"The undersigned, the Faculty of Kentucky University, would respectfully beg "leave to call the attention of the Board to an evil of great magnitude ex- "isting in the Community, and the probable influence of which upon the young "Committed to their charge, excites their most serious apprehensions. They allude to the presence and the conduct of many notorious ly disreputable fe- "males.

"To the Faculty of Kentucky University, Gentlemen:— The Faculty of "the University of Missouri, feeling the necessity of some more definite Code "of 'Intercollegiate Comity' among the higher literary Institutions of the

KENTUCKY UNIVERSITY.

"West and Southwest, have instructed us to solicit your cooperation in securing "the adoption of some such regulations as will aid us in enforcing efficient discipline.

"The comity existing among the older Institutions of the Eastern States, has "doubtless assumed the present somewhat definite form from the mere necessity of "the case, and is well worthy of our consideration until something better is devised. "We, therefore, propose for your consideration the following as embodying the most es- "sential principles of their unwritten Collegiate Code:

"1. When a Student comes from another Institution, he must have a Certificate "of dismission, certifying his regular standing when he left.

"2. If any Institution violates this rule of courtesy, it shall not be recognized "as a peer in any respect; and its students shall not be admitted to ad eun- "dem degrees.

"Provided, should the Faculty of any College for any cause dismiss a "student whose character and standing had been such that they would not deem "his presence injurious to any other College, and should they give a certificate to "that effect, such student may be received without any violation of courtesy.

"We invite your cooperation with us in securing the adoption of some sim- "ilar regulations by all of our Western and Southwestern Colleges and Universities. "Will you give us your views on this subject, and suggest the best mode of accom- "plishing the object?

"Very respectfully your obedient Servants,

Williams, asking "that this body take some formal and proper action in reference to the conduct of Professor L. L. Pinkerton, in making an assault upon Professors Williams and McGarvey" by preferring a certain charge against them during a recent session of this body (Nov. 4th.), therefore, be it resolved; First while the other members of this Faculty deeply regret that anything has occurred to disturb the friendly relations of their brethren, and while they deem it a breach of good order for any member of the Faculty to apply offensive language to another, they must decline deciding the truth or falsity of the allegation made by Professor Pinkerton and denied by Prof. Williams.

Be it further resolved, that in the judgment of this Faculty, a member thereof is not justified in absenting himself from its sessions, or from any of its official duties, on account of any disagreement with any other member.

Be it further resolved, that the vote of Professor Williams and the a copy of the foregoing resolutions be transmitted, with the preamble thereto, to the Executive Committee for their action.

Resolved, that in neglecting to invite the Regent of the University to a joint Conference of the Executive Committee and Faculties held on the 9th inst, to consider among other matters, a petition from the Students addressed to the Faculty, Regent, and Executive Committee, we are now conscious of having failed in manifesting proper official courtesy towards the Regent, that we desire candidly to express our regret for this failure, and to disclaim all intentional disrespect, official or personal.

On motion, the following explanations were allowed to be placed on record: Professor Pinkerton expressed his entire willingness to vote to send the resolution of Saturday last in relation to the Regent of Kentucky University, but declined to vote for that of Monday last, on the ground that the letter of the Regent is unnecessarily imperious in tone, and disrespectful in language. Professor Neville dissented from the action of the Faculty, on the ground that it did not explain their failure to invite the Regent. The following preamble and resolution, proposed by Professor Neville, seemed to him to meet the case. "Whereas, a written communication has been received by the Faculty from the Regent of the University, in which he complains that the Faculty did not show him and his office proper respect, in having neglected to invite him to a joint conference of the Executive Committee and the Faculty, called to consider a certain petition addressed to the Faculty, Regent, and the Executive Committee, therefore, be it resolved, that the Faculty promptly disclaim all intention to manifest toward the Regent disrespect or discourtesy, either official or personal; that if any discourtesy was manifested, in the neglect of the Faculty to invite that officer to the conference aforesaid, it proceeded solely from an error of judgment on their part in supposing that the matter involved in said petition was to be decided by the legislative power of the University, which they understood to reside, during the recess of the Board of Curators, in the Executive Committee exclusively." Professor Neville also took occasion to say, that when the petition was presented to the Faculty, in answer to the question of President Milligan "What shall be done with this petition?" it was proposed to refer it to a Conference of the Executive Committee and the Faculty; that in answer to a further question of President Milligan, "Whether it would not be proper to include the Regent also?" Professor McGarvey replied "No, because by the act of the Curators (quoting it) establishing the office of Regent, the present matter does not come before him", or words to that effect. The Faculty at once assented to this view, and probably did not consume five minutes in the whole transaction.

