"Pictured above, in miniature, are some of the many historical and scenic attractions for which Kentucky is famed 'round the world. Obviously the map is too small in scale to permit of anything like a complete listing of the hundreds of other places of great charm and interest, scattered about the State; for every highway and byway has its allure, its shrines, its historic houses, its noted beauty spots. Vacationists always are charmed and delighted with Kentucky's many beautiful streams, to be found in every section of the State, for these offer desirable features of a vacation out-of-doors." (Used through the special permission of Kentucky State Highway Department and IN KENTUCKY magazine.)

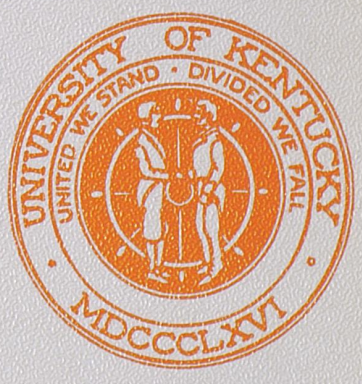

"What is a university?

A university is . . ."

The 1941 KENTUCKIAN takes as its theme the renowned definition of a university as made by our retired President Frank L. McVey. For twenty-three years Dr. McVey served the University and the State of Kentucky. During those twenty-three years, the University has grown from an institution of several hundreds to an institution of several thousands of students. Dr. McVey has built the University to conform to his ideas of a university as set forth in his definition. According to him, "The essences of this definition are men of learning and a spirit that is free; books and equipment; earnest and eager students; belief in truth; protesting against error; and a burning desire to lead men by reason, rather than by force."

I hope that we have recorded the University as Dr. McVey defined one and as he has made the University of Kentucky.

"What is a university?
A university is a place:
It is a spirit:
Men of learning,
A collection of books,
Laboratories where work in science
goes forward:
The source of the teaching
And the beauties of Art and Literature:
The center where youth gathers to learn.
It protects the tradition,
Honors the new and tests its value:
Believes in truth,
Protests against error and Leads men by reason
Rather than by force."

Dedicated to

Dr. Thomas Poe Cooper

A native of Pekin, Illinois, Dr. Thomas Poe Cooper was graduated from the School of Agriculture of Minnesota in 1902 and obtained his B.S. degree from that institution in 1908. He acted as an assistant in farm management at the University of Minnesota for four years, after which he became an agent for the Bureau of Statistics in the United States Department of Agriculture. In 1911, he became director of the Better Farming Association of North Dakota. It was in 1919 that he came to the University as Dean of the College of Agriculture and Director of the Experiment Station. Other offices that Dr. Cooper has held are president of the board of directors of the North Dakota Farmers' Institutes and vice-chairman of the Livestock Sanitary Board of Kentucky. He holds an honorary degree of Doctor of Science from Princeton University.

Dr. Cooper is now a member of the Kentucky State Board of Agriculture, the Kentucky State Park Commission, the Rotary Club of Lexington, the Conversation Club of Louisville, and the Cosmos Club of Washington, D. C.

Dr. Cooper became Acting President of the University of Kentucky in July, 1940.

The Kentuckian

SAM R. EWING, JR.
Editor-in-Chief

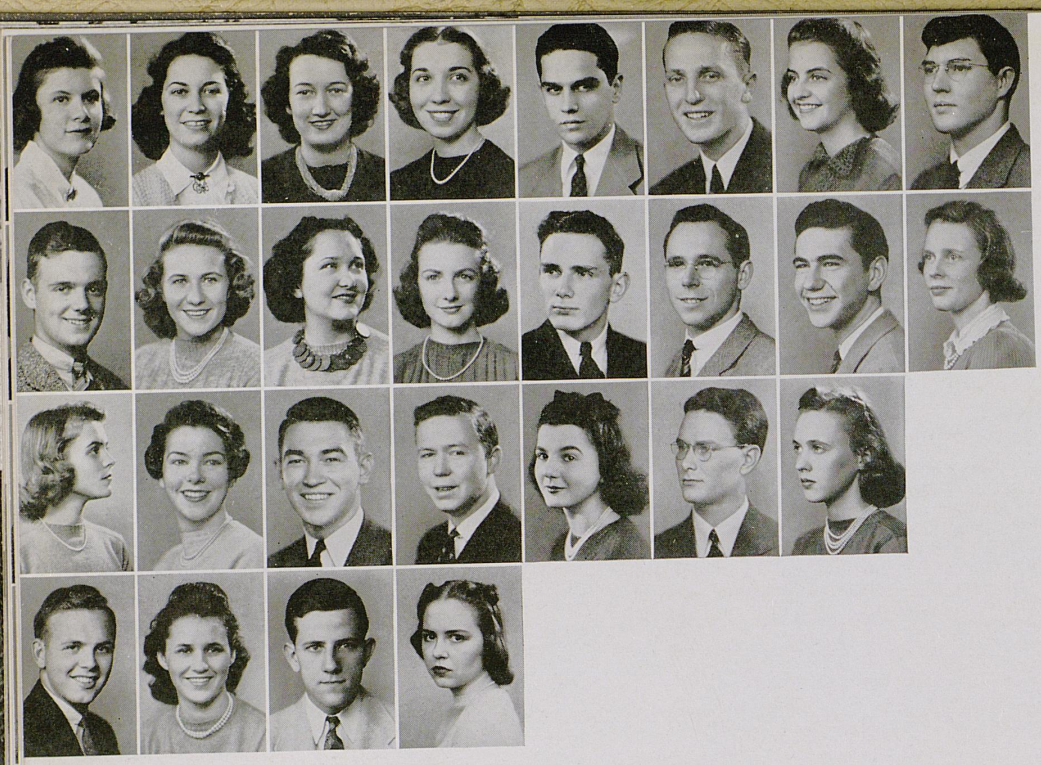

It has been the purpose of the Editor to make this volume a tribute to two campus contemporaries who have contributed a great portion of their life toward building a greater University of Kentucky. This is a small tribute to pay to two outstanding men, Dr. Thomas Poe Cooper and Dr. Frank Lerond McVey. Dr. McVey has built a great University from the small state institution that he took over. The agriculture of the South and of Kentucky has been re-born under Dr. Cooper's direction. The works of these men will stand as monuments to them through centuries of time.

In football language this year's KENTUCKIAN staff has been true "All-American". Entirely capable and indispensible was Managing Editor, Jim Johnson. The three associate editors, Miriam Krayer, Gaines Sebree, and Bill Bruckart and the remainder of the staff listed on the following page have worked consistantly and tirelessly week after week. Business manager, John Clore's thorough attention to the job has made the work of the Editor easy and a pleasure.

For complete cooperation and for priceless help, I wish to thank Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Long, Mr. Charlie Hoy, Mr. Harold Mann, Mr. Coleman Calloway, and the beauty contest judges, Mrs. Long, Colonel Howard Donnelly, and Mayor T. Ward Havely. Much success of the book and that final "punch" that counts came from Mr. Don Grote, Mr. Billy Hopewell, Mr. Dave Griffith, and Mr. Harold Hartzer of THE KERNEL printing plant.

Staff and friends, the success of this book is yours. I extend my sincere thanks to you all.

In an attempt to organize and coordinate its activities with those of the editorial staff, the business staff of the 1941 KENTUCKIAN has completed a most successful year. In pursuing these objectives a record has been set in both the sale of organization pages and of yearbooks sold in advance to students.

The KENTUCKIAN may justly boast of the fact that no advertising is contained between its covers and that it is still presented to the students at a small cost. Such an accomplishment is made possible by economy in the use of materials, in the arrangement of the book, and by operating on a very narrow margin.

As to the ability and accomplishments of the members of the staff, much credit must be given to a very efficient sales manager, Miss Eloise Palmore. John Long and Hugh Moorhead have been responsible for collections and circulation and Bettie Millikin and Martha Adams have served as valuable sales assistants. Some 42 student salesmen also contributed greatly to the business success of the 1941 KENTUCKIAN.

It has been a pleasure to aid in the publishing of a book such as this and the responsibility that has been ours is reluctantly released.

The Kernel

In the left hand dog-ear of the front page of THE KENTUCKY KERNEL are the words: "100 per cent Student Owned and Operated." That statement is no idle boast.

THE KERNEL is neither the property of the University nor of the State of Kentucky; it belongs to and is supported financially by those students who happen to be attending U. K. at any given time.

All members of the editorial, reportorial, and business staffs are undergraduates. Even those who handle the mechanical end of the newspaper—the typesetting, makeup, and printing—are students on the campus. At no time during the publication process do any faculty members or supervisers "advise" or "work with" the student staffs. THE KERNEL traditionally is as autonomous as it is possible for a collegiate newspaper to be.

The policy of the paper is stated in the mast-head slogan: "Hereby Shall THE KERNEL All Student Rights Maintain." In order best to carry out this policy the members of the editorial staff have during the past year encouraged letter-writing on the part of the students, and have attempted to expand the word "editorial" to mean a page of integrated opinion. The school year 1940-41 has seen KERNEL editors and columnists plump for: (1) a more vigorous and progressive Student Government Association, (2) abolition of hazing, (3) revision of campus "honoraries," (4) establishment of an additional student loan fund and more scholarships, (5) increased undergraduate interest in the New South. In addition, numerous attempts were made to interpret the defense program and national and international affairs in terms of the college campus.

The paper's circulation is at present 4,900, of which some 1,500 copies go to University alumni in every county of Kentucky and in nearly every state in the nation. The printing plant, located in the basement of McVey Hall, is THE KERNEL's own, having been purchased over a period of years out of revenue from campus job-printing. The equipment, which includes three Linotypes, two automatic job presses, an automatic paper-cutter and a Duplex newspaper press, is valued at $65,000.

The University student body enjoys the distinction of being one of the few college groups in the United States that owns the facilities for publishing its campus newspaper.

It is the duty of the business manager to select an advertising staff with the purpose in mind of training men to solicit advertising. This staff is composed of an advertising manager and six solicitors.

This publication is entirely self-supporting, with the advertising provided by local and national accounts, and it is considered by a leading national advertising agency to be one of the ten best college newspapers in the country.

Another source of revenue is the additional circulation possible by the Alumni Association. The bulk of the alumni news is placed in the Tuesday edition and each graduate of the previous year receives this issue. Many former graduates and parents of students now in school are also subscribers.

Another important function of the KERNEL is the handling of most of the job printing done on the campus. In addition to printing the campus newspaper and the WILDCAT, campus humor magazine, the KERNEL prints THE KENTUCKIAN, senior year book, and many of the experiment station bulletins.

On May 4, 1925, Nu Circle of Omicron Delta Kappa was installed on the University campus. The reason for the establishment of this group was to recognize the leadership qualities of students in their campus activities. Since its induction it has found its place high in the esteem of the faculty, students, and general public by carrying out its purposes which are efforts toward the betterment of the University.

Some of the major projects of Omicron Delta Kappa have been the institution of a drive which resulted a few years later in the erection of the Student Union Building. Another was the sponsorship of the movement to erect a memorial to our retiring President, Dr. Frank L. McVey, which was satisfied by the hanging of a huge bronze plaque in the main library.

