THE UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

. . . The State Is Our Campus

Located in Lexington, an urban community of over 140,000 population in the heart of Kentucky's famed Blue Grass region, University of Kentucky is a state-supported, land-grant institution now celebrating its centennial year.

The present school, which this fall expects 15,000 students and now offers instruction in 10 academic colleges plus a Graduate School and a division of Extended Programs, had its beginnings in 1865 when it was established as a part of old Kentucky University. This action by the State Legislature united sectarian and public education under one organization for the first time. Federal funds authorized under the Morrill Act were used to develop agriculture and mechanical arts within KU and, in 1878, A&M College was separated from KU to become a separate state institution on the general site of what is now the 706-acre main campus. Name changes in 1908 and 1916 resulted in the title by which the school is now known.

Centennial Device

The University is on the approved list of the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. It is fully accredited in its respective colleges and departments by all of the major professional societies and educational organizations.

A new chief administrative officer, Dr. John W. Oswald, took over reins of the University at the beginning of the 1963-64 school year.

Dr. Oswald, at the age of only 48 years, came to his position at Kentucky well-equipped in academic training and administrative experience plus an unusual (for a college president) background as both player and coach during his collegiate days. The UK president picked up his bachelor's degree from DePauw University and was awarded the Ph.D. degree by University of California, the institution from which he transferred to Kentucky. At California, John Oswald held many academic and administrative positions, rising to the post of vice-president-administration for the Statewide University. The special field of the UK president is plant pathology. His athletic background that now stands him in good stead came while he attended DePauw. There he played the grid sport for three years, served as team captain in his senior season of 1937, and lettered as well in basketball and track. Later, while associated with California, the Phi Beta Kappa graduate and former PT boat skipper tried his hand three years (1949-50-51) as a football coach (by avocation) of the Davis campus team. Dr. Oswald was honored in 1962 by selection on the Sports Illustrated Silver Anniversary All-America football team.

ATHLETICS AT KENTUCKY

Kentucky's athletic program, a well-balanced and ambitious activity featuring inter-collegiate competition in nine different sports, is organized under the Department of Athletics and a corporation known as the University of Kentucky Athletics Association.

The program is conducted without overemphasis or sacrifice of educational objectives and in strict compliance with the rules of the University, the Southeastern Conference and the National Collegiate Association.

A board of directors, headed by University President John W. Oswald in the capacity of chairman, maintains overall policy supervision of the athletic program. Ex-officio members, in addition to the president, include Vice President Robert Johnson, Dr. W. L. Matthews in the capacity of secretary to the board, and a student representative—all appointed by the president. Twelve other men, drawn from the University faculty and the general public, also serve on the board as appointees of the president.

Supervising the steady growth and balanced development of one of the nation's top athletic programs is Bernie A. Shively, a former Illinois grid All-American and a veteran of over 25 years in the post of Director of Athletics.

The Association's Board of Directors is composed of the following:

Dr. John W. Oswald, Chairman	Dr. John Douglas
Robert Johnson, Vice Chairman	Dr. Lyman Ginger
Dr. W. L. Matthews, Jr., Secretary	Dr. A. D. Kirwan
James B. Allen	Winston Miller (Student)
Dr. Ralph Angelucci	Douglas Parrish
Dr. Aubrey Brown	Dr. Douglas Schwartz
Dr. Loren Carlson	Dr. D. V. Terrell
Dr. Thomas Clark	Floyd Wright

KENTUCKY'S COLORS

The blue and white of the University of Kentucky are known to sports fans everywhere. Officially the colors are Yale blue and white, but in the beginning, when the Lexington institution was still known as the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Kentucky, the colors were "Stoll blue" and white. One day back in the 1890's a group of Kentucky football stalwarts met to choose their school colors. Someone suggested blue and white—"blue like Dick Stoll's necktie"—and those colors were immediately adopted. "Dick" Stoll was to become Judge Richard C. Stoll, distinguished public servant and, for more than fifty years before his death, a member of the U.K. board of trustees.

VICTORY KICKS

A game unique in University of Kentucky football history occurred in 1900. Kentucky beat the Louisville YMCA, 12-6, without running a single offensive play during the entire game. Kicking on first down every time they gained possession of the ball, Kentucky made its scores through the recovery of opponent fumbles in the end zone.

* * * *

Kentucky's Wildcats will be one of the first college football teams to play in Houston's famed Astrodome. Kentucky meets the University of Houston there on the night of Nov. 13.

PAGES OUT OF THE HISTORY BOOK

Kentucky's first inter-collegiate football game of record occurred Nov. 12, 1881, when Kentucky A & M College took the measure of Kentucky University (later Transylvania) by a score of 7¼ to 1 . . . One of the most illustrious pages in UK football history covers the perfect-season exploits of the 1898 team which became the first and only Kentucky grid outfit to go undefeated, untied and unscored on . . . Spring practice was held for the first time in UK grid history in 1926 by Coach Fred Murphy . . . Coach E. R. Sweetland experimented with a new formation at the start of the 1910 season that saw all four backfield men lined up side by side instead of in the conventional pattern with the quarterback directly behind center . . . One of the greatest individual performances ever seen on the nation's gridirons took place in Lexington in 1914 as Kentucky quarterback Jim Park, later active in politics, passed for five TD's and personally scored five more in an 81-3 rout of Earlham . . . Only All-America Babe Parilli has come close to surpassing the school record as he twice connected for five scoring aeriels in the 1951 season . . . The "Kentucky Babe" still holds the all-time SEC record for TD passes thrown in a single season, accounting for 23 in regular season play in his junior year of 1950. He connected for one more as the Wildcats upset Oklahoma in the Sugar Bowl on New Year's Day, 1951 . . . Kentucky copped the Southeastern Conference football championship for the first and only time in history in the 1950 season.

BRADSHAW THIRD ALUMNUS COACH

Charlie Bradshaw, an alumnus of the University of Kentucky class of 1949, became the third graduate of the school to take over the head football coaching reins when he was hired January 10, 1962. The first coach with that distinction was J. White Guyn, tutor of the Wildcats in 1906-08, and the only other grad to take up duties at his alma mater was A. D. (Ab) Kirwan, coach for the seasons 1938-44.

Like their boss, four members of the coaching staff did their collegiate footballing at Kentucky. The playing career of assistant George Sengel overlapped that of Bradshaw (player 1942, 46-49; staff '54-58) while aides George Boone, Ray Callahan, and Leeman Bennett played when Bradshaw was on the staff.

HONORS COME LATELY

From its football beginnings in 1881 through 1942, Kentucky had only one player named to a recognized All-America team. In the short span of years since, no less than nine have earned first team mention on the national honor rolls and four of the stars were repeaters. Twenty-one Wildcats have received All-Conference recognition a total of 29 times since the loop was organized in 1933.

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS
BERNIE A. SHIVELY

Supervising the steady growth and balanced development of one of the nation's top athletic programs is the Herculean task being carried out successfully by Bernie A. Shively.

Few who have observed the untiring efforts of the tall, silver-haired former All-America footballer in the service of the University of Kentucky since 1927 and as Director of Athletics since 1938 will argue his fitness as an athletic Hercules. Not only has Shively guided the development of Kentucky as a nationally-respected power in major sports, but he has also gained personal prestige through a fair-minded approach to many problems.

During his 27-year tenure as Athletic Director, Shively has directly supervised major expansions in Kentucky's athletic plant resulting from the progression of the school's football and basketball teams to greater national prominence and increased patronage by the sports-minded public.

The seating capacity of Kentucky's football stadium, McLean Stadium on Stoll Field, has been doubled to bring the current number of seats to approximately 37,500 and on par with most other schools located in heavier-populated areas. Powerful lighting equipment also was installed during the 1948-49 construction and a new-type "iodized" light put up in 1961 to bring night football into new popularity. Partly to satisfy the overwhelming number of basketball devotees, who could not squeeze into the 2,800-seat Alumni Gymnasium, a long-planned Memorial Coliseum was completed in 1950. Seating 11,500 persons for cage contests, the four-million dollar Coliseum also houses the Athletic Department. More recently, Shively directed the acquisition of a pair of modern, ranch-style living units which have served as the home of the football team since 1954. "Wildcat Manor" and "Kitten Lodge" replace three frame houses which the grid-ers had occupied since 1949.

Plans Spacious New Sports Center

A large dressing room building and football practice field, used since 1955, was abandoned in 1959 to make way for a huge new men's dorm. Under Shively's supervision, a spacious new Sports Center was prepared a short distance away on the University farm to take even better care of the footballers and spring sports teams. The Sports Center is generally regarded as one of the finest sports facilities in the nation.

Stoll Field recently underwent, with Shively's supervision, a major "face-lifting" to improve its playing surface and the view of the fans sitting in the lower rows of the stands.

Born in Oliver, Ill., May 26, 1903, Shively attended Paris (Ill.) High school and there began his athletic career by participating in track and football. Although he was considered an outstanding backfield man in high school, Shively didn't attract the serious attention of collegiate scouts. He entered Illinois and tried out for the football team on his own. From that humble beginning, Shively went on to become a great guard under Coach Bob Zuppke on the same Illini team made famous by the immortal Red Grange.

Shive played two years with Grange, running interference for the "Gallop-ing Ghost" and made All-America in 1926 as a senior despite a bad knee that handicapped his playing. He also won the heavyweight wrestling championship of the Big 10 and was a standout in track to rank as one of the finest all-around athletes in Illinois' history.

Shively came to Kentucky in 1927 as line coach of football under Harry Gammage and six years later was named head of the UK Physical Education Department. He succeeded Chet Wynne as Athletic Director in 1938. During this period and the years following, he also served as track and baseball coach for several seasons and continued to assist the football staff as line coach until 1944. The next year, 1945, he assumed full charge of the grid squad for one season before turning the job over to mentor Paul (Bear) Bryant in 1946.

The Kentucky Athletic Director is currently chairman of the NCAA Basketball Tournament Committee and for the past 12 years has been president of the Southeastern Conference Coaches and Athletic Directors Association. He served as chairman of the SEC Basketball Committee for a number of years and is a past chairman of the NCAA summer baseball group.

Shively and his wife, Ruth, have two children. Doug was a star end on the UK grid team for three years ending in 1958 and is now coaching at VPI while daughter Suzanne was a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of UK in 1957.

UK TOSSES FIRST PASS IN '06

The first forward pass ever attempted by a Kentucky football team was thrown in a game played at Lexington Oct. 13, 1906—the year that the forward pass was legalized by national rules—against Eminence Athletic Club. Accounts of this early contest do not mention whether the pass was completed or the name of the thrower. Earl Stone was listed as quarterback of Coach J. White Guyn's Kentuckians.

Kentucky end Al Bruno's 60 points on 10 touchdowns in 1950 were the most ever scored by a Wildcat lineman in one season.

GALS' COACH FIRST UK MENTOR

Prof. A. M. Miller, who became Kentucky's first football coach in 1892, was chosen because he had learned about the game from sideline observations while a student at Princeton. His only previous coaching experience was at a girls' school in Pennsylvania.

HEAD COACH CHARLIE BRADSHAW

(Kentucky '49)

(Fourth Year As A Head Coach)

The personification of qualities of inner fortitude, outwardly serious demeanor, quiet determination, ability, confidence and integrity . . . That's Kentucky's capable Head Football Coach.

Youthful Charlie Bradshaw, 40-year-old ex-Wildcat player and assistant coach, fulfills all these qualities that are the background for success and goes a step further. He's an inspirational leader who exudes the confidence that it takes for those around him—staff and players—to get the job at hand done in a way that will pay off with success. His influence already has made an indelible impression in relations with alumni, coaches of the state, followers of Kentucky football, prospects and players.

The football philosophy of Bradshaw, who assumed his first head coaching position in January, 1962, when he succeeded Blanton Collier as the institution's third alumnus coach, was schooled into him by nine years' service in an assistant's capacity on the staffs of UK and Alabama. Yet, the approach to the game taken by the Wildcat mentor is mainly and uniquely Bradshaw's own.

A positive approach is foremost with Charlie Bradshaw. Illustrative of his thinking is his simple statement of determination made as a comment upon his being hired as Kentucky's coach: "If I didn't think I could get the job done, I wouldn't be here!"

Emphasizes Winning Ways

He believes in the direct way of doing things. The emphasis is on how to win instead of what mistakes can be costly enough to cause a loss. He makes a habit of being fair, sincere and honest with his team and in turn expects the same from his players. He stresses the pride to be gained from 100 percent effort and of doing things right—which he feels to be synonymous with winning football. The church and school also play prominent roles in the plan of devoutly Christian (Baptist) Bradshaw.

Directness and the positive approach sometimes get mixed up with toughness and extreme roughness. While demanding to some degree in relations with the squad on the field, Coach Bradshaw sees the reputed "tough guy" approach a little differently than most people. "There's a lot of difference between toughness and unnecessary roughness," he explains. "We are always going to be tough, I assure you. Football is a contact type of game in which you have to be tough to win. We intend to demand a great deal through strict discipline rather than brute force."

Charlie grew up in Montgomery, Ala., and started his football at the age of 15 in Sidney Lanier High. Upon graduation, he was attracted to the University of Kentucky and attended one semester in 1942 without seeing any grid action.

After that first semester, he withdrew to enter the Marine Corps. He served for three years and saw 19 months' action in the Pacific Theater. Following his discharge, Bradshaw returned to UK to play on Paul Bryant's first three Wildcat aggregations. He earned the first of four letters as a center in 1946 and picked up his three subsequent monograms as a 165-pound end. Attempting to get in an allowable fourth year of competition as a graduate student in 1949, he was ruled ineligible after three games by SEC Commissioner Bernie Moore.

Coached Under Collier, Bryant

Bradshaw remained on the coaching staff as a student assistant for the remainder of the season and then, in 1950, returned to his home town high school (Sidney Lanier in Montgomery, Ala.) as coach and co-ordinator of a junior high program—a position he retained until chosen an aide on the first UK staff of Blanton Collier in 1954. After five years as end coach and later offensive back-field coach, Charlie moved in 1959 to Alabama as a line tutor for Coach Bryant. In this position and then as offensive coach in 1961, he gained much recognition for contributing greatly to the Crimson Tide's success in progressing to the peak of undefeated National Champion in 1961.

Coach Bradshaw was graduated from the University of Kentucky in 1949 with an AB in Commerce and physical education and later was awarded a master's degree in school administration. He married his high school sweetheart, Martha Austin of Montgomery, in 1945 and they have a daughter, seven-year-old Leigh, and a son, Charles Austin, born just prior to 1964 season.

The new Wildcat football chief is operating under a four-year contract. In his initial three seasons as a head coach tackling the unenviable assignment of re-building Kentucky's shattered football foundations, he has made slow but distinct progress despite many obstacles. The record (6-11-3) fails to accurately reflect the overall program improvement and change for the better in mental attitude instilled by the hard-working and popular coach.

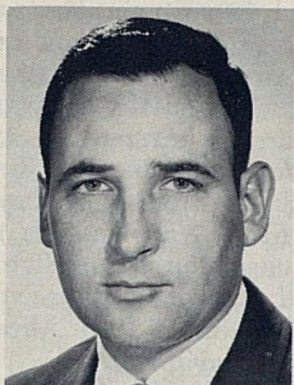

Bradshaw's first three seasons at Kentucky have been beset by just about every manner of problems, ranging from lack of talent to wholesale departures of players unwilling to "pay the price" for eventual success. Fighting back with all the resources and determination at his command, the youthful coach kept his Wildcats' collective head above water as he built a solid base that began last season to show results and should look even more impressive in '65.

After suffering through two re-building seasons with a combined 6-11-3 record, Bradshaw's 1964 force proved itself a coming power with some stunning upsets and some hard in-fighting before losing some others to wind up 5-5 on the season. Even more startling to the experts was the '64 Kentuckians' second place finish in the conference—their highest in more than a decade and a significant jump from eleventh place the year before. He was honored as national Coach of the Week last season following UK's monumental upset of Mississippi.

Bradshaw served as an assistant on the Grays' coaching staff for the 1962 renewal of the Blue-Gray Game in his home town of Montgomery, Ala.

WILDCAT COACHING STAFF

HOMER RICE

Offense Coach

Entering the collegiate field in 1962 after a highly-successful career in high school, Homer Rice is assigned responsibility for making Kentucky's T offense operations go. His 11-year coaching record in schoolboy ranks was an amazing 101-9-7. Rice-coached teams went undefeated in 50 straight games, posted seven perfect seasons and annexed nine championships. He was personally recognized with seven "Coach of the Year" awards. Rice started his coaching career in 1951 at Wartburg (Tenn.) High following graduation from Centre College where he was a Little All-America QB. He spent the next two seasons at Spring City, Tenn., and then took over at Ft. Thomas (Ky.) Highlands. In each assignment, he produced the best record in the school's history. He is a World War II veteran (Pacific Theater), holds a master's degree from Eastern Ky. State College, and is author of a book on "The Explosive Short-T." Born 2/20/27 . . . Hometown: Ft. Thomas, Ky. . . . Married to former Phyllis Wardrup of Middlesboro, Ky., and they have three daughters—Nancy 14, Phyllis 12, and Angela 9.

Defense Coach

A youthful veteran of coaching experience at three major southern schools, Bob Ford rejoined the Bradshaw staff last season after a one-year absence during which he devoted his time to establishing a private business. Regarded as one of the game's brightest young defensive minds, Coach Ford is a native of Wynne, Ark., where he was center and captain of his high school grid outfit when it captured the state schoolboy championship in 1950. Later he compiled an outstanding record as a center and end at Memphis State, including selection as the Tigers' most valuable player in his senior campaign of 1954. He started his coaching career by staying on at his alma mater for two years (1955-56) as freshman football coach and doubling as tutor of the Tiger track team. Ford then entered military service and spent the next two years with the U.S. Army in the Korean Theater. Along with former UK aide Jim Carmody, he coached an Army grid team to the Far East championship. Upon his return to the states and discharge, Ford joined the Alabama staff as a line assistant working primarily with the frosh. After three seasons, he moved to Georgia as defensive line coach. He transferred to Kentucky shortly after Coach Bradshaw took over in 1962 and worked that season with the Wildcat defensive line . . . Adviser to UK Chapter Fellowship of Christian Athletes . . . Born 11/18/33 . . . Graduate Memphis State 1955 . . . Married to former Sarah Hornsby of Memphis and father of two sons—Robert Jr. 4½ and Paul 2½.

GEORGE SENDEL

Offensive Ends and Line Coach

A holdover from one year (1961) on the Collier grid staff, George (Chink) Sengel was retained by Charlie Bradshaw out of confidence in his coaching ability. Sengel's collegiate career at Kentucky spanned three of the same years (1942, 1946-47) as his new boss. A native of Louisville, "Chink" was an All-State end at Louisville Manual High in 1939 and started his collegiate career at Kentucky in 1940. After lettering as the team's regular end in 1942, he spent three years in the Army Air Corps. Returning to UK in 1946, he picked up two more letters prior to graduation in 1948 and then spent one year as a revenue agent. He began his coaching career as a freshman assistant at Kentucky in 1949. For the next five years (1950-54), Sengel served as head coach and athletic director at Clay County High in Green Cove Springs, Fla., and was head coach-AD at Apopka (Fla.) High two seasons before returning to his home town as end coach for Male High. He joined Blanton Collier's staff in 1961 as coach of ends and now tutors offensive ends and line for Coach Bradshaw. Born 9/14/21 . . . Married to former Mary Alice Duncan of Lawrenceburg, Ky., with two sons—George III 14 and David 7½.

GEORGE BOONE

Defensive Ends and Linebackers Coach

One of the most determined players ever to perform on the gridiron for University of Kentucky and a self-made man, George Boone works primarily with the defense, this season linebackers and defensive ends. He was held over by Coach Bradshaw after one year as a full-time aide on the Collier staff due to the personal knowledge and confidence of UK's new grid chief, who tutored Boone in three of his UK years. A native of Louisville, Boone attended St. Joe Prep school in Bardstown, Ky. Although he entered the state university in 1956 without a grant-in-aid, he soon convinced coaches of his ability and determination and was given a scholarship. Boone was an outstanding tackle for the Wildcats from 1956 through 1959 and was named by the Associated Press in 1957 on the All-Southeastern Conference Sophomore team. He was bothered as a junior by a shoulder injury, but came back to turn in consistently good defensive play that impressed both opponents and Kentucky coaches. George stayed on the Wildcat coaching staff in a part-time capacity for the 1960 season after completing his eligibility and was hired as a full-time coach in 1961. Born 5/25/38 . . . Graduate Kentucky '61 . . . Married to former Dorothy Leet of Lexington and they have a son, Dickie 4½ and two daughters—three-year-old Georgia Dee and two-year-old Beverlee Gay.

