*"All we have of freedom—all we use or know—
This our fathers bought for us, long and long ago."*

—Rudyard Kipling

This collage by New York artist Fred Otnes was especially commissioned by Brown & Williamson for its permanent collection of fine art works.

The freedom to choose our livelihood was provided to us long ago. And it was typified by the struggle of immigrants to America in the early 1800's. People like Adam Gimbel, a humble Jewish peddler from Germany, who later founded the country's first department store. And individuals who became industrial giants, like Andrew Carnegie from Scotland, who built one of the largest steel producing businesses in the United States. America had given both of them the freedom. The freedom to choose.

A free individual does not live without choice. A free society does not prosper without it. Consider, if you will, the personal choices we make every day without intervention from others. Now consider how many we take for granted.

The right to choose is the basis of all freedom—political, social, artistic, economic, religious—for all people. But this right must be protected from those who would chip away at it...either deliberately for personal gain, or innocently for the “betterment” of humanity. It must be protected from those who would make their choice, your choice. These personal freedoms are our legacy as well as our responsibility...to protect and to pass on to those who follow.

Freedom. It's a matter of choice.

State Government

The Honorable John Y. Brown, Jr. Governor of Kentucky

John Y. Brown, Jr., became the 51st governor of Kentucky on December 11, 1979.

Born on December 28, 1933, Governor Brown graduated from Lafayette High School in his hometown, Lexington, and obtained a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Kentucky in 1957. He graduated from the UK College of Law three years later.

The Governor served in the U.S. Army Reserve from 1959 to 1965.

He has been named the Outstanding Young Man of America by the National Junior Chamber of Commerce (1965), as one of the outstanding Civic Leaders of America (1967) and Louisville's Outstanding Young Man by the same group. Lions Club International gave him an Outstanding American Award (1974) and he is the youngest person to be named to the University of Kentucky's Hall of Fame.

This past summer, Gov. Brown was elected vice chairman of the Democratic Governors Conference and states' co-chairman of the Appalachian Regional Commission.

He has three children by a previous marriage, John Y. Brown, III (18), Eleanor (16) and Sandra (15). He married Phyllis George on March 17, 1979 and they recently added a fourth child to the family, Lincoln George Tyler Brown, born in June, 1980.

Ashland Oil has an infinite source of energy-the creative minds of our research scientists and engineers.

Instead of searching around the world for new sources of crude oil, Ashland Oil is developing alternative sources of energy in the laboratory. For example:

More gasoline from crude oil. Ashland Oil's new Reduced Crude Conversion (RCC) process makes it possible to get 24 percent more gasoline out of every barrel of crude oil we refine. This means that Ashland will be able to produce the same amount of gasoline we're producing now, using fewer barrels of expensive crude oil.

And if the RCC process is adopted by other oil companies, America could substantially decrease its dependence on foreign crude oil.

Crude oil from coal. America has enough coal to take us well into the 22nd century. At Ashland Oil, we're experimenting with coal liquefaction, the process which turns coal into synthetic crude oil. This new synthetic crude oil can be refined into gasoline and other petroleum products.

We now plan to build a major facility in Breckinridge County, Kentucky, to produce oil from coal commercially.

Both our RCC and coal liquefaction projects are under way at our refinery in Catlettsburg, Kentucky.

Gasohol from corn. Ashland will soon be able to meet 12 percent of America's goal for ethanol production from its coal-fired South Point, Ohio, ethanol plant.

By converting corn into ethanol (ethyl alcohol) and adding ethanol to gasoline, we'll be producing gasohol—a third important ingredient in America's formula for decreasing energy dependence.

At Ashland Oil, we're depending on one of America's greatest natural resources—new technology from our innovative research team.

OTIS A. SINGLETARY
University President

The University of Kentucky has become one of the major institutions of higher learning in the United States under the leadership of Dr. Otis Singletary, the eighth president of the University. His tenure has been marked by rapid growth and a commitment to excellence.

"The University, with all its problems, is still the single most important institution in the state," Dr. Singletary has said. "Its network of influence is felt throughout the state, not just in the instruction of the state's young people but in the great pattern of research, the things we are doing to improve the quality of human life and the wide range of services we are providing throughout the state.

"Contrary to popular opinion, our institutions of higher education are not operated exclusively for students, or for faculty members, or for administrators, or for trustees — or, for that matter, for all of these. Historically speaking, universities have been created and supported by our society to perform important functions for the common good of society. This is the larger meaning of the term, 'the public interest,' as it applies to institutions of higher education."

