From The Press Box

Ever wonder who comes up with all those stories and statistics?

Ever wonder where those numbers come from a newspaper reporter uses to describe team trends? Or what about those interesting little stories a television or radio play-by-play announcer reveals about a player or coach? Where do they come from?

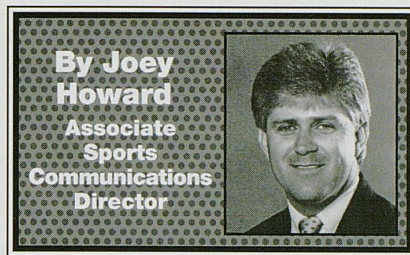

The answer is simple — The Sports Information Department. These offices around the country are responsible for the publicity or information which is distributed to the media. Generally speaking, the 12 SID offices of the Southeastern Conference generate approximately 800 press releases, which are mailed to regional and national media outlets, each week. The releases consist of quotes, notes and statistics.

Each of the SEC schools conducts weekly on-campus press conferences, sends video highlights via satellite, and has radio-quality teleconferences with head coaches and players. The news, or what SIDs call "the good stuff," must get to the newspapers, radio and television stations by whatever means it takes.

For a sampling of press release matter, let's look at a few column notes from around the league.

First, we stop at Georgia. In their weekly release, the Georgia SID office is promoting scatback Garrison Hearst for the Heisman Trophy. Inside their weekly release is a four-color, one-page synopsis on Hearst, his 1992 statistics and a comparison with former Heisman winner Herschel Walker. A quote box from the page caught my eye... "Garrison Hearst is phenomenal. He's the college version of Thurman Thomas. He can beat you catching the football or he can beat you running the football. He has so many moves, if you blink twice, you might miss four or five of them and he'll be in the end zone." Just attribute the quote to former Pittsburgh Steeler All-Pro and current ABC-TV analyst Lynn Swann.

Next, we look at Mississippi State, Kentucky's opponent tonight. The MSU Sports Information Office is coming off a 56-6 thumping of Arkansas State last week. In their weekly release prior to the Arkansas State contest, this was a note to show the Bulldogs' recent success against non-conference opponents: "During the past three and one-half years, Mississippi State has dominated its non-conference opposition. In that span, the Bulldogs have posted a 13-1 record (.928 pct.) against non-conference opponents which includes an 11-game winning streak from 1989 to last season. During that time, MSU has beaten Memphis State and Tulane (three times), Southern Mississippi, Cal-Fullerton and Texas (two times), and Northeast Louisiana (one time). The Bulldogs' average victory margin in those non-conference games has been 16 points."

From the Florida Sports Information Department, numbers, numbers and more numbers are the dominant item in their weekly fact sheets. For an example, the Florida SID office says this about the Steve Spurrier era — "Florida is 16-1 in the Spurrier era when the Gators score first in a game... Florida is 21-1 when leading at the half in the Spurrier era... Florida is 12-0 when a Gator back rushes for 100 yards... Florida is 19-2 when the Gators score 24 points-or-more... Florida is 17-0 when it holds an opponent to less than 100 yards rushing as a team... Florida is 18-1 in games played inside the state of Florida."

At Kentucky, the UK SID office can throw its share of numbers at you as well. On page seven of last week's press release for the Georgia contest, a note appeared entitled "Defense by the Numbers." In the Bill Curry era, Kentucky is 9-1 when holding an opponent below 350 yards of total offense. The 1990 victories were against Central Michigan (343), Mississippi State (344) and Georgia (276)... The 1991 wins came versus Kent State (290) and Cincinnati (292)... This season, Kentucky has wins over Central Michigan (257), Indiana (334), South Carolina (215) and LSU (347)... The lone blemish in the Curry era came in 1990 vs. North Carolina (311).

Or what about these items from the Kentucky press release: "Smart Cats" and "Matthews Ranks Among Strongest." The Smart Cats note is about OG Todd Perry and STR Dean Wells. Both are three-time members of the Academic All-SEC Honor Roll team. Perry and Wells have a chance to be the second and third Wildcats football player(s) to make the Academic All-SEC team four times during their careers. Entering this season, LB Jim Kovach (1974-76) was the only Wildcat to make the team four times. The Matthews note lets the media know the breakdown of strength by Wildcats OG Jody Matthews. He is perhaps the strongest player in the country with a bench press of 580 pounds, a squat press of 675 and a clean of 400.

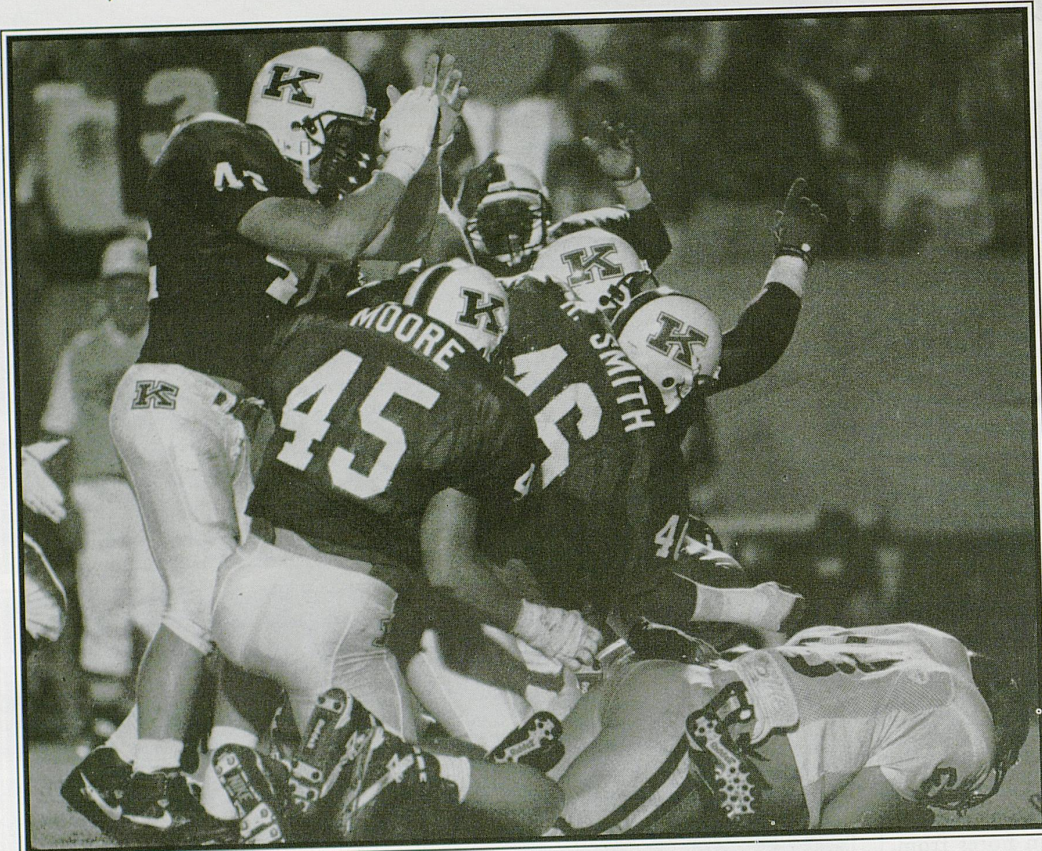

Of course, tonight's game program could go from cover to cover with such items if you combined the weekly press releases from all 12 SEC schools. But at least you get an idea of the types and bits of information which are generated for use by the media.

It's those type of notes and anecdotes you may read or hear or view next week when the media previews an upcoming collegiate football game. And when you recognize a tidbit in the making, you now understand just where it originated — the sports information department.

UK Homecoming marks the second Bulldog invasion in as many weeks

BY DAVID KAPLAN
Host Communications

It has been said that you learn more about men in defeat than victory. Anybody can handle winning. But it is losing that brings out the character in a man.

And when a team performs below expectations, it can do one of two things: dwell on the disappointments, or learn from them and become a better football team.

The Wildcats are faced with this dilemma following last week's 40-7 loss to the Georgia Bulldogs. But with head coach Bill Curry at the helm, is there really a question as to which way Kentucky will respond?

"We have a very courageous team, the basics are there," Curry said following the game. "We seemed to be sort of awed by this whole scenario (playing in a pivotal SEC game). It was too much for us this time. Next time, if we get in this position, we will do a better job."

And the Wildcats still have plenty to strive for this season, including a winning record ters Commonwealth Stadium in a similar predicament. Although sporting a 5-2 record, Jackie Sherrill's crew must be kicking themselves for earlier defeats to Louisiana State and South Carolina. They can't absorb another SEC defeat if they and a bowl game. They can't afford to let one bad performance interrupt what could still be a very successful season.

"We've shown that we can play really good football," Curry said. "We've also demonstrated that at this time we have not been prepared to take on the top teams in our conference on an even-steven basis."

Tonight, when they hit the field to face another group of Bulldogs — this one from Mississippi State — they will have to show they learned their lessons well.

wish to hold on to hopes of catching Alabama in the Western division.

However, the Bulldogs are not the same team that soundly defeated Kentucky last season in Starkville. Offensive leader and quarterback Sleepy Robinson was injured against Florida and is gone for the season. Last year, Robinson created havoc for the Wildcat defense, racking up 134 yards on 23 carries and one touchdown. He did some damage through the air as well, throwing for 165 yards and another score.

With Robinson gone, the Bulldogs have looked to quarterback Greg Plump to direct the offense. And if last week's game against Arkansas State is any indication, the Wildcats will need to prepare to stop the MSU running attack. Running back Karl Williamson emerged with 93 yards and three touchdowns on the ground and Mississippi State racked up a total of 464 yards rushing. Eight players gained at least 25 yards in the victory.

The Wildcats must also be wary of the Bulldog kick return unit. Tony James is one of the all-time great SEC kick returners. He has returned three punts for touchdowns in his career.

Last week, Heisman Trophy candidate Garrison Hearst exposed the Wildcat defense for 177 yards, including a long run of 52. Georgia ran for more than 300 yards as a team. This will be a key area to improve on considering Mississippi State's propensity to run.

A year ago, Kentucky quarterback Pookie Jones made the first start of his career. And although the Wildcats lost, Jones experienced success by throwing for 196 yards. If he is to have any success tonight, it will be important for the Kentucky offensive line to provide good protection. The Mississippi State defense has intercepted an impressive 14 passes this year. Establishing the run will be important as well. Damon Hood and Terry Samuels will play important roles if this is to occur.

So what does Kentucky need to do to put the Georgia game in the past? "Get back to playing loose and aggressive which is the only way we can compete," believes Curry. "And when we do that we are a very dangerous football team."

"Tremendous progress has been made and anyone who knows football can see that. The big thing is not to be discouraged by one dismal performance. Admit that it was dismal; don't act like it was anything other than what it was, but get about your business. The same as anything else in life, you don't hang your heads, you get on with the next thing."

The next thing is tonight.

