It's been a big year for women's basketball in this country. The United States women's basketball team won the Olympics gold medal. This is the 25th anniversary of Title IX. The inaugural season for the WNBA enjoyed success and popularity with the Houston Comets winning the league title.

The University of Kentucky women's basketball team hopes to ride on the coattails of this surge of exposure for women's and to the team," said Kentucky head coach Bernadette Mattox. "They must fit the Kentucky system."

One transfer, Jaye Barnes, and four freshmen, Laura Meadows, Natasha Ross, Stephanie Christman and Kenya Young, join the Wildcats this season. Christman joined the team in January and was a red-shirt in 1996-97.

Barnes, a 6-foot forward, was the leading scorer and rebounder at Florida Com-perimeter and in the paint, she gives us great flexibility."

Meadows, a 6-2 guard, was the 1996 and 1997 West Virginia High School Player of the Year. During her senior year, she averaged 21 points and 11 rebounds per game. Meadows scored 2,003 points during her high school career.

"Laura is an impact player," Mattox said. "With her talents she can play anywhere on the floor."

Ross, a 5-11 guard/forward, was a three-time all-state selection in West Virginia. As a senior, she averaged 26 points and 14 basketball. So, what do the Wildcats have going for them? They have a head coach with 15 years of cumulative coaching experience, five starters returning, and five exciting newcomers.

To be recognized as UK material is an accomplishment in itself. Mattox and her staff, Leslie Nichols, Mollie McClure and new addition Rick Griffith, replacing Ken Byrd, look for the right combination of dedication on the court and in the classroom.

"Each athlete must have the following qualities to play on the UK court: competitive attitude, skills to play in the Southeastern Conference and commitment to herself community College the past two seasons. She averaged 16.4 points per game and 11.6 rebounds per game during her FCC career.

"Jaye is an excellent rebounder," Mattox said. "With her ability to defend on the rebounds per game. During her three-year career, Ross scored over 1,000 points and grabbed more than 1,000 rebounds.

"Ross gives us the quickness on the perimeter that will help our attack in the press," Mattox said. "Her slashing and driving talents will make her hard to defend."

Coach Mattox instructs Natalie Martinez.

Young, a 6-1 forward, was named Miss Basketball in the state of South Carolina this spring after averaging 17 points, 12 rebounds and five blocked shots per game during her senior season. Young was a two-time all-region and two-time all-state selection.

"Kenya is very athletic," Mattox said. "She has natural abilities that you just cannot teach. Once Kenya gains the experience and strength, she'll be an outstanding talent."

Coach Mattox has a strong group of newcomers that should add depth to the team.