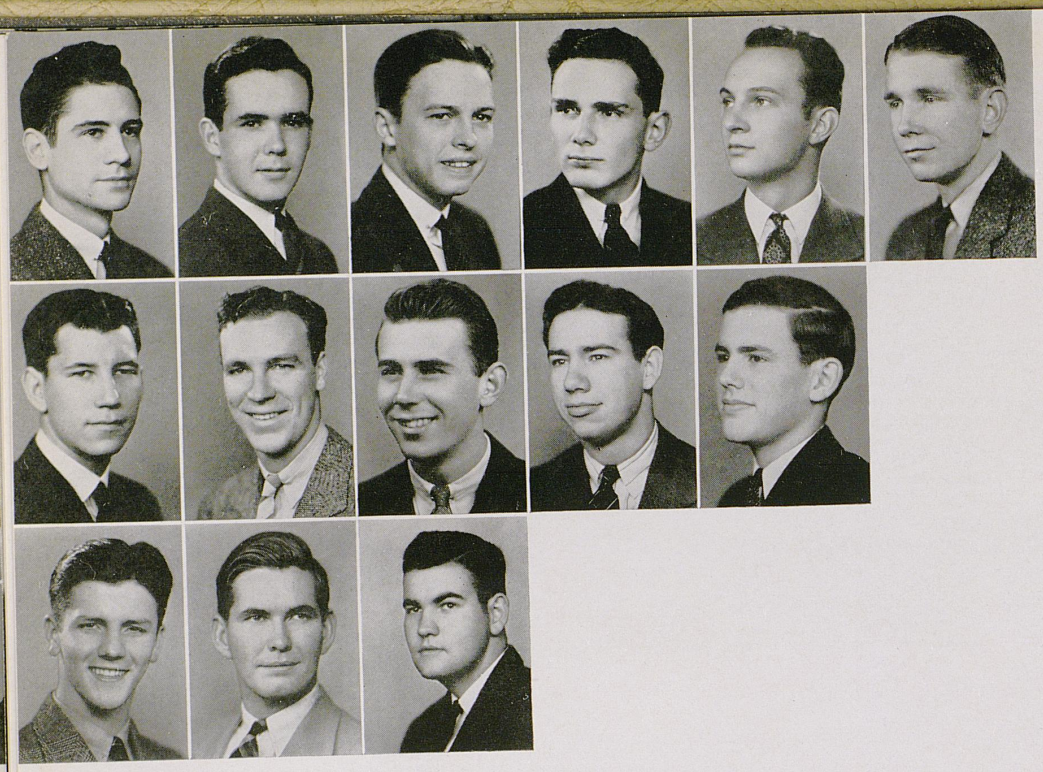

During the past year, Omicron Delta Kappa established an annual homecoming carnival which was begun with a performance by the Gymkana Troupe from the University of Illinois, followed by a gigantic celebration concluding with a homecoming ball. The annual all-campus sing which Omicron Delta Kappa and Cwens jointly sponsor has created competition among University organizations in group singing.

A tag sale was managed by this group during the week of each home football game and the organizations with the highest number of sales were recognized by the presentation of trophies. The proceeds from the sale went into a fund to further campus beautification. Its purpose was to make the students landscape conscious and to have a feeling of pride in the care of the University property.

Each year, Nu Circle plays host to members of the Kentucky general assembly. By this means the legislators are brought closer to the problems confronting the students and the school.

There are many men throughout the state who have rendered valuable services to the school and to the state who have been recognized by Omicron Delta Kappa by conferring honorary membership upon them.

For the present, Omicron Delta Kappa is laying the foundation for a vigorous campaign to obtain a field house and swimming pool, plus many minor projects for which there is a definite need on the campus.

Who's Who

Founded at the University of Alabama in 1934

PURPOSE

"The purpose of Who's Who is to create one national basis of recognition for students, devoid of politics, initiation fees, and dues was conceived by its founder a number of years ago. For four years it has published a book containing the biographies of outstanding students in American universities and colleges as well as every phase of activity in the college world. It is designed to be a book of value to the college library, to the business and social world, and to the students themselves."—Foreword, 1940 Who's Who.

Fall Festival

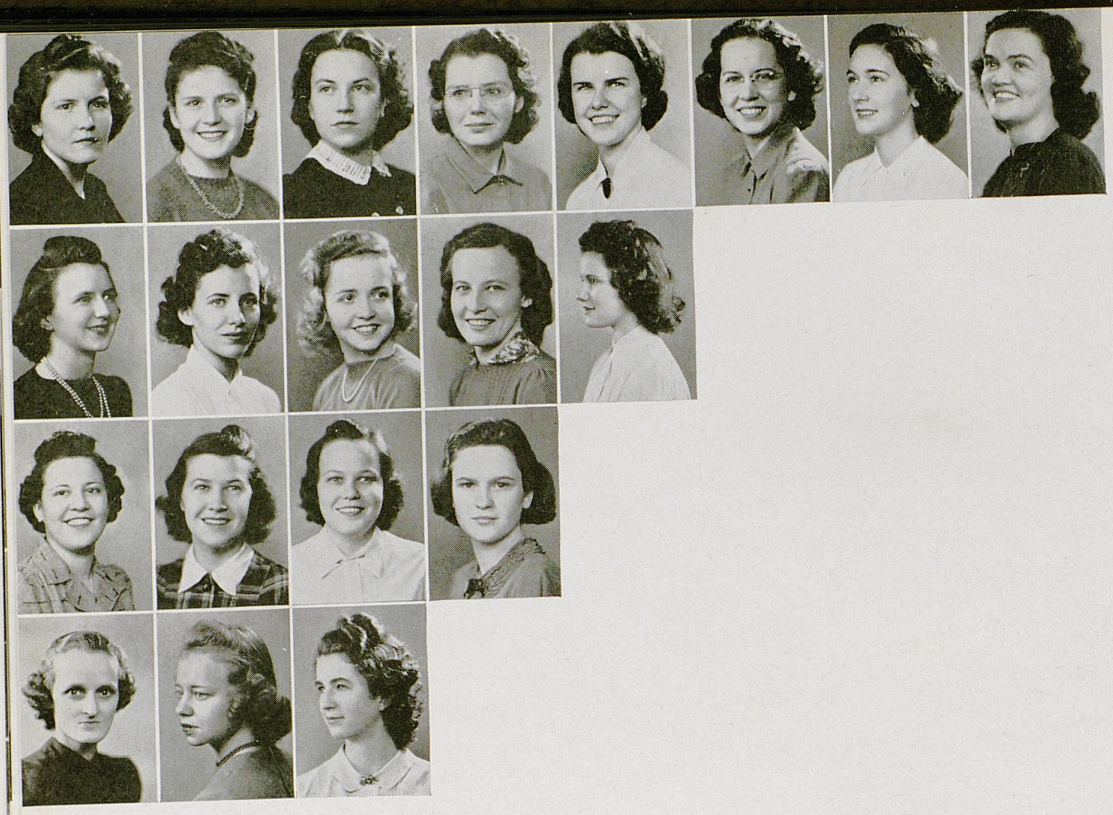

HELD NOVEMBER FIFTEENTH AND SIXTEENTH AT THE LIVESTOCK PAVILION ON THE AGRICULTURE CAMPUS

A highlight of the autumn activities of the College of Agriculture is the Fall Festival sponsored by the Block and Bridle Club through the cooperation of all the organizations in the College.

The function of the festival is to offer students in the college the experience of planning such a show and to provide entertainment in a traditional rural manner to a large number of visitors that attend the celebrated occasion. This year the officials of the festival celebrated the twentieth anniversary of the event.

Along with the show Alpha Zeta carried out the customary crowning of a queen elected by vote of the men students in the College of Agriculture. Miss Lula Hibberd, Muldraugh, was crowned queen to reign over the first night of the festivities. Her attendants were Miss Margaret Trent, Lexington, and Miss Janet Fergus, also of Lexington.

As a new attraction, Phi Upsilon Omicron featured the coronation of a king and the selection of two knights who reigned over the second night of the show. Glenn Clay, Lexington, was elected king while Frank E. Clark, Frankfort, and William O. Blandford, Lebanon, were dubbed knights. They were chosen by vote of the women in the College of Agriculture.

Theta Sigma Phi

NATIONAL HONORARY JOURNALISM FRATERNITY

Founded at the University of Washington, Seattle, in 1909
Established on campus in 1918

PURPOSE

The purpose of Theta Sigma Phi is to unite women engaging in or planning to engage in journalism; to confer honor upon women who distinguish themselves in journalism or letters; to achieve definite standards in journalism and letters; to improve working conditions for women in these fields; to inspire members to greater individual effort.

American Society of Civil Engineers

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY STUDENT BRANCH

Founded in 1852
Established on campus in 1922

PURPOSE

The purpose of the American Society of Civil Engineers is to afford an opportunity for the members of the civil engineering classes to become acquainted; to promote a spirit of congeniality between the classes; to acquaint the members with topics of interest to civil engineering students through the medium of popular addresses by competent speakers and members; and to foster a professional spirit among the students.

Kentucky Law Journal

Trent Johnson Cornelius Barton Roberts Clark Tincher

Founded at the University of Kentucky in 1911

PURPOSE

The purpose of the KENTUCKY LAW JOURNAL is threefold:

1. To afford the students, faculty, and members of the legal profession an opportunity to write on problems of current interest in the field of law.

2. To give recognition for scholastic and writing achievement.

3. To give recognition to the College of Law in the state and throughout the country.

Phi Alpha Delta

NATIONAL PROFESSIONAL LEGAL FRATERNITY

Founded at the University of Chicago in 1902
Established on campus in 1913

PURPOSE

The purpose of Phi Alpha Delta is to promote social and intellectual intercourse among its members; to aid the development of fraternal and brotherly sentiments; to cultivate a closer bond of friendship and the attainment of a higher and broader culture; and to foster, under the influence of intimate friendships, those principles that tend to form a higher type of manhood.

BERNIE SHIVELY

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

"Shive", athletic director and line coach, is a native of Olivier, Ill., and while an undergraduate at the University of Illinois, he was designated as an all-American guard. He came to Kentucky in 1927 under Coach Harry Gamage and remained as line coach until Gamage resigned in 1933. He held a post in the Physical Education department during Chet Wynne's reign; but when Kirwan succeeded Wynne in 1937, he was drafted again as line coach and by public acclaim ascended to the office of athletic director.

Athletics

"AB" KIRWAN

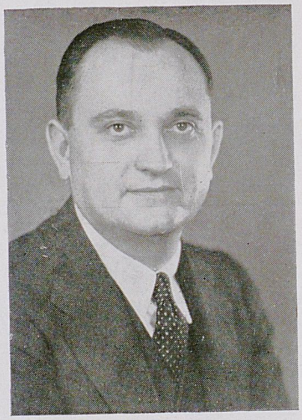

Head Football Coach

"Ab", who graduated here in 1926 after lettering in track and lettering in and captaining the football team, was returned here in 1937 as head football coach after one of those periodic athletic upheavals which have shaken the campus in the last decade. It was his first stab at college coaching, previous experience having been gleaned at Louisville's Male and Manual high schools. His record here, however, is proof of his ability, for he has placed his Wildcats on a plane with the best of the Southeastern Conference. Kirwan, incidentally, is a full-fledged lawyer.

ADOLPH RUPP

Head Basketball Coach

The miracle man of Southern basketball, Adolph Rupp, Kentucky head coach, is a native of Halstead, Kansas. He was graduated from the University of Kansas, where he played basketball under the famous "Phog" Allen, in 1923. Before coming to Kentucky he coached at Marshalltown and Freeport, Illinois. At the end of ten years here, he can boast of five Southeastern Conference championship teams, those of 1933, 1935, 1937, 1939, and 1940. He has produced four all-Americans and a host of all-Conference men.