On motion, resolved that for the present session the room now used by Professor McGarvey be assigned for the use of the Philothean Society, and that Professor McGarvey use the room of the Professor of English, provided that such change meet the approval of Professor McGarvey.

The said Elstner having expressed to the Presiding Officer a desire to enter the College of Arts, on motion of Professor Peter, it was resolved that whereas, the proposition of the said Elstner is evidently an attempt to evade the law, the Faculty cannot Thursday, April 11, 1872.

Adjourned Meeting.

Present President White and Professors Neville, Peter, Pickett and Milligan.

The following resolution was offered by Professor Neville:—Whereas an instrument in writing entitled the "Constitution of the Collegian of Kentucky University" has been submitted to the Presiding Officer of the College of Arts for his approval and has been referred by him to the Faculty thereof, therefore resolved that in the judgment of the Faculty they are not authorized as such to approve or disapprove the proposed publication; but that inasmuch as it is to be controlled by students belonging to different Colleges, and is to affect the reputation of the whole University, authority to conduct it ought properly to emanate from the University Senate, and that therefore the Faculty respectfully request the Chairman of the Senate to convene that body in order to consider the propriety of the projected publication.

The Faculty being divided in opinion as to the proper source of authority for the establishment of such a periodical, Professor Milligan moved that the words "the Executive Committee or" be inserted before "the University Senate" in the resolution. Explanation having been made that the resolution was intended to allow as wide an interpretation as the amendment would give it, the question was put and the resolution adopted, Professor Pickett voting against it on the ground that he thought that the object of the resolution could be better effected by the appointment of a Committee to confer with the Regent.

Professor Peter moved that tomorrow, being the day for the celebration of the birth of Henry Clay by the students of the Agricultural and Mechanical College, be given to the students of this College as a holiday. This motion amended so as to leave it discretionary with the several Professors whether they shall adjourn their classes tomorrow or not, was passed.

The following preamble and resolution offered by Professor Neville was unanimously adopted, the Presiding Officer expressing his concurrence in their adoption:— "Whereas R. G. Moody, a student of the College of Arts, attended a meeting of certain students of Kentucky University, held on Thursday last, the 18th inst. and voted for the following resolutions, which with others were then and there adopted, to wit: 'Resolved, that we, students of Kentucky University, have withdrawn from the University for the following reasons: 1. The Board of Curators, by a resolution passed on the 19th inst., did expel from the Faculty of the Bible College our beloved brother, John W. McGarvey, upon charges that were clearly proven to be false and malicious. 3. We believe that the action of the majority of the Board gave evidence of the most bitter party spirit and utter disregard of justice. 4. We believe that Regent Bowman and the majority of the Board are incapable, through prejudice, of discharging the trust confided to them, and are enemies to the true interests of the Church and the University.— Therefore, be it resolved by the Faculty, that the said R. G. Moody be publicly dismissed from the College of Arts (1.) for violating the law of the University which requires the students to treat all persons, and especially the officers of the University, with becoming decorum and respect; and (2.) for violating the law of the University which forbids students from attending or giving countenance to any meeting to criticise the government of the University".

The Presiding Officer called the attention of the Faculty to a by-law that has fallen into some neglect, and which is to the effect that all recitations shall be continued until the ringing of the bell at the expiration of the hour.

President White having resumed the chair after seconding this motion, Professor Pickett said, in explanation of his vote in favor of the resolution, that, while thinking that the offence in itself considered merited the dismission of the persons who had thus, during a recitation hour and in the College building, violated an important law, he favored a public admonition in this case because of the youth of the offenders, their former good conduct and their pledges for the future.

To avoid unjust discrimination in the method of estimating the standing of the candidates for graduation with a view to the assignments of titles for the next Commencement Day, the action of the last meeting was so modified as to make the estimate cover the last three terms, that bring the number of entire terms that have elapsed with the three candidates as Students of Kentucky University. As the result of an estimate made on this basis, the English Valedictory Oration was assigned to Joseph William Porter, of Fayette County, Kentucky and the English Orations on subjects of their own choosing to Henry Anderson Macdonald of Kingsborough, Prince Edward Island, and Frederic Virginius Loos of Lexington, Kentucky, one to each.

