The Quest of the Grail

"Then came a year of miracle;" a day
Which marked the happy advent of a gay
And earnest class; intent and purposeful.
Gathered in the shadow of the flame
Whose light has guided men to Wisdom's door,
They set themselves to build a lasting name.

Their goal they traced upon a distant cloud,
And separating often from the crowd
Of others, pointed ever to the sky—
Ambition found a new and hard-fought trail,
While weaker comrades, falling by the way
Urged forth the stalwart ones to seek the Grail.

Sweet Knowledge filled the chalice of desire;
They met, they worked, in order to conspire
Against ill fortune and the wiles of Fate.
Four years within the shadow of the flame,
Forever losing strength along the path
As Fraility gathered toll—in praise and blame.

Four years devoted to the search of truth.
But this is not the ending, for in sooth
These ancient books—and they would win thee—teem,
Only I find not there the Holy Grail."
It is the consummation, after youth,
And marks the happy ending of Life's tale.

"And one there was among us, ever moved
Among us in white armor, Galahad.
'God make thee good as thou art beautiful'
Said Arthur, when he dubb'd him knight; and none,
In so young youth was ever made a knight
'Til Galahad."

DEDICATION

Enoch Grehan

Head of the Department of Journalism

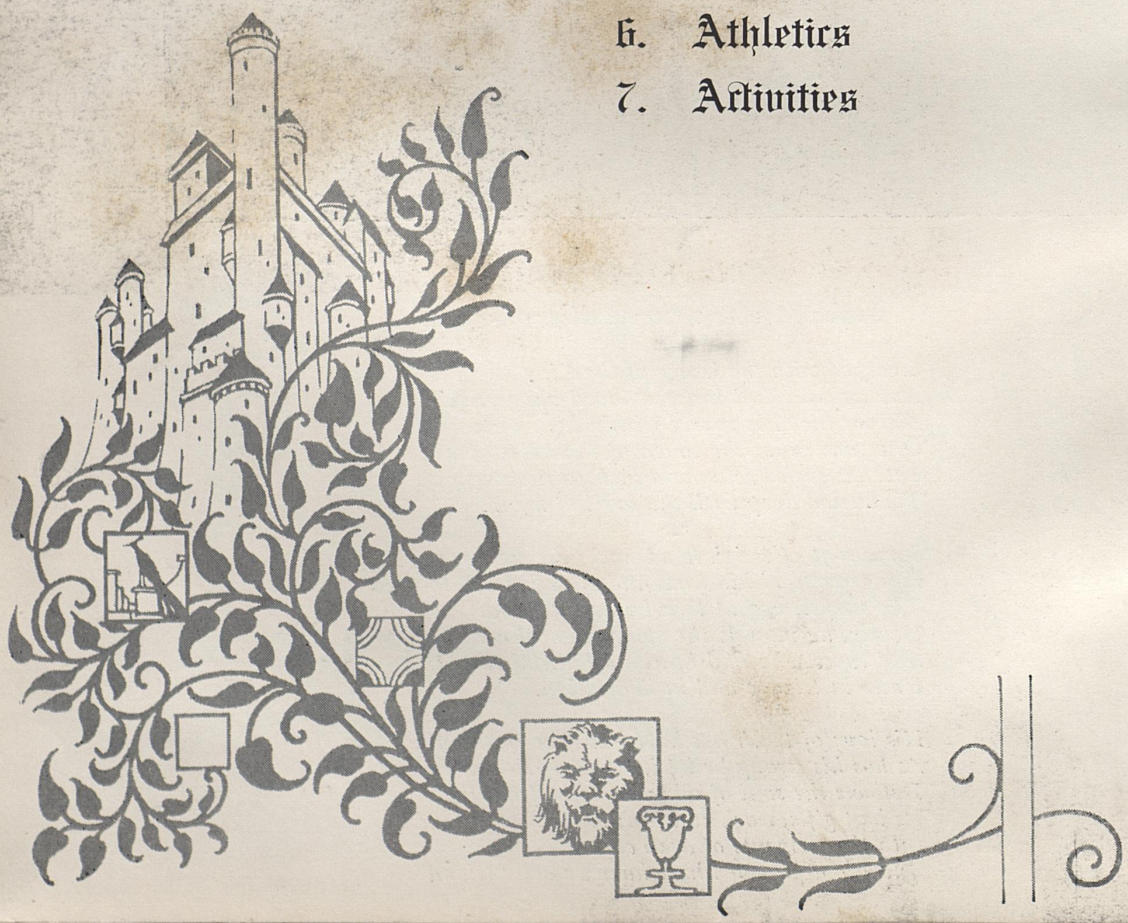

"Stamped with the image of the King" he dwells
Among us. And his well loved visage tells
A story that has source within his heart;
One that defies the touch of the ablest pen
Yet, has such beauty and such earnestness,
'Tis buried deep with the souls of men.

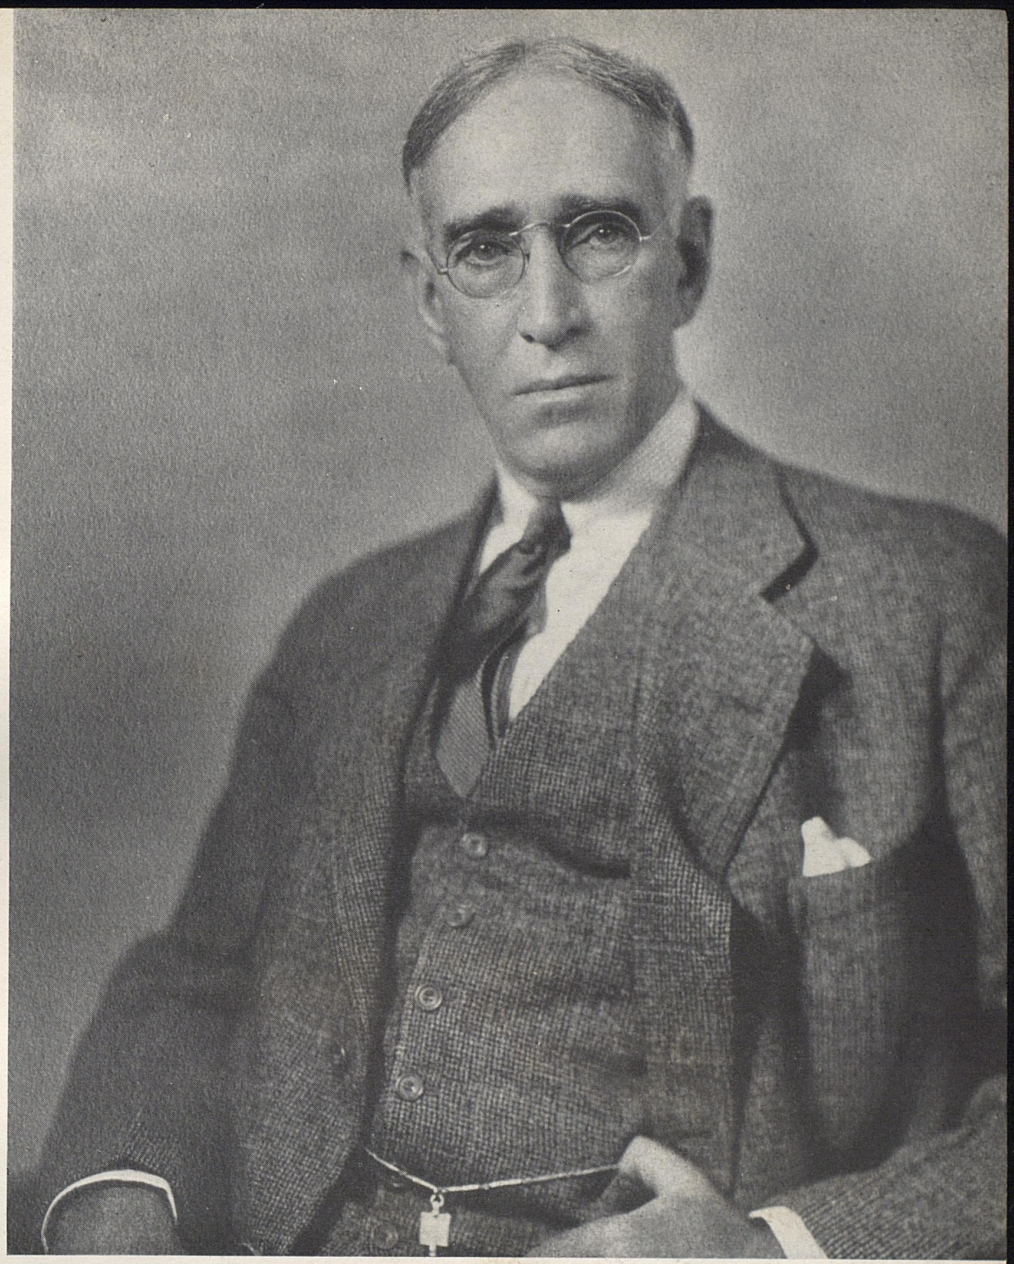

"Some root of knighthood and pure nobleness"
Has growth within him, and springs forth to bless
The useful, urgent task he has at hand.
Gently, he moulds the spokesmen of a nation,
And those who find in him a faithful friend,
Unite in tribute and in dedication.

His love of truth has kept him free from guile
As has his strong belief in youth—His smile
Reflects the soul of one who takes from life
Its best gifts, work and fun; virtues that blend
Into the elements of deep content—
And are a part of him whom we call "friend".

"In silver armor suddenly Galahad shone
Before us, and against the chapel door
Laid lance, and enter'd, and we knelt in prayer.
And there the hermit slaked my burning thirst,
And at the sacring of the mass I saw
The holy elements alone; but he,
Saw ye no more? Aye, Galahad, saw the Grail,
The Holy Grail, descend upon the shrine."

DORIS SMITH.

Our Quest Complet'd

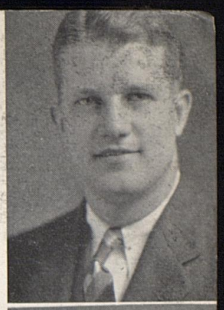

Sir Launcelot

Once on a time there entered into the halls of the Thane McVey a great hoard, a mighty multitude of blue capp'd freshmen. They swarm'd o'er the campus, made felt their presence, and boasted their prowess and determination for deeds yet undone. Amongst the lesser ones, many stood out. There was a mighty Duke who bestrode a great yellow charger, a lily-maid Christine and red-maned Sir Andy who did jointly joust all comers in the Stroller Amature nite Tourney, sweeping all before them, and many others whose fame spread far and wide because of brain and brawn. Thus start'd our class of 1932.

But being full of lustihood and little satisfied, the fair ladies and noble knights of our hoard did sware an oath, did for ourselves, choose a Quest, a search for enlightenment, for knowledge. As we did set out many perils beset us, causing some to fall from the hard-beaten way, while others, girding their loins the tighter, and with faces heavenwards—turn'd, rode on.

And now, with near-complet'd quest, we view our fellow knights, battle-scarr'd, ravag'd and wound'd, yet bearing proud the sleeve of some fair maid, or shield of hostile knight de-hors'd upon the way. Amongst the victorious knights who ride head-high from the lists, we see the brave Sir Gordon Finley, Sir Tick Evans, and sir Duke Johnston. Many great ladies grace the lists, the ever-attractive Elizabeth Poole, fair Virginia Young, Emily Hardin, and Christine Johnson. The demure maid Mary Elizabeth Fisher is evidenc'd, as are Journalists Louise Thompson and Eleanor Smith. Other knights with history-sounding names are Sir Ben Stapleton, Sir John Epps, and Sir Bob Wise. But greatest of all knights, great for prowess on fields of bloody battle, great for prowess in the lists where Track Tourneys are fought, is the great Sir Shipwreck. Sir Shipwreck whose name has been carri'd from one end of our fair land to the other. Thus does the class of 1932 ride out, our quest complet'd, vows fulfill'd, armour on, casques pull'd down, lances couch'd, from spurs to plumes, wheresoe'er we ride, whatsoe-er may come, we're ready.

"And then I chanced upon a goodly town
With one great dwelling in the middle of it;
Thither I made, and there I was disarm'd
By maidens each as fair as any flower;
But when they led me into hall, behold,
The Princess of that castle was the one,
Brother, and that one only, who had ever
Made my heart leap."

MR. FRANK STONE, EDITOR,
KENTUCKIAN, UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY,
LEXINGTON, KY.

DEAR MR. STONE:

I HAVE JUDGED THE PICTURES SUBMITTED TO ME WITH EXTREME CARE AND CAUTION BECAUSE I KNOW THE PITFALLS OF PHOTOGRAPHY. VERY OFTEN ONE IS DELUDED BY A GOOD PICTURE WHEN AS A MATTER OF FACT THE BEAUTY THUS PICTURED DOES NOT SHOW UP IN REAL LIFE AS BEAUTIFUL AS THE PHOTOGRAPH OF ANOTHER GIRL WHO MAY BE FAR PRETTIER. THESE CIRCUMSTANCES NATURALLY HANDICAP ME IN MAKING MY DECISION. I SAY THIS OUT OF FAIRNESS TO THE OTHER BEAUTIES IN THE CONTEST.