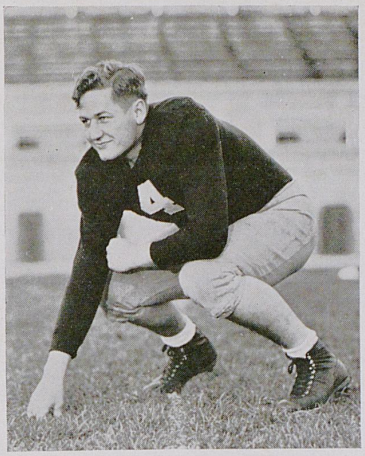

S. A. "DADDY" BOLES

Graduate Manager of Athletics

"Daddy" Boles, who holds the official title of Graduate Manager of Athletics, is liaison man between the Wildcats and the public, the Wildcats and the press. Of Dry Ridge, Kentucky, descent, he has since his first alliance with the University in 1917, coached almost every one of its sports. He has handled the footballers, the basketballers, tracksters, the baseballers, and even now the state championship golf team. "Daddy" is a graduate of Vanderbilt University and holds his M.A. degree from there.

Football

Captain John Eibner

Assistant Manager Jim Taylor

By Fred Hill

Coach Albert Dennis Kirwan, midst the rumbling of drums and the fanfare of many horns, sounded the call for his third football round-up in the Bluegrass in September and was met by some fifty hopeful clansmen. Taking count, he found that hardly a familiar face was missing from the squad that last year amazed its followers by becoming one of the major Southeastern Conference surprises of the season. Because of this, football fans in the Dark and Bloody Ground began to wax overly optimistic.

"If these boys were able to win six games, tie Alabama and extend the two Southern bowl teams, Georgia Tech and Tennessee, to the limit last year, what can't they do with another year of experience under their belt," they reasoned. And by a natural process of thought, 1940 became "Kentucky's year."

On the other hand canny Coach Kirwan was not coasting on the same thought waves. Adept at figuring the angles despite his two short years in the "majors", Kirwan was reckoning with one angle on which his followers were not—the strength of the enemy.

Kirwan and his staff, Bernie Shively, Frank Moseley, Joe Rupert, Gene Myers, and Joe Huddleston, were going to have to build a team to face the stiffest schedule set before a Wildcat squad in a number of years. And they no longer had that factor which aided them so much the year before—the element of surprise. News had leaked out down the line that "the Wildcats were loaded."

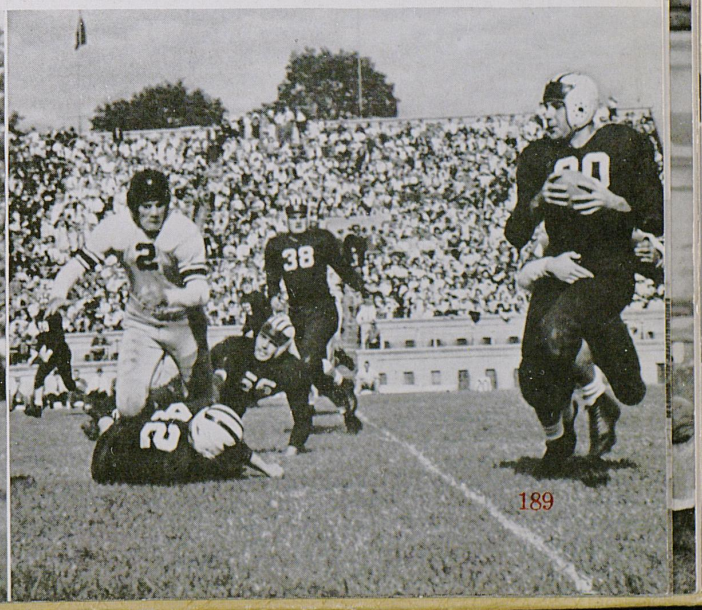

Thus at the end of the season they pulled up with a record of five wins, three losses, and two ties.

Neither the staff nor the team itself has ever offered an alibi—such a record needs no alibi in the wildest, most rabid fooball country in the nation, the Southeast —but it seems only fair that some explanation be given for what all too many fans called a "disappointing" season.

First, the '39 squad went through their season with but two damaging injuries; the '40 squad spent most of its collective time on crutches or in the hospital. Scarcely a game was played with the services of all the key men.

Second, for some reason all Kentucky's opponents seemed to pick the Wildcats as the team they would like best to beat. And proceeding on that theory, three of the enemy took the 'Cats as their Homecoming opponent, Georgia used them to help dedicate night football, and Vanderbilt met them while the Commodore coach, Red Sanders, was in the hospital. It would have taken a miracle man to get perfect results against such odds.

Add to these two reasons the strength of the opposition and the possibility that they may have taken their pre-season ratings a little too seriously and you have a fair idea of what happened to the 1940 football team.

KENTUCKY 59—BALDWIN-WALLACE 0

A September sun which vied in heat with the Kentucky team saw the Wildcats win their first game 59 to 0 over a newcomer on the schedule, Baldwin-Wallace from Berea, Ohio. Although they showed well in later season competition, the boys from the Buckeye country faded fast and the Wildcats, boasting a wealth of backfield material in Mullins, Allen, Jones, Ishmael, a sophomore pile-driver named Bob Herbert, and a host of others, were all over the field. Kentucky drove over one touchdown in the first quarter, two in the second. Then their opponents apparently quit. The Big Blue scored at will during the second half.

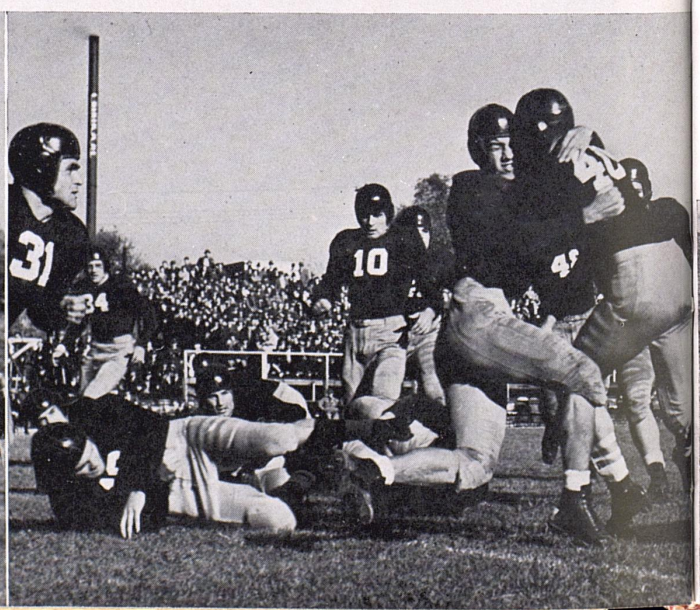

Next on the schedule was Xavier University of Cincinnati. Reputedly, they were a pushover, but the 'Cats went under the kleigs for the first time since 1936, met an inspired resistance, and gave their followers their first scare by emerging winner by but two touchdowns, 13 to 0.

Those two tallies furnished the game's only thrills. On the first, dynamic little Junie Jones shook himself loose to scamper 47 yards into pay-dirt on the return of a Xavier punt. That was perhaps the most dazzling individual performance exhibited during the entire season. Soon after, Dave Zoeller chopped his way off his own right tackle, reversed his field beautifully behind perfect interference and ran 57 yards to score.

The field was covered with mist, the ball slippery, and the rest of the game drab.

Then came Washington and Lee, marching hopefully into the race horse country to write another chapter in their book, "How to Beat 'Ab' Kirwan." Never had a General outfit lost to a Kentucky team coached or played on by the quiet Mr. Kirwan.

This trip, however, they were doomed to dismay—for the 'Cats reached a high point in spirit in that game unmatched the rest of the season to beat the boys from the Old Dominion 47-12.

During that soiree the Big Blue restored faith in itself, showed only a vulnerability to enemy aerials. Noah Mullins, Versailles speedster, paced his mates by catching two of Ermal Allen's passes to score in the first frame, then coming back in the second with W. and L.'s opening kick-off 95 yards for a touchdown.

That, unfortunately, ended the Kentucky win streak. They began to hit the stretch of road called "Tough Luck Trail" in gridiron "lingo". Two backs, fullback Claude Hammond and halfback "Hoot" Combs, went out with dislocated elbows. A number of other cogs in the machine were injured, less seriously but bad enough to hamper their playing ability.

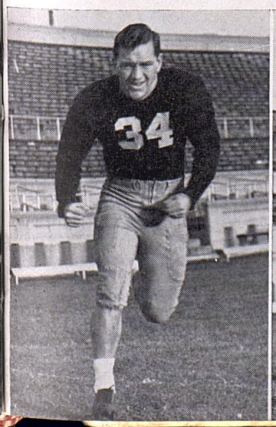

Knute Rockne's Ghost

Early in the week before Kentucky played Vanderbilt, whom they had beaten the year before for the first time in the history of an age-old rivalry, the Commodore coach, Red Sanders, went to the hospital for an appendectomy. And with a strategy reminiscent of the late Rockne of Notre Dame, "Red" managed a hook-up whereby he could talk to his boys from his hospital cot to their locker room before they went onto the field.

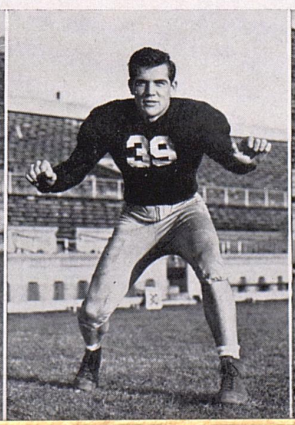

As a result, the Commodores threw their whole heart and soul into the game. It was a gallant team Kentucky played that afternoon in Nashville—probably as spirited a team as there was in the Southeastern Conference. They took a 7 point lead scored in the first few minutes of play on a long pass and held it for 58 minutes.

For all of that time the Big Blue was trying to push over a score; Vandy was on the defensive. Finally, with only the two minutes to play, Kirwan sent in two cripples, Junie Jones and Charlie "Dutch" Ishmael. With Junie blocking masterfully and the "Dutchman" driving with the ball, the Kentuckians wrangled their way down field. Ishmael crossed from the one; Jones converted the extra point and the game ended, a 7 to 7 tie.

Aroused to a blustering fury by the Vanderbilt draw, the 'Cats beat a rhythmic victory chant with their heels to record a 24 to 0 victory over a strong squad from George Washingon University at home the next week.

Kirwan's 'Cats played what was probably their best game against the Colonials, newcomers on Stoll Field but for several years one of the East's best teams. Mullins got his second touchdown off a kick-off return, this trip going 90 yards straight through the enemy skirmish line; Junie Jones kicked a field goal, the first to be completed by a "Kaintuck'" eleven since Ralph Kercheval cleaved the cross-bars of Tulane in 1932.

Touchdowns by Ishmael and willowy Dave Zoeller made up the remainder of the scoring, but as encouraging as the Wildcats' ability to tally was the general field work of the sophomores and juniors who took part in the game. It proved to the Wildcat mining crew that they would find plenty of ore in those returning men in 1941.

Under the arc-lights of the football field in Athens a hard-hitting Georgia squad became the second team to tie the Wildcats, destroyed any delusions of grandeur which Kentucky supporters might have had because of their team's victory over the Bulldogs in Louisville the year before.

There Kentucky met one of the most impressive young men in the football South, young Frankie Sinkwich. After seeing his team sink behind after an Allen to Mullins pass, Georgia's Wallace Butts gave the rolling order to Frankie. What had been a Blue dominated game became a Sinkwich dominated one, and only the dogged determination of the 'Cats kept it from becoming a rout. It was deemed a minor miracle by those who saw it that the Bulldogs made only one touchdown. The game ended almost immediately after they had it, the score standing 7 to 7.