Lean, Mean, Sacking Machine

Senior strike Dean Wells is a quarterback's worst nightmare come true

BY DAN PETERS
Host Communications

To borrow a line from Dewey Oxberger (you know, John Candy's character in the movie "Stripes"), Kentucky's Dean Wells is a lean, mean, sacking machine.

This season, Wells is certainly earning his stripes. The senior strike from Louisville is anchoring the Wildcats' defensive line, a much-improved unit from a year ago.

One of the Wildcats' defensive problems last year was an inability to pressure the quarterback. This season Wells has almost single-handedly solved the Cats' pass rush woes. After six games, Wells was responsible for nearly 60 percent of the team's sacks. Against Indiana, Wells found his way into the Hoosiers' backfield five times to bring down IU quarterback Trent Green. The five sacks established a UK game record and sent Wells on his way to challenging the season record.

Through the LSU game, Wells had chalked up eight sacks for minus-58 yards and was within one sack of tying the season record. Former Wildcat Oliver Barnett, now an Atlanta Falcon, holds the mark with nine QB take-downs in 1988. For his career, Wells stands third on the sack parade, with 15 for minus-95 yards.

The reasons for the improvement?

First, start with Wells' health. A shoulder injury forced Wells to play most of last season with one good shoulder. This year he has stayed injury-free. Secondly, he started last season playing out of position because of an injury to another starter on the defensive line.

Wells began the 1991 season as a starter at strike. But an injury to starting tackle Jerry Bell forced the Wildcat coaching staff to shuffle its personnel. The shuffle led to Wells being moved inside, where his 230-pound frame was not suited for the physical play usually reserved for much larger bodies.

"Last year we moved him from strike to tackle because we were so thin on the defensive line," Curry explained. "And to get our best people on the field, we felt like we had to put him in the game at that position."

Wells started the first three games at defensive tackle, an eye-opening experience for him.

"It was a big adjustment because I think when I had to do that I realized it is a totally different world inside," Wells said. "I think I have a little more respect now for the nose and tackle and the job they do. You get a lot of double teams, and I wasn't really that comfortable in there, but coach (Larry) New felt like in order for us to be the best defense that we could be it was important for me to play there."

Wells was then moved back to strike upon Bell's return. Unfortunately for Wells, he injured his left shoulder in his first game at strike. He completed the season like a trooper, not missing a game.

After the season, Wells underwent arthroscopic surgery on the shoulder to repair a torn rotator cuff. He missed spring practice, but the time off allowed Wells to spend more time in the weight room, adding pounds to bring him to his current playing weight of 243.

"I don't feel like (the injury) set me back at all. If anything, it could have been a blessing in disguise because it allowed me to get in the weight room more. I've always had the strength to compete in the SEC but I felt like putting on some weight would allow me to be more injury-free."

In the Wildcats' defensive scheme, the strike position is a combination of an outside linebacker and defensive end. The strike lines up over the tight end and provides the outside pass rush and containment against the run.

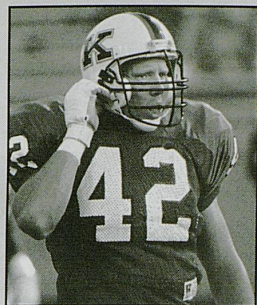

Some talented players, namely Pat Swilling at Georgia Tech and Derrick Thomas at Alabama, have played the strike position for UK head coach Bill Curry.

"It was designed to be a position that lends itself to one of our better athletes, which Dean certainly is," said Curry. "It should be a position from which a player can dominate a game, and there have been long stretches where Dean has been able to do that."

"Dean is a tremendous athlete. (As a strike) he's got to be tough enough to take on the double team from the tackle and tight end and yet agile enough to run down the quarterback in the open field, and Dean has done both."

Strike Dean Wells has redefined the phrase "in the grasp."

Wells also credits some minor changes implemented by his position coach, first-year assistant Lovie Smith, for the improved pass rush.

"Coach Smith has done a great job and has given us a little more freedom on the outside as far as our pass rush goes," Wells said.

"This year we have them down in a three-point stance and having them take more of an aggressive step," said Smith, who came to UK with nine years of experience as an assistant coach at Arizona State, Wisconsin and Tulsa. "We've changed it a little bit, but not that much. We're playing the same defense as last year."

But last year's defense did not have the size, especially on the interior line, as this year's defense has, which makes a big difference in pressuring the quarterback. This is a fact not lost on Wells.

"You're gonna get some sacks when you beat your man from the outside individually," Wells said. "But you're also gonna get some sacks that are pretty much contain sacks when the guys that are inside are beating their man and are flushing the quarterback towards me. You also get sacks when the secondary is doing a great job with their coverage and they're forcing the quarterback to hold onto the ball longer than he normally would."

Wells has been one of the leaders of the Cats' defense the last two years. He is one of four players on the "Black Watch," which is reserved for players who consistently play at a "championship" level. In fact, Wells has the most seniority of the Black Watchmen, having been chosen for the elite unit at the conclusion of the '91 spring drills.

"The way I view it is that you are one of the leaders on the defense and you're consistent. You take care of your business on and off the field. When it's gut-check time I feel like it's my responsibility to make a big play. It's also a responsibility to come out here every day and make sure the entire defense is ready to practice."

Wells' place as a leader is not limited to the gridiron. He was elected by his classmates to represent them on the UK Leadership Committee, which consists of a player from each class. The committee voices the team's concerns to the coaching staff.

"It allows the team to communicate with Coach about anything. For example, in the past the food down at the cafeteria may be slipping a little bit, and we don't want little things like that to drag the team down so this just gives the team a voice in matters like that."

Wells, who earned his undergraduate degree in marketing last spring, has also been a leader in the field of academe. He has been selected to the Academic All-SEC Honor Roll three times. He is currently enrolled in the MBA program.

In addition to his athletic and academic exploits, Wells has been involved in many civic service activities, including the SMART program (assisting elementary-school youths in conducting science experiments with the purpose of prompting interests in math and sciences), the Big Buddy Program and the Wildcat Cub Club.

"It's important because we get so much support from all the fans, so it makes you feel good when you can give something back to the community and when you see how much it means to the younger kids. I feel like the players that we have here have done a good job with that. Any time you have the opportunity to influence someone in a positive way, it's something you should do."

And that's a fact, Jack.

When it's time for a big play, Wells tends to get in the way.

The Return Of Atom Ant

Kurt Johnson supplements a lack of size with plenty of crafty footwork

BY CRAIG BARONCELLI
Host Communications

As Kurt Johnson shuffles off the practice fields at the E.J. Nutter Center, he almost looks out of place. His blue sweatpants are baggy to say the least. He carries his helmet in his right hand, as if he was lugging a large duffel bag. He has small shoulders and a thin waist, hardly recognizable attributes of a football player. When he carries a football it takes nearly all off his forearm to contain the pigskin. In proportion to those around him, Johnson looks small, real small. Strike Dean Wells he isn't.

At 5-7, 145 pounds, Kurt Johnson, a senior on the Wildcat football team, doesn't intimidate many people with his appearance. On the field, he is towered over by most. But Johnson's abilities don't lie in his size, but in his quickness and (surprise!) strength.

While not owning blazing speed — he runs the 40 meter dash in 4.5 seconds — he supplements the speed he has with the ability to alter his running path quickly. Quick feet can work wonders for a runner.

It also helps that Johnson is able to fend off opponents with a good shove. Johnson is strong. How strong is he? If Johnson stood 6-5, and weighed 300 pounds, then dumptruck-lifting might be a hobby. At 5-7, Johnson benches 275 pounds, cleans 255 pounds and can leg-press squat 575 pounds. He is referred to as a Mighty-Mite, but Atom Ant, the 1970s cartoon insect with superhuman strength, may be a more fitting moniker.

Johnson will probably be best remembered for his superhuman play against Georgia in 1989. On that day, Johnson broke a Kentucky record and tied the Southeastern Conference and NCAA modern marks for longest kickoff return with a 100-yard sprint for a touchdown.

"That is something I will always remember," Johnson says. "When that was over, I was like 'Wow.' That was a great feeling."

This season, Johnson hasn't enjoyed such an outburst. Prior to the Georgia game, Johnson had returned 13 kickoffs for 210 yards — a 16.2 yard average. His long return for the season was 26 yards. Johnson had returned 16 punts for 137 yards — an 8.6 yard average — with a long of 35 yards.

His kickoff numbers don't sparkle, but you don't have to make Johnson aware of that. He knows.

"I am kind of disappointed in my performance (in the special teams department). I feel I can play a lot better," he explains, visibly down on his performance through the LSU game.

But the griping quickly stops, and the Paducah, Ky., native looks to the remaining five games. He knows there is still time to recover. It only takes one kickoff and about 15 seconds to salvage a season and make a highlight reel.

Johnson has already supplied one of the offensive highlights of the season, when quarterback Ryan Hockman connected with the flanker Johnson for a 49-yard touchdown that pulled Kentucky within 14-7 against Florida.

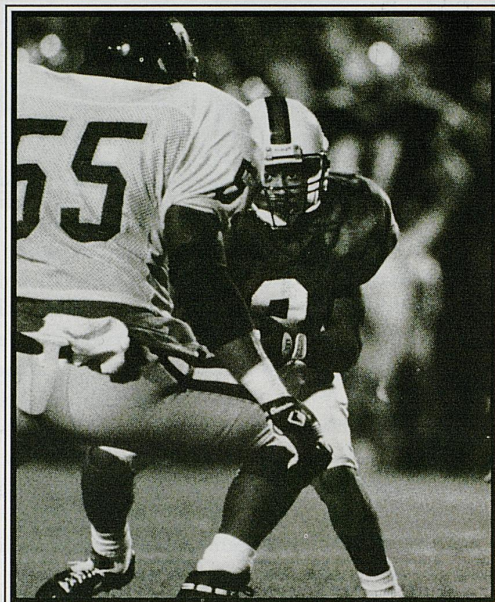

"That was nice," Johnson says, though the Wildcats went on to lose that day, 35-19.

"I am looking forward to the next five games. I am going to come out and play hard. I think I can make something happen," Johnson offers, his attitude becoming more upbeat.

However, Johnson is enjoying the Wildcats' success. He quickly mentions the LSU game — a 27-25 Kentucky victory — was a great confidence-booster for the team. Snapping a 13-game road losing streak tends to bring out the best in people.

"It was a great win for this team. I was very happy to have been a part of that game," Johnson says. "We are gaining confidence. I can feel it building every day."

A glance at the stat sheet would lead one to believe it was the backfield that brought the win back from Baton Rouge. Maybe so, but it was Johnson's "big" catch that may have saved the day.

Kentucky was ahead, 27-25, and had possession of the ball with roughly five minutes to go in the game. If the Cats could hold on for five minutes, the road winless streak would end. But quarterback Pookie Jones faced a third down and eight on the Wildcat 22 yard line. If Kentucky failed on the third-down conversion, a punt would still give LSU good field position with cons left on the clock. It was big-play time and big-play performer Johnson stepped forward, making a 10-yard reception to pick up the first down and sustain the drive.