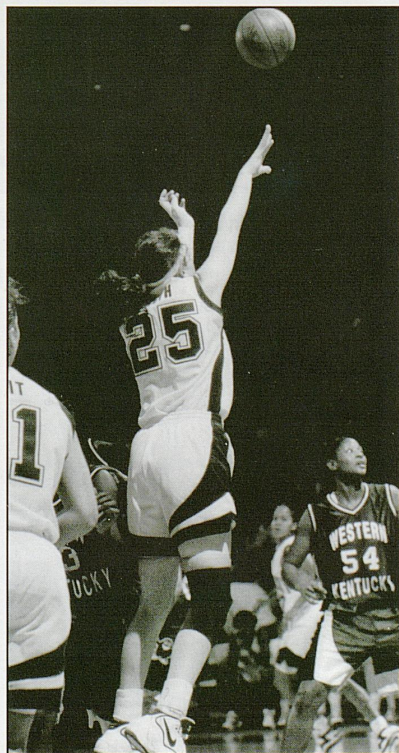

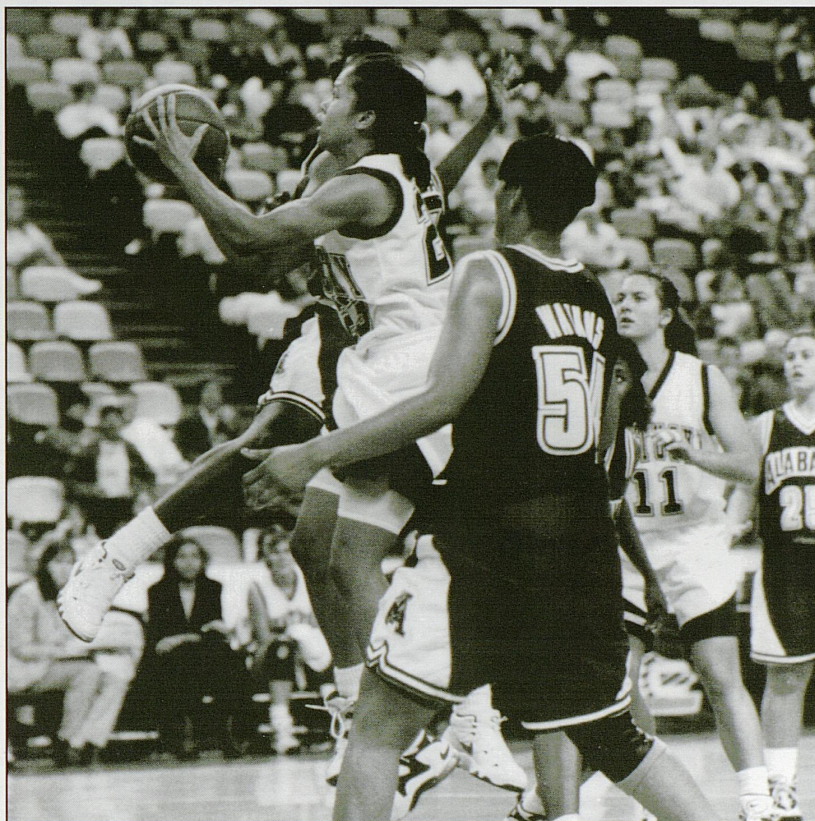

"These players were chosen for their individual strengths to help us complete the pieces of our puzzle," Mattox said. "As for who is going to step up — time will tell — but as a group they compliment the returning players. We just have to examine their development."

Mattox says she will use last season's 8-19 season to her advantage.

"Last season's players were forced to mature and grow up," Mattox said. "The loyalty of last year's underclassmen benefited the program. It was remarkable to see the core for this year's team develop over the course of last season."

Mattox says every player on the team will have the opportunity to compete for playing time.

Natalie Martínez, a 5-8 sophomore, and Katie Vieth aims high.

Nikki Hay, a 5-6 senior, are returning starters at the guard spots. Last season's top scorer at 12.4 ppg, Tiffany Wait and newcomer Ross can play both the guard and forward positions. Senior center Kim Denkins returns as the squad's top rebounder, grabbing 7.7 boards per game as a junior. UK is also expecting strong play from sophomores Patrice Boyd and Katie Vieth, who started the final 21 games last season at center.

"It's too early to project where this team will fit into the conference race," said Mattox. "The team is young mentally and physically, since the bulk is made up of freshmen and sophomores."

The Wildcats finished last season with seven players. Twelve players are on the roster this season so depth is not a question. "The talent is unrefined and ripe," according to Mattox. "But they have the capability and desire to ascend."

Mattox said that staff and player turnover the past two years have taught her that patience is important. The coaching staff's patience, she says, will allow the players to stumble and bounce back. And Mattox's up-tempo coaching style gives her players room to feel the excitement of the game.

This season, Coach Bernadette Mattox and the Wildcats are putting it all together — Kentucky style.

Head Coach Bernadette Mattox

Bernadette Mattox begins her third season at the helm of the University of Kentucky women's basketball program. Mattox became UK's head coach in March of 1995 after serving one year as Assistant Athletics Director and Senior Women's Administrator at UK.

Prior to her stint as an administrator, Mattox earned national recognition as one of the first female assistant coaches on a Division I men's basketball staff when Coach Rick Pitino added her to the Wildcats' program in 1990. She gained valuable experience working with the Wildcats' players in daily individual instructional sessions and in supervising their academic affairs while also fulfilling her game assignments.