I FEEL, HOWEVER, THAT OF ALL PHOTOGRAPHS SUBMITTED THAT OF MISS "3370" SHOWS THE GREATEST BEAUTY FROM A STANDPOINT OF FINE CHISELLED FEATURES AND PERSONALITY. MISS "3370" SHOWS SOUL AND DEPTH OF FEELING. SHE HAS A WEALTH OF BEAUTIFUL HAIR AND A PAIR OF FINE PENETRATING EYES. I THINK I HAVE MADE NO MISTAKE IN SELECTING HER AS THE MOST BEAUTIFUL GIRL IN THE CONTEST. THE FOLLOWING ARE THE NEXT BEST IN NUMERICAL ORDER: 2-3362, 3-3366, 4-3365, 5-3369, 6-3364, 7-3361, 8-3377.

OF COURSE—AND THIS IS NOT BY WAY OF ALIBI—I HAVE BEEN MOTIVATED IN ALL OF MY SELECTIONS BY YOUR OWN STANDARD OF PERCENTAGES SUCH AS HEIGHT, WEIGHT, COLOR OF HAIR, TEXTURE OF HAIR, COLOR OF EYES, BRIGHTNESS OF EYES, COMPLEXION, AND TEXTURE OF SKIN.

GOOD LUCK TO THE WINNER AND TO THE OTHERS. I REALLY HAD AN ENJOYABLE TIME STUDYING THE PHOTOGRAPHS, FOR ALL THE GIRLS ENTERED ARE REALLY PRETTY AND A DISTINCT CREDIT TO BEAUTIFUL AMERICAN WOMANHOOD.

CORDIALLY,

Jane Dyer

Jane Dyer, Morganfeld, junior in the College of Agriculture, was chosen by fellow students as the most popular girl in the University of Kentucky 1932 Kentuckian contest. Miss Dyer is majoring in Home Economics, and was recently presented with the cup offered each year by the Woman's Self Government Association to the outstanding junior woman. The cup is awarded on the basis of leadership, scholarship, and character.

Miss Dyer is a member of the SuKy Circle; Phi Upsilon Omicron, honorary home economics fraternity; Cwens, honorary fraternity for sophomore women; the Pitkin Club; Home Economics Club; Ag Society, and Alpha Gamma Delta social sorority.

She was awarded the Alpha Gamma Delta cup in her freshman year as the outstanding member of her class, and as a sophomore she was elected house president of her sorority.

Ralph Kercheval

Ralph Kercheval, sophomore in the College of Agriculture, and outstanding athlete who has been designated by Head Coach Harry Gamage as "the best punter in the country," was voted the most popular man on the University of Kentucky campus in the 1932 Kentuckian contest.

Kercheval came to the university from Henry Clay High school in Lexington, where he was awarded the Yale Cup in his senior year for outstanding qualities in scholarship, athletics and character. Since entering the university he has won freshman numerals in football, basketball, and track, has played fullback on the Wildcat football team and is a member of the 1932 track team.

In his freshman year Kercheval was circulation manager of the Kentucky Kernel and was presented the Lamp and Cross cup as the outstanding man in the freshman class. He is a member of Block and Bridle, honorary Agricultural club and was given the lead in the 1932 Stroller dramatic production "Good News." University Publications

By Mary Carolyn Terrill

The University of Kentucky is fortunate in having a great number of publications that are edited by the students and for the students. In addition to the Kentuckian, the yearbook, and the Kentucky Kernel, the semi-weekly newspaper, there are other publications which are typical of campus activity and illustrate the diversity of interests of the student body.

The faculty of the university, as well as the student body, are editors of publications which are printed for the benefit and enjoyment of the students and citizens of the state.

For the purpose of classification the publications are divided into three groups namely: periodicals, general university bulletins, and research publications.

PERIODICALS

Kentucky Law Journal, published quarterly by the College of Law. The faculty editor is Roy Moreland; student editor, John C. Bagwell; business manager, Lon M. Rogers; student note editor, Gordon Finley; circulation manager, Edwin R. Denney. Book Reviews and Legislation are by Martin Gleen.

Kentucky Alumnus, published monthly, except during July and August. James Shropshire is editor and manager; Betty Hulett is assistant manager, and Pauline Harmon is the student editor.

Letters, published quarterly, is edited by the Department of English Language and Literature, and is financed by the Department of Journalism. Prof. E. F. Farquhar is the editor.

Kampus Kat, the only humorous publication on the campus, is printed at odd intervals by Sigma Delta Chi, honorary journalistic fraternity. Members of the staff are Bill Shafer, editor-in-chief; Daniel Goodman, associate editor; John Watts, Jr., associate editor, and Lawrence Herron, sales manager.

SuKy May Day Souvenir Program, published by SuKy, student pep club, is edited by Gilbert Kingsbury. Ben Leroy is circulation manager, and faculty adviser for the publication is Neil Plummer.

Football Program, published by the Athletic Association, for sale at the football games, is edited by Neil Plummer.

"K" Book, popularly known as the "Freshman Bible," is sponsored by the Y. M. C. A., and is published once each year. The editor is Ralph Johnson: assistant editor, Emily Reeves, and business manager, John Carter.

GENERAL UNIVERSITY PUBLICATIONS

College of Agriculture publications are issued from time to time for the benefit of citizens of the state.

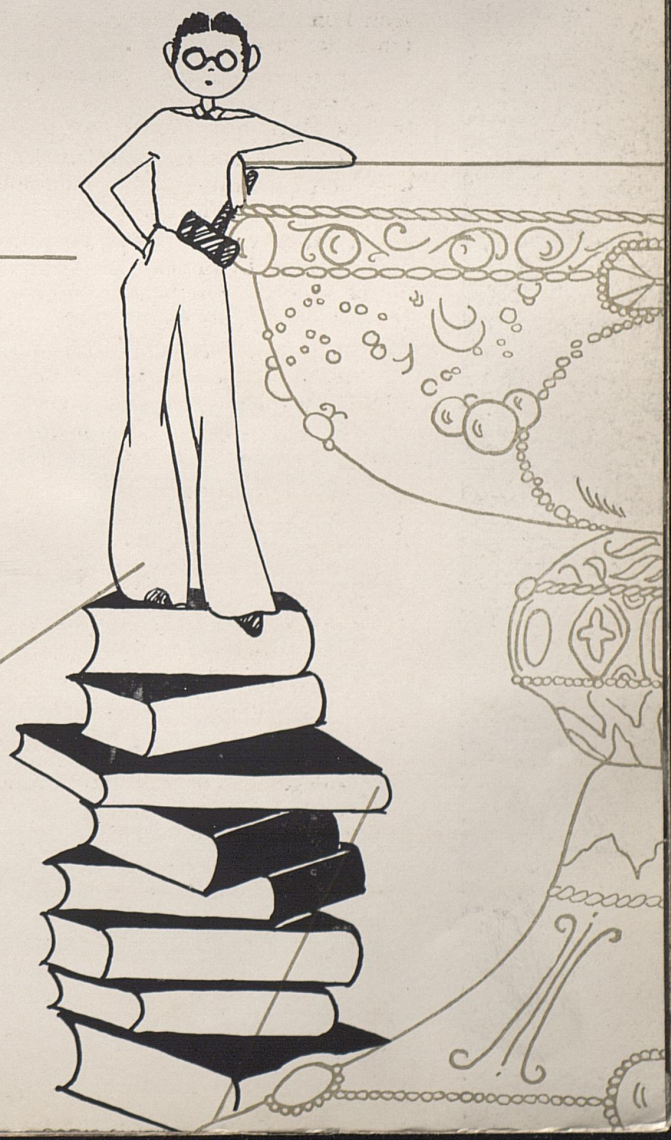

University Extension Series of bulletins, are published monthly by the University Extension Department.

RESEARCH PUBLICATIONS

College of Education publications, medical publications, commerce publications and pamphlets published by the College of Agriculture. These research articles are available to citizens of the state.

Personnel Bulletin, published three or four times each year by the Department of Psychology. Dr. J. B. Miner is in charge of the editing.

"And in the strength of this I rode,
Shattering all evil customs everywhere
And passed thro' pagan realms, and made them mine,
And clashed with pagan hordes, and bore them down,
And broke thro' all, and in the strength of this Come victor."

PRIBBLE KREUTER COURTNEY WORTHINGTON

Varsity Football

BY VERNON D. ROOKS

HEAD COACH GAMAGE

The Kentucky Wildcats of 1931, the finest club to represent the University in modern football, finished sixth in Southern Conference standings—the Southern Conference, boasting 23 of the South's largest universities and proclaimed far and wide as rulers of the grid game in 1931.

Kentucky finished sixth, and in the first five were Maryland, which Kentucky tied; Tennessee, which Kentucky tied and Alabama, which beat Kentucky by the slim margin of a safety. Granting the Wildcats victories over Maryland and Duke, which they thoroughly deserved, just what would have been the final ballot?

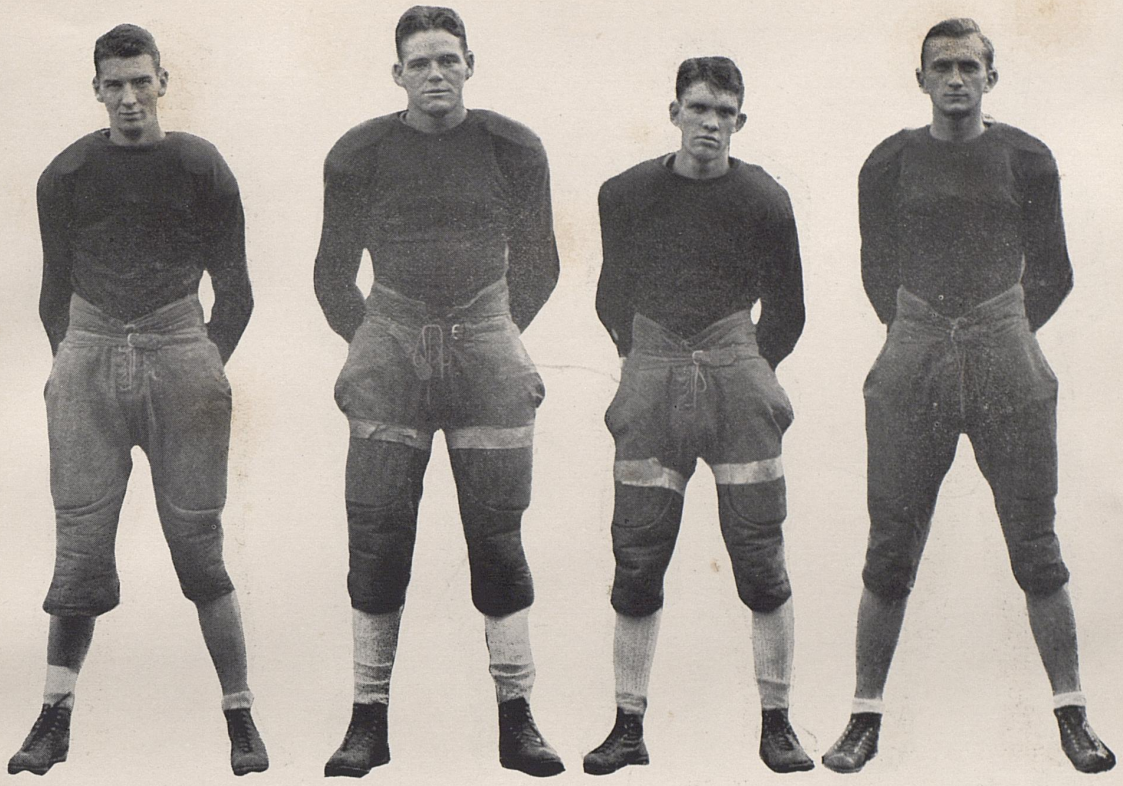

Coach Harry Gamage started his Wildcats off in the heat of September, carried them through the crispness of October, the chill of November, and back into the heat again at Florida on December 5.

The season, in one series of events, was a repetition of the 1930 role. Alabama's Red Elephants stamped the first defeat on the Kentuckians and left them susceptible to the wiles of an impish team of Duke Blue Devils. And the victory of Duke over Kentucky gave Coach Wallace Wade a new lease on wins over the Wildcats after he had accomplished the feat continuously since 1922 as mentor of Alabama's Crimson Tide.

Eight men finished their football careers with the Florida sun bath. They were co-captains Ralph Wright and John S. Kelly, Kenneth Andrews, Richard Richards, Jack Phipps, Bud Cavana, Robert Kipping and Newell Wilder.

Road trips during the year to Tuscaloosa, Ala., Washington, D. C., and Jacksonville, Fla., proved costly with one defeat and a tie.