On the day, Johnson made three catches for 27 yards, but he stepped forward when the game was on the line. That's vintage Johnson.

"That was a good catch," Johnson explains. "Because it kept the drive going. I was happy I was able to contribute."

Contribute Johnson does, and if he has his way today, then Commonwealth Stadium will be rockin'. Kentucky's Atom Ant has both eyes set on the endzone and is ready for takeoff. Up and Atom.

Scouting The Bulldogs

BY DAVID KAPLAN
Host Communications

Since Sherrill took over, MSU has won an impressive four-of-nine road games.

Think back to the night of October 1. You may remember hearing in the distance what, for a brief moment, sounded like a large balloon slowly being released of all its air. But, actually, it was the collective sighs of the 38,886 fans at Scott Field who could be faintly heard throughout the Southeast after watching their standout quarterback Sleepy Robinson go down with a season-ending knee injury. And with him may have gone any hopes they entertained of winning the SEC West division.

Last season, Robinson emerged as one of the nation's finest option quarterbacks. And, not coincidentally, Mississippi State improved drastically, finishing 4-3 in the SEC and earning a trip to the Liberty Bowl.

However, Robinson wasn't the only reason for the turnaround. Jackie Sherrill took over the reins last season and injected new life into the program, along with some controversial motivational tactics that, at very least, caused every bull in Mississippi to run for the border. Still, MSU appears to be on the upswing.

OFFENSE

Following the injury to Robinson, the quarterback position has been thrown into disarray. Greg Plump was first to attempt filling the massive void, but a neck injury quickly forced him to the sidelines. Todd Jordan, who was recruited as one of the nation's top prep quarterbacks four years ago but has since developed into one of the league's best punters with an average above 45 yards, was pressed into duty. He has completed more than 50 percent of his passes but doesn't possess the running ability that made Robinson so lethal.

A heavy burden is now put on senior running back Kenny Roberts. He averages better than five yards a carry and by season's end should be one of Mississippi State's top five rushers of all time. He will also be in the top 10 in all-purpose yardage. Sophomore Michael Davis will share some of the rushing load.

The line is solid, with tackle John James and center Lee Ford playing the role of cornerstones.

Senior wide receiver Willie Harris has battled an ankle injury this season, but when healthy is dangerous. He has averaged more than 20 yards a reception during his career.

Mississippi State may be most dangerous when returning kicks. Tony James is the SEC career total kick return leader in yardage, having surpassed former Tennessee Volunteer Willie Gault earlier this year. He returned two punts for touchdowns in 1990 and one earlier this season against Auburn which decided the game.

DEFENSE

Not many teams can boast of having the SEC defensive Player-of-the-Week in succession, but that's exactly what Mississippi State achieved. After a sensational outing against Florida senior linebacker Daniel Boyd received that league honor. Not to be outdone, junior free safety Kelvin Knight completed the back-to-back trick against Auburn (Oct. 10). His two interceptions helped stymie the Auburn attack.

But the Bulldog defense has many more weapons. Boyd's partner at inside linebacker is Juan Long, a hard-hitting junior. Senior outside linebacker Marc Woodard has wreaked havoc on opposing runners and quarterbacks. Strong safety Knight has shown great ability in swiping passes this season.

In fact, the Bulldogs are one of the most difficult teams to throw against in the SEC. Just ask Florida's Shane Matthews who was picked off five times earlier this year by Mississippi State's secondary and, with an injury to defensive end Jerome Brown giving opposing passers additional time to throw, the secondary will need to continue their thievery ways.

Running is no piece of cake either. Sherrill's crew was second in the SEC last season against the run and is holding opponents to under four yards a carry this season.

Behind The Scenes: Managers

UK's equipment managers keep the Wildcats looking good, feeling good

BY DAVID KAPLAN
Host Communications

When Bill Curry became the head coach of the Kentucky Wildcats, he preached to his new squad about becoming champions. "Championship performance, championship people, championship academics and championship football," Curry said.

However, Curry failed to mention one important aspect of reaching his goal. He didn't tell them they had to look like champions. And for good reason. They already did.

"It is better to look good, than to feel good," Fernando (a.k.a. Billy Crystal) used to preach on the old "Saturday Night Live" skit. And although UK Equipment Manager Tom Kalinowski and his staff of 17 student managers hope the Wildcats feel good, they make sure the Wildcats look good every time they head onto the gridiron.

It is a demanding job. The equipment crew must outfit everybody in the football program including all the players, coaches, managers, trainers and ground crew. "That goes from shoes to helmets to shoulder pads," says Kalinowski, who has been involved with the process for 18 years.

But outfitting the team is just part of the task. The crew must get the equipment to wherever the Wildcats play, be it Commonwealth Stadium or an opponent's site. They prepare the team's workout gear for each practice and they make repairs of the equipment before each game.

There is plenty of work to be done before games. Each week, helmets are cleaned. New "K's" and stripes are attached. They are scrubbed, disinfected and checked for any necessary repairs. If there's rust on any helmet part, it is replaced. Shoulder pads are checked and the workout gear is put out. This process takes about five hours.

The task at hand is even more difficult for road games. The equipment and truck are sent down to arrive by Friday morning. The managers follow the truck in a van, and when they arrive the fun begins.

The lockers are assigned and set up to the players' liking. Workout gear for Friday practice is laid out, and when the practice is over, the cleaning routine takes place once again. "We really try to do a real nice

SPORTS TURF MANAGEMENT

As you attend tonight's game at Commonwealth Stadium, take a moment to look around and enjoy how nice the field looks. The turf bursts with green. The endzones and mid-field are sparkling with Kentucky Blue and White. The goal posts shine a bright yellow.

This doesn't happen on its own. Not by a long shot. The people responsible for these eye-pleasing surroundings are the Sports Turf Management.

Every week, Bucky Trotter spends countless hours maintaining the athletic fields at UK.

"It's a lot of hard work," says Trotter. "You can have all the knowledge in the world and if you're lazy, then you're not going to do a very good job."

Knowledgeable the Sports Turf Management folks are, lazy they are not. Trotter and his staff of Tommy Davis, David Thomas, James Flora and Andy Fletcher combine for over 40 years of turf management experience.

Talk about effort. The crew will cut, paint, water and manicure the field before every game. For a night game, the crew will arrive at Commonwealth by 7:30 a.m. to make final preparations. Then after the game, they will replace all divots and begin tending to all the bruises the field incurred during the night.

Although the field looks terrific, Trotter believes it can never be perfect: "It's a personal reflection on us...people have said, 'The field's great and it looks good and it's the best it's ever looked,' but we know there's two or three areas out there that need a little more attention."

It's terrific that the field looks good for aesthetic reasons. But more important to the players and coaches, the field must be in good condition for footing and to lower the risk of injury.

"It's very important that it looks good," explains Trotter. "But probably more importantly that it's a good surface to play on. That's the main thing."

UK's Sports Turf Management (L-R): Andy Fletcher, David Thomas, James Flora, Bucky Trotter and Tommy Davis.

And the coaches and players understand the importance of Sports Turf Management. They let the group know when something needs to be worked on and show appreciation for all the effort Trotter and his staff pour into the field to get it in the best possible condition.

"Everybody here has been really good, and I think that's important that we try to maintain a good relationship," said Trotter, who enjoys working at UK. "My father used to say, for someone that you really thought a lot of, he would say he was 'good people,' and that's what I'd say about coach Curry and the entire UK football staff."

job setting up their lockers so when the players get there, the equipment is in a certain place," Kalinowski said.

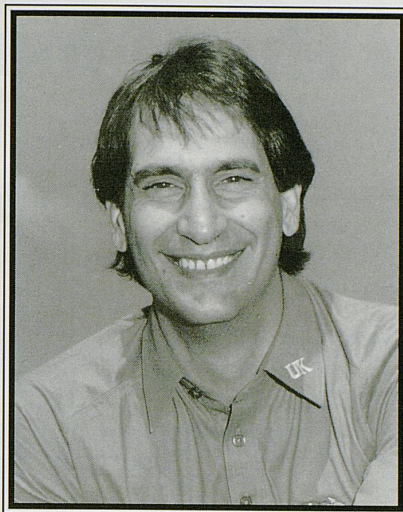

After the game, the equipment is loaded back on the truck and sent on its way to Lexington, followed by the vans, of course. This is an exhausting effort, especially for games at places like Baton Rouge or Gainesville, when the drive exceeds 10 hours.

And it's a year-round job. When the last game is over, the players may take a week or so off, but they still have to lift weights and work out. That means dirty clothes must be washed, repairs must be made and orders must be placed for the next season.

"Just because football season doesn't go on doesn't mean that there isn't administrative stuff that we have to do," states Kalinowski.

According to Kalinowski, the student managers are the lifeline of any equipment manager, and he feels he has some great workers. "I demand a lot out of them, probably too much out of them at times," admitted Kalinowski, "but they're great people."

The student managers are a dedicated bunch. They put in approximately 20-25 hours a week, but for the most part, they enjoy it.

"It's the closest thing I could get to actually playing football or being around it," sophomore Carroll Spalding said. "I played football in grade school and high school and I didn't want to quit, I really like it a lot...I enjoy it."

Although first-semester student managers receive no compensation, as they proceed they get partial scholarships. Some even get full scholarships. For Bo Phelan, a senior majoring in education, the four-year experience as a student manager has been worthwhile:

"It's been a course in self-discipline for me. It's not a pushover job by any stretch of the imagination and it helps you keep school in line. All my spare time is devoted to studying and it helped me in that respect."

The job of the equipment managers does not go unappreciated. The UK players and coaches understand the work of managers. "There's nothing better than a coach saying, 'You did a good job' or when a player says, 'Thanks.' There's not a better feeling in the world," Kalinowski said.

So don't be surprised if you hear a voice in tonight's crowd say "You look maaarvelous." It's just Fernando eyeing the Wildcats. And he likes what he sees.

Residence Hall is "Study-Intensive"

A new study-intensive residence hall located in UK's Boyd Hall on the north side of the Lexington Campus was dedicated recently. The hall contains a computer learning center with 26 work stations linked to UK's computer network, a classroom, a library with an expanded reference section, and social, cultural and educational activities based around UK's Honors Program. Currently, 136 students live in Boyd Hall, more than half enrolled in the Honors Program.

Prestonsburg CC Wins National Award

Three student development organizations have given Prestonsburg Community College a National Inter-association Medallion Award in recognition of its faculty-based orientation and advising program. Prestonsburg was one of only nine colleges in the country to receive the award. The inter-association awards were co-sponsored by the two-year college division of the American College Personnel Association, the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators, and the National Council on Student Development of the American Association of Community Colleges.