Before being named UK president in 1969, Dr. Singletary served as executive vice chancellor for academic affairs in the University of Texas system and as director of the Job Corps program for the Office of Economic Opportunity.

The Gulfport, Miss., native holds degrees from Millsaps College and Louisiana State University. He is a nationally recognized history scholar and is the author of two books and several monographs.

In the 12 years he has been president, the University has grown to where there are now more than 23,000 students on the Lexington campus and more than 19,000 students in UK's 13 community colleges. UK has gained an international reputation in such diverse fields as medicine, business, engineering, law and agriculture. The University also is noted for its research in the fields of energy, tobacco and cancer. The Sanders-Brown Research Center on Aging is one of the first facilities of its kind.

The UK Alumni Association has recognized Dr. Singletary's special service by presenting him its Alumni Service Award. It is an honor rarely bestowed upon a non-alumnus of the University.

Dr. Singletary is in the second year of his two-year term as president of the Southeastern Conference. As University President, he serves as chairman of the board of directors of the UK Athletic Association, the body which maintains overall policy supervision of the athletic program.

A Navy veteran of World War II and the Korean conflict, he is commander in the U. S. Naval Reserve. He and Mrs. Singletary, the former Gloria Walton, have three children: Bonnie, Scot and Kendall.

The Singletarys live at Maxwell Place, traditional home of UK presidents.

Athletics Director

CLIFFORD O. HAGAN
Director

The story of Cliff Hagan's reign as chief of the UK Athletics Department has been one of fine attendance at the two big revenue-producing sports, increased attendance in Lady Kat basketball and men's baseball, and a steady upgrading of facilities.

The University will be host to the SEC Basketball Tournament in March of next year and the NCAA Championship Finals in 1985. The UK Relays were renewed this past spring.

Hagan, who has seen and overseen vast improvements in all phases of the UK athletics program since returning to his alma mater as assistant athletics director in 1972, has under his command a total of 20 sports ranging from football and men's basketball in Level I, to women's basketball in Level II, and a baker's dozen sports in Level III.

He was named in 1972, assistant to Harry C. Lancaster and given the task of implementing the Blue & White Fund for 57,600-seat Commonwealth Stadium and later for Rupp Arena. Hagan replaced Lancaster as athletics director in July, 1975.

Hagan received one of his highest individual honors three years ago when he became the first University of Kentucky basketball player to be installed in the Naismith Memorial National Basketball Hall of Fame in Springfield, Mass. At UK, he played on teams that won 86 of 91 games and an NCAA championship (1951). He went on to star in the NBA with the St. Louis Hawks and in the ABA with the Dallas Chaparrals as player-coach.

He received his M.S. in education from Washington University in 1958.

Head Coach

Fran Curci Enters Ninth Season At Kentucky Helm

With his second good recruiting crop in a row, Fran Curci enters his ninth year as University of Kentucky football coach with hopes of returning the Wildcats to their fine back-to-back seasons of 1976, when they finished 8-4 and were Southeastern Conference co-champion and Peach Bowl champion, and 1977, when they finished 10-1 and were undefeated in conference play.

Curci's victory total at UK now stands at 44 (44-43-2), second only to the 60 victories registered by Paul Bryant (60-23-3, 1946-53) and ahead of the 41 by Blanton Collier (41-36-3, 1954-61).

Youthfulness, inexperience and injuries took their toll of the Wildcats last year, when four games were lost in the closing seconds, including two with no time left on the clock, en route to a 3-8 record.

During his tenure at UK, Curci has been named SEC "Coach of the Year" by both wire services—UPI in 1973 and AP in 1977—and has finished high in the national balloting (1977).

He has produced four All-Americans and three Academic All-Americans at UK, which did not have an All-American of any type during the nine years before he came to Lexington. He also has produced 10 All-SEC players named 15 times to the honor squads.

Curci came to UK from the University of Miami, FL, where he was head coach two years. He started his career as freshman coach there in 1962 after earning All-American honors as a quarterback for the Hurricanes in 1959 and playing QB for the old Dallas Texans in the AFL.

Curci went to Tampa as head coach in 1968, putting together a 7-3 season that included victories over Mississippi State and Tulane and earned him the Florida Sports Writers Association's "Coach of the Year" award, a recognition repeated in 1970.

His 1969 team finished 8-2, while his 10-1 record in 1970 included a 31-14 triumph over Miami and brought the Tampanians the nation's No. 1 College Division ranking. Curci was runner-up for the College Division "Coach of the Year" honors.

He coached the Hurricanes in 1971 and 1972.