H. A. Macdonald having complained to the President that the method employed by the Faculty at the meeting on the 10th inst. discriminated against him, the Faculty made another estimate on a method of Mr. Macdonald's suggesting. While this estimate had the same result as regards the order of the three candidates on the basis of average standing, it so reduced the difference between the averages of Messrs. Porter and Macdonald as to induce the Faculty, desirous of avoiding every appearance of unfairness, to restore the Latin Salutatory to the programme of Commencement Exercises. The President was informally authorized to give Mr. Porter the privilege of choice of the Latin Salutatory or English Valedictory, and then to tender the other to Mr. Macdonald in lieu of the oration assigned to Mr. Macdonald on the 10th inst. Whereas Henry Milkens Ballance, a Student of the College of Arts, has been guilty of serious violation of the laws of the University by using intoxicating liquor, and that to such an extent as to become intoxicated; by carrying a deadly weapon; by appearing on the streets with his face blackened as a disguise; by entering, in this condition, a grocery and displaying his pistol in order to intimidate the keeper of the grocery; by absenting himself for a number of days from his classes without permission and all this in company with a young man who had been expelled from the State College:- therefore be it resolved by the Faculty, that the said Henry Milkens Ballance be expelled from this College.

On motion, the Faculty adjourned.

Expulsion being a penalty that requires, by a law of the University, a confirmation by the Executive Committee of the Board of Curators, the action of the Faculty was reported to the Executive Committee by the Secretary of the Faculty, who received in due time a communication from the Secretary of the Executive Committee in which the following action of the Committee was reported:

"Whereas a communication from the Faculty has made known to us the fact that they have expelled Henry W. 1. At the close of the daily examination of each class, the instructor shall affix to the name of each student examined a number denoting the merit of his performance. One hundred shall denote the highest degree of merit, zero the absence of any. At the close of each term examination the instructor in charge shall make an estimate of each student's performance according to the same scale as that used for the estimate of the daily examinations, and from this estimate and those of the daily exercises, he shall make an impartial determination of the student's scholarship for the term. The number denoting this shall be recorded in the student's term-report as his merit in scholarship. In making the estimate of daily standing and term examinations, zero shall be given for each and every unexcused absence from an exercise of the class. p. 232.

2. A record shall be kept of the attendance of each student on the daily exercises of his classes. His term report shall contain the sum of the record of attendance on each class under three heads, viz. number of excused absences, of unexcused absences and of tardy attendances.

A record shall also be kept of attendance on chapel exercises.

MINUTE BOOK.

When, in the case of any student, three unexcused absences shall stand recorded, it shall be the duty of the keeper of the roll to report the fact to the President, who shall after inquiry at his discretion excuse the absences or direct that they stand unexcused. The term report of each student shall show the Student's attendance on chapel under the heads of absences excused, absences unexcused and tardy attendances. See p. 223.

3. In the term report of each student shall be entered a number denoting the Faculty's estimate of his conduct, on a scale in which 100 shall denote the absence of any known demerit. This estimate of conduct shall be made from all facts relating to the behaviour of the student as far as known to the Faculty.

Whereas, Professor Henry H. White was forced by impaired vision to resign the professorship of Mathematics and Astronomy in this institution after a service of forty-six years;

Be it therefore resolved, that we deeply regret the necessity that compelled his retirement from this Faculty, of which he had been a member ever since the beginning of the University, in which time he was for years Presiding Officer of the College of Liberal Arts, and for two years President of the University;

That we sympathize profoundly with him in the affliction that led to his resignation;

That we recognize his eminent ability in his chosen field of study and instruction, his exemplary diligence in discharging his duties as professor, the self-sacrificing devotion to the welfare of the University he has always manifested, the rare wisdom of his counsels in the Faculty, and his uniformly courteous bearing towards all his colleagues, his unselfish kindness of heart, the sincerity of all his motives and actions, and his high character as a Christian;

That we feel our loss of his close association, his wise counsel and his strong help as a member of this faculty;

That we rejoice that he is still able to be actively among us treasurer of the University, and we hope that life, health and strength may be continued to him, that he may labor for the good of the University.

Kentucky University, June 5th, 1894.

Professor A.R. Milligan,
Secretary of the Faculty of Liberal Arts.