ASTeCC Final Funding Approved

Legislation providing $4.1 million for the final phase of the Advanced Science and Technology Commercialization Center (ASTeCC) at UK has been approved by Congress and signed by the President. Federal funding for this project now totals $17.5 million. ASTeCC will give university researchers first-class facilities in which to work on projects which have high potential for commercialization. Construction is proceeding on the ASTeCC building, located between the Center for Robotics and Manufacturing Systems and McVey Hall, and occupancy is expected by April 1994.

Graduate School Has Record Enrollments

The University of Kentucky Graduate School enrolled a record number of students during the 1991-92 academic year — 6,387. Other records set during the year included the highest number of graduate degrees ever awarded — 1,083 (a seven percent increase over the previous year), including 209 doctorates (a 15.5 percent increase). The trend continues as preliminary enrollment for the fall 1992 semester has exceeded 5,100, and increase of 3.7 percent over the previous fall.

UK Physician Listed As Best Cancer Specialist

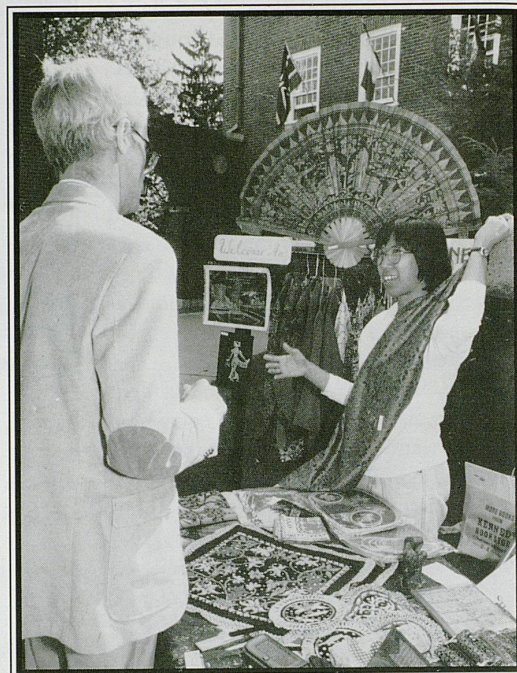

John van Nagell, professor of obstetrics and gynecology in UK's College of Medicine, has been named to a list of the best cancer specialists in the United States. Published in the October 1992 issue of Good Housekeeping magazine, the list names 419 doctors considered outstanding in the treatment of 11 of the most lethal and prevalent cancers.

Student Effort Nets 1,400 New Voters

A student-sponsored voter registration drive on the Lexington campus Sept. 28 through Oct. 1 netted 1,400 new voters among the University's students, faculty and staff. This is the largest number of new voters ever registered in a UK effort, according to Ellen Hamilton, a junior nursing student from Louisville who led the campaign. The campus drive was co-sponsored by the Student Government Association, Panhellenic, and the Interfraternity Council.

Tom Jerse, an electrical engineering student from Lexington, will receive $1,000 for two years as the winner of the 1992 IEEE's Electromagnetic Compatibility

Lilis Husin, a graduate student in business, shows some Indonesian wares to Bruce Eastwood, professor of history, during UK's International Bazaar Sept. 25-26 in front of Bradley Hall.

Around The SEC

COMPILED BY ED KROMER
Host Communications

With the possibility of a three-way tie for first place in the SEC East Division lingering, here's the procedure for the unraveling of such a triple knot between Georgia, Florida and Tennessee:

1. Combined head-to-head record among the tied teams.
2. Record of the tied teams within the division.
3. Head-to-head competition versus the team with-in the division with the best overall conference record and proceeding through the division. Multiple ties within the division will be broken from first to last.
4. Overall record versus non-division teams.
5. Combined record versus all common divisional teams.
6. Record versus common non-divisional team with the best overall record and proceeding through other common non-divisional teams based on their order of finish within their division.
7. Vote of the Athletic Directors whose institution is not involved with the tie.

Confused? Let's hope for an outright winner.

Bill Curry

UK Head Coach

One consistent detail has followed Bill Curry in the collegiate coaching ranks. Beginning with Georgia Tech, moving to Alabama and now at Kentucky, the theme has remained the same — program builder.

To some, those two words mean only a set number of victories on various Saturday afternoons sprinkled throughout the fall. To Kentucky's third-year coach, "program building" goes much deeper. It goes to the inner souls of young people and touches their every angle.

"I'd like to say that I'm a person that really likes to serve young people," said Curry. "It is my wish to have every single one of them be the best they can be in every aspect of their lives, and that certainly includes a championship football program."

Curry's football pedigree weighs heavily in his expectations of championship performance. After all, he did play and work under three of the most successful coaches the game of football has ever known — Bobby Dodd, Vince Lombardi and Don Shula.

Curry, 49, lettered three years (1962-64) as a collegian at Georgia Tech under Dodd and served as team captain his senior campaign. Dodd compiled an impressive 22-year record of 165-64-8, including Southeastern Conference titles in 1951 and

'52, at Georgia Tech.

After earning his bachelor's degree in industrial management from Georgia Tech in 1965, Curry began his professional career under Lombardi with the Green Bay Packers. He played on two Packer teams which won the National Football League title (1965-66), including the first Super Bowl Jan. 15, 1967. The legendary Lombardi guided Green Bay to five NFL championships in seven years during the 1960s.

Following the 1967 season, Curry was traded to the Baltimore Colts and eventually became All-Pro in 1971 and '72. His mentor for two seasons at Baltimore was Don Shula, who today is the winningest active coach in the NFL and has appeared in more Super Bowls (6) than any other coach.

Those credentials alone have made Curry the type of coach who understands what demands must be met in order to succeed.

Indeed, those qualities opened the eyes of UK Athletics Director C.M. Newton when he began his search in December of 1989 to replace Jerry Claiborne, who stepped down after eight seasons with the Wildcats. But Newton took an interest in another side of Curry.

"William A. (Bill) Curry is recognized by many to be at the very top of his profession," said Newton during his introduction of Curry to the media. "He has been credited for dignity, class and integrity with which he conducts his football programs, both on and off the playing field."

Curry has that rare mix of both worlds.

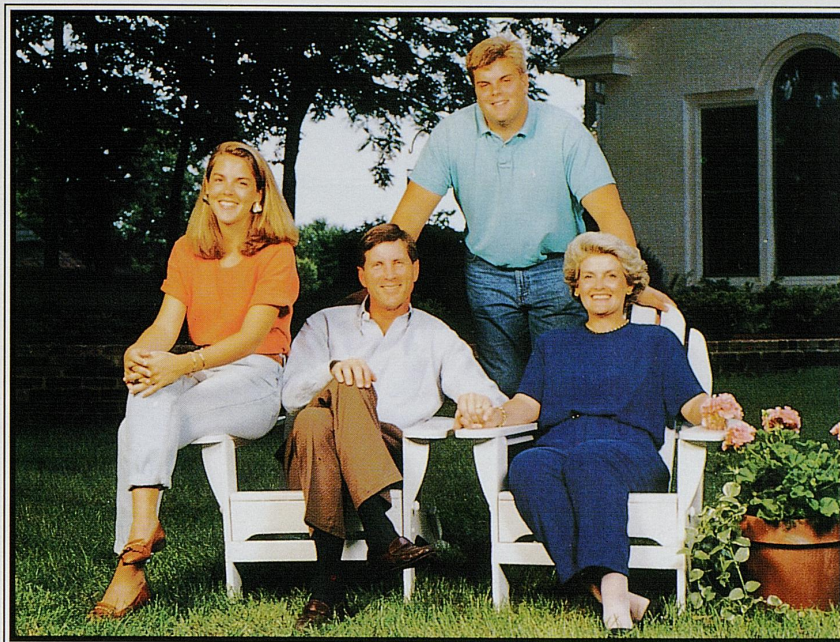

He came to Kentucky from the University of Alabama. His overall record of 26-10 at 'Bama was the Crimson Tide's most successful three-year total since Paul "Bear" Bryant compiled a 27-8-3 record in his final three campaigns (1980-82). In his last season, Curry led Alabama to a 10-1 regular-season mark and a share of the SEC title. He took three Crimson Tide teams to bowls — the 1987 Hall of Fame Bowl, the 1988 Sun Bowl and the 1990 USF&G Sugar Bowl.

In all, Curry owns a 64-68-4 record in 12 seasons as a collegiate head coach.

Curry, a native of College Park, Ga., signed a scholarship with the Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets after a fine prep career at College Park High School. At Georgia Tech, Curry helped lead the Yellow Jackets to a 21-9-1 record and a Bluebonnet Bowl berth during his final three seasons.

Before his professional career was over 10 seasons later, Curry played at Green Bay (1965-66), Baltimore (1967-72), Houston (1973) and with the Los Angeles Rams (1974). Curry was a member of three Super Bowl teams and two National Football League Championship teams. A knee injury forced him to retire in 1975.

A year later, Curry was back at his alma mater as an assistant coach under Pepper Rodgers. Then in 1977, Curry returned to the pro ranks as an offensive line coach with the Green Bay Packers under former teammate Bart Starr. Curry answered Georgia Tech's call once again in 1980, this time as head football coach.

Facing a pair of daunting schedules, Curry and Tech turned in 1-9-1 and 1-10 records in 1980 and '81, before things began to change in 1982. During his final five years at Tech, Curry produced a 29-24-3 ledger which included a sparkling 9-2-1 season in 1985. The successful '85 campaign earned Tech an All-American Bowl bid and victory over Michigan State, 17-14. It was Georgia Tech's first bowl appearance since 1978.

Curry was named the 1985 Atlantic Coast Conference Coach of the Year by the Associated Press and ACC sportswriters, the 1987 SEC Coach of the Year by United Press International and the 1989 SEC Coach of the Year by AP and the Nashville Banner. Curry received a special honor after the 1989 season when he was named the Bobby Dodd National Coach of the Year, in honor of his former collegiate mentor.

Curry is a member of the NFL Former Players Advisory Committee and is serving his second term on the AFCA Ethics Committee. Last February, He was inducted into the Georgia Sports Hall of Fame.

Curry is married to the former Carolyn Newton of College Park, Ga. Carolyn has a Ph.D. in history and has taught at UK. They have two children — Kristin, 25, and Billy, 21.

The University of Kentucky

A Tradition of Value

rom its modest beginnings in 1865, when it was known as State College, the University of Kentucky has grown into one of the nation's most outstanding institutions of higher learning. As a comprehensive land-grant university, UK offers an educational experience that cannot be matched anywhere in the Commonwealth. In fact, only a small number of institutions across the nation can offer the wealth of opportunities that awaits students at UK. At Kentucky, there is a Tradition of Value.

University History

UK was founded in 1865 as a land-grant institution, and the present name dates to 1916. The Lexington campus has 673 acres. Dr. Charles T. Wethington, Jr. is UK's 10th president.

Students

The University of Kentucky now has more than 70,000 students with 24,000 on the Lexington campus and 46,000 at the 14 community colleges across the state. UK now educates 38 percent of all students in Kentucky attending a public or private college or university. There are 5,000 students enrolled in graduate school with 92 master's and 57 doctoral programs offered.

