CLAIBORNE

THE WILL TO WIN

Victory.

It takes training and practice.

But it also takes the will to win: the spirit and heart to give 110%

all the time.

It's the drive that pushes athletes to gain that extra edge on their opponents.

Claiborne Farm has been dedicated to this spirit for over 100 years.

And we see the same spirit in the UK football team.

Claiborne Farm salutes
Coach Jerry Claiborne and the Wildcats.

Dr. Otis A. Singletary

The University of Kentucky has made great strides toward academic excellence since Dr. Otis A. Singletary assumed the office of president in August, 1969.

Two professional schools — dentistry and pharmacy — have been ranked among the best in the nation. Departments such as political science, history and mathematics have gained national attention. The UK library now ranks among the best in the Southeast and a large portion of the world-wide research related to tobacco and health is now done at UK.

Dr. Singletary had previously served as chancellor at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, executive vice chancellor for academic affairs in the University of Texas system and director for the Job Corps for the Office of Economic Opportunity. He holds degrees from Millsaps College and Louisiana State University.

In the 14 years he has been president, the University has grown to more than 23,400 students on the Lexington campus and about 21,000 students in UK's 13 community colleges, and the University has become one of the major research institutions in the country.

A native of Gulfport, Miss., Dr. Singletary is the author of two books and several monographs. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa Senate.

He and Mrs. Singletary, the former Gloria Walton, have three children: Bonnie, Scot and Kendall.

CLIFFORD O. HAGAN Athletics Director

A $5 million-plus natatorium, an expanded lounge and storage area in the Football Offices at Commonwealth Stadium, a new computerized program for the Ticket Office and new dressing facilities for women at Shively Sports Center are major improvements on tap as Cliff Hagan begins his 10th year as University of Kentucky athletics director.

The natatorium, approved last spring by the UK Athletics Board, will contain a 50-meter pool, a 50' x 75' diving well, deck area, shower and dressing rooms, lobby and control offices, equipment room, dressing area and all the other requirements for a first-class facility.

The Stadium lounge area, scheduled for completion in time for the current football season, adjoins the football offices and will be used as a reception area for parents and recruits, a pre-game and post-game gathering place, a site for certain other functions, and storage.

The antiquated ticket system has "moved into the 20th Century" with installation of the Ticketron 2,001 System.

The expanded facilities for women at Shively Sports Center will be an addition located on the corner of the facility nearest the baseball field.

Another project in progress is removal of two areas of cracked external masonry walls on either side of the main entrance to Memorial Coliseum.

On the "games" side of the ledger, the 1983 Wildcat football team compiled a 6-4-1 record that represented the second-biggest turnaround in collegiate football history (from 0-10-1 in 1982) and participated in the Hall of Fame Bowl while the basketball Wildcats won the Southeastern Conference season and tournament championships and advanced to the "Final Four" as Mideast Regional champs.

The nationally ranked women's volleyball team was host to the 1984 NCAA championships while the Lady Kat basketball team won its holiday tournament (Dial Classic) for the fifth consecutive time.

The University was host to the Mideast Regional last March and will be host to the men's Final Four next March and the women's Final Four in 1986.

Since replacing Harry Lancaster as athletics director in July 1975, Hagan has supervised an ever-expanding program that now operates with a budget in the neighborhood of $7 million.

Hagan returned to the University in 1972 as assistant to Lancaster and was assigned the task of implementing the Blue & White Fund for 57,600-seat Commonwealth Stadium and later for the 23,000-seat Rupp Arena, home of the basketball Wildcats and site of the 1985 Final Four.

JERRY CLAIBORNE HEAD FOOTBALL COACH

In his second year as head coach at the University of Kentucky, Jerry Claiborne engineered one of the biggest turn-arounds in collegiate football history, coming off a 0-10-1 year to post a 6-4-1 record and a Hall of Fame Bowl appearance in 1983.

The feat was second only to that recorded by the 1980 University of Florida team, which finished 7-4 and defeated Maryland, 35-20, in the Tangerine Bowl after a 0-10-1 season in 1979.

In posting their first winning season since 1977, the 1983 Wildcats, in accepting a Hall of Fame Bowl bid, also became the first UK team since 1946 (Peach Bowl) to participate in a post-season classic.

For that accomplishment the Associated Press selected Claiborne Southeastern Conference Co-Coach of the Year.

Claiborne, who entered the season as the 15th winningest collegiate coach, now has an overall record of 144-91-7.

A native of Hopkinsville, Claiborne returned to his alma mater after successful tenures at Virginia Tech (61-39-2) and Maryland (77-37-3), where he compiled an overall record of 138-76-5 during 20 years at those two universities.

Claiborne began his coaching career at Augusta Military Academy in Virginia as head coach in both football and basketball. During his two seasons there, Augusta teams won a state championship in each sport.

He returned to UK as an assistant to Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant (1952-53) and moved with Bryant to Texas A & M as defensive coordinator. Two years later he joined the Missouri coaching staff as defensive coordinator and then rejoined Bryant at Alabama the following year as assistant head coach in charge of defense. In two of the next three years, Alabama played in the Liberty and Bluebonnet Bowls.

As head coach 10 years at Virginia Tech, he compiled a 61-39-2 record, with two of his teams participating in bowl games and the 1963 team winning the first and only

Southern Conference Championship. In 1963 he was selected Southern Conference "Coach of the Year"; in 1966, he was named District III "Coach of the Year."

He spent one year (1971) as an assistant coach at Colorado before taking over a Maryland program that had suffered seven consecutive losing seasons, including one winless season, during that period.

In 10 years at Maryland, he compiled a 77-37-3 record, winning three Atlantic Coast Conference championships and being accorded ACC and District III "Coach of the Year" honors three times (1973, '75, '76). In one stretch, his Maryland teams won 21 straight ACC games, a conference record. They also participated in seven bowl games.

Claiborne was named "National Coach of the Year" by The Sporting News in 1974. He coached five first-team wire service All-Americans while at Maryland. His 1976 team went 11-0 in regular season before losing to Houston, 30-21, in the Cotton Bowl.

He was president of the American Football Coaches Association in 1980. He has served on the coaching staffs of various all-star games, both at home and abroad, and has conducted clinics in Germany and England. He is an active member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and has served as a deacon in the Baptist Church.

A mathematics major at UK, he was one of the best students on the football team, accumulating a 2.7 out of a possible 3.0 grade point average. He was a member of Omicron Delta Kappa, leading men's honorary on campus; Lamp and Cross, senior men's leadership honorary, and Scabbard and Blade, an honorary fraternity for advanced military science students.

He was selected the "Outstanding Senior" in the College of Education and graduated from UK with "High Distinction." In 1965, he received the University of Kentucky "Achievement Award."

Claiborne holds the UK record for pass interceptions in a season with nine in 1949.

He began his coaching career as head baseball coach and an assistant coach in football and basketball at Pickens High in South Carolina. He moved to Hopkinsville High School in Kentucky, again as an assistant in football and basketball and head baseball coach, remaining there four years before moving to Paul G. Blazer High in Ashland, Ky., in 1966 as head football and track coach.

His football teams there recorded a two-year record of 20-6-0, with the '66 squad capturing the district championship and the '67 squad winning the state title. His track team placed third in the state in 1967. He was named "Coach of the Year" by the Lexington Herald-Leader and the Kentucky High School Athletic Association, and the "Outstanding Young Man" in the Ashland and Boyd County area in 1967.

1983 WILDCAT SEASON IN REVIEW

The first winning season (6-4-1) since 1977, a Hall of Fame Bowl bid, three home appearances on regional television (CBS—Indiana, Tulane and Tennessee) and a national appearance on WTBS (Vanderbilt) were just rewards for a 1983 University of Kentucky football team that failed to win a game (0-10-1) the previous year.

The turn-around was second in collegiate football history only to the 1979 Florida team, which finished 7-4-0 after a 0-10-1 record under new head coach Charley Pell the previous year.

Playing before home crowds, the Wildcats were impressive in victories over Central Michigan, 31-14; Kansas State, 31-12; Indiana, 24-13, and Tulane, 26-14.

In the fifth game, also in Commonwealth Stadium, they fell behind powerful Auburn, 35-7, in the third quarter, but cut the margin to 35-21 before the Tigers added two late scores for a 49-21 win.

The most exciting victory of the season was a 21-13 conquest of LSU at Baton Rouge. George Adams gained an even 100 yards and Randy Jenkins threw two touchdown passes in that game.

The Wildcats led nationally ranked Georgia, 14-10, at halftime, but made several costly mistakes in the second half and lost, 47-21.

A 13-13 tie with Cincinnati at Commonwealth Stadium was a disappointment to the Wildcats as sophomore kicker Chris Caudell missed his first extra point of the season after kicking 28 in a row over two seasons.

A 17-8 victory over Vanderbilt at Nashville assured the Wildcats of a winning season (6-2-1 at the time) and rekindled interest of bowl scouts. The Commodores had 473 total net yards, including 343 yards passing, but four interceptions thrown and two fumbles lost were too much for them to overcome.

Injuries in the Cincinnati and Vanderbilt games took their toll. The Wildcats, who were without the services of defensive captain Scott Schroeder until the Tennessee game, also lost defensive tackle Frank Hare with a broken leg. Defensive guard Dave Thompson was hampered by a knee sprain and tight end Matt Lucas received a broken arm in a loss to Florida at Gainesville.