My dear Sir:— Acknowledging with pleasure the receipt, by your favor of June 1st of a copy of the resolutions concerning me adopted by the Faculty the day before, & by leave, through you, to tender to my late colleagues my hearty thanks for this esteemed token of their good will.

I do not recall any event in my whole life as a teacher, now in extent more than half a century, that has affected me more deeply, than this generous action of my colleagues, this much-prized expression of their kindly feeling for one who is glad to know that in each he has a personal friend. Though no longer sharing their work as teachers, I am glad to be able, as treasurer, to labor with them for the good of the University; and, while wishing in no way to impede the progress of their noble work, yet it will doubtless frequently be my duty, in my official capacity, to interpose "checks" in their way.

I am, very truly yours,
Henry N. White.

The secretary reported that the results obtained from the amounts for scholarship that had been given him by the professors showed these to be the honor students of the class that is to be graduated on the 14th inst., and their averages: H. The President read the following letter:

New York, May 30th, 1895.

To the Faculty of Liberal Arts,
Kentucky University.
Gentlemen,

Desiring to be relieved of the duties of Secretary of the Faculty, which I have discharged for more than twenty years, I tender my resignation of that office. I was too much pressed by various work up to the hour of my departure from Lexington, to do this before I left the city.

As a member of the Faculty, I would suggest the question whether so large an amount of uncompensated labor as to interfere to a degree with the conduct of his department, should be imposed on one member. Might it not be well to renew the division of the office into the two offices of Corresponding and Recording Secretaries? This division was recognized, if not made, at the first Faculty meeting, which was held in September of 1859.

I think, however, that the length of my service as Secretary, entitles me to full relief from further discharge of the duties of either part of the office.

Very respectfully,
A. R. Milligan.

On Motion, Professor Milligan's resignation was accepted, and the President was requested to notify him of this action, and to express to him the thanks of this Faculty for his faithful and efficient services as Secretary.

On motion, Professor Ellett was appointed Corresponding Secretary, and Professor Freeman, Recording Secretary.

On motion, the President was authorized to recommend to the Board of Curators that the students whose names follow be admitted to the degrees they severally seek.

To the degree of Bachelor of Arts: Thomas Leland Bland, Vandalia, Mo.; Ernest Brennan Bradley, Lex., Ky.; Eli Huston Brown, Owensboro, Ky.; Henry Hampton Halley, Mile-Sulphur, Ky.; Marmaduke Hargett, Germantown, Ky.; Samuel Ripley Hawkins, Lex., Ky.; Hugh McClellan, Melbourne, Australia; John Robertson Meyers, Lex., Ky.; Frederic William O'Malley, Fort Erie, Canada; Clarence Linden Williamson, Atlanta, Ga. To the degree of Bachelor of Literature: Philip William Breitenbucher, Atlanta, Ga.; Edward Fabricius Dornaby, Lex., Ky. To the degree of Bachelor of Science: Warren Wilson Bland, Vandalia, Mo.; Joseph Clinton Smith, Lowes, Ky.; Richard Albert White, Danville, Ky.;

To the degree of Master of Arts: James Albert Allen, A.B., Chenault, Ky.; William Virgil Case, A.B., Lex., Ky.; Frederic Thomas O. Norton, A.B., Cardigan Bridge, P.E.I.

To the degree of Master of Science: Julia Cassandra Mathis, B.S., Fort Spring, Ky.

To the degree of Bachelor of Law: Matthew Fontaine Maury Kemper, A.B., A.M., Lex., Ky.

On motion, the Faculty adjourned.

On Friday afternoon, June 14th and Saturday morning, June 15th, the Faculty met to make out the reports of the second term. After this work was completed, they, on motion, adjourned.

They were reprimanded by the President and given to understand that they must obey the rule adopted by the Faculty on Oct. 13th 1895, in reference to all material intended for publication, or their paper would be suppressed.

Professor C. Morris Campbell, after submitting testimonials as to his character and qualifications, and, after speaking of his successful work as a musical director in Peoria, Ill. and elsewhere, stated that he desired to establish a College of Music in the city of Lexington. He requested that the Faculty recommend to the Executive committee of the Board of Curators that such a College be established in connection with the University.

Professor Campbell then retired from the room, and President McGarvey told what he knew of Professor Campbell and his work. In conclusion, he said that he thought the Faculty would make no mistake in recommending such a man.

