveland; Dr. Julian P. Boyd, librarian of the Historical Society of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia; Rev. Thomas C. Pears, Jr., director, and Miss M. H. Turner, associate librarian, of the Presbyterian Historical Society at Philadelphia; Rev. S. M. Tenney, curator of the Historical Foundation of the Presbyterian and Reformed Churches at Montreat, North Carolina; Mrs. Lois Mulkearn, of the University of Pittsburgh Library; and Miss Annie A. Nunns, of the Wisconsin State Historical Society at Madison.

Every title in the list has been cleared through the Union Catalog of the Library of Congress, and special acknowledgment is due to Mr. George A. Schwegmann, Jr., director, for the careful attention with which these titles have been checked with the information available from the resources of that catalog.

Valuable assistance has been given by a number of persons not connected with libraries. Mr. C. R. Staples, of Lexington, has been most helpful in reporting a large number of early Kentucky titles of which he had knowledge from various sources. Mr. J. Winston Coleman, Jr., and Hon. Samuel M. Wilson, both of Lexington, and Mr. William Marshall Bullitt, of Louisville, have been most generous in providing check lists of their private collections, with descriptions of some notable rarities in their possession.

To these and others who have assisted cordial appreciation is hereby expressed.

CHRONOLOGICAL LIST

KENTUCKY IMPRINTS

1787 - 1810

1787

Almanacs. Kentucky.

The Kentucke | Almanack, | For the Year of our Lord 1788. | Containing, | The Rising, and Setting of the Sun and | Moon, the Lunations, Conjunctions | and Eclipses, the Rising, Setting and | Southing of the noted fixed Stars: | Together with | Length of days, Judgment of the Weather, | Festivals and other Remarkable days, | Also | Court days, with useful observations on, and | directions for, propagating Fruit-
 Trees | by Grafting in its different branches. | Directions for making and refining Su-|gar, &c. &c. &c. | Calculated for Lat. 37° N. and a Meridian | of 15' West from Philadelphia, and will serve | without any sensible variation, for Virginia, North | Carolina, the settlement on
 Cumberland River, St-| Vincents and the Kaskaskies. | [Lexington:
 Printed by John Bradford, 1787.] [1]

No copy known. Title, in the above form, taken from advertisement ("Just published and now selling at this Office") in the Kentucke Gazette of January 5, 1788. Preliminary announcements of the publication of this almanac ("Preparing for the press and will be published in convenient time") had appeared in the Gazette of October 13 and November 17, 1787.

Evans 20441 (not located nor collated; probably from the above advertisement); with imprint "Lexington: Printed and sold by John and Fielding Bradford, at their Printing-Office on Main-Street. [1787.]"

1789

Almanacs. Kentucky.

[The Kentucky Almanack, for the year of our Lord 1790. Lexington:
 Printed by John Bradford. 1789.] [2]

No copy known. Advertised in the Kentucky Gazette of December 19, 1789, as published and for sale; "Printed on fine writing paper and may be had at this Office by the Gross, dozen or single."

Evans 21912 (not located nor collated); with imprint "Lexington: Printed and sold by John and Fielding Bradford. [1789.]"

Johnson, Thomas, Jr.

The | Kentucky Miscellany | by | Thomas Johnson, Jun. | [Lexington: |
 Printed by John Bradford. 1789.] [3]

No copy known. Title, in the above form, taken from advertisement in the Kentucky Gazette of May 2, 1789, and later issues, in which it was stated that the book might be had "at Mr. Benjamin Beall's in Lexington, and at Gillespie Buney & Company, and Gen. Wilkinson's stores in Danville."

Probably the first book both printed and published in the west. See Ralph Leslie Rusk, The Literature of the Middle Western Frontier (New York, 1926), vol. 1, p. 69, and footnote 201. Later editions are recorded in 1796, 1815, and 1821, of which only the last mentioned has been found in a surviving copy.

Johannot, Jackson.

[The Remarkable Adventures of Jackson Johannet [!] of Massachusetts. Who served as a soldier in the Western Army, in the Massachusetts line, in the expedition under General Harmar, and the unfortunate General St. Clair. Containing an account of his captivity, sufferings, and escape from the Kickapoo Indians. Written by himself, and published at the earnest importunity of his friends, for the benefit of American youth. Printed at Lexington (Kentucky) by John Bradford. 1791.] [4]
No copy known. Title from Evans 23474 (not located). The Providence edition of 1793 has the imprint: "Printed at Lexington (Kentucky) 1791. Reprinted at Providence. M,DCC,XCIII."