O. L. "Bud" Davidson, sophomore guard of Evansville, Ind., and George

MURPHY RICHARDS NICHOLSON YATES

Skinner, junior end, of Lexington, Ky., were named co-captains for 1932 by the 21 lettermen at the annual grid banquet following the 1931 season.

John "Spinner" Campbell came to the University as backfield coach from Alabama, where he played on the Tide teams that rolled over Kentucky and won the national championship in the Rose Bowl. Silk pants also were introduced to the Wildcats.

* * * *

Kentucky 19, Maryville 0

Little Maryville College, from the the highlands of Tennessee, surprised anxious Kentucky followers by holding the vaunted Big Blue to a 19 to 0 victory in the opening game of the season. The tilt, played in almost mid-summer heat, left a bad taste in the mouth of all present, which persisted only until the annihilation of Washington and Lee the following week.

It was Ellis Johnson, the Ashland Kentucky "Skipper," who dominated the Maryville game, scoring a touchdown in the first quarter on a 20-yard run and flinging himself in wild abandon over the field throughout the torrid afternoon.

Kelly stayed under raps, scoring through the line for the second touchdown in the third quarter and never letting himself out for graphs by ambitious pencils among the visiting scouts. Urbaniak added the third touchdown on a seven-yard run in the last quarter, and Captain Wright kicked his only extra point.

Kentucky's poor showing was forgiven later when the Maryville team turned out to be the best in the school's history, winning nearly every game on its schedule.

* * * *

Kentucky 45, Washington and Lee 0

Kentucky's rout of the W. & L. Generals was the most decisive in the history of athletic relations between the two schools. It dispelled once and forever all doubts that Kentucky could not defeat a Jimmy DeHart coached team. Ah! If 'twere only true of Wallace Wade.

LINE COACH SHIVELY

DUFF

Nearly every man on the Kentucky squad was allowed a taste in the massacre. Or was Gamage trying to save the Generals inevitable embarrassment?

"Shipwreck" Kelly made the longest run of the game; in fact the longest run of any back on a major college team during the year—96 yards to a touchdown. The Springfield Ky., sprinter intercepted a W. & L. pass in the flat zone on his own four-yard line and crossed the goal line standing up.

The Waterloo of the Generals was complete during all periods of the game as is shown by the score by quarters:

Kentucky	13	12	13	7——45
W. & L.	0	0	0	0—— 0

It is not difficult for Kentucky to recall days not far distant during which the Wildcats considered themselves lucky to escape with a light drubbing from the Generals.

Kelly scored two touchdowns the second on an 80-yard run before he left the game. Stanley Bach made two, and Phipps, Urbaniak and Johnson took one each. It was largely a passing attack that started the stampede.

* * * *

Kentucky, 6 Maryland 6

And then came the end of the world. Of all things, at all times, the Maryland Terrapins tied the Wildcats by virtue of a 45-yard pass with only 15 seconds to go in the first half.

It was the same play that had defeated the Navy on the Saturday just previous—Chalmers to Norris, an end. And it was executed at the same critical time under the same circumstances. The game was played at Washington, D. C., and during the intermission there was a groan in Lexington, Ky., that was almost as loud as the shot heard around the world.

ENGEL

WALL

In the third quarter, however, Urbaniak crossed the Maryland goal line on a six-yard jaunt, after Kelly had raced 49 yards down the field. It looked like a sure victory for Kentucky, but it was not to be. Washington sports critics termed Kentucky one of the best teams in the country.

The superiority of the Wildcats was shown in the fact that they gained 14 first downs to six for Maryland and gained three times as many yards.

The playing of Andrews and Skinner was complimented and the men termed all-American timber by coaches and editors. The tie practically left Kentucky without hope of finishing the season on top of the Southern Conference scramble.

"The best band in Dixie" was there. Elmer Sulzer led his band through the streets of Washington, posed for news reels and newspaper photographers, and gave the Marylanders something else to think about during the game.

* * * *

Kentucky 20, V. P. I. 6

The V. P. I. game was largely a list of runs for touchdowns that were called back by the officials. Kelly sprinted 92 yards across the line on one occasion and 24 yards a second time, but neither is recorded here as counting six points. But statisticians tell us that while Kentucky made 16 first downs, the Gobblers were right on their toes with 14.

Ellis Johnson returned a punt 58 yards for the first touchdown in the opening quarter but the crowd grew restless when V. P. I. brought the score to 7 to 6 just before the gun sounded ending the half. In fact, the crowd forgot that it was the superb blocking of Robert Montgomery that paved the way for Johnson's thrilling gallop.

Johnson added another touchdown for posterity in the third quarter on a 10-yard jaunt off-tackle, and Ralph Kercheval smashed the line to make it three in the last canto.

The outcome, however, did little to cheer up a Kentucky following, made up of doubting Thomases after the Maryland tie.

* * * *

Alabama 9, Kentucky 7

The less said about the Alabama nightmare the better. Let it suffice to say that Alabama should have won by a larger score than the ultimate result displays. We do a fighting team of Wildcats no injustice when we say this. What care we if Alabama lost to Tennessee, 25 to 0. Didn't the Wildcats tie the Volunteers, 6 to 6?

Seventeen times was Kercheval called upon to kick from the shadow of his own goal posts and 17 times the ball rose in a high spiral to put the Tide back where it started from but the Tuscaloosa Giants were not to be denied. When the first half ended they were knocking at the touchdown door with first down and three yards to go.

The Wildcats fought with their backs to the wall not once putting the ball into play in enemy territory. The Kentucky touchdown was made on Kelly's 57 yard run after he had returned a kickoff 47 yards. Wright kicked the extra point, but a safety when Laslie, a reserve tackle, blocked Kercheval's punt and then tackled the Kentucky fullback behind the goal, gave the Elephants the margin of victory.

* * * *

Duke 7, Kentucky 0

A moody depression gripped the Wildcats after the Alabama defeat, but the Gods of luck slipped a cog when they gave Wallace Wade another victory over Kentucky.

It was Weldon 'Pap" Horton, 200-pound tackle, who grabbed a homeless pass in his arms and carried the lonely pigskin across the line in the third quarter. 'Kid" Brewer kicked the goal and the scoring was over for a day.

ANDREWS

WILDER

Although the score is the only thing that counts, it helps a little to remember that Kentucky made 12 first downs to three for Duke, and gained 271 yards to a meagre 57 for the Blue Devils.

The Wildcats went to the one-yard line once, to the three-yard line twice, and to the eight-yard line, but never were they allowed to enter the Promised Land.

* * * *

Kentucky 20, V. M. I. 12

Coach Harry Gamage went to Knoxville to scout Tennessee and Coach Bernie Shively let the Wildcats have a picnic at V. M. I. Thirty-one Kentucky men played during the game, and no matter what the combination. dominated the play at all times.

The regulars built up an easy 13 to 0 lead in the first half and the substitutes finished the battle. V. M. I. scored on the second team once and on a third string team once. Kelly ran 69 yards for one touchdown.

* * * *

Kentucky 6, Tennessee 6

Kentucky startled the nation (which really shouldn't be startled by the annual repetition) by tying the Rose-Bowl bound Tennessee Volunteers on Thanksgiving. A grand total of 17,000 persons drank weak soda pop in McLean Stadium, while the Wildcats put it all over the touted Vols on Stoll Feld. It was another great day for Tulane, the Green Wave taking the championship by virtue of Kentucky's showing.

Captain "Babe" Wright played the greatest game of his career against the Tennessee neighbors that day. He smashed his way up and down the field, and finally through the Tennessee line to block a punt and allow Kreuter to make the first touchdown of his life. The Wildcat end grabbed the free ball and scurried over the goal line like a scared rabbit.

Hickman bit the dust like so many Redskins. They came back with a vengeance, however, and Kentucky was forced to halt a 72-yard march on the six-inch line as the game ended and Kercheval kicked a long one out of danger.

* * * *

Kentucky 7, Florida 2

The Wildcats finished the season with a sun bath on a sandy gridiron at Jacksonville, Fla. Hot, perspiring, nearly exhausted, Kentucky finished the game through sheer grit and cinched their sixth place.

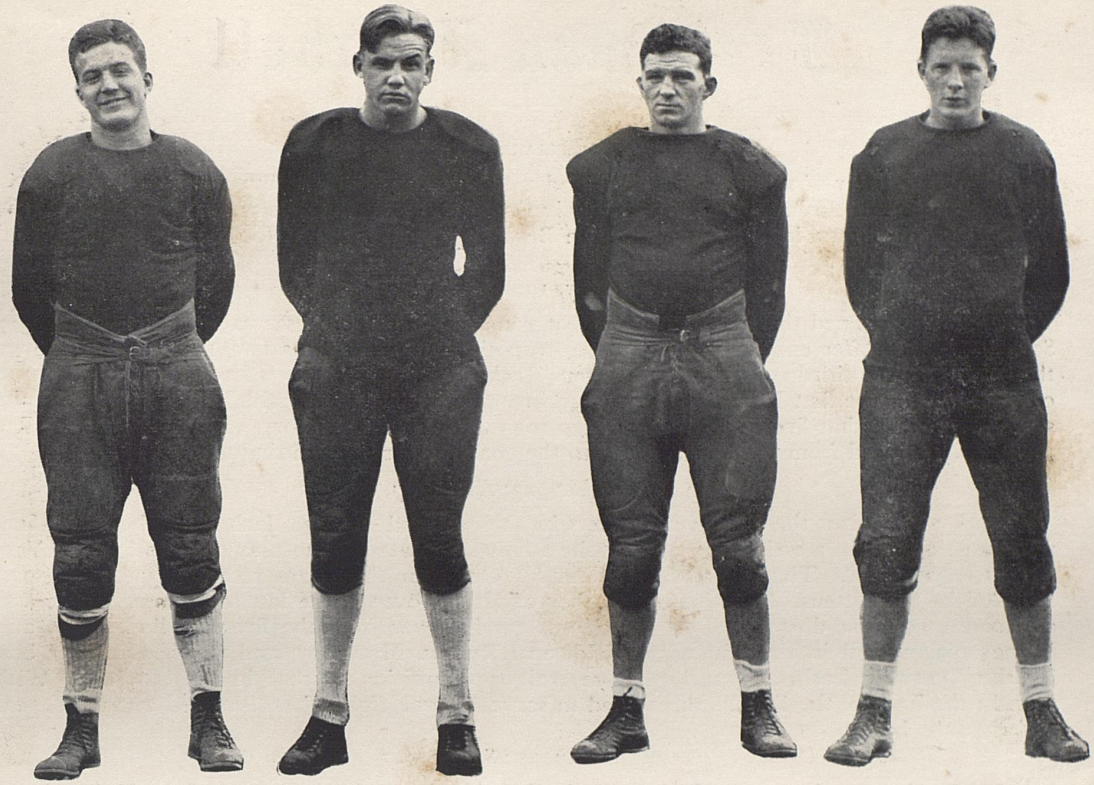

The Shipwreck stumbled and fell from near exhaustion, and his legs crumbled once after he had sprinted 39 yards and was in the open. He gained 134 yards in the game, but it was Kercheval, the sensational punter of the year, who made the touchdown from the nine-yard line.

The heat was Coach Charlie Bachman's silent ally that day, but the 10,000 persons in Fairfield Stadium saw Kentucky lick the allied forces and return to Lexington with another successful season in the old duffle bag.

Freshman Football

BY DELMAR ADAMS

Like the varsity of 1931, the freshmen had a great football team, but suffered bad luck in several encounters, losing two games and winning four. Several stars were represented in the ranks of the freshmen in the persons of Jim Barney, Jack Jean, and Joe Rupert, who showed great offensive capabilities.

Kentucky, 12; Marshall, 7

The frosh opened the season with a night game against the Reserves of Marshall college, September 26. After encountering stubborn opposition for three quarters, the Kittens subdued the visitors as the third quarter ended, when "Jack the Ripper" Jean went off-tackle and jaunted 35 yards for the first Kitten score. Going into the last quarter, still behind, the Greenies started an attack that finally penetrated deep into the visitors' territory. Barney passed to Rupert, and Joe raced from the five-yard line to the goal line for the winning touchdown.

Vanderbilt, 13; Kentucky, 0

Luck was against the freshman gridders in their second start as Jack Jean, best backfield man, was injured in a scrimmage against the varsity and was able to play only half of the Vanderbilt engagement. The first score came for Vandy when that team recovered a lateral pass fumbled by the Kittens. Two plays later they carried it over. The last score came as a result of a concerted drive down the field, which was carried over from the five-yard line. Jean and Barney played well in the Kitten backfield, and Rupert, Mountjoy, and Cowherd played best for the Kentucky frosh. Kentucky lost several opportunities to score in the last half. With Jean in the line-up, the Kittens threatened to score several times, but fumbled near the goal and gave the ball to the enemy.

Kentucky, 20; Sewanee, 7

On October 31, the young 'Cats entertained the freshman football team of the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn. The Kittens showed their best form of the season to take a 20-7 decision.