Neither Hall of Fame Bowl-bound Kentucky nor Citrus Bowl-bound Tennessee could generate much offense in the Battle of the Beer Barrel at Commonwealth Stadium; however, the Volunteers capitalized on Wildcat mistakes and put 10 points on the board during a short span of the third quarter and held on for a 10-0 victory.

'Cats swarm to the ball.

WILDCATS ROLL OVER CHIPPEWAS

Coming off a 0-10-1 season, the Wildcats held CMU twice on downs and had their backs to the goal as a 42-yard punt was downed on the UK one. Behind the running of George Adams and three pass completions by Randy Jenkins, the Wildcats advanced to the CMU 43, where an old nemesis hit as an Adams fumble was recovered by Jim Bowman on the 37. The Chippewas drove 63 yards in seven plays, with QB Ron Fillmore scoring from the four.

A 24-yard Jenkins to Oliver White pass early in the second quarter advanced UK to the 32, where sophomore fullback Tom Wheary, in his first collegiate carry, scored to put UK on the board for the first time in 1983. A Fillmore pass batted into the air by a defender was caught by John DeBoer and turned into a 48-yard gain. Adams scored from the five. With Jenkins hitting Rick Massie from the 18 to cap a six-play, 66-yd. drive, UK tied the score with 1:25 left in the half.

The Wildcats took control midway of the third period as a 29-yard halfback pass from Tony Mayes to Joe Phillips set up a one-yard TD plunge by Lawrence Lee. On the first play after CMU punted from its own 20 to the UK 37, Lee went off guard for a 63-yard TD. Chris Caudell kicked his fourth extra point of the game and UK went on to win, 31-14.

WILDCATS CAPITALIZE ON ERRORS TO BEAT KANSAS STATE

On Kansas State's second play from scrimmage, a handoff by James Ricketts was recovered by UK's Keith Martin on the KSU 19. With fourth and goal from the four, Chris Caudell Kicked a 21-yard field goal. A 40-yard punt return by Brian Williams on KSU's next possession put UK in business on the enemy's 41. After three plays gained eight yards, Caudell kicked a 50-yard field goal for a 6-0 lead. On KSU's first play of the next series, Scott Schroeder intercepted Doug Bogue's pass at the KSU 42. Kentucky drove 33 yards in nine plays and settled for a 26-yard field goal by Caudell, whose three field goals tied a school record held by several players.

Mistakes continued to plague KSU as a Carlos Adams' punt was recovered by Cam Jacobs at the UK 44; five plays later, Randy Jenkins hit Cisco Bryant, who scored (28 yards) on his first collegiate reception. The Cats put together another drive late in the quarter, with Jenkins hitting Matt Lucas for an 18-yard TD and then handing off to Adams for the two-pointer and a 24-0 halftime lead. Jenkins hit Bryant again in the third quarter from six yards for a 31-0 margin.

Kansas State started the fourth quarter with a 34-yard Bogue to Eric Mack TD pass, but Bogue's pass for two missed. Substitute quarterback Donnie Campbell started KSU on its final scoring drive by hitting three passes for 48 yards to the UK 3. Greg Dageforde scored from the one; once again, the two-point attempt failed.

CATS BEAT HOOSIERS FOR NO. 3

In a regionally televised game (CBS), the Wildcats got off to a rocky start as a Randy Jenkins' pass was intercepted by Nate Borders and returned to the UK 40. The Hoosiers drove to the UK 29 and were forced to settle for a 47-yard field goal by Doug Smith. On the next IU series, a 50-yard attempt by Smith hit the crossbar and bounced back onto the playing field. The Wildcats drove 70 yards in 13 plays and tied the score with a 27-yard field goal by Chris Caudell. After recovering a snap fumble by Jenkins on the UK 48, IU got another field goal (20 yds.) from Smith for a 6-3 lead at halftime.

Smith missed another field goal attempt early in the third quarter. Kentucky got its big break when Paul Calhoun intercepted a Hoosier pass on the IU 24 and returned it to the 16. On second and eight, Jenkins faked a handoff, rolled to the right and scored unmolested. Indiana came back with a 74-yard scoring strike from Steve Bradley to Stephen Benson for a 13-10 IU lead. A 40-yard rush by Jenkins was the big play as UK drove 72 yards, going ahead, 17-13, on a two-yard run by Adams and a kick by Caudell. Jenkins scored from six yards on a keeper with five minutes remaining to ice the game, 24-13.

TULANE BECOMES FOURTH VICTIM

With CBS returning to Commonwealth Stadium for the second consecutive Saturday, UK once again fell behind as Tulane drove 57 yards in 12 plays, with Kelvin Robinson scoring from the two; on Tulane's first series, Kerry Baird had blocked a 51-yard field goal attempt by Tony Woods. Chris Caudell missed a 45-yard field goal attempt in the first quarter, but UK tied the score on an 82-yard drive that featured four Randy Jenkins' completions for 58 yards, including a 25-yard scoring pass to his roommate, Rick Massie. The Wildcats got on the board again with a 47-yard Caudell field goal and led, 10-7, at halftime.

Backed up deep after taking the second-half kickoff, Tulane was forced to punt from its own 12 to the UK 44, where Brian Williams returned to the nine. Jenkins hit Massie for seven, Adams skirted end for seven and Curt Cochran scored from the 15. Wade Elmore replaced Jon English as Greenie QB and drove Tulane to a score (hitting Toddy Francis from the one) at the beginning of the fourth quarter to cut UK's lead to three (17-14).

Don Yarano recovered a fumbled punt at the Tulane 15; after the Greenies pushed the 'Cats back, Caudell hit a 37-yd. field goal. Another mistake killed Tulane as Frank Hare recovered an Elmore fumble on the Tulane 42. UK put the game away with a three-yard TD plunge by George Adams and a two-point conversion pass from Jenkins to Joe Phillips. Wildcat linebacker Kevin McClelland and Greenie substitute quarterback Elmore were named the outstanding players from each team.

PLAINSMEN TOO TOUGH FOR 'CATS

Nationally ranked Auburn piled up 384 yards on the ground, with 11 backs finishing in the double figures, and added 53 yards passing to beat the Wildcats 49-21; however, the score wasn't as lopsided as it seemed after UK fought back from a 28-7 halftime deficit. Auburn scored first on a four-yard run by Bo Jackson, but UK bounced back to tie the score, 7-7, on a six-yard pass from Randy Jenkins to George Adams.

The Plainsmen set the tone early in the second quarter as David King intercepted a Jenkins' pass and returned it 40 yards for a touchdown. Ten minutes later, quarterback Randy Campbell scored on a 14-yard run; with 0:15 left in the half, Campbell scored again, this time from nine yards out.

On the opening series of the third quarter, Paul Calhoun punted to the Auburn 30, but an interference penalty against UK gave the Plainsmen good field position on the 45. Five plays later, Jackson scored from the 16. The Wildcats bounced back with a 50-yard touchdown pass from Bill Ransdell to Mark Wheeler and a one-yard scoring plunge by George Adams; however, Auburn was too strong, putting two more TDs on the board, with Jackson scoring from the one and Mike Man from the 20.

BAIRD STARTS WIN OVER LSU

On its first possession (opening kickoff), LSU had a first down on the 33 after three plays; on the next play, Jeff Wickersham's pass in the flat was intercepted by Kerry Baird and returned 35 yards for a touchdown, quieting a crowd of 77,765 in Tiger Stadium. The Tigers came back in the second quarter with a 33-yard field goal by Carlos Betanzos after Billy Hendrix recovered a UK fumble on the 12. Just before the quarter ended, Wickersham led LSU to an 8-play, 58-yard drive, scoring on a four-yard option run for a 10-7 LSU lead.

Freshman Mark Logan started UK toward its second TD, rushing for nine and six yards on consecutive plays that started from the UK 40 midway of the third quarter. The drive ended with Randy Jenkins completing a six-yard TD pass to Joe Phillips. The combination worked again in the fourth quarter as Jenkins threw a 12-yard pass to Phillips. LSU took the kickoff and marched from the 22 to UK's 11, where the Tigers had to settle with a 27-yard Betanzos field goal. The 21-13 decision gave the Wildcats their fifth win against one loss, and was a major step toward a Hall of Fame Bowl bid.

BULLDOGS OVERTAKE 'CATS 47-21

Georgia won the toss and chose the second half option, kicking to Tony Mayes, who returned from the end zone to the UK 48. Led by George Adams and Randy Jenkins, the Wildcats marched 52 yards, with Adams scoring from the one. The Bulldogs wasted no time, tying the score on a three-yard run by Keith Montgomery.

With UK 4th & 8 on the UG 46, Don Yarano's snap went over the head of Paul Calhoun, who retreated and punted to the Bulldog 25. Georgia's Kevin Butler kicked a 24-yard field goal. Kentucky bounced right back, scoring on a 16-yard Jenkins to Joe Phillips pass and taking a 14-10 lead into halftime.

