PREFACE

The Nation-wide Historical Records Survey program was organized to inventory State, county, and municipal archives, early American imprints, church records, and manuscripts in collections. In Mississippi the Historical Records Survey has operated as a unit of the Statewide Records Project in the Service Division of the Work Projects Administration, and has been sponsored by the Mississippi Department of Archives and History and some seventy county boards of supervisors. The Survey is being discontinued in order that its personnel may be diverted to activities which have a direct and unqualified relation to the war effort. However, this volume is being published in a preliminary edition, since practically all data had been compiled for publication before the order for the discontinuance of the Survey became effective.

The inventorying of newspapers in archival and manuscript depositories by the Historical Records Survey was provided for by the use of WPA Form 14HR. On this form newspapers were listed by series; that is principally by title and by inclusive dates covered by the holdings. The inventory of the county archives revealed that a tremendous number of local newspaper files existed in county courthouses. Because of the great interest shown in the locating and listing of these newspaper holdings, procedures were authorized and adopted which enabled the Survey to inventory newspapers in publishing offices, libraries, and private collections. The American Imprints Inventory Instructions for Examination of Newspaper Files for Materials Relating to the History of the Press, released in Chicago in April 1939 included an excellent supplementary form or worksheet on which newspaper holdings could be listed issue by issue and by year of publication. This form was adapted to the use of the Survey and throughout 1941 an intense recheck was made of all holdings and depositories in Mississippi.

A form of entry, developed by the Louisiana Historical Records Survey and approved by the Washington office, has been used to present the collected data. The entry form was designed to give the maximun information in minimum space. The first item or title line of every entry is the most recent complete title, and is followed by the frequency of publication and the beginning and ending dates of publication. The beginning date was often arrived at by approximation, that is by counting back according to the frequency, from the earliest known volume and issue number to the date for volume one, issue one, if the frequency was regular. Two dashes following the latest date of publication indicate that the newspaper is still being published, and a question mark indicates that the date was believed to be questionable or doubtful.

The first item in the body of the entry gives the date of establishment and shows the volume and issue number from which the date was approximated, if such was the case. Then follows a listing of the editors, proprietors, and publishers, beginning with the earliest. Also given are the predecessors, successors, mergers, and absorptions, if any, and the changes in title.

Then appears the listing of holdings inventoried in Mississippi by Historical Records Survey field workers. The depository of the holdings is usually indicated by a location symbol from the American Imprints Inventory Location Symbols for Libraries in the United States. In listing the holdings, short form abbreviations without periods are used for the months of the year, a dash is used to indicate inclusive dates, and brackets to show that the holdings listed are almost, but not quite, complete.

The arrangement of the list is alphabetical by place of publication first, with the newspaper titles arranged alphabetically thereunder, disregarding only initial articles (such as the word "the") in alphabetizing. The title index provides a complete list of titles, including keyword entries and the general index furnishes a complete list of names of publishers, editors, and proprietors. The chronological index shows for each decade the newspapers published, those which began publication, and those for which holdings are listed. All references are to entry numbers rather than to page numbers.

This checklist is based on personal examination of the newspaper files by Historical Records Survey field workers in the counties, by district supervisors, and by State office personnel. A consistent effort was made by all workers and editors to prepare accurate entries. However, it is realized that errors of omission and commission have occurred. For example, because of conditions beyond the control of the Survey, the listing of the newspapers in Natchez and Vicksburg are incomplete. It is sincerely hoped that such errors will be noted in order that a revised and corrected final edition may be issued in the future.

When WPA Forms 14HR and the supplementary worksheets were received from the field, they were checked for completeness and accuracy and assembled according to the place of publication and the title of the newspaper. The information given on the 14HR and the worksheets was then written up as a preliminary entry which afterwards underwent several re-editings as new holdings were reported, as additional information was found in secondary sources, or when errors were discovered by more skilled workers. The source of each item of information is given in a footnote.

For verifying and supplementing the data received from the field on WPA Forms 14HR and the worksheets, the editors in the State office of the project made use of a number of works including those of Rowell, Alden,,, Ayers, Henry, and Carter. (See Bibliography, p. 322.)

Preliminary lists such as this are being published for the purpose of furnishing librarians, newspaper custodians, and scholars with information concerning hitherto virtually unknown materials, and for providing a source of data important in the war effort. Because proof of birth is a prerequisite for entrance into the armed services, for employment in war production industries and in other occupations, newspapers are being utilized to assist in establishing such proof through local news items announcing births. This list, in showing the location and inclusive dates of newspaper holdings in Mississippi, can aid individuals born in the State and in need of proofs of birth, to determine if newspapers are on file in which notices of their birth may be found. It is intended that this preliminary list serve in a progressive bibliography open to change, and that comments, corrections, and additions will make it possible at some future date to compile a single, comprehensive, and near definitive list.