Rice, David.

A | Lecture | on the | Divine Decrees. | To which is annexed a few | observations | on a piece lately printed in Lexington, | entitled "The Principles of the Methodists, or the Scripture Doctrine of Predestination, Election and Reprobation." | [Rule] | [Filet] | Lexington: | Printed by John Bradford. | MDCCXCI. [4a]

9 x 15 cm. 72 p.

PPPrHi.

Baptists. Kentucky. Elkhorn Baptist Association.

Minutes | of the | Elk-Horn Baptist Association | Held at Tate's Creek, Madison county, August the 31st, 1792. | [Lexington: Printed by John Bradford. 1792.] [5]

17 x 22 cm. 4 p.

Caption title; no imprint.

Evans 25441 (not located).

Kentucky. Citizens.

To the President and Congress of the United States of America; | The Remonstrance of the Subscribers, Citizens of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, sheweth: | That your Remonstrants have observed with concern and indignation, the injuries and insults offered to the United States by the king | of Great Britain. . . . | [29 lines] | [Lexington: John Bradford. 1792 ?]

32.5 x 39 cm. Broadside.

No imprint, and the remonstrance is not dated. In addition to the protest against Great Britain, the remonstrants observe "that from the year 1783 to this day, they have been uniformly prevented, by the Spanish King, from exercising" the right of free and undisturbed navigation of the Mississippi, and add that "Eight years are surely sufficient for the discussion" of their claim to the use of the river. This suggests 1791 or 1792 as the date of the remonstrance.

DLC.

Kentucky. Constitution.

A | Constitution | or | Form of Government | for the | State of |
Kentucky. | [Filet] | Lexington; | Printed by John Bradford. | M.DCC.XCII.

9 x 17 cm. 32 p.

ICU. KyLo (lacks title page).

Kentucky. General Assembly. House of Representatives.

[Rules and Standing Orders of the House of Representatives. Lexington:
Printed by John Bradford. 1792.] [9]

No copy known. On June 6, 1792, the House "Resolved, That the printer be directed to print Forty copies of the rules and standing orders of this House for the use of the members thereof." (House Journal, first session, p. 7.)

John Bradford was appointed "Public Printer to this Commonwealth" by another House resolution, concurred in by the Senate, on the same date. (House Journal, first session, p. 6, Senate Journal, p. 4.) The rules are printed in full in the House Journal, p. 4.

Kentucky. General Assembly. Senate.

Journal of the Senate | at the First Session of the General Assembly of the State of | Kentucky. | [Filet] | Monday, June the 4th, 1792. |
[Lexington: Printed by John Bradford. 1792.] [10]

18.5 x 31 cm. 31 p.

Caption title; no imprint.

On June 7, 1792, the Senate "Ordered, That the Public Printer be directed to print twice a week during the Session, one hundred and twenty-two copies of the Journals of this House for the use of the public, the Senators and Clerk, and that ten copies be delivered each Senator, to be distributed among his constituents." (Senate Journal, first session, p. 6.)

ICU. KyLo.

Kentucky. General Assembly. Senate.

[The Act of Separation of the State of Virginia, and the Constitution of the United States. Lexington: Printed by John Bradford. 1792.]

No copy known. On June 8, 1792, the Senate "Ordered, That the Public printer be directed to strike eleven copies of the act of separation [sic] of the state of Virginia, and the Constitution of the United States, and that one copy be delivered to each member." (Senate Journal, first session, p. 7.)

Kentucky. General Assembly. Senate.

[Rules of the Senate. Lexington: Printed by John Bradford. 1792.]

[12]

No copy known. On June 8, 1792, the Senate "Ordered, That the public printer be directed to print Twelve copies of the rules of this House for the use of the Members." (Senate Journal, first session, p. 7.) The rules are printed in full in the Senate Journal, p. 4.

Kentucky. Governor (Isaac Shelby).