The Wildcats held on Georgia's opening drive of the second half, but the gates flew open when Brian Williams fumbled Andrews' punt and a Bulldog recovered at the UK 17. McCluskey plunged over from the three. On UK's next series, Tommy Thurston intercepted a Jenkins pass on the 25 and returned it to the UK 5. Georgia went ahead, 20-14, on a 21-yard field goal by Butler. Two plays later, a Jenkins' handoff was fumbled and Georgia recovered at the UK 5. David McCluskey scored the clinching touchdown from the one as Georgia went on to win, 47-21.

ADAMS IGNITES UK TO TIE CINCINNATI, 13-13

Junior tailback George Adams carried 22 times for 93 yards and scored two touchdowns to help the Wildcats overcome a 13-0 deficit. Kentucky got the Bearcats in the hole early as Caudell's kickoff was fumbled out of bounds on the UC one; however, a 29-yard run by Jon Thomas helped UC move to the 44, where Shaun Burdick's punt rolled dead on the UK one. On UK's first play from scrimmage, Lawrence Lee was caught in the end zone for a safety. Later in the quarter, UC got a 25-yard field goal from Mike Morton for a 5-0 lead.

UK's opening drive of the second quarter stopped when Bob Gibbs intercepted a Jenkins pass at the UK 29. Jeff Smith recovered a UC fumble a short while later, but the Bearcats got on the board again when Jerome Brinson intercepted a Jenkins pass at the UK 47 and returned it for a touchdown. A Willging pass to Deno Foster for the conversion gave UC a 13-0 lead.

An awakened UK offense, led by quarterback Bill Ransdell, drove 63 yards in nine plays, with Adams going off tackle from the two. Adams carried for 23 yards and Ransdell passed for 22 yards in that drive. Mistakes bothered the Wildcats in the second half, but they finally tied the score early in the fourth quarter on a two-yard plunge by Adams to culminate a 43-yard drive. The Bearcats' Mike Morton missed a 39-yard field goal with 17 seconds remaining.

'CATS GET BIG WIN AT NASHVILLE

George Adams had one of his finest games, carrying 22 times for 135 yards and a touchdown as the Wildcats defeated Vanderbilt, 17-8, before a national cable audience on WTBS and assured their first winning season (6-2-1) since 1976. Although Vanderbilt totaled 473 yards (343 passing) to UK's 286, the Commodores committed six critical turnovers (four interception and two fumbles).

The Wildcats struck midway of the first quarter as Jenkins, on second and eight, faked, dropped back and hit Rick Massie for a 67-yard touchdown. Caudell kicked the point. Caudell Kicked a 39-yard field goal early in the second quarter for a 10-0 UK lead. A 54-yard touchdown run by Adams with 8:26 remaining put UK in command, although the Commodores fought back to score on a three-yard pass from Chuck Scott to Kurt Page with 1:04 remaining.

GATORS TOO POWERFUL FOR UK

Florida took the opening kickoff and marched 46 yards to the UK 30, where Perkins kicked a 47-yard field goal for a 3-0 Gator lead. Tony Mayes returned the UF kickoff 35 yards to the UK 39, but the Wildcats were forced to kick on fourth down. After a change of possessions, Chris Caudell missed a 45-yard field goal attempt for the Cats. The Wildcats could get no offense going, but they held off the Gators until early in the second quarter, when quarterback Wayne Peace and Neal Anderson led the Gators on a 12-play, 67-yard drive, with Anderson carrying the last five plays and scoring from the nine for a 10-0 halftime lead.

Florida put the game out of reach in the fourth quarter, putting together a 13-play, 61-yard drive that began after a Bill Ransdell pass was intercepted late in the third quarter. Ransdell completed five straight passes, including a 14-yard strike to Cisco Bryant with 1:33 remaining to put UK on the board as UF won, 24-7.

VOLUNTEERS PREVAIL BY 10 AS WILDCAT OFFENSE STYMIED

After both teams sputtered offensively most of two quarters, the Wildcats drove to the Tennessee 16, where Randy Jenkins was thrown for a seven-yard loss on second and 12; on the next play, Jenkins fumbled the snap, which UT recovered on the 20. Opening the second half on its 20, UK sent Curt Cochran off right guard for three. Tony Mayes fumbled on the next play and Reggie White recovered on the UK 36. The Vols got a 19-yard field goal from Fuad Reveiz for a 3-0 lead.

After Jenkins was thrown for a 17-yard loss to the UK one on the next series, Paul Calhoun punted to the UK 38. The Vols scored seven plays later on a one-yard plunge by Sam Henderson. On their final series, the Wildcats advanced from their own 20 to the UT 27, with Jenkins hitting four of 10 passes. The game ended with the ball, intended for Joe Phillips, sailing out of bounds near the right sideline.

Academic Program Prepares Wildcats for "After Football"

By LARRY VAUGHT

Professional football is the dream of every player who stops on the college gridiron. Even those players who realize they don't have the physical tools for the pro game still visualize in their minds what it would be like to play professional football.

University of Kentucky football coach Jerry Claiborne encourages his players to strive for a career in pro football. But he also makes sure his gridders understand there is more to college athletics than preparing for a professional football career.

"Ninety-seven percent of the college football players won't get the opportunity to play pro football," says Claiborne. "The number one reason they are here is to get an education and prepare themselves to be a member of society.

"I do tell my players that while they go to class and get an education they can also prepare their bodies to be in that three percent that plays pro football. You can't find a major here that pays as much the first five years as pro football.

"I tell my players there is nothing wrong with striving for academic and athletic success. But I want them to have an education they can use when football is over."

Claiborne believes in the true meaning of student-athlete. He expects top performance from his players on the gridiron but also demands the same dedication and effort in the classroom.

"Not a team meeting went by while I was playing that coach Claiborne didn't talk about grades," says former Wildcat Keith Martin, who played under Claiborne at UK two seasons. "We have an excellent academic program here and coach Claiborne keeps up with your academic progress.

"He expects each player to perform up to his potential. But that's easy to accept from him because he doesn't expect more of you than he gives himself."

Claiborne graduated from UK in 1950 with "High Distinction" and carried a 2.7 grade point average on a 3.0 scale while majoring in math and physical education. He lettered three years in football and was named outstanding senior his final season. He proved then that academics and athletics went hand in hand with one another.

Still, the academic achievements of the UK football team during the 1983-84 school year were incredible. Three players (Martin, Scott Schroeder and Ron Bojalad) made the All-Southeastern Conference Academic first team. Three more were on the second team.

Twenty-four players had grade point averages of 3.0 or higher during the fall semester and 16 accomplished that feat in the spring term.

"Other academic advisors around the country were amazed at our academic record last year," says Bob Bradley, who heads UK's academic team. "It all flows down from the head coach. Jerry Claiborne is an amazing man and he has been great for our (academic) program.

"Kids here now have a genuine concern about their degrees due to him. They want a degree and they worry about their grades. And they are taking tougher courses, too. They are trying to do the right things with their academic programs."

Paul Calhoun, an All-SEC punter in 1983, says the disciplined approach to school Claiborne has instilled in the squad has carried over to the playing field.

Wildcat Athletic Director Cliff Hagan and NCAA Scholarship recipient Keith Martin

"Players are going to class now more than they ever did," says the senior safety. "A lot of nights when you think you are too tired it is easy not to study. But you don't do it that way under coach Claiborne."

Sophomore quarterback Bill Ransdell hadn't given his academics much worry when he arrived in Lexington in 1982. His attitude changed in a hurry, though.

"After one semester here I knew coach Claiborne was very serious about school," says Ransdell. "If you don't make your grades you don't play for him."

Under Claiborne the Wildcats have silenced those who referred to the football team as "dumb jocks" and now fellow students and professors marvel at the academic success of the squad.

"When we had 24 people make above 3.0 last year it was a great feeling," says junior defensive end Brian Williams. "People suddenly looked around and realized we were trying in class just as hard as we were on the field."

Claiborne wants his players to excel in life. He believes in the All-American youngster that can play sports and still make good grades. He tries to develop the total person.

"It would be great if you could recruit only players that were outstanding students," says Claiborne. "Unfortunately, that isn't possible. But you can take a kid that is willing to work with tutors and help him become a good student."

Claiborne feels college athletics have been unfairly criticized recently. Academic scandals have made national headlines while the recent success stories of many more athletes have been overlooked.

"You can read about athletes that have been exploited but nothing is said about the ones who do well in school," says the Kentucky coach. "Hundreds of thousands of athletes have benefited from a college education.

"Even youngsters who don't get their degrees still benefit. If a kid stays in school four years he is still better off than if he had never been associated with the college environment. But at UK we push our players to get their degrees. They are going to need them in the future."

So while Claiborne has made Kentucky a winner again on the football field, remember that he has also helped the Cats gain respect in the classroom. And in the long run that is what his players will appreciate most about the man.

Coach Claiborne Assesses Spring Results . .

"The No. 1 thing we tried to do was make some position changes to shore up obvious weak spots. We moved Larry Smith and Cam Jacobs to linebacker from fullback and defensive tackle, respectively, and the switch turned out pretty good since both came along very well in that position.

"We also moved Frank Hare from defensive tackle to defensive guard, which will give us some strength at guard. We also felt that moving Jerry Reese from guard to tackle was a good move, but it didn't really turn out that well by the end of spring practice; however, we're hoping it will give up better depth at tackle."

On Spring Practice:

"The weather prevented us from working fundamentally on sleds, learning how to block, the proper stance, and things of that nature, where you need to block live people. The best thing about spring practice was our excellent attitude. I thought our players worked hard and gained some confidence coming off last season. We did things with more authority than during the preceding spring."