Mattox is highly regarded in women's basketball circles. She was a top recruiter as an assistant to Coach Andy Landers at her alma mater, national powerhouse Georgia. During her five seasons as an assistant coach with the Lady Bulldogs, Mattox helped guide the program to national rankings, NCAA Tournament berths and many SEC honors. She also helped recruit two of the best female basketball players in the history of women's basketball — Olympians and current professionals, Teresa Edwards and Katrina McClain.

Mattox's journey to success began as a collegiate player at the University of Georgia. She led the Lady Bulldogs to the 1981 National Women's Invitational Tournament title and became UGA's first female athlete to earn All-America honors. Mattox led the team in scoring during the 1979-80 season, averaging 20.6 points per game. She also led the team in steals and assists as a junior and senior. Mattox still ranks on Georgia's top 10 list in career assists and career steals.

She holds single-season records for field goals attempted (555 in 1979-80) and for steals per game (4.2 average in 1979-80). Mattox only played two seasons at the University of Georgia.

A native of Philadelphia, Tenn., Mattox played basketball for Loudon County

High School. She then attended Roane State Community College, playing two seasons under Landers. Mattox then enrolled at Georgia, where she earned her degree in education in 1981. Mattox served as a graduate assistant under Landers for two seasons before leaving the coaching ranks for one year. She returned to her alma mater in 1985 as an assistant coach for the Lady Bulldogs and remained there until joining Pitino's staff in 1990.

After assisting the UK men's basketball team for four seasons, Mattox accepted the position of Assistant Athletics Director and Senior Women's Administrator at UK in 1994. On March 14, 1995, she was named head coach of the UK women's basketball team.

Mattox continues to receive national attention since becoming head coach of the UK women's program. She has been featured on "Wide World of Sports" and numerous other national shows and publications.

A requested speaker at various business, community and sports-related functions, Mattox volunteers her time to local organizations such as the American Heart Association and the Children's Miracle Network. Mattox also has worked in television broadcasting, serving as a television color commentator for UK men's basketball and SEC women's basketball games. In addition, she has done national television and radio commercials throughout her coaching career.

Mattox and her husband Vince reside in Lexington with their two-year-old son, Vincent Alexander.

Nichols was a starter for Kentucky from 1982-86 under Coach Terry Hall. She averaged 11.4 points and seven rebounds per game as a freshman. Nichols' freshman year was the same season in which UK was ranked 11th nationally by the Associated Press en route to a 23-5 record and an NCAA Tournament berth.

Athletics Director C.M. Newton

Hired on April 1, 1989, University of Kentucky alumnus C.M. Newton had a lengthy, impressive list of credentials and brought a sparkling reputation for integrity at a crucial time in the history of UK athletics.

In accepting the position, Newton outlined his goals by saying, "I have a resolve to try very hard to continue that great tradition, and at the same time, to do it totally within the NCAA and SEC rules and not sacrifice the academic integrity of this University."

Newton's term of service has been marked by athletic and academic achievement, dedication to rules compliance, the addition of three sports, expansion of facilities, and growth in revenues in response to the increasing financial pressures of collegiate athletics.

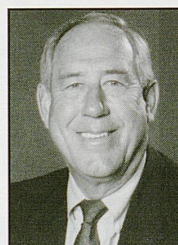

Newton came to UK after an illustrious basketball coaching career. In his last two seasons (1988 and 1989), he was named SEC Coach of the Year while leading Vanderbilt to a pair of NCAA Tournament appearances. He was also chosen the Kodak NABC District IV Coach of the Year in 1989. Newton was the head basketball coach and associate athletics director at Vanderbilt from 1982-89, compiling a 129-115 record. In 32 years of coaching at Transylvania, Alabama, and Vanderbilt, Newton compiled a 509-375 record. His Alabama teams won three consecutive Southeastern Conference championships.