In the Name of the State of Kentucky. | To James French Esquire Greeting: | Know ye, That reposing special trust and confidence in your fidelity, | courage, activity and good conduct, I do appoint you the said James French | Surveyor of Madison County | to continue in office during good behaviour and your residence within the bounds of said | In Testimony whereof, I have caused these letters to be made Patent, | and my private seal to be hereunto affixt, (the seal for the Commonwealth not | yet being provided.) | Given under my hand as Governor for said state at Lexington, this tenth | day of August in the year of our Lord one thousand | seven hundred and ninety-two. | Isaac Shelby | by the Governor | James Brown. | [Lexington: John Bradford. 1792.] [13]

21 x 32.5 cm. Broadside.

No imprint, but undoubtedly printed at Lexington by John Bradford, who must have printed a quantity of other blank forms for official use. The italicized words in the above form are supplied in handwriting in the copy described, in which also the words "courage" and "and your residence within the bounds of said" are stricken out.

WHI (Draper MSS).

Kentucky. Laws, statutes, etc.

Printer to this Commonwealth be directed to strike as soon as may be, two acts of Congress [see nos. 20 and 21], . . . and also the act of Assembly of this state entitled 'An act concerning the militia' and that 1000 copies of each be deposited with the Governor for the use of the militia [!] of this State." (Senate Journal, first session, p. 17.)

Kentucky. Laws, statutes, etc.

[The revenue law as respects the collection of the land tax. Lexington:
Printed by John Bradford. 1792.] [17]

No copy known. On June 28, 1792, the Senate "Resolved, That the public Printer be directed to print so much of the Revenue law as respects the collection of the land tax, and that the Governor be requested to promulgate the same throughout the United States in such manner as he may think proper." (Senate Journal, first session, p. 27.)

[Rice, David]

Slavery | Inconsistent | with | Justice and Good Policy. | [Rule] | By
Philanthropos. | [Rule] | [Filet] | Lexington, Printed by J. Bradford. |
M.DCC.XCII. [18]

8.5 x 15 cm. 43 p. Decorated paper covers.

"Philanthropos" was Rev. David Rice, who addressed the constitutional convention at Danville in the text of this pamphlet. The speech was afterwards reprinted at Philadelphia (1792), London (1793), New York (1804), Augusta, Maine (1804).

The Wilson copy has covers lined with a fragment of the Kentucky Gazette of January 14, 1792.

Evans 24741 (LOC, [34] p.).

Wilson. DLC. PH1 (34 p.). PPPR1. Cotton.

Rushton, Edward.

[An Expostulatory Letter from Edward Rushton to George Washington, of Mount Vernon. Lexington: Printed by John Bradford. 1792.] [19]

No copy known. Advertised in the Kentucky Gazette of September 23, 1792, as "Just published at this office and for sale, price 9d." See no. 64 (1797).

United States. Laws, statutes, etc.

[An Act more effectually to provide for the National defence by establishing an uniform militia throughout the United States. Lexington: John Bradford. 1792.] [20]

No copy known. On June 21, 1792, the Senate of Kentucky "Resolved, That the public Printer to this Commonwealth be directed to strike as soon as may be, . . . 'An Act more effectually to provide [etc.]' . . . and that 1000 copies . . . be deposited with the Governor for the use of the militia of this State."

United States. Laws, statutes, etc.

[An Act to provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the union, suppress insurrections and repel invasions. Lexington: John Bradford. 1792.] [21]

No copy known. On June 21, 1792, the Senate of Kentucky "Resolved, That the public Printer to this Commonwealth be directed to strike as soon as may be, two acts of Congress, the one entitled 'An act more effectually to provide for the National defence [etc.]' and the other entitled 'An act to provide for calling forth the militia [etc.]' . . . and that 1000 copies of each be deposited with the Governor for the use of the militia of this State."

Democratic Society of Kentucky.

Fellow-Citizens. | The Democratic Society of Kentucky have directed us to transmit to you | the Address and Remonstrance which accompany this letter. . . . | [10 lines] | The inclosed Resolution of the Democratic society is one on which we | are directed to request your sentiments; and should you approve it we promise | ourselves that you will assist in carrying it into effect. | [5 lines, names, against brace] | Committee of | Correspondence. | December 31, 1793. | [8 lines, resolution] | [Lexington; John Bradford. 1793.] [25]

20 x 35 cm. Broadside.