On Weak Areas:

"Our big concern is a need to improve in the offensive line, where Bob Shurtleff is our only returning veteran. He, Bruce Bozick, Tom Richey and Vernon Johnson were our four best tackles in the spring. At guard, Joe Prince, James Reichwein, Brad Myers and Terry Williams did the best job.

"At center, Ken Pietrowiak, Dermontti Dawson and Lee Dotson are trying to replace Jerry Klein. We are just going to have to bring those people along and get them some experience.

"We lost three fine linebackers and now must give the new ones some playing experience. Larry Smith and Cam Jacobs have never lined up in that position in a game, while Tony Czack and Jeff Kremer did not play there last year. We are hoping to find some depth behind Smith and Jacobs.

"At defensive guard, Frank Hare, David Thompson and Tom Wilkins came along quickest during the spring, but again finding depth is going to be a real factor in any success that we have.

"Those are the areas where we feel we've got to come up with new people, and they've got to do a good job for us."

"On offense, we've got most of our receivers back. Eric Pitts, Joe Phillips, Cornell Burbage and Cisco Bryant had good spring practices and should do a good job for us in the fall. Oliver White is a real fine tight end and should give us a real good play there. We should have pretty good depth with Matt Lucas and Mark Wheeler."

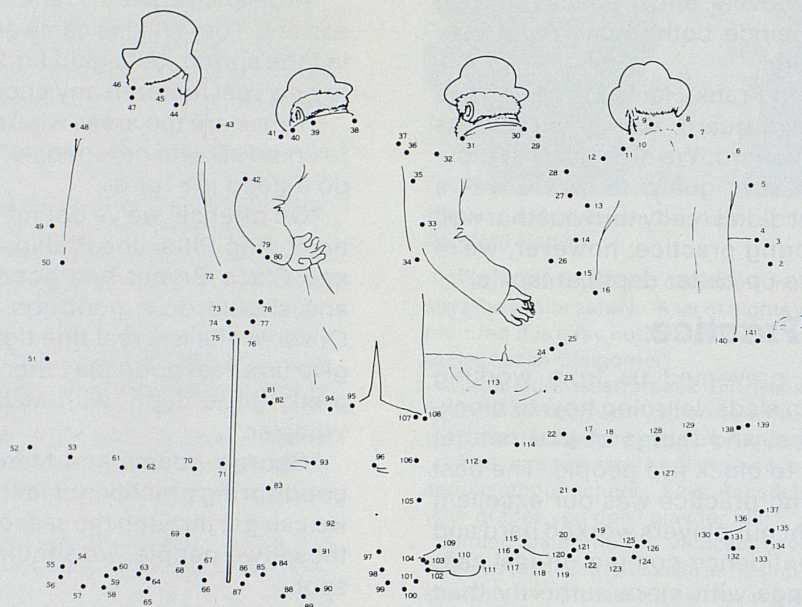

"George Adams and Mark Logan both had good spring practices at tailback. We feel like if we can get through the season without injury to those two people, we should be strong at that spot."

"At defensive end with Steve Mazza, Stacy Burrell and Brian Williams, we feel that we have three fine football players, but we have to come up with some depth there. Right now Matt Stein and Brian Davis are the ones that look like they are going to give us some depth at that position."

On Upcoming Season:

"We will be a young football team this fall. We redshirted quite a few people our first year here at the University of Kentucky, and due to that fact, we only have twelve seniors on this year's squad. Because of this lack of experience, we hope to improve as the season progresses and that we can keep our head above water during the early part of the season, and be a stronger football team as we go down the home stretch."

1984 UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY FOOTBALL OUTLOOK

Although the 1984 University of Kentucky football team will feature two returning national statistical leaders, along with last season's team leaders in rushing, scoring, receiving and punt returns, Wildcat coach Jerry Claiborne faces a rebuilding task in several areas, including linebackers and the offensive line.

Returning from the 6-4-1 team that lost to West Virginia, 20-16, in the Hall of Fame Bowl are soph. defensive back Tony Mayes, fifth nationally in kickoff returns (14 for 375 yds.), and All-Southeastern Conference punter (senior) Paul Calhoun, 10th nationally with a 43.2 average.

George Adams, a 6-foot-1, 225 lb. tailback, returns after leading the team in scoring and rushing for the second straight year. The senior from Lexington rushed 166 times for 763 yards, scored 50 points, caught 24 passes for 154 yards and a TD and returned five kickoffs for 151 yards.

Adams was second-leading receiver to Oliver White, a 6-0, 230 lb. senior from Barbourville who caught 26 passes for 252 yards. Junior defensive end Brian Williams led the team in punt returns with 29 for 284 yards, fourth in the conference.

Replacements must be found on offense for such graduating seniors as:

- Randy Jenkins, who set UK career records for passes attempted (716), passes completed (372), most games played (47) and most offensive plays (857).
- Defensive back Kerry Baird, who led the team in interceptions with three, including a 35-yard TD against LSU, and was credited with 36 first hits, 38 assists, a tipped pass, four interceptions caused and eight key tackles.
- Rick Massie, fourth leading receiver with 17 catches for 341 yards and three touchdowns; offensive captain Ron Bojalad, center Jerry Klein and offensive tackles Don Corbin and Don Portis.
- Linebacker John Grimsley, three-time leading tackler (77 firsts, 44 assists, four tipped passes, two fumbles caused, two fumbles recovered, and three key tackles in 1983).
- Linebacker Kevin McClelland, second-leading tackler with 74 firsts, 43 assists, four tipped passes, two fumbles caused and three key tackles.
- Defensive captain and LB Scott Schroeder, ninth tackler with 40 firsts, 23 assists, a fumble caused and a key tackle.
- Tailback Lawrence Lee, second-leading rusher (89 for 338 and two TDs), and placekickers Chris Caudell, second-leading scorer with 8x12 FGs, 23x24 extra points, and John Hutcherson.

The offensive line will be led by tackle Bob Shurtleff, the only returning starter. Juniors Vernon Johnson and James Reichwein and lettermen Joe Prince and Tom Richey saw action in the line last season. Redshirt sophomore Ken Pietrowiak emerged as the No. 1 replacement for center Jerry Klein, but redshirt freshman Dermontti Dawson switched from guard and did well in the spring. Junior Lee Dotson also is a center candidate. Conrad Carney, who transferred from Potomac Junior College, missed most of spring drills with an injury.

Tight end should be in good shape, with lettermen Matt Lucas and Mark Wheeler and freshman redshirt Bob Thistleton joining White at that position. Thistleton underwent a knee operation in the spring and is questionable.

Senior Joe Phillips (22 catches for 255 yards and three TDs) and junior Cisco Bryant (12 catches for 168 yards and four TDs) are veteran receivers, backed by sophomore Eric Pitts (four catches for 57 yards) and Cornell Burbage.

Filling the tailback spot with Adams is sophomore Mark Logan, who rushed 21 times for 108 yards in seven games last season.

Sophomore Bill Ransdell showed fine promise at quarterback, appearing in seven games and the Hall of Fame Bowl. He was 37 for 63 for 462 yards, three touchdowns and three interceptions in regular season; 9 of 15 for 117 yards, and one TD in the bowl game.

Held out of competition last season were freshmen quarterbacks Kevin Dooley and Tim Jones and sophomore Mike Whitaker. Dooley and Whitaker performed well in the spring, but Jones missed the drills due to corrective surgery on a shoulder injured in high school. Senior Doug Martin, hampered by a knee ailment, has been relegated to a holder for placekicks.

Returning juniors Curt Cochran and Chris Derry shared the starting role at fullback last season, with Larry Smith seeing limited action as a freshman, as did junior Tom Wheary. Sophomore Al Carter and freshman James Phillips were held out of action.

On defense, senior tackle Jeff Smith, an all-star candidate who led the team in sacks (six for 55 yards), anchors a line that includes returning starters David Thompson, senior guard and defensive captain, and ends junior Brian Williams and senior Stacey Burrell. Guard Frank Hare and tackle Jon Dumbauld are experienced players with some starting time. Tom Wilkins, a transfer, had a fine spring at tackle. Freshman tackle Jerry Reese, who was injured early in the season, returns with four years remaining.

The depleted linebacking corps returns only D.J. Wallace, a senior with limited playing time. Freshman Scott Endris and sophomore Guy Neal were held out of action. Junior Tony Czack missed the season with a foot injury.

Larry Smith has been moved from fullback and Cam Jacobs from defensive tackle to shore up the linebacker position. In another major move, Tony Mayes was switched to the defensive secondary at the beginning of spring drills.

Experienced defensive backs are senior Gordon Jackson (one interception), sophomore Barry Alexander, who backed up Baird, and juniors Carmichael Caldwell and Russell Hairston. Hairston intercepted two passes as a back-up both at DB and safety.

Sophomore Jim Rider, who missed last season due to academic difficulties, and junior Kevin Nelson competed for placekicking duties in the spring; neither has kicked in a varsity game.

George Adams

By GENE ABELL

Gene Abell is associate editor of "The Cats' Pause."

A youthful dream, inspired by a great University of Kentucky running back and nurtured through YMCA league football and attendance at Wildcat home games, hopefully will continue to progress to pleasant fulfillment as George Adams, a 6-foot-1, 213 lb. senior from Lexington, enters his final season for the Wildcats.