RALPH HAWKINS

Secondary Defense Coach

A veteran of rounded experience, Ralph Hawkins joined the UK staff in '62 with a background as a collegiate and professional player and coach in both high school and college ranks. The energetic bachelor from Washington, D. C., graduated from the University of Maryland in 1957 with a major in physical education and a minor in sociology after playing both quarterback and halfback for the Terps under the tutelage of the late Jim Tatum. He served as a freshman backfield coach at Maryland on the staff of Tom Nugent for one season (1957) before entering the professional football ranks to play as a defensive safety for the New York Titans of the AFL. Later, Hawkins coached one year at Bishop Dennis J. O'Connell High School in Arlington, Va., and spent the 1961 season as an assistant backfield coach at Southern Methodist University on the staff of Bill Meek. During his early days at UK, Hawkins served as resident supervisor of the academic affairs of freshman athletes in Kitten Lodge (freshman football house). His coaching duties have been with the backfield, first handling offensive backs and this year assigned to work with the secondary defense. Born 5/4/35 in Washington, D.C. . . . Not married.

RAY CALLAHAN

Offensive Line Coach

Appointed to the Bradshaw staff just prior to the 1963 season, Ray Callahan is a former Wildcat who entered the collegiate coaching field for the first time. However, the former UK back and guard is no stranger in state grid coaching circles as he boasts a highly creditable record of 28-13-2 for four seasons as a head tutor in high school and earlier served with distinction as an assistant at two schools. Ray enrolled at UK in 1952 following a star career at home town Lebanon (Ky.) High school, where he played three years as a halfback. As a Wildcat, he was first used at fullback but switched over to guard in his junior season. Although he had never played the position before, he came along fast and played regularly through his final two campaigns. He made good in coaching following graduation, holding assistant jobs at Versailles (Ky.) High in 1956 and at Louisville's Manual High for the 1957 and 1958 seasons before accepting the head coaching position at Danville (Ky.) High. Callahan capped his fourth season with the Admirals in 1962 by winning the state Class AA title and picking up personal honor as "AA Coach of the Year." Working with UK freshmen past two seasons (head coach in '64), Ray has seen his charges go undefeated in eight straight games . . . Varsity assignment is with offensive line. Born 4/28/33 . . . Married to the former Essie Lee Dorsey of Lebanon and they have two children, Kenny 7 and Karen 5.

Offensive and Defensive Backfield Coach

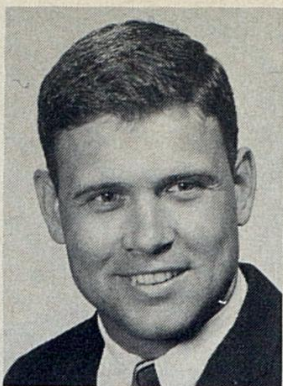

Phil (Duke) Owen, a highly-successful schoolboy coach at Mt. Sterling (Ky.) High for nine years, joined the Bradshaw staff at his state university just a few weeks before the 1964 season opened. A 34-year-old native of Lebanon, Ky., Duke (like three other current UK assistants) is tutoring in the collegiate ranks for the first time. Last season, he worked primarily with the freshmen as they surged to an undefeated campaign for the third year in a row. Owen's varsity assignment for the 1965 season will involve coaching backs on both offense and defense. Owen attended high school in his hometown of Lebanon and later enrolled at Georgetown College, where he was an outstanding halfback for four years prior to graduation in 1953. He served as the Tigers' captain in both his junior and senior seasons. The UK aide began his coaching career at Mt. Sterling in 1955 following release from two years Army service in Europe. During his nine-year tenure, his teams posted winning records six times and he was honored as Central Kentucky Conference "Coach of the Year" in 1960. He guided the Trojans to Recreation Bowl wins in 1959, '60 and '62 and served on the staff for the 1959 schoolboy East-West classic . . . Born 1/12/31 . . . Married to former Florence Deeb of Louisville and they have two sons—David 7, and Mitchell 5.

CHARLEY PELL

Defensive Interior Line Coach

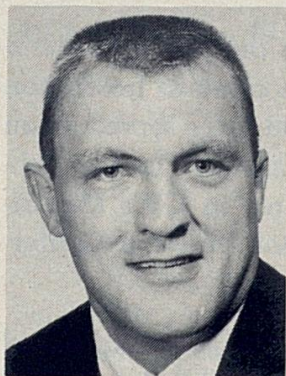

Experienced through stellar collegiate line play at University of Alabama and as a member of Coach Paul Bryant's Crimson Tide coaching staff, Charley Pell became a Bradshaw aide shortly after the 1964 season. Familiarity with his new boss and the confidence Bradshaw places in Pell stems from his three-year player-coach relationship at Alabama. Pell began his collegiate career as freshman in 1959 while Bradshaw was an Alabama assistant and missed playing under Bradshaw's direction only in 1962 when the coach had moved to Kentucky as head man. During his playing days, Pell operated as a six-foot, 190-pound guard, tackle, end and linebacker to earn three letters. He was a member of the 1961 National Championship team and also lettered in basketball and track. Pell, who played with Tide in Bluebonnet Bowl as a sophomore, joined UK tackle Junior Hawthorne as a post-graduate participant in the 1963 Crusade Bowl. Following graduation from Alabama in '63 he stayed on as an assistant for one season (1963) and then spent a year in private business in Huntsville, Ala. At UK, he will work mainly with the defensive interior line . . . Born 2/27/41 in Albertville, Ala.

LEEMAN BENNETT

Offensive Backfield Coach

Back on the Bradshaw staff after a two-year hitch of active duty with the U.S. Army reserve, Leeman Bennett is a former Wildcat quarterback and promising young football coach. The ex-Kentucky signal caller from Paducah played collegiate ball during the 1956-60 period and remained on the staff of former UK Coach Blanton Collier as a graduate assistant for the 1961 season. When Coach Bradshaw took over the Wildcat reins in 1962, he promoted Bennett to a full-time assistant's capacity. Following the '62 campaign, reserve second lieutenant Bennett was called into active service and spent two years at Ft. Dix, N.J. At this Army post, he continued coaching on a part-time basis and rose to the rank of first lieutenant. He was Kentucky's alternate starter at quarterback in his final two seasons, showing up equally well as passer and defensive safety. At hometown high school of Paducah Tilghman, Bennett was a star quarterback and won mention on the All-State selections in his last campaign of 1955. Rejoined the coaching staff last February and will be assigned varsity responsibility for overall passing game and tutor quarterbacks and other offensive backs . . . Born 6/20/38 . . . Married to former Pat Parrott of Paducah and they have no children.

JOE MOSS

Interior Line Coach

The newest aide on Charlie Bradshaw's staff, Joe Moss reported only last March from a coaching position at football-famed Staunton Military Academy. He was the third new assistant added to the staff since the close of the 1964 season. At Kentucky, Moss will work with the interior linemen on both offense and defense—which should come naturally in view of his playing and coaching line experience. He was an All-Southern tackle in 1961 while performing for Virginia Tech. In addition, he served as the Gobblers' grid captain the same season—when ex-UK Wildcat Jerry Claiborne took over the head coaching reins at VPI. The 27-year-old Moss, who majored in animal husbandry, began his coaching career at his alma mater and then moved to Staunton as an assistant to spend the three seasons that preceeded his transfer to Kentucky. Moss is credited with developing many fine linemen and possessing a sound knowledge of football plus an ability to inspire youngsters under his direction. An Episcopalian, he was born 9/8/37 and calls Burkes Garden, Va., home. Moss is married to the former Waverly Rogerson of Marion, Va., and they have a son, Joe III, born last May.

Staff Changes Since 1964

Departures: Bud Moore (offensive line) to Texas A&M, Bill Jasper (defensive line) to Memphis State.

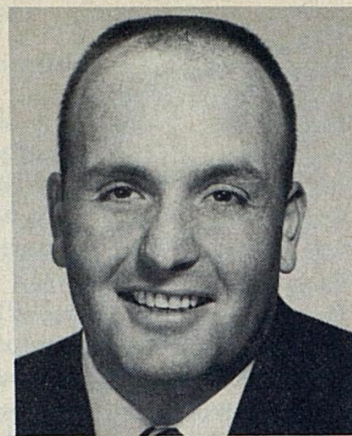

Additions: Charley Pell from Alabama, Leeman Bennett from service, Joe Moss from Staunton Military Academy.

BROWN

BERLIN

BUSTER BROWN—Equipment Manager: Handling the duties of handing out thousands of dollars' worth of football gear to the team is a seasoned veteran, S. C. (Buster) Brown. The tough-but-popular Brown served the University athletic teams in the capacity of Equipment Manager for several years before World War II. After wartime work as a stevedore on the West Coast, Buster returned to Kentucky and his old job in 1952.

KEN KUHN—Information Director: A veteran of 18 years in the job of publicizing Wildcat football and other sports activities of UK, Kuhn came to Lexington via Michigan State from which he was graduated in 1942 and later served as an assistant in the Public Relations Department. Before moving over to the Athletic Department in 1948, he worked two years as News Editor in UK's Department of Public Relations. Kuhn is a past president of the Southeastern Conference Sports Publicity Association.

RALPH BERLIN—Trainer: A 29-year-old Marine Corps veteran, Berlin joined the Kentucky staff in 1964 as a replacement for Rusty Payne. Ralph brings to the staff five years experience in the training field, the last two as head athletic trainer at DePauw University. Earlier, he served in an assistant's capacity at Iowa State where he graduated in 1962. Berlin also has worked as a training assistant with the St. Louis Cardinals pro football team.

WILDCAT MASCOTS HAD COLORFUL NAMES

Over the years, Kentucky athletic teams have been spurred on in efforts toward victory by numerous colorfully-named wildcat mascots. Records indicate the first animal was given to the University in 1921. Named "Tom," this live Kentucky wildcat died quickly in captivity and was replaced with "TNT." Other live mascots followed—including "Whiskers," "Hot Tamale," and "Colonel"—only to pass from the scene due to death or being turned loose in the mountains after they did not thrive out of their native habitat. The current mascot, displayed at football and basketball games by SUKY (student pep organization), is a stuffed Kentucky wildcat obtained in 1958 from a Brooklyn taxidermist.

KENTUCKY FOOTBALL OUTLOOK — 1965

There's no disputing the impression that Kentucky, after a decade of frustration, probably will field a solid and much-winning ball club in 1965.

Alumnus Coach Charlie Bradshaw enters his fourth year at the Wildcats' helm with high hopes and cautious optimism that this will not be a "wait until next year" season. Most of the vital ingredients that go into the make-up of a consistent winner seemingly are present in the 1965 edition—especially sheer numbers that Bradshaw has lacked in the first three clubs he has fielded as head coach.

"We feel that our '65 team will be considerably improved," the former Kentucky flankman declares. "The squad will have much more experience than in previous years and considerably more depth that should provide the healthy competition that stimulates improvement."

A far cry from the haunting days of the "Thin Thirty," when UK wound up the 1962 campaign (Bradshaw's first) with just 28 available hands, this year will find the Wildcats hitting the trail approximately 70 strong.

Possibly even more important than the prospect of a "working majority" for the first time in recent seasons, the '65 Wildcats will go to the post as an experienced lot—perhaps the most experienced in the Southeastern Conference. Only five lettermen (just two of them considered regulars) departed after the 1964 campaign. The remaining contingent of 27 letter winners includes 21 men who saw service last season in the capacity of a starter or alternate at various times.

Dedicated Seniors to Lead 'Cats

Furthermore, the group will consist of 18 dedicated seniors—Bradshaw's first senior class and the band on whom he will be depending to a large degree for the essential leadership that makes a winner.

Due in large part to this leadership, quitters and loafers became a thing of the past during '65 spring practice. With his kind of people on hand (99 percent of the present squad are men hand-picked by Bradshaw and his aides), the Wildcat chief has seen his way clear for the first time to establish complete and independent platoons which should allow some helpful rest this season for his 60-minute stars. Insufficient numbers and talent in the past forced many offensive standouts to do double duty on defense.

One of the big problems faced during the inconsistent-but-surprising 1964 season was the inability of the Kentuckians to compete on the basis of dependable depth. Other teams simply wore them down physically when UK attempted to play with a single, two-way group plus a scattered few extras—often no more than 14 or 15 men a game compared to 30-35 utilized by the opposition.

Defense, which many considered a major problem in UK's mid-season fall-off last year, should be improved this season with the advent of a defensive platoon of specialists and increased experience. Coach Bradshaw cites "noticeable improvement" in secondary defense, the defensive interior line and in line-backing.

The offense again should be one of the main fortes of Kentucky. All hands return in the backfield that was rated one of the best balanced and most explosive in the SEC a year ago. Two personnel changes were made in the spring which possibly will make the Wildcat attack an even more fearsome thing. Joining super stars Rodger Bird (tailback) and Rick Norton (quarterback) likely will be juniors Frank Antonini at fullback and Larry Seiple at wingback.

Antonini, a sizeable and strong runner who played behind Bird last year, stands out as a key link in success plans. Offensive fullback looms as one of the major problems with the shift of 1964 regular Mike McGraw to a vital linebacker role on the defensive platoon. Seiple, an excellent punter and good receiver, takes over from Tom Becherer, who also moved to defense.

If the fullback problem is solved by Antonini, fine balance between the running attack and passing game should exist. Further help could come from a pair of junior college transfers, quarterback Bobby Bartkow and wingback Bob Windsor, plus a promising group of about 40 sophs—including outstanding graduates of the third straight undefeated frosh team and a handful of "red-shirts."

Three Are All-America Candidates

In Bird and Norton plus senior offensive end Rick Kestner, the Wildcats have undoubtedly three of the top All-America candidates in Dixie. Bird led the league in rushing right up to the final week a year ago despite the disadvantage of taking a beating during tiring defensive double duty. He wound up with a 5.0 rushing average and proved his versatility by figuring high in other departments of play as well to win All-Conference and second team All-America honors. Bird was joined on the All-SEC team by split end Kestner, who finished as the loop's No. 2 pass receiver (42 for 639 yards and six TD's). Norton chalked up 106 bullseyes for a net yardage production of 1,514 and nine scores to take the SEC passing championship.

The kicking game also is expected to show improvement. Seiple, one of the nation's leading punters (he finished 6th on a 42.1 average) as a sophomore last season, should give UK better than adequate strength in punting. Senior end John Andrighetti came to the forefront in spring practice as a dependable place kicker to fill an obvious void of last year. In the spring game, he converted successfully five out of six times and booted through two lengthy field goals.

The schedule is one of the less optimistic factors in UK's outlook. Bradshaw's determined force could be facing the toughest card in many a year with absolutely no "weak sisters" from the opener with Missouri to the season finale with traditional rival Tennessee. The 'Cats may be hard pressed to improve on their performance of '64.

Inconsistent as their 5-5 overall mark would indicate, the Wildcats actually played remarkably well. Starting fast, they shocked the gridiron world with upsets of mighty Mississippi and pre-season national champ choice Auburn before suffering an amazing reversal at the hands of Florida State. Then, the Kentuckians surprised the experts once more by finishing strong—winning two of the last four and dropping two by a total margin of seven points—to wind up in a second place tie in the tough SEC. The amazing position represented a jump from eleventh place in 1963 and the highest UK finish since 1953.

All told, the cautiously optimistic outlook for 1965 seems soundly based on talent, depth, mental attitude and experience. Problems do exist, such as the decisions at offensive fullback and guard, but they pale by comparison with the promising "plus" factors. The only things that seem likely to hold the 1965 Wildcats back from a fine season are unforeseen difficulties, key injuries and stiff competition from a "loaded" schedule.

POSITION ANALYSIS

ENDS—Possibly strongest position . . . Seven lettermen return and onely one lost . . . Rick Kestner, No. 2 pass receiver in SEC during '64, should have great year . . . Taking graduated Bill Jenkins' right end spot on offense will be John Andrighetti, good blocker and receiver and place kicker . . . On defense, top hands are Jim Komara (out last year with injury) and Rich Machel (moved back after filling in at guard in '64). Junior college transfer Bob Windsor may see offffensive duty as split end.

TACKLES—Strong group . . . Blocking of Sam Ball (6-4, 241) and Doug Davis (6-4, 240) one outstanding feature of spring practice . . . Davis voted "most improved" award, which Ball won in '64 . . . Some tackles will man guard posts on defensive platoon . . . Tony Manzonelli, one of the "switch hitters," looked good in spring as interior line play moved away from problem state . . . Three standout youngsters due to see action are George Katzenbach (6-1, 225), Dwight Little (6-2, 215) and Dennis Drinnen (6-1, 220).

GUARDS—Improvement needed . . . Interior line play generally somewhat better and plan of twitching tackles to guard on defensive platoon has helped that phase . . . Offensive guard play is area where improvement is vitally needed . . . Probable offensive regulars—soph Kerry Curling (weak side) and senior non-letterman John Schornick (strong side) . . . Top guards playing defensive tackle will be soph Jim Gresham and senior Ed Stanko . . . Key reserve is senior Rich Tucci, who could take over . . . LOST—line-backer Jim Foley.

CENTER—Better but could stand improvement . . . Everybody back, including two men who saw most action . . . Senior Jim Miles will work as a line-backer on defense while junior Calvin Withrow will be the main ball snapper . . . Backing up this pair are outstanding sophs, Mike Beirne (defense) and Ronnie Roberts (offense).

QUARTERBACK—Strong, better depth than '64 . . . SEC passing champion Rick Norton returns for his final season and his back-up style should be made all the more effective by the sprint-out artistry of transfer Roger Walz . . . Soph Terry Beadles, standout quarterback on last year's undefeated frosh team, is ticketed for defensive safety duty but could see offensive action as well . . . Also on call will be junior college transfer Bobby Bartkow . . . 1964 QB's Talbott Todd and J. D. Smith have moved to other positions.

HALFBACKS—Strong . . . Promising contingent headed offensively by Rodger Bird, Dixie's top candidate for 1965 All-America honors. Returning All-Conference performer wound up second in SEC rushing last season with 671 yards and 5.0 average . . . Bird's alternate, 208-pound Frank Antonini, has been shifted to fullback and 1964 wingback Tom Becherer has moved to defense . . . Taking over the wingback position likely will be junior Larry Seiple, a fine pass receiver and outstanding punter . . . Alternating between WB and split end may be JC transfer Bob Windsor . . . Also figuring in will be holdout Homer Goins (at TB) and soph Al Phaneuf (at WB) . . . Defensively, Becherer will be joined by former QB Todd to make the secondary more effective.

FULLBACK—Questionable offensively, good defensively . . . The question of whether converted halfback Frank Antonini can adequately handle offensive fullback chores remains to be answered . . . Antonini, a strong and speedy runner seemingly too valuable to ride the bench, shows much promise at the position but did not get sufficient work at new job in spring (due to injury) to allow definite commitment . . . Has inside track with help expected from holdout Donnie Britton and Jeff Van Note, leading ground gainer of '64 frosh . . . Defense in good hands with Mike McGraw taking charge of linebacking . . . McGraw, tenth in SEC rushing last season, should rank as one of SEC's best defensive men.

SAFETY—Improved . . . Advent of two-platoon play allowing specialization and rest being counted on to make improvement at this position . . . Bird took a beating while doubling at safety last year . . . Top man in picture is smart soph quarterback Terry Beadles.

The longest field goal in Kentucky football history was a 36-yarder by Bob Bassitt against Texas A&M in 1952. End John Andrighetti kicked a 32-yarder in the 1965 Blue-White game. Andrighetti also kicked a 21-yarder in that game, which would have equalled Jim Park's record of two in one game against Mississippi A&M in 1914.

Half of Kentucky's football opponents in 1965 played in bowl games last season. Mississippi played in the Bluebonnet Bowl; Florida State in the Gator Bowl; Louisiana State in the Sugar Bowl; Georgia in the Sun Bowl; and West Virginia in the Liberty Bowl.