A native of Pittsburgh, PA, Curci played his high school football in Miami, where he lettered three years as a quarterback at Archbishop Curley High and was All-City, All-Conference, Catholic All-State and his team's Most Valuable Player.

At Miami, where he was known as the "Mite-y Magician," he parlayed intelligence and desire to become All-America as a senior in 1959 after receiving All-America honorable mention in 1957.

He set Hurricane seasonal and career marks for total offense, most passes thrown, most passes completed and most yards gained passing. He was co-holder of the record for most passes thrown.

He rolled up 2,767 yards rushing and passing during his varsity career, breaking a total offense record that had stood for more than two decades. He captained the Hurricanes his senior year and climaxed his career by engineering a stunning upset of Michigan State.

After graduation in 1960 with a degree in marketing, he played one year for the Texans and then served as a lieutenant in the Army, coaching and playing football for the Fort Eustis team, which won the National Service championship in the Missile Bowl.

Curci has been selected seven times to coach in all-star games. He assisted Bear Bryant with the South team in Tampa's first annual American Bowl game five years ago, then served as South head coach the next year. He helped Charlie McClendon of LSU and Alex Agase of Northwestern direct the East in the Coaches All-America game and has also appeared at the North-South Game, Japan Bowl, East-West Game and Hula Bowl.

He was elected to the Miami Sports Hall of Fame in 1980.

Kentucky Kickoff Spotlights:

George Catavolos

Wildcat assistant coach George Catavolos is always on the lookout for smart football players. You can't be a dummy and play for the Wildcat defensive secondary.

"My basic philosophy for a defensive back is, I take it for granted he has the speed and size if he is playing that position," he says, adding, "The most important ingredient is to be an intelligent player because you have to make split-second decisions on pass and run keys.

"And that's also why it is important to be quick, to be able to react and break on a pass," Catavolos says.

Catavolos adds that college teams nowadays have better passing games than when he was a defensive back for Purdue in the late 1960s. The Chicago native was a three-year letterman who earned the Noble E. Kizer Award his senior year and was co-captain and outstanding defensive back on the Boilermakers' 1967 Rose Bowl team. He earned both a bachelor's and masters' degree at Purdue.

After being drafted and trying out with the Philadelphia Eagles, he returned to serve two years as a Purdue graduate assistant. From there he went to Middle Tennessee and Louisville before returning to Purdue as secondary coach in 1971. George has been at Kentucky since 1977.

Asked the most enjoyable part of his stay at Kentucky, Catavolos was quick to respond.

"It's the people and the fans associated with the University of Kentucky athletic program. I've never been associated with a group of individuals who cared so much about the teams. It's amazing that whenever we take a road trip, no matter how far, there always is a large Kentucky group that will go along.

"As far as the fans and alumni, there's no better place in America."

The Wildcat Secondary

Experience is the Competitive Edge

By Barry Bronson

While the performance of the Kentucky defense has been surprisingly good this season, it is no surprise that the defensive secondary has excelled. Wildcat followers expected big things from this crew.

"Going into the season the strong point of the defensive backfield was experience," explains defensive secondary Coach George Catavolos. "Three out of the four young men starting have had a lot of game experience. The only inexperienced individual we have has been Kerry Baird."

No Wildcat opponent so far has picked up big passing yardage on the defensive secondary and the four starters have been playing the run well also. Coaches are fond of saying there is room for improvement so we will let Coach Catavolos say it, too.

"I know as the season progresses we are going to have to get better at both phases because we are going to be facing stiffer competition," he says.

The idea is to keep working. There is more pressure today on defensive backs than when Catavolos was a star at Purdue.

"Offenses in the past five or 10 years have become more wide open," says Catavolos, adding, "They are attacking the perimeter with a lot of different type of options. And the passing game in the last seven or eight years has made rapid strides. Teams are throwing the ball 25 times a game and that puts a lot of pressure on the perimeter."

The coach says the secondary is facing a different kind of offense each week so the backfield must work on both the opponents' perimeter plays and the passing game. According to Catavolos, it takes a different player today to prepare to play the new style game.

"I know seven or eight years ago you played secondary defenders who were basically run defenders, people who could play against power football, against option football teams.

"And now you have some very fine athletes at your corner positions and at safety to play like a linebacker on the run and still be swift and graceful on pass defense.

Bill Straus Photos

Tom Petty and Andy Molls work well together

"The most important thing as far as a defensive back is concerned is to be very intelligent and very quick," he adds. "You have to be able to make a split-second decision on your pass and run keys."

Catavolos gave the following scouting report on each of his players.