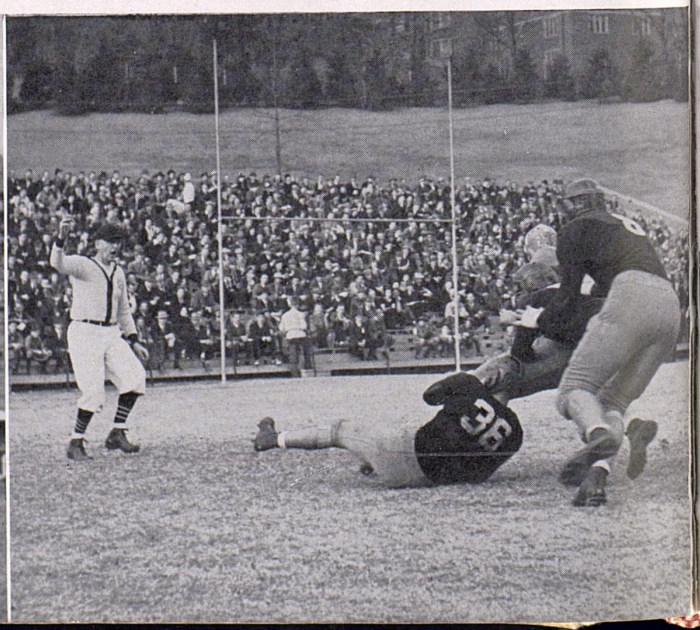

Homecoming was a sad day for the alumni, for with Sully Jacobs, John Eibner, and a number of other leading 'Cats on the bench with the miseries, Kentucky was nearly swamped by the Crimson Tide of Alabama. It was their first loss, and at 25 to 0 it was a bad one.

'Bama started to roll when they recovered a Kentucky safety's fumble deep in 'Cat territory and pushed over a touchdown. A few minutes later their Jimmy Nelson scored on a long run developing out of a drive over guard. Later in the game he cut loose again on almost the identical play. The Tide capped their victory by tallying on a 40 yard intercepted pass return late in the game.

Landslide In Louisville

The wolves laid seige to Stoll Field for a week after the 'Bama catastrophe, laid such a desperate seige that it took dynamite to blast them away.

The dynamite came—in the form of big, close-cropped "Dutch" Ishmael—and was effective. Ishmael, looking like the newsreel shots of Texas A. and M.'s John Kimbrough every minute of the game, led his mates to a rollicking 26 to 7 victory over Georgia Tech in Louisville.

Brow-beaten Tech, from the moment Zoeller slithered loose on Kentucky's opening offensive play for 65 yards and a touchdown, was never a contender.

After Zoeller's startling curtain-raiser, the Wildcat offensive switched to a variety of Ishmael plays which never varied so much at that. Most of them consisted of the "Dutchman" starting with the ball and ending some ten to fifteen yards farther along in Tech territory with half the Yellowjackets hanging on his back—and still with the ball.

"Dutch" scored two touchdowns and the Wildcats a victory. The University of Kentucky scored a hit with the good sportsfans of Louisville.

But seven days later all was not so pleasant.

The most miserable sight in all the sports world must be the spectacle of two teams playing football until no man is recognizable in a quagmire of mud and snow. The outcome of such a contest is nightmarish, or at least it was in the case of the Kentucky-West Virginia debacle in Morgantown.

Kirwan's men had been invited up into the mountains to furnish background for the Homecoming show, and went up expecting a tough game under normal playing conditions. Instead they found the weather so bad that barely 5,000 people played hermit in the Mountaineer's mammoth stadium, a field so deep in mud and snow that it was like quicksand, and a wind that froze their uniforms and stiffened their hands.

While they were still warm the 'Cats proved much the superior team. Ishmael scored; his team held their 7-point lead during the first half. During intermission, however, the West Virginians were lucky enough to have a change in uniform; the Cats were not. That—most neutral observers believed—made the difference, for West Virginia came back to score a touchdown on a reverse, followed quickly with two more points as Allen dropped the wet ball behind Kentucky's goal in a desperate attempt to pass to safety.

The result: a 9 to 7 loss by Kentucky in anything but a football game.

Tennessee Too Tough

There wasn't a lot Kentucky could do with Tennessee. Badly battered after their chaotic nine game campaign, the tired Cats put up a gallant struggle against superior manpower—a much better battle than the records show—but lost, 33 to 0.

If there is consolation in these facts, the Big Blue actually outgained the Vols on land; Major Neyland estimated the score as it should have been at 7 to 0; and Volunteer partisans were more amazed than elated at the outcome. It didn't seem right that such a valiant team could lose by such a top-heavy margin.

Coach Kirwan and his staff were naturally disappointed in the outcome; but the fact remained that Tennessee, showing better balance and distribution of power, had won. The score stands and—as one of the Wildcats said after the game—"there's always another year".

Though the 1940 Kentucky Wildcats won little fame as a team, the individual members at least came in for their share of post season honors. Ishmael and Captain John Eibner were given prominent mention on the all-Southeastern teams. Ishmael was also awarded the Lions Club plaque as "most valuable man of the year"; while Clark Wood, Huntington, West Virginia husky who played at tackle was honored by a spot on the conference all-sophomore team, received the Hester Trophy as the outstanding rookie.

Center Joe Bailey was invited to take part in the annual post-season North-South game in Birmingham, accepted, and turned in a creditable showing. Four Wildcats, Bailey, Ishmael, end Jim Hardin, and Eibner, were selected in the professional football "draft", though none of them at this time will be able to accept.

Freshman Football

By B. F. Melton

Coach Gene Myers and his 1940 crop of pigskin yearlings ended their "plebe" year in meteoric fashion with a 12-0 victory over Tennessee's first year men, after having dropped their other two starts.

In their season inaugural, future members of the Big Blue tangled with Vanderbilt's Little Skippers in Nashville. The proteges of the ex-'Cat luminary, Gene Myers, from turbulent Harlan pushed the Vandy freshmen all over the field, made 17 first downs to the Commodores four, yet lost the skirmish 12-0. It just wasn't in the books for the Kentuckians to win.

The University of Cincinnati, thanks to a blocked kick, gained a hair-breadth 2-0 decision over the 'Cat freshmen. A diffident, sluggish game of ball was put up by the Kittens in this tilt as compared to the finess and general ability displayed in their initial outing against Vanderbilt.

The freshman contingent of Tennessee's heralded gridiron stronghold found the lair of the Wildcats too tough for comfort, and were "clawed" into submission, 12-0, on Stoll Field's snow-swept gridiron. Coach Myers' charges stopped the vaunted running attack of the baby Vols, featuring Bobby Cifers, the most highly publicized high school performer in the country in 1939; and the Kitten forwards continually opened huge holes in the Tennessee line for their own ball toters.

Charley Kuhn, former Louisville prep star, was the big noise in the 'Cat backfield. A bright future with the varsity is predicted for this swivel-hipped ball-carrier.

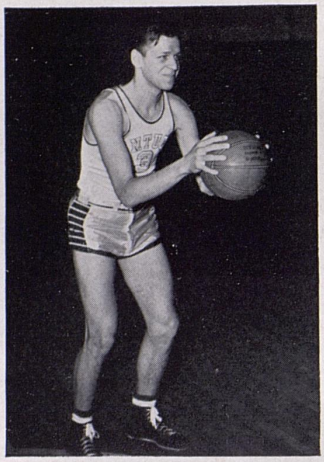

Two other products of the Falls Cities, Robert Oenbrink from New Albany, and Leonard Preston from Louisville, along with John Sandy, hailing from the coal fields of Pennsylvania, are considered as best line prospects.

Besides these four, the following earned numerals for their efforts and some of them are being counted on to bolster the ranks of the varsity this fall: Robards, Lord, Jaracz, Iani, Portwood, Boehler, Sengle, Eblen, Ewing, Zoeller, Whetstone, Kessinger, Nuckols, Specius, and Hoyer.

Basketball

Captain Lee Huber

Manager Garrett Fitzpatrick

By Fred Hill

Before Adolph Rupp shucked his huge frame into the drivers seat of Kentucky's basketball chariot, history of the net game in the Bluegrass made rather erratic reading. The Wildcats were a sometimes good, sometimes bad team which most of the time did well to break a little more than even.

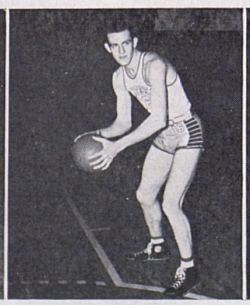

Affable Adolph came to Kentucky from Freeport, Indiana, where his high school teams there had compiled a record of 63 wins against but 4 losses. That was in 1930. Since then every favorable adjective in the books has been applied to the Kentuckians of the court.

Rupp, a student under the great "Phog" Allen of Kansas, changed the system at Kentucky. He took the advantages of the Southern game, a safe, sane and dull sport at which patrons yawned in their seats, and combined them with the rough and tumble melee style made famous in the middle west. The result is his motto—"always a good show."

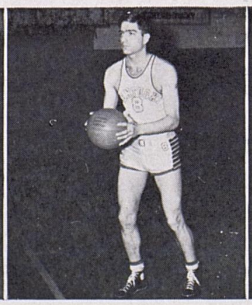

In those ten years of glory, Kentucky has four times won the Southeastern Conference tournament; and one year, when no tourney was held, they were undisputed champions anyway. Rupp, it would be safe to say has never produced a bad team in any sport. Up at Marshalltown, Illinois, he built a state championship wrestling team from a book, without ever before having seen a wrestling match!

The 1941 basketball team was no exception to his "every team a good one" rule. True, they didn't win the tournament this year, but as Tommy Fitzgerald of the Courier-Journal sports staff so amply put it: "Tennessee took the championship off Kentucky after Alabama had taken it out of them."

The Wildcats had advanced to the semi-finals of the tourney, held this year for the first time in Louisville. Their opponent was Alabama; in the other bracket was Tennessee against Florida. Much to the Kentucky fans' dismay Tennessee ran away with the 'Gators. Coach Mauer was able to let his regulars rest, play the substitutes. It was not so with Rupp. Alabama went into the game determined to win. They were hot; and after the first five minutes, they never allowed more than two points difference between themselves and the Wildcats.

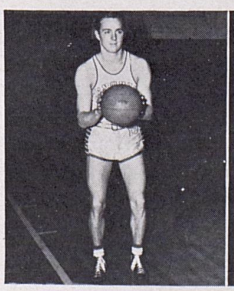

As a matter of fact, they left Kentucky trailing well over half the time. Only in the last few minutes did Captain Lee Huber, perhaps the outstanding man in the Louisville conclave, fix his sights on the basket sufficiently to score the winning goal.

Strange as it may seem, Huber's game-breaker never went through the basket. It circled the air, settled in the rim. Then Wheeler Leeth, the Tide's center, went up in the air and pushed it out. After a long moment of agony Referee Bowser Chest allowed the goal, the whistle blew, and Kentucky was in the finals.

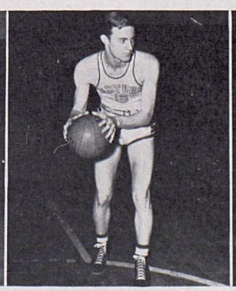

But their heart was no longer in it, or rather their strength was not. Tennessee took a long lead on them early in the night's finals, and despite a determined late game come-back which left the score—and the fans—standing at 36-33, Kentucky was forced to hand over the crown she won last year to the Vols.

It was no disgrace; even the usually explosive Rupp took it stoically. Yet it is significant of the hard luck that hounded the Wildcat basketball team's trail through the winter of '40-'41.

Against West Virginia in the opener they were still unpolished diamond, but they were blue blazes hot and willing to make up in strength what they lacked in grace. They whipped the Mountaineers 46 to 34.