RODGER BIRD

Profile of An All-American

"Rodger Bird was bothered with a foot injury all last season," says Kentucky football Coach Charlie Bradshaw. "But that has been corrected, and we are expecting a great year from him."

That should come as a shock to Kentucky opponents. Most of them thought he wasn't any slouch in 1964.

The 5-11, 195-pound tailback and defensive safety from Corbin, Ky., broke the school's season rushing record with 671 yards, was third in the Southeastern Conference in scoring with 60 points, sixth in combined offense with 862 yards, tied for fifth with three pass interceptions, and was ranked in eight of the SEC's nine statistical departments.

For that work, he was named to the first-team All-SEC squad and the second unit on the Football Coaches' All-America.

Asking him to top that performance is like asking the boss for a 10-hour work week. But Bradshaw says Bird can do it.

"He has the speed, the strength, the quickness, the body balance and control, the finesse, experience and mental attitude to be the best back in America," the coach declares. "And the two-platoon system should help him because he'll get the rest he missed last season."

A quadruple-threat back because he can play excellent defense as well as run, pass and kick, Bird provided Kentucky's biggest defensive moment last season when he picked off a Jimmy Sidle pass and returned it 95 yards for the touchdown that beat Auburn.

This year, however, he'll concentrate on offense as the colleges go back to multi-unit football.

Rodger, the last of Corbin's Bird brothers (Jerry was a Kentucky basketball star; Calvin and Billy were football Wildcats), broke into college football at UK with a bang. On the first play of his first game with the varsity, the sophomore took VPI's opening kickoff and returned it 92 yards for a touchdown.

He was also dogged by injury in 1963, but he did manage to roll up 382 yards on only 85 carries for a 4.5 average that year. He was named to the SEC's All-Sophomore team.

Last year he came into his own. Against Detroit in the season opener, he scored both touchdowns in a Kentucky victory. Then he passed for a key touchdown against Ole Miss and had another scoring toss—a 79-yarder—nullified by penalty.

He scored two touchdowns, including the 95-yard interception, against Auburn and set up the third with a pass to the Auburn 9-yard-line. He opened the LSU game with a 76-yard run on the first play from scrimmage, and caught touchdown passes from Rick Norton in both the Georgia and West Virginia games. Then he added two more scores—one a 33-yard broken-field jaunt—against Baylor and capped the season with a key touchdown in a victory over arch-rival Tennessee.

"Bird," said Georgia coach Vince Dooley, "is the best broken-field runner I've seen in the last 10 years."

"He is not only a great outside runner," said Auburn assistant coach Lee Haley, "he's great on the inside as well," LSU assistant John North added "He's as good as any back in the country."

The Corbin Comet makes his finale in 1965. It should be an award-winning performance.

ALL-AMERICA CANDIDATE RICK KESTNER

With most of Kentucky's pass-catching records already in his pocket, Rick Kestner says he'll be concentrating on helping his football teammates to a winning record this season.

The big (6-1, 200-pound) senior end from Stone, Ky., says he hopes "to improve on my 1964 record—after all, you can't stand still. But what I really want is for us to have an undefeated season." Rick and 17 other Wildcat seniors will be counted on to provide the leadership necessary for that sort of record. "And I think that's right," Kestner says. "The leadership on our squad must come from the seniors, and I think we're definitely ready to provide it."

Improving on his last season, however, should be a tremendous challenge to Rick. He broke the school's record for catches (with 42 receptions) and yards gained by a receiver (639)—erasing marks set by All-Americans Steve Meilinger and Tom Hutchinson. He caught three touchdown passes against an Ole Miss squad that was rated No. 1 in the nation at the time, and was named lineman-of-the-week in the country for his performance in that game. His feat ranked as a national season high.

Kestner, who got as high as third in the country on receiving at one point, led the SEC in pass catching most of the season and wound up a close second in the conference and twelfth nationally.

He iced all that in the final game of the season, when he tight-roped along the edge of the end zone and made a leaping, over-the-shoulder catch of the pass that scored the winning touchdown against arch-rival Tennessee.

"My biggest thrill, though, was beating Ole Miss when they were No. 1. I hope we'll be doing some more of that this season," he says.

Kestner is "one of the better receivers in the country," according to his Kentucky coach, Charlie Bradshaw. "He has fine hands and great concentration—watches the ball all the way in to his hands. He has the quickness and speed to get into the open, and the balance and body control to run really fine cuts."

He'll be used on offense most of the way this season in Bradshaw's new two-platoon system, but last year he was also the All-Southeastern Conference defensive end. He started the key play of last year's Auburn game when he caught Jimmy Sidle behind the line as Sidle was attempting to pass into the end zone. Sidle threw wild, and Roger Bird intercepted the pass and returned it 95 yards for a touchdown.

Rick, who set state records with his receiving (most touchdowns—17—and points scored—109—by a receiver in one season) as a schoolboy All-America at Belfry, Ky., High, was named to the second team All-America academic team last year with a "B" average as a history major. He has been named on pre-season All-America lists and won unanimous advance All-Conference recognition as well as nomination as the top offensive and defensive end. Kestner hopes to play pro football after graduation.

The honors for the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Kestner have been many, and his coaches expect more to come in the 1965 season. Through it all he has remained steadfastly quiet and modest. He turns 21 on the day of the Vanderbilt game.

RICK NORTON

"Mail Order" Quarterback

Rick Norton, Kentucky's senior quarterback from Louisville, may very well be the most overlooked fellow in America.

He was the Southeastern Conference's total offense and passing leader last season with 1,319 total yards and 1,514 yards through the air (a back-up passer, he lost 195 yards through being caught behind the line of scrimmage a number of times). Yet he received no mention on any of the All-SEC teams or the All-America squads.

It was the first time in the history of the conference that a player gained so many yards and received no All-SEC mention.

Actually, that's nothing new for the 6-1, 195-pound Norton. In his sophomore season he passed for 1,177 yards, the third highest total by a sophomore in the conference's history. He also set an SEC record with 68 consecutive passes without an interception. Again, he received no mention.

"There's no doubt in my mind," says Kentucky coach Charlie Bradshaw, "that Norton will be the best back-up passer in the nation this year." He ranks third in yardage among returning passers from 1964.

Norton's 1964 performance sheet included:

- Passing for 232 yards, two touchdowns and scoring another himself against Ole Miss, virtually wrecking the team that was rated No. 1 nationally at that time.
- Passing for 112 yards against an LSU defense that was one of the best in the nation.
- Passing for 190 yards and three touchdowns against bowl-bound West Virginia.
- Beating Vandy with the winning touchdown pass and 195 yards overall.
- Hitting for another 160 yards against Baylor.
- And capping it all with 236 yards through the air against arch-rival Tennessee, including a long heave to Rick Kestner for the winning touchdown.

"Norton," Bradshaw says, "is a passer, not a thrower."

Norton, who guided Louisville Flaget High to the Kentucky championship in 1961, was probably the most sought-after schoolboy quarterback in the country that year. More than 100 colleges were bidding for his services when Bradshaw took over. The coach instigated a letter-writing campaign which brought thousands of letters to the Norton home asking him to attend the home state university. Rick agreed.

His freshman, sophomore and junior years with the Wildcats ranked with the best in the school's history (yes, including the first three years of All-America Vito "Babe" Parilli). Bradshaw says the best is still to come.

"He had an outstanding spring practice," the coach declares, "the best he's had since he came here. He was passing far better than he ever had before. He has matured and is experienced. Add that to his poise, good leadership and on-the-field sense, and you can expect a tremendous year from him in 1965."

He is considered the best player from his high school since Paul Hornung, and the best quarterback at Kentucky since Parilli. Both were All-Americans and outstanding in the professional ranks.

This year it should be Norton's turn.

WILDCATS OF '60 BEST PASSERS EVER

According to available statistical records, the 1960 Kentucky team was the "passingest" in school history as they amassed an average of 163.3 yards per game on the aerial arm. The mark surpassed the 156.0 average posted by the Babe Parilli-led Cotton Bowl champions of 1951 and a 155.8 average recorded by Parilli and mates in the Sugar Bowl year of 1950.

Kentucky's football Wildcats had played only one regular-season game against a member of the Big Eight Conference going into the 1965 season. That was a 21-8 victory over Kansas State in 1961. The Wildcats, who play Missouri in the season opener this year, also beat Oklahoma of the Big 8 in the 1951 Sugar Bowl.

STOLL FIELD — McLEAN STADIUM

Much confusion among the general public and the sports-writing fraternity apparently exists over a seeming duplication of titles in referring to the University of Kentucky's football setup along "Avenue of Champions."

Officially, by action of the University Board of Trustees, the general area encompassing the playing field is known as "Stoll Field." Likewise, by authority of the same body, the stadium proper is known as "McLean Stadium."

Kentucky's first football field, occupying the general site of what is now an intramural field west of the stadium, was first given a name when it was dedicated on October 14, 1916, as Stoll Field in honor of the late Judge Richard G. Stoll, prominent alumnus, trustee and benefactor of the University of Kentucky. Soon after the first sections of the present concrete stadium were completed on September 4, 1924, the new field site and stadium were likewise officially known as Stoll Field.

The first attraction to be held on the new Stoll Field was a football game with the University of Louisville on October 4, 1924. A gridiron clash between Kentucky and the then-powerful Centre College team was the first game played in the fully-completed stadium on November 1, 1924.

The later reference to the concrete stands as "McLean Stadium" has existed since November 1, 1924, when the stadium was officially dedicated in memory of Price Innes McLean and a bronze plaque placed in the south stands by the Class of 1925. McLean, regular center on the 1923 Kentucky football squad, died November 7, 1923, as the result of injuries sustained in the U.K.-Cincinnati game played in the Queen City the afternoon before.

Major expansions of McLean Stadium in 1948, 1949 and 1959 have resulted in a current over-all seating capacity of approximately 37,500. The latest construction installed 3,655 new permanent box seats at a cost of $115,000 and increased capacity by 1,629. New-type, "iodized" lights were installed in 1961.

A complete "face lifting" was accomplished on Stoll Field during the spring of 1962 at a cost of several thousand dollars. In the interest of preparing a durable turf that will eliminate the almost annual resodding process, a complete new drainage system was installed and tons of specially mixed topsoil hauled in to replace the existing hardpan. The project also raised the crown of the playing surface for better visibility by spectators. With the special strain of Bermuda grass thriving to an extent never before seen at Kentucky, the Wildcats now entertain foes on one of the best football fields in the nation.

New practice facilities were prepared in 1960 for the football Wildcats on the University farm. As part of a $320,000 Sports Center, the varsity and freshman gridgers now practice on an area equivalent to five football fields in size. Along with the new field, they have space in a large new dressing room building—making a facility recognized as one of the best in the nation.

The former practice lot and dressing room building, off Rose Street, were abandoned to make way for a new men's dormitory.

"Avenue of Champions" came into being in the spring of 1950 as an honorary title for that stretch of Euclid Avenue running between the University's $4,000,000 Memorial Coliseum and McLean Stadium. The street was officially re-named by the City of Lexington in recognition of the UK athletic teams' unprecedented success of 1950 in annexing the Southeastern Conference titles in both football and basketball and their national championships in the Sugar Bowl grid game and the NCAA cage tournament.

STOLL FIELD 'COW PASTURE' BIRTHPLACE OF DIXIE GRID SPORT

University of Kentucky's campus boasts the distinction of serving as the birth-place of Dixie football. Ironically, however, the forerunners of the present day Wildcats were not involved in the early grid contest.

The first inter-collegiate football game ever played in the South, and probably the first to take place west of the Alleghanies, came about April 9, 1880, on old Stoll Field. This gridiron, located adjacent to the present U.K. stadium, was the site of the early tilt saw Kentucky University (now known as Transylvania College) take the measure of Centre College, 13¾ to 0. The match, which was said to resemble a combination of soccer and rugby, followed by only six years the introduction of the game of football to the United States.

University of Kentucky (then called A & M College of Kentucky) did not play its first game until a year later on the same field, which once served as the private pasture for University President James Patterson's bovine herd.

SERIES HISTORY: According to available records, Missouri and University of Kentucky have never met on the gridiron before. Historical materials indicate some discrepancy may exist, however. Missouri sources have a listing of a game with "Kentucky" back in 1904—which the Tigers won. Accuracy of this record is doubtful since Kentucky University in those early days was not the same institution as present-day University of Kentucky. UK was then called Kentucky State College. In rivalry with other Big Eight schools, the Wildcats lay claim to a memorable Sugar Bowl upset of Oklahoma in 1951 and a 1961 win in Lexington over Kansas State, 21-8. UK's cagers have been equally successful in Big Eight competition—winning two of its record four NCAA titles at the expense of Oklahoma A&M (1949) and Kansas State (1951), and measuring Missouri (81-69) in a 1960 meeting at Lexington.

LAST MEETING: No games played.

1965 OUTLOOK: Picked to be a title contender in the Big Eight football race, the 1965 Missouri team must develop replacements for five graduated offensive linemen—and improve its passing attack. That's the pre-season evaluation of Coach Dan Devine who builds his eighth squad at M.U. around 18 returning lettermen—hubbed by Gary Lane, two-time all-conference total offense king, and Johnny Roland—the all-around halfback who'll probably see heavy defensive duty. If halfback Charlie Brown recuperates satisfactorily from knee surgery in April, the Tigers will return intact their 1964 backfield of Lane, Brown, RHB Earl Denny and FB Carl Reese. Also back are six of seven starters in the defensive line that will be buttressed by such veterans as LT Bruce VanDyke and LG Bill Powell. Old heads returning in the defensive secondary include Roland; LB Rich Bernsen; and RHB Ken Boston, who dislocated a hip in the final week of spring practice. Newcomers likely to help this fall are: Russ Washington, huge defensive end; Bob Powell, linebacker; Barry Lischner, a hard-driving fullback; and Gary Kombrink, quarterback.

SERIES HISTORY: A strange sequence of upsets and near-upsets flavors the comparatively young, but colorful and intense rivalry between the Wildcats and Ole Miss. Twenty-one meetings have been held since the series started in 1944, but it was 1958 before the Rebels could claim a distinctive edge in the battling. The Wildcats got the series off to an auspicious start by winning the first game, but Mississippi took the decision in three out of the next four meetings. The fireworks really started in 1949 as Kentucky claimed a 47-0 upset in Oxford and started on the road to big-time prominence. Since then, the Kentucky game has been a "make or break" situation on the Rebels' schedule. The 1954 meeting in Memphis was a penalty-marred spectacle resulting in several conference records for violations that still stand. In 1955, UK added new fire to the "beat the favorite" series history by upending the defending SEC champs in Lexington for their only loss enroute to a second straight title and Cotton Bowl win. Ole Miss achieved a measure of revenge by winning the next eight in a row. UK extended the SEC "Team of the Decade" six years ago by forcing a long field goal and a freakish, 51-yard quarterback sneak TD in final seconds for a 16-0 decision. Last year in neutral Jackson, the Rebels got another taste of the Wildcats' upsetting brew as they succumbed, 27-21, in a monumental upset.

LAST MEETING: Sept. 26, 1964 (Jackson) UK 27, UM 21—Kentucky's Wildcats were not to be denied the fruits of victory over the nation's top-rated grid outfit. Sensing the chance for the school's greatest hour of glory since the memorable upset of National Champion Oklahoma in the 1951 Sugar Bowl, the youthful charges of Coach Charlie Bradshaw stormed from behind three times to eventually topple the Rebels, 27-21, in one of the season's greatest upsets. It was truly a team victory but much credit fell to the passing combo of Rick Norton to Rick Kestner, the latter catching three TD aerals (including the clincher in the final period) and turning in such a sensational exhibition that he was accorded national "Lineman of the Week" honor. Two memorable plays involved star HB Rodger Bird. On the opening play he faked an end sweep and then tossed deep to Tom Becherer for an 89-yard score. But it was disallowed on grounds of an illegal receiver downfield. He tried again early in the second half and Kestner hauled it in for 32 yards.

1965 OUTLOOK: A completely unfamiliar snub by the experts predicting where the power lies in SEC football has slotted Ole Miss near the bottom (4th or 5th) of the first division—possibly more a reflection on its disastrous '64 campaign than an accurate estimate of '65 potential. The Rebels are making disclaiming sounds over the lack of a proven quarterback, absence of experience in depth and a stronger schedule—all true to a degree but not sufficient grounds for overlooking them. Plenty of top hands are still around, including star candidate Stan Hindman at guard, Jimmy Heidel at quarterback and tailback Mike Dennis (5th among conference ball carriers in 1964). Hindman gets the nod as top offensive interior lineman in the South, the experts say. Joining Hindman on the advance All-SEC outfit is tackle Jim Harvey, 245. Kentuckian Dave Wells figures in prominently at wingback.

SERIES HISTORY: Former Southeastern Conference football "dormats," Kentucky and Auburn, first got together on the gridiron at Lexington in 1934—the year after the league was organized—and played another game the following season at Montgomery before interrupting their series for nearly two decades. Each held a victory out of the early meetings and the 1954 scrap, which resumed the rivalry, resulted in a 21-14 decision in the Wildcats' favor. Tilts between the new-found powers in the years since have been fraught with frustration. With but two exceptions (a 33-0 Auburn win in 1959 and Kentucky's stunning, 20-0 upset in 1964) the annual clashes have seen neither influence a decisive change in the trend to close games. Kentucky walked away with a memorable 14-12 upset victory in 1961 on the Tigers' home ground where no Auburn eleven had been beaten in 30 straight games. Prior to the win, UK had been able to score on the stingy Plainsmen only once in five years.

LAST MEETING: Oct. 3, 1964 (Lexington) UK 20 AU 0—A headline in Sunday morning papers a year ago summed up the Kentucky-Auburn meeting appropriately by reporting: CATS FOR REAL! UK was basking in the glory of its previous week's upset of top-rated Ole Miss, but many wondered if the victory was not a fluke. Registering a shutout of the visiting Tigers, No. 5 nationally, the Kentuckians proved themselves to the grid world. Key operative in the big win was stellar tailback Rodger Bird, who advanced his All-America credentials with a pair of touchdowns (one on a 95-yard return of a wayward pass tossed by Auburn's Jimmy Sidle) and 112 yards rushing. He also saved two sure Auburn scores with timely tackling from his defensive safety station. The Tigers stayed in contention most of the way on the strength of the passing and running artistry of Sidle, who showed little sign of reported shoulder injury. Two key fumble recoveries in the opening 30 minutes of action by the Wildcats halted Auburn threats that had advanced inside the 30. Quarterback Rick Norton and end Rick Kestner contributed the final TD after Bird set it up with a 40-yarder.

1965 OUTLOOK: Auburn's debacle in Lexington a year ago was the only really bad game it turned in all season and the Tigers are not apt to have short memories. However, the pollsters do not figure Shug Jordan's crew of 1965 as a serious title contender due to heavy losses (9 starters among 14 lettermen departed). Tucker Frederickson, Jimmy Sidle and punter Jon Kilgore will be hard to replace. Key operatives will include defensive linebacker Bill Cody, possibly the SEC's best, and passing quarterback Tom Bryan—who almost led his mates to a win over Alabama last year as a sophomore. Defense once again should be one of Auburn's chief fortes since losses on this category were very light. The Tigers could surprise if their offensive potentials come around.

SERIES HISTORY: The Seminole of Florida State, a fast-rising southern independent, became the newest Kentucky football rival when gridiron relations were inaugurated at Tallahassee in October, 1960. Although UK had met other Florida teams (University of Florida and Miami), the only previous athletic relationship with Florida State had been in a basketball meeting at Lexington opening the 1958-59 season. The Seminole have been playing football only 18 years but are regarded as a coming power in the sport. They had not crossed Kentucky's goal line in the young series (three previous games) going into the fateful meeting at Talahassee last season. UK had taken two whitewash victories and the rivals had a scoreless standoff in 1962. But the Seminole cast aside this yoke in 1964 by upsetting the 'Cats, 48-6. The beating stood as Kentucky's worst licking since 1945.