"Andy Molls has been a starter for two years. Of course, last year he missed the majority of the season with an injury. Andy's big strength is his quickness and his ability to diagnose a play.

"Tom Petty got a lot of playing time last year. He's got good strength, good speed. His biggest strengths are his quickness and his competitiveness. He keeps working every week to get better and better.

Tom basically was an offensive player in high school (in Indianapolis), a tremendous high school running back. It has taken him two years to get into the defensive back frame of mind.

"Kerry Baird has all the tools: size, speed, strength and quickness and he could be a great defensive back here at Kentucky. The only thing he is lacking right now is experience. As a sophomore, he has only been at a defensive back position at UK for about ten weeks," Catavolos says.

"Greg Long is one of the most intelligent football players I've ever coached. He's a great competitor with good quickness. He's one who does an excellent job of reading and diagnosing plays and he has worked hard at that position."

Tom Petty

Ben Johnson, David Meers, Ty Richmond

And then there are the backups. Ten days ago, the Cats fifth defensive back, Venus Meaux, a five-year senior, went down with an injury. He is out for the season. Coach Catavolos says he will be missed.

"Benjy Johnson (a 5-11 junior from Hampton, Va.) is the next corner back to go in the ballgame now that Venus is out," he says, adding, "I have total confidence in him. Benjy started a couple of games for us last year and he's a real hard worker and has excellent speed. Also, he's been having real fine practice sessions.

"Over at the other corner we have Craig Hamilton who's a junior college transfer and he's one of our best pass defenders. He has a weakness against the run but he is improving. Craig suffered an ankle injury the week before the Clemson game and we don't know when he'll be back.

Kerry Baird

"Carmichael Caldwell will also play corner and he has a bright future here. He was a running back and defensive back out in Detroit. He has speed, quickness and he's a very strong individual. He's benched 275 pounds three times for us and has impressed in our weight program. His big weakness is lack of experience. As the season progresses he's going to get a lot of playing time. He plays a lot for us on our speciality teams.

"At strong safety we have Ty Richmond who has been playing on our speciality teams and has done a good job. Ty's biggest adjustment has been moving from linebacker to the secondary. He's a little bit too run-conscious but has been showing a lot of progress and we're looking for him to be the replacement when Greg Long graduates.

Carmichael Caldwell

"Then there is Johnny Jones. He has all the tools and in time he should be a good player and compete with Ty for that strong safety position.

"At safety behind Molls we have Buzz Meers who is also the long snapper on punts. Buzz is probably our most intelligent defensive back as far as understanding the total concept of our defense and he's a good backup.

"Gordon Jackson is a very fine football player but again, all these guys lack experience. There is Paul Calhoun, a high school All-American out of Louisville. Paul is also an excellent punter and he has a bright future here," Catavolos says.

"For all these backups, the important thing is they are one or two plays away from being a starter and they have to keep working hard so when their opportunity comes, they are ready to perform.

"These are class, class kids," adds their coach. "They are hard workers on the field and off the field. They do a good job in the classroom and it is a pleasure to coach this kind of individual."

CHEVY CAVALIER THE ESCAPE HATCH

Escape to where you long to be.

Here's the kind of engineering designed to take you miles away from the middle of the road. The 1982 Cavalier Hatchback. A brand-new car that owes its creation to innovation. Not imitation.

Escape with the goods.

Reclining front seats, power brakes, side and rear window defoggers and a remote hatch release (quite a remote feature on ordinary hatchbacks) combine with 38 other standard features to make the '82 Cavalier the most complete new car we've ever introduced.

On the technical side, innovations in front-wheel drive, aerodynamic design and operating efficiency help add up to 43 Est. Highway/26 EPA Est. MPG.* And engine buffs will be interested to know Cavalier's standard 1.8 Liter, 4-cylinder engine actually delivers more horsepower per liter than some highly regarded V8s.

Plan your escape now.

Your Chevy dealer can help put your escape plan in motion, starting with a test drive. Get inside. Drive it around the block. Then all that's left to do is to decide whether you want to buy or lease a new 1982 Cavalier. Whichever you choose, one thing's for sure:

You won't have any trouble at all adjusting to your new freedom.

*Use estimated MPG for comparisons. Your mileage may differ depending on speed, distance, weather. Actual highway mileage lower. Chevrolets are equipped with GM-built engines produced by various divisions. See your dealer for details.

You know who the winners are.

The simple pleasures of driving a Honda Prelude. Starting from the top.

We think you'll agree, it's a real pleasure to look at.

But our sportiest Honda also sports the kind of features that make it a thrill to drive.