Faculty

There are 1,658 full-time faculty on the Lexington campus and another 1,114 faculty in the community colleges. Faculty brought in $92 million in grants, contracts and gifts to the University during the last academic year, a 32 percent increase over the previous year.

Academic Programs

Currently, there are 32 academic colleges and a graduate school. Students have a choice of 96 undergraduate majors from which to choose. The University is recommended in five publications for its value in providing higher education.

Research

UK ranks among the Top 100 research institutions in the nation, and is one of only 45 public universities in the United States — the only one in Kentucky — to be classified as a Research University of the First Class.

Medical Center

The Albert B. Chandler Medical Center, including a 461-bed hospital, is located on the campus in Lexington. More than 2,700 students are enrolled in its five colleges — medicine, dentistry, nursing, pharmacy and allied health professions.

Library

The UK Library System contains more than two-million volumes and is interconnected by computer with each of the 14 community colleges. The Library is ranked 53rd among all university research libraries in the U.S. and the University has announced plans to build a new $58 million state-of-the-art facility.

Sports

With the addition of men's and women's soccer last year, the current number of University of Kentucky sports on the varsity level is 19 — nine men's sports, nine women's sports and one coed sport. The men's sports consist of football, basketball, baseball, cross country, indoor/outdoor track, tennis, swimming, golf and soccer. For the women, UK sponsors basketball, volleyball, swimming, soccer, golf, tennis, gymnastics, cross country and indoor/outdoor track on the varsity level. The single coed sport is rifle.

Thinking Caps.

Wildcat Football. It's hard-hitting, physical, competitive...and smart. On and off the field, the student athletes and coaches know that winning takes more than talent and physical effort. It takes mental preparation.

You have to anticipate the other team's moves. You have to plan your own offensive and defensive plays. And you have to learn how best to use your talents and abilities to reach your goals. It's this type of thinking that directs all your physical efforts into achieving success in football...and in business.

Southern States applies the same mental process in cultivating innovations to serve the constantly changing needs of our farm, home and garden customers in 131 Kentucky communities. Supported by 13 wholesale and manufacturing facilities across the state, our local dealer/store network is committed to delivering only the highest quality products and services. From GrowMaster® Crop Services to petroleum, from horse and livestock feed to pet foods, and from lawn care products to grain marketing, Southern States is continually thinking of new and better ways to serve you.

Southern States is proud to support the "thinking game" behind U.K. Football because success has always been something worth thinking about.

C.M. Newton

Director of Athletics

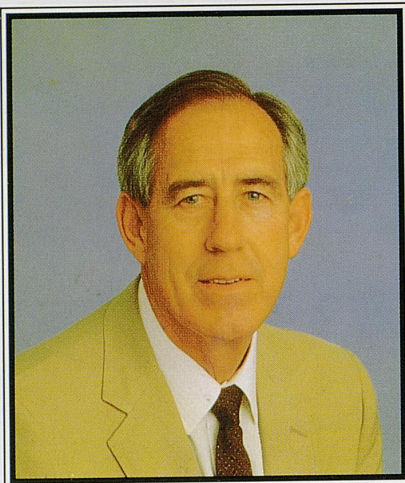

When Charles Martin (C.M.) Newton became the University of Kentucky's seventh director of athletics April 1, 1989, he hit the ground running.

After a little more than three years on the job, Newton has become one of the most popular public figures in the Commonwealth of Kentucky. In addition to a lengthy, impressive list of credentials, Newton brought to Kentucky a sparkling reputation of integrity at a crucial time in the history of UK athletics. In accepting the position at his alma mater, Newton summarized his goals and objectives by saying, "I have a resolve to try very hard to continue that great tradition, and at the same time, to totally do it within the NCAA and SEC rules and not sacrifice the academic integrity of this University."

He capped an illustrious basketball coaching career by leading his 1988-89 Vanderbilt University squad to a 19-14 record, a second-place SEC finish and its second consecutive NCAA tournament appearance. He was named SEC Coach of the Year by the Associated Press and received the Kodak NABC District IV Coach-of-the-Year award.

Newton served as head basketball coach and associate athletics director at Vanderbilt (1982-89), compiling a 129-115 overall record. In 32 years of coaching at Transylvania, Alabama and Vandy, Newton compiled a 509-375 overall record, ranking him among the top 10 active coaches in the game in terms of total victories at the close of the 1988-89 season. Newton's Alabama teams won three consecutive Southeastern Conference championships and more games than any other coach in Crimson Tide history. He ranks second in career victories in Southeastern Conference games behind his mentor, Adolph Rupp.

Perhaps more impressive, however, was Newton's ability to produce winning teams that also possessed exceptional academic credentials. During Newton's tenure at Vanderbilt, 18 Commodores were named to the Academic All-SEC team — over 50 percent more than any other league school. And including his last graduating class, all 21 seniors received their diplomas.

Newton is highly regarded on the national level. He has served on the board of directors of the National Association of Basketball Coaches. He worked six years on the NCAA Basketball Rules Committee, serving as chairman for five years. He currently serves as vice president of USA Basketball, the nation's governing body for international basketball, and as chairman of its Games Committee, which is responsible for all international competition, including the Olympic Games.

Newton has literally circled the globe to promote basketball. He served as team manager — a combination coaching and administrative position — on the 1984 U.S. Olympic team that won the gold medal.

In 1983 and 1987, Newton took his Vanderbilt squads to the Republic of China (Taiwan) to represent the United States in the R. William Jones Cup International Tournament, winning the gold medal in 1983 and the silver in 1987. He has conducted coaching clinics in numerous countries.

After playing on the 1951 national champion Kentucky Wildcat squad and pitching in the New York Yankees' minor league system, Newton began coaching at Transylvania College (now Transylvania University) in Lexington.

In 1969, once again with the backing of Rupp, Newton took on the challenge of building the downtrodden Alabama basketball program. During his 12-year tenure, Newton orchestrated a turnaround in the Crimson Tide's basketball fortunes, compiling a 211-123 record.

With few horizons left to conquer at Alabama, Newton resigned at the end of the 1980 season to accept a job as assistant commissioner of the Southeastern Conference. A year later, when Vanderbilt athletics director Roy Kramer was searching for a coach of national stature to head the Commodore basketball program, Newton was the obvious man for the job.

Newton was born in Rockwood, Tenn. He grew up in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where he was eventually named a charter member of that city's Sports Hall of Fame, along with Chris Evert, Julius Boros and the late Brian Piccolo.

Newton and his wife, Evelyn, have three grown children — Martin, Deborah and Tracy — and four grandchildren.

LARRY NEW Defensive Coordinator

Daryl Dickey is in his third season at UK. His responsibilities include coaching the UK quarterbacks and coordinating film exchange with opponents.

Dickey, 31, is in his fourth year as a collegiate assistant coach.

Most Kentuckians remember Dickey from his collegiate days as quarterback of the Tennessee Volunteers. In 1985, Dickey helped lead the Vols to a 9-1-2 record and the Southeastern Conference title. He was named most valuable player in the 1986 USF&G Sugar Bowl after engineering Tennessee's 35-7 victory over Miami (Fla.).

Following a brief stint with the San Diego Chargers of the National Football League, Dickey returned to his alma mater as a graduate assistant coach for two years (1987-88).

He then moved to Florida State, where he coached quarterback Peter Tom Willis during the 1989 season. Dickey helped Willis earn a No. 7 ranking nationally in total offense and passing efficiency while Florida State went 10-2.

Under Dickey, Kentucky threw for 2,151 yards in 1990 and 2,017 yards in 1991 — second and third, respectively, on the Kentucky season charts.

Bill Glaser is in his 16th season as an assistant football coach at the University of Kentucky and his 17th as a collegiate coach. His responsibilities include coaching defensive tackles and nose guards, coordinating special teams, and coordinating the annual Bill Curry Football Camp each summer.

Glaser, 49, came to Kentucky in 1977 from Morehead State. He has worked for three head coaches at UK — Fran Curci, Jerry Claiborne and Curry. Glaser was the only full-time UK assistant retained by both Claiborne and Curry.

After graduating in 1965 from Bellarmine College, Glaser began coaching at St. Xavier High School, his alma mater, as an assistant football and baseball coach. He was named head football coach in 1974 and led St. Xavier to consecutive state titles and a two-year slate of 25-0.

Glaser was named defensive coordinator at Morehead State in 1976, where he completed work on a master's degree. A year later, he moved to UK as defensive line coach under Curci. In the Claiborne era, Glaser coached the UK defensive guards.

Tommy Limbaugh is serving in his second season as assistant head football coach and his third campaign as football recruiting coordinator at UK. On the field, Limbaugh will serve as full-time assistant coach in charge of the tight ends.

Overall, Limbaugh enters his 18th year in intercollegiate athletics and his 10th season as a college assistant coach. He was the first member to be named to Curry's staff at UK.

The Wildcats recruiting under Limbaugh has gained national attention. In fact, the 1991 UK signee class rated 13th in the country by National High School Football Magazine (Max Emfinger). The 1992 class was rated 19th by the same publication.

Limbaugh comes to UK from Alabama, where he had been associate athletics director since 1988, after being named assistant AD the previous year.

The 1967 Alabama graduate got his start in the college football coaching ranks as an assistant to Steve Sloan at Texas Tech (1975-77). He then served as administrative assistant and recruiting coordinator during Sloan's next two stops — Ole Miss (1978-82) and Duke (1983-86).

Larry New is in his third season as defensive coordinator at Kentucky, his 28th coaching the college game. He also coaches field goal/block teams, inside linebackers and bandits, and serves as off-season conditioning liaison.

New came to UK from Alabama, where he was a defensive line coach for three years under Bill Curry.

He lettered two seasons (1962-63) as nose guard at Illinois. He helped the Illini to a 17-7 victory over Washington in the 1964 Rose Bowl.

New began coaching at Wheaton College as a defensive coordinator in 1965. After three years at Wheaton, New moved to the Division I level and joined Dan Devine's staff as defensive line coach at Missouri (1968-70), then worked with Frank Broyles in the same capacity at Arkansas (1971-74).

In 1975, New began a seven-year stint under Jim Carlen at South Carolina. New served as defensive line coach for the Gamecocks.

New joined Curry at Georgia Tech in 1982 as defensive line coach. He remained on Curry's staff through 1986 at Georgia Tech and for three years at Alabama before heading to the University of Kentucky in 1990.

Joker Phillips begins his second season as an assistant coach at Kentucky. His responsibilities include coaching flankers and split ends, along with the kickoff return team.

Phillips, a 1986 graduate of Kentucky, was a four-year letterman as a wide receiver. During his career (1981-84), Kentucky appeared in the 1983 and '84 Hall of Fame Bowls. Phillips' best season was 1984, when he grabbed 28 receptions for 305 yards and five touchdowns. Currently, Phillips ranks sixth on the UK career reception list with 75 catches for 935 yards and nine touchdowns.

He played briefly in the National Football League and the Canadian Football League and was a member of the 1987 Washington Redskins team which won Super Bowl XXII.