Just as impressive was Newton's ability to produce winning teams that also possessed exceptional academic credentials. During Newton's tenure at Vanderbilt, 18 Commodores were named to the Academic All-SEC team, over 50 percent more than any other league school.

Newton is highly regarded on the national level. He has served on the board of directors of the National Association of Basketball Coaches. He worked six years on the NCAA Basketball Rules Committee, serving as chair of that elite group for five of those years. He recently served as president of USA Basketball, the nation's governing body. In addition, he is the 1997-98 basketball committee chair and is a member of the NCAA committee on basketball issues.

Newton is prominent in international basketball circles as well. Currently, he represents North America on the 14-member FIBA Central Board. FIBA is the governing body for international basketball. He is a member of the COPABA Executive Board, which oversees international basketball in North, Central, and South America.

Newton also has international coaching accomplishments. He served as team manager, a combination coaching and administrative position, on the 1984 U.S. Olympic team that won the gold medal. Indiana coach Bob Knight, who tabbed Newton for the Olympic staff, called him "the finest gentleman in our business."

Newton was born Feb. 2, 1930, in Rockwood, Tenn. He grew up in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., where he was eventually named a charter member of that city's Sports Hall of Fame, along with Chris Evert, Julius Boros, and the late Brian Piccolo. After high school, Newton enrolled at UK on a basketball scholarship. He was a letterman on the Wildcats' 1951 national championship team. Also a standout baseball pitcher, Newton hurled in the New York Yankees minor league system before entering college coaching.

Newton and his wife, Evelyn, have three grown children — son Martin, and daughters Deborah and Tracy — and four grandchildren.

The University

The University of Kentucky was founded in 1865. The campus in Lexington has 673 acres and is located just south of downtown. It consists of a graduate school program, the University hospital and 16 colleges. The colleges are: allied health professions, architecture, arts and sciences, agriculture, business and economics, communications and information studies, dentistry, engineering, education, fine arts, human environmental sciences, law, medicine, nursing, pharmacy and social work. The graduate school offers 97 master's degree programs and 60 doctoral programs.

Enrollment is approximately 24,100 and includes students from every Kentucky county, state, and more than 100 countries. Full-time faculty numbers 1,796. Approximately 98 percent of the full-time faculty hold the highest possible degrees in their field. UK's faculty and staff attract more than $120 million in grants, gifts and contracts; and the University has been designated a Research University of the First Class by the Carnegie Foundation — one of just 59 public universities in the country.

The University attracts excellent students. The number of National Merit Scholars entering UK consistently ranks among the top 10 public universities in the country.

The University of Kentucky Community College System is made up of 14 colleges throughout Kentucky. Enrollment numbers over 44,000. The colleges offer associate degrees in technical subjects, two-year programs toward a bachelor's degree, and a wide variety of continuing education, community service and business liaison programs.

The number of UK alumni is more than 145,000. Private supports from alumni and friends of the University exceeds $30 million annually.

UK maintains 23 research centers which conduct applied research in areas as diverse as tobacco and health, aging, cancer, toxicology, equine health, mineral production, manufacturing systems, and public policy.

The UK College of Medicine is ranked third in the country in the quality of primary care training. The UK Hospital is ranked among the top 100 U.S. hospitals in the country by HCIA Inc. and Mercer Management Consultants. The UK College of Pharmacy consistently is ranked third in

The University is in the process of developing the Coldstream Research Campus, a 750-acre complex designed to attract high-tech companies desiring ties to the University. Negotiations are under way to execute leases with developers to construct several new commercial facilities on the research campus.

- Computer connections: every study table and study carrel in the new library will have an electrical outlet and a computer jack connected to the university's computer system.

CATS (Center for Academic & Tutorial Services)

The University of Kentucky opened the nation's first academic center for student-athletes in 1981. Center for Academic and Tutorial Services (CATS) is located inside Memorial Coliseum.