THE POWER-OPERATED MOONROOF. FOR OPENERS, IT'S STANDARD.

At the push of a button, the tinted-glass moonroof slides back. At the same time, an automatic deflector helps keep the wind out.

When you're behind the wheel, you'll be pleased at what you see in front of it. This year, the instrument panel houses a separate tachometer and speedometer, a quartz digital clock, a maintenance reminder and an electronic warning system.

Of course, the Prelude is just as much of a pleasure to sit in.

Its luxurious interior features comfortable bucket seats and adjustable headrests.

SOME SIMPLE ENGINEERING FACTS.

Our sportiest car has front-wheel drive, four-wheel independent suspension, rack and pinion steering and a responsive 1751cc CVCC® engine. The fact is, the Honda Prelude is designed to give you years of good performance.

POWER STEERING COMES AUTOMATICALLY WITH THE AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSION.

The 5-speed stick shift is standard. But with the optional automatic 3-speed, you also get variable-assist power steering.

And after you've weighed all your options, we hope you drive off in the Honda Prelude.

HONDA

We make it simple.

Gamecock Outlook

Hobbled Carolina Looking for Consistency

South Carolina has had a struggle this season and will not come near last year's fine record of eight wins and four defeats. Part of the reason is the loss of Heisman Trophy winner George Rogers who is now bowling over tacklers for the New Orleans Saints.

The Gamecocks have had to replace seven starters on offense, five on defense and also the placekicker. Quarterback has been a problem and both Gordon Beckham and Terry Bishop have seen action. A bright spot has been the running of tailback Johnnie Wright. Going into last week's game against Pittsburgh, the speedster had averaged 4.7 yards per carry. Joining Wright in the Gamecock backfield is full-back Dominique Blasingame, a 220-pound sophomore. Carolina runs the triple option offense.

In the line, guard Joe Doyle and tight end Dewayne Chivers have been slowed by injuries and both missed last week's contest. Chivers is doubtful for tonight's game also. The offense has been struggling this season and that has put more pressure on the Gamecock defense.

Tackle Andrew Provence has been Carolina's most consistent player on defense. The 6-3, 260-lb. junior has been a tower of strength for a defense that has played over its head against some fine teams. It's an experienced defensive line with two juniors (Provence and 6-1, 220-lb. DE Phil Ellis) and three seniors (6-4, 255-lb. MG Emanuel Weaver, 6-3, 240-lb. DT Mike Vargo and 6-2, 220-lb. DE Hal Henderson).

Sophomores J. D. Fuller and Mike Durrah play linebacker on the Gamecock's 5-2 defense.

The secondary lost three-year starter Mark Bridges to graduation but juniors Pat Bowen and Harry Skipper and senior Robert Perlotte (pronounced per'-low) should solidify the defensive backfield. Sophomore Troy Thomas is the other back.

Sophomore Mark Fleetwood, an Atlanta product, has had to take over the placekicking chores. Another soph, Chris Norman, handles the punting for South Carolina.

Last week, the Gamecocks were thoroughly trounced by a powerful Pitt team, 42-28. They are now 2-3.

Kentucky last met the Gamecocks in 1978 when the two teams fought to a 14-14 tie in Columbia in the season opener.

JIM CARLEN
Athletic Director
and Head Coach

A rebuilder of football programs at three different institutions, the winner of over 100 games as a college head coach and the mastermind architect of one of the most stunning collegiate football success stories, Jim Carlen has accomplished all this and more as head football coach and athletic director at the University of South Carolina.

Carlen has guided the Gamecocks to back-to-back 8-3 regular season records, the most wins ever by the Gamecocks against an all-collegiate schedule. Under his direction, Carolina has finished the past two seasons ranked nationally and in post-season bowl games.

Regarded among the most successful coaches in the country, Carlen ranks sixth among Division I coaches in terms of longevity and is rated along with the elite of the college coaching profession with a career record of 101-63-6. He has taken teams to post-season bowls eight of the 15 years he has been a head coach, including three of Carolina's five bowl appearances.

Carlen is beginning his 16th season as a head coach on the college level and seventh at Carolina.

Throughout his athletic career, Carlen has received numerous awards and honors, including the Fellowship of Christian Athletes

Coach of the Year in 1974, The Order of the Palmetto in 1978 and Churchman Coach of the Year in 1975.

Before lifting Carolina into national prominence on the gridiron, Carlen rebuilt programs at both West Virginia University and Texas Tech University.

Carlen enrolled at Georgia Tech in the fall of 1951 to play for Coach Bobby Dodd and study industrial management.