Phillips began his coaching career as a graduate assistant coach at Kentucky (1988-89) under Jerry Claiborne and was responsible for the receivers. In 1990, he was named assistant recruiting coordinator under Bill Curry. He also worked with UK recruiting coordinator Tommy Limbaugh and coordinated the Wildcats' walk-on program.

Rick Rhoades is in his second season as offensive coordinator and his third year at Kentucky. This is his 12th season in collegiate coaching.

After lettering four years in football and baseball at Central Missouri State, Rhoades, 44, embarked on a high school coaching career at Mountain Brook in Birmingham, Ala. His 1976 squad captured the state title with a 14-0 record.

In 1981, Rhoades moved to the collegiate level as offensive coordinator at North Alabama.

He moved to Troy State as defensive coordinator in 1983, before being named head coach at that school. His three-year head coaching stint produced an NCAA Division II national championship in 1987, earning Rhoades National Coach of the Year honors as chosen by the American Football Coaches Association and The Sporting News.

In 1988, Rhoades moved on to Division I-AA Southern Illinois at Carbondale as its head coach. A year later, he joined Bill Curry at Alabama as the offensive tackles and ends coach. The following year, he moved to Kentucky.

Don Riley is in his first season as an assistant football coach at UK and 28th season in college football. In addition to directing the offensive line, Riley also coordinates the field goal/PAT teams.

The 1956 graduate of East Tennessee State comes to Kentucky from his alma mater, where he spent the past four years as head football coach.

Riley began his coaching career in 1956 as head football coach at his prep alma mater, Lynch High School. After three years, Riley moved to East Tennessee State for one year as a graduate assistant coach. After five more years in the high school ranks, Riley took an assistant spot at Vanderbilt in 1966. He accepted another assistant coaching job in 1972 at Oklahoma State.

In 1976, Riley began a 12-year stint as the offensive line coach at UCLA under Terry Donahue. He was part of the Bruin program which posted a 98-36-7 record during that span, including a 6-2-1 record in nine bowl appearances. When he left for East Tennessee State, Riley was the only assistant to remain from the original 1976 Donahue staff.

Lovie Smith is in his first year as assistant football coach with the Wildcats and his 10th season in college coaching. In addition to coaching strikes and ends, Smith, 34, also coordinates the punt return and punt block teams.

The 1980 Tulsa graduate comes to Kentucky from Arizona State, where he served four years as assistant coach under Larry Mamie.

Smith began his coaching career in 1980 as an assistant coach at his prep alma mater, Big Sandy (Texas) High School. After one season, Smith accepted a similar position at Cascia High School in Tulsa, Okla. In 1982 Smith worked as a teacher of special education in the Town and Country School in Tulsa.

In 1983 he joined the Tulsa football staff as outside linebackers coach. Smith remained at Tulsa for four seasons before following Don Morton to Wisconsin in 1987 and serving there as outside linebackers and kicking game coach.

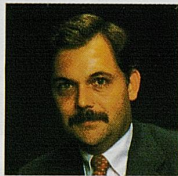

Smith was an exceptional linebacker in his playing days, earning all-state honors three times at Big Sandy and All-America accolades twice while at Tulsa.

New York Life is large, conservative, and dull. Reassuring in times like these, isn't it?

Things are a bit shaky these days in the financial world. Investors are getting a lot less adventuresome. And words like "stability" and "security" are coming back into vogue.

To some, of course, this is just the current economic trend. But at New York Life, we've had a conservative investment policy for 147 years.

A policy that, over the years, has allowed New York Life to amass assets under management of more than $50 billion. And why 95 percent of the bonds in our portfolio are investment grade.*

Does that make us large and conservative? We should say so. And as for dull, well, we look at it this way: If being exciting means investing heavily in junk bonds that end up in default, that's the kind of excitement we can all do without.

RICK SMITH

JACK FLIGG
Assistant Athletics Director/
Football Operations

Rick Smith is in his third season at UK, his 13th overall as a collegiate assistant coach. He is responsible for coaching the defensive backs and kick coverage teams.

He comes to Kentucky from Baylor, where he was defensive backfield coach for three years.

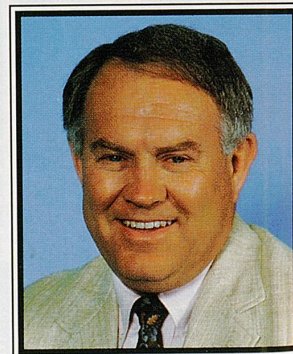

Smith, 44, began coaching football at Godbey High School in Tallahassee, Fla., in 1970, a year before he graduated from Florida State University. After three years at Godbey, Smith was named athletics director/head football coach at Wakulla (Fla.) High School in 1973.

Four years later, Smith served a year as head junior varsity football coach at Georgia Tech. The following year, he served as an assistant coach at East Tennessee State.

His final high school job began in 1979 at Marianna (Fla.) High. Smith again doubled as AD/head football coach at Marianna through the spring of 1982, when he left for Georgia Tech to become Bill Curry's defensive backfield coach. In 1986, Smith moved to Alabama under Ray Perkins for one year.

Smith moved to Baylor in 1987, and the Baylor secondary quickly became one of the most respected units in the nation.

Jack Fligg is in his second year as assistant athletics director for football operations after serving one year as UK Football administrative assistant. This is his 27th year in intercollegiate athletics, including stints at Georgia Tech, West Virginia, Texas Tech, South Carolina and Alabama.

John Cropp is in his first year as recruiting coordinator for the UK Athletics Association, after serving one year as assistant coach with the UK Football program and spending nearly 20 years in collegiate assistant coaching. He is a 1961 graduate of Vanderbilt.

Commonwealth Stadium

Home of the Kentucky Wildcats

a 68-47-4 record and .588 winning percentage. The Wildcats have averaged 55,183 spectators for contests at Commonwealth since its inception. In total, 6,566,789 spectators have witnessed Kentucky football at Commonwealth Stadium — that's about 1.7 times the population of Kentucky.

Commonwealth Stadium can officially seat 57,800 fans, though standing-room only crowds exceed that figure. Most sat but many of the stadium-record 58,345 spectators stood to watch the Wildcats defeat Mississippi State, 33-19, Oct. 12, 1985.

UK plans to eventually enclose the south end of Commonwealth Stadium to bring its capacity to 72,000. The addition of luxury suites and boxes is also in the plans.

hen it comes to football, Kentucky-style, there is certainly no better place than home — Commonwealth Stadium.

The stadium was built in 1973 at a cost of $12 million by the firm of Huber, Hunt and Nichols, Inc. Commonwealth, including parking areas, rests on an 86-acre plot of what was once the UK Experimental Station Farm grounds.

The stadium took on a new look in 1990 with the addition of a $600,000 scoreboard and message center located in the north end zone. The scoreboard is 19 by 78 feet in size, almost 3.5 times the size of the original scoreboards which had been in place since 1973.

The stadium was officially opened September 15, 1973. The Wildcats moved into their new home after spending 48 years at Stoll Field/McLean Stadium across from Memorial Coliseum. Kentucky defeated Virginia Tech in the stadium-opener, 31-26, behind three touchdowns by quarterback Ernie Lewis.

Since its opening, Kentucky has fashioned

Alumni Notes

President Wethington Among Alumni Service Award Recipients

BY KAY JOHNSON
UK Alumni Association

Alumni Service Awards were presented to four outstanding alumni, and one non-alumnus, at this year's annual Summer Workshop.

Alumni Association Service Awards have been presented annually since 1961 to recognize people who have given "above and beyond" the norm. Only 125 people have received the award.

This year's award winners include Dr. Charles T. Wethington Jr., president of the University of Kentucky, who received his bachelor's degree from UK in 1962. In addition to Wethington are Kay Shropshire Bell of Georgetown, John R. "Jack" Guthrie of Louisville, and William I. Mason of Tampa, Fla. The non-alumnus recipient is Bill Keightley of Lexington.

Wethington, recognized as a long-time friend of the Alumni Association, has a history of leadership and loyalty that has strengthened higher education in the state, and especially at UK. His service began in the '60s — first as a professor at UK and then as director of Maysville Community College. For over 20 years he has been willing to go anywhere, in state or out, to speak to alumni clubs. He successfully directed the university's lobbying efforts in the critical '80s, including the involvement of alumni, staff and faculty during the Frankfort and statewide higher education rallies.

Now as president, he is leading the University of Kentucky through difficult budget times as well as through a successful library fund-raising campaign.

Bell '63 is a businesswoman and farmer who has served the Alumni Association and UK as a diligent volunteer. During her tenure on the alumni board of directors, spanning almost 12 years, she has served as chair of both the Great Teacher and the Alumni Service Award Committees. She is now one of two alumni-designated members serving on the University of Kentucky Board of Trustees.

Guthrie '63 has been a member of the Jefferson County Club steering committee since 1967 and has served as club president. He is owner of Jack Guthrie and Associates, a public relations firm in Louisville. After serving three terms on the Alumni Association board of directors he was named president of the organization in 1988. He is president-elect of one of the association's newest constituent groups, the UK School of Journalism.

Mason '59 is a graduate of the College of Engineering. He owns his own company — Condenser Products Corporation in Tampa, Fla. Past president of the Tampa Bay Alumni Club, he is on the alumni association board of directors, and has also been involved in development work for the university and the Athletics Association.

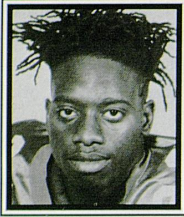

Keightley has served the UK basketball program for 30 years through his work as equipment manager. He has assisted in arranging for team and coach visits to alumni events, and is the gentleman who saw to it that the association had basketballs signed by coaches and players for use in scholarship fund-raising efforts. Keightley has acted as a role-model for student-athletes with his example of what UK basketball is all about.

INNOVATION

The EIMCO 2810-1 LOW SEAM MINER coupled with the EIMCO 5810 COAL HAULER is like...having your cake and eating it too... the cat's pajamas...or as many customers have said about owning EIMCO equipment...It just doesn't get any better than this.

The 2810-1 and 5810 have been designed in the image of our rugged, proven, and highly productive 2810 mid-seam miner and our market leading 580 series shield haulers. The 2810-1, formerly designated the 2810L low seam miner, has shown during the last year that it is unsurpassed in cutting and loading record setting production in some of the toughest conditions available.

• A 36" wide conveyor • 350 cutterhead horsepower • patented pass through scrubber ductwork • fiber optic radio remote control and • 20" wide forged crawlers prove that the -1 miner is the low seam miner of the future!