Then against Maryville, a breather to end all breathers, the 'Cats ran riot and, despite the fact that they missed all but about a fourth of their shots, had enough left over to win hands down, 53 to 14.

Moving westward like pioneers breaking untrammeled soil during the Christmas holidays, they hit three hard teams in a row. Two of them, as a matter of fact, were too hard. Nebraska nosed them out 40 to 39; Creighton trounced them 54 to 45. They won the consolation prize by whipping Kansas State 28 to 25 in a defensive fight.

Kentucky did not hit its stride in the first two of these three games. "If you had played against Nebraska like you did against Creighton," said Rupp, "you might have beaten them. And if you'd played against Creighton like you did against Kansas State, you might have won that one. But you didn't. And now we'll worry about Indiana."

After a farcical game with Centenary of Louisiana, which they won 70 to 18, the Wildcats climbed aboard a sleeper for New Orleans, the Sugar Bowl festival, and Coach Branch McCracken's Indianans. Nobody—though the 'Cats had come out conquerors in two previous Sugar Bowl battles—expected them to beat the national championship Hoosier team. Nobody really expected them to come as close as they did.

But paced by Captain Huber and Marvin Akers, a sophomore guard, the Cats gave Indiana one of its best battles of a great year. The final score was 48 to 45; the final comment was Coach Branch McCracken's, "Kentucky is the best team we've played all season."

Huber had been leading the Kentuckians; he had become the key cog in the machine. But on the return trip influenza, which kept him on the bench most of last year, raised its ugly head again; and he went from the station here in Lexington to the hospital. With him went several others, among them a promising yearling ace, Milton Ticco. Every other man on the team was in some stage of either "flu" or had a cold.

Thus were doused their hopes of scoring their first victory over Notre Dame. The Irish beat them, 48 to 47, in a game marked at the end by a near-riot because of a discrepancy on the part of the scoreboard keepers which made the game a tie. It was not. Huber and his mates had played; but they almost had to be carried off the floor.

Then with Ticco scoring 26 beautiful points, Kentucky beat Xavier 48 to 43. From there they went to West Virginia, were upset by the Mountaineers 56 to 43 in a game in which even the gymnasium lights were inconsistent.

They opened the Southeastern Conference league play, at the top of which they later emerged, with an ill-omened 32 to 22 defeat in Knoxville. By now the 'Cats had been knocked so slap-happy by repeated waves of sickness that even the coaches could not name the starting line-up from one day to the next.

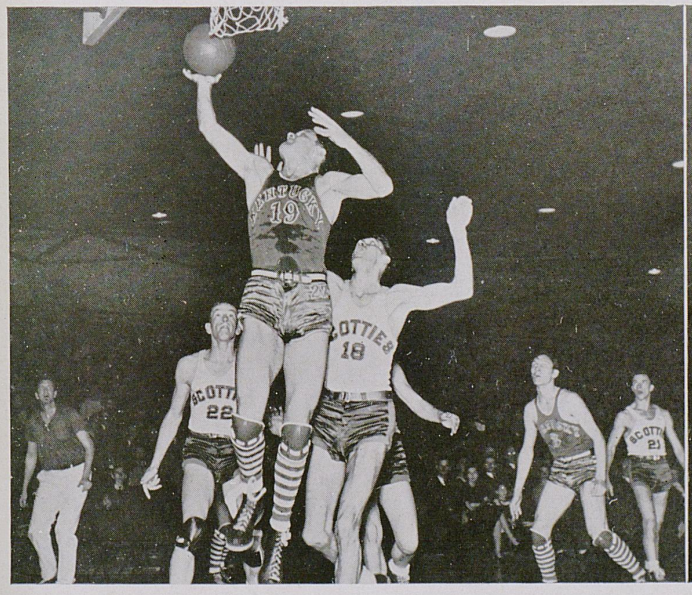

On the same trip sophomore center Mel Brewer, Huber, and Lloyd Ramsey got 12, 12 and 10 points respectively to beat Georgia Tech 47 to 37 in Atlanta.

Xavier staged a come-back against the Big Blue, trampled them down to defeat with the use of their two Louisville aces, Billy Gates and Bert Robbens, 48 to 43. Kentucky played without Ticco, who had proved the most effective weapon against the Musketeers in the last meeting. Jim King was high for the Wildcats with 10 points.

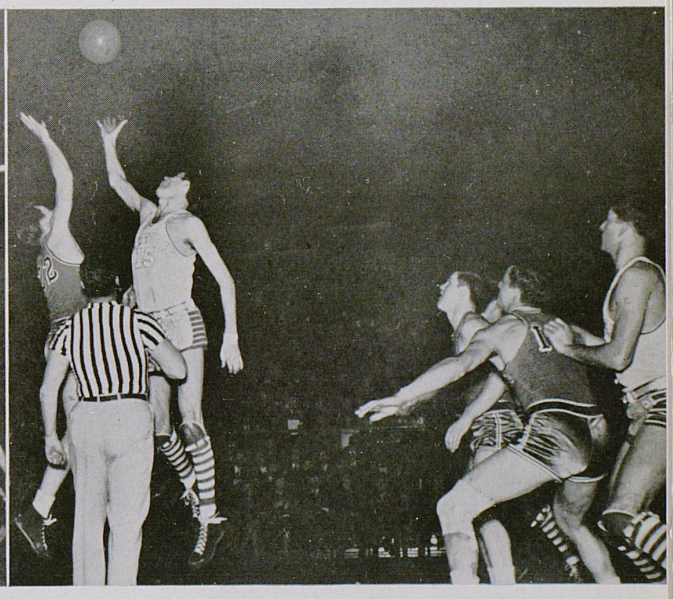

The next trip South was without Rupp himself, who, having staved off the "flu" as long as he was able, was ordered to the hospital. Assistant Coach Paul McBrayer guided them to two duly recorded wins, if slightly the indusive to heart-failure type. Ermal Allen made 10 points and Mel Brewer 13 as the 'Cats scored a 51 to 50 win over Vanderbilt. Brewer, still riding the crest of a one-man heat wave, paced them to a 38 to 36 win over Alabama.

Back home for a second meeting with the Crimson Tide, it was dimutive Ermal Allen who furnished the scoring punch with 15 points in a 46 to 38 victory.

At this point in the season Coach Rupp began to switch the heavy duty from his forwards and centers to his guards again. Huber was out with another attack of influenza, but careful coaching had made basket artists out of Carl Staker and Marvin Akers. Allen was high point man with 15 in Kentucky's 60 to 40 defeat of Old Miss', but Akers trailed him by but one point, making 14.

Alumni gym was packed for the Wildcats return engagement with Tennessee; and home-town fans were not disappointed, for the Big Blue, in as rough and tumble a free-for-all as the Bluegrass has and will see for a long time, lashed out a 37 to 28 win. In this game it was again Akers, "the big train", who formed the spearhead of the attack, driving under the basket repeatedly to rack up crips—and a total of 12 points.

Kentucky closed the season against Vanderbilt with a 58 to 31 defeat of the Commodores. The 'Cats were crude but effective—scorekeepers counting at the end of the game found that a total of 44 fouls had been called.

In the last game, spectators saw an old star re-arise. Keith "Fuzz" Farnsley, who last year had made the all-tournament team and had been the man to beat Tennessee with his last minute shot in the semi-finals, arose from the bench where he had been sitting most of the year and tallied 17 points.

The final two games of the tournament have been described. In the opening round Kentucky encountered Mississippi, defeated them 62 to 52. In the second round Farnsley led his mates to a 59 to 30 win over Tulane, himself scoring 17.

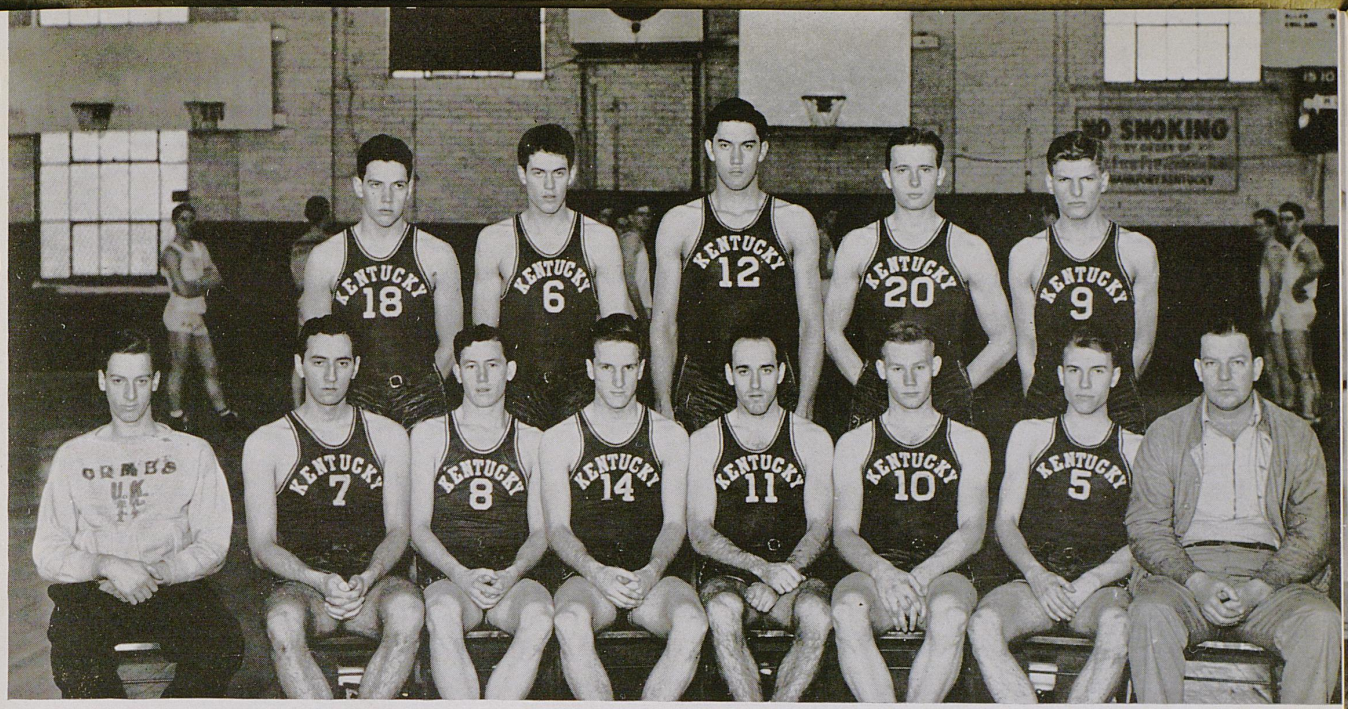

Then came Alabama and the defeat by Tennessee.

Three of the Rupp-men made the official all-tournament team—Lee Huber, Marvin Akers, and Keith Farnsley. On the Associated Press team Huber was picked at guard and Akers at forward on the first five. Akers did not play at forward; but as selectors stated, "he was too outstanding to leave off." Jim King made the second team at center and Farnsley was placed as forward.

The following men made varsity "K"s in basketball: Lee Huber, Carl Staker, Marvin Akers, Keith Farnsley, Milton Ticco, Jim King, Lloyd Ramsey, Kenneth England, Ermal Allen, Mel Brewer, Waller White, and Managers Garret Fitzpatrick and Bud Wilson.

Freshman Basketball

By Fred Hill

Aside from two disappointing losses to the Georgetown College freshman, Coach Paul McBrayer's freshmen had a spotless record. They defeated Ashland Junior College twice, Cumberland College twice, Union College and the Garrard County All-Stars once, the latter by the amazing score of 100 to 29.