During Carlen's four-year playing career as a linebacker and punter, Georgia Tech compiled an overall record of 40-5-2, including four straight bowl victories.

After one season as an assistant at Cookeville Central High, Carlen spent the next two years, 1956-57, with the United States Air Force in Wiesbaden, Germany, obtaining the rank of captain. Serving as football coach at Wiesbaden, Carlen guided his club to a two-year record of 22-2-1 and one European Championship.

Carlen spent the next eight seasons, 1958-65, as an assistant coach at Georgia Tech. Carlen was also head freshman coach one season and directed the Baby Jackets to an undefeated season.

U. Of South Carolina

Founded in 1801 and considered for many years to be one of the finest American colleges, USC suffered severely during the Civil War and Reconstruction — first closing for the duration of the war and then experiencing numerous financial and administrative difficulties during Reconstruction.

That lost grandeur has rapidly been reclaimed, however, as the sunbelt and South Carolina in particular have enjoyed rapid economic growth. Along with large investments by American-based corporations, the state has claimed more than $3 billion in foreign investments. Signs bearing German, British, French, Dutch and other foreign industrial names are a common sight along the state's highways.

With a faculty of more than 1,200 and 26,000 undergraduate and graduate students at the Columbia campus alone, USC provides more than 175 programs leading to the doctoral, master's, bachelor's and associate degrees awarded by 17 colleges and schools. Among the programs is the USC School of Medicine, which graduated its first class in the spring of 1981.

Along with the Columbia campus, the University system reaches statewide with other campuses located in eight South Carolina cities. System-wide enrollment is 36,000 and that number is expected to increase at a rate of 4 percent annually through 1985. As well, USC is attracting better students. The upward curve of freshman SAT scores reflects that trend, as does the fact that USC produced both a Rhodes and Truman Scholar last year.

Dr. James B. Holderman, 25th President of the University of South Carolina, is vested with the leadership of a system of nine campuses serving 36,000 students and engaged in manifold educational, research and public activities that touch the lives of people throughout the State. He is the author of the Carolina Plan in which the goals of the University are defined in the context of the unrivaled opportunity for economic expansion and population growth that is the hallmark of South Carolina.

Dr. Holderman was selected President in 1977. A widely honored and nationally recognized authority on higher education, Dr.

Holderman has received honorary degrees from 11 colleges and universities and has served on the boards of trustees of North Central College and Denison University. He has written numerous articles and papers dealing with higher education and political science. A firm believer that the primary task of a university is instruction, he has taught classes in political science and plans to teach at least one class each academic year.

Dr. Holderman was born in Morris, Illinois, and holds the bachelor of arts degree from Denison University in Granville, Ohio. He earned the doctor of philosophy degree in political science from Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois. He served as assistant professor of government and public affairs at the University of Illinois, Urbana, and was an assistant superintendent of public instruction for the State of Illinois. He was associated with the University of Illinois at Chicago Circle in several capacities.

From 1969-73 Dr. Holderman was executive director of the Board of Higher Education for the State of Illinois, and director of the Health Education Commission of Illinois. In 1973 he accepted a position as vice president for education with the Lilly Endowment, Inc. In that capacity he was responsible for staff direction and accumulative grant allocations for over $60 million. In 1976 he became a senior vice president and director of Public Policy Programs for the Academy for Educational Development, Inc., a national educational consulting firm.

University of Kentucky Cheerleaders — Best in Nation

This year's University of Kentucky cheerleaders are one of the best collegiate squads in the nation. They have already earned top honors from pre-season competition with other outstanding squads in the United States.

At the prestigious Universal Cheerleading Association competition this past summer, UK's cheerleaders came out with "best overall squad" honors — beating out Ohio State and Memphis State which were the No. 1 squads in the country the past two years. Now UK's cheerleaders are ready to turn on their many talents for the UK fans.

UK's cheerleaders are ably coached by T. Lynn Williamson, acting dean of students.

We salute the Kentucky Wildcats

On, on U of K
We are right

Hold that ball
and hit that line,
Every Wildcat star will shine.
We'll fight, fight, fight for the blue and white.
As we roll to that goal, varsity.
We will kick, pass and run
Till the battle is won

The Armand Hammer Foundation

Hammer Exhibit Set For UK

More than 100 major works of art from the Renaissance to the 20th century, collected by Dr. Armand Hammer, will be shown at the University of Kentucky Art Museum, Nov. 17 through Jan. 10.

"The Armand Hammer collection is one of the most significant private art collections in existence," said UK President Otis Singletary, "and we are delighted to be the first university in the country to have the exhibit."