The committee of correspondence consisted of William Murray, James Hughes, James Brown, James Moore, and Robert Todd. The remonstrance which accompanied this letter, when signed, was to be "transmitted to the representative in Congress from your district, or to any other member of that body, delegated from the Western Country." The resolution read: "Resolved, That it will be proper to make an attempt in a peaceable manner, to go with an American bottom properly registered and cleared, into the sea through the Channel of the Mississippi; that we may either procure an immediate acknowledgment of our right from the Spaniards; or if they obstruct us in the enjoyment of that right, that we may be able to lay before the Federal Government, such unequivocal proofs of their having done so, that they will be compelled to say, whether they will abandon or protect the inhabitants of the western country."

lachian Mountains. | Fellow-Citizens, | The Democratic Society of Kentucky, having had under | consideration the measures necessary to obtain the exercise | of your right to the free navigation of the Mississippi, have de|termined to address you upon that important topic. . . . | . . . |
[Lexington: John Bradford. 1793.] [26]

31.5 x 39.5 cm. Broadside. Text in 2 columns.

"By order of the Society. John Breckenridge, Chairman. Teste, Thomas

Todd, Thomas Bodley, Clerks. December 13, 1793." This is the address transmitted with the society's letter of December 31, 1793.

Probably the same as Evans 27545: "A Narrative of Mr. Adam Rankin's Trial, &c. Published by order of the Transylvania Presbytery. Lexington: Printed by J. Bradford, 1794." Evans seems to have assumed this title from the Reply to a Narrative of Mr. Adam Rankin's Trial (no. 40), as-cribing to the Narrative the same imprint and date as appeared on the Reply.

Rankin, Adam.

A | Process | in the | Transylvania Presbytery, &c. | Containing: |
[29 lines, in 2 columns] | [Rule] | By Adam Rankin, Pastor, at Lexington:
| Kentucky. | [Rule] | Lexington: | Printed by Maxwell & Cooch. | At the Sign of the Buffalo. | Main-Street. | [1793.] [32]

9.5 x 15.5 cm. 96 p.

The title page has no date, but the letter of transmittal (verso of title page) and the copyright are dated January 1, 1793. Publication was advertised in the Kentucky Gazette of March 16, 1793: "For sale at Mr. Bart's and Messrs. January's stores in Lexington and Mr. Hutton's in Georgetown." Contents (omitted above): "1st. The charges, depositions and defence in which the defendant is led occasionally to handle the much debated subject of psalmody. 2nd. His reasons for declining, any further connections with the body to which he belonged. 3rd. His present plan of proceeding, with the pastoral charge. 4th. His belief, and that of his people, concerning the articles of faith, contended between the reformed associate Sinod; and the Sinod of New York and Philadelphia. 5th. An appendix on a late performance of the Rev. Mr. John Black of Marsh creek, Pennsylvania."
William Maxwell a little after the date of this left Lexington to become the first printer in Ohio, at Cincinnati.

Marshall, Humphrey.

[A reply to the Address of the Hon. George Muter and Benjamin Sebastian. Lexington? M.DCC.XCV.] [49]

x cm. 31 p.

No copy known. Title as above, with collation, from Evans 29024 ("without place or printer"; not located).

On December 12, 1794, Humphrey Marshall presented in the House of Representatives of Kentucky a resolution asking the removal from office of George Muter and Benjamin Sebastian as judges of the court of appeals, because of a certain decision "that is contrary to the plain letter, intent, and meaning of the act entitled 'An act for adjusting and settling the titles of claimers to unpatented lands, . . .'" charging that they had acted "either from undue influence, corrupt motives, or want of judgment; . . ." The assembly, however, went no further than the adoption of a remonstrance against the decision.

But the two judges in turn took action; at the next session of the assembly, on November 21, 1795, the House "Resolved, that a committee ought to be appointed to draught a memorial to Congress, setting forth that Humphrey Marshall, one of our senators from this state, has been publicly charged with being guilty of perjury, . . ." The committee reported on December 4th "An address to the senate of the United States" in regard to these charges against Marshall, and the address was agreed to on December 16th. The proceedings refer to a pamphlet published in February, 1795, by George Muter and Benjamin Sebastian, in which Marshall was charged with having "committed gross fraud," alleging that he was "publicly charged with being guilty of wilfull and corrupt perjury, in order to screen himself from the consequences of his fraud; . . . " See the Senate and House journals of the third and fourth general assemblies.

 no title page, and all pages after p. 94 are missing.