They were by no means the best freshman basketball players U. K. has ever had, nor were they the worst. Not many of them, as is usually the case, will ever do McBrayer's chief, Coach Rupp, any material service in their capacity as stars of the court and hoop; but again, as usual, there are a few on whom the mantle of fame will be laid.

Their outstanding gift to posterity is probably the memory of that 100 points they scored in Lancaster one dreary night against a bunch of thwarted Garrard County All-Stars.

Their outstanding individual performer was undoubtedly Ed Landers, a towering center who took his prep training for the "big league" in Lexington high school basketball circles. A hard player to handle under the basket, Ed consistently led his mates in scoring.

On Landers trail comes the names of several other men, Bill Weber, his understudy at the pivot for one, possibly forward W. J. Smith or Charlie Eblen, or Bruce Boehler, who had a brother on the freshman football team. In truth, almost any of them might develop into a star. With Rupp abed with influenza and "Mac" doing full-time with the varsity, the Kittens spent stretches in which they were partially coachless. It was difficult to guess just which of them could and would go farther.

Here is the record in detail of the eight games which they played during the season. They whipped Ashland Junior College at Ashland 65 to 42, moved south and took Cumberland College by an overwhelming 60 to 29 majority. Then came the crushing of the All-Stars. On their own floor, Georgetown's frosh defeated them 41 to 34. They lashed back from this whipping by taking the Ashlander's into camp, this time 86 to 44, and icing their superiority over Cumberland with a 54 to 33 win. In their only game with Union College they emerged victors, 56 to 38. And Georgetown finished them and their season, 47 to 48, before a packed house in Georgetown.

Numerals were awarded to the following men: Ed Landers, Bill Weber, John Rayz, Robert Graves, Bruce Boehler, A. G. Bach, Pete Watts, Troy Adams, Tommy Ewing, and Charlie Eblen, and Managers Bill Evans and Jiggs Davis.

Baseball

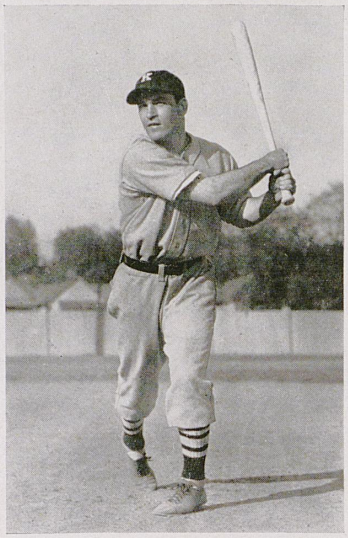

By B. F. Melton

The 'Cat representatives in the national pastime justified the re-adoption of baseball as a major sport by breaking even in 14 starts last spring, in only the second year since its reinstatement. Tennessee's baseballers were bested on three occasions, but the Commodores of Vanderbilt somewhat evened things for the Volunteer state by taking four decisions from Coach Frank Moseley's disciples of the hickory and horsehide.

The Buckeyes from up Ohio State way didn't enable the 'Cat diamond artists to usher in the 1940 season in a very encouraging manner, for on April 5 and 6, they twice took the measure of the Wildcats, 9-1 and 10-4, in the opening series on the Kentucky schedule.

Came the next skirmish on April 24, and this time the "woim toined"; and the Big Blue nosed out the Xavier nine, 9-8, still on the home diamond.

The Vols of Tennessee were the next to fall under the axe of the Kentuckians, succumbing 9-8, April 26. But next day, the embittered Vols slammed the sphere to all corners of Stoll Field to win easily, 17-4.

Taking a brief leave from their home haunts, the Moseleyites treked to Tennessee's capital city, only to drop two close decisions to Vandy's experienced crew, 5-2 and 9-6.

The off again, on again Blues again entered the win column by nosing out the Eastern State Teachers, 11-10, thanks to a homer with the score tied by Charley Martin in Frank Merriwell fashion.

Vanderbilt's entourage stopped over in Lexington and continued their winning ways over the Big Blue, 7-6 and 16-3.

The University of Cincinnati nine found the Wildcats in a pensive mood, and the "Brooding Blues" clawed the Ohioans 9-1.

dict over the hosts in the local Southern Association park. Next day, the Kentucky visitors made it two in a row over the Vols by the top-heavy score of 19-5. Tognocchi's masterful hurling and his mates' steady bombardment of the Tennessee moundsmen enabled the 'Cat nine to win with apparent ease. The Kentucky right hander allowed only 4 safeties in racking up the triumph.

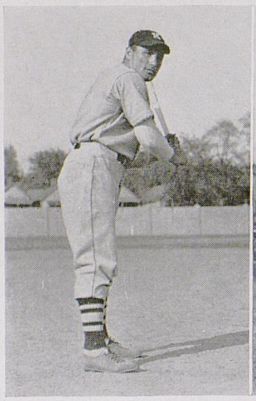

Sweet revenge was achieved by once-beaten Xavier as they atoned for their earlier setback by shutting out the Wildcats, 4-0 in the season finale.

Rosy indeed are the prospects for 1941. Since only Tognocchi, who is now in the New York Giant farm system, and Wilce Carnes, were lost by graduation; and Ted Meyer and Stafford Kelley, utility players last year, have left school; Coach Moseley and his charges are anticipating a very successful season.

Experience is plentiful on this year's prospective roster. Carl Staker and Al Rathburn are expected to do most of the mound work for the Wildcats. Staker, speed ball artist, saw much service last year, as did Rathburn, who has a wicked assortment of curves, in addition to considerable speed. Bill McCubbin, lone southpaw on the squad, is expected to see much service. Veteran Eddie Fritz will undoubtedly be the maskman again this year. Joe Shepherd will be available for shortstop duties again. Billy Black, consistent hitter, will be back in the outer garden. Noland Navarre, probably the best defensive member of the team, will abandon his outfield post to tend the "hot corner" this year. Lincoln Ellington, another outfielder of last year, will try to make the switch from the outer pasture to the pitcher's box. Martin and Cardwell last year's first basemen, will have their hands full trying to keep lanky Milt Ticco from gaining the starting berth.

Besides Ticco, several other new men are expected to bolster the team's chances in a tough 17 game schedule, which includes an even dozen Southeastern Conference skirmishes. Bob Herbert is to help the overworked Fritz in the backstopping department. Noah Mullins will make a strong bid for an outfield berth. Cutchin, shortstop, adds strength to the infield.

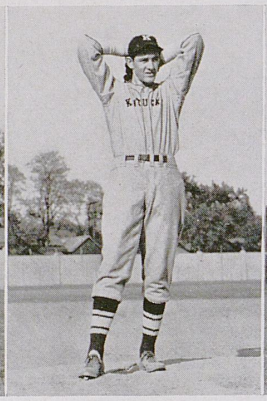

The spectacular slugging of Fritz and Black, coupled with the excellent mound work of Tognocchi, was the highlight of the season. Fritz is the only college player to ever knock a ball out of the Knoxville Southern Association ball park.

By B. F. Melton

"Well, we did just about as usual," said Coach Joe Rupert, in discussing the record of three wins and two losses his thinlies marked up on the cinder paths last year. One of these two losses was a forfeit to Vanderbilt because of the unfavorable weather conditions on the day of the scheduled Wildcat-Vandy meet.

Inspiring indeed was the season inaugural on Stoll Field as the University cinder artists smothered Hanover under an avalanche of points, 90-45. The outstanding work of Hardin, Mullins, Scholtz, and Montgomery enabled the Rupert outfit to achieve such a landslide. Hardin and Mullins had the singular distinction of finishing one-two in all the sprints. Scholtz dominated the hurdling events while Montgomery was outstanding in the two-mile.

After the ill-fated Vandy affair came the joust with Tennessee. Rupert's charges suffered an awful letdown after their wonderful showing against Hanover and were snowed under by a barrage of Volunteer points, 90½-26½. Captain Paul Durbin's forced absence from the fray might have lowered Kentucky's chances somewhat. Montgomery was top scorer for the blue and white clad lads with 6 points.

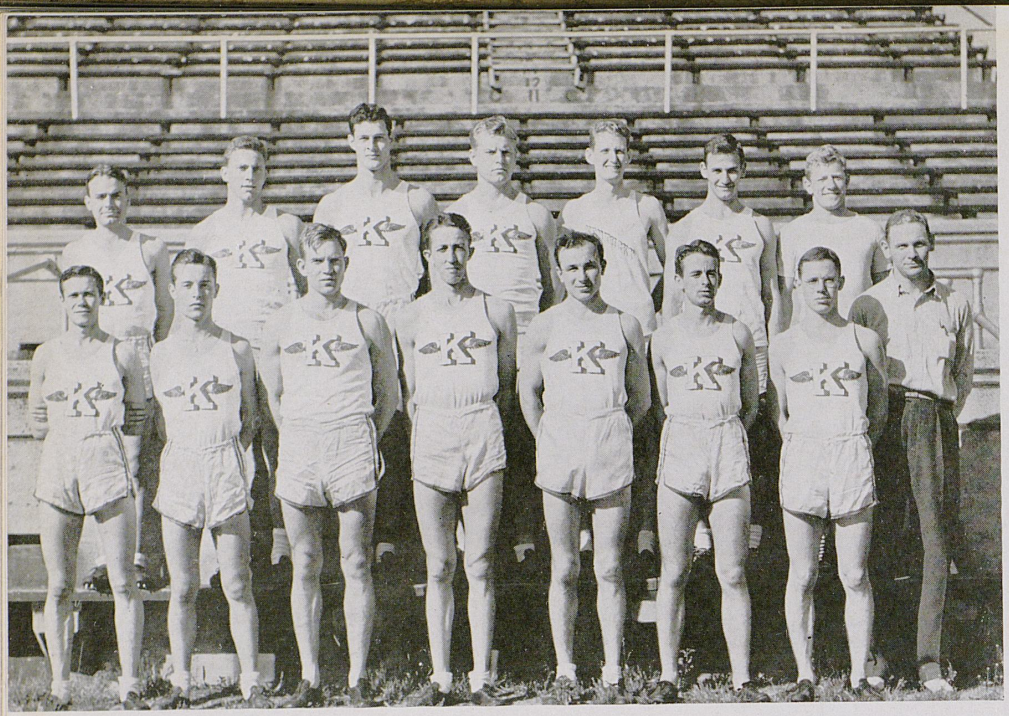

Captain Paul Durbin

In their next appearance the Wildcats atoned somewhat for their dismal showing against the Volunteers by drubbing the Bearcats from the University of Cincinnati 79-51. Henning and Mullins, who garnered 10 and 9 points respectively, captured scoring honors for the victors. Mullins teamed with Hardin to gain a monopoly on the sprints, and Montgomery, the two-miler, aided the cause in his department.

The Mountaineers of West Virginia treked wearily back to Morgantown after receiving a 66-51 shellacking at the hands of the Kentuckians. Noah Mullins, heralded in pigskin articles for his fleet-footedness, verified those claims by nabbing first places in both the 220 and 100 yard dashes. This resulted in his being the individual star with 10 points. The loss of Captain Durbin, however, for the remainder of the season with a spike wound received while running against two West Virginians, cast a cloud upon the otherwise bright day for the victors.

Montgomery, Henning, and Mullins were the lads who bore Kentucky's blue and white in the Southeastern Conference Tourney at Birmingham, Alabama. Mullins placed highest of the trio by running third in the 100-yard dash. Henning ran sixth in the mile, while Montgomery was forced to be content with fourth place in the two mile attraction.