The dream began when Adams, then nine years old and living only a mile or so from Commonwealth Stadium, first saw a sensational freshman named Alfred "Sonny" Collins carrying the ball for the Wildcats.

Collins gained 502 yards that season and went on to become UK's career-leading rusher with a since-eclipsed Southeastern Conference record of 3,835 yards (1972-75).

He also still holds UK career records for most carries (777), yards rushing per game (93.5 in 45 games) and all-purpose running (4,123); and season records for most carries (224) and yards (1,213), both in 1973; best average carry per game (5.5 in 1974) and most rushes per game (22.5 in 1974).

"Sonny was my idol," Adams said. "I always wanted to be like him, but I never thought I would get to play here like he did."

Although Adams has not matched Collins' statistics, he has become the most productive UK runner since that high-stepper danced and pranced his way into the Wildcat record book; and there are those who believe Adams' star will shine even brighter during his final season as a Wildcat.

"There is no doubt George is an All-SEC type player," says UK assistant coach (offensive backs) Greg Nord, who was a freshman during Collins' senior year in 1975. "He is a different type player than Sonny, bigger and stronger, but maybe not quite as fast and not as flashy."

"But George does everything you ask. He can catch, run and block."

In recalling those youthful afternoons in the fall, when he spent his time emulating Collins, Adams said, "I wore No. 40 like Sonny. The guys called me Sonny. I shaved my head like he did. They even said I ran like Sonny."

Adams was in Commonwealth Stadium in November 1974 when Collins broke his ankle on a touchdown plunge that helped the Wildcats defeat Vanderbilt, 38-12, in a game televised regionally by ABC-TV.

"That broke my heart," Adams said. "I quit going to games and did not go back until I signed with UK."

His interest in football did not wane, however, and he moved to other idols, such as Tony Dorsett of the Cowboys; perhaps a coincidence, but Adams now wears the No. 33 that Dorsett flashes.

The stats on Adams are nice, if not spectacular. He has led UK in rushing and scoring two straight years. He has been one of the team's top receivers, with 36 catches the last two years. He has almost 500 yards in kickoff returns in two years. He has twice ranked among the SEC's best in all-purpose yardage.

To get a true indication of his worth, one must look at UK's stats. In the past two seasons, his 351 carries are almost half of UK runs, including those by quarterbacks. His 1,483 yards are over 60 percent of UK's total. UK has scored 19 times on the ground, Adams has crossed the goal line 12 of those.

Adams has not enjoyed the luxury of running behind a single all-conference linemen. At times, he has been UK's offense. Opponents knew as much.

"George has carried more of the load than some other backs in the league and teams have been able to key on him" says Nord. "Because of that, he may be better than some backs who are winning the honors. He does not get the credit he deserves."

Adams was born on the east end of Lexington. His mom, Ruth Adams, raised five girls and four boys. George was the youngest and admits he was pampered. Nevertheless, life was not easy and there were lessons to be learned.

"My dad was an alcoholic. I did not want to be like that. I don't touch the stuff. It's nasty. My mom tried to do everything for everybody. I guess I was a spoiled brat. She tried to give me whatever I needed, as far as shoes and stuff. She encouraged me to keep playing. I know I got my determination from her."

The family moved to the west end of town when George was young. It was then that sports became a part of his life. Lexington's Douglass Park became a second home.

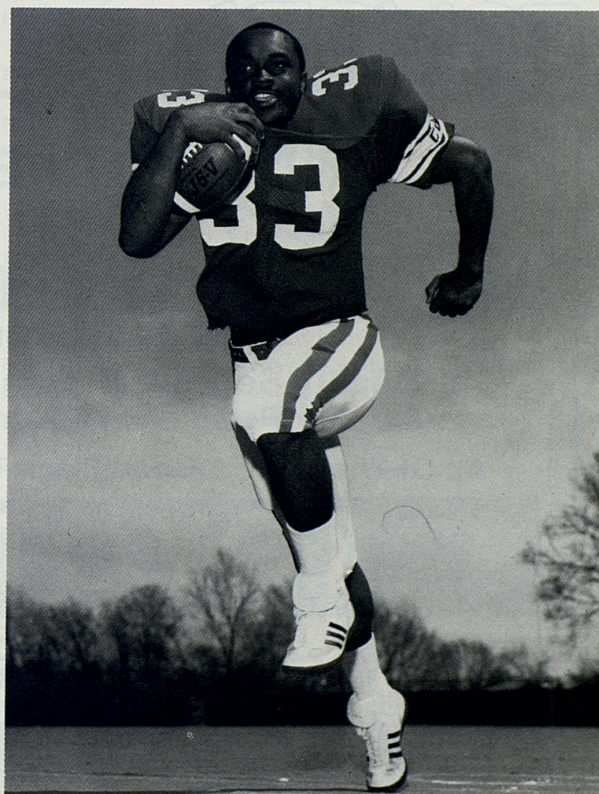

"I was never into sports until we moved into the new neighborhood. I moved right next to Kenny Minniefield (who later starred at Lafayette High with George). I tagged along with him and he got me interested. We did everything together."

George played football and basketball, with no particular favorite. Some of his best friends became hoop stars. George became a 6-1 forward for Lafayette. Yet his size belied a roundball career. He was a good basketball player, a great football runner. He was headed to Kentucky all the way.

Like most freshmen, he mostly sat and watched. He did play in seven games, gaining 80 yards and catching ten passes. Greatness did not look to be his destiny. That winter, UK hired Jerry Claiborne. Instead of Adams' stock rising, it slipped.

"That first spring practice under Coach Claiborne, I was pitiful," he said. "I thought I might be redshirted and I did not work on the weights like I should. I did not have a lot of interest in getting bigger and stronger."

Redshirtng was a possibility for Adams that next fall. He started the year on the fourth team. Suddenly, all changed. After the first game, starter Pete Venable was suspended from the squad. Second-teamer "Choo Choo" Lee was hurt. That left Adams and John Gay.

In game two, Adams gained 84 yards in the second half against Oklahoma. Gay soon quit and Adams has been running NO. 1 and improving since.

His style compares neither to Collins nor Dorsett. He wastes no steps, seldom cuts back. Speed and finesse are not his strong suits. He is more of a puncher, which his boxer-like frame indicates. He came to UK bench-pressing 135 pounds; now he lifts near 350.

"George is a strong, hard-nosed back," Nord said. "Others may be cutting, slashing-type runners, but George gets the honest yards. He breaks tackles through his strength, not by outrunning people. He is a blue-collar runner who works for every yard."

Adams' strength may be that he has few flaws. UK's motto has often been "let George do it," one way or another. For certain, he does not have the blazing speed Heisman winners possess. Yet he runs, blocks and catches. He also does it consistently.

"George will always be there," Nord said. "You can count on him to gain four or five yards. If there is any kind of hole, he will find it. It takes a hard tackle to bring him down. And you never know when he might break a big run."

And best about Adams may be yet to come. He has gained some 12 pounds to 225. His speed is the same, if not better. He had an excellent spring practice, gaining more than 170 yards in each of UK's last two scrimmages, the final being the Blue-White game.

"George is bigger, stronger and faster," Nord said. "That shows up in his total game. He is much improved."

Adams says the added strength has given him added confidence, especially when taking on bigger players.

"I feel better now," he said. "I can take advantage of people my size. Last year, a linebacker could knock me away on blocks. Now I go straight at him. When running, I don't have to try and put moves on. I can go through arm tackles."

Adams is not satisfied with past numbers. He wants more.

"I want to do better," he said. "I want to make All-SEC. I want to get 1,000 yards. I was close before but I have to tell myself to run harder. I can't say I had a good year last season. I won't accept 700."

Because of his bruising style, Adams also could play fullback. There is much speculation he may do that this fall, opening things up for other UK tailbacks like Mark Logan. The possible change does not bother Adams, if it would help the team. He also knows he may be a better pro prospect as a fullback.

"There is nothing for certain," Nord said of the speculated change. "As far as actually lining up at fullback, George has done little. It would give us more options. But that has been talked about more in the press than in our meetings."

What Adams desires most is winning. After helping UK turn an 0-10-1 '82 into a bowl appearance in '83, he wants a return trip.

"At the team meetings," he said "I wanted to refresh everyone's memory about how great the bowl game was. I want another bowl bid bad."

The UK staff knows they can't count on another bowl game just yet, but they know they can count on Adams. He is the kind of guy you like to see succeed, a hard worker with a pleasant personality.

One of the few married players on the squad, he realizes there is more to his life than football. One example is that he has long been a member of the "Big Brothers" and "Big Sisters" organization in Lexington.

"George has his head on straight," Nord said. "He knows what life is all about."

Straight ahead is where Adams career has been going for years, especially when confronting the end zone.

Canteen Corp.'s "Bo" White shows Judy Langston, of Computer Color Corp., a few of his firm's wares as the 1984 Wildcat football season approaches.

UK's Caterer Now Part of New Business Group

Canteen Corporation, now in its third year of a seven-year contract to provide food services to University of Kentucky athletic events, is part of the new Trans World Corporation that was born on February 1, 1984, "to serve the growing needs of a new and expanding group of consumers who comprise changing societies in America and overseas."