LAST MEETING: Oct. 10, 1964 (Tallahassee) FSU 48, UK 6—Fresh from world-shking, back-to-back upsets of major national powers Mississippi and Auburn, seventh-ranked and undefeated Kentucky rolled into Tallahassee last season intent on adding another feather to it battle headdress. When the smoke of the ambush cleared, the 'Cats had been scalped to the tune of 48 to 6—their worst licking since Alabama inflicted a 60-19 setback in 1945. The Seminoles, already "arrived" as a southern independent power, were undefeated, untied and unscored on before UK arrived and the Wildcats could manage to salvage only a little satisfaction by pushing across a score in the waning seconds. The Floridans, in administering the humiliation, put points on the scoreboard in every quarter—including a morale-busting three in the opening frame. They ate up ground consistently behind the passing of Steve Tensi to Fred Biletnikoff while harrasing Wildcat passers and runners effectively. The UK offense never could get rolling until Frank Antonini scored in the final 29 seconds.

1965 OUTLOOK: The eager Seminoles of Coach Bill Peterson should find the road to a repeat of their brilliant 1964 record a little rocky this season. Last season's 9-1-1 mark, including a decisive conquest of Oklahoma in the Gator Bowl, will be hard to equal—especially without the fine passing combo of Steve Tensi to Fred Biletnikoff. But the experts are shedding no tears for the ambitious Floridians, who admit to having an experienced defense returning to hold the fort until the riddled offense can be patched up. In the offensive picture, Peterson sees quarterback as his major question mark with the interior offensive line not far behind. Smoke signals are going up heralding a bevy of good running backs—more, they say, than at any other time in the school's history. Phil Spooner, producer of two touchdowns in the '64 attack on Kentucky, vans the candidates. Anchoring the defensive line will be star candidate Jack Shinholser, 211-pound middle guard, and the wall again could be one of the stingiest outfits in the nation.

SERIES HISTORY: Inaugurated with a game at Baton Rouge in 1949, the Kentucky-Louisiana State grid series is the youngest football rivalry within the Southeastern Conference. A total of 15 meetings make up the series which has been annual encounters with the exception of the 1951 season and the count now stands tipped in the Bengals' favor, nine wins to five plus a 6-6 tie in 1953. The Billy Cannon-led Tigers, enjoying their greatest seasons during the 1957-59 period, overcame the Wildcats' 4-2-1 edge in the series by taking three straight decisions in these years. UK tied it up five years ago with a 3-0 upset victory in Lexington and then nationally-ranked LSU survived determined bids for glory by the upstart 'Cats in the last four seasons to notch successes that again gave it the lead. A new era in the rivalry dawned in 1962 with a pair of youthful ex-Wildcats at the grid helms of the respective schools.

LAST MEETING: Oct. 16, 1964 (Lexington) LSU 27, UK 7—Facing its fifth straight undefeated opponent of the young season proved too much of an assignment for the derailed Wildcat Express. The Bayou Bengals of ex-Kentucky end Charley McClendon (who was celebrating his 41st birthday) posted their greatest offensive output of the season and solidified their No. 9 national ranking with a 27-7 victory. Kentucky looked like a winner early as Rodger Bird scampered 76 yards to pay dirt on the opening play from scrimmage, but that was the best the 'Cats could muster. Rick Norton was bottled up much of the game in his own territory. LSU's key break came in third quarter. Nursing only a 10-7 lead and fighting off UK on the 5-yard line, Chinese Bandit back White Graves intercepted a Norton pass on the goal line and raced it back all the way.

1965 OUTLOOK: Ex-Wildcat Charley McClendon is a demon searching for perfection. Already a sensational success in Tigerland (24-7-2 in three seasons) and Sugar Bowl champions last year, he seeks to improve and has revamped the LSU offense toward this end. In an effort to add more punch inside the 10 (LSU scored more than two TD's only twice last year), he is switching from the Wing T to a multiple attack, including some "T" formation. Reports are persistent that LSU also will once again utilize its famed three-team system. Personnel should be no problem with such returnees as split end Doug Moreau, fullback Don Schwab, tackle George Rice along with quarterback Pat Screen and halfback Joe Labruzzo. Only nine lettermen will be missing from the 9-2 club of 1964 and many experts look at the Tigers as the team to beat for the '65 SEC championship.

SERIES HISTORY: Georgia and Kentucky began their rivalry on the football field with a game at Louisville on Oct. 21, 1939. The two schools met almost annually from that time until the series was broken off after the 1949 game and not resumed until 1956 with a game at Athens. During the 22 years that Wally Butts tutored the Bulldogs (1938-60), Georgia laid claim to nine victories in the 14-game series. Kentucky took the initial game in 1939 and tied the following year, but it was 1947 before it picked up another win. All told, UK shows but four victories with the last in 1956. Despite Georgia's superiority, the series generally has been interesting as reflected by the fact that Butts's four SEC championship outfits managed an average win margin of only 11 points over Kentucky. Demonstrating the frustrating turn that the series has taken in recent years is the fact that only 15 points separated the two clubs in the five meetings perceeding last year's 20-7 Kentucky loss.

LAST MEETING: Oct. 24, 1964 (Athens) UG 21, UK 7—Maintaining its strange mastery over Wildcat grid outfits of recent years and reversing only the trend to close games, Georgia copped a Homecoming victory in Athens, 21-7. The loss proved to be third leg in a four-pronged, mid-season slump suffered by the 'Cats. Once again, as had been the pattern in games this season, the Wildcats started out strong but were unable to sustain themselves. UK drove 66 yards on nine plays to score before surrendering the ball to Georgia. Rick Norton hit Rodger Bird on a 15-yarder for the tally (which was to be the only UK touchdown). Georgia did not get into the act until the second period, but then notched two TD's in a space of eight minutes. Star of the Bulldogs' drive was second string quarterback Preston Ridlehuber, who personally scored twice and set up another with his running. One of the bright spots for UK came on the punting of soph Larry Seiple—he averaged 48.8 on 5 boots.

1965 OUTLOOK: Second year Coach Vince Dooley has the classic problem that accompanies success—what to do for an encore. In his first season last fall, he took Georgia to a 6-3-1 season slate and then a Sun Bowl victory. Now, many key operatives are gone—like All-America tackle Jim Wilson, fullback Leon Armbruster, and wingback Don Porterfield. Taking up the slack, say the experts, will be the improvement of Ridlehuber and some classy sophs plus a tremendous gain in mental attitude. Manning one end of a passing attack that is due to be used more extensively will be senior Pat Hodges, the leading SEC receiver two years back. Dooley says Ridlehuber has improved as a passer. Georgia is picked to wind up in the second division—7th to 9th—after engineering biggest surprise in SEC last year—jumping from 9th prediction to second place tie.

SERIES HISTORY: One of the oldest rivalries on the Kentucky grid schedule, relations between the Wildcats and Mountaineers date back to Nov. 4, 1905. In that first game at Morgantown, the visiting Wildcats absorbed a 45-0 licking that stands as the biggest advantage either team has enjoyed. The series was interrupted after that contest for 34 years, not resuming until West Virginia visited Lexington for a return engagement in 1939 and absorbed a 13-6 revenge licking. The two teams met annually after that (with the exception of 1943 when UK did not field a team) until the series was broken off again following a game at Morgantown in 1947. Kentucky holds the edge in the series, six victories to four and held the distinction of taking the last four decisions until West Virginia stopped the string with an upset victory at Morgantown in 1964 resuming the rivalry.

LAST MEETING: Oct. 31, 1964 (Morgantown) WVU 26, UK 21—Almost was not good enough to pull the Wildcats out of their mid-season slump and the West Virginia triumph was the Mountaineers' first in the last five meetings. Reversing its usual pattern of flashing early scoring strength, Kentucky had trouble in the early stages getting its offensive machinery geared up. West Virginia, which had been a troubled ball club all season and a seven-point underdog to visiting Kentucky, displayed surprising potency to score three of the first four times it had the ball. The UK offense, meanwhile, was able to generate only 22 yards (a season low) all day on the ground—leaving it up to the air arm. The passing of Rick Norton finally started clicking and UK launched a comeback. Behind by three touchdowns, Norton fired one scoring heave to Dan Spanish and hit Rodger Bird on another for 38 yards. The 'Cats were finally rolling, surging from a 26-7 deficit to within five points but time ran out before they could get the ball for another try.

1965 OUTLOOK: Although the probability of bettering the 1964 record of seven wins in 10 regular season starts is a big question mark, prospects are classed as good in the Mountaineers' camp. A majority of the veterans of the '64 campaign and ill-fated Liberty Bowl test return for another crack at a winning season and the experts figure them the top choice for the Southern Conference crown. Chief engineer of the Mountaineer Express that suddenly exploded offensively in late season was exciting quarterback Allen McCune. McCune, who accounted for 13 touchdowns after taking over in mid-season, is back at the reins this year. There's little worry over the WVU offense. It's the defense that must be watched. If the defenders can cut down significantly on opponent's 19-a-game scoring average this year, the Mountaineers will be in business.

SERIES HISTORY: Kentucky and the Vanderbilt Commodores first got together on the gridiron way back in 1896 at Nashville and the rivalry has been perpetuated intermittently ever since with the result that it is one of the oldest in the South from the standpoint of first meeting and number of games. History shows a record solidly in Vandy's favor—23 wins to Kentucky's 10 and four ties. Vandy registered 12 shutouts in the first 26 years of the rivalry and UK did not get into the win column until 1939. However, the postwar record shows only four setbacks. Kentucky's 27-0 homecoming rout of the Commodores in 1960 ended a three-year trend to close games, but the rivalry got back in the groove in 1961 as UK struggled strangely before taking a 16-3 decision. The 1962 contest proved almost a carbon copy of that game as UK just could not connect on all the scoring chances weak Vanderbilt offered and wound up taking only a 7-0 decision. The closeness trend was over-emphasized to the degree that both clubs wound up scoreless in 1963 and only one point, (22-21) separated the pair last year as Kentucky broke a four-game losing streak. Vandy has not been in the winning column against UK since 1959.

LAST MEETING: Nov. 7, 1964 (Lexington) UK 22, VU 21—Kentucky appropriately chose Homecoming Day to break out of its four-game, mid-season slump at the expense of Vanderbilt's Commodores. The 22-21 win, in keeping with a series trend to close games, evened the Wildcats' season at 4-4. But victory did not come easy. Following a pattern established in early season games, UK broke on top early and appeared headed for an easy win. From the opening kickoff, the 'Cats marched 83 yards to score and added a second marker with only seconds elapsed in the second frame for a 14-0 lead. Midway of the quarter, Vandy rallied to go ahead by 15-14 on a pair of TD's within two minutes. After end John Andrighetti (hero of the game) intercepted a pass late in the third period, Frank Antonini plunged over and the UKats went for the two point conversion. Tom Becherer ran it over. Vandy then scored to draw within one point of UK. Quarterback Dave Waller dropped back for a two-point pass, only to be grounded by hero Andrighetti before he could get the ball away.

1965 OUTLOOK: Kentucky has managed to beat the Commodores in Nashville only once since 1953 and the odds are that Vandy this season will have the horses to give UK another good race. The Tennesseans figure to be one of the most improved teams in the SEC, and loom as a better club than Jack Green's fighters of last year. For one thing, the Commodore defensive unit returns completely intact with tough line-backer Steve Kiss as the anchor man. Reports are that Vandy's offense, a problem last year when it ranked only ninth most productive in the league, showed promise in spring drills. There should be more speed and power this season as Vandy continues its rise under the direction of native Kentuckian Green.

SERIES HISTORY: The Houston Cougars and Kentucky Wildcats have never squared off on the gridiron, but a single athletic meeting in the past by the two schools gave UK a significant victory. That came in 1956 when the Kentucky basketball team topped Houston, 111-76, for the Sugar Bowl basketball crown. The men from the Blue Grass will be visiting the city of Houston for the second time since they defeated Houston's cross-town rival, Rice, in a football encounter back in 1953. A second meeting with Rice, in Lexington, also produced a UK win. In relations with seven other southwest area schools, the 'Cats stand 5-4—their most memorable victories coming in a pair of bowl games. UK shocked the nation with a 13-7 upset of national champion Oklahoma in the 1951 Sugar Bowl and walloped Texas Christian, 20-7, in the Cotton Bowl the following year. This was Kentucky's last bowl visit.

LAST MEETING: (No games played.)

1965 OUTLOOK: As Houston moves into the fabulous Astrodome this season, the Cougars apparently will field a much-improved and dangerous ball club. For the first time since Bill Yeoman came on the scene four years ago, the Cougars (like Charlie Bradshaw's Kentuckians) look to the promise of more depth and experience to combat a murderous schedule. Houston will be able to call on 21 lettermen, among them strong Cotton Guerrant at guard. However, much dependence is due to be placed on the lightning-fast legs of sophomore halfback Warren McVea. This 9.5 sprinter was the acknowledged king of Texas schoolboy football in 1962 and '63. Giving the Cougars even more speed will be wingback Mike Spratt, who was slowed by injuries last season. Some of the other aces filling vital roles in an expected stepped-up Houston attack are quarterback Bo Burris, halfback Dick Post and fullback Mickey Don Thompson. A familiar face will be starting end Tom Beer, who moved in from University of Detroit after the Titans dropped football. If Houston plugs up the weak points in the forward wall, it could give the invading Wildcats a hot time in the air-conditioned Astrodome.

SERIES HISTORY: Among the six oldest football rivalries in the South, the Kentucky-Tennessee series dates from a memorable encounter in Knoxville 72 years ago. In that meeting, Oct. 21, 1893, the Wildcats annexed a 60-0 victory to get the warfare off to an auspicious start in a fashion that hasn't been equalled in the many and colorful renewals of the traditional rivalry. Except for three war years (1917-18 and 1943), the two schools have met annually on the gridiron with the result that the Vols hold a distinct-but-fading edge of 32 wins to Kentucky's 19 and nine ties. Tennessee's sparkling advantage has become tarnished in the past few seasons as Kentucky started reversing the victory trend with an upsetting tie in 1952 and ate into the Vols' polished record with successes in eight of the last twelve meetings. The seniors on the 1955 UK squad became the first class in 43 years to graduate with the accomplishment of never playing in a game in which the Vols emerged victorious and they bowed out in a blaze of glory, triumphing 23-0 over the bowl-hungry Vols in the most one-sided Kentucky win since 1935. Tennessee took the 1961 meeting for its first victory in five years, but UK's courageous "Thin Thirty" fought back to win a 12-10 squeaker in 1962. The Vols caught Kentucky in a let down two seasons back to annex a 19-0 decision, but Kentucky capped a strange 1964 campaign in glorious fashion by capturing a hard-fought, 12-7 victory over the equally-inconsistent Tennesseans.

Since 1925, the two schools have stimulated their grid rivalry with a rotating trophy—a battered old beer barrel. Much shenanigans on the part of the rival student bodies have added to the color of the series. Following the 1953 UK win, disgruntled Tennessee students raided the Kentucky campus and “kegnapped” the barrel—holding it until persuaded to return it by threats of reprisal against their coon dog mascot, Smoky. In 1955, UK students visited the Tennessee campus hiding place of Smoky and “dognapped” him. UT students promptly retaliated by painting up the Kentucky campus in a surprise raid and carting away “Colonel,” UK’s stuffed wildcat mascot. A trade was engineered at the ’55 game. For a couple of years, things were comparatively quiet. Then the stunts erupted again in 1958 as Vol students caught a guard “napping” and slipped away with UK’s stuffed Wildcat. Despite promises to return it at halftime of a nationally-televised basketball game, the mascot wasn’t given back until nearly four months later. A post-game sidelight to Kentucky’s victory in 1959 saw a strange calm shattered by rioting UK students protesting a faculty refusal to reward the win with a traditional pre-Thanksgiving holiday. Up to 5,000 demonstrators and onlookers carried on for about four and one-half hours, marching on the UK president’s home and setting a bonfire at a main intersection in downtown Lexington. The famed beer barrel, which had remained in hiding during “Tennessee week” in 1960, came up missing almost four months later under unusual circumstances. Vanderbilt students “kegnapped” the trophy in a surprise attempt to gain support of Vol fans for the Commodores’ basketball team which was meeting the Wildcats in Knoxville in a playoff for an NCAA Tournament berth. The stunt backfired, however, as UK won. Embarrassed Vandy students did not return the trophy until several months later. Four years ago, another chapter was added to the keg’s history as two UK freshman players forgot to bring the barrel to the game and the Vols left town without claiming it. Kentucky sent the keg on to Knoxville later.

LAST MEETING: Nov. 21, 1964 (Knoxville) UK 12, UT 7—Kentucky’s inconsistent but proud Wildcats were not to be denied the final opportunity to prove to the football world that they were a better team than their 4-5 record would indicate. And coupled with the background of the rivalry with its neighbor to the South, the will to win overcame tough Tennessee, 12-7. After spotting the home-standing Vols a 7-0 lead early in the second quarter, Kentucky's defense tightened and then its offense started rolling. The Vols held off repeated UK threats until the 'Cats aerial game started clicking in the third quarter to set up a touchdown scored by Rodger Bird on a three-yard plunge. A two-point try did not work and UK was still behind, 7-6, as the third period ended. Midway of the final quarter, Kentucky was backed up on its own 10 but got out of the danger zone quickly and went to the air. With 12 minutes remaining and on the 32, Rick Norton launched the pigskin into seeming orbit. Battery mate Rick Kestner hauled it in with a spectacular catch just inside the back line of the end zone. The PAT kick was wide but the 'Cats held on stubbornly for the decision that evened their season at 5-5 and was to give them a second place tie in the SEC standings.

1965 OUTLOOK: Tennessee, which managed to win four games and tie one last year by stressing a rugged defense, expects to field a more powerful attack in Doug Dickey's second year as head coach. With a year of operating in the "I" and "T" formations under their belt, the former single wing Vols should display more finesse. In addition, the offensive personnel shapes up as superior to last year's, one of the most important additions being a sophomore quarterback named Charlie Fulton who gives every indication of being worthy of play in the rugged Southeastern Conference. Another newcomer, tailback Walter Chadwick, will join Fulton, wingback Hal Wantland and fullback Stan Mitchell to give the Vols a more speedy and versatile backfield than they had last season. Tennessee lost its All-America defensive guard Steve DeLong, but returns its dandy linebackers, Frank Emanuel and Tom Fisher; a potentially great tackle, Joe Graham; and a trio of capable defensive ends. While nobody is figuring the Vols higher than the second division, they are capable of pulling a surprise and will bear watching as they progress during the challenging campaign.

ORIGIN OF "WILDCATS" NICKNAME

Kentucky's athletic teams are known to sports fans as the Wildcats. This first and only nickname borne by University varsities had its origin in 1909 in a speech made by Commandant Corbusier, then head of the military department of old State College. Speaking to a chapel audience of students on the showing of the Kentucky football team in defeating Illinois six to two, the Commandant declared "they fought like Wildcats." The tag was popularized by word of mouth and by the press with the result that it has since become synonymous with all major Kentucky athletic teams.

While the name is old in origin, no claim is made regarding precedence over similar nicknames boasted by Northwestern, Villanova and about 10 other major athletic teams.

An alumnus in 1947 presented a live Kentucky Wildcat to SUKY, student pep organization. Named "The Colonel," the cat served as a live mascot for UK teams until his death in 1955. The current mascot is a stuffed wildcat obtained from a Brooklyn taxidermist just before the 1958 football season and named "Tucky." Plans under way to get a new live cat.

FOOTBALL WRITERS SALUTE KENTUCKY PRESS BOX

University of Kentucky's football press box on Stoll Field rates as one of the best in the country from the standpoint of both working facilities and service to writers—so says the Football Writers Association of America. The national organization in 1958 added Kentucky to an exclusive list of schools that had been cited in both categories. Up to that time, only 67 institutions had won the award for press box services and 45 for facilities since the FWA started officially honoring the nation's best press boxes and sports publicity departments (who are responsible for service) several years ago.

ANDERSON

BALL

TOM ANDERSON Soph. End 6-0 175 21 (7/27/44) Birmingham, Ala.

Failed to see action last season in capacity of reserve flankman . . . Scheduled to be stationed this year at right end on defensive platoon and could come through if develops . . . One of two Alabama natives on the 1965 varsity—guard Rodger Hart of Albertsville is other . . . Tom prepped at Ramsey High in Birmingham and then spent the 1962-63 school year at Staunton (Va.) Military Academy—where one of his coaches was current UK assistant Joe Moss . . . Honored with All-State mention and chosen on second team All-Military for superior play at Staunton . . . Caught only one pass in limited action as Kentucky yearling in '63 . . . Anderson's father is doctor in Birmingham and Tom has ambition to study medicine later . . . Enrolled in College of Arts and Sciences.