On motion, the Faculty unanimously adopted the following:—

Resolved, that we recommend, that Professor C. Morris Campbell be allowed to establish a College of Music in connection with this University.

The President was authorized and requested to present this resolution to the Executive committee.

himself.

In the discussion that followed the reading of this letter, it transpired that the President and several of the Professors had, for some time, suspected that Mr. Simpson was leading an immoral life. Finally, it was informally agreed that he be privately reprimanded and admonished by the President, and put on probation for the remainder of the term.

President Love stated that at the last meeting of the Board of Curators, he asked to be relieved of the duties of President of the University. He said, also, that the Joint Committee on Organization requested that the Faculty suggest a suitable man for his successor.

At the beginning of the session, the students formed an organization for the purpose of suppressing, as far as possible, dishonesty in daily recitations and in examinations. The Committee of students appointed by this organization detected a member of one of the classes in the School of Natural Science cheating in an examination, and reported the fact to the Professor. The guilty student came to the Professor and, after confessing his guilt, asked for another examination. The Professor, therefore, requested the President to call this meeting in order that the Faculty might take action in regard to such cases.

After considerable discussion, it was, on motion, resolved that any student detected in cheating in any examination shall receive no standing in that class for the current term.

On motion, the President was requested to announce in Chapel this action of the Faculty.

On motion, the Faculty adjourned to meet February 6th.

Regular Meeting Thursday, February 6th, 1896.

An estimate was made of the conduct of students out of classes for the term ending Feb. 3rd.

A committee appointed by the literary societies of the University, presented a petition that the celebration of Washington's birthday take place, this year, on Friday, Feb. 21st, instead of on Saturday, Feb. 22nd. The ground urged for this change was that three of the speakers on that occasion are pastors of churches, and are obliged to leave the city on Saturday morning in order to reach their appointments.

On motion, this request was unanimously granted.

Mr. C. A. Thomas appeared, on citation, to explain why he had been absent from Chapel so frequently without excuse. Mr. Thomas frankly confessed that he was negligent in his attendance at Chapel and that he had no good excuse to offer. In reference to the long list of unexcused absences, he stated that he often neglects to present excuses to the Professor who calls the roll in Chapel after they had been obtained from the President. After promising faithfully to do better in the future, Mr. Thomas retired from the room.

After some discussion of his case, it was, informally, dropped without further action.

A committee of students from the organization to prevent dishonesty in recitations and in examinations submitted, for the approval of the Faculty, a list of practices which shall be regarded as cheating.

As the hour was late, the Faculty, on motion, adjourned to meet

In particular — (1) Keeping open, during recitation, any book other than that from which the lesson is read.

(2) Assistance from another student, after the recitation begins, whether spoken, written, or by signs; such assistance to be regarded as cheating on the part both of the giver and the receiver of the aid.

(3) Any interlining of a text for aid in translation.

(4) Making a marginal note that may aid in recitation, unless such a note be authorized and allowed by the instructor.

(5) Presenting as one's own a copied or plagiarized essay, problem, or translation.

(6) Making use of a translation in class-room.

(7) Any reference to notes or other helps after the recitation begins.

(8) Every sort of assistance, whether spoken, written, or otherwise conveyed, that is not equally open to all members of the class.

At the request of the President, the Faculty, on motion, allowed Mr. C. W. Spears to substitute the Senior Greek for the Sophomore Greek.

The committee appointed Jan. 16th to prepare an answer to the Joint Committee reported as follows:

To the Joint Committee on Organization of the University.

Gentlemen:— On January 16th, the President communicated to this Faculty your desire that they should nominate to you a person deemed suitable for the Office of President of the University.

After mature consideration, the Faculty beg leave to say that, in view of the relation which they will sustain to this Officer, it is their unanimous opinion that any definite action of the Faculty would be unwise. At the same time, they wish to assure you, that they feel the deepest interest in the choice to be made, and will cheerfully render, as individuals, any assistance in their power. It is their judgment that all action, on their part, which must go upon the records of the University, ought to be avoided.

R. H. Ellett

On motion, this report was adopted, and the Corresponding Secretary was requested to send a copy of it to the Joint Committee.

in the College of Liberal Arts of not less than ninety, are designated honor students. The first honor is awarded to each candidate for graduation whose average scholarship is, in the judgment of the Faculty, highest among those honor students that have pursued the same baccalaureate course.