The inventory of Mississippi newspapers was prepared under the technical supervision of Nash K. Burger, Project Technician. Mrs. Josephine Jones, as unit foreman, supervised the group of project workers in the State office responsible for editing and collating the basic data.

The Survey acknowledges with sincere appreciation the assistance given it in this undertaking by editors and publishers of newspapers, librarians, owners and custodians of private collections, and the clerks of the chancery courts in whose offices newspapers are filed as county archives. Dr. William D. McCain, Director of the Mississippi Department of Archives and History, gave project workers complete access to the valuable collections of newspapers in the Department and through the Department sponsored the publication of Mississippi Newspapers 1805-1940, A Preliminary Checklist of Mississippi Newspaper Files Available in the Mississippi Department of Archives and History, published by the Survey in February 1942.

The general regulations and procedures of the Service Division of the Work Projects Administration, which are applicable to all project units in the 48 States, have been followed in Mississippi. The administrative offices have always given the Survey cordial support and assistance.

The publications of the Survey are distributed without cost to State and local public officials and libraries in Mississippi, and to a limited number of libraries and government agencies outside the State. A list of these publications will be found on page 323 of this volume.

JACKSON

394. Clarion Ledger. Weekly, semi-weekly, tri-weekly, six times weekly and daily. 1837[1]--.

Established at Paulding 1837 (O 23, 1858, vol. 22, no. 2). By O 23, 1858, the title was Eastern Clarion, with S. R. Adams editor.[2] J. G. Markham was editor by Ap 18, 1860.[3] By F 20, 1861, A. B. Carter, J. J. Shannon and J. G. Markham were editors with Carter and Shannon publishers.[4] By Jl 6, 1864, the title of the paper was Daily Clarion, with publication in Meridian by J. J. Shannon.[5] N 4, 1865, the place of publication was Jackson, with J. J. Shannon, editor, and Shannon and Hamilton, publishers.[6] By Ap 4, 1866, the title of the paper was Daily Mississippi Clarion, with the same editor and publishers.[7] My 17, 1866, this paper evidently absorbed the Standard (no issues on file), the title becoming, Daily Mississippi Clarion and Standard, with no change in editor and publisher.[8] The title of the paper changed to Daily Clarion and Standard, My 29, 1866.[9] A weekly edition was being published at this time by the same editors and publishers, under the title of Clarion and Standard.[10] The title of the paper was Daily Clarion by Ag 16, 1866.[11] By Je 8, 1867, E. Barksdale was editor.[12] By S 9, 1868, the title was Clarion, with same editor, but published by J. L. Power and Harris Barksdale.[13] Ja 9, 1884, R. K. Jayne and J. L. Power became editors.[14] Oliver Clifton was editor and J. L. Power proprietor by Ja 7, 1885.[15] Ja 16, 1888, this paper consolidated with the State Ledger (entry 469), to form the Clarion Ledger with R. H. Henry and J. L. Power, proprietors.[16] However, both a daily and weekly State Ledger continued to be published until 1892.[17] There were both a daily and weekly Clarion Ledger being published, the title of which varied slightly at times.[18] By Ja 1, 1892, J. S. McNeily and J. L. Power were proprietors.[19] R. H. Henry was president, J. S. McNeily, vice president, and J. L. Power, secretary by Ja 3, 1893.[20] Ja 3, 1895, R. H. Henry was editor and manager, with Henry and Power, proprietors.[21] R. H. Henry was editor and manager alone by Ja 2, 1897.[22] In 1921, T. M. Hederman became editor, with T. M. and R. M. Hederman, owners.[23] Appeared weekly with irregular days of publication from O 23, 1858, to Jl 6, 1864.[24] A daily edition was begun by Jl 6, 1865, and has continued to date.[25] By 1866, was appearing both daily and weekly.[26] S 9, 1868, began tri-weekly publication, as well as[27] weekly and daily; was both weekly, daily, and semi-weekly, F 8, 1870, through N 29, 1872.[28] Publications daily and weekly through D 26, 1912, since which time publication has been daily (six times a week through Ja 4, 1930, seven times a week thereafter).[29]