The conglomerate has built a mix of businesses designed to meet its goals in food, lodging and real estate services.

In addition to Canteen, the holdings include Hilton International Co., Spartan Food Services and Century 21 real estate services.

Canteen itself is one of the country's largest food service, recreation service and vending concerns. It operates more than 900 food service accounts and 234 vending distribution centers in industrial and service enterprises, and also provides services in 25 national and state parks and recreational facilities.

The firm also manages a diversified range of operations such as food service and vending centers; executive dining room; office coffee service; and dairy and cafeteria management services in hospitals, schools and retirement facilities.

In the leisure and recreational markets, Canteen provides not only food service; it operates lodging facilities, gift and souvenir shops, marinas, and sight-seeing tours. Recreational accounts include Yellowstone Park, the Kennedy Space Center, Yankee Stadium, Aloha Stadium, the United Nations, NASA, Hollywood Dog Track, the New Metropolitan Opera and many others.

Trans World, in its 1983 Annual Report, notes that Canteen Corporation has moved aggressively in the last several years to reduce its traditional dependence on providing food service in manufacturing sectors.

Canteen's White Geared for Upcoming Season

The person in charge of Canteen Corporation's Louisville regional office is Phillip "Bo" White, a 32-year-old Hoosier with the administrative skills to handle 450 concession workers and more than a dozen management personnel and the know-how to estimate the food and beverage needs at each University of Kentucky football game in Commonwealth Stadium.

A native of New Castle, White came to Lexington as Canteen district manager in July 1983 after five years with the Cincinnati office, where he was sales and marketing manager.

His expertise and experience is tested to the limit at UK home football games, when he must predict the needs of 57,000-plus fans who will patronize a total of 32 concession stands that are manned by community groups as fund-raising projects.

Those groups include youth baseball, basketball and football leagues, ROTC units, high school classes, Junior Pro Basketball teams and church organizations, to name a few.

"They provide the labor and receive 15 percent," White said. "On a typical game day, or night, a group can make from $200 to $400."

White places his orders at least five days before a game. The most popular item — hot dogs — must be assembled early in the week, put in foil wrappers and refrigerated. On game day, the "dogs" are oven-heated to the proper temperature and then placed in a holding cabinet.

The next most popular items to hot dogs are popcorn, nachos and candy bars. The demand for coffee and soft drinks depends on the weather — "when it's cold," White said, "they drink more coffee; on a hot day, they really go through the soft drinks."

He added that patrons eat more food during bad weather and it also matters whether a game is played day or night. "We weren't prepared last year when a game (Indiana) was changed from 1:30 p.m. to 3 p.m. (TV game)," he said, "because a lot of people decided to eat at the stadium."

Night games, which are held when Keeneland is racing, usually mean slower sales of food items because most fans already have eaten their dinners, or have eaten at the race track. At an afternoon game, many fans arrive early and have lunch at the stadium before kickoff.

The halftime show also is a factor in concession sales. White said people tend to stay in their seats if there is a good halftime show, such as may be expected at homecoming, and therefore they buy less.

Kentucky's success on the field also makes a difference in concession sales. "If the Wildcats are winning the game," White said, "sales are generally up; also a winning season makes a difference."

With seven home games and a winning season last year, things really picked up on the Canteen front. White expects more of the same this year.

Wildcat Television Appearances Increased During '83 Season

The University of Kentucky football team first appeared on national television (NBC) in the opening game of the 1956 season, losing to Georgia Tech, 14-12, on Stoll Field in Blanton Collier's sixth year as Wildcat head coach.

In 1969, John Ray's first year as head coach, ABC-TV regionally telecast UK's opening game with Indiana on Stoll Field. The Wildcats lost, 58-30.

In Fran Curci's second year as Wildcat coach (1974), ABC-TV regionally telecast back-to-back UK games vs. Vanderbilt and Florida in Commonwealth Stadium, which also was in its second year on the Wildcat scene. Kentucky beat the Commodores, 38-12, and the Gators, 41-24.

Kentucky vs. Maryland games at Lexington and College Park, respectively, were telecast regionally by ABC-TV the following two years, with the Lexington game ending in a 10-10 tie and Maryland winning, 24-14, at College Park.

Mizlou Television Network aired Kentucky's 21-0 Peach Bowl victory over North Carolina nationally in 1976.

The Wildcats appeared again on regional television (ABC) in 1979, losing to Indiana, 18-10, at Bloomington.

The Wildcats lost a regionally televised game (ABC) to Clemson, 21-3, at Lexington in 1981 and were blanked on the tube during the 0-10-1 season in 1982.

They put it all together in 1983 and were on CBS regional television three times — defeating Indiana, 24-13, and Tulane, 26-14, and losing to Tennessee, 10-0, all at Lexington.

Kentucky's 17-8 victory over Vanderbilt at Nashville was cable-televized nationally over WTBS-Atlanta, which also telecast the Wildcats' thrilling loss to West Virginia, 20-16, in the Hall of Fame Bowl.

KENTUCKY'S BOWL RECORD

(The Wildcats defeated Villanova, 24-14, in the first and only Great Lakes Bowl in 1947, but that was a box office disaster attended by only 15,000 fans in the mud at Cleveland Stadium. Following are the major bowl appearance of the 'Cats).

SANTA CLARA NIPS 'CATS IN 1950 ORANGE BOWL

After the two teams felt each other out, Kentucky got its first break when John Netoskie recovered a Santa Clara fumble on the UK 49. The Wildcats hurried 51 yards to a touchdown on 14 plays, including two passes for 13 yards. Wilbur (Shorty) Jamerson climaxed the attack with a two-yard smash through right guard. Bobby Brooks kicked the extra point and UK was ahead, 7-0.

Bill Leskovar and Babe Parilli, who completed six out of 11 for 128 yards, almost clicked on a perfect play near the end of the half. Leskovar turned the pass into a 45-yard gain before being knocked out of bounds at the Santa Clara three. Leskovar and Don Phelps failed in their attempts to smash over before time ran out. The ball was resting within inches of paydirt when the intermission came. Wildcat coach Paul "Bear" Bryant later said he should have sent in a pass play. "If it failed," he said, "the clock was killed then we could have tried a field goal."

Santa Clara scored twice in the third quarter, getting a big break when a Phelps' punt traveled only nine yards after a poor snap and gave the Broncos possession on their 46. The drive, sparked by a 25-yard pass from John Pasco to Larry Williams, moved the Broncos to the UK 12. An exchange of fumbles then set the stage for the tying TD, with Pasco scoring on a one-yard sneak. A pass interference call gave the Broncos possession on the UK four later that quarter and Hall Haynes wriggled over.

Kentucky came back with a 52-yard Parilli to Emery Clark touchdown pass, but Brooks missed the extra point try that would have tied the count. The Broncos started their next scoring drive on the UK 39 after an exchange of punts. The drive was climaxed by a 16-yard run by Vogel. Vargas converted to give Santa Clara a 21-13 victory.

'CATS END SOONER STREAK WITH 1951 SUGAR VICTORY

The 1950 Wildcats, climaxing the most successful season (11-1) in UK history, shattered national champion Oklahoma's 31-game win streak, 13-7, with hard-to-solve defenses and by taking advantage of a Sooner mistake to score in the first quarter and pass for another touchdown in the second quarter of the colorful 1951 Sugar Bowl Classic. Then the stout UK defense made an inspired goal-line stand in the third quarter, containing the Oklahoma offense before being scored on in the fourth frame.

It was a brilliantly designed defense, which used three tackles much of the time, causing the hard-pressed Sooners to fumble at key points and making OU quarterback Claude Arnold hasten his playmaking. Inflicting the most damage on the Sooners was Walt Yowarsky, a brawny tackle who hadn't played five minutes on defense all season. Actually operating at left end and next to All-American Bob Gain, Yowarsky repeatedly sliced into the Sooner backfield to break up passes and to make Arnold hurry his hand-offs and laterals. In that lineup, end Ben Zaranka dropped back several yards and played as a linebacker.

Yowarsky recovered a fumble that set up UK's first touchdown, threw the ball carrier for a five-yard loss on third down when Oklahoma attempted to go over from UK's two-yard-line early in the third quarter, and recovered a Sooner fumble on a punt late in the game.

After Yowarsky recovered OU's first-quarter fumble on the UK 22, Parilli on the next play hit Jamerson, who made a leaping catch over Jack Lockett in the end zone. Again moving by air, UK struck again in the second quarter, marching 81 yards with Jamerson scoring from the one. Bob Gain's extra point try was wide. The Wildcat defense, No. 2 in the nation, got its big test when the Sooners drove 68 yards on the ground to the UK two, where Yowarsky made his big tackle. The aroused Sooners went 80 yards in the last minutes of the last quarter, with Billy Vessels taking a lateral from Arnold on the UK 17 and passing to Frankie Anderson for a touchdown. Time ran out with UK ahead, 13-7.

FINE UK DEFENSE STOPS TCU IN COTTON BOWL

Babe Parilli and Emery Clark combined in scoring touchdowns for UK in each of the first two quarters as the Wildcats defeated Texas Christian, 20-7, before 75,349 fans in the 1952 Cotton Bowl at Dallas. Climaxing a 53-yard drive in the final minutes of the first quarter, Parilli threw a five-yard pass to Clark in the end zone. Then in the early stages of the second quarter, Parilli again flipped to Clark in the end zone. This aerial was good for 13 yards, part of a 57-yard attack, but Harry Jones' extra-point attempt was low.