Dr. Singletary added, "Much of the credit for bringing the collection to Kentucky must go to Governor and Mrs. Brown who have had Dr. Hammer as their guest in Kentucky on several occasions."

The exhibit will be presented under the auspices of the Armand Hammer Foundation and Occidental Petroleum Corp., of which Hammer, an internationally known industrialist, is chairman of the board and chief executive officer.

The Armand Hammer collection, "Five Centuries of Masterpieces," spans all major movements of European art and also includes works ranging from a Gilbert Stuart portrait of George Washington to a new addition to the collection, Andrew Wyeth's "Daydream," a tempera on wood.

Other great artists represented are: Rembrandt, Rubens, Goya, Monet, Renoir, Cezanne, Degas, van Gogh, Durer, Michelangelo, and Modigliani.

There are two new additions which will be exhibited for the first time with the Armand Hammer collection: "Portrait of Alice Legouve" by Edouard Manet and "Flowers in the Sunlight" by James Ensor.

Dr. Hammer has spent more than 15 years building and refining the collection. The exhibition has visited 18 cities in the United States during the past 12 years and an equal number abroad, including London, Leningrad, Moscow, Caracas, Tokyo, Mexico City, Edinburgh, Oslo, and Stockholm.

The collection includes three Rembrandts: "Juno," a portrait of the mythological queen considered by many to be one of the artist's greatest works; "Portrait of a Man of the Raman Family," dated 1634; and "Portrait of a Man Holding a Black Hat."

There are paintings by Rubens, Fragonard, Goya, Cezanne, Chagell and van Gogh. The great Parisian landscape painter, Camille Corot, is represented by five works, including a rare portrait.

Among other key Impressionist works are three oils and a drawing by Renoir, seascapes by Boudin, a Sisley landscape, and a Pissarro city view.

Gustave Moreau's depiction of "Salome" as she prepares for the dance of the seven veils is considered the masterpiece of the Symbolist Movement. One work by John Singer Sargent, "Dr. Pozzi at Home," has the same status as a salon painting.

Painters of the short-lived Nabis movement are represented by Vuillard and Bonnard. Modigliani, Vlaminck, Derain, Rouault and Laurencin are early 20th century examples from the School of Paris.

Drawings by Michelangelo and Raphael, as well as a rare gouache by Durer, are part of the collection. There are also pages from one of Gauguin's sketchbooks bought in 1884 and used intermittently in Denmark and Brittany until about 1888.

The exhibition will be free and open to the public. Museum hours and additional details concerning the exhibition will be announced at a later date.

Admission To UK Not a Complicated Process

By BETTY TEVIS
UK Information Services

Admission to the University of Kentucky is a relatively uncomplicated process.

All Kentucky residents who graduate from a Kentucky high school, who have no previous college work, and who take the American College Test (ACT) are eligible for admission to UK.

If a student is still in high school, but is of superior academic ability, there is also a provision for starting UK as a freshman before high school graduation. Acceptance is based on the grade-point average, ACT score, high school work completed and teachers' recommendations.

Even if a student has not graduated from high school, he or she may still be admitted to UK with a GED equivalency certificate from the Kentucky Department of Education. The student still has to take the ACT test and meet the same requirements as all other entering students.

A Kentucky high school junior or senior can also use Enter-ACT, a quick and easy admission process. To use Enter-ACT, a student must:

- ★ Take the ACT on one of the national test dates before high school graduation. (ACT test dates are Oct. 17 and Dec. 12, 1981, and Feb. 20, April 3, and June 12, 1982);

- ★ Check UK as a first college choice;

- ★ Wait for notice of acceptance. If the student is a senior, he or she will hear from the University in six weeks; if a junior, at the beginning of the senior year.

Students who have completed 12 or more semester hours at another college or university, who have a 2.0 grade-point average (on a 4.0) scale and who are in good standing, may transfer to UK.

Some colleges and programs have additional entrance requirements. Among these are the College of Allied Health Professions, College of Business and Economics, College of Engineering and the program in landscape architecture within the College of Architecture.

For more information, you can contact the UK undergraduate Admissions Office in the Gillis Building, Lexington, KY. 40506-0033; telephone (606) 257-1606.

Wildcat Band

Many people watching the UK Band at half-time are curious about how each member knows where to march during the show, particularly, since many of the performances consist of moving arcs, circles and other intricate designs.

