PREFACE

In the summer of 1938 the American Imprints Inventory of the Historical Records Survey Program undertook a survey of extant copies of early American imprints located in libraries and other depositories throughout the nation. More particularly, the purpose of the American Imprints Inventory is to make a complete record of printing and publishing in the continental United States since the establishment of the first American press, in 1639 at Cambridge, Massachusetts. Over 2,100,000 volumes have been examined in Tennessee, and of these, nearly 80,000 were found to be printed in the United States prior to 1877, the date limit for the survey. Of this total, the number of Tennessee imprints is approximately 1,200 different titles dating from 1793, three years before Tennessee's admission into the Union. In Tennessee, as in other states, the Historical Records Survey also is engaged in the preparation of inventories of county and municipal archives, church archives, manuscript depositories and collections, and in making transcripts of especially significant public records. Approximately 1,600 books have been published by the several state Historical Records Survey Projects. A list of publications of the Tennessee Survey appears in this volume.

This book, Check List of Tennessee Imprints, 1841-1850, is the second imprints publication prepared in Tennessee and the twentieth in the country. The orthodox practice has been for publications of the American Imprints Inventory to be prepared in the central editorial office of the imprints program in Chicago. The general pattern of check lists has consisted of listing all issues of the press of a particular state in chronological order and alphabetically thereunder; the holdings of depositories scattered throughout the country have been described. The first Tennessee imprints publication deviated from each of these principles. The List of Tennessee Imprints, 1793-1840, in Tennessee Libraries, published in the summer of 1941, was the first imprints publication prepared in a state editorial office of the Historical Records Survey, and, as indicated by its title, limited its coverage to holdings found only in Tennessee.

The Check List of Tennessee Imprints, 1841-1850, also was prepared by the Tennessee Historical Records Survey but returns to the national pattern in that all reported titles, irrespective of locations, are listed. Thus titles found in Tennessee libraries have been supplemented by titles located in other states. These titles have been furnished the Tennessee Historical Records Survey through the national clearing-house of the imprints program at Chicago. These titles have not, however, been checked with the Union Catalog of the Library of Congress for additional locations.

A third check list of Tennessee imprints, being prepared by the Chicago Office, is nearing completion. That check list, to be issued early in 1942, will supplement the List of Tennessee Imprints, 1793-1840, in Tennessee Libraries in that the holdings of Tennessee imprints for the period 1793-1840, regardless of location, will be listed.

Preface

This book lists 505 Tennessee titles found in some 37 states. Among them are a few held by private collectors. Each entry is a full description of the title page of a Tennessee imprint. Books for which no title pages were found are so designated by brief notations. Other pertinent information on certain titles also is included, following the pagination and measurement of the books. After every title paragraph a symbol for the collection in which a copy may be found is entered. A list of symbols designating the title of the library or owner of the imprint is included in this volume. A general subject index and an index to printers follow the listing; references in both are to entry number only.

The field work which resulted in the preparation of this book and preparation of the draft of this volume were under the supervision of George F. Bentley, former Imprints Editor of the Tennessee Survey, assisted by Edna Evans, Lucile Hosale, Belle H. Gaines, and Silas P. Grady. The draft was prepared in accordance with instructions of the Washington Office of the Historical Records Survey Program. It was reviewed by the editors in the Washington and Chicago Offices, headed by Wilhelmina E. Carothers, chief editor of the imprints program, and in the State by Robert Cassell. Typing and stencil cutting were done by Ona Mae Chilcutt, Helen P. Allen, and Patsy R. Floyd. Much of the field work in Tennessee was done while T. Marshall Jones, State Supervisor of Research and Records Programs, served as State Supervisor of the Survey, and while Dan Lacy, Assistant to the National Director, served as Regional Supervisor.

Grateful acknowledgment is made to all librarians and custodians of institutions whose holdings are represented in this book. Chief among this group is the staff of the Joint University Library of Nashville. Dr. A. F. Kuhlman, Director of the Library, has taken an active interest in the program of the Tennessee Survey and has assisted the program in many ways. Also invaluable has been the assistance of Mrs. Brainerd Cheney, Reference Librarian of the Joint University Library, and Miss Isabel Howell, Head of the Catalog Department. Grateful and particular acknowledgment is made to Mrs. John Trotwood Moore, State Librarian and Archivist; Miss Gladys Wiley, of the Tennessee State Library staff; Miss Lucile Deaderick, former head of the McClung Collection of the Lawson McGhee Library; Miss Helen M. Harris, Librarian of Lawson McGhee Library; and Miss Mary E. Baker, Librarian of the University of Tennessee. Acknowledged also are the efforts of the Historical Records Survey staffs in other states in making available many of the Tennessee titles listed in this volume.

Almanacs. Tennessee.

The Farmer's almanac, for the year of our Lord 1843: being the third after bissextile, or leap year, (containing 365 days,) and the 67th of the independence of the United States. Arranged after the system of German calendars. Calculated for the meridian of Knoxville, Tennessee; but will answer very well for Kentucky, Virginia, North Carolina, Alabama or Georgia. Astronomical calculations by Jas. Garvin, A. M., professor of mathematics, &c., in East Tennessee University. This is peculiarly a "Farmer's almanac," and contains a variety of matter particularly interesting and useful to the "Tiller of the soil." It shows the rising, setting and eclipses of the sun and moon; sun's declination, North and South; places [sic] and southing of the moon; aspects of the planets; rising, setting and southing of the most conspicuous planets and fixed stars; the equation of time, &c. &c.; besides furnishing much valuable agriculture matter, lists of courts, &c.