The valedictory is awarded to that candidate for graduation in any of these courses whose average standing is, at the time of the award, highest; the salutatory to that candidate whose average standing is then next to the highest; and the class oration or address to that candidate whose average standing is then third. But neither the first honor, the valedictory, the salutatory, nor the class oration or address can be awarded to a student who will not, at the time of his graduation, be completing at least his second full session of work in the College of Liberal Arts, of which he must, during the last session, have been a matriculate.

Whereas the Faculty did, at a meeting held on the 4th inst, pass a resolution in which the aid of the Faculty in procuring the establishment here of a chapter of a certain Greek letter society was promised to certain young ladies of this college;

And Whereas it is found that that action places the majority of the Faculty in a false attitude as respects the existence of secret societies in this college, is inconsistent with a proper regard for the dignity of the University, and may be detrimental to the growth and success of the Cornelia Literary Society;

Be it, therefore, resolved that so much of the action of the 4th inst.

as promises the aid of the Faculty in procuring the establishment in this college of a chapter of any secret society be and hereby is rescinded.

On Thursday afternoon the Faculty, on motion, adopted the following resolution:

Resolved. That the Faculty having heard, at length, representatives of the two parties that unfortunately divide the Peridean Society and having carefully considered the questions submitted in two papers that are signed by members of that Society, Kindly and in the spirit of fairness returns the following answers to the four questions:

1. The question of the eligibility of the matriculates of the Normal College to membership in the Peridean Society, being a question that relates to two colleges of the University, can be decided only by the Board of Curators.

2. The question, Who was legally and fairly elected president of the society on the 18th inst? depends for its answer on the decision of the Board of Curators concerning the eligibility of matriculates of the Normal College to membership in the society. Pending the action of the Board on that question, it is the judgment of the Faculty that the vice-president should preside at the meetings of the society, and that all matriculates of Kentucky University whose names are now on the roll should have equal privileges as members.

3. No amendment to the constitution of the society and none of its by-laws is of force unless it has been approved by the Faculty. The amendments that relate to Greek-letter fraternities have never been acted on by the Faculty and are, therefore, void.

4. The existence of Greek-letter fraternities in the University was authorized by the Board of Curators. The attitude of the Faculty to such fraternities is neutral; it does not, therefore, express an opinion on the amendments relating to them further than has been expressed in the third of these answers. Petitions concerning Greek-letter fraternities may be transmitted to the board through the Faculty.

On motion, the Faculty adjourned.

"In the death of President Robert Graham, a princely man of largest and noblest endowments of mind and heart as a Christian, as a minister of the Gospel, and as a teacher and guide of youth in the highest spheres of education, and a leader of men of more than ordinary power and of far reaching influence, has passed from among us.

Long connected with Kentucky University as President, first of the College of Liberal Arts, and for many years after, of the College of the Bible, his enlightened wisdom and singular vigor in administering these important offices; his eminent scholarly ability, gentlemanly courtesy, and success as a professor in both these Colleges; and his deep and active interest always manifested in everything that concerned the life and welfare of the University, have left their impress on the history of this institution which he loved so well. The Faculty of the College of Liberal Arts and of the Normal College recognizes the great debt that the University owes to him for all that, in his long connection with it, he has been to it and has done for it.

From his early youth he manifested tireless industry and unremitting patience in the pursuit of knowledge. He was laborious and unwearying in his devotion to duty, ever willing to bear the heaviest burdens.

While we can not but feel deeply the loss of such a man, we rejoice that a life of such large usefulness, and so rich in its influence for good, endured in unbroken vigor of body and of mind, to a high limit of years that few men reach.

The memory and the influence of the life of President Graham in Kentucky University, is to it a rich inheritance that will endure to coming generations.

The Faculty of the College of Liberal Arts and of the Normal College expresses to the aged widow of our deceased brother and to their sons and daughter its sincere sympathy with them in their irreparable loss; and directs that a copy of this minute be sent to the principal papers of Lexington and of the Christian Church. As an additional mark of respect, class exercises will be suspended during the day of the funeral, which the Faculty will attend in a body."

KENTUCKY UNIVERSITY.

The following resolutions were adopted by the Faculty at a called meeting held Thursday morning, Oct. 29. 1903.

The faculty of liberal arts of Kentucky University expresses its deep regret in view of the ~~sudden~~ death of Curator John C. May, of this city, who was accidentally killed on the 27th instant, by falling over a precipice of Lookout Mountain, in the State of Georgia.

