PREFACE

In January 1936, the Historical Records Survey, a nation-wide project of the Works Progress Administration, now the Work Projects Administration, was organized nationally. Dr. Luther H. Evans was appointed National Director of the Survey. In March 1936, the Survey began to function in Virginia as part of the Federal Writers' Project, of which Dr. H. J. Eckenrode was State Director, and Dr. Lester J. Cappon of the University of Virginia part-time Technical Assistant. In November 1936, when the Historical Records Survey became independent of the Federal Writers' Project, Dr. Cappon was appointed part-time State Director. At the same time Miss Elizabeth B. Parker, a former supervisor of the Survey, was appointed Assistant State Director. When Dr. Cappon resigned in June 1937, Miss Parker succeeded him as State Director. On September 5, 1939, the Historical Records Survey of Virginia became a State-wide non-Federal project with Miss Parker as State Supervisor.

Likewise in January 1936 the Survey of Federal Archives, a nationwide project of the Works Progress Administration, now the Work Projects Administration, was organized under the national directorship of Dr. Phillip M. Hamer, an official of the National Archives, Washington, D. C. In February 1936 work was started in Virginia with Mr. T. C. Durham as Regional Director. In September 1936, Dr. Kathleen Bruce was appointed Regional Director to succeed Mr. Durham. On August 1, 1937, the Survey of Federal Archives of Virginia became a State-wide non-Federal project, with Dr. Bruce as State Director.

On January 1, 1940, the two projects, the Survey of Federal Archives and the Historical Records Survey of Virginia, were consolidated by the Work Projects Administration to constitute a new Historical Records Survey project. Dr. Bruce was appointed State Supervisor and Miss Parker, Assistant State Supervisor. Miss Parker resigned from the Historical Records Survey on April 29, 1940.

By authority of the Presidential Letter, E-236, October 18, 1940, the Historical Records Survey is authorized to "conduct a survey and prepare for duplication inventories of all official records of the counties and of the Federal Government (except the Post Office) within the State; conduct a survey and prepare for duplication inventories of the records of the churches of all denominations within the State; and copy the imprints of all materials, printed before 1877 within the present boundaries of the United States, which are in the custody of all public, semi-public, and notable private libraries within the State." The ultimate objective is to make contributions of public value.

In conformity with the authorization, the Historical Records Survey of Virginia has in progress for publication inventories of the archives of Virginia counties and churches, and of all Federal agencies within the State except the Post Office. It also has under way a survey of American imprints prior to 1877. Under the direction of the Federal Government, the inventories are deposited with the appropriate agency.

THE INDEX TO OBITUARY NOTICES IN THE RELIGIOUS HERALD, RICHMOND, VIRGINIA, 1828-1938, originated as Supplement No. 1 to a volume planned by Miss Parker on the manuscripts and the printed materials of the Virginia Baptist Historical Society. An index such as this is not commonly undertaken by the Historical Records Survey projects. But the Religious Herald is a notable Baptist journal, and has performed, since it was first issued on January 11, 1828, a public service by publishing notices of deaths and marriages. To understand the full value of this public service, it should be noted that the official register of births, deaths, and marriages, required in every Virginia parish during the colonial period, disappeared along with the State church which did not long survive the colony. No legal record of births and deaths was again required in Virginia until an act of the Virginia Assembly passed in 1853, effective January 1, 1854, ordered the commissioners of revenue to report on births and deaths to the clerk of each county court, and to the clerk of each corporation court in the Commonwealth. The Code of 1860 continued in substance the provisions of the Act of 1853. The maintenance of legal records was seriously affected by the War for Southern Independence. County archives in the path of the Confederate and Union armies suffered heavy losses. The registration of births and deaths was again required by the Code of 1873. Under the Code of 1887, each commissioner of revenue was instructed to make an annual registration of the births and deaths in his district. But on March 4, 1898, the General Assembly repealed the sections of the Code of 1887, which dealt with the registration of births and deaths, with a view, perhaps, to improving procedure. An act of 1912, effective March 12, 1912, made each justice of the peace a registrar responsible to the State Board of Health. As registrar, a justice's duty was to maintain a record of births and deaths for that portion of his magisterial district assigned him by the State Registrar. If there happened to be no justice in the area, or if a justice refused to act, the State Registrar appointed some other suitable person to perform the duty. THE INDEX TO OBITUARY NOTICES IN THE RELIGIOUS HEPALD ... contains around 19,000 references. The great majority of them are to folk who were either members of or connected with the Baptist churches in Virginia. As is the case with thousands of other Virginians who died between 1827 and 1854, and 1897 and 1912, no public record exists of the deaths of these persons. And even though recorded in the archives of their churches, the individual records are difficult to reach. Moreover, not only county records but church records suffered in the upheaval of 1861-65. The contribution of the index, therefore, is to make available the wealth of information that lies buried in the four almost complete files of the Religious Herald, in the custody of the Virginia Baptist Historical Society at Richmond.

When Miss Elizabeth Coalter, joined the staff of the Historical Records Survey in April 1939, as supervisor of the Survey of Church Archives, the field work on the INDEX TO OBITUARY NOTICES ... had been started. The work has been checked, edited, and compiled in 1940 under Miss Coalter's supervision. A few departures have been made from the original procedure first established for this index. For instance, page numbers have been deleted. This has been done inasmuch as all issues of the Religious Herald do not have numbered pages, and confusion resulted when it was attempted to number them consecutively. In some years the issues were paged consecutively through the year; in other years each issue was paged individually. Most of the notices appear in the obituary column which is usually on the third, or fourth page of the issue. A few notices were printed as news items; others are resolutions of churches on the death of an individual. The symbol * is used to denote a name which has been found spelled differently in the same notice. For example, "SNEED, James A., s. of C. P. and Helen Winn SNEAD, Aug. 19, 1937." The same symbol is used also when there seems to be a typographical error in one or more entries as in "ABRAHAM, W. Y. (Mrs.), d. of Rev. A. Broadus, May 30, 1895 ... ABRAHAMS, W. Y. (Rev.), Nov. 19, 1903;" or when a name is spelled in an unusual manner as "WOOD, Emily E., d. of John and Cassandria Wood, Aug. 16, 1855." The place of death has been eliminated since it is not always clear where the individual died.

Preface