JOHN ANDRIGHETTI Senior End 6-0 200 21 (11/19/43) Grapeville, Pa.

Although he never toed the line for a field goal or PAT try last season, Andrighetti somewhat surprisingly is being touted as potentially one of the best Wildcat place kickers since Lou Michaels (1955-57) . . . Connected on 11 of 13 PAT tries as soph but really came into own this spring . . . Booted two field goals in spring game, one travelling 32 yards (only four shy of school record) and the other 21 . . . Similar feat in final campaign this fall would equal UK record of two fielders in single game set way back in 1914 by Jim Park vs. Mississippi A & M . . . Distance mark is 36 by Bob Bassitt vs. Texas A & M in 1952 . . . John, one of 21 on current squad from Pennsylvania, operated as No. 2 right end in '64 behind graduated Bill Jenkins and is slated to take over the offensive starting assignment on right flank this season . . . Had no starts in '64 but picked up second letter for valuable contributions . . . Caught four passes for 60 yards, handled other assignments well . . . Honored on second team Academic All-Conference unit for "B" average in science curriculum . . . Saw action in nine games as soph two years ago with nine catches for 101 yards . . . Racked up seven straight before missing from PAT line . . . Gained reputation as one of finest pass catching ends in western Pennsylvania as schoolboy at Hempfield Area High where he was teammate of UK guard Rich Tucci . . . Hauled in 47 for nearly 500 yards . . . All-State and Big 33 performer . . . Born Greensburg, Pa . . . Celebrates 22nd birthday on day before Tennessee game . . . Italian ancestry.

FRANK ANTONINI (An-toe-knee-knee) Jr. FB 5-11 208 21 (2/1/44) Ambridge, Pa.

After a break-in campaign as stand-in for Rodger Bird at tailback, Antonini is ready for personal stardom at new position—fullback . . . He made switch in spring and Coach Bradshaw reported experiment showed signs of paying off . . . How well Frank is able to amble may be key to UK's offensive backfield strength and a correlated experiment that stations 1964 fullback Mike McGraw on defense . . . Little doubt exists that the husky Keystone Stater has the size and running ability to make grade . . . Antonini racked up 57 yards in 10 trips from his new slot in spring game . . . Indicative of the speed that goes with power running is fact he ranked 10th in Southeastern Conference last year in kickoff returning with 11 for 222 yards . . . Aa Bird's alternate Antonini was third in UK rushing on 51 for 146 and a pair of TD's . . . Also caught eight passes for 89 more yards . . . Lettered . . . Cited as one of nation's best schoolboy backs when signed two years ago, he blossomed into one of the SEC's prize rookies following a sensationl frosh campaign . . . The flashy yearling posted a terrific, 7.8 rushing average and personal accumulation of 68 points . . . Never held to less than 100 yards rushing as paced Kittens to undefeated season . . . Capped frosh showing with four touchdowns against Tennessee frosh . . . He was record busting halfback in high school at Ambridge, Pa.—same hometown as ex-UK center Harry Ulinski (1946-49) . . . All-America and just about all-everything as schoolboy.

SAM BALL Senior Tackle 6-4 241 21 (6/1/44) Henderson, Ky.

Biggest man on the 1965 UK varsity and looming bigger every hour in every respect, Ball appears headed for new heights of stardom this season . . . Already pinpointed in opponents' game plans by nomination as first string offensive tackle on advance All-Conference selections . . . Coach Bradshaw compliments his huge lineman by calling Ball "as good a blcoker as there is in the SEC" . . . Followed up 1964 spring practice "most improved player" award with consistently strong showing last fall and has picked up size, strength, quickness and know-how . . . Started eight games at right tackle last season, picked up his second letter and the vote of Lexington Salesmen's Club as team's outstanding lineman . . . Due to operate on the strong side at tackle again in '65 . . . Gained valuable experience during break-in camgaign of 1963 by understudying Herschel Turner who was to pick up All-SEC honors and become outstanding pro . . . Native Kentuckian Ball culminated seven years of stand-out athletic activity at Henderson County High by achieving host of honors, including All-State, mention on scholastic All-America and All-Area Football Award . . . Ball, who is called "Foot" by admiring teammates and sports a haircut not unlike The Beadles, is cited by his coaches as A-1 in mental attitude and a good leader . . . Has served as Sgt.-at-Arms of both Kitten Lodge and Wildcat Manor . . . Also vice-president of UK chapter of Fellowship of Christian Athletes . . . He's cousin of former UK cage great Frank Ramsey, played basketball in high school, set school shot put record and won speech award . . . Enrolled in College of Education.

ANDY BARTHOLOMEW Soph. Guard 5-11 205 20 (5/13/45) Glen Mills, Pa.

Product of Salesianum High School in Wilmington, Delaware, Bartholomew joins teammate Fran Coleman as the first Delaware High School athletes to come to UK according to available records . . . Saw action as reserve guard during frosh campaign in '64 and due to play some at offensive guard this season if fully recovered from shoulder operation that kept him out of spring practice . . . Boasts tremendous high school background, including recognition as first team All-State, mention on prep All-America, Catholic All-America and Delaware All-Star Game selection . . . Won honor as "Outstanding Lineman" in star attraction . . . Schoolboy tackle and defensive end helped team take state title in last two seasons . . . Lettered also in baseball . . . Born Huntingdon, Pa., and one of 21 from state on varsity.

BOBBY BARTKOW Junior Quarterback 6-0 190 21 () Rockville, Md.

One of two transfers reporting from Montgomery Junior College at Takoma Park, Md., Bartkow like teammate Bob Windsor will be eligible for two more seasons of varsity grid play . . . Did not have benefit of spring drills at Kentucky and may be held back at start by lack of familiarity with Wildcat system . . . Indications are that he can pick up stride quickly . . . Sparkled in leading Montgomery Knights to undefeated season in 1964 . . . The slender quarterback passed for 11 TDs and netted 1,049 air yards with 67 completions posted on 124 tosses . . . Personally scored three more touchdowns . . . Varsity of honors included MVP nomination in Tri-State Conference championship game and All-League selection in '64 . . . Drop-back type passer . . . Native Marylander.

TERRY BEADLES Soph. Quarterback 5-11 190 19 (4/20/46) Fulton, Ky.

Classed as one of super rookies of Southeastern Conference, Beadles looms as big factor in Wildcat success plans this season . . . With a seeming wealth of material at quarterback position at which he starred in sensational fashion as a UK yearling, Terry willingly moved to the defensive platoon to fill a vital gap at safety . . . Showed up very well at new job this spring but may be too valuable offensive operative to spend full time on defense . . . Likely to see lot of offensive quarterback duty . . . Coach Bradshaw declares Beadles "one of finest looking boys I've seen since I have been here" . . . Terry paced Kentucky freshman to undefeated season in 1964 by becoming leading passer (24-14-305-3 TD), total offense leader (614 yards), second best rusher (53-309-5.8-4 TD) and top scorer (24 points)—among other accomplishments . . . Best showing came against Vandy frosh as he rushed for 155 yards and two touchdowns (one 49 yards), completed five of nine passes for 131 yards and a 67-yard score plus punting six times for a 41-average . . . During terrific schoolboy campaign at Fulton, Beadles set school record with 148 points in '62 season . . . Mentioned on second team All-State but proved how wrong honor team pickers can be by winning "Outstanding Back" Award in '64 East-West Game . . . Quarterbacked West to victory, scored both his team's touchdowns and took honors as game's leading ground gainer on 124 yards in eight trips . . . Methodist . . . Enrolled in Arts and Sciences College.

TOM BECHERER (Beck'-er) Senior Halfback 5-10 175 21 (11/24/43) Canton, Ohio

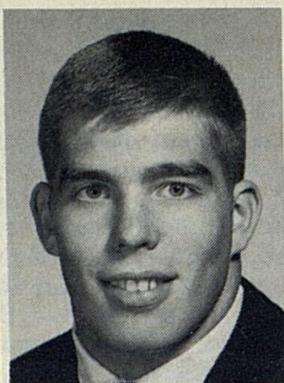

After spending 1964 season as team's regular right half, Becherer is ticketed in 1965 game plans to be his club's No. 1 left half on defense . . . Coach Bradshaw feels confident veteran Buckeye can give defense lift with his speed (one of fastest on team) and quick reactions . . . Looked good in spring drills at new undertaking . . . He was fourth in UK rushing gain last season with 36 yards and fifth in pass receiving on nine catches for 104 yards . . . Good kickoff return man credited with 137 yards on six runbacks . . . Saw only limited action in '63 soph season as understudy at quarterback and halfback but developed fast . . . Rarely comes up with spectacular play but coaches characterize him as type you can win with . . . Makes habit of coming up with big play when needed most . . . No. 3 ground gainer for Kittens in 1962 . . . As quarterback—defensive halfback at Canton Central Catholic High, he was instrumental in helping team post one of best records in Ohio schoolboy circles . . . Fine leader who serves as president of varsity football house and vice-president of UK chapter Fellowship Christian Athletes.

BRUCE BECHTOLD (Beck'-told) Soph. Center 6-0 205 19 (9/28/45) River Vale, N. J.

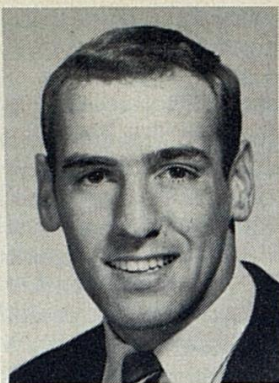

Big and rugged with frame to build on, Bechtold is counted on as a "comer" in future plans . . . Due to operate as reserve center on offensive platoon this year while picking up valuable grid savvy . . . Saw action as freshman last year in reserve capacity at both fullback and center . . . Most of duty came at center after he transferred to that position . . . Had reported as fullback when entered UK last fall from Springfield (Pa.) High by way of Staunton (Va.) Military Academy . . . One of coaches at Staunton in '63 was Joe Moss, now UK aide . . . Helped Springfield cop sectional titles in 1961 and '62 . . . Born Pittsburgh . . . Boasts 16¾ biceps . . . German nationality . . . Catholic by faith . . . Another New Jersey boy on team is Fran Coleman of Beach Haven.

BEIRNE

MIKE BEIRNE (Burn) Soph. Center 6-1 205 20 (4/10/45) McKeesport, Pa.

One of most improved men on squad, Beirne came along well this spring after year of inactivity as break-in varsity man last season . . . Second to senior tackle Doug Davis in voting of coaches as most improved player . . . Covers lot of ground with good speed and ticketed for important action as interior linebacker . . . Will play behind senior defensive center Jim Miles . . . Showed alertness by intercepting pass in spring game . . . Tried at guard as UK yearling in '63 but soon shifted to center . . . Began his football career at age of 11 by playing with famed McKeesport "Little Tigers" in Pennsylvania . . . UK teammate Ed Stanko played on same club . . . During Mike's three varsity years, McKeesport lost only six of 30 games in tough western Pennsylvania AA league . . . Born Pittsburgh and one of 21 from state on '65 UK varsity . . . Enrolled College of Education . . . Legal name, Regis M.

PAUL BENARD Soph. Tackle 6-3 225 18 (10/14/46) Catlettsburg, Ky.

Blessed with exceptional size and natural defensive instinct, Benard is regarded as one of most promising young linemen in camp . . . His 6-3, 225-pound frame gives him sheer size edge on all but three Wildcats—fellow tackles Sam Ball and Doug Davis plus junior college import Bob Windsor . . . Saw action with frosh last season as reserve tackle, came fast this spring in Coach Bradshaw's estimation . . . Tremendous quickness for size . . . During high school career at Catlettsburg, Benard saw action at every position except end and quarterback and won five letters in grid sport . . . Earned seven more in basketball, track and baseball . . . All-Class A and honorable mention All-State in football . . . Methodist . . . German-French nationality . . . Born Ashland and turns 19 two days before LSU game.

RODGER BIRD Senior Tailback 5-11 195 22 (7/2/43) Corbin, Ky.

(See special story on this pre-season All America selection elsewhere in book.)

TOMMY BORG Soph. Halfback 5-11 175 19 (3/7/46) Lexington, Ky.

Discovered virtually in the "back yard" of the University campus, Tommy figures importantly in UK game plans for '65 . . . Regular tailback as Kentucky yearling in 1964 and scheduled to spend most of time in 1965 at safety as alternate for Terry Beadles . . . Born in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and moved to Lexington as ninth grader . . . Entered Lafayette High and rose to stardom . . . His great running (1,430 yards—8.9 average as senior) was primarily responsible for General's 111 mark in '63 and netted him host of honors ranging from second team All-State to second team Prep All-America . . . The speedy halfback had career total of 216 points including five TD's in game vs. De Sales . . . One of two Lexingtonians (a rare football breed over years at UK) on current varsity—guard Jack Dunn is other . . . As Kentucky first-year man, he was team's top punt returner (3-50), second in receiving (5-106) and seventh rusher (21-43) . . . Follows in footsteps of father as engineering student . . . Hobby building electronic equipment . . . Episcopal.

DON BRIGGS Soph. Tackle 5-11 200 21 (2/10/44) Bethesda, Md.

Back in Wildcat camp after one-season (1964) absence, Briggs is due to see his first varsity duty in reserve role at offensive left tackle . . . Has lot of catching up to do but coaches concede he has potential ability to make strong contribution in SEC-calibre football . . . Although Maryland native (one of three on current squad), Briggs played high school ball in Washington, D. C., at St. John's and is believed to be first representative of nation's capital ever to attend UK on grid scholarship . . . Kentucky Assistant Coach Ralph Hawkins hails from the District of Columbia . . . During his career at St. John's, Briggs aided the Cadets in sweeping to three Catholic League titles and a city championship . . . Following high school, he spent one year (1962) at Bullis Prep in Silver Springs, Md. . . . Alternated between guard and tackle as schoolboy and attained high honors, including All-Catholic and All-Prep . . . Married.

DON BRITTON Soph. Fullback 5-10 195 21 (1/28/44) Broomall, Pa.

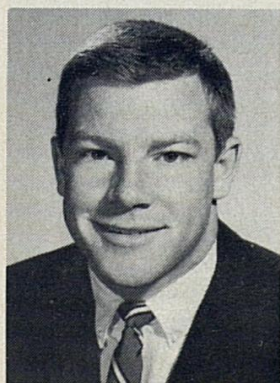

After spending his first varsity campaign (1964) on the sidelines, Britton gives every indication of being ready to smash his way into the lineup in big way this season . . . Expected to rank as number two offensive fullback, understudying newly-stationed Frank Antonini . . . Will face stiff competition, especially if 1964 regular Mike McGraw decides to take a "vacation" from his new linebacking assignment . . . Britton gave good account of himself this spring in scrimmages and Blue-White Game, in which he wound up as leading ground gainer for outmanned Whites . . . Coach Bradshaw compliments Don as "one of the most determined guys on the squad" . . . Also strong linebacker . . . Ranked fifth among UK frosh ball carriers in '63 with 63 yards . . . Aided Kitten cause in undefeated campaign with two TD's and pair of conversion runs . . . One of 21 on 1965 team from Pennsylvania, Britton had fine schoolboy career in Philadelphia Suburban League . . . Averaged 5.4 yards on 127 trips and voted top linebacker in league . . . Also starred in baseball, hitting at .389 clip and winning MVP honor in American Legion League in '62 . . . An uncle won Little All-America football recognition . . . Don, a Presbyterian by faith, served as 1964-65 president of UK chapter Fellowship Christian Athletes.

JOE CARROLL Soph. Halfback 5-9 180 20 (3/16/45) Sharon Hill, Pa.

Checking in at a "small" 5-9 and 180 pounds, Joe lends weight to theory that good things come in small packages . . . Still must prove how good he is since saw no action as sophomore varsityman last season . . . Needs to pick up bit more size to go along with toughness and determination . . . Likely to see some duty in back-up capacity at offensive wingback this year . . . One of 21 on current squad from State of Pennsylvania, Joe is graduate of Monsignor Bonner High in Philadelphia suburbs where he operated as fullback, was team captain and won most valuable honor as team went undefeated . . . Teammate at Bonner was twin brother, Mike, who also was signed for the 1963 UK freshman squad but was severely injured in automobile accident that summer . . . Mike is now at UK on football scholarship but on inactive list while still recuperating . . . If he ever plays, the twosome would be the second set of twins in UK grid history . . . First were Harry and Larry Jones of Louisville, also small backfield men, who lettered in 1950-51-52.

MIKE CASSITY Soph. End 6-2 200 20 (1/15/45) Xenia, Ohio

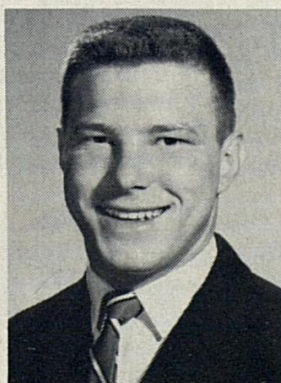

Impressive as Kentucky freshman two seasons back, but hobbled last year by knee injury that required surgical correction . . . Slow recuperation caused coaches to hold Cassity out of game competition and rough practice sessions as precaution . . . He was back in action this spring, fully ready to make a bid as defensive flankman . . . One of six Buckeyes on Kentucky varsity in 1965, Mike hails from Xenia, Ohio, where he was an all-around athletic standout . . . Achieved honors as second team All-Ohio choice and his team's most valuable player . . . Also picked up All-Miami Valley Conference recognition in basketball and was an outstanding first baseman in baseball . . . Cassity is second cousin to famed singing group, the McGuire Sisters.

TOM CHAPALA (Cha'-pal-ah) Senior Center 5-11 200 22 (3/24/43) Ambridge, Pa.

Undoubtedly one of most travelled gridders on varsity, Chapala came to Kentucky from Pennsylvania by way of Michigan and has also moved around on football field trying to find "at home" position . . . His gridiron choice seems to be center, where he settled last season after previous stops at guard and tackle . . . He's scheduled to operate as reserve offensive center this year . . . Will be looking for more extensive duty and first varsity letter . . . Only action so far has been 18 seconds in season opener of 1963 with Virginia Tech . . . Prepped at Ambridge (Pa.) High, where a teammate was current Wildcat fullback Frank Antonini . . . Chapala's last season (1960) was Antonini's soph schoolboy campaign . . . Tom started collegiate career at Michigan, where played freshman ball in 1961 . . . Transferred to UK in '62 and laid out required year . . . All-Conference fullback in high school . . . Eager and aggressive . . . Willing learner . . . Hampered some by minor injuries . . . Polish ancestry . . . One of 21 from Keystone State.

TERRY CLARK Senior Guard-Tackle 6-0 200 21 (9/20/43) Owensboro, Ky.

Earned first varsity letter last season when overcame neck injury that threatened to cut his collegiate grid career short just as it was starting in 1962 . . . After laying out of contact work for '62 season as precaution against further injury, Clark spent 1963 as student assistant coach on freshman staff . . . Corrective exercises strengthened neck to point he was able to return to action last season as key reserve and part-time guard starter . . . Opened Detroit and Vandy games at right guard . . . Ticketed this season as No. 2 man at defensive left tackle to take advantage of toughness and defensive ability . . . Good speed and quickness . . . Born in Owensboro and now calls it home, but played high school ball Canton (Ohio) Central Catholic, where teammate was Tom Becherer (current Wildcat halfback) . . . Only two years prep experience as end-tackle . . . All-City . . . Center as Kentucky freshman . . . Birthday comes two days after season opens . . . German nationality.

FRAN COLEMAN Soph. Guard 5-9 200 19 (6/3/46) Beach Haven, N. J.

Joins with current UK teammate Andy Bartholomew as first schoolboy grid representatives from Delaware High School to play at Kentucky . . . Attended Salesianum High in Wilmington, Del., and was instrumental in Sallies' sweep to third straight state title and ninth place national ranking in 1963 . . . Picked up personal recognition as second team All-State selection and was runner-up to Bartholomew for MVP honors in Delaware All-Star game in summer of '64 . . . Saw reserve action at guard as UK freshman and slated for duty on defensive platoon at left guard this season . . . Coaches cite Coleman's size and love of contact as indications he will develop . . . Born Philadelphia . . . One of two UKats now calling New Jersey home—other is center Bruce Bechtold of River Vale . . . Irish . . . Catholic.