Four times in the first half, UK's defense performed heroically in the clutch. The Horned Frogs, behind their "spread" attack, drove to the 4, 24, 5 and 2-yard lines of UK before being repulsed by a UK defense led by guard Ray Correll.

The Frogs came to life late in third quarter when tailback Gil Bartosh relieved Ray McKnow. In four plays, TCU scored, with Bobby Jack Floyd sweeping down the sidelines 43 yards for a TD. The kick was good.

Kentucky got its final score with 3:33 to go when Ed Hamilton smashed off left tackle from the three. The Kentuckians might have added another TD in the fading seconds, but time ran out with the ball on the TCU 5.

STEWART, MARTIN OUTSTANDING AS 'CATS WIN PEACH BOWL

Tailback Rod Stewart scored three touchdowns and linebacker Mike Martin played an outstanding defensive game as Kentucky defeated North Carolina, 21-0, before the first capacity crowd (54,132) to attend a Peach Bowl game in Atlanta-Fulton County Stadium. Kentucky's crushing defense accounted for five UNC turnovers, including a fumble by Matt Kupec on the Carolina 21 after a hit by Bud Diehl and a recovery by James Ramey. It took UK seven plays to break a scoreless deadlock when Stewart bolted over from the one.

North Carolina had only one real scoring threat, and that was set up by a fumbled UK punt by Mike Siganos, which UNC recovered on the UK 25 with the score 7-0 midway of the third quarter. But two running plays netted only six yards and two passes fell incomplete to end the threat. The Tar Heels managed to get into UK territory only twice in the first half, never crossing the 50 again.

Kentucky gained 334 total yards to Carolina's 108, the last figure being the lowest in Peach Bowl history. UK also held a 19-5 edge in first downs, giving up only three for the first 50 minutes; UNC's total was another record. Stewart outran the entire Carolina backfield, 104-84, and his three touchdowns tied a bowl record. In all fairness to the Tar Heels, they were without the services of their All-American tailback Mike Voight, who suffered an ankle injury two days before the game and did not see action.

MEILINGER GETS ONE IN COTTON BOWL — Stretching and getting pushed from the rear, Kentucky end Steve Meilinger catches a short aerial in the 1952 Cotton Bowl battle with Texas Christian. The Wildcats won, 20-7.

Rally Falls Short As 'Cats Lose in Hall of Fame Bowl

With the Wildcats fourth and 10 on their own 37 and less than 1½ minutes to play, Bill Ransdell's pass just eluded the outstretched fingers of Eddie Simmons, who was far downfield and with an open field ahead, and UK lost, 20-16, to West Virginia in the 1983 Hall of Fame Bowl at Birmingham. Ransdell had entered the game with 9:12 to play after West Virginia had scored on a 23-yard field goal attempt by Paul Woodside to lead, 20-1. The freshman from Elizabethtown, KY, marched the Wildcats on an 11-play scoring drive, hitting Joe Phillips with a 13-yard TD pass. The kick by John Hutcherson was good. The Mountaineers had scored first on a 39-yard field goal by Woodside late in the first quarter. Kentucky went ahead, 10-3, in the second quarter on a 26-yard halfback pass from Tony Mayes to quarterback Randy Jenkins and a 32-yard field goal by Hutcherson. West Virginia fooled the Wildcats with an on-side kick, which Woodside recovered on the UK 48, to start the second half. The Mountaineers drove to the 16, where Jeff Hostetler hit Rich Hollins for the tying score. Near the end of the third quarter, the Mountaineers started a drive on their 19 and marched to the UK 39, where Hostetler broke an option play to the left and carried to the UK 2. He then faked an option and passed to Bob Bennett for a 17-10 lead. (During his short stint, Ransdell completed 9 of 17 for 117 yards and a TD.)

Ermal Allen Retires with Fine Memories

By RUSSELL RICE
UK Sports Information Director

The retirement of Ermal Allen as a longtime staff member of the Dallas Cowboys marked the culmination of an outstanding athletics career that began on an East Tennessee farm and encompassed an unusual assortment of memories, including an outstanding playing career at the University of Kentucky, where he won a total of 13 letters in football, basketball, track and golf.

A Cowboys assistant since 1962, Allen retired with the NFL draft May 1, after either having played and/or coached for such famous sports personalities as Paul (Bear) Bryant, Adolph Rupp, Gen. Bob Neyland, Blanton Collier, Paul Brown and Tom Landry. And last but not least in Allen's mind is Petie Siler, who coached all sports at Morristown High School, where Allen won 16 letters in football, basketball, golf and track.

"Petie was way ahead of the other high school coaches of his time," Allen said. "Looking back, it's hard to see how he did it. You know, he coached every sport — football, boys basketball, girls basketball, track, everything. In football we ran the double wing, single wing and just about everything else there was to run in those days."

Allen also would prove a very innovative player and coach, but not at his home-state university. "I wanted to play football at Tennessee," he explained, "and Petie took me down there (to Knoxville) to see the general. But Neyland said I was too small (5-foot-10, 145 lbs.). I remember telling him later he'd be sorry. And when Adolph Rupp offered me a combination football-basketball scholarship at Kentucky, I was glad to take it."

Allen lettered three years (1940-41-42) as a starting guard and was All-SEC for Rupp, who commented after Allen hit two free throws with four seconds remaining to beat Xavier, 40-39, in Cincinnati in 1942:

"It was like sitting in an electric chair, strapped and ready for the executioner to throw the switch, and then having a fellow dash in and yell, 'Hold it! We've got a reprieve.' That boy doesn't have any blood in him. It's all ice."

Allen earned three football letters (1939-40-41) as starting tailback for the Wildcats. He hadn't been in his first varsity game five minutes — against VMI — when someone made a tackle, the ball squirted into Allen's arms and he scored a touchdown.

At Nashville that season, Allen hit seven of 11 passes and carried for 75 yards as the Wildcats registered their first win ever over Vanderbilt, 21-13, which had outscored UK teams, 369-64, in the 17 previous games in a series that began in 1896.

During his final years with the Cowboys, his job was to put the players and teams in the NFL under the microscope and report to Landry with his findings. He was described by Associated Press sports writer Denne H. Freeman as "pure skull-and-crossbones to Cowboy opponents" . . . "a walking computer" . . . Landry's NFL encyclopedia."

Allen finally got to play for Neyland during World War II on the 1942 All-Army team that took on three NFL powers — the Chicago Bears, New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers. The Army team won two of the three.

Coaching Career Begins

Ermal Allen and Allie Kendall met their freshman year at UK, dated all through college and married during senior week of their graduation in 1942. Ermal served in the U.S. Army for four years during World War II. Allie was with him the first two years and by the time he was sent to the Pacific, the couple had two children, Ken and Ann.

In 1946, Ermal earned his master's degree at UK and came in contact with Paul Bryant, the Wildcats' new coach. Taking advantage of a technicality in the SEC rules, Allen played three games for the Wildcats that season before the SEC office decided to change the rule.

"Actually I was eligible," he said. "I hadn't played as a freshman, and the rules gave you five school years to play four seasons. But when the conference ruled me out as a player, Coach Bryant just added me to his staff as an assistant coach."

Allen played the next season with the Cleveland Browns under Paul Brown and then returned to UK as offensive coordinator. "The big reason I went with the Browns," he said, "was to learn more about the T-formation offense, because we had Babe Parilli coming along and we wanted to know the best way to use him."

Parilli's transition from single-wing football to T-Quarterback began the moment he arrived on campus in the summer of 1948. "We worked him all summer long," Allen said. "There was a strategy session in the morning and a workout on the field every afternoon. In addition, he practiced each night before a mirror, handling the ball in the up-back position, and he did it so much that he became a superb ball handler and was able to do a lot of faking. He also had the ability to spot a receiver and get the ball to him."

Parilli's exploits are legendary at UK, where he earned All-America honors and set school, conference and national passing records. Allen is credited with much of "The Babe's" success.

Valuable Aide to Landry

When Bryant left UK after the 1954 season, Ermal stayed on with his successor, Blanton Collier. He gave some serious thought to forsaking football when the scholarly Collier was fired seven years later, but the first thing he knew, there was Tom Landry on the line with an offer from the Cowboys. Over the next 22 years, Allen became known as Landry's right-hand man, first as the Cowboy offensive coordinator and then as the behind-the-scenes man in charge of the game plan and quality control.

Allen began taking it easy after suffering a heart attack in 1981. "I'm okay now," he reports. "I didn't have a bypass or anything, but I just didn't want to have another one." So he has returned to golf, a game he had played only a couple of times in the two years after his heart attack.

He probably could have made it on the PGA tour. He twice won the Kentucky Amateur championship, defeating Bobby Nichols in 1955 and Frank Beard in 1958 and won the Knoxville Journal's Southern Appalachian tournament during his high school days.

With a summer of golfing behind him, Allen admits he will miss the Cowboys and football, "which is something I have been doing for 38 years."

"And if they (Cowboys) want me to help out this year from time to time, that's fine."