"Jack the Ripper" Jean again led the attack, slashing through the Sewanee line for numerous gains and skirting the ends for gain after gain. Bilbro and Barney, running mates of Jean in the Kitten backfield, contributed nice runs and good defensive work to aid in winning the game. Mountjoy and Rupert played brilliantly in the forewall for the young 'Cats, stopping all the visitor's attacks through the line.

Kentucky, 19; Western, 7

Coach Birkett L. Pribble's and Len Miller's frosh football team made its last appearance of the season before the local fans November 14, winning a good game from the Western Teacher's freshmen.

The visitors, heralded to be equally as good a team as the young 'Cats, were outplayed in every quarter except the last, when they completed five passes for their only score. The Kittens started a drive as the game commenced, charging down the field. Jack Jean took the ball over from the 10-yard line. In the same quarter, Mountjoy blocked a Western punt, and Big Joe Rupert scooped the ball up and counted another touchdown for Kentucky. The third Kitten score came in the third stanza after a determined drive down the field. Barney dived through through a hole at tackle, and scored from the 15-yard line.

Tennessee, 20; Kentucky, 0

Displaying a powerful attack and a strong defense, the Tennessee Rats overwhelmed the Greenies from Kentucky, November 28. The Kittens were no match for the array of brilliant backs which the Tennesseans toted out onto the firing line. Kentucky did not threaten to score, but her defense halted the bigger team several times. Cottrell, Jean and Rupert played best for the Kittens.

At a banquet given to members of the varsity and freshman football squads, the following freshmen were awarded numerals: G. Alexander, J. A. Barney, N. Bilbro, R. Boots, A. Cottrell, H. A. Crosby, R. T. Cowherd, J. H. Darnaby, W. B. Fish, F. K. Glass, W. R. Gotchall, J. Jean, R. Mountjoy, J. Miller, R. Omer, J. Rupert, R. S. Riley, C. Sparks, P. Saunders, C. Arnold, R. F. Furhman, W .B. Hunt, M. Knight, J. J. Rosenberg, and H. Walker.

Basketball

Varsity Basketball

BY MARVIN C. WACHS

Undoubtedly one of the greatest aggregations of basketball players ever to wear the blue and white suits of the University of Kentucky raged, romped, and doggedly fought its way through 17 games, two of them being tournament frays; emerged victorious in all but two, and lost these by one point margins during the last 30 seconds. A team that averaged 43 points per game, or better than a point a minute, that hung up 745 points to 456 for its opponents, that tripped up some of the best teams in the Southern Conference by overwhelming scores, finally found itself defeated; not by any basketball team, but by the insidious perniciousness of ill health. Fortune, trusting, passed the cut, and fate dealt from a stacked deck. While prepping for the last game of the season with Vanderbilt, with just a week to get ready for it. Sale and DeMoisey took the "flu" on successive days, and the third day Worthington, veteran first-string guard, came out for practice with a heavy cold. Sale and DeMoisey weren't able even to practice, and the Wildcat offense was disintegrated. It was with the team in this deplorable condition that they were forced to face the Commodore machine, and the Southern Conference tournament.

Too much cannot be said about the Wildcat coach, Adolph Rupp. This man, achnowledged to be one of the greatest coaches any Southern Conference team has ever had, is experienced in handling men, knows what he wants done, and better than all, is able to get across to his men what this is, and how it should be accomplished.

Kentucky, 66; Georgetown, 24

The Wildcats opened the season by Walloping the Georgetown Tigers 66-24. Until this game there had been more than one wrinkled brow among those who were attempting to figure the 'Cats. Three All-Southern players hadbeen lost to the squad by graduation, and Yates, All-Southern center was unable to play because of illness. This left a team of doubtful strength to cope with a strenuous schedule. The guards were the only regulars on the team, although Darby had played some the previous year.

Carey Spicer, one of Rupp's 1931 team, an All-Southern forward, brought his Bengals into town and turned them loose in the gym. When the dust and smoke had cleared away, and the final gun had sounded, the fans knew that they had seen a team in action that could really play basketball: Wildcats who played as if they had been playing together all their lives. They had an offense that was a treat for Kentucky supporters, and a defense that was uncannily perfect. Every man on the squad received a chance to show his wares, and the fans recognized a classy ball club.

Sale was high-point man of the game with 12 points, closely followed by DeMoisey who rang up 11 markers.

Kentucky, 36; Carnegie Tech, 34

The 'Cats then met the strong Carnegie Tech Tartans for their first real opposition. Tech was ceded a victory before the game started. They had just hung a top-heavy defeat on Kentucky Wesleyan, and looked to do the same with Kentucky. The Wildcats said NO, and made it stick. Johnson, Kentucky's stellar guard and captain, twice an All-American scholastic guard, was opposed to the Carnegie forward, Jagnow, himself a former All-American scholastic choice, and Jagnow and his mates came off the second best.

This victory helped assure those doubting Thomases who had thought that perhaps Kentucky had either played over their heads in the Bengal game, or that the Tigers weren't much of a team. The team which had as yet been looked on as an outsider was now regarded as perhaps a possible contender for championship honors.

Kentucky, 52; Berea, 27

Berea was taken in the 'Cats stride. The game can best be remembered for the combination of very good, and very sloppy playing. The score being 29 to 4 at the half, Berea came back to hit the 2 point hole from every place on the floor. The Blue team was able, however, to hold its own in the point making, with the final result of 52-27, Kentucky.

Kentucky, 46; Marshall, 16

Marshall, too, only served as a stepping stone toward more coordinated team play for the Kentucky team. Working new plays during the first half, and putting up excellent defensive playing, the Marshall quintet was unable to produce a single field goal. A few were garnered during the second half, but most of the Marshall points came from foul shots.

Kentucky, 43; Clemson, 24

This was the Wildcat's last game before their southern trip, their first southern conference game, and was considered to be their first crucial game. Clemson with four of the five men back who had beaten the Blue team the year before, came to Lexington firmly convinced that they could win a basketball game with little or no trouble. To make matters worse, "Plymouth" DeMoisey, the "free-wheeling" expert from Walton, was declared ineligible. This left a forward post open with only a rather erratic Kreuter to fill the position. The rest of the team, however, was able to cope with the situation, and the final result was 43-24, Kentucky. The Clemson team that had expected to find an easy team composed of youngsters who were untried sophomores and juniors, returned to their home town, sadder, but with a good bit more wisdom about what this Coach Rupp could do with a team.

THE SOUTHERN TRIP

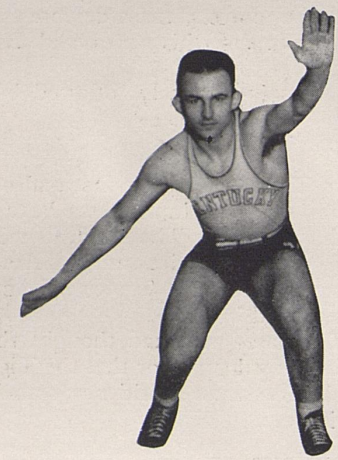

Two weeks elapsed between the first Clemson battle and the second. These two weeks were spent by Rupp in getting "Dutch" Kreuter groomed for a regular position at forward. With DeMoisey definitely out of the game until the second semester, the Wildcat mentor was hard put to it to round up someone who could stand the gaff of a flock of hard basketball games, and not fold up. Kreuter was the man; but Kreuter was, at the same time, rather rusty. At the end of these two weeks, Kreuter was playing basketball with the rest of the team as if he had never done anything else.

Kentucky, 30; Clemson, 17

The first game of the southern trip was a return meet with Clemson. The Tigers still were of the opinion that with a little ironing out of some wrinkled spots they could beat the 'Cats. Again to the tune of 30-17, Kentucky demonstrated that it is a good idea when you can't make a lot of 'em, to keep the ball where they can't make 'em either. It worked quite well.

SALE

Kentucky, 30; Sewanee, 20

The second night, after another train ride, the Big Blue stopped off at the University of the South. There, Sale gave an exhibition on how to get himself two points from any place with the foul line, and the brilliance of the Kentucky passing attack and the sensational guarding of Johnson and Worthington both baffled and surprised the Sewanee players. The game, however, was tough enough to keep Coach Rupp from using more three of his substitutes, with the result that the first string players were considerably tired before the game ended. But it finally ended, as all games do, with Kentucky on the top of a 30 to 20 score.

Kentucky, 29; Tennessee, 28

The third night out after another train ride the team dragged leg-weary and train-sick bodies onto the Tennessee floor. The Vols, anxious to get even for a few football and basketball upsets were all set to hand the tired Wildcats a few pointers and to annex a victory.

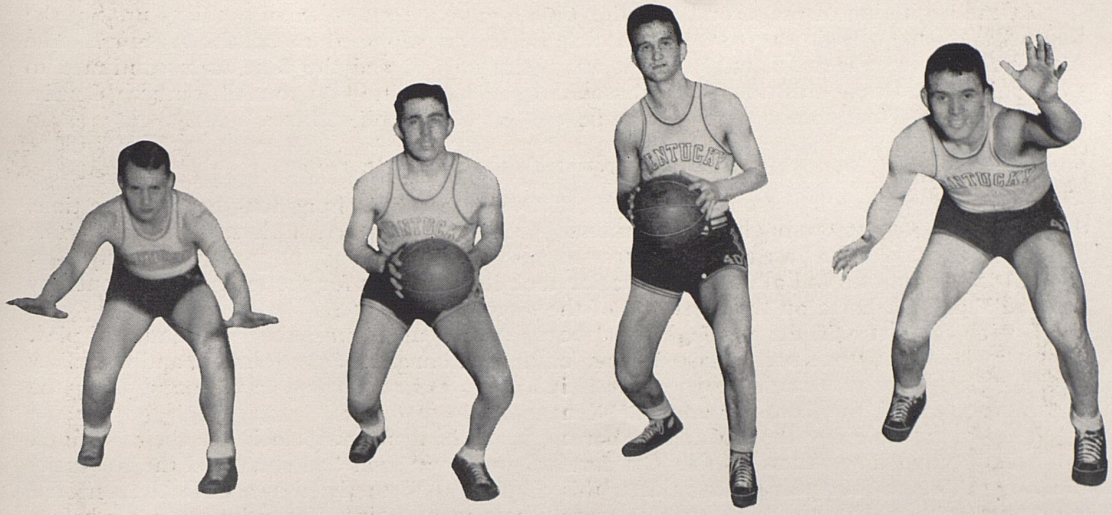

The score at the half, 22 to 13, Kentucky, gave the audience the impression that perhaps Kentucky would have something to say about all that, despite their weariness. But then Kentucky's legs and arms began to show the strain of the trip, and Tennessee points began to filter through. Greenblatt, of Tennessee, began to sink shots from places a fresh team would never have let him get.

But again foul shots won a game for the Blue team. They sank 11 of the charity tosses to six for the Volunteers. The last two by Charlie Worthington put the game on ice. After the final whistle, a team that almost had to be carried from the floor made its way to the train which was to take it home—a tired but happy team, and a tired but happy coach who had seen his charges come through in a way that would make any coach love them like his own sons.

Sale was high point man in the southern trip with 29 points followed in turn by Darby, Kreuter, and Johnson with 22, 17 and 10 points respectively.

Kentucky, 51; Chattanooga, 17

Kentucky's eighth consecutive victory was at the cost of the Dixie loop basketball champions, Chattanooga. The 'Noongans started the game as if they were very apt to give the Blue team an argumentative evening but after the first few minutes they were willing to settle down and gather their few points at the odd intervals that the Wildcat let down from their terrific pace. Darby featured this game by looping baskets from any place on the floor. He was a working model of Rupp's basketball concept No. 1: "Shoot 'em from the locker room." As usual, the Blue team flashed a floor game that was beautiful to watch. The 'Cats, once they had taken the lead, were never in danger, and were still forging ahead when the game ended. Captain Johnson was high-point man with 13 points; everyone got himself a few.

KLEISER BELL DARBY JOHNSON

Kentucky, 48; Washington and Lee, 28

The W. and L. Generals, always a threat to anybody's team, stormed into Lexington, feeling that it was up to a dark horse to prove that Kentucky had really been rated too high, that one good General team was better than one good Kentucky team. But when the score was added up they found that they were just 20 points points off. They had only another grievance to add to the string that Kentucky has been chalking up in basketball and football the last few years. But they were beaten and the score stood: 48-28 Kentucky.

Kentucky, 61; Vanderbilt, 37

About this time basketball sportdom of the Southern Conference began to realize that Kentucky really had a basketball team that was an actual threat for Southern Conference honors. They had met and defeated the best teams in the South. They now set out for Nashville to meet, for the first time, the Commodores of Vanderbilt, the team that in the second engagement kept the Wildcats from having a perfect season. The game turned out to be somewhat of a combination track meet and football game. One foul was called in the first half, and very few in the second. DeMoisey, back in uniform after his long lay-off, treated himself to the rough tactics of the Commodores and "ate it up." He rang the bell for a total of 29 points. The twist shot exponent, although used quite roughly by the Vandy quint, had them wondering what it was all about when the game ended. In Lexington, he had acquired the nickname "free-wheeling," and in Nashville, a sportswriter suggested that they rename him "floating power." Johnson and Worthington brought praises to themselves for their floor generalship in this game by the way they brought the ball down the floor in spite of the "rough house" the Commodores were staging. And again Kentucky hung up another win, 61-37.