This is the journal of the regular session of the seventh general assembly, from November 5 to December 22, 1798, printed (presumably) at Frankfort by Hunter & Beaumont, who printed the acts of that session.

No printed copy of the Senate journal for this session has been found.

[Double rule] | Legislature of Kentucky. | [Rule] | House of Representatives. | [Double rule] | Wednesday, Nov. 7, 1798. | . . . | [At end, below double rule] From the press of Hunter & Beaumont, Frankfort. | [1798.] [80]

28 x 44 cm. Broadside. Text in 4 columns separated by column rules. Imprint at bottom of 4th column.

"Wednesday, Nov. 7, 1798. Mr. Breckenridge gave notice that he would on To-morrow move the House to go into a Committee of the whole on the state of the Commonwealth, on that part of the Governor's address which relates to certain unconstitutional laws passed at the last session of Congress, and that he would then move certain resolutions on that subject.

"Thursday, Nov. 8. The House according to the order of the day resolved itself into a Committee of the whole on the state of the Commonwealth, and Mr. Breckenridge according to his notice yesterday moved the following Resolutions, which were seconded by Mr. Johnson."

Then follows the text of the famous Kentucky Resolutions to the effect "that the several states composing the United States of America are not united on the principle of unlimited submission to their General Government," and "that whensoever the General Government assumes undelegated powers, its acts are unauthorized, void, and of no force." These resolutions were primarily directed against the Alien and Sedition Laws of 1798 and directed the governor of Kentucky to communicate them to the legislatures of the several states and to call upon them for "an expression of their sentiments."

On November 17, 1798, the House of Representatives "Resolved, that Hunter and Beaumont be directed, without loss of time, to print one thousand copies of the resolutions passed at the present session of assembly respecting certain unconstitutional acts of congress: fifty copies of which they shall deliver to the governor, and the remainder to be equally divided among the members of the general assembly, for the use of their constituents."

(House Journal, seventh general assembly, p. 30.)

Of the copies of these resolutions sent to the several states, those that have been located are not in the folio broadside form. However, except for the heading, they were printed from the same setting of type as was used for the broadside issues, but in a neater, more compact 4-page quarto form. The broadside format seems to have been the shape in which the resolutions were originally first printed for the use of the members of the Kentucky general assembly.

[The Kentucky Primer, or, the Child's First Book: containing a variety of easy lessons in spelling and reading, adapted to the capacities of children. Washington, Ky.: Hunter & Beaumont. 1798.] [87]

No copy known. Advertised in the Washington Mirror of Saturday, March 31, 1798, as published "on Monday last." It was first announced in the Mirror of March 10, 1798, with the following note by Hunter and Beaumont: "This first humble attempt to commence the manufacture of School Books in this state they trust will meet with such encouragement as to warrant their perseverance in the establishment of an extensive Manufactory of that useful article. They intend to put a Spelling-Book to press very shortly, and will continue to print such other publications as may be in sufficient demand." The Frankfort Palladium of August 9, 1798 priced this primer at 9d.

This "humble attempt" was probably not the first schoolbook printed in Kentucky, as the Kentucky English Grammar, by Samuel Wilson (no. 66, above) appears to have been published nearly three months earlier. Evans 33956 (not located nor collated).

"New Publications by Hunter and Beaumont, to be had at their Printing Offices in Frankfort and Washington," priced at 2s. 3d.

Appended to the announcement in the Mirror was a note: "It is a general and well grounded complaint that School Books are too often obtruded on the public, printed in a slovenly manner with old worn out Type and on a very indifferent paper. Sensible of the disadvantages which attend the use of such imperfect books, and anxious to evince their wish to be useful, the Publishers of this Edition have spared no pains or expence to render their Spelling Book, deserving of the public esteem. Upon examining the book it will be found they have deviated considerably from the beaten tract [sic], and in place of a deal of useless trash which is commonly found therein, they have substituted matter of an useful and entertaining nature."