KENNY COX Soph. Guard 6-1 215 19 (8/25/46) Corbin, Ky.

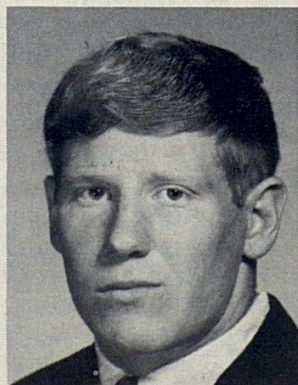

Hailing from same hometown and high school (Corbin) as current Kentucky teammate Rodger Bird, this sizeable young Kentuckian is blessed with good moves that should help him make successful debut in collegiate football . . . Two years behind Bird getting out of Corbin High where he was coached by ex-UK standout Ledger Howard . . . As tackle, Cox aided high school team in achieving 12-1-1 record and class AA runner-up honors in his junior year of 1962 . . . Switched to guard as UK freshman and due to see action this year as reserve on defensive platoon, probably stationed on right side . . . All-Conference and third team All-State as school-boy . . . No relation to former UK halfback Darrell Cox (1961-63) . . . Protestant . . . Hobby hunting . . . Plans to become coach.

KERRY CURLING Soph. Guard 5-10 195 19 (1/14/46) Princeton, Ky.

One of the bright young linemen of the 1965 Wildcat edition who figures to play very important role in Coach Bradshaw's plan for successful campaign . . . Curling is not as big in stature as some of his guard teammates (only five pounds heavier than smallest), but makes up for any shortage in sheer size by aggressiveness, speed and quickness that are equally essential to top performance by pulling guard . . . Expected to be one of only four sophomores slotted as openers on 22 man offensive and defensive platoons . . . Curling figures on tentative depth chart as No. 1 offensive left guard—only soph starter in offensive lineup . . . He was regular left guard for UK frosh in undefeated season last year . . . Played high school football as guard and linebacker for Caldwell County Tigers and helped spark team to state class AA title in 1963 on undefeated (13-0) record . . . Won personal recognition as first string All-State same year and mentioned on All-Southern and prep All-America . . . A brother (Hollis) played football at Tampa . . . Studying to enter engineering field following UK graduation . . . Dutch-Irish nationality . . . Favorite food bananas . . . Hobbies swimming and golf.

JIM (Red) DANIELS Soph. End 6-1 190 20 (4/7/45) Elizabethtown, Ky.

Like graduated Wildcat 1964 regular, Bill Jenkins, this young man came to his state university as a quarterback and was switched to end as collegiate freshman . . . Encountered some difficulty making adjustment to new assignment as UK Kitten last season but had good spring practice and should see some action as reserve left end on offensive platoon . . . Captain, All-Conference and second team All-State while starring as quarterback, halfback, fullback and defensive end for E'town Panthers . . . Also lettered in basketball, baseball and track . . . Born Paintsville, Ky., and lived on Okinawa for short time when father, career Army officer, stationed there . . . Baptist . . . Likes jazz music and history . . . Enrolled College of Education with plans to teach and coach.

DON DANKO Junior Fullback 5-11 208 20 (9/9/44) Pocohontas, Va.

Possessing great potential ability, sterling prep credentials, fine showings as collegian and good size, Danko is prime prospect to blossom into stardom this season . . . After earning reputation as offensive performer, Don is expected to see majority of action this season as defensive fullback linebacker—alternating with prospective regular Mike McGraw . . . He was second leading ball carrier and No. 2 scorer for undefeated freshmen two years ago with 266 yards (5.5 average) and 30 points during four-game season . . . As break-in varsity man last year, Danko ranked fifth in rushing yardage on record of 19 yards for nine trips . . . Still looking for first varsity TD . . . Rated as bone-crushing runner and linebacker at Bluefield (Va.) Graham High where achieved All-State honors as scored 68 points in senior year and posted total point production of 184 in three seasons . . . Selected on All-Area (southern W. Va. and southwest Virginia) three years running while accumulating 2,575 yards . . . Averaged 6.7 yards per carry and credited with 84 individual tackles in senior year . . . Started Baylor game last season . . . Ranked as No. 2 fullback and lettered . . . Only boy from Virginia.

DOUG DAVIS Senior Tackle 6-4 240 21 (7/2/44) Centerburg, Ohio

Winner of "Most Improved Player" award voted by UK coaches following 1965 spring practice for consistently fine showing at tackle job . . . Looms as key operative in Coach Bradshaw's plans for successful season and expected to take over starting assignment at offensive left tackle on regular basis . . . Earned number two RT spot in latter stages of sophomore season (1963) and saw considerable important relief work at position last season . . . Started in place of Sam Ball against Detroit and Baylor . . . On left side, he replaces Tony Manzonelli—now stationed at defensive right guard . . . Minor injuries slowed his development as sophomore in 1963 . . . Missed two games with ear infection . . . Had two starts in other eight with total action time 142:19 . . . Extensively recruited as prepster who had sensational career at Centerburg, small town north of Columbus, Ohio . . . Achieved schoolboy All-America recognition on Wigwam Wisemen selections and proved merit in high school All-America Game at Dallas before enrolling at Kentucky . . . Also attained All-Ohio honor . . . Punted on occasion in high school, but not as collegian . . . Also starred in basketball, baseball and track at Centerburg . . . Second only to Ball (one pound difference) in size on '65 varsity . . . One of six Wildcats from Ohio . . . Born Elkton, Md., and once lived Blackey, Va. . . Observes birthday on same date as teammate Rodger Bird . . . Davis just turned 21 while Bird advanced to 22.

JERRY DAVIS Junior Halfback 5-10 180 21 (5/28/44) Fairborn, Ohio

Victim of shoulder dislocation in early season last year as sophomore and sidelined virtually entire campaign . . . Only game action was brief stint in season opener with Detroit, but that cost him year of eligibility . . . He was coming along fast when injured, making up for lacklustre freshman year showing . . . As UK yearling, he was credited with only two yard gain on one carry, returned four punts 13 yards and intercepted one pass . . . No statistics as soph last year . . . Shoulder gave him no trouble this spring and should be ready for important action as defensive corner back . . . Son of Lieutenant Colonel in Air Force . . . Has lived in nine states and foreign countries where father stationed . . . Temporary homes were in Japan, Finland, Germany, Virginia, South Carolina, California, District of Columbia and Oklahoma in addition to Ohio . . . Born Oklahoma City . . . Started sports career at Fairborn, Ohio, in 1958 . . . Attended high school in Frankfurt, Germany, as soph . . . While in Helsinki, Finland, Jerry captured Finnish 70-meter dash (17 and under age group) . . . Also set numerous sprint records in Miami Valley League (Ohio) and was third in Ohio schoolboy 440 . . . One of six Buckeyes on team . . . No relation to teammate Doug Davis.

DENNIS DRINNEN Soph. Tackle 6-1 220 18 (9/6/46) Loveland, Ohio

Kentucky coaches feel this young Buckeye State product has shown promise of developing into outstanding collegiate tackle . . . Still needs little more learning and experience which should come this season . . . Scheduled to perform in reserve role at offensive right tackle as understudy to All-Conference candidate Sam Ball . . . One of six Ohioans on '65 UK varsity, Drinnen hails from Loveland—small town near Cincinnati . . . Hard-nosed tackling and linebacking helped Loveland Tigers nail down conference title in Class AA competition . . . Also earned three baseball letters . . . Born Cincinnati . . . Father (Raymond) served in Marines with Coach Bradshaw . . . Irish-Polish nationality . . . Methodist . . . Enrolled Education College.

TOM FEE Junior Halfback 5-9 175 20 (2/22/45) Uniontown, Pa.

A key figure in backfield plans for 1965 season . . . Fee is scheduled to perform as backup man at both defensive left half and safety . . . How he performs at safety, particularly, could be primary factor in decision to allow use of sterling sophomore Terry Beadles some on offense at quarterback . . . Fee earned letter last season as sophomore for defensive contributions . . . Described by Coach Bradshaw upon signing as "every inch and pound all football player of the highest quality" . . . Earned All-State and Big 33 mention at Uniontown Senior High in Pennsylvania . . . Club went undefeated and copped AA Conference crown his first season . . . Also regular on 1962 state championship cage outfit . . . Cited for excellent mental attitude and inner toughness that takes to be winner in SEC . . . Family nationally Italian . . . Father is teacher . . . One of 21 from Pennsylvania.

HOMER GOINS. (Goy'-ns) Soph. Halfback 5-11 185 21 (1/17/44) Evarts, Ky.

From every indication, Goins is finally ready for varsity duty and plans call for him to operate at No. 2 tailback position behind All-America candidate Rodger Bird . . . Made strong and promising showing this spring, especially in scrimmages . . . Road to regular collegiate duty has been long and obstacle-strewn one since he first entered Kentucky back in 1962 . . . Before he could see any action, Goins withdrew from football and from school to recuperate from back injury . . . Returned following year and turned in sensational showing as runner on freshman team, gaining 148 yards on 12 carries for creditable 12.8 average . . . Scored two touchdowns, caught passes, returned punts and kickoffs strongly . . . Best game came in Kittens' 70-0 rout of Tennessee Baby Vols when he racked up 129 yards on only five trips and contributed two TD's . . . His 70-yard run in game one of longest from scrimmage by freshman in years . . . Did not see action last year although available as reserve tailback.

PHIL GREER Soph. End 6-2 195 18 (11/22/46) Burdine, Ky.

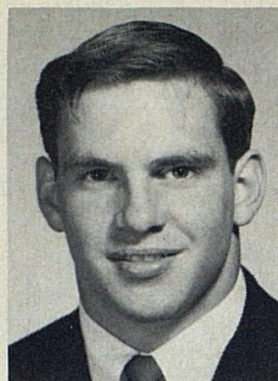

Youngest player on 1965 varsity, Greer does not turn 19 until two days after season closes . . . Switched from quarterback to end as freshman last year and made quick adjustment to rank as starter by end of season . . . Probably will see action at offensive right end in first varsity campaign . . . Caught one pass for 32 yards as freshman . . . Greer played quarterback and defensive halfback at Jenkins High and guided Cavaliers to Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference championship in 1963 . . . Once tossed five touchdown passes in single game . . . All-State and honorable mention All-America . . . Netted 640 yards and 54 points passing final year . . . Added four letters each basketball and track . . . Baptist . . . Father is coal miner . . . Likes country music.

GRESHAM

HART

ISHMAEL

JIM GRESHAM Soph. Guard-Tackle 6-0 220 19 (5/24/46) Jeffersonville, Ind.

One of the most outstanding linemen in camp this spring, Gresham learned his varsity lessons fast and well . . . Slotted as prospective No. 1 man at defensive left tackle in pre-season thinking by coaches . . . Jim is big, stocky youngster who has necessary strength, speed and size to fit in anywhere he's stationed . . . Runs 40 yards in 4.9 seconds with full gear on . . . Coach Bradshaw declares that "Gresham has impressed us as very capable with potential to improve greatly." . . . Last year as UK yearling, Gresham saw action as reserve fullback and guard . . . Carried seven times for 12 yards, no touchdowns . . . Pointing up his status as a fast-arriving "sleeper" is fact he made only third team All-State while attending Jeffersonville (Ind.) High . . . End, fullback and defensive tackle in high school . . . Captain and MVP of Red Devils . . . Set school record when ran 93 yards from scrimmage for touchdown . . . Only Hoosier on varsity . . . When entered UK in '64, had ambition to eventually teach and do post graduate research work in mathematics . . . Enrolled College of Education . . . Born New Albany, Ind. . . Father is crane operator . . . Methodist.

RODGER HART Soph. Guard 5-9 180 20 (11/27/44) Albertville, Ala.

Alternating between guard and center, Hart has shown potential but not quite enough to gain him regular duty spot . . . Made fine showing as freshman guard in 1963, ranking number two on left side . . . Shifted over to center at start of spring work last year, then moved back to guard before season got underway . . . Failed to see action as sophomore in '64 so retains three years of eligibility . . . Showed much promise this spring and scheduled to perform as No. 2 left guard offensively . . . Joins teammate Tommy Anderson as only representatives from State of Alabama . . . Comes from Albertville, northeast of Birmingham . . . All-State as high schooler . . . Studying Agriculture College . . . Turns 21 week after season closes.

EDDIE INGRAM Soph. Guard 5-10 190 19 (6/18/46) Dyersburg, Tenn.

Volunteer-land provides only two members of 1965 varsity-Ingram and end George McClellan of Bristol . . . This one gives hint of being "the big one that got away" . . . Small in stature at 5-10, 190, but shows loads of determination and blessed with fine speed for guard . . . Aggressive for guard . . . Due to see reserve action at offensive left guard, according to pre-season planning . . . Highest of Kittens academically last year with strong "B" average . . . Studying Engineering . . . Played center and defensive guard at Dyersburg High . . . Excelled also in track, being voted outstanding track athlete in school . . . President of Kitten Lodge (freshman house) last year.

DAVID ISHMAEL (Ish'-mul) Soph. End 6-1 180 20 (2/28/45) Mt. Sterling, Ky.

Switched from quarterbacking job to end at start of his sophomore season last fall, Ishmael just did not come along fast or well enough to see action at unfamiliar position . . . Dutch, as he's known to teammates, should come along faster this year and see some duty at defensive left end . . . He's the fearless type not bothered by pressure or tough going . . . Handicapped in development by only limited freshman season action . . . At Mt. Sterling High, where he played under Coach Phil Owen

(now UK assistant), Ishmael was standout defensive halfback as well as offensive quarterback . . . Good open field tackler . . . Captain and MVP of high school team first two years . . . Brother, Charles (Chili) Ishmael, was outstanding UK cager before graduating after 1963-64 season.

GEORGE KATZENBACH Soph. Tackle-Guard 6-1 225 19 (2/10/46) Philadelphia, Pa.

Classed as one of the top rookie linemen in Dixie football circles after tremendous showing as UK freshman and varsity candidate this spring . . . Without meaning to downgrade or criticize, coaches say Katzenbach proved himself one of most disrespectful (to varsitymen) freshmen seen on UK practice field in years . . . Showed no awe or humility in dealing with varsity runners that came his way . . . Operated as Kitten's regular right tackle last year and expected to work in '65 as top defensive left guard and see some tackle action as well . . . Won Jaycees Freshman Leadership Award in 1964 . . . Reputed as one of truly great schoolboy linemen in Pennsylvania at time of his recruitment . . . Played guard and tackle at Philadelphia Roxborough . . . Team ended up undefeated (11-0-1) in George's first season and put together win string 18 games at one time . . . Considered one of prize catches of 1964 national recruiting campaign . . . Sought by many schools as "blue chipper" . . . Best lineman in Philadelphia area in 10 years, experts agreed . . . All-State and Big 33 . . . Winner of several special honors, including Notre Dame award given annually to outstanding schoolboy gridder in Philadelphia and Delaware Valley Football Association MVP and sportsmanship trophies . . . President of senior class and sang in acapella choir . . . One of 21 from Keystone State . . . Methodist by faith and vice-president UK chapter Fellowship Christian Athletes . . . Served as Sgt.-at-Arms of freshman house.

RICK KESTNER Senior End 6-1 200 20 (11/6/44) Stone, Ky.

(SEE SPECIAL STORY ON RICK KESTNER ELSEWHERE IN THIS BOOK)

HOWARD KEYES Senior Guard 5-10 200 21 (8/18/44) Altoona, Pa.

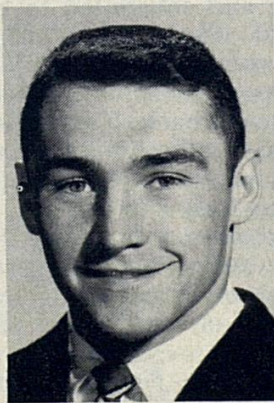

Picked up his first varsity letter for contributions as reserve left guard last season and figures big in success plans for 1965 . . . Likely to operate as No. 2 man at right guard on defense . . . Started '64 Baylor game—first such action of career . . . Participated only briefly in Kentucky's games as sophomore in '63 . . . One of 21 varsity hands from Pennsylvania, Keyes was first team All-State choice and honorable mention All-America during star-studded career at Altoona High . . . Capped brilliant prep showing with fine performance in Keystone State's famed Big 33 Game as representative of Altoona and Most Valuable Player of Blair County . . . Honor student as schoolboy . . . Served as special juvenile probation officer in 1963 along with three other Wildcats.

JIM KOMARA (Ko-mare'-ah) Senior End 6-0 195 23 (8/26/42) Conneautville, Pa.

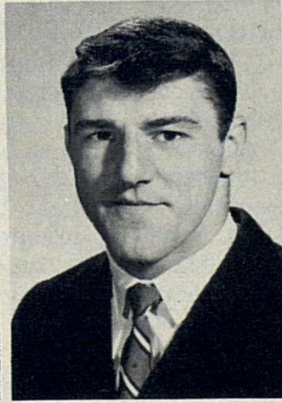

Senior citizen of '65 Kentucky squad at 23, Komara also was hard-luck guy year ago . . . As one of four seniors on 1964 team, he figured prominently in plans at flank position, but suffered knee injury week before season opened . . . Joint mended sufficiently without surgery and Jim was being groomed as defensive replacement for star pass-catching end Rick Kestner when injury "bug" struck again just before LSU game . . . This time shoulder separation sidelined him for season . . . Operation and strengthening exercises have made Jim healthy again and he's slated as starter at defensive right end . . . Injuries and minor illness have dogged Komara throughout Wildcat career . . . As freshman in '61, had fine debut and then sidelined by illness . . . Shaken up in spring preceding soph year and laid out of rough work for while . . . Shifted from halfback to end as sophomore and gained mention on All-SEC Sophomore Team . . . Rose to No. 2 left end spot as junior in '63 . . . Had three starts . . . Three pass catches for 27 yards as soph, none as Junior . . . End and fullback at Conneaut Valley High in Pennsylvania, where attained All-State and All-America recognition . . . One of 21 from Keystone State.

HAROLD LAMBERT Soph. Halfback 6-0 195 19 (4/11/46) Baton Rouge, La.

Hailing from backyard of LSU in Baton Rouge, La., Lambert could make Tigers envious with his performance this season . . . He's scheduled to be team's No. 2 defensive right halfback and spring indications were that he will be good one . . . Very alert, moves up fast to corner ball carriers or receivers and exceptionally hard tackler . . . As UK freshman in 1964, Lambert was second in total offense (219 yards on 37 plays), third in rushing (18-73-4.0) and second to Terry Beadles in passing with seven completions on 19 tries for net of 146 yards, one TD and no interceptions in four games . . . Performed as alternate quarterback . . . Lambert, who uses his middle name of Harold instead of first name of John, graduated from Redemptorist High in Baton Rouge where set conference record as 1962 junior by intercepting 15 enemy tosses . . . As senior, he led team to second straight league title on undefeated (10-0-1) slate . . . All-State quarterback—defensive safety and MVP of Southeast Louisiana Conference . . . In senior year, recorded 470 yards and six TD's on 31 completions, personally accounted for 55 points . . . French and German nationality . . . Catholic . . . Only Louisianian product at UK.

DWIGHT LITTLE Soph. Tackle 6-3 215 19 (8/7/46) Marion, Ky.

Branded by UK coaches as "a real comer" among young linemen . . . Showed lot of promise with performance this spring and scheduled to be understudy for All-Conference tackle candidate Sam Ball (RT offense) . . . Chief claim to fame to date was selection as "Outstanding Lineman" of 1964 East-West High School All-Star classic . . . Won honor with aggressive tackling and all-around hustle . . . At UK, joins game's "Outstanding Back"—quarterback Terry Beadles . . . Operating from tackle, end and fullback positions, helped Crittenden County High Rockets in posting 9-3 marfk and winning second regional championship in 1963 . . . Also annexed 10 schoolboy letters in basketball, baseball and track . . . Performed well as reserve tackle during UK frosh undefeated season last year . . . Coach Bradshaw compliments Little by pointing out "he repeatedly gives 100 percent effort that should make him a fine collegiate player." . . . Father, Ercel Little (now principal at Crittenden County High), played basketball at UK on early teams of Coach Adolph Rupp.

RICH MACHEL Junior End 6-1 205 20 (6/7/45) Pittsburgh, Pa.