John Conley May was for five successive sessions a matriculate of this institution, beginning with his entrance into the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Kentucky in its first session, and ending with his graduation in the College of Law in January of 1871. Having returned after an interval of several years, to take up his permanent residence in Lexington, he was, in June of 1892, elected a member of the Board of Curators. Since then he has been one of the most faithful officers, as he has always been one of the most devoted friends, of Kentucky University.

The faculty avails itself of the opportunity which the sudden death of a gentleman so well known in this community affords, to bear its testimony to the consistent Christian life of our departed friend, who, amid the cares of business, was regular in his attendance on religious services and active in the discharge of his Christian duties: and to point to him as a shining instance of a man who, under the weight of burdens that were known to be heavy and in the face of disappointments that must sometimes have been bitter, set an example, worthy of imitation by old and young alike, of cheerful submission to the will of Him who doeth all things well.

The faculty tenders an expression of its sincere sympathy to the aged mother, to whose burden of years is added that of a great grief, and to the daughter and sons, who, before bereft of their mother, mourn now the loss of an affectionate father.

A. R. Milligan. } Committee.

Wednesday, Dec. 9, 1903.

The Faculty was informed of the death of former President Henry H. White. Professor A.R. Milligan made the following motion which was unanimously adopted.

1- That a committee of three members of this Faculty be appointed to prepare a suitable expression occasioned by the death of President White

2- That the flag over Morrison College be placed at half mast until after the funeral.

3- That a request be made for the funeral services to be held in Morrison Chapel, if not inconsistent with the wishes of the family

4. That all exercises at the University be suspended on the day of the funeral.

A committee consisting of Profs. Foos, Milligan, and Lloyd was appointed to draft a suitable expression of the sorrow occasioned by President White's death.

Thursday. Dec. 10, 1903

The following expression was adopted by the Faculty and on Thursday morning Dec 11th was read in Morrison chapel, when Profs. Foos and Milligan paid additional tributes to the life and character of President White:

To the family of the late President Henry H. White:

The Faculty of the College of Liberal Arts of Kentucky University has heard with deep sorrow of the decease of former President Henry Hall White, LL.D. which took place in this city on the 9th instant, in the eighty-third year of his age.

The long connection of President White with this institution of learning, his large intellectual equipment, and his singularly upright walk and conversation merit much more than this passing tribute. From the day in May 1838, on which he matriculated in Bacon College, a youth who had just completed his seventeenth year until he resigned the office of Treasurer of Kentucky University in July 1901, his life was spent and his work was done here, with almost no other interruption than that which was occasioned by the suspension of the College. Elected a tutor while he was yet a student, he was in 1839 promoted to the professorship of Mathematics, a place which he filled with distinction for more than half a century, until impaired vision led to his resignation in 1893. During the eleven consecutive years that ended with 1880 he was the presiding officer of this College, and during the last two years of that time he was President of the University. Appointed treasurer of the University soon after his voluntary resignation of its presidency, he administered that office with his wonted care, wisdom and success, until it also became vacant by his voluntary resignation. He now remained professor emeritus of Mathematics and Astronomy, an appointment which the University had honored itself by making, until his death ended the one thread that runs through almost the entire history of the institution.

It would be an injustice to the memory of President White to dwell only on his long service, his exemplary devotion, his thorough scholarship, and his rare ability as an educator. Henry A. White was a strong moral force and a shining example of true religion in the communities in which he lived; yet he moved in them an unassuming gentleman and a humble Christian of character so pure and heavenly as not to suffer by comparison even with those truly great souls of whom the world was not worthy. In holy meditation on such spirits, his last years were lived until he joined the innumerable company.

The Faculty tenders this inadequate expression of its sincere sympathy to the bereaved family, who will lay the body of our departed friend to its last rest, in that cemetery in which so many of his former colaborers have long been sleeping.

Wednesday, Dec. 16, 1903

That our colleague while with us has won the esteem and affection of his fellow teachers, of the students and the the authorities of the University, by his exemplary Christian life, and his manly, Kindly and generous conduct towards all.

That we are sure, that wherever the hand of Providence may lead him, he will always be the same high minded, conscientious and diligent laborer in his chosen field of activity that he has been among us; — and as Christians we earnestly pray that the abundant blessing of God may ever attend him.