No copy known. Advertised in the Washington Mirror of Saturday, March 31, 1798, as published "on Monday last." The price was "one quarter-of-a-dollar."

This may possibly have been the predecessor of the Zadok Cramer Navigators which later became famous at Pittsburgh. The earliest known Pittsburgh edition, that of 1802, was entitled The Ohio and Mississippi Navigator and was designated as a third edition. Its preface stated: "This Book, in its former editions, was confined to the navigation of the Ohio only.--Two large editions were sold off in a very short time. . . ." This may have referred to the rapid sale of the two Kentucky editions (see the note on the second Kentucky edition, below), but issues of the Pittsburgh Navigators after 1802 seem to bear evidence that two Pittsburgh editions, of which no copies have yet been found, were printed in 1801. At any rate, the Cramer publications undoubtedly took much of their material from the earlier Kentucky Navigators.

Kentucky. Laws, statutes, etc.

[Acts of a General Nature passed at the Seventh General Assembly for the Commonwealth of Kentucky. Lexington: Printed by John Bradford. 1799.] [116]

No copy known. Advertised in the Kentucky Gazette of February 14, 1799, as to be "published at this office on Saturday next, Acts of the Assembly, price 1s, 6d. All the laws (of a general nature) passed at the late session of the general assembly of the commonwealth." The next issue of the Gazette, February 21, 1799, contained a notice, dated February 16, that the acts were "just published."

By his publication of these "Acts of a General Nature" in February, 1799, Bradford anticipated by two weeks or so the official publication of the laws by Hunter & Beaumont, of Frankfort, to whom he had had to yield his position as printer to the Commonwealth. See the note on the following title.

Kentucky. Laws, statutes, etc.

Acts | Passed at | The First Session | of the | Seventh General Assembly, | for | The Commonwealth | of | Kentucky, | begun and held in the capitol, in the town of | Frankfort, on Monday the fifth day of November, in the year of our Lord, one thousand, seven hundred, and ninety-eight, and | of the Commonwealth the sixth. | [Double rule] | Published by Authority. | [Double rule] | Frankfort: | Printed by Hunter & Beaumont, | Printers to the Commonwealth. | [Filet] | 1799. [117]

12.5 x 20 cm. [6], [3]-182 p.

Advertised in the Frankfort Palladium of March 7, 1799. Six months later, in the Palladium of November 7, 1799, an advertisement priced this volume at 6s, with a caution which seems to have been directed against John Bradford's unauthorized issue of the "Acts of a General Nature." The caution was as follows: "It may not be unnecessary to observe, that this Edition of the Acts is the only one which contain [.] the whole of the General and Local Laws; is published by Authority; and has been carefully compared with the Rolls in the office of the Secretary of State."

Laws | of | Kentucky; | Comprehending those of a General Nature now in force | and which have been acted on by the Legislature thereof. | Together with | A Copious Index | and | A List of Local or Private Acts, | with the dates of the Sessions at which they were passed. | To which is prefixed | The Constitution of the United States, | with the amendments. | The Act of Separation from the State of | Virginia. | And the Constitution of Kentucky. | [Filet] | Lexington: | [Double rule] | Printed by John Bradford, Main-Street. | [Double rule] | 1799. [118]

11.5 x 19.5 cm. lxvi, 1 blank leaf, 19, 514 p.

The Kentucky Gazette of April 26, 1797, contained "Proposals for Publishing by subscription, A neat edition of the Kentucky Laws." About a year later, the Gazette of April 18, 1798, in a notice dated March 19, said: "The printing of the Kentucky Laws of a General Nature in one volume has commenced, notwithstanding we have not procured the number of subscribers contemplated in our proposal." In the Frankfort Guardian of Freedom of May 30, 1799, the book was advertised as "Just published and for sale by John Bradford at his office in Lexington, price 2ls."

The book begins with the Constitution of the United States, followed by the Constitution of Kentucky of 1792. These two documents are paged in roman numerals to p. lxvi. Then comes the Kentucky Constitution of 1799, with the roman numerals continued to p. lxxxiv (a blank leaf following p. lxvi having been counted as 2 pages). The printer then decided to continue with arabic numbers, beginning with p. 17 of the second Kentucky Constitution. But in the arabic numeration the two pages on the blank leaf are not counted; if they had been included in the count, the page following roman p. lxxxiv would have been arabic p. 19.