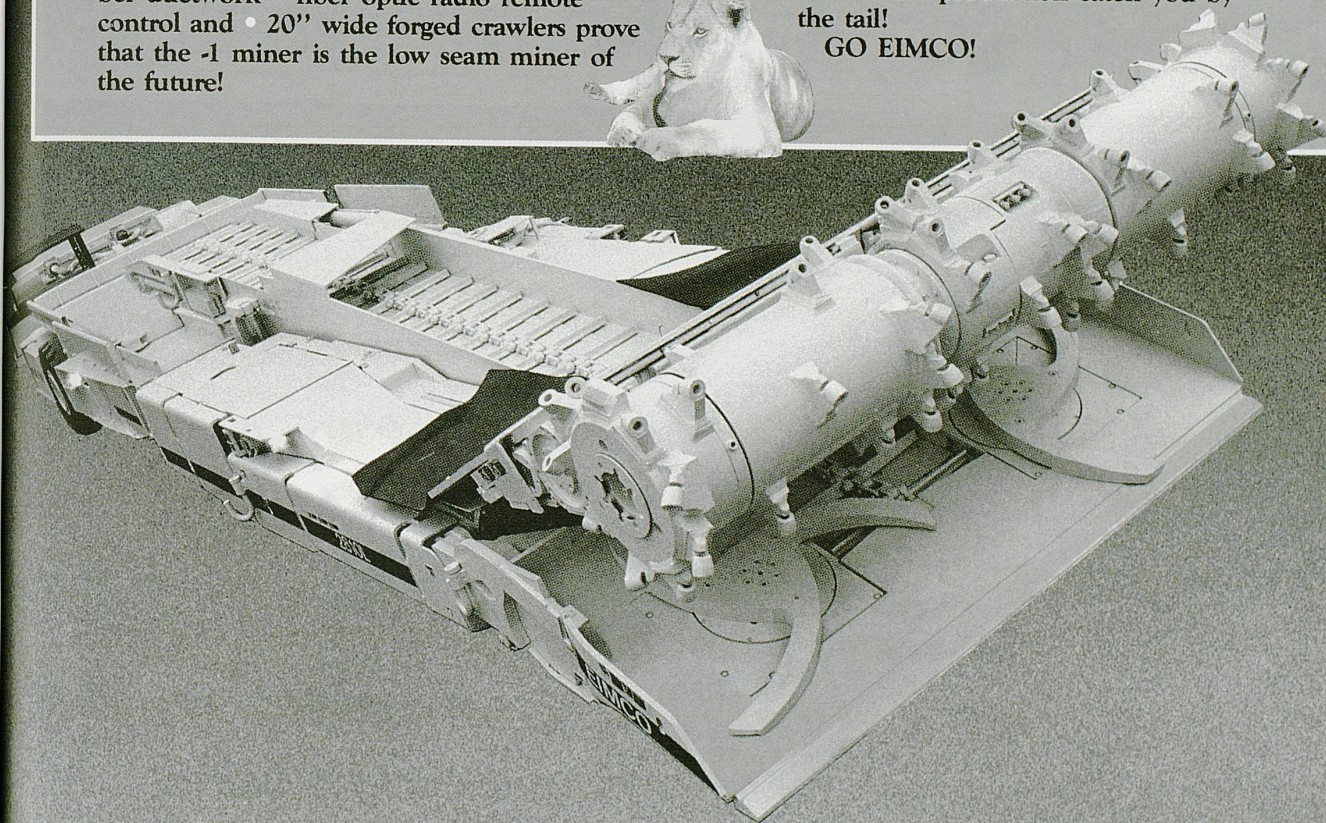

The age old problem of limited flexibility and long haulage cycle times in low and medium seams has now been solved by the introduction of the EIMCO 5810 BATTERY COAL HAULER.

Available in 2-wheel drive or 4-wheel on-demand versions, the 5810 is loaded with features previously unavailable until this time in the coal hauler market.

- A ground base battery changer that does not require battery stands or crib blocks
- front and rear equidistant axles for true tracking
- offset front and rear wheels to limit damage to soft bottom conditions
- 90° crosscut negotiation from 16 foot wide entries
- 12 ton haulage capacity with an industry leading discharge rate.

Don't let low production catch you by the tail!

UK Football Network

Newcomer
Charlie
McAlexander
(L) joins Ralph Hacker for the 1992 season of Big Blue Football.

The University of Kentucky will again package one of the most comprehensive radio and television networks among Division I-A institutions.

Sports Communications, Inc., which owns the radio rights for UK football and basketball, has constructed a massive network. WVLK-AM/FM of Lexington will once again serve as the flagship station for the UK Football Radio Network. The feature attraction of the network is clear-channel WHAS (840 AM) of Louisville. WHAS, a 50,000-watt radio station, blankets over two-thirds of the U.S. and can be heard in 40 states.

The UK Football Television Network features full-game, tape-delay action of all Wildcats home football games which are not televised by a network affiliated with the CFA Package. The Network is also one of the nation's largest. Sports Communications, Inc., administers the network with WKYT-TV of Lexington as the telecast's producer.

Both the radio and television networks take on a new look this fall after the retirement of legendary play-by-play announcer Cawood Ledford.

This fall, Ralph Hacker will step to the play-by-play microphone on the UK Radio Network. The president and general manager of Lexington radio station WVLK-AM/FM is joined by newcomer Charlie McAlexander, a 14-year veteran as the Vanderbilt play-by-play announcer, WKYT-TV's Dave Baker and WKYT-TV sports manager Dick Gabriel, who doubles as sideline reporter for both radio and television networks.

On television, McAlexander serves as play-by-play man with WKYT-TV sports anchor Rob Bromley providing color commentary with Gabriel reporting.

Practice Facilities

E.J. Nutter Center

One of the nation's showcase football facilities rests on the southeast corner of the University of Kentucky campus.

Indeed, the ultra-modern E.J. Nutter Football Training Facility ranks among the best in the nation. Built at a cost of $5.7 million, the facility officially became the home of Kentucky Wildcat football in September 1987.

The Nutter Center, as it is called on the UK campus, encompasses more than 48,000 square feet and is built adjacent to the Shively Sports Complex.

The Wildcat facility is named after Ervin J. Nutter, a UK alumnus who contributed $1 million to get the fund-raising campaign started for the construction to begin. The Nutter gift to the UK Athletics Association is the largest single grant ever received by the Association.

Aside from new dressing facilities, which feature large, personal lockers for every Kentucky football player, the Nutter Center is highlighted by a 9,000-square foot weight room with more than 100,000 pounds of equipment. The center also houses 11 meeting rooms, a state-of-the-art video and editing room for coaches' film, equipment and training rooms, staff and player lounges, an interview area, a 60-yard sprint track, sauna and jacuzzi, an aerobic exercise room and three racquetball courts.

A touch of Kentucky football tradition and history is on display in the foyer area.

The memorabilia case holds UK trophies from the Great Lakes, Sugar, Cotton, Peach and Hall of Fame Bowls, as well as the 1950 and 1976 SEC championship trophies.

"It is a privilege to get to work in a facility such as this every day," said UK coach Bill Curry. "The planning and design with the student-athletes at heart is what we're about today."

New Fieldhouse

The University of Kentucky's new indoor practice facility, available to all UK athletic teams for poor-weather practice, is now under construction. It will be located in the southeast section of the University of Kentucky campus, adjacent to Commonwealth Stadium. The site is the current game-day Yellow parking lot which is behind the South (Tates Creek Road) end zone.

The facility, built at an estimated cost of $8,500,000, will encompass approximately 132,000 square feet of space (the Nutter Center structure is 48,000 square feet). Its height will be 65 feet at its apex.

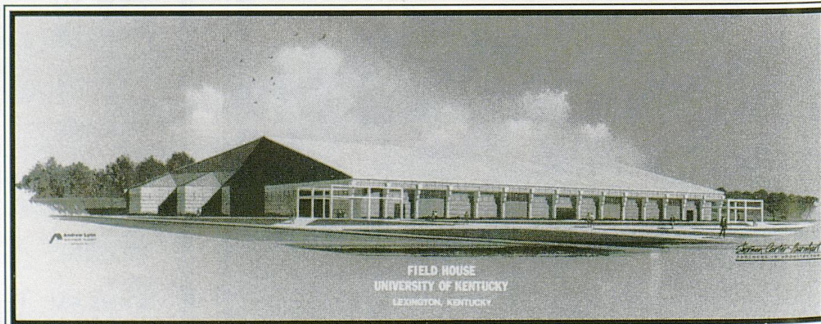

Kentucky's newest multi-sport training center will include an actual playing field area of 108,000 square feet (450 x 240); a full-size artificial turf football field; a six-lane, 317-yard track (290 meters); areas for track and field events (high jump, pole vault, shot put); a Computerized Net System which forms baseball batting cages; portable nets for a golf driving range; a gymnastics room of 9,000 square feet; men's and women's transient locker rooms; storage area of 4,000 square feet; gymnastics, track and building operator's offices and lobby totaling 3,000 square feet.

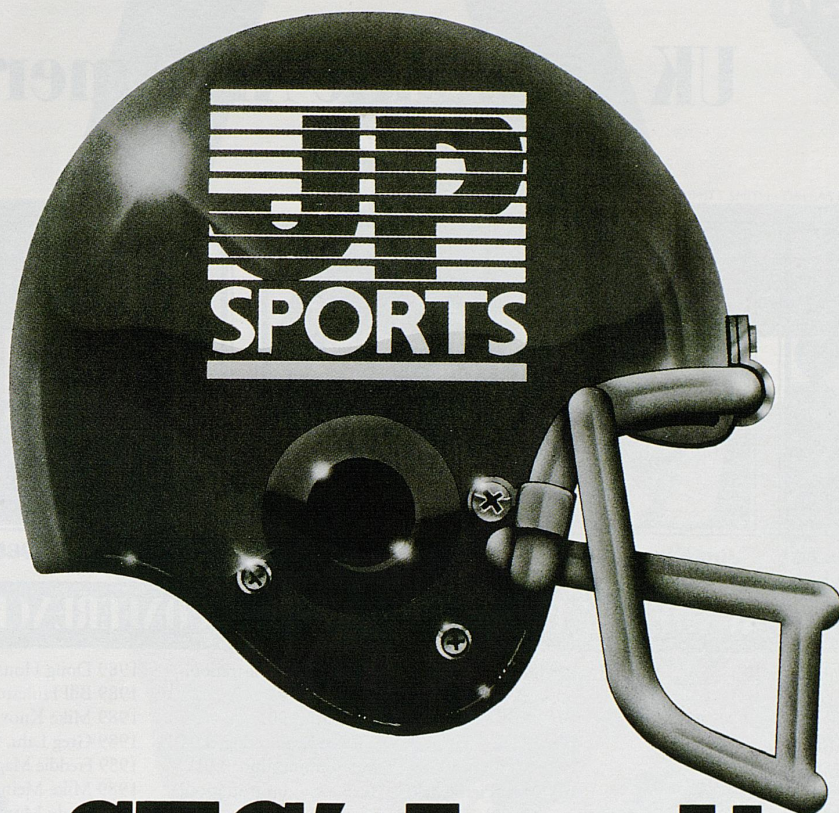

The building's height (65 feet) and netting system will allow punting and placement kicks for football practice. The average indoor track size across the country is 200 meters while the UK indoor track will be approximately 290 meters. The unique netting system will also allow for two full baseball infields.