Kentucky, 37; Duke, 30

Duke came up to Kentucky equally as full of youthful enthusiasm as the teams who had preceded them, but they, too, were treated in the same fashion. They served only to bring the 'Cat's consecutive wins up to 12. The Blue team remembered a recent football game that Duke had taken onto themselves, and although the Blue Devils fought gamely even as did the 'Cats in the football game, they went down to an even more ignominious defeat. The Wildcats seemed almost certain of an undefeated season, now. They felt that if they could get the Alabama game, they had an undefeated season in the bag.

Kentucky, 50; Alabama, 22

Four thousand, five hundred people, the greatest crowd ever to witness a Wildcat basketball game at home, packed the Alumni gymnasium, and saw Kentucky trip up the Crimson Tide by the one-sided score of 50-22. As usual, the Wildcats, although the individual stars are among the most brilliant luminaries of the south, worked together so well that the Tide was engulfed in the deluge of shots which the guards worked the ball into position for the center and forwards to convert into points.

At the beginning of the second half the Tide came out bent on evening things up, but the Kentucky defense wasn't the redoubtable defense it was supposed to be, for nothing. The Alabama offensive was smothered before it was really started, and the Blue team continued to score points. It was at this time that Johnson cinched his position on the All-Southern Conference team, and Worthington showed that he too was of the same calibre.

Kentucky, 41; Tennessee, 27

Again playing to a house on which the S. R. O. sign had been hung long before game time, the Kentucky quintet outfought the Tennessee Volunteers for their 14th straight win. The Vols had blood in their eyes when they trotted out on the floor, and the game was nearly over, before the red got out and a more placid color took its place, but for the second time Kentucky sent the Vols back home on the short end of the score.

During the first half, the game see-sawed between each team until the last minute of play. Kentucky, leading by one point, started firing 'em from all angles. Sale, Johnson, and DeMoisey started an offensive that made fans wander if it had started raining basketballs and when the gun ended the half, the score was 20 to 14, Kentucky.

The second half saw the Vols again boring in with a meaning look on their features. Greenblatt found a weakness in the 'Cat forward wall, and soon had shortened the Kentucky advantage down to four points. Soon after this Stafford took to the showers vio the personal foul route. After that, the question was merely how many points Kentucky could get before the final gun.

Kentucky, 31; Vanderbilt, 32

'Tis but too true, the Wildcats found, that it is a long road that has no turning. With a week to go, and a team that they had already beaten decisively to finish the season, "flu" curtailed the usefulness of the two Kentucky stars, DeMoisey and Sale, and a heavy cold kibitzed on Worthington, so that that stellar guard had a head feeling like the "Akron." The team fought almost to a victory, only to see it wafted away on the breeze of a long shot during the last 30 seconds. The sick and disabled Kentuckians played their hearts out, but the Capricious Lady was looking the other way when that last shot, was turned loose. It went in for two points and the game. It was an almost perfect season, spoiled during the last minute of the last game.

THE SOUTHERN CONFERENCE TOURNAMENT

Kentucky, 50; Tulane, 30

Conceded to be one of the teams most apt to win the championship, the Wildcats, three of them scarcely able to be about, entrained for Atlanta, and the Southern Conference tournament. In their first tilt, fourth on the card, they met and defeated Tulane, 50 to 30. In this game, Sale showed that his rating had not been false, for, although greatly handicapped by his illness, the Wildcat center scored 21 points to head the Big Blue column. Playing apathetically during the first half, he found himself shortly after the second half started, and collected seven field goals and five charity tosses to get himself a total of 11 points for the second stanza.

Kentucky, 42; North Carolina, 43

To lose one game by one point in the last minute is bad; but when a team losses two of them that way, it is getting a bit thick. Rated as without a doubt, the best and most consistent team in the tournament, the Wildcats met an inspired quintet of North Carolina Tarheels, and again found that, when she was needed, Lady Luck was out in the field picking daisies.

Either that or she was just taking her seat atop the ball when it was batted by a Tarheel hand wildly and with a prayer, and the young man had undoubedly lived in virtuous life, because the ball settled and dropped through as the gun went off. It was a great game; fought for by ten basketball giants. Kentucky lost.

Lettermen of the Wildcat squad elected Forest "Aggie" Sale, Lawrenceburg, as captain of the net team for 1933.

Freshman Basketball

BY SUNNY DAY

When Coach Elmer "Baldy" Gilb's Kittens turned in their uniforms at the close of the 1931-32 basketball season, they had a record of which to be proud. They had decisively defeated every foe they had met, and had totaled 464 points to 175 for their adversaries in the 10 games. This means that they more than tripled the score on their opponents with an average of better than a point a minute. Yes sir, Coach Gilb developed a fierce aggregation of Kittens.

Although the score was not close in any of the games every member of the team handled himself and the ball so dexterously that the games were always interesting to watch. Bill Davis, Jack Tucker, and Dave Lawrence ran practically a dead heat for the high scoring honors, and Amos Taylor was not far behind. Wilbur Odor, the remaining member of the first team, did not score much, but he was as good a guard as you will find. Odor hawked the ball so closely that Kentucky's opponents scored only one goal during the entire season on a rebound.

At the basketball banquet given in honor of the teams, 13 numerals were granted to the following: Amos Taylor, William Davis, Jack Tucker, Dave Lawrence, Wilbur Odor, Charles Gates, J. W. Biggerstaff, Joe Rupert, George Alexander, William Singleton, Fritz Kreuger, Vernon Nugent, and John Morris. Gates and Biggerstaff were the principal substitutes, but all of these men saw plenty of action.

Kentucky, 38*; Georgetown,* 17

The Kittens opened their season on the home floor December 15, in company with the Wildcats. The Bengals and Bengal Cubs were both swamped revealing that both Frosh and Varsity would be bad medicine during the season.

Kentucky, 51*; Smith - Watkins,* 17

In the first game after the holidays, the Frosh demonstrated that they had not forgotten any of their basketball ability. They completely submerged Smith-Watkins January 9, in the U. K. gymnasium. As in the first game Coach Gilb was enabled to use practically his entire squad.

Kentucky, 47*; Louisville,* 25

On January 16 the Frosh met the Louisville Cardinals in the Euclid avenue gymnasium, and conquered them with very little trouble. Dave Lawrence, All-American from Corinth, took high scoring honors with 20 points.

Kentucky, 44*; Eastern Normal,* 24

Eastern Normal boasted a very good team, but was vanquished January 20 in the U. K. gymnasium just as the other foes of the Kittens had been. However, it was only after a struggle that they were completely subdued.

Kentucky, 39*; Louisville,* 10

The Frosh invaded "Falls City" February 3 in a return engagement, and easily emerged victorious. In this contest Davis, former Hazard star, collected a total of 13 points from his guard position to win high scoring honors.

Kentucky, 49*; Lee's College,* 20

Lee's College has no separate freshman and varsity teams. Nevertheless that school could in no way halt the U. K. frosh, February 5. Eleven minutes of the first half had elapsed before the visitors had scored at all, and Gilb used his second team during almost all of the second half. Tucker was high point man with 13 points.

Kentucky, 42*; Georgetown,* 10

The Georgetown Bengals suffered about the same experience February 10 when the Kittens visited their territory as they had at the first of the season, but the result was 11 points worse for them.

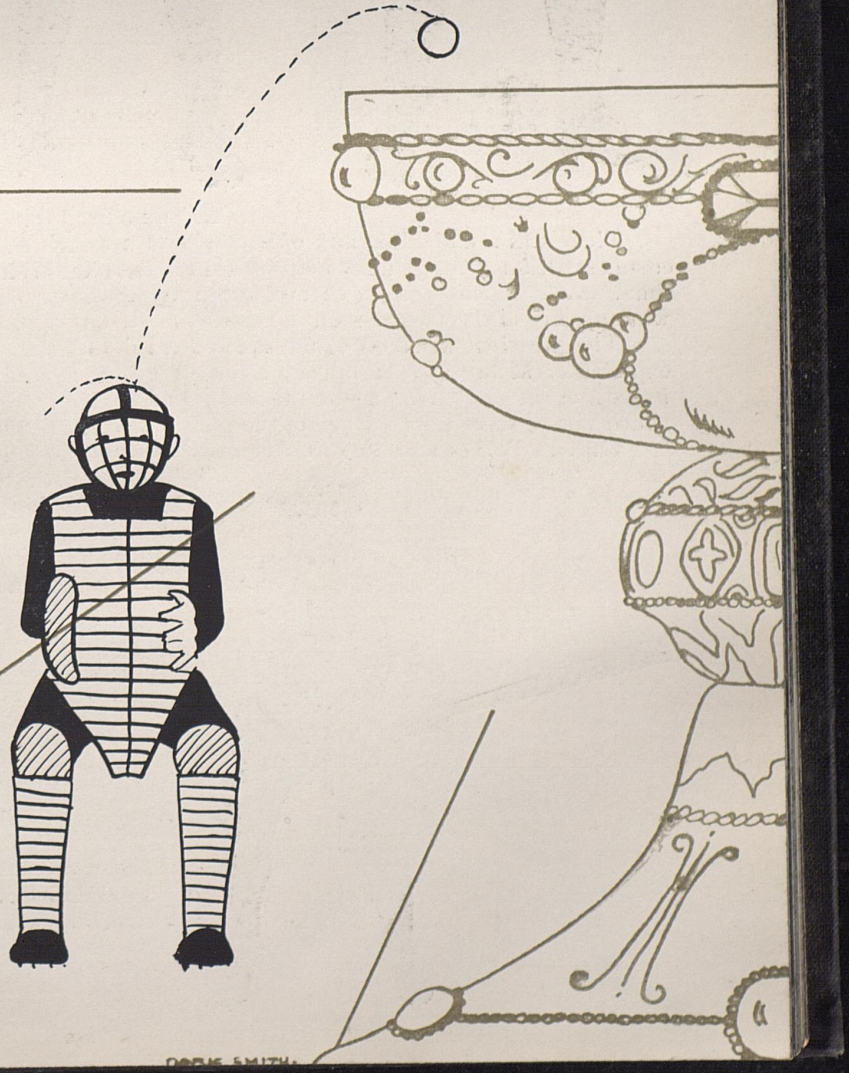

Kentucky, 36*; Eastern Normal,* 18

The Eastern "first year teachers" again found themselves on the short end of a rather long score when they met the U. K. frosh on their own floor in Richmond, February 16.

Kentucky, 68*; Lee's College,* 17

Kentucky's "Wild-kittens" literally ate up the Lee's College basketeers when they engaged them in the final battle of the season, at Jackson, February 19.

Baseball

By John St. John

There was a noticeable lack of experienced men in the squad that answered Coach "Pat" Devereaux's call for a 1931 varsity baseball team. Despite this handicap, a team was developed which, at times, would function like a championship aggregation. However, the Kentucky team was able to win only five of the 14 games on its schedule.

The principal weakness of the squad seemed to lie in its pitching staff. Only two men with experience, McMurray, McBrayer, returned to the mound and they were forced to share the burden in most of the 14 games. Before the season had advanced very far, trouble developed in the infield, which caused several defeats before the positions were adequately filled.

Captain Barnes and Stewart Augustus returned to fill thoroughly the catching position and added strength to the Wildcat attack with their bats. Charlie Worthington proved one of the most powerful hitters in the Southern Conference before the season was completed. Toth and Cecil Urbaniak were also important factors in the Kentucky victories.

Sixteen men were awarded letters at the close of the baseball season. The men were: S. Augustus, J. D. Barnes, W. E. Carney, W. W. Farrell, O. R. Hogue, Ellis Johnson, William Kelley, E. R. Kruger, L. W. McMurray, Paul McBrayer, John Murphy, J. W. Ohr, Louis Toth, Cecil Urbaniak, Charles Worthington, and William Trott. Glen Prince was awarded a "K" for his services as manager.

University of Wisconsin, 9; University of Kentucky, 2

An experienced University of Wisconsin baseball team displayed its batting power and took advantage of numerous errors by Kentucky's infield to defeat the Wildcats, 9 to 2, in their opening game of the season.

Late in the game, Kelly hit through second and Hogue walked. A hit by Barnes to left field scored the only Wildcat runs. The Western Conference champions faced splendid pitching by Paul McBrayer, but equaly effective was Poser, Badger pitcher. Each man struck out three opponents.

University of Wisconsin, 12; University of Kentucky, 4

The Wildcat nine suffered its second defeat at the hands of the University of Wisconsin in a game which was marked again by the Badger slugging and Wildcat errors. Three home runs and a triple together with nine Big Blue misplays accounted for the Wisconsin victory.

Hits by Johnson, Worthington and Kelly together with two bases on balls accounted for the four Wildcat runs. Harvey Schneider, Wisconsin first sacker, led his team with four hits in five times at bat, knocking in three runs and scoring three times himself.