Over the years, the services offered by CATS have grown, and so has the need for additional space. The UKAA has responded by constructing a new CATS area, which is projected to be ready by January, 1998. The new facility will be called the Ohio Casualty Center for Academic and Tutorial Services, thanks to a one million dollar grant from the Ohio Casualty Insurance Group.

The new Ohio Casualty Center costs a total of $2.4 million and is constructed in the old Memorial Pool area. It covers approximately 20,000 square feet—easily more than three times the size of the current CATS. Features include a computer room which will house approximately 40 computers, a study area which will accommodate 90-100 people, 25 tutoring rooms, a career development library, a community outreach office and staff offices.

UK is fortunate to have outstanding leaders in its academics support system. Bob Bradley, who oversees the CATS program, has been promoted to Associate Athletics Director for Student Services. Bradley is known nationally for his expertise in academics support services and takes on a new role this year as director of the regional office for the National Consortium of Academics and Athletics.

"CATS is an incredible advantage to a student-athlete," Bradley says. "We are extremely proud of what we have accom-

CATS Facts

- Tiffany Wait earned SEC Academic Honor Roll honors in her first year of eligibility for the award.

- The SEC began the SEC Academic Honor Roll in 1983. Since its inception, CATS has assisted 24 UK women's basketball players in earning the conference honor.

- One of the main points Coach Mattox stresses to her players is the importance of education and earning degrees. She speaks from experience. Mattox was a second-team Academic All-American at Georgia. She assisted Georgia's athletics department with its academics program while an assistant under Coach Andy Landers and was the liaison between the UK men's basketball program and the CATS program when she was an assistant coach under Rick Pitino.

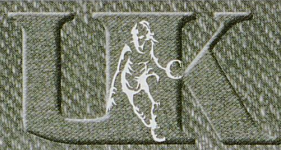

plished in the academic arena. The CATS program is focused on winning in the classroom. We look at each student-athlete's individual needs, set goals and develop strategies to attain those goals. Our Center (CATS) provides our student-athletes with a definite advantage over student-athletes at many other institutions. Our goal is to show that we care about the student as well as the athlete." Bradley also says it helps to have head coaches that place such a strong emphasis on academics. "Many support systems across the nation do an excellent job in helping their student-athletes. I have been blessed at Kentucky," Bradley said.

CATS is also instrumental in preparing student-athletes for future careers. The Career Development Program helps student-athletes look at the future through a step-by-step process which includes:

- shadowing and internships which help determine career interests
- career counseling
- resume writing
- developing a career plan.

The philosophy at the University of Kentucky is this: Colleges should be able to provide the student-athlete with every opportunity to succeed not only in athletics, but in academics as well. Looking at recent statistics in Academic Honor Roll selections and graduation rates, it is clear that Kentucky is standing by its philosophy.

Memorial Coliseum

(Cap. 8,700) "My Old Kentucky Home"

Situated along Euclid Avenue on the University of Kentucky campus, Memorial Coliseum is the home of one of the richest basketball traditions in the nation. It is also home to the University of Kentucky women's basketball team, a team determined to return glory and excitement to a facility that has known a wealth of both.

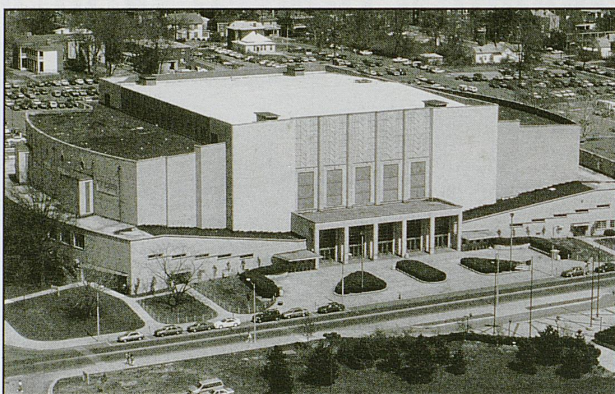

For 24 years, the historic coliseum housed the renowned Kentucky Wildcats men's team which won two national championships and 24 Southeastern Conference titles while playing in the facility under the direction of legendary coaches Adolph Rupp and Joe B. Hall. When the Wildcats moved downtown to 23,000-seat Rupp Arena in 1976, the then-11,500 seat Coliseum became the exclusive basketball home for the women's team.