A second volume was issued in 1807 (no. 298) and a third in 1817.

The advertisement on the last leaf reads: "It was intended to add to this volume a few forms for the use of Justices of the Peace, till it was found that the size of the work would otherwise much exceed the limits originally contemplated: The editor, however, proposes publishing in the course of a few months a general Formulary for Clerks and Justices . . ." If this Formulary was ever printed as planned, no record of its publication has been found.

This work was advertised in the Frankfort Guardian of Freedom of November 24, 1802 (an editor's note in the advertisement is dated June 17, 1802): "At the Office of the Palladium, On Monday last was published, in One Volume Duodecimo, Price Three Dollars, bound in leather, . . ."

Advertised in the Frankfort Guardian of Freedom of June 30, 1802, as "Just come to hand, and for sale at this office, . . . Price Fifty Cents."
 A second edition of this Review was printed at Pittsburgh (or Washington), Pennsylvania, in December, 1802; and see no. 187, below. Rankin argued that the phenomena of the revival "prove themselves to be the effect of satanical influence, instead of sound conversion."

Toulmin, J R .
 [A Little Poem | on | Peace & War. | Second edition corrected. | To which is added, | two lesser poems. | By J. R. Toulmin. | Frankfort:
 James M. Bradford. 1803.] [190]
 No copy known. Title (in the above form) from advertisement in the Kentucky Gazette and General Advertiser of March 29, 1803: "New Pamphlet.
 For sale at this Office. . . . Price 12 1-2 cents single, or 1 dozen for 1 dollar." This advertisement added: "The profits arising from the sale of this publication, will be appropriated towards building the new meeting house in the town of Frankfort."
 The Frankfort Guardian of Freedom of November 22, 1802, had contained proposals for printing by subscription: "A Little Poem on the Blessings of Peace, and the Unjustifiableness of War. Occasioned by the long war between France and Great Britain. Chiefly composed on board the ship Brutus, in a voyage from G. Britain to North America, September 25th, 1801. Second edition, corrected; With three additional Verses, and another note. By J. R. Toulmin." The proposals specified: "I. The Poem will be printed on Medium Paper, with a neat Letter, to contain about Twelve pages, duodecimo. II. The Pamphlet will be put to press as soon as a sufficient number of Subscribers are obtained to discharge the demands of the Printer. III. If the Poem on Peace and War should not extend to twelve pages, one or two lesser ones will be added to make up the complement. . . ."
 The first edition (with the title "A Small Poem on the Blessings of Peace and the Disadvantages of War. Occasioned by the long war between France and Great Britain"—author not named) was advertised in the Frankfort Guardian of Freedom (James M. Bradford, publisher) of June 30, 1802, as "Lately published, and lodged at this Office for sale, . . ."
 The wording of this advertisement makes it seem unlikely that the first edition was printed in Kentucky. No copy of it is known.

Contains an address to the people of Kentucky on Bodley's relations with Humphrey Marshall (viii p.), followed by (27 p.) Report of the Select Committee appointed to investigate certain charges against Humphrey Marshall (caption title; no imprint), dated February 19th, 1808.

On the first page of his address, Bodley wrote: "Annexed is a correct copy of the documents and testimony as reported by the select committee, and entered on the journal of the house." The inference is that the report of the committee was here reprinted, for Bodley's purposes, from the pages of the house journal, and there seems to be reason for assuming that the Bodley address with the report formed a unit as issued from the press. The Report, however, may also have been issued separately; see no. 316, below.

In the Library of Congress copy, between the Bodley address and the Report, is a portion of a folded plan of the area between the Licking River and the Ohio.

Ed. Argus. | [Filet] | 1809. [341]

15 x 24.5 cm. 15 p.

The "advertisement" on the verso of the title page says that four of the letters were published in "some of the newspapers" during the spring and early summer. The first four letters are dated April 13, 20, and 26, and May 11, 1809. The fifth letter, dated July 24, 1809, is quite different typographically from the others. The letters contain criticisms of the government of the state of Kentucky, the fifth and last beginning with the statement that "The government of this state is not a government of Republicanism or Federalism, but a government of Scoundrelism."
The author is unidentified.