University of Kentucky, 10; University of Michigan, 5

Slamming the offerings of three Wolverine hurlers to all corners of the field, the Wildcat nine overcame their erratic playing and won their first game of the season by soundly trouncing the University of Michigan, 10 to 5. Leon McMurray and McBrayer held the Badger team to five runs.

Worthington led the Wildcat team in hitting and poled perhaps the longest hit ever made on Stoll field, a home run driven far down the cinder path in front of the stadium. Kreuger walked twice while Murphy, Barnes, Urbaniak and Johnson all figured in the Wildcat slugging.

University of Kentucky, 8; St. Xavier University, 4

The Wildcat team balanced its season's standings at .500 by winning its first game away from home from St. Xavier, on Cochran field in Cincinnati, 8 to 4. Ragged infielding, which had defeated Kentucky in its first two games, was forgotten, for the brilliant play of the infield in this game brought victory.

Kentucky scored three runs in the first inning but was held scoreless for four more until the Xavier team piled up a four to three lead. Two runs in the sixth gave the Wildcat team the lead again and three more runs in the eighth clinched the victory. Ferrell and McMurray pitched for Kentucky.

Miami University, 7; University of Kentucky, 6

With his team leading by one run in the last of the ninth inning but with Wildcat men on second and third and two out, a substitute Miami University pitcher entered the game to pitch his team to a close victory over Kentucky, 7 to 6. The Miami hero pitched three straight strikes and ended the game.

Ferrell pitched the game for the Wildcats. A spectacular catch by Cartwright of Miami of a long drive to right field was one of the outstanding plays of the season on Stoll field.

Vanderbilt University, 8; University of Kentucky, 7

In the closest game of the year, Kentucky evened its series with Vanderbilt University by getting the best of a pitching duel between Farrell of Kentucky and Dethroe of the Commodores.

Five hits were made off Farrell and four off Dethroe, but wildness contributed to the Vanderbilt defeat. Sparkling fielding by Johnson and Toth saved almost certain hits by the Commodores.

University of Alabama, 18; University of Kentucky, 3

Completely crushed under a wave of the Alabama Crimson Tide, by the score of 18 to 3, Kentucky's Wildcats lost to the Alabama nine by the biggest score of the season.

Freddie Sington, all-American football star, proved the biggest threat by knocking two home runs and two singles. He drove in seven runs during five times at bat.

University of Kentucky, 7; University of Alabama, 3

Scintillating pitching by Paul McBrayer broke the Alabama jinx and gave the Wildcats an even split in their two game series with the Crimson Tide by a 7 to 3 score.

Sington was held hitless as big league scouts looked on. Three Tide errors and a home run by Ellis Johnson paved the way for the Wildcat victory.

Vanderbilt University, 6; University of Kentucky, 5

Back from their disastrous road trip Kentucky lost another close game by a ninth inning rally that gave Vanderbilt its second victory over the Wildcats, by the score of 6 to 5. Two runs were scored in the final inning when Schwartz, with two out, hit a double, giving the Commodores their margin of victory.

Kreuger, Toth, Urbaniak and McBrayer led the Wildcats' hitting attack.

University of Kentucky, 14; Vanderbilt University, 7

A fighting University of Kentucky nine slammed the offerings of three Commodore pitchers for 13 hits to even the year's series with a lop-sided victory over Vanderbilt University, 14 to 7.

The Wildcats scored three runs in the first inning and six in the second inning to tie up the game. Home runs by Toth and Urbaniak featured the Wildcat attack which was aided by every member of the Big Blue team.

Vanderbilt University, 6; University of Kentucky, 5

Staging a two-run rally in the ninth inning, the result of two singles and a double, Vanderbilt University took a 6 to 5 victory over the Wildcats in the first of a two-game series on Stoll field.

Kentucky apparently had the game sewed up in the fifth inning, after scoring four runs to take a 5 to 1 lead; but McBrayer, starting pitcher for the 'Cats got into trouble in the sixth and three Vandy men crossed the plate. Farrell retired the side for Kentucky, but in the ninth round, he too, weakened, and the Southerners came from behind to win the game.

University of Kentucky, 14; Vanderbilt University, 7

After suffering defeat in the first of a two-game series with the Commodores of Vanderbilt University, the University of Kentucky showed a decided improvement the second day and succeeded in running in enough runs in the first five innings to down their opponents, and came out, after nine innings, with a 14 to 7 victory.

St. Xavier University, 4; University of Kentucky, 3

Defeat at the hands of St. Xavier University by the score of 4 to 3 ended the baseball season for the University of Kentucky. It was another pitchers' duel with the Wildcats coming out the victims of a ninth inning rally. Kelley bettered Farrell in the duel, though each allowed only five hits.

Freshman Baseball

The freshman baseball team of 1931, under the direction of Coach Elmer 'Baldy" Gilb, enjoyed a more successful season than the varsity, winning five of the six games scheduled. At the outset of the playing season, Coach Gilb was handicapped by the failure of several students to make their standings, but those who were eligible made up for the others in all except ability to hit. Several good pitchers were developed, but only one man, Wallace, an outfielder, could hit the ball consistently.

Thirty-five freshmen reported for practice early in April, but the squad was soon cut to half, and only 15 numerals were awarded at the close of the season. Four of the six games played were held on the local field, the last two being held at Millersburg and Athens high respectively.

Kentucky, 3; Eastern, 1

Going into the first game of the season, April 23, with some degree of skill and determination, the Kittens held the frosh of Eastern Teachers' college to few hits and were able to come out of the contest with a 4 to 1 victory. The game was not a hard one for the Kittens.

Kentucky, 10; Millersburg, 3

In the second contest of the season, the University of Kentucky Kittens were even more successful than in the former encounter, coming out of a tilt with Millersburg Military Institute, with a 10 to 3 win. The game was held April 23, on the local diamond.

Kentucky, 8; Athens, 7

Playing Athens High school, of Fayette county, April 28, Coach Gilb's yearlings narrowly escaped with an 8 to 7 victory. The game was remarkable for the number of strike-outs credited to each pitcher, the Athens moundsman getting 23, while the Kentucky man struck out 20.

Kentucky, 2; Manual, 0

Undoubtedly the best game of the Kitten's season, from the standpoint of quality of baseball played, was the contest with Manual High school of Louisville, which the Kentucky Frosh won by a 2 to 0 score. Broadbent pitched for the Kittens, striking out 15 of the Manual hitters.

Kentucky, 9; Millersburg, 6

Encountering the Millersburg Military Academy Institute for the second time of the season, the Kittens failed to run up as high a score as in the previous contest between the two teams, but emerged with a 9 to 6 victory.

Kentucky, 5; Athens, 6

The last game of the season proved to be a stumbling block for the University freshmen, and the Kittens lost to Athens High school, 5 to 6. This game was on the Athens field, a fact which probably accounted for the fact that the Frosh did not play as well as they had against the same team earlier in the season.

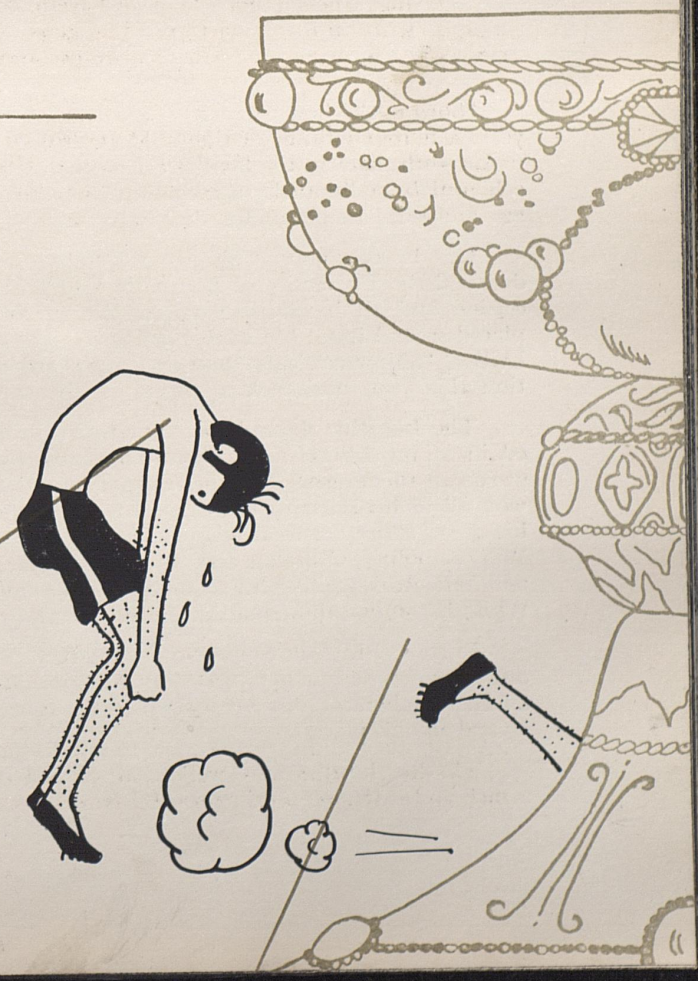

Several Pitchers Show Good Form

Several of the members of the 1931 freshman team developed into effective moundsmen. Those who did good work at various times during the season are Smith Broadbent, John DeMoisey, Raymond Massie, and Philip Myers. Ralph Hill and Earl Nelson worked behind the plate for the Kittens.

Fifteen Receive Numerals

Those who received numerals at the close of the regular playing season are Smith Broadbent, Wallace Chilton, John DeMoisey, Ralph Hill, William Honhorst, Raymond Massie, Philip Meyers, Buford Morgan, Carl Nelson, Jerome Respess, E. E. Settle, Harry Scott, Anthony Simone, Chester Typskewrez, and Newell Wallace.

Track

Varsity Track

BY DANIEL W. GOODMAN

Showing the best balanced track team to represent the university in that sport for several years the 1931 edition of the Wildcat thinlies went through the regular season undefeated and took eighth place in the Southern Conference track meet at Birmingham, the highest rating achieved by a Kentucky aggregation in recent years. The 'Cats scored 380 and one-half to the 221 and one-half points for their opponents.

Led by co-captain "'Shipwreck" Kelly, who ran the century in 9.9, the Wildcat thinlies defeated the University of Louisville Vanderbilt, Tennessee, Sewanee, and Cincinnati in succession and all b ydecisive scores. Kelly won every race in which he participated, and Hieber placed second in all but one, winning the first race of the season against the University of Louisville. "Shipwreck" also won every 220-yard dash in which he was entered in dual competition this year, and took a second in the conference meet at Birmingham.

The Big Blue showed less strength in the 440-yard dash than in other events, but succeeded in taking several first places. Hays, Milliken, and Foster were best for the Kentucky aggregation in this event. "Jake" O'Bryant, ace of the Blue and White middle distance performers, won all of his starts in the mile run, and set a new university record of 4:35.4. In addition to his great efforts in dual competition, he placed fifth in the conference meet to gain the 12th Wildcat point. O'Bryant also turned in stellar work in the half-mile run, his strict training and hard work gaining him a niche in the Wildcat hall of fame. Saunders, the other Blue and White half-miler, did equally creditable work, winning one race and placing second in another.

Burress, Big Blue sophomore two-miler, won every race he entered, with the exception of one in which he lost by a very close margin. He did exceptionally well for a new man. Baker, another sophomore distance man, ran the mile and the two-mile for the Bi gBlue and took several second places.

The low hurdles were well taken care of by Williams and Wieman, seniors, each winning a race and each one finishng second twice.

"SHIPWRECK" KELLY

Emmerich and Shipley did the high-hurdles for Coach Shively's team, and were successful in most of their starts. Emmerich, versatile sophomore hurdlerfi won three races, and placed second in one. He was the sole barrier jumper eligible to return to the squad the following year.

Although weaker in the field events than in other departments of the sport, the 1931 Wildcat aggregation was much better in this department than any team in the past. Kelly in the broad jump and Cavana, in the javelin throw, added much strength to the field department.

A decided improvement over previous years was shown also in the department of pole-vaulting. Turley and Hubbell, sophomores, added strength to this phase of the track events for 1931. Both cleared more than 11 feet, six inches, and improved throughout the season. Although the boys did not win many of the events in this department, they gained valuable experience which is likely to prove beneficial in following years.

Kelly, flash of both track and gridiron, showed fans that he could jump as well as sprint, and set a new record of 23 feet, five and three-quarter inches in the broad jump. Fred McLane also showed up well in the broad jump, getting a distance of well over 23 feet, 10 inches. Kelly, a junior on the squad, is expected to be even better next year. "Scaly" Roberts did good work in the high jump throughout the season.

The discuss throw was a disappointing feature of the track season. Tuttle, who was expected to win almost all of his events was handicapped by nervousness, in the early part of the season, and could not control his feet, often fouling. He had practically overcome the trouble in his events, and took one first place and several seconds. He threw the discus, and the shot.