Lettermen were Captain Paul Durbin, John Montgomery, who will captain this year's squad, Robert Fishback, Addison Lee, James Hardin, Noah Mullins, Bobby Scholtz, Jack Henning, Paul Haskell, John Dunn, Joe Hammond, Lawrence Spears, Dave Zoeller, and Clark Wood.

John Montgomery garnered 30 points in the four contests to capture the year's scoring honors. Montgomery has the meritorious distinction of placing in every Southeastern Conference meet he has entered. The 1941 captain lost only one race all last year. Another highlight of the season was the fleet-footed Mullins' feat of equaling the Stoll Field record of 9.6 seconds for the 100 yard dash.

Burton and Montgomery

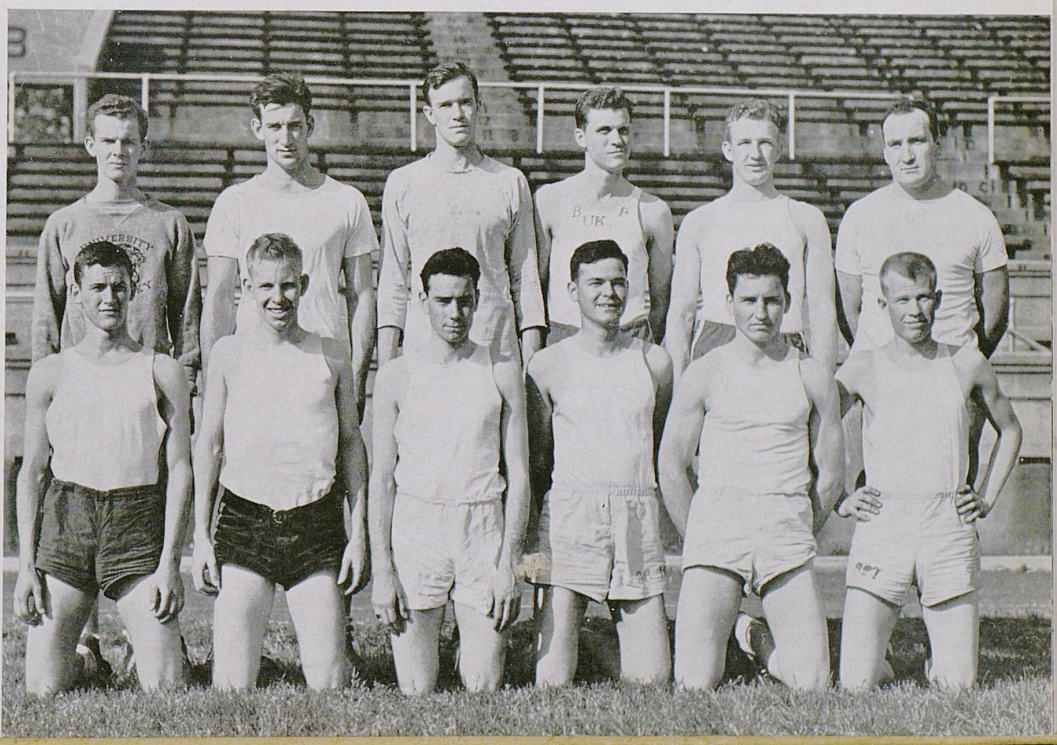

The color rushes to his cheeks and his eyes sparkle gleefully when Coach Rupert discusses next year's chances. "We should be very good," declares Joe, "for we will have every one back except Durbin, Hammond, Scholtz, and Henning. And we play practically the same schedule, with only West Virginia being dropped, and probably Missouri State Teacher's College being added." He also looks forward to help from some of last year's freshmen. These are Carl Althaus in the hurdles, Bob Mongomery and Jack Farris, quarter-milers, Clyde Johnson, shot put, Colvin, weights, Frank Farmer and Eugene Konsler in the 880, and James Corbin, miler. Returning after a lay-off due to injuries will be ex-lettermen Bernard Johnson, quarter-miler, and James Powers, an 880 artist.

The frosh cinder-aspirants did not have any scheduled meet last year, but a certain standard exists whereby they may earn numerals by making certain times and marks. The numeral winners were Robert Montgomery, W. J. Carroll, J. E. Corbin, R. H. Colvin, R. E. Davis, Frank Farmer, Jack Farris, E. W. Nutter, Marion Roberts, and C. T. Thompson. Several of these boys are expected to join the ranks of the varsity this year and contribute to one of the greatest seasons in Wildcat track history.

By B. F. Melton

Hampered by inclement weather during the pre-season training period, and with only two lettermen, Captain Buddy Boone and Lee Huber, returning, the outlook for the ensuing season didn't shape up so well for the Wildcat racqueteers. However, the completion of the campaign, which marked the twentieth year under the tutelage of Coach H. H. Downing, indicated his pupils to be victorious in six tilts, while emerging second-best in an equal number.

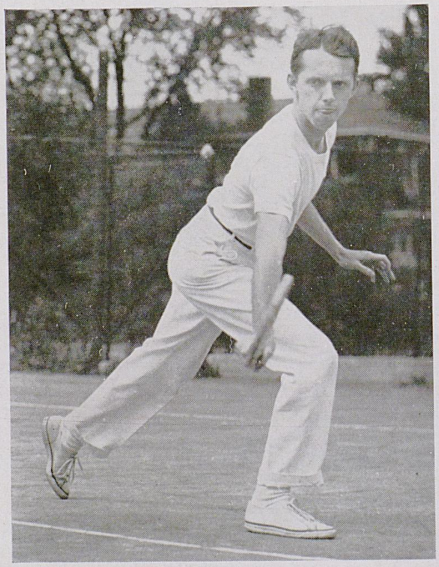

The adherents of Downing opened their Northern trek at Columbus, Ohio, April 18, where Ohio State netters administered a 6-2 lacing to the visitors from the Bluegrass. The games were played on asphalt courts in weather more appropriate for football than tennis.

Moving on to Detroit, on April 19, the University squad met Wayne University, again on asphalt courts, and the classy Tartans swept every match to win 9-0.

Still in the Wolverine State, the fortunes of the University netters remained unchanged, as they duplicated their Motor City appearance by losing to Michigan State, 9-0, April 20, in East Lansing.

Into the habitat of the Irish at South Bend, April 22, went the Wildcats next, only to drop an 8-1 decision to their hosts. The games were played on concrete courts in nearly freezing weather.

Returning to "deah 'ol Kaintucky" and their beloved Bluegrass, April 25, the Downing tutored aggregation snapped out of the doldrums to nose out the Volunteers of Tennessee, five matches to four, on their home courts. Two days later, the 'Cats abandoned their brief position in the win column by succumbing to the "Ramblin' Wreck from Georgia Tech," 7-2.

Captain Boone

Tennis

Three straight wins were now recorded to the credit of the courageous 'Cats. On April 29, on their home courts, they dispelled any thoughts of Kentucky hospitality that the visiting Indiana University raquet-wielders might have had, and handed the Hoosiers a 5-4 setback. Then, after a week's absence from the courts, the Wildcats completely outclassed Berea's Mountaineers on the latter's courts, to cop the tilt 9-0. At Knoxville two days later, the University forces handed their second defeat of the year to Tennessee by identically the same score, 5-4.

Coach Downing and his team returned to Lexington to complete the season in a pleasing fashion, by annexing two victories and dropping one decision. The Bearcats from the University of Cincinnati somewhat dimmed the return of the 'Cat netters by taking an 8-1 verdict. But Generalissimo Downing uncovered a neat bag of tricks and his proteges licked the Hilltoppers from Western 7-2, May 16, and gained some measure of revenge on the Wolverine State by trouncing the University of Detroit, 7-0.

Captain Boone, Huber, and Sonny Boland added additional laurels to the already studded University tennis annals, although they didn't win championships, by making creditable showing in the Southeastern Conference tourney at Sewanee. Huber advanced to the second round before losing to Joe Davis of Vanderbilt, who later won the singles championship. Captain Boone reached the third round before being nosed out by Georgia Tech's Russell Bobbitt, former Southeastern singles champion. Boland was ousted in the first round by Beard of Mississippi State. In doubles Huber and Boone were eliminated in the second round by Kirkland and Ayers of Louisiana State.

FRESHMAN TENNIS

The tennis yearlings did not enjoy as successful a season as their "big bruvvers", winning only one match out of four. The lone victory came at the expense of Kentucky Military Institute by a 4-3 tally.

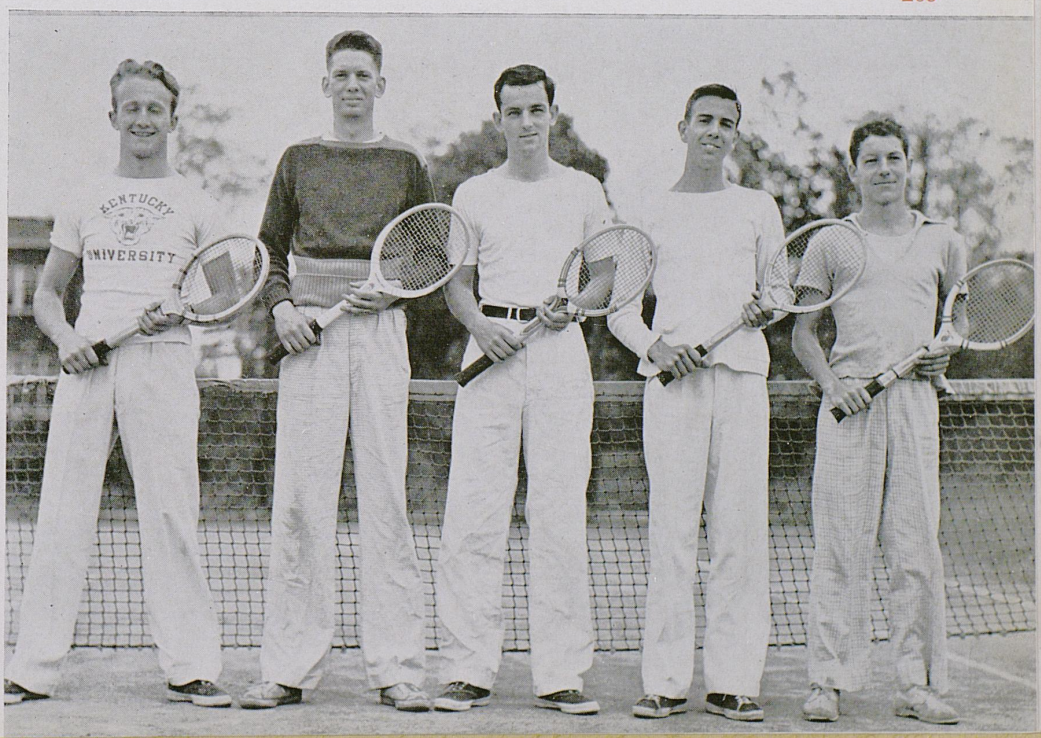

On the debit side of the ledger are listed two defeats by Pikeville Junior College and one by St. Xavier High School of Louisville. One of the Pikeville games was the only one played away from home.

Ironically enough, the Pikeville tennis squad barely nosed out the University first year men by identical scores on each occasion, 4-3. The Tigers of St. Xavier copped a 5-2 decision.

Despite the mediocre season which for one thing might be attributed to never having full strength at game time, several of the frosh netters displayed ability which indicated a future career on the varsity. Especially pleasing was the performance of Omar Ratliff.

Besides Ratliff, Guy Cunningham, Billy Richardson, Marshall Smith, Taylor, Edwards, and Wilson earned numerals.