605. Natchez Courier. (Continued)

Established 1830 (Ap 29, 1836, vol. 7, no. 17). By 1836, there had evidently been a merger of a Courier and a Journal, a weekly paper, the Courier and Journal being on file for this year. By 1837, at least, there were three different Couriers being published, Samuel H. B. Black, editor and proprietor: a Daily Courier, appearing every morning except Sunday; a Tri-Weekly Courier appearing Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday; and the weekly Courier and Journal, already mentioned.[3] On Ja 29, 1840, J. M. Duffield and James Edward became editors and publishers.[4] James Edward was no longer connected with the paper by Ja 1, 1841.[5] On Jl 1, of the same year, Aaron Lindsey became co-editor.[6] J. M. Duffield became sole editor on O 1, 1841.[7] J. M. Baldwin and S. K. Risk became publishers on D 28, of the same year.[8] By F 22, 1843, M. N. Prewett was editor with same publisher.[9] Jl 2, 1844, was last issue of Daily Courier on file.[10] By Je 18, 1845, a weekly paper was being published titled Natchez Weekly Courier with same editor (this was in addition to the weekly Courier and Journal).[11] A semi-weekly edition was being published in connection with the weekly by D 27, 1845.[12] S 27, 1848, was the last issue of the Courier and Journal.[13] By Ag 7, 1850, Giles M. Hillyer was editor.[14] Giles M. Hillyer resumed publication of a daily edition on S 28, 1852.[15] The issue of S 27, 1854, carried the title of Courier and Journal, for this issue only.[16] From Ag 21, through D 29, 1863, there was a Natchez Union Courier, being published in connection with this paper.[17] Jl 12, 1864, is the last issue of the semi-weekly edition on file.[18] Je 29, 1867, is the last issue of the daily edition on file,[19] the weekly and tri-weekly, however, continuing until at least 1870.[20] Some time prior to Ag 13, 1873, the Natchez Courier merged with the Natchez Democrat to form the Natchez Democrat and Courier (entry 607).[21] The Natchez Courier appeared weekly with irregular day of publication from My 29, 1836 through Jl 23, 1870.[22] The paper was daily except Sunday from O 6, 1837 to Jl 2, 1844.[23] On S 28, 1852, the daily edition was daily except Monday.[24] On N 5, 1853, publication began daily except Sunday and Monday, continuing until Je 29, 1867.[25] The tri-weekly edition appeared on Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday.[26] The semi-weekly appeared on Tuesday and Friday.[27]

PASCAGOULA (formerly Scranton).

652. Chronicle Star. Weekly. S 14, 1858[1]--.

Established S 14, 1858 (S 14, 1858, vol. 1, no. 1), as Handsboro Democrat, Handsboro, Harrison County, with Robert Fuller and J. F. Slade, editor and publisher.[2] The issue of Ja 11, 1859, names Robert Fuller as editor and proprietor.[3] By Ja 4, 1874, the title had changed to Star of Pascagoula, with publication at Pascagoula, M. Smith was editor.[4] The issue of F 20, 1875 named M. Smith and C. K. Browning as editors.[5] By Ja 5, 1877, M. B. Richmond had become editor.[6] The title had changed to Pascagoula Democrat Star by Mr 29, 1878, with the same editor and P. K. Mayers, proprietor.[7] M. B. Richmond sold his interest to M. A. Dees, on Jl 11, 1879 but remained editor.[8] On Ja 7, 1881, P. K. Mayers and M. A. Dees were editors and proprietors.[9] W. C. McQuiston became editor on O 6, 1882.[10] By Ja 1, 1886, P. K. Mayers had become editor and publisher,[11] continuing until S 16, 1910 when J. Will Donovan became co-editor and co-owner.[12] There was also being published at this time in Pascagoula the Chronicle Star, its exact early connection with the Pascagoula Democrat Star not known.[13] However, by Ja 5, 1900, A. E. Lee was editor of the former paper,[14] and by 1916, W. T. Sparkman owned and operated both the Chronicle Star and Pascagoula Democrat-Star.[15] Joseph M. Pelham Jr. and J. Bonner McKinstry leased the latter paper on Jl 5, 1912.[16] Pelham was succeeded by Claude C. Lee on Ja 10, 1913;[17] on Mr 7 of the same year, he became editor and proprietor,[18] continuing until My 9, 1913, when R. D. North became editor.[19] By Ja 2, 1914, P. K. Mayers again was publisher and proprietor.[20] P. K. Mayers died Jl 28, 1914;[21] O. M. Davis then became editor on Jl 31, 1914.[22] W. T. Sparkman became editor on Ap 16, 1915,[23] continuing until Ag 2, 1918, when he sold to C. M. Laurendine and his sister, Lucy.[24] On Ag 16 of the same year, Paul M. Mount was editor.[25] H. L. Lyon replaced Paul M. Mount on O 18, 1918.[26] (Continued)

W. T. Sparkman took over again as editor and owner on F 7, 1919.[27] About D 24, 1920, the Pascagoula Democrat-Star ceased to be published as a separate paper, being purchased by C. G. Scott of the Pascagoula Chronicle, (entry 653), which shortly became the Chronicle Star and merged therewith.[28] By Ja 4, 1924, Arthur V. Smith was editor of the Chronicle Star,[29] continuing until S 6, 1929, when W. T. Sparkman became editor in charge.[30] By N 20, 1936, W. T. Sparkman became owner and editor.[31] Appeared originally on Thursday.[32] By Ja 4, 1874, day of publication was Sunday,[33] until F 7 of the same year, then changed to Saturday.[34] On Ja 5, 1877, publication changed to Friday.[35] By F 12, 1919, Wednesday was day of publication.[36] The issue of Ja 1, 1920, gave Thursday as day of publication.[37] The Chronicle Star was published on Saturday until D 31, 1926, when changed to Friday.[38]