The women's team has carved a 235-91 homecourt record into the history of the now 8,700-seat coliseum. To fans' delight, UK and its opponents have played several exciting and close games in the facility.

The highlight of the Memorial Coliseum era for the women's basketball team came on a cold winter night in 1983. The date was February 5 and the opponent was No. 5 powerhouse Old Dominion, with 6-foot-8 All-American center Anne Donovan. A record crowd of 10,622 fired-up fans packed the Coliseum that Saturday evening and roared hysterically as the sixth-ranked Lady Kats came from 10 points down in the second half for an 80-66 upset win. After the victory, the team, which was led by All-American Valerie Still, climbed to No. 4 in the national poll. In their three remaining games, they averaged 7,600 fans and easily led the nation in attendance that year.

Other exciting and notable games played in the Coliseum were:

February 20, 1994 - Considered a huge underdog, UK's women's team managed to take then top-ranked Tennessee into overtime before losing 95-89 in front of an estimated crowd of 5,727 fans.

January 19, 1993 - Sophomore Stacey Reed drove to the Coliseum's midcourt and made a three-point desperation shot as the final horn sounded to push UK to a 62-60 win over nationally-ranked intrastate rival Western Kentucky. Reed was mobbed by her teammates and the coaching staff at midcourt, but managed to crawl out of the pile while they were still celebrating.

December 5, 1992 - This was the date when Kentucky beat nationally-ranked Connecticut 75-54 to win its 13th UK Invitational Tournament. It was not an easy feat for UK, which had lost the title the previous year to nationally-ranked Houston. Also, UK had to face a sizable young sophomore — Rebecca Lobo — who would later become one of the most heralded female players ever, leading her team to an undefeated season and a national title in 1995.

Ohio State series - UK's series with Ohio State has been a nail-biter for both teams. The teams took games into overtime in 1989 and 1991. UK beat Ohio State in regulation in Memorial Coliseum on November 28, 1990, 107-73.

1980-82 - These years represent the seasons when the women's team posted its record 31 consecutive homecourt victories in Memorial Coliseum. The streak was broken on January 31, 1982, with a 70-69 loss to Memphis State.

Although the Coliseum is nicknamed "the house that Rupp built", University President H.L. Donovan is credited with beginning the plans for the Coliseum's construction in 1941 when he recommended a building that would "properly take care of our athletics, our health services, our physical education and our recreation."

Memorial Coliseum was completed in 1950 at a cost of $3,995,000. The huge building was dedicated to serve as a memorial to the nearly 10,000 Kentuckians who lost their lives in World War II and the Korean conflict. The Coliseum covers an entire city block and has as much space as a seven-story office building.

The facility underwent renovations in 1990 to include a state-of-the-art weight room, basketball and administrative offices, a team meeting room and first-class dressing and locker rooms. The Coliseum is used primarily for women's basketball games, volleyball matches, gymnastics meets and is the site for UK's annual Midnight Madness Basketball Practice. It has also served as the site of other sporting events, including tennis exhibitions and high school tournaments, and has served as a site for lectures and concerts.

I know that her hard work and dedication and her commitment to being the best is there and the coaching skills that she possesses will go a long way in turning her program around. With an outstanding recruiting class, the Kentucky women's basketball program will be a team to reckon with in the very near future."

I have no doubt that given the time, Coach Mattox will have Kentucky near or at the top of the Southeastern Conference."

—Jan Chancellor, Head Coach-WABA Houston Comets

"I had the pleasure of working with Bernadette Mattox at the University of Kentucky. I do not use the word 'pleasure' lightly as I found Bernadette Mattox to be a hard worker and a great teacher of the game of basketball. Without her services we would not have won the national championship."