Back at end after stop-gap duty last season at guard . . . Illustrating tremendous athletic ability, Rich adapted to shift (made only couple weeks before season opener) quickly and became right guard starter in eight games during 1964 . . . His great emergency contribution earned high and consistent praise from Coach Bradshaw as well as 110 Percenter Award given by Kiwanis Clubs in recognition of effort beyond call of duty . . . Machel was first soph ever to gain coveted honor . . . Considered one of prize rookies of squad last year and even finer things expected of him this season . . . Expected to be stationed as team's regular defensive end on left side . . . As Kentucky yearling in '63, Machel gained role left end starter by season's end and had four catches for 42 yards . . . Showed greater promise than sheer statistical contribution . . . At South Hills Catholic High in Pittsburgh (same school attended by teammate Tony Manzonelli) Rich was four-year letterman and set school records for kicking extra points and blocking punts . . . All-Catholic, All-State, and team's Most Valuable Player . . . South Hills annexed western Pennsylvania Catholic championship in Machel's senior year . . . Born Providence, R. I., and lived once in Boston . . . One of 21 on team from Pennsylvania . . . Enrolled College of Education . . . Likes psychology . . . Has ambition to become Marine Corps pilot . . . Officer of freshman football house in '63.

TONY MANZONELLI Senior Guard-Tackle 6-0 228 20 (12/31/44) Pittsburgh, Pa.

Due to operate this season as Wildcat's regular right guard on defensive platoon after junior year sojourn at tackle . . . Moved over to left tackle duty to fill emergency gap just before 1964 season opened . . . Hometown teammate Rich Machel took over Tony's vacated right guard spot in realignment . . . Indications gained from spring practice performance lend belief Manzonelli will have excellent final season . . . Coach Bradshaw definitely counting on young husky's help to bolster vital interior line area . . . Made lot of progress this spring and was one of outstanding linemen in Blue-White Game . . . Manzonelli, impressive during varsity break-in campaign of 1963, was slow in arriving but proved himself a year ago with nine starts at left tackle . . . Saw brief action only four contests as sophomore and failed to letter . . . Boasts good size and potential ability to become SEC calibre guard . . . Good speed, fine agility . . . Powered by 18¾-inch calves . . . At South Hills, all-male high school in Pittsburgh, Manzonelli was outstanding tackle widely recruited by major colleges and universities . . . Shifted to guard as Kentucky yearling . . . In high school, Tony also won 43 of 44 wrestling matches in unlimited classification . . . Served as president of school's senior class . . . Italian descent . . . One of 21 from Pennsylvania . . . Born on New Year's Eve 20 years ago.

DUANE McALISTER Soph. Guard 5-11 200 19 (3/3/46) Fulton, Ky.

Rated as hard-nose, rough and tough type who could definitely help team when picks of enough finesse . . . McAlister, who uses his middle name of Duane instead of first of Byran, is slotted as reserve left guard on defensive platoon for varsity break-in campaign . . . As UK freshman last year, he operated as reserve guard who showed promise of developing with experience . . . While playing as tackle and fullback for Fulton High, Duane helped Bulldogs achieve 9-1 mark in both his junior and senior seasons and won personal honor as first team All-State . . . A teammate at Fulton was current UK soph quarterback-safetyman Terry Beadles . . . McAlister averaged 6.9 yards per try rushing and scored 56 points in senior campaign . . . Also earned three letters in baseball as catcher and similar number as forward in basketball.

GEORGE McCLELLAN Soph. End 5-10 180 22 (4/13/43) Bristol, Tenn.

Coaches feel this Volunteer State product has potential to eventually make contribution and are counting on him to progress to ready stage in 1965 . . . Plans call for McClellan to play as reserve at defensive left end . . . Came along somewhat slowly as UK freshman in 1963 and failed to see action during first varsity campaign of 1964 . . . One of two Tennesseans on varsity roster—guard Eddie Ingram of Dyersburg is other . . . Coached at Tennessee High in Tennessee-Virginia border city of Bristol by ex-Kentucky back Clayton Powers . . . All-City three years . . . Also All-Conference, All-East-Tennessee and honorable mention All-State as line-backer-end.

MIKE McGRAW Junior FB-Linebacker 5-11 205 20 (9/23/44) Ft. Thomas, Ky.

One of the top ground gainers in Southeastern Conference as sophomore last season, Mike is due to shift from regular offensive fullback duties to fullback linebacker role on defense this season . . . He was ranked tenth among SEC ball carriers in

'64 with 370 yards netted on 104 trips—a 3.6 average . . . Achieved recognition on All-SEC Soph team . . . Best performance, statistically, came in Baylor game as produced 22 yards on 13 carries . . . Still looking for first varsity TD . . . Switched to defensive platoon this spring and turned in terrific job . . . Voted outstanding lineman of spring game . . . Due to be defensive captain . . . Intelligent and versatile . . . May have to go both ways (LB and offensive FB) if experiment with Frank Antonini at fullback does not pan out completely . . . His work at fullback last year one of most pleasing results of personnel shifts . . . Position was problem spot with shortage of experienced hands . . . Mike was fullback from high school days through 1962 freshman season at UK but switched to halfback during holdout year of 1963 . . . Called "best looking fullback seen at Kentucky in 10 years" . . . Has developed well as linebacker and gained strength and size since '64 . . . Prepped at Ft. Thomas Highlands High in northern Kentucky, where was tutored by current UK offensive coach Homer Rice . . . Achieved second team All-State and mention on high school All-America squad as FB-HB . . . Highlands copped state Class AA title in McGraw's senior year (1961) . . . Personally scored 138 points as schoolboy and had five TD's in one game . . . As UK yearling fullback, he ranked behind only Rodger Bird in ground gaining with 82 yards on 18 trips for 4.6 average . . . Nicknamed "Quick Draw" . . . Born in Lexington; lived in Ann Arbor, Mich.; Miami; Detroit, Atlanta; and two other Kentucky towns before settling in Ft. Thomas . . . Father, James W. McGraw, played football at UK as freshman in '39 and "B" teamer in '40 . . . Mother, Dorothy, once UK cheerleader . . . Turns 21 two days prior to Ole Miss game.

JIM MILES Senior Center 6-0 205 21 (5/21/44) Finley, Ky.

Regular center for Wildcats in 1964, Miles opened all games except first and last of season . . . Picked up first varsity letter after plagued by injuries as sophomore in 1963 . . . Expected to operate this year as No. 1 center linebacker on defensive platoon while Cal Withrow takes over offensive duties . . . Looked good in spring practice at defensive work . . . Blessed with good speed and quick reactions . . . Size and strength above average . . . Covers passes well . . . Hampered at start of soph season by ankle sprained during indoor workout and later by rib cartilage injury . . . Still saw extensive action and had three starts as center linebacker Stationed at guard as Kentucky yearling and excelled as blocker . . . Characterized as type who looks you up to hit you . . . Graduate of St. Joseph Prep in Bardstown, Ky.—same school that produced UK Assistant Coach George Boone—where played tackle and was accorded honorable mention All-State . . . Coached by former UK center Dick Blocker ('58) . . . Born Lebanon, Ky. . . . Married.

BASIL MULLINS Junior Tackle 6-4 210 21 (5/25/44) Paintsville, Ky.

Lettered as sophomore standout two years ago (1963) . . . Held out of competition last season as precaution after suffering inner ear injury in spring practice . . . Spent fall campaign as student manager while recovering fully and reported for active duty again this spring . . . No complications evidenced themselves as Mullins turned in good showing . . . Expected to rank No. 2 at offensive left tackle and much dependence being placed on his experience and size . . . As sophomore, Mullins ranked number three in left tackle picture and notched 68:27 action time in seven games . . . High duty came in season finale with Tennessee on 25:23 . . . At Paintsville High, Basil was captain and most valuable player of both football and basketball teams . . . Saw schoolboy action at three positions—end, tackle and center . . . Honorable mention All-State . . . Studying College of Agriculture.

GERARD (Jerry) MURPHY Senior Guard-Tackle 5-11 205 20 (12/10/44) Latrobe, Pa.

With exceptionally fine mobility to go along with size and toughness, it's little doubt that Jerry is being tapped this season to move over to defensive tackle . . . Notched second varsity letter in 1964 by contributions as left guard alternate . . . Started four times during season . . . Plans call for his use this season in defensive capacity at No. 2 right tackle but his know-how may force his retention at guard station since offensive situation there is critical problem . . . Earned first varsity letter as sophomore two years ago on strength strong reserve contributions at guard . . . Played total time of 276:51 in all 10 games with high performance coming against Ole Miss as he logged nearly 51 minutes of action . . . Steady player who rarely spectacular and seems equally effective on defense or offense . . . Hails from same hometown as golfer Arnold Palmer . . . As schoolboy at Latrobe High, Gerard (unusual first name spelling is correct) was All-Western Pennsylvania (WPIAL) tackle and second unit All-State pick . . . Considered one of best collegiate line prospects produced in football hotbed outside Pittsburgh . . . Also undefeated heavyweight wrestler . . . Switched to guard as UK yearling and became starter . . . Enrolled in College of Commerce.

WESLEY NAILS Soph. Guard-Tackle 6-2 205 19 (2/9/46) Loyall, Ky.

Slow starting as freshman tackle but came along fast in late stages of season last year to gain notice of coaches . . . Called one of most improved Kittens . . . Considered to have good size and shows promise of developing into top-flight collegiate prospect . . . Played high school ball at Loyall High as tackle . . . Won recognition as All-Cumberland Valley Conference both as junior and senior (1962 and '63) . . . Loyall Indians operated from single wing while Nails played for them . . . In addition to standout grid play, Wesley picked up four schoolboy letters in basketball . . . His father is Baptist minister and parole officer . . . Nails, appropriately nicknamed "Spike," is enrolled in College of Education . . . Plans coaching career.

RICK NORTON Senior Quarterback 6-1 195 21 (11/16/43) Louisville, Ky.

(SEE SPECIAL STORY ON RICK NORTON ELSEWHERE IN BROCHURE)

FRED PETERS Soph. Guard 6-4 210 20 (3/11/45) Miami, Fla.

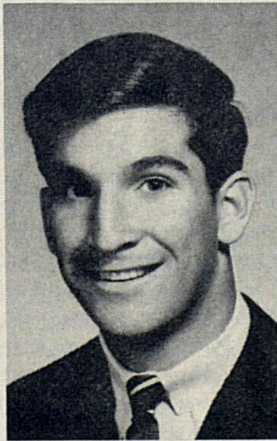

Graduate of Miami (Fla.) Edison High, the school that produced Darrell Cox ('63 halfback graduate) . . . Played both guard and tackle in high school but concentrated on guard play as Kentucky yearling last season . . . Likely to operate as offensive right guard reserve in 1965 break-in varsity campaign . . . Possesses good frame to build on—he's biggest of guards at 6-4 and 210 . . . Should blossom into dependable performer with experience this season . . . Born San Francisco and lived three other states before settling in Miami . . . Father is engineer for Southern Bell

AL PHANEUF (Fan-f') Soph. Wingback 6-0 190 21 (2/4/44) Montreal, Quebec

First Canadian ever to attend Kentucky on athletic scholarship . . . Only previous foreign athlete to participate in football was Hawaiian-born Henry George, who came out for team in '53 but never played varsity ball . . . Phaneuf, born in Almonte, Ontario, played high school ball at Montreal Rosemont . . . Offensive end and defensive halfback as schoolboy . . . Operated as right end for Kentucky freshmen last season and became Kittens' leading pass receiver with eight catches for 144 yards and TD in four-game undefeated season . . . Expected to be used as flanker back (wingback) as sophomore this year to take full advantage of his pass-snatching ability . . . Showed up well at new position during spring practice and Blue-White Game . . . Possesses good speed, runs patterns intelligently and hangs onto ball once within his grasp . . . He was classed as fastest man on freshman team in '64 . . . Improved as blocker . . . Proficient as hockey player in high school . . . Protestant . . . Enrolled College of Arts and Sciences.

RONNIE ROBERTS Soph. Center 6-3 215 19 (12/26/45) Louisville, Ky.

Called one of the best line prospects to come up from undefeated UK frosh outfit of 1964, Roberts will fill key role of understudy at center this season and can be expected to see considerable game action . . . His coaches feel Roberts is fine blocker and tough linebacker . . . Big (6-3 and 215 pounds) and quick reacting . . . Likely to play No. 2 man at offensive center, backing up Calvin Withrow . . . Switched to center at UK after seeing schoolboy action at guard, tackle, end and linebacker . . . High school play came at Class AAA Louisville (Ky.) Manual High . . . Achieved recognition only as high as third team All-State but has shown talent and potential far superior to that rating . . . Coached at Manual by ex-UK tackle Tom Harper (1952-53) . . . One of three Louisvillians on '65 varsity—joined by Rick Norton (Flaget) and Jim Swart (Seneca) . . . Baptist . . . Born Beaver Dam, Ky. . . Enrolled College of Education.

JOHN SCHORNICK (Shore'-nick) Sr. Guard-Tackle 6-0 200 21 (8/6/44) Ebensburg, Pa.

Although Schornick has not played sufficient amount of time in first two varsity campaigns to warrant letter, coaches have not given up hope that John will find himself . . . Saw action as No. 3 right tackle last year and he's counted on as prospective starter at offensive right guard this season . . . Stationed at guard two years back in effort to bolster weak position but saw only limited duty in five games after looking good enough in '63 pre-season practice to rate starting nod at right guard in opener against Virginia Tech . . . Considered capable of making important contribution with necessary hustle and correct mental attitude . . . All-Central Pennsylvania tackle during outstanding prep career at Central Cambria High in Ebensburg . . . Also top-notch schoolboy catcher and long ball hitter (16 home runs in two seasons) . . . Father is medical doctor . . . One of 21 on varsity from Pennsylvania . . . Served as vice-president of varsity football house in 1964-65.

LARRY SEIPLE (Sy'-pull) Junior Wingback 5-11 195 20 (2/14/45) Allentown, Pa.

Showing as standout sophomore last season pinpointed this lean redhead as one of nation's top punters and possibly best at Kentucky since record-busting Ralph Kercheval (1931-33) . . . Seiple finished with sixth best punting average in country last season at 42.1 . . . Twice during campaign, he ranked second nationally with 43.0 averages . . . Although his main forte was consistency rather than power, Seiple posted pair of 63-yard boots in 1964 versus Florida State and Vanderbilt . . . Punting figures showed 1,475 yards on 35 kicks . . . Did not take over punting chores until fourth game (Rodger Bird handled earlier) . . . Best showing 48.8 average on five boots in Georgia game . . . Ranked third in SEC . . . Chief contribution as kicker but also fine pass receiver as reserve halfback in '64 . . . Second to Rick Kestner in this department with 17 catches for 288 yards . . . Only 13 yards gained rushing . . . Still looking for first varsity TD . . . Classed also as good blocker by Coach Bradshaw . . . Looked good this spring as prospective starting wingback (offensive right half) . . . One of 21 from Pennsylvania, Seiple has credentials of outstanding schoolboy play in Philadelphia area . . . Scored 22 touchdowns in three years (14 as senior) at Allentown High . . . Gained close to 900 yards on 129 carries for 7-yard average . . . Honorable mention All-State twice . . . Blessed with good speed, quickness and deception . . . Regular right half as UK freshman in 1963 . . . Posted 7.9 rushing average (32-254), had eight catches for 101 yards and averaged 38.8 on 15 punts.

GILES SMITH Senior Manager 6-1 200 22 (4/25/43) Lexington, Ky.

One of gamest guys ever to don blue and white of Kentucky Wildcats, Giles would be pursuing his final football year this season as prime end prospect if doctors would permit it . . . Instead, he will serve as head student manager for second straight year . . . Smith, standout flankman at Lexington Lafayette in high school days, was being groomed in 1962 as understudy to All-America end candidate Tom Hutchinson when he suffered severe head injury . . . After two brain operations and long period in coma, Giles suddenly recovered and returned to his first love—football—as non-player last season.

JOE DAVID (J. D.) SMITH Junior End 6-1 205 20 (12/20/44) Mayfield, Ky.

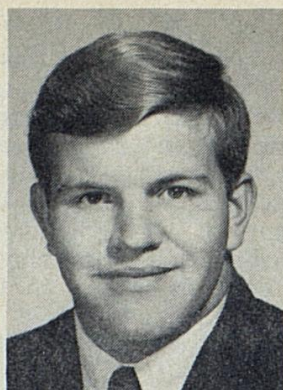

With advent of two-platoon football once again and need for sure-fingered and smart receivers, J. D. was moved this spring from reserve quarterback post to station at end . . . Pre-season plans call for him to be No. 2 tight end (right side offense) . . . Made good adjustment to new duties this spring and was leading receiver for out-manned Whites in spring game . . . Shift from QB to E reminiscent of experiment that paid off last in case of '64 graduate Bill Jenkins . . . Should see much more important action than would at talent-rich quarterback post . . . Saw limited game duty as No. 3 signal caller in '64 and had no passing statistics . . . But it was different story as freshman when he was passing leader on 20 completions in 38 tries for 306 yards and pair of TD's—both coming against Tennessee Baby Vols . . . Had perfect day in guiding Kittens to 70-0 rout of UT frosh, connecting on eight of eight for 140 yards . . . Sterling performance in spring of soph year won him Outstanding Back trophy given by Lexington Quarterback Club . . . As outstanding schoolboy, guided Mayfield to western Kentucky Class AA championship in 1961 and 1962 . . . Chosen on second unit All-State picks . . . Two years on All-Conference, team captain and most valuable player . . . Won 12 letters in high school athletics—four each in football, basketball and baseball . . . Enrolled in College of Agriculture . . . Has ambitions to pursue career in veterinary medicine . . . Served as secretary-treasurer of varsity football house in 1964-65.

POWELL SMITH Soph. Center 6-0 200 20 (12/20/44) Ft. Thomas, Ky.

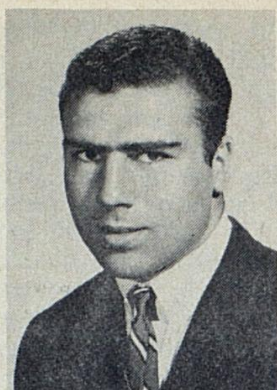

Promising rookie joined forces with Kentucky last year following outstanding schoolboy career at Ft. Thomas Highlands High and Greenbrier Military Academy at Lewisburg, W. Va. . . . Looked good as reserve freshman center a year ago and counted on for important contribution in same capacity this season . . . Hard-nose type who could develop into dependable offensive center . . . Started football career at Highlands, where coach first three years was current UK offensive tutor Homer Rice . . . Bluebirds captured state AA title in 1961 (Powell's junior year) and were ranked No. 1 in Kentucky high school circles . . . Honorable mention All-America as fullback and linebacker, standout in baseball and track . . . Team captain at Greenbrier in '63 and recognized as one of top grid players in school history . . . UK teammate Mike McGraw played on same Highlands team, one year ahead of Smith . . . Originally planned medical career . . . Now in College of Education with plans to teach and coach.

DAN SPANISH Junior End 5-10 185 20 (8/17/45) New Castle, Pa.

Annexed first varsity letter as sophomore reserve end last season and expected to display improved form in same role this year . . . Plans call for Dan to perform chiefly as back-up man for Rick Kestner at offensive left end . . . Opponent defenses can expect no relief while Spanish is in game as he's strong pass receiver in own right—caught seven aerials for 115 yards gain and one touchdown in opening varsity season . . . Score came on long gainer of 24 yards versus West Virginia . . . Started Baylor game at LE . . . Looked good this spring and caught three for 49 in Blue-White Game . . . Ranked No. 3 as pass receiver freshman campaign two years ago on four for 62 yards . . . Joined UK with excellent reputation from outstanding schoolboy play at New Castle (Pa.) High . . . Won All-America and All-State acclaim . . . Played in state's famed Big 33 Game along with UK teammates Frank Antonini and Tom Fee . . . One of 21 from Pennsylvania on '65 varsity . . . Italian and Croatian extraction.

ED STANKO Senior Guard-Tackle 6-1 210 21 (5/18/44) McKeesport, Pa.

