INTRODUCTORY

We take much pleasure in presenting this, the fifth edition of the Lexington Directory, and feel assured it will meet with your usual hearty reception and be found to answer every purpose for which it is intended. A complete canvass has been made of every nook and corner of the city, in all the highways and byways and in the most remote sections of the outlying suburbs by experienced and competent enumerators, and every effort has been made to produce a work that will be in keeping with the progress of the city, and which will be appreciated by every subscriber and everyone who is in need of the information.

The Directory is probably the most necessary and frequently consulted publication of modern times in the general uses to which it is put by business and professional men, by the general public and strangers. The Alphabetical List of Names, pages 133 to 655, gives you an immediate location of a person — both business and residence. Especial pains have been taken in every instance to secure not the mere initial only, but the Christian name and also the individual names of partners or officers of firms. In addition to this list the volume will be found to contain a large amount of other valuable information, arranged in a manner calculated to present a prompt answer to any question that may be asked concerning the city or any of its institutions. Its "Miscellaneous Information", pages 9 to 53, gives full information regarding City, County and State Government, Academies, Colleges, Churches, Asylums, Homes, Hospitals, Banks, Secret Societies, Miscellaneous Societies, Labor Organizations, Libraries, Railways, Newspapers and Periodicals, Public Halls and Buildings, Theaters, Telegraph and Telephone Companies, etc., and in addition much General Information, embracing Rates of Postage, the population of the chief countries of the world, with their capitals, population of the largest cities of the world, of cities and towns of the United States, etc. The Street Guide and Directory of Householders occupies pages 55 to 131. The streets are given in alphabetical order and described by giving the point of commencement and ending of each street and its line of general direction. The number on each building on the street is given in numerical order and opposite such number is placed the name of the occupant.

The work embraces also a complete Classified Business Directory (pages 657 to 721), of each individual, firm or corporation engaged in the professions or any line of trade arranged with their contemporaries, making a full and complete list of each particular line of business.

There is a matter of public enterprise which the citizens of Lexington ought to know. We print a large number of extra copies of this Directory, which are placed in the Directory Libraries of all the principal cities of the country, where they serve as standing advertisements for Lexington, its commercial and manufacturing interests and its public and private institutions.

With sincere thanks to all who have patronized the work, and the public in general, we are

Respectfully,

R. L. POLK & Co.,
Publishers.