Some Allen Remembrances

Each stop along Ermal Allen's way is far removed from his first job at age 13, stocking a feed store. All of them paid better, too, as he recalled:

"I made 50 cents a day. One day I told the man in charge, 'Look, I can caddy, double up and carry two bags for a quarter apiece, and make 50 cents. Plus they'll tip me a dime.'

"Guess what he said? He said, 'Okay, I'll raise you a dime'."

Allen left the feed store to stock life with anecdotes and incidents involving some of the legendary names in sports. One of those named, Blanton Collier, was coaching a Browns team that provoked one of the most droll remarks in Cowboys history. Cleveland lost a 52-14 playoff game to the Cowboys in which quarterback Don Meredith completed 12 of 14 passes.

A fawning reporter asked Meredith later if he realized he had hit such dazzling percentage. To which the passer replied, "Well, nobody's perfect."

Here are a few of Allen's observations:

Bear Bryant: "The greatest thing he had going for him was leadership. He was a great leader and insofar as winning consistently, he was a great recruiter.

"If you walked into a room where a group of people were, you'd notice that if he laughed, they laughed and when he talked real low, everybody listened. He had a dominating personality.

"I've seen him pull every recruiting trick in the bag. He'd say, 'Ermal, you talk to the boy and daddy. I'll court the mamma.' He always said everybody had a key . . . mother, father, cousin, next door neighbor, girlfriend. 'You find it,' he'd say."

Adolph Rupp: "Rupp would have been a success in football or anything. He was a very egotistical man. He believed he could do it. The greatest thing he could do, and I saw him do it when I was coaching football there, was to have 50 boys on the court. From that crowd, he could absolutely single out the guy who would be great. It might not be one of the hot shots. He had a great knack of picking the right people.

"Rupp had great confidence to the point where he irritated other coaches. He wasn't a humble person at all. In fact, he was also a well-to-do farmer. He'd been in insurance. It was no problem for him to sell hail insurance to farmers — you had to have it in Kentucky — because they wanted to meet him. As a result he began to buy up land. He even bought a farm from my wife's father.

"We traveled on trains in those days. Players had to sit there and look at him. He wouldn't speak to anybody. One time after we had lost a game, our starting guard said, 'What's the matter, coach? Some of your relatives died?' We thought that was the funniest thing in the world. Rupp didn't. The guard didn't start the next week."

Gen. Bob Neyland: "A very strict disciplinarian. He had a military air about him. Of course, he was a West Point man. His motto, and he kept it until the day he died, was "Simple, Consistent and Logical."

"Coming out of high school I wanted to play for him at Tennessee. Dana X. Bible, who later coached at Texas, was the golf coach at Tennessee then. He offered me a golf scholarship but I wanted to play football.

"One day my high school coach took me to see Gen. Neyland. He talked to Gen. Neyland and when I wanted to know what was said, he said he would tell me later. I said I wanted to know then. He said Gen. Neyland's comment about me was, 'He's too small.' "I went back to Gen. Neyland and told him, 'You'll be sorry.'"

Paul Brown: "One of the greatest organizers. That was his long suit. Nowadays, teams hand out playbooks. Brown gave his players a blank notebook. He drew plays on the blackboard. You wrote it down. He drew up rules for your position. You wrote them down.

"When you did it that way, he said, you remembered it better. He did all the work on the board. He also inspected the notebooks later. I only played there one season, but everybody said Brown did the same thing every year. Brown was a great tactician, too.

"Part of the reason Bear wanted me (than a Kentucky aide) to go to the Browns was to learn the T-formation. He wanted me to learn it because we had (Babe) Parilli coming on. Cleveland needed another quarterback. I played safety, punted and backed up Otto Graham. In those days you only had 33 men on a squad and you played both ways. I remember days Otto and I would be on defense at the same time.

"That was a good year. I had a no-cut contract. I was making $9,000, second highest on the team, and more than Max Speedie, Dante Lavelli and starters like that. Graham made $12,000. I got a $1,200 bonus for signing and on top of that, Bryant had me on an expense account while I was there."

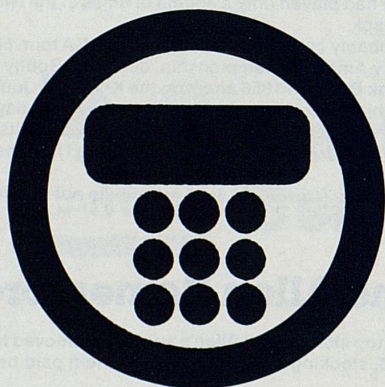

Tom Landry: "I think Tom is a genius as far as having and retaining knowledge about every position. He is an innovator. He's not scared to try new things.

"Tom has a knack. Let's say I as a coach would give him a multitude of things good and bad against a team we're getting ready to play. He could single out the two or three most important instead of using guesswork. He has a great capacity for that.

"Knowledge of the game is Tom's long suit. All aspects of it. Most head coaches don't know the details of every position, but he does."

Origin of "Wildcats" Nickname

Kentucky's athletic teams are known to sports fans as the Wildcats. This first and only nickname borne by University varsities had its origin in 1909 in a speech made by Commandant Corbusier, then head of the military department of old State College. Speaking to a chapel audience of students on the showing of the Kentucky football team in defeating Illinois six to two, the Commandant declared "they fought like wildcats." The tag was popularized by word of mouth and by the press with the result that has since become synonymous with all major Kentucky athletic teams.

Footnote A — Although numerical scoring had not yet been introduced in Rugby football, either here or in Great Britain, when Kentucky and Transylvania (then known as Kentucky University) played their series in 1881, persons in charge of the games obviously had arrived at some sort of agreement assigning values to the various scoring plays. Records never existed and men who played in the games are now deceased. All we can do is accept the scores printed in the newspapers and surmise that a touchdown perhaps counted 1/4 point and that a goal or an end-kick (a punt into the modern end zone) counted 1. That seems logical, since in the ratio scoring of that day, a touchdown was worth one-quarter of a goal. The end-kick, a British heritage, undoubtedly was introduced because all realized that green players would score few goals, if any.

Footnote B — The football rules took no official position on the score of a forfeited game until 1908 when it was pegged at 1-0 to make it different from any other score possible in the game. By common consent, forfeited games prior to that were entered into the records as victories by 6-0 for the offended team — everywhere, that is, except in the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association, predecessor of the Southern Conference and the South-eastern Conference. In the S.I.A.A., the 6-0 practice was followed unless the offended team had a greater number of points. In that case, the offended team won by the greater score to nothing. Thus, Kentucky's forfeiture to Central University in 1901 is 6-0, since Kenter scored by 11-0 at the time. Kentucky led Cumberland by 12-11 in 1905 when the Tennesseans forfeited. The Blue and White, under S.I.A.A. rules, gets credit for a 12-0 victory.

Social, Cultural and Recreational

Opportunities for UK students are not limited to the academic world. Involvement in the social and cultural aspects of University life also is important.

Recognizing this, the University provides the widest range of opportunities for personal and social development. If a student likes music, for instance, the Concert and Lecture Series brings outstanding soloists and symphonies on campus. There are chamber music concerts and hard rock concerts, impromptu bluegrass groups and flute recitals. If one likes to participate, opportunities abound—there are several choral groups, a marching band, the symphony orchestra, the symphonic band—or there is always the guitar with a few friends under the trees. Whichever one chooses, at UK it's available—and there's someone to share it.

There are 22 national fraternities and 16 national sororities on campus. "Rush," or member recruitment, takes place before classes begin, and informally throughout the year.

In addition to supporting the various Wildcat and Lady Kat teams, men and women students take part as individuals or in groups in competitive sports and in intramural programs. The Seaton Center houses facilities in basketball, volleyball, badminton, squash, wrestling, and table tennis. An Olympic-size swimming pool, tennis courts, and several sports fields are available to students.

A similar variety of opportunities in drama, student government, athletics, service organizations, and recreation, is available.

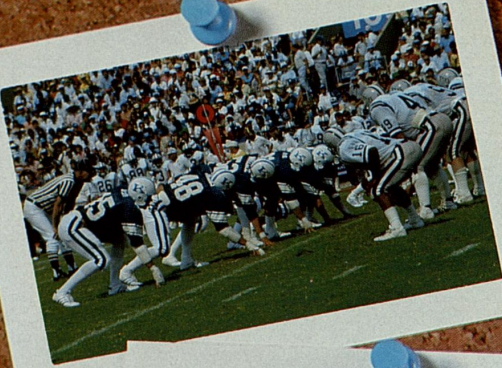

The city of Lexington also offers UK students much in the way of entertainment. Lexington has a Philharmonic Orchestra, Chamber Music Society, the Lexington Singers, a Council of Arts, and a local Ballet Company. Movie theaters, international restaurants, coffee-houses, top-ranked acts of all types at fabulous Rupp Arena in the Lexington Center, historical landmarks, parks, and shopping centers, thoroughbred and harness racing, fine fishing in lakes, ponds and streams . . . all in easy distance of the UK campus.

Tailgating at football games, lining up for tickets to see nationally famous Wildcat teams in Rupp Arena or Lady Kat games in Memorial Coliseum, participating in the "Little Kentucky Derby," attending concerts at the downtown arena or in the 11,500-seat Coliseum on the UK campus, visiting the internationally famous Kentucky Horse Park . . . all just a few of the many attractions of Lexington and the University of Kentucky.