Much work goes into the original version of the show. Each piece of music is arranged and adapted to suit a marching band. Then Gordon Henderson, director of the marching band, creates the show by drawing formations and designs that fit well with the music. The sketch is finalized through the use of precise measuring and drafting tools. Individual members are plotted into the design and represented by a small dot on the sketch.

When a new show is introduced to the band, all members receive a copy of the drill which is divided into separate charts called sets. Each set is drawn on a piece of grid paper that resembles a football field with yard lines and hash marks included. The band members are assigned a designated number which corresponds with a dot on the chart. The member's responsibility is to locate his particular position for each set using his assigned number.

The charts are taught in sequence, with the directions for getting to each new set listed on the design. Specified marching leaders check the points to keep the members in their right positions. At first, the members rehearse the drills by listening to counts or drum taps. Once the members are able to march through the show, the music is added to the drill.

From then on, it's "practice makes perfect." Specific problem areas are worked on to assume that the design on paper is transferred exactly to the field. Special attention is given to instrument carriage and body positions which add to the visual effect of the show. As a final step, the band performs the show in its entirety several times to simulate the half-time performance.

Half-Time Music

Tonight's show begins with "Magic Flea," a Sammy Nestico composition written for the Count Basie Orchestra. In concert, the band performs "Spanish Fantasy" by Chick Corea. The percussion section is then featured on "The Devil Went Down To Georgia" and the closer is "Music Was My First Love" by John Miles.

The UK Band welcomes the University of South Carolina Band to the game today. We encourage the fans to appropriately welcome this fine band during their halftime performance.

RUSSELL RICE

Sports Information Staff Director

Russell Rice was named sports information director at U.K. in May, 1969, after serving two years as assistant to Ken Kuhn, who retired after more than two decades of service with the University. Rice came to the Wildcats from The Lexington Leader, where he was a general reporter eight years and sports editor five years. A native of Paintsville, Ky., he won letters in football, basketball and baseball at Van Lear High, served with the U.S. Marines in World War II, attended Kentucky Wesleyan College and received his bachelor's at the University of Kentucky in 1951.

He has served as manager of the NCAA Mid-East Basketball Tournament (1969), and chairman of the Basketball Hall of Fame Committee of the College Sports Information Directors Association and was recipient of the 1971 Churchmen's "Sportswriter of the Year" award.

As a newspaperman, his duties ranged from agricultural hearings in Washington to spending three months as the traveling companion to a Kentucky gubernatorial candidate. He reported the activities of such Wildcat teams as football coach Charlie Bradshaw's "Thin Thirty" and "The Runts" of basketball coach Adolph Rupp. He is a former Kentucky area correspondent for Time-Life-Fortune magazines and was Kentucky editor of Tobacco Magazine and Religious News Service.

For the past 13 years, he has pursued a hobby of researching Kentucky basketball and football. He authored "The Wildcats: A Story of Kentucky Football," and "The Big Blue Machine: A Story of Kentucky Basketball." His latest work is the Kentucky portion of a "History of the Southeastern Conference," updates of "The Wildcats" and "Big Blue Machine," and a new work to be published in November. He edits the K-Men's Newsletter and has been named an honorary member of that organization. He also was honored by WAVE-TV for "Outstanding Contribution to Televised Sports." He was the first member of the Southeastern Conference Publicity Directors Association to be elected to a two-year term (1977-78) and recently completed his second year as president of the Blue Grass (Kentucky) chapter of the U. S. Harness Writers Association, which was organized in 1977.

a 400-seat recital hall, a 1,500-seat concert hall and the UK Art Museum which is open daily except Monday from Noon to 5 p.m.

UK's Albert B. Chandler Medical Center has a wide range of programs in education and research. The five colleges of the Medical Center — Medicine, Dentistry, Nursing, Pharmacy and Allied Health — have more than 2,000 students pursuing bachelor, masters and doctoral degrees in health-related fields.

Of major significance in the area of medical research is the Sanders-Brown Research Center on Aging, one of the first facilities of its kind in the nation.

UK graduates almost 6,000 students each year from the main campus and the community colleges. The UK Alumni Association, therefore, continues to grow in number of clubs (64) and paid members (22,000). Besides the 34 clubs in Kentucky, there are 30 organized alumni groups outside the state from Los Angeles to New York.

For old alums and other visitors to the University, there's a tour of the UK campus any weekday on a double-decker bus, "Old Blue." The free, guided tour of the campus departs each Monday through Friday at 2 p.m. from near the Administration Building.

The University of Kentucky has had only eight presidents since its founding in 1865. Dr. Otis Singletary, now in his 13th year as UK president, is a history scholar and nationally-recognized university administrator.