The veteran coach is looking forward to a bumper crop of good tennis minded freshmen this year, chief of whom will be Foster Kaiser, St. Xavier racquet luminary, who holds several state prep championships

Golf

By B. F. Melton

The 1940 golfing quartet of Coach "Daddy" Boles compiled the most impressive record of recent years in that sport by tallying five victories in a tough seven game schedule.

Only the University of Cincinnati was able to obtain a hair-breadth 9½-8½ decision against the 'Cat linksters. A 9 to 9 deadlock with Michigan Teachers in the season inaugural accounted for the seventh match; after the Michigan encounter came a match with the Engineers of Georgia Tech. The golfers from Tech were subdued 11-7.

The Bearcats from the University of Cincinnati now put the afore-mentioned blemish on the Wildcat link record. But, hot as a blast from the torrid zone, the Kentuckians swamped the Volunteer golfers from Tennessee to win 16½ to 1½. Teeing off next against the Cardinals of the University of Louisville, the Wildcats duplicated their Vol victory by the same score.

The Volunteers once more affronted the seemingly invincible 'Cat squad and again turned their faces homeward, stinging from a 14-4 shellacking. Vanderbilt's Commodores provided the finale for the University link artists in regular season play, and bowed in defeat 11-7.

On the greens at Louisville, the boys from the Bluegrass nabbed the state links crown in an astoundingly easy manner over the two other competitors, the University of Louisville and Western. Not only did they emerge as champions from the fracas, but the University quartet, Clark, Allen, Ramsey, and Ferris also placed within the first six. Ramsey and Allen further stressed the U. K. superiority by tying for second place.

Swimming

By B. F. Melton

From a standpoint of meets won and lost, the 1941 'Catfish didn't make sports history nor create unusual stir, as Coach Jimmy Shropshire's mermen lost five meets while winning three for the worst season in U. K.'s swimming history. BUT . . . the opposition faced was decidedly stronger and better times were posted in all events which makes the losses seem less significant; add this to the fact of the 'Cats not having a home pool; and you wonder how they have gone through undefeated seasons and have done as well as they did this year.

Murray's Thoroughbreds didn't like the water so well, as the 'Cats bested the Racehorses 48-24 in the season opener at Murray.

On a three-game invasion of the South, Captain Gene Riddell and his mates didn't fare so well, dropping two meets and winning one. Their first stop was at Knoxville where the Vols posted a 54-21 victory. Next day the Wildcat tankers regained a position in the win column by thumping Tusculum, 44-34. A 43-32 defeat by Georgia Tech in the Engineer's pool ended the Southern trek for the U. K. "H_2O'ers."

In their so-called "home" pool at Eastern, the 'Catfish were "ducked 58-17 by Michigan State's potent tankers.

Berea's Mountaineers had the misfortune of meeting the Wildcats while they were still embittered over the Michigan State affair and were beaten 45-29.

A two foray into the North for the season's finales failed to up the 'Catfish rating as Depauw trimmed them 49-26 and Loyola of Chicago outsplashed them 47-29 on successive days.

Individual stardom and points aplenty for him was the record of Letelle Stephenson 'Cat diver, who won every diving contest he entered the entire sason. He and Houston Curtis, another diver, represented U. K. in the Southeastern Conference swimming tourney held in the Georgia Tech swimming emporium. Stephenson got a first in three meter and second in the one meter and Curtis was third in the one meter and second in the three meter diving contests.

Captain Riddell, breast-stroker in the 200 yard event, Henry Hillenmeyer, freestyler in 50 and 100 yard dashes, Stephenson, and Curtis were the letter earners. All of these but Hillenmeyer will be lost to next year's team.

However, Frank Etscorn and Junie Jones, dash men, Dick Stoll, backstroker, and Ben Johnson, distance swimmer, all of whom saw considerable service this year, will be available for duty next year.

From the freshman squad, Coach Shropshire is counting on Swartz, Keplar, Wright, Don Hillenmeyer, Gregory, and Padawer to heighten the chances of the 'Catfish next year.

Fencing

By B. F. Melton

The fifth anniversary of fencing on the U. K. campus saw the fencers, piloted by Dr. Scott Breckinridge, complete the season with a not-so-impressive record of two wins and five reverses.

Graduation last year cut deep in the ranks of the "thrusters" and Dr. Breckinridge found himself faced with the task of molding another capable team to represent Kentucky in this ancient art. Six of last year's regulars were lost via the graduation route, leaving the squad somewhat depleted. A very potent array of opponents was faced this year, which makes the record shape up a little better.

Ohio State's Buckeyes didn't allow their Bluegrass visitors to launch the season very encouragingly, as they bested the Kentuckians, 11-6, in the Ohio capital.

Still in the Buckeye state, the fortunes of the 'Cats didn't take the expected turn for the better; and the University of Cincinnati outscored them by the same margin.

Vandy's Commodores slapped the third straight defeat on the Wildcats in the winner's habitat.

Delving deeper into the South, Dr. Breckinridge's lads were vanquished 10-6 at Atlanta by Georgia Tech's determined fencers.

Departing from the region of "Gone With The Wind" fame, the victory-starved Kentuckians found no solace in Charleston, West Virginia, where the local Fencers Club, a very potent aggregation, trimmed them, 13-4.

The road-weary Wildcats celebrated their return home by racking up two straight triumphs. The University of Cincinnati's Bearcats and Georgia Tech's Engineers experienced unpleasant surprises when they came to Lexington expecting to duplicate their early season superiority over their hosts. Cincy's squad was repulsed 9½-7½, and the Ramblin' Wreck fell 11-6. Thus the regular season closed gloriously even though it didn't open so meteorically.

Post season activities of the sword-weilders included an entry in the national inter-collegiate fencing tournament at Columbus, Ohio, participated in by many teams, including the crack Eastern college squads, and the South Atlantic Conference tourney at Williamsburg, Virginia.

Foilmen Johnny Jones, Virgil Beasley, Al Jones, and John Carson earned letters as did saber weilders Cliff Bailey and Karl Holland.

Only Holland and Jones will be available for next year but plenty of good replacements are in prospect. Ben Eubank looms as No. 1 foil man while much help is anticipated from Pudding, Hubbard, Swift, and Prewitt.

Band

Band Director
C. V. Magurean

Personnel Director
Perry Adams

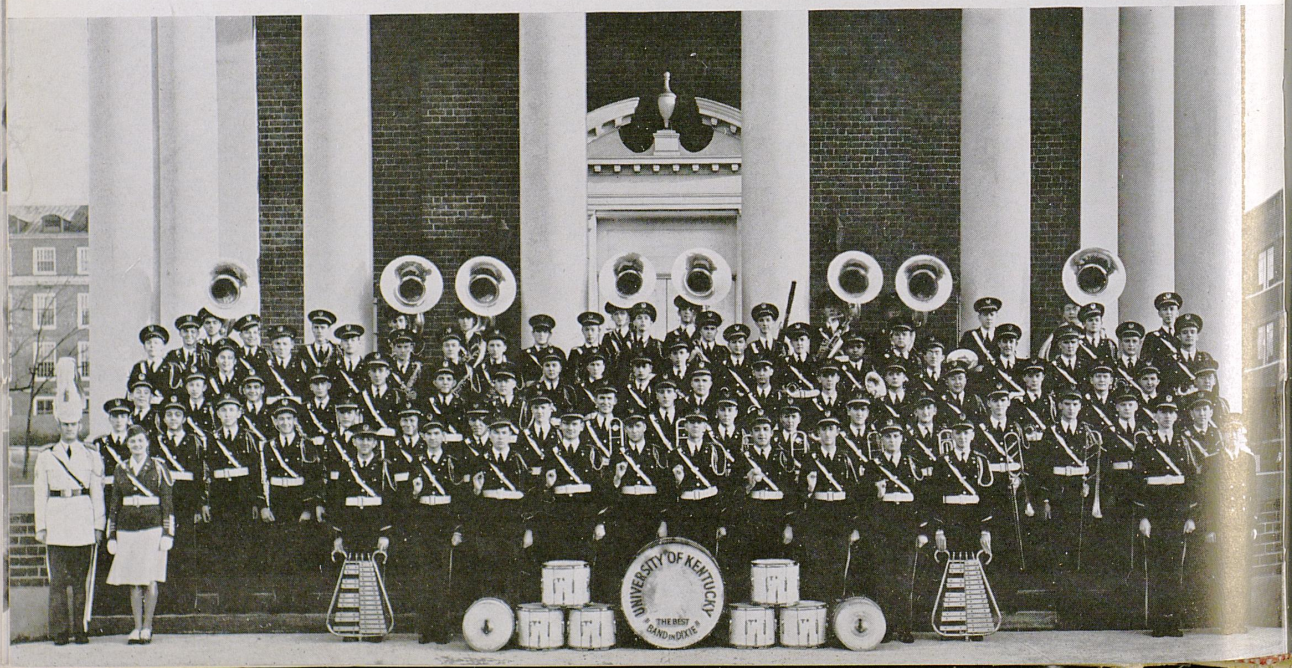

The University of Kentucky Band, composed of ninety-two skilled musicians, has carried its name even higher this year under Director Charles V. Magurean.

The band has played for all home basketball games during the past year and accompanied the team to Louisville for the Southeastern Conference Tournament. In addition, it has provided music for the pep meetings and military parades. It has performed at all the home football games, including the Georgia Tech game at Louisville, and made two trips with the football team, one to Cincinnati and one to Knoxville for Thanksgiving day game with the University of Tennessee.

B. B. Sullivan, Jr., who was drum major during the first semester, and Perry Adams, personnel officer, were in charge of the band affairs and were valuable in assisting Director Magurean.

The band journeyed to the Derby again last spring on the invitation of the track officials and from all appearances will make it an annual affair.

Miss Mattigene Palmore was sponsor and greatly added to the appearance of the band by her grace and charm.

Concert Band

The Concert Band consists of approximately sixty-five musicians selected from the University Band. This group plays the more difficult music, presents two major concerts in Memorial Hall, and makes many other appearances in nearby towns and schools each year. In the spring, the band is host to all the high school bands that attend the State Music Contest here. The individual members act as guides to the bands and the group acts as clinic band for the student conductors' contest.

Simfonietta

The University of Kentucky Simfonietta was organized by Dr. Alexander Capurso, executive director of the music department of the University, in the fall of 1940, primarily to give the University music students an opportunity to perform and hear the chamber works of the great masters which are ordinarily not presented by the larger musical organizations. The instrumentalists selected to participate in this group are the more advanced musicians. With the exception of Mary Kapp Allton, concert mistress, the personnel of the Simfonietta is made up of undergraduate and graduate students of the University.

Radio Staff

PURPOSE

The University of Kentucky Radio Studio has as its chief interests the educational and cultural development of Kentuckians. It serves these interests by carefully supervised programs broadcast from Lexington; by listening centers established in the mountain counties; and by a system of localized high frequency stations, a new development worked out by WHAS technicians and first used by the University studios. The studio also broadcasts from coast to coast over Mutual network six times each week.

The four year course in military science and tactics at the University has assumed a new and greater importance with the possibility of war lurking in campus shadows. The basic course of two years is still required of every physically fit male student at the University; but the department was swamped with applications for the advanced course, which consists of two years of training by the instructors here and a six-weeks summer camp at Fort Knox. To fill the demands of these would-be second lieutenants, it was necessary to create a special class under paragraph twenty of Army Regulations 145-10. A new company was also added to the regiment.

The regiment at the University was ably guided for the third year by Lieutenant Colonel Howard Donnelly, Infantry, Professor of Military Science and Tactics. Colonel Donnelly, a West Point graduate, served three years in the Hawaiian Islands before he became Commander of Cadets here.

"... Believe in truth,
Protest against error and
Lead men by reason
Rather than by force."