Construction on the new facility began November 4, 1991 and the building is scheduled for completion in December 1992.

The E.J. Nutter Center is a state-of-the-art training facility.

UK's new fieldhouse should be finished this December.

Center For Academic And Tutorial Services

he University of Kentucky keeps the term "student-athlete" in the proper perspective — student first, athlete second.

For that reason, the University of Kentucky

Athletics Association opened the nation's first academic center for student-athletes in 1981. The academic center is simply known as CATS — Center for Academic & Tutorial Services.

CATS is located inside Memorial Coliseum. The center, designed with the student-athlete in mind, contains a large general study area, along with several smaller rooms used for tutoring.

CATS expanded during the 1990-91 academic year and added a language library, additional tutoring rooms, a media center and a new computer facility.

"Our CATS is one of the best academic services in the land and that's based on results," UK coach Bill Curry said. "For Kentucky to be up there with Duke and Virginia and Notre Dame is a real tribute to first, the student-athletes, but also to our academic support staff headed by Bob Bradley."

Kentucky is in league with the aforementioned schools in winning the College Football Association Academic Achievement Award, given to the CFA school whose program has achieved the highest graduation rate in the nation. Kentucky won the honor in 1989 after graduating 90 percent of its 1983 freshman class. Kentucky is the only Southeastern Conference school to have won the award.

"We get more response from parents who visit us on the CATS program than any other part of our program," Curry said. "Parents are really excited about it."

Curry is also excited about the combined effort former UK coach Jerry Claiborne and his staff put forth during their tenure. Since 1980, Kentucky has placed 97 players on the All-Southeastern Conference Honor Roll — more than any league school in that period. In 1989, the Wildcats set a conference record with 17 players named to the SEC Honor Roll. And during the 1992 spring semester, UK football placed 24 players on the Athletics Director's Honor Roll on campus.

"With winning the CFA award and leading the SEC in Honor Roll picks, it certainly let everyone know we were serious, and still are serious, about making sure our athletes receive their degree," Claiborne said. "A lot of the credit goes to our CATS Center staff. They do an excellent job in monitoring our student-athletes' academic progress from day one."

Bob Bradley, Assistant Athletics Director for Academics, supervises the CATS program. Bradley is assisted by Barbara CATS helps UK student-athletes to success off the field.

UK has led the SEC in academic honors since 1980.

Deniston, Director of Student-Athlete Development, her assistant, Sheila Breeding, and two Academic Counselors, Mike Jenkins and Mike Haley. CATS also employs six graduate assistants and numerous tutors, both from the University and surrounding community. Currently, the UKAA budgets close to $500,000 per year for CATS.

"We are extremely proud of what we have accomplished in the academic arena," Bradley said. "The CATS program is focused on winning in the classroom. We look at each student-athlete's individual needs, set goals and develop strategies to attain those goals. Our center (CATS) provides our student-athletes with a definite advantage over student-athletes at many other institutions."

Bradley also says it helps to have head coaches like Claiborne and Curry that place such a strong emphasis on academics.

"We talk about championship performance, we expect championship academics, too."

— Bill Curry

"Many support systems across the nation do an excellent job at helping their student-athletes," Bradley said. "I have been blessed at Kentucky in having Jerry Claiborne. He really believed in the student-athlete concept. The same holds true for Bill Curry. We are in total sync in the business of educating our student-athletes."

The philosophy at the University of Kentucky is this: Colleges should be able to afford the student-athlete every opportunity to succeed not only in athletics, but in academics as well. Looking at recent statistics in Academic Honor Roll selections and graduation rates, Kentucky is standing by its philosophy.

"We will continue to support our academic staff to the hilt," Curry said. "We're very excited about the work Bob Bradley and his staff have done. We will not accept anything less from our players. We talk about championship performance, we expect championship in academics, too."

Football Traditions

Blue and White

he University of Kentucky adopted blue and white as its official colors in 1892. UK students had first decided on blue and light yellow before the Kentucky-Centre football game Dec. 19, 1891. The yellow was soon dropped from the combination and replaced by white.

The particular Kentucky shade of blue, close to royal blue, was determined without ceremony. After settling on the base colors, a student posed the logical question, "What color blue?" Letterman Richard Stoll looked down at his necktie and raised it to the air. The vote was unanimous.

And so Kentucky Blue is really Stoll necktie blue.

Nickname

The official nickname of University of Kentucky athletic teams is "Wildcats."

The name became synonymous with

UK shortly after a 6-2 victory over Illinois on October 9, 1909. Commandant Carbusier, then head of the military department of old State University, told a group of students in a chapel service following the game that the Kentucky football team had "fought like wildcats."

The moniker "Wildcats" became increasingly popular among UK followers and the media. The University has since adopted it as its official nickname.

Wildcat Mascot

The Wildcat mascot originated during the 1976-77 academic year at the University of Kentucky. Gary Tanner was the first Wildcat to dance and entertain crowds at Commonwealth Stadium and Rupp Arena during athletic events. Today the Wildcat mascot also attends academic functions and serves as a friendly ambassador for the University.

In the early 1980s, Wildcat mascot Terry Barney began the tradition of doing a one-armed pushup for each of Kentucky's points in front of the student section after every Wildcat score.

Battle for the Beer Barrel

The Beer Barrel, painted blue, orange and white, is the prize awarded each year to the winner of the Kentucky-Tennessee football game. The first barrel was awarded in 1925. Two Wildcat supporters, Guy Hugelot and Rollie M. Guthrie, wanted to produce something to symbolize the fierce rivalry between the two schools.

A whiskey barrel was to be the original trophy, until the Women's Christian Temperance Union ruled it out. A beer barrel was more acceptable to the ladies.

But there was still the problem of Prohibition and the Anti-saloon League, which voiced displeasure at such a trophy. But the resourceful Hugelot and Guthrie appeased all parties by painting "Ice Water" on the barrel.

Kentucky has won the barrel 23 times in the 87-game series.

Battle for the Bourbon Barrel

The Bourbon Barrel is awarded to the winner of the Kentucky-Indiana football game. The series, which was renewed in 1967 after a 40-year break, began in 1893. No one is certain of the origin of this unusual trophy. Some think the blue-and red-striped barrel represents the distillery industry in Kentucky and southern Indiana. Indiana leads the series, 14-7-1, but Kentucky has won four of the last seven outings. Both schools have signed a contract to meet each year through 2000.

The Wildcat has been UK's friendly ambassador since 1976.

The battle for the Bourbon Barrel has raged since 1893.

Consistent Performance

"The mark of a great football player is the ability to deliver consistent performance. When you need an extra yard, you can count on that player to get it for you.

"I look at long distance phone service the same way. You've got to have service that doesn't take a second thought.

"That's why I use TMC Long Distance. With TMC, I know my call comes through crystal clear every time. Plus, TMC can save me up to 40% on my long distance bills.

"Consistent performance is what I look for in a football player, and it's what I look for in my long distance phone service. That's why I use TMC Long Distance."

THE POWER IS ON

UK Songs

On, On, U of K

On, on, U of K, we are right for the fight today,
Hold that ball and hit that line; Ev'ry
Wildcat star will shine;
We'll fight, fight, fight, for the blue and white
As we roll to that goal, Varsity,
And we'll kick, pass and run, 'till the battle is won,
And we'll bring home the victory.

My Old Kentucky Home

The sun shines bright on the old Kentucky
home,
'Tis summer, the people are gay;
The corntop's ripe and the meadows in the bloom,
While the birds make music all day.

(Chorus)

*Weep no more, my lady,
Oh! Weep no more, today!
We will sing one song for my old Kentucky
home,
For my old Kentucky home far away.*

The young folks roll on the little cabin floor,
All merry, all happy, and bright;
By-n-by hard times come a-knocking at the door,
Then, my old Kentucky home, good-night!

UK Alma Mater

Hail Kentucky, Alma Mater! Loyal sons and daughters sing;
Sounder her praise with voice united; To the breeze her colors fling.
To the blue and white be true; Badge
triumphant age on age;
Blue, the sky that o'er us bends; White,
Kentucky's stainless page.

Cheerleaders & Marching Band

The Color and Pageantry of UK Football

Two of the nation's best groups line up beside the Kentucky Wildcats on football Saturdays each fall: the award-winning University of Kentucky Cheerleaders and Marching Band.

Under the direction of T. Lynn Williamson, the UK Cheerleaders have become the model cheerleading squad in the United States. Four of the last eight years — including 1992 — UK has earned the national cheerleading title. They were runners-up in 1988 and 1990.

This squad's ability to help bring the Wildcat crowd into the games and its precision stunts have become a trademark and a source of pride for the University.

The University of Kentucky Marching Band is also recognized around the country, especially for its sophisticated sound and visual images through innovative drill writing.

Under Director of Bands James B. Campbell, Assistant Director Bradley P. Ethington and Drill Designer Gordon

Henderson, the UK Marching Band was one of the first in the nation to use computers exclusively for drill writing. An average halftime show will contain around 130,000 different moving sets for all members of the band, coordinated simultaneously with approximately 180,000 notes.

The University of Kentucky Marching Band numbers approximately 250, with members representing many different states.

The UK Band and Cheerleaders add color to gameday.

A FEW ARE KNOWN FOR THEIR DEDICATION

Dedication. The few who have it stand above the rest. That's true in sports. And in insurance.

For more than 70 years, we've been dedicated to helping Kentucky families and fans protect what's important to them. Good insurance value at fair prices to insure lives, homes, autos, property and businesses.

We received the first-ever Company Award of Excellence from the Professional Insurance Agents of Kentucky in 1991 for our service, support, and claims handling. In recognition of our continuing dedication to the people of Kentucky, we received the award again in 1992.

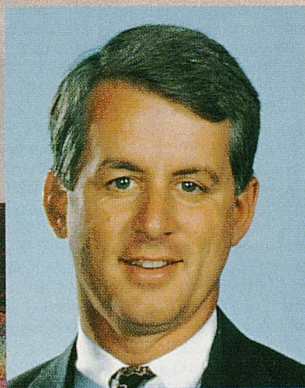

Let us prove our dedication to you. Ask your independent insurance agent about The Ohio Casualty Group for your personal, business and life insurance needs.

After more than 55 years of education, here's what we've learned.

For more than half a century, we've been involved in America's educational system. And through it all, we've learned many lessons. But what have the past 55-plus years really taught us?

First, that there are no overnight solutions. Improving America's competitiveness through education is a constant process. Which brings us to the second thing we know: that we need your help. To succeed, we must all be partners. By working together – by donating our time, our support, and by contributing our collective creativity and experience – we can once again make bright, well-trained minds America's most vital asset.

So join us in supporting our schools. Together, we have the power to improve America's educational system. Together, we have the power to improve the future.

TOM GENTRY FARM...The Winning Tradition Continues.

GOOD LUCK TO COACH CURRY & HIS WILDCATS!