Frank Seale, ace shot-tosser of the 1931 edition, progressed rapidly and gave promise of tossing the ball 41 feet by the following season.

The relay team of the Wildcats' was less successful than other departments during 1931, but all the men composing it were sophomores, a factor which affected their success. Members of the relay team are: F. Baker, Foster, Milliken, Hays, Parent, and Skinner.

In the javelin throw, far from unimportant phase of the sport, "Big" Bud Cavana threw the spear 180 feet in practice, was defeated in dual meets during the season, and took a fourth place in the conference. Kelly and McLane also did well in this event.

Freshman Track

BY DELMAR ADAMS

The 1931 freshman track squad at the university was the best to represent the institution in recent years. With the budgets of many schools cut in the spring, not many foes were found to meet Coach "Peter" Potter's young 'Cat track men.

The team was well balanced having outstanding performers both on the track and in the field events. Newell Wallace was the most versatile performer on the team, running the 440 in .49, and giving Kelly keen competition in the 220-yard dash. In addition to these events he broad-jumped and high-jumped and led the entire team in points scored.

Many capable middle-distance men were in the ranks of the Greenies with Carter, Bennett and Wallace in the 440; Carter, Bennett, Wells and Stewart in the half-mile. The distance events were probably the hardest contested, as eight men tried for the mile and two-mile runs. In the mile, Hickey, Goodman, Vinson, and Bradley were best. Hocker showed class in the two-mile grind, and Vinson finished close to Hocker in every race.

Yeager and Cowley were the high-hurdlers and C. H. Blumer, sole low-hurdler, showed class in his event to win in the only meet of the year.

Only one meet, a telegraphic one with Oberlin College, was held, and the young 'Cats won out 82-31. Practically all the distance events and sprints were won by Coach Potter's charges, while their opponents took some of the jumps and the high hurdles.

Ralph Kercheval took time away from football playing to come out and toss the javelin and do the broad-jump for the frosh. Burns, Gaylon, Harvey, Goebel, Parrish and Wallace also did the broad-jump and Judd, Cowley and Wallace did the high jump. Sam Caldwell and Barber turned in good performances in the discus throw; while Kercheval and Cowley had success in the shot put.

Sellers, Parrish, Goebel and Harvey did the best in the century with Parrish being clocked in the fastest time, 10.2, and beaten by only a close margin by "Shipwreck" Kelly.

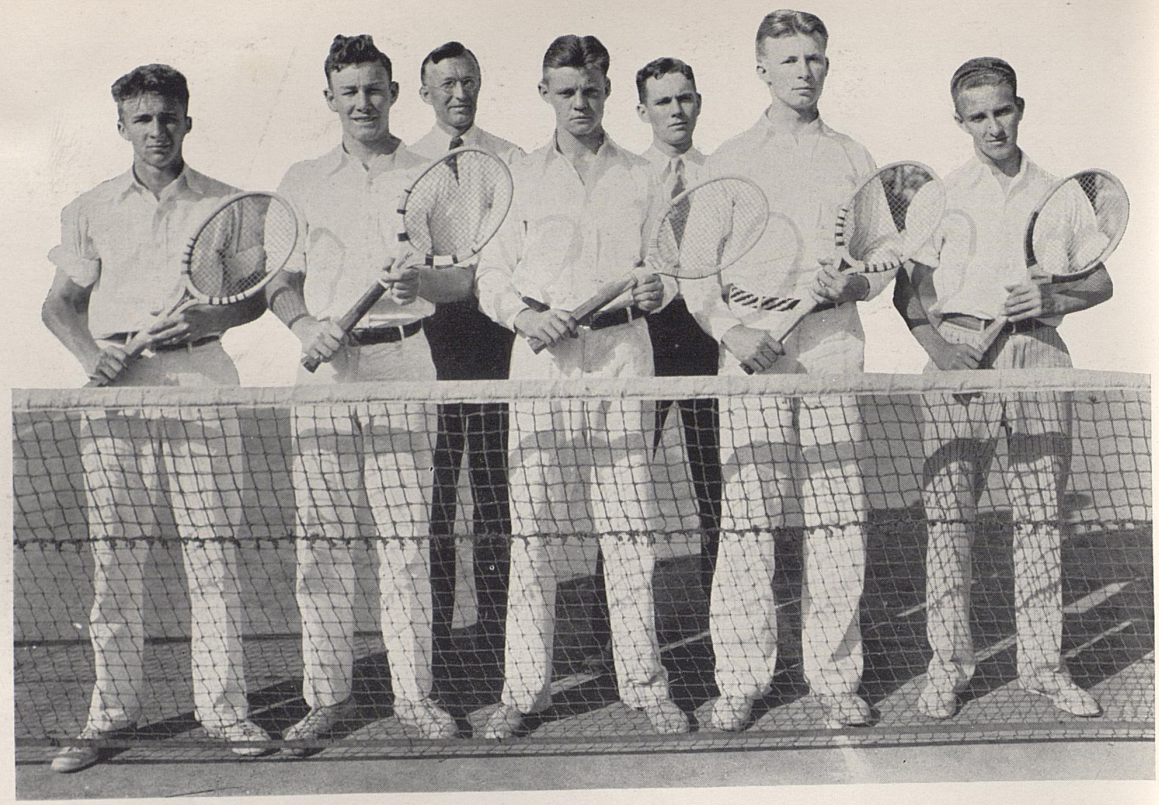

Like the Kentucky varsity the freshmen had little success in the field events, especially in the pole vault. Only two men were out for that event and of these only Parrish was able to achieve success. He took second place against Oberlin College.

In addition to the meet with the Ohio College, the Kittens had a practice meet with the varsity, in which the varsity had hard work to keep the first year men in check and allowed them to take several first places.

Those awarded numerals were: Edward Bennett, William Bryan, G. F. Burns, John Carter, Eugene Cowley, Nevin L. Goebel, L. F. Judd, Gaylon B. Harvey, Ralph Kercheval, Douglas Parrish, I. E. Sellers, H. W. Stewart, R. D. Vinson, Newell G. Wallace, J. W. Wells, G. J. Yeager, and J. D. Adams.

Varsity Tennis

Kentucky's 1931 Varsity tennis team enjoyed one of the most successful seasons in the history of the sport at the University, winning six and losing three engagements to strong foes.

Under the supervision of Coach H. H. Downing, the 1931 team began its workouts in mid-March with about 20 aspiring players answering the call for candidates. To top the record of the "Cats," at the close of the season, Joe Kee went to the quarter-finals of the Southern Conference tennis tournament in New Orleans and displayed brilliant form in winning his first two matches.

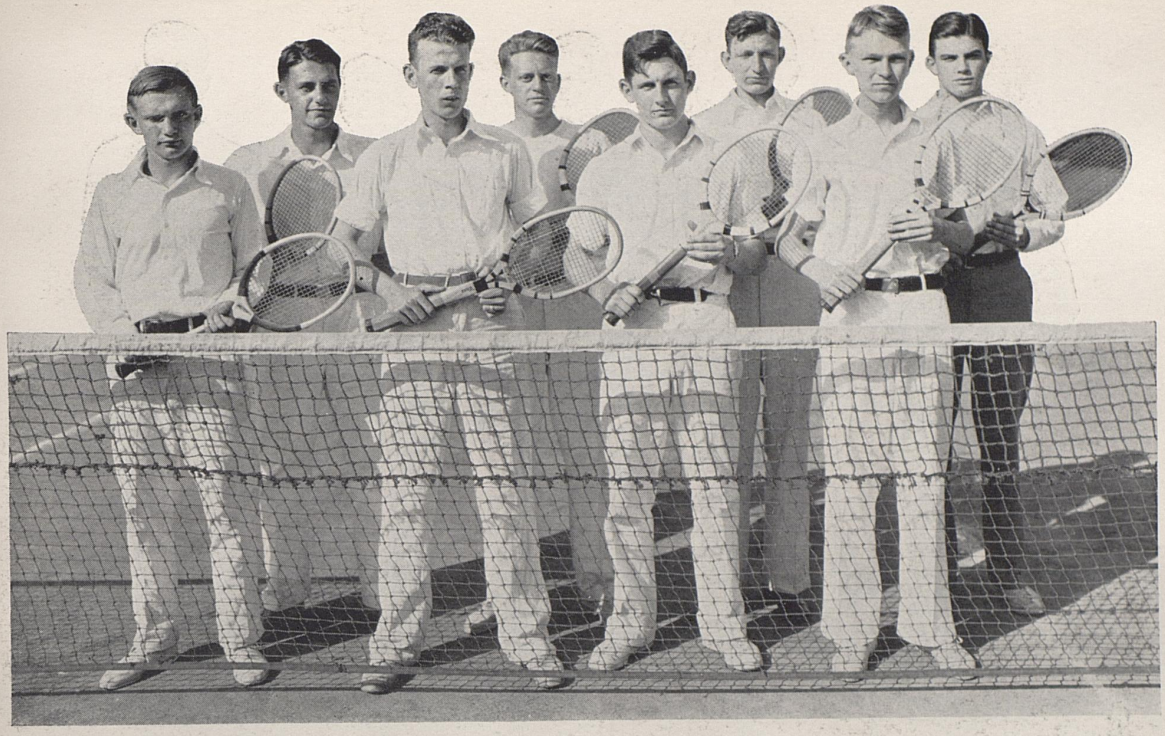

The Blue and White tennis team opened its season with a 6-2 win over the Xavier racqueteers April 14, Senff, Kee, Spicer, and Farquhar winning over their foes and Bishop losing. The frosh netters were met next in a practice and the Varsity was able to eke out a slim 5-3 win after dropping three matches to their young foes.

On April 20, a match between Berea and the Wildcats was postponed because of rain. The 'Cats lost their first match of the year to the Bearcats of the University of Cincinnati on April 27. J. Kee defeated Huffman 3-6, 9-7, 6-3, and Klein won a 6-3, 2-6, 9-7 for the wins registered by the Kentuckians.

On April 28, the 'Cats left Lexington for a three-match exhibition among Southern Conference schools, meeting Vanderbilt at Nashville on April 29 and losing, although Spicer defeated Clark, and Farquhar won from Schwartz. Georgia Tech was the only victim of the 'Cats on their southern trip, succumbing after all the Wildcat tennis players had won except Farquhar, who lost to Jackson, and Senff who lost to McGinty. The 'Cats also won two doubles matches from the Tech men.

The Crimson Tide again proved a nemesis to the Wildcats, but Klein and Kee won their matches as the rest of the Blue and White squad fell victims to the uncanny placements and lobs of their Crimson foes.

Kentucky went to Berea to play the long postponed match with the Mountaineers and was successful, sweeping the entire series. A trip to the city of Cincinnati again demonstrated the potency of the Wildcats over the Xavier Musketeers and the 'Cats again swept the series of matches. As a grand finale to their great season Coach Downing's charges again swept a series of matches from their opponents by setting down Hanover College without a win.

MYERS WAGNER STOKELY RAGLAND, COACH
PAUL WARD HOWARD RINGO, CAPTAIN

Freshman Tennis

Under the direction of Coach Rawlings Ragland, former star of the Varsity net team, the freshmen tennis team of 1931 completed an unusually successful season, winning six of the seven matches scheduled. The frosh team boasted several versatile performers who were capable of giving the Varsity men keen composition.

Frosh, 7; Lexington, 0

The first match of the season was with Lexington High school. The freshmen came out of this tilt with a 7 to 0 victory, showing little difficulty in putting it over on their high school opponents.

Frosh, 1; Withrow, 5

The first and only defeat of the season was suffered by Coach Ragland's yearlings when they faced Withrow High school. The frosh, unable to get into action properly, lost to Withrow by a 5 to 1 score.

Frosh, 7; University High, 0—Frosh, 6; University High, 0

In the second match of the season against the University High netmen, the frosh failed by one point to equal their first victory over that school. The match went 6 to 0 for Coach Ragland's team.

Frosh, 6; Woodford, 0

The fifth match of the season for the Frosh was played with Woodford High school, when the frosh emerged with another 6 to 0 victory. This was the fourth victory for the first-year men.

Frosh, 7; Georgetown, 0

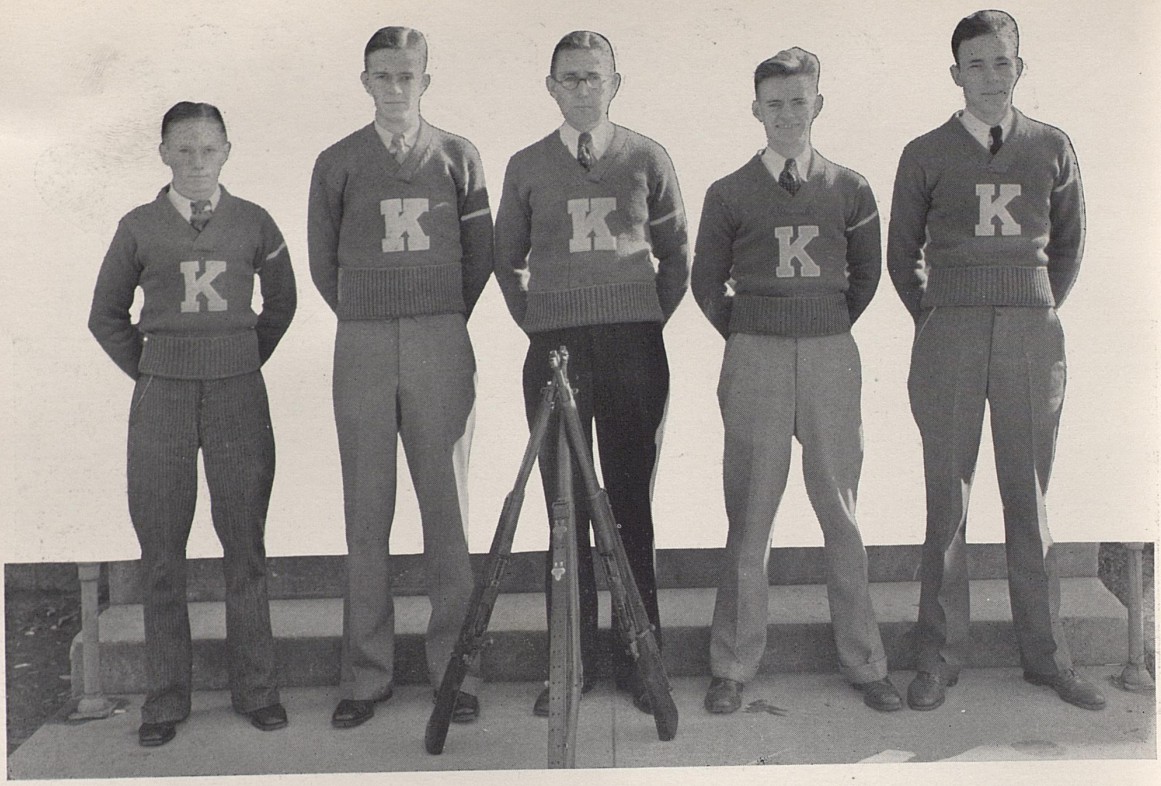

With a string of four victories and one defeat to their credit, the first-year tennis men engaged in their sixth tilt of the season and found little difficulty in defeating the Georgetown High school team by the score of 7 to 0.

Frosh, 3; Woodford, 1

Going into the last match of the season with an excellent record, the University freshmen faced Woodford High school for the second time, and again came through with a victory. The score, 3 to 1, was the closest of the seven matches in which the frosh engaged.

Six Receive Numerals

At the close of the season for the freshmen tennis team, numerals were awarded to six members of the squad. Those who received numerals are Wagner, Stokely, Ward, Paul, Ringo, and Howard.

Varsity Rifle

BY DANIEL W. GOODMAN

Going through the season with the best record ever established by a rifle team representing the University, the varsity and R. O. T. C. teams together completed the matches on their schedule with a total of 69 won, and eight lost, and the varsity team, after the close of the regular season, entered the finals and brought a climax to the unusually successful season by winning the sectional National Rifle Association Championship. Members of the varsity team winning the sectional championship were awarded medals, April 18, at the regular regimental parade.

The rifle teams started practice January 5, under the direction of Captain W. A. Cunningham. Veterans who reported for practice were: H. W. Chapman, O. W. Chinn, O. B. Coffman, William Eades, I. C. Evans, W. C. Florence, W. B. Parrish, S. C. Perry, and Marvin Wachs. Additions to the team were: Allen, Brennan, Carter, Ford, Knox, Rogers, Wallace, and Williams. The teams fired daily during the period between January 5 and March 22. I. C. Evans was captain of the R. O. T. C. team, while William Eades captained the varsity firemen.

The contest at Cincinnati was contested hotly, and Kentucky held second place until the last position, the standing position, when the team dropped to fifth place. Members of the other teams had previously participated in many "shoulder-to-shoulder" matches.

After the Cincinnati match, results showed that Kentucky held first place in the National Rifle association championship competition, sixth place in the fifth Corps Area matches, and fifth in the shoulder-to-shoulder contests. The match in Cincinnati was the last of the regular season for Kentucky.

Firing in the National Rifle association matches, the varsity team ran up the remarkable score of 926 out of a possible 1,000 points, winning five and losing none of the contests. Members firing in the matches were: Eades, Florence, Parrish, Perry, Wallace, Chinn, Chapman, Carter, Allen, Coffman, and Wachs.

Rifle firing as a sport is recognized by the University of Kentucky Athletic association, which awards letters to members at the close of the season. Outstanding veterans are expected to return for the 1933 season, and an even stronger team is expected to be developed for that year. The R. O. T. C. team serves as a "feeder" for future varsity teams.

Members of the entire squad representing the University on the varsity and R. O. T. C. teams throughout the year are: Allen, Brennan, Carter, Chapman, Chinn, Coffman, Eades, Evans, Ewing, Florence, Ford, Knox, Parrish, Perry, Rogers, Wachs, Wallace, and Williams.

GREEKS, LIKE POLITICIANS ARE WITH US ALWAYS

BY WILLIAM ARDERY

'Tis well known that Sigalfs differ from Sigmabetazees only in the design of the pin which they wear. Fidelts are merely Kays disguised in slanting swords, and Kappas lack only a glass house and the attributes which are commonly supposed to be possessed by the occupants thereof to make them indistinguishable from Zetas.

Occasionally, however, we can find small points of difference among the various tribes of Greeks who wander aimlessly about our rose strewn campus. These characteristics have been noted and are here duly recorded by your writer.

Alpha Tau Omega

This fraternity could be changed into a second-rate luncheon club without creating a disturbance. Such a change would enable the members to wear tags bearing their names, and would thus create a spirit of friendliness and harmony which is now sadly lacking, chiefly, observers believe, because few of the members know all of the brothers.

Only accomplishment of the lodge has been to clutter up O.D.K. with men who hold an average of two points toward membership in that organization. The fraternity reached the zenith of its glory in the days of the "Barnes Beef Trust,' but since then even the Kappas have found out that the gentlemen of Limestone aren't above holding hands in the dark. Since this discovery the Greeks have had to be content with holding their own hands, which are usually dirty.

Beta Sigma Omicron

You may have heard that this sorority disbanded because the field was too crowded for both it and 3delts. An arrangement by which the Deltas Three would take in all the members of the defunct group was made originally, but the ladies of Linden Walk welched when they learned that 23 B.S.O.s had already turned down bids to their sorority.

Sigma Chi

This organization is renowned for its powers in the realm of intramurals. Socially they're a flop, but by blackjacking Hackensmith one dark night, and initiating him, they were able to become intramural champions. They threatened they would make Hack wear a pin, if they didn't win.

It is rumored that Sigmachis court Kappas, but surely that's no accomplishment, worth noting.

Kappa Sigma

The Kappasigs are trying hard to do just one thing on the campus. Tick Evans wants the Sullivan Medallion, but they say he was lucky to get O.D.K. Maybe living on Broadway has so raised the opinion of themselves that these eds will someday get back on the campus and be able to get some pledges.

Chi Omega

The Chiomegas always try. They always have house decorations, floats and join all activities but where does it get them. They got a pledge, their pledge got a Sigalf away from a Kappa accomplishment?

Kappa Alpha

Differences between the home of the Kays and the home of a Southern planter in pre-Civil War days are that the gentlemen of Linden Walk drink genuine "Santiago De Cuba" Barcardi instead of mint juleps, the freshmen take the place of slaves, and the highly-touted Southern "culture" is entirely non-existant.

No one ever hears of a contested rushee going K.A., but every fall the organization seems to get enough men to carry on the tradition of drinking, necking and flunking out of school.

Since the untimely and most regrettable marriage of Sis Willis, it has been difficult to distinguish between the 3delts and the ten-cent store clerks. This has been made doubly difficult in that both the Greekettes and the saleswomen wear Sigalf pins.

The sorority was politically important when Chris Johnson was its dictator supreme. She still retains that position, but now has no one to dictate to her, which, politically, is most unfortunate.

Only prestige of the lodge is the house which it occupies on Linden Walk, and its laudable practice of giving ALL the little boys a break.

Alpha Sigma Phi

One of the members of this fraternity was accused of drinking at one of the dances recently but other fraternity men were inclined to discredit the accusation, saying that if he had been imbibing the same whisky Alfasigs usually drink he would never have been able to get to the dance.

Little is known of the group, other than that it claims to have taken six rushees away from the Sigmakys, who were in a crap game with the board of trustees at the time.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon

The Sigalfs took the stalls out of the basement of their Limestone barn, put in a dining room, a house-mother, and a moose head, and now think they are somebody.

In spite of the depression these mugs of the Big House gave four dances and a formal, and at that the beer they sell isn't even as good as that the Kappa Sigs get from their cook.

Politically, socially and in the realm of activities these mugs are dead. R.I.P.

Alpha Gamma Delta

When would-be neckers fail at the Alfazee house they merely enter the Alfagam's "Garden of Last Resort" and shut their eyes. Although the ladies are very much in debt student council investigations have been unable to prove a connection between this fact and the mite box drive.

No pets are tolerated in the house because the inhabitants are kept busy meeting the amourous demands of the Alfasigs.

All the furnishings of the house are arranged to lend a romantic touch. Chief among the fixtures is a red paper parrot which was found in the city dump by one of the girls who was unable to get a seat in the garden that night.

Phi Sigma Kappa

This lodge is known by the automobile headlight over the porch. One looks for a "tourist's welcome" sign—As we are forced to consider the Blue and White orchestra a campus activity, so are we forced to consider these mugs as important to it as Kadies and Phidelts are to Strollers.

Phi Delta Theta

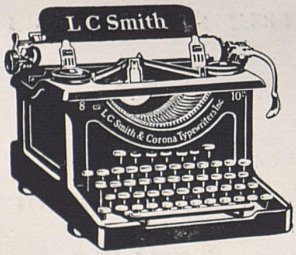

While rats eat the pajamas off sleeping members, and visiting brothers enter the house only to spit out teeth lost in arguments with the law, this organization goes serenely on about what it fondly terms its "business."

Numerous dogs give the casual passerby the impression of an over-size kennel, which impression is further carried out in the interior furnishings of the home.

The only relic of the former glorious and prosperous years of this fraternity is a cellar full of broken bottles. Prospective pledges are told that the organization is good "nationally" but the food which is served in the establishment kills most of them before they find out the truth.

The Phidelt annex, Strollers, put on a show at Woodland auditorium—So did "Sweet Evening Breeze."

Having lost even the prestige of living next door to the Kappas the Alfagammarows must now content themselves with proficiency in their studies, including The Technique of Milking Unhappy Cows, and Scientific Wife Selection. The latter course was offered by the College of Agriculture when it became known that some of the gentlemen were falling for Kimegas, who neither spin nor feed chickens, and thus make poor wives for farmers, or for anyone else for that matter.

Since Robert White caught the Barber's Ich in '28 and made the barber give him another shave gratis the history of the organization has been uneventful. Scandal mongers recently reparted that a lady had been kept in the house over the week-end but this proved untrue when the ag instructors advertised for Betsy.

Zeta Tau Alpha

The Zetas fulfill a quite important function on the campus. Every time the Piecaps go on a bat they break the Zeta windows, or try to sell soap to the house-mother. A sort of reservoir for surplus energy, as it were.

Particularly outstanding for its hospitable open houses, which none of the members attend and at which guests are permitted every liberty except that of drinking Zeta beer, the organization will never sink into total oblivion. It has too many girls who love the moon for that to ever happen.

Triangle

How this club exists is a mystery—since the Engineering college is a defunct political organization. Since all the professors belong and are fed Sunday dinners at the country estate, all the boys make Tauhete.

One of their boys out dirty-nosed the Delt's greenbriar student for colonel.

But politically and socially these eternal Triangles are no better than their Sigalf associates.

The "Pansy" boys of Dean Melcher fame need only add Petie Moore to their list of members to be somebody. Maybe next rush week their alumni can give another dance, and get him to hand in his Phidelt.

The mansion isn't furnished yet, but the boys are awfully proud of the Kadie's big green vase. They don't mind sleeping on the floor, and eating from soap boxes makes it so home like. Despite the fact that the Southern Federation of Deans mistook their home for the public library. The Pansy boys were counted out of the scholarship cup.

Kappa Kappa Gamma

Although some of the ladies occasionally rate dates with Sigmabetazees and win beauty contests this organization is shunned by the better element. The famous Sunday School party of several years ago brought the sorority to prominence, which was much publicized but which was nevertheless short-lived.

Three years ago freshmen entered the house with trembling step and shaking knee for fear they should commit a social blunder. Now most of them believe that to enter at all is to err.

It is said that there are 13 ways to get a Kappa bid, but that only one of them is ever used by a true lady. That way is to enter school with a Dusenberg roadster, a case of Scotch, and a pair of gigolos. The other 12 ways have been condemned by the more conservate element on the campus.