Completely mended from injury that sidelined him in later stages of 1964 season, Stanko looms as one of Wildcats' key linemen this year . . . Will shift over to defensive right tackle after playing left guard year ago . . . He was early season starter and made important contributions before sustaining severe ankle injury in practice week of West Virginia game and sitting out final four contests . . . Help rewarded with first varsity letter . . . Tackle will be third collegiate position played . . . As sophomore in '63, Ed saw limited action in six games as reserve left end . . . Had no pass-catching statistics . . . Shifted to guard in spring preceding junior year . . . Schoolboy and UK freshman play were as an end . . . Blessed with rangy size, alertness and good moves that make him success no matter where stationed . . . Brilliant schoolboy career at McKeesport High capped by selection on All-America unit of Wigwam Wiseman and play in All-America Game at Dallas in spring of 1962 . . . Equally renowned as baseball pitcher in high school . . . From same hometown as soph center Mike Beirne . . . Polish and Hungarian in descent . . . Likes classical music.

ED STRZALKOWSKI (Strah-cow'-ski) Soph. C-LB 5-11 195 18 (11/15/46) Dearborn, Mich.

Second youngest of 1965 Wildcats (one week older than Phil Greer), this young man with difficult moniker lacks only added strength and experience in bid to become standout collegiate gridder . . . Already has put on about 10 pounds and experience could come this year as reserve center linebacker . . . Key to pronouncing Ed's family name is forgetting two middle letters (L and Z) . . . Best attribute is tackling and loves defense . . . He was guard, end and linebacker for Salesian High Knights in Detroit suburb of Dearborn . . . Switched to center as UK yearling last season and saw reserve duty . . . All-State honorable mention . . . Born Detroit . . . Only representative of Wolverine State . . . Polish extraction . . . Catholic . . . Enrolled Commerce College.

JIM SWART Junior End 6-2 215 20 (6/1/45) Louisville, Ky.

Taking advantage of size and defensive ability, UK coaches this spring moved Swart from his 1964 backfield assignment to new duties as defensive end . . . Spring practice at job lends much hope that experiment will pay dividends . . . Swart, who last year was biggest man in backfield, now will be Wildcats' most sizeable end . . . Due to operate as No. 2 right defensive flankman behind Jim Komara . . . Did not figure in any offensive statistics as sophomore last year . . . Lettered as reserve fullback . . . Came along slowly as yearling in '63 . . . Carried just three times for eight yards . . . Outstanding as schoolboy fullback and linebacker at Louisville Seneca High, setting school record for points tallied in single season as helped Redskins cop state AAA title in '62 . . . Honored on All-State team . . . Coached at Seneca by former UK end Ronnie Cain . . . Blessed with good speed and desire to make good as SEC-calibre performer.

TALBOTT TODD Senior Halfback 6-1 193 21 (7/8/44) Richmond, Ky.

After two varsity campaigns as Wildcats' No. 2 quarterback, Todd this year will be assigned to right half on defensive platoon in effort to bolster secondary defense . . . Since Talbott has seen majority of game action as defensive specialist, move represents no major change and should pay off handsomely . . . Turned in very creditable performance at new post during spring practice . . . Limited offensive action saw him connect on eight of 23 pass attempts for gain of 42 yards last season . . . As soph in '63, credited with four out of seven for 52 yards . . . Operating as left half on defense as substitute quarterback, Todd started three times in 1963 season and stood fourth in SEC on four interceptions . . . Missed considerable spring work between soph and junior years due to fractured jaw . . . Todd was "Mr. Everything" for strong Madison High team undefeated 13 straight games . . . Passed for 11 TD's, personally scored 114 points, posted 6.8 rushing average and punted for 40.1 average in final season . . . Contributed 16 TD passes as junior, eight as soph . . . As UK freshman in '62, All-Stater recorded 12 strikes in 16 attempts for 205 yards and one TD to stand second to Norton . . . Follows in footsteps of ex-Madison star Jerry Woolum, one of South's finest passers prior to graduation from UK after 1962 season . . . Doc Ferrell, one-time Wildcat tackle, is Todd's uncle . . . Studying in Commerce College.

RICH TUCCI (Too'-see) Senior Guard 6-1 222 20 (11/21/44) Youngwood, Pa.

Fellow Pennsylvanians seem to be Tucci's biggest competition . . . Lost his regular left tackle job last year to Tony Manzonelli of Pittsburgh and this year Grapeville's John Andrighetti appears likely to take over place kicking chores Tucci handled capably last year . . . But Rich is all set to take over new job himself—offensive right guard—and his performance at problem spot could give squad big boost . . . He was team's reserve left tackle in '64 and No. 3 scorer with 14 successful PAT kicks in 18 tries . . . Had one out of three record as soph . . . Kicks high trajectory and could still be used on field goal tries and kickoffs . . . Had good spring practice and Blue-White Game . . . No sign of knee trouble that bothered some last season . . . Opened eight times at LT in '63 to win first of two varsity letters he owns . . . Trimmed down few pounds from 1964 weight but still heaviest of guard corps at 222 . . . Has good native ability and quickness to go along with size . . . Successful on seven of eight PAT tries as freshman tackle . . . In final campaign at Hempfield Area High in Pennsylvania (where teammate was Andrighetti), connected on 19 out of 21 tries . . . Kicked two field goals as UK yearling, had no tries as soph and scoreless on five attempts last year . . . Wound up with minus 11 yards rushing average when picked up bad center pass on one attempt in Detroit game . . . One of 21 from Pennsylvania . . . Former neighbor in Youngwood was George Blanda, ex-Wildcat QB and later pro star . . . Tucci turns 21 day after Tennessee game.

DOUG VAN METER Soph. End 6-0 200 19 (12/25/45) Owensboro, Ky.

A Christmas gift to his parents nearly 20 years ago, Doug has looked like gift to football ever since started career at Owensboro Catholic High . . . Due to operate as Kentucky's No. 2 defensive left end this season after impressive freshman season and good spring work . . . Counted on for much help . . . Missed Blue-White Game due to minor injury but will be ready . . . In yearling campaign as full-time end, Van Meter caught two passes for 87 yards and TD . . . One was 67-yarder from QB Terry Beadles in Vandy Frosh encounter . . . Played QB and end in high school, winning MVP honor and All Big Eight . . . Picked up five letters in basketball, baseball and track in addition to three in football . . . Lived in Texas and Florida before settling in western Kentucky . . . Teammate Terry Clark from same town but played as schoolboy in Canton, Ohio.

JEFF VAN NOTE Soph. Fullback 6-1 210 19 (2/7/46) Anchorage, Ky.

Top freshman ground gainer last year with 5.9 average, Van Note looks like real comer who could help bolster offensive fullback situation this season . . . Slated No. 3 in picture in pre-season reckoning but could move into contention with maturity . . . Described by Coach Bradshaw as "whale of a prospect . . . catches your eye and has size to be good one." . . . Biggest of fullbacks at 6-1, 210 . . . Racked up 329 yards on 55 trips in Kitten's four-game undefeated campaign . . . Second to QB Terry Beadles in scoring with 18 points . . . Netted 131 yards vs. Cincinnati Frosh and led both teams with 83 against Tennessee Baby Vols . . . Graduate of Bardstown's St. Joseph Prep—same school as teammate Jim Miles and Assistant Coach George Boone . . . FB, QB, HB for Eagles . . . All-Conference three sports (football, basketball and baseball) and MVP of conference in each . . . Honorable mention All-State . . . Born Hackensack, N. J., lived in Michigan and Illinois before Kentucky . . . Coached by former Wildcat Dick Blocker ('58) . . . Has plans to go to law school.

CHARLES VAUGHN Soph. Halfback 5-9 175 19 (3/4/46) Campbellsville, Ky.

Classed by his coaches as "hard-working boy with lot of desire," Vaughn is equally at home on either offense or defense . . . Saw only limited action as freshman halfback last season and due to be defensive corner back (LH) reserve this year

... Needs to develop with practice and game experience before completely ready to make major contribution ... Came along well this spring before sustained minor injury ... Had best rushing average (9.8) among frosh on 49 yards in five tries ... All-Conference at Campbellsville High where played quarterback and defensive corner back ... Earned 11 letters in schoolboy athletics ... Born Lebanon, Ky. ... Baptist by faith ... Enrolled College of Arts and Sciences.

ROGER WALZ Junior Quarterback 5-10 172 20 (1/8/44) Ft. Thomas, Ky.

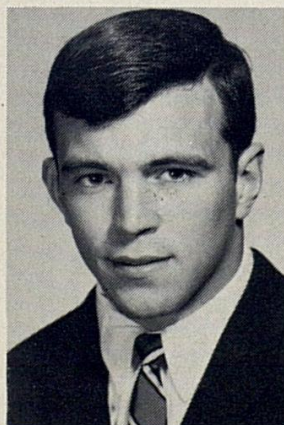

Quick, shifty, running-type quarterback who gave UK varsity "fits" in scrimmages during his hold-out season year ago ... Ineligible last season due to transfer from University of Cincinnati ... He was soph alternate quarterback at UC two years ago when Bearcats won Missouri Valley Conference title ... Showed tremendous potential at UK last year after unsolicited transfer and due to spell Rick Norton at offensive quarterback in 1965 ... Characterized as different type operative than Norton ... Difference in style sees Norton as chiefly drop-back, pocket-type passer while Walz considered most effective as sprint-out, action passer ... One is expected to compliment other and give Wildcats diversified attack that it's hoped will confuse opponents—especially when pair decide to mix up styles ... Piloted outmanned Whites in spring game and connected on 12 of 24 aerial attempts for 98 yards ... Played with UK teammates Mike McGraw and Powell Smith at Ft. Thomas Highlands High where coach was Wildcats' current offensive coach Homer Rice ... Team undefeated his last two seasons ... All-State and nine letter man in other schoolboy sports ... German nationality ... Presbyterian ... Good student College of Education.

MAX WHARTON Soph. Tackle 6-4 205 19 (1/8/46) S. Ft. Mitchell, Ky.

One of stronger youngsters on '65 varsity, Wharton has physical qualifications to get good job done for Wildcats ... Needs only to develop know-how that comes with added practice and game experience ... Operated last season as reserve tackle for undefeated freshmen and scheduled to handle some share of offensive left tackle duties in 1965 ... Graduate of Dixie Heights High in South Fort Mitchell where he was All-State second teamer ... Played in 1964 East-West High School All-Star Game on UK's Stoll Field ... Annexed 15 letters in high school sports ... Born Cincinnati, once lived in Denver ... Father native of England ... Served as secretary-treasurer of freshman football house last year.

BOB WINDSOR Junior Wingback 6-4 235 22 (.....) Silver Spring, Md.

Along with teammate Bobby Bartkow (quarterback), Windsor joins forces with 1965 UK Wildcats as junior college transfer on whom Coach Charlie Bradshaw is depending greatly ... Moves up to nation's highest calibre football league after two outstanding seasons at Montgomery Junior College in Takoma Park, Md. ... Materially aided cause of Knights in posting undefeated season last fall ... Caught over 50 passes and scored 12 touchdowns ... Clocked in 10 seconds flat over football field distance ... Windsor will be eligible immediately and plans call for use as offensive right half (wingback) or as pass-catching split end ... Will not have benefit of full familiarity with Kentucky system since missed spring practice in Blue Grass

WHARTON

WINDSOR

ZELES

State . . . Coach Bradshaw, however, places much reliance on Windsor's "great natural ability." . . . Averaged 25 points game in basketball, broad jumps 23 feet and able to pole vault 11 feet, 6 inches . . . If he is stationed in backfield, will be one of biggest UK halfbacks ever—rivalled only by 6-3 and 220 Steve Meilinger in recent times.

CALVIN (Cal) WITHROW Junior Center 6-0 210 20 (7/4/45) Kettering, Ohio

To coin phrase, this Independence Day baby burst upon UK grid scene last year as one of top sophomores in camp . . . Served as alternate center and saw important duty throughout season to win varsity letter on first try . . . Strong and accurate ball snapper, he was used extensively as center on punts and PAT kick tries in break-in campaign . . . Backed up regular center Jim Miles, started first and last games of season . . . Fine blocker . . . Boasts tremendous spring in legs and able to do 29-inch vertical jump . . . Due to operate as Wildcats' No. 1 offensive center this year . . . Made strong showing as yearling center and linebacker in 1963 . . . Coaches are well pleased with his attitude and potential . . . One of Six Buckeye State products on varsity, Withrow prepped at Kettering Fairmont High outside Dayton . . . Accorded All-Ohio honors senior year . . . Captained team as surged to 7-2 record and second place league finish in 1962 . . . Acclaimed top defensive player in Dayton area . . . MVP of Ohio's North-South All-Star Game as made 90 percent of tackles . . . Born Portsmouth, Ohio.

JOHN ZELES Soph. End 6-2 190 18 (9/3/46) Phoenixville, Pa.

Needs only to develop added gridiron savvy to go along with sure hands and good speed . . . Seasoning should begin to show dividends this year as he takes on instruction and sees reserve duty at offensive left end . . . As frosh substitute end last season, John caught only one pass for 17 yards . . . Excellent high school reputation at Phoenixville, where his receiving (27 for 650 yards) helped Phantoms gain state championship in '63 on 11-0 mark . . . All-Scholastic and first unit All-State end . . . Big 33 Game selection . . . Born in Germany . . . Latvian extraction . . . Father is steelworker in Pennsylvania . . . One of 21 from Pennsylvania . . . Enrolled Commerce College.

Kentucky tackle Bob Gain converted 10 of 10 extra point kicks against North Dakota in 1950.

* * * *

Ralph Kercheval, who holds all the Kentucky punting records, set the Southeastern Conference record when he averaged 52.0 yards on 10 kicks against Cincinnati in 1933. His longest, however, was a 78-yarder against Georgia Tech in the same year.

* * * *

Bob Davis of Kentucky scored five touchdowns and gained 267 yards rushing in a game against Washington & Lee in 1937.

* * * *

Kentucky set its school record when it held the Citadel to 1 yard total offense in a football game in 1949.

WILDCAT WATCHTOWER

Kentucky's 1949 football Wildcats allowed only six points in their five Southeastern Conference games in 1949, a school record. Kentucky shut out Louisiana State, Mississippi, Georgia, and Florida, but lost 6-0 to Tennessee.

* * * *

Kentucky won only five football games in 1960, but all five were by shut-outs. The Wildcats beat Marshall 55-0, LSU 3-0, Florida State 23-0, Vanderbilt 27-0, and Xavier 49-0.

* * * *

There have been only 14 scoreless ties in University of Kentucky football games since 1881. Of these, five were against Tennessee and three against Vanderbilt. The last one was at Vandy in 1963.

* * * *

Kentucky's football team once lost two successive games by the rare score of 5-0. The Wildcats were touched for a safety and field goal on consecutive Saturdays by Centre College and the all-Kentucky team in 1900.

* * * *

The most shutouts by a Kentucky football team in one season were the nine whitewashes by the 1907 Wildcats. Oddly enough, the team's only loss that year was a 40-0 beating at the hands of Vanderbilt.

* * * *

In 665 football games since 1881, Kentucky has shut out its opponents 213 times, or nearly one-third of the time. The Wildcats have won 362 games during the same period.

* * * *

Kentucky senior end Rick Kestner needs 15 pass receptions good for 278 yards in 1965 to tie Steve Meilinger's all-time Kentucky career marks of 72 catches for 1,147 yards in 1951-53. Kestner caught 42 for 639 yards (both school season records) last year.

* * * *

The best career record for a Kentucky football coach is held by C. A. Wright, who coached the Wildcats to a 7-1 record in 1903. He retired from the post after that one season with a won-lost percentage of .875.

* * * *

Kentucky's football team has been ranked in the top 10 only once in the 29 years of the Associated Press college poll. The Wildcats finished seventh in 1950.

* * * *

Kentucky assistant football coach Homer Rice compiled a 101-9-7 record in 11 years of high school coaching at Spring City, Tenn., and Fort Thomas (Highlands), Ky. His teams once went 50 consecutive games without a loss.

The 60 games that Paul (Bear) Bryant won as Kentucky football coach in 1946-53 are the most by any one coach at the institution. Bryant's overall record at UK was 60-23-5, for a .710 percentage. His nearest competitor in games won is Blanton Collier, who won 41 games in 1954-61. Collier's overall mark was 41-36-3 and .531.

* * * *

Kentucky's freshman football team has not lost a game since 1961. The Kittens were 2-0-1 in 1962 (tied 10-10 by Tennessee), 4-0-0 in 1963, and 4-0-0 in 1964. Among the victories was a record 70-0 romp over Tennessee in 1963.

* * * *

Kentucky's football teams since 1881 have won 362 games, lost 265 and tied 38, for a winning percentage of .564.

* * * *

Kentucky tailback Rodger Bird broke the school's all-time rushing record in 1964 with 671 yards in 133 carries for a 5.0 average gain. The old record was set in 1956 by Bobby Cravens, who gained 669 yards in 141 carries. Bird will be a senior this season.

* * * *

Kentucky back Rodger Bird, a senior in 1965, gained a total 1,053 yards rushing in his junior and sophomore seasons. He would need 523 yards this season to equal the career rushing record of 1,576 set in 1949-51 by Bill Leskovar.

* * * *

Kentucky quarterback Rick Norton has passed for 2,691 yards in his first two varsity seasons. But the all-time Kentucky career mark is the 4,351 yards by Babe Parilli in 1949-51. Norton, who passed for 1,514 yards to lead the Southeastern Conference last season, would need 1,660 yards in 1965 to tie Parilli.

* * * *

Kentucky ranked fifth in the Southeastern conference in total offense in 1964, ninth in total defense, 10th in rushing, first in passing, 11th in rushing defense, fourth in pass defense, 11th in scoring defense and fifth in scoring. The Wildcats finished in a tie for second in the standings, however, with a 4-2 SEC record.

* * * *

Kentucky's football Wildcats finished sixth in the nation in pass defense in 1956 with a 47.9 yards per game average. A last-minute, desperation 83-yard scoring pass by Mississippi State, however, cost the Wildcats the game and the national pass defense title. Without that one play, their average would have been 39.6 yards per game, well below the 42.0 (by Florida) that led the nation.

* * * *

Kentucky quarterback Jim Park scored five touchdowns and passed for five more as Kentucky beat Earlham 81-3 in 1914. Bob Davis scored five times twice in his career, once in 1936 and once in 1937; and Babe Parilli passed for five TD's on two different occasions in 1950. But no player has beat Park's record of doing both in the same game.

WILDCAT WATCHTOWER

University of Kentucky athletic director Bernie Shively was an all-America guard in 1926 at Illinois as a teammate of Harold (Red) Grange. He also won letters in track and won the Big 10 heavyweight wrestling championship.

* * * *

Kentucky's football coach in 1892, Prof. A. M. Miller, was chosen because he had learned about the game from sideline observations while a student at Princeton; his only previous coaching experience was at a girls' school in Pennsylvania. His record for the year at Kentucky was 2-4-1.

* * * *

Kentucky football records show the first forward pass attempted by the Wildcats was thrown Oct. 13, 1906, against the Eminence Athletic Club. However, it is not known whether the pass was completed or who threw it.

* * * *

Kentucky's football team was not shut out in 1964, but registered only one whitewash of its own, a 20-0 upset victory over Auburn. The last time the Wildcats were shut out was the 19-0 loss to Tennessee at the end of the 1963 season.

* * * *

Kentucky's Larry Seiple punted 35 times for a 42.1-yard average in 1964 to rank sixth in the nation as a sophomore. However, he was ranked only third in the Southeastern Conference behind Frank Lambert of Ole Miss, who led the nation with a 44.1 average, and Alabama's Buddy French, 42.9. Seiple kicked two 63-yarders during the season.

* * * *

Kentucky sophomore halfback Frank Antonini placed 10th in the Southeastern Conference in kickoff returns in 1964, although dogged by injuries most of the season. Antonini returned 11 kicks for 222 yards for 20.2 average.

* * * *

Kentucky halfback Rodger Bird tied for fifth in the Southeastern Conference in interceptions in 1964, returning three of them for 97 yards, a 32.3-yard average and one touchdown. His 95-yard return of Jimmy Sidle's pass was a key factor in Kentucky's 20-0 victory over nationally ranked Auburn.

* * * *

Kentucky placed two players on the top 10 rushing list in Southeastern Conference football in 1964. Rodger Bird was second with 671 yards, and Mike McGraw placed 10th with 370 yards.

* * * *

Bobby Cravens, the halfback who held Kentucky's football rushing record until it was broken last season by Rodger Bird, did not score a touchdown until the 17th game of his career, against Memphis State in 1955.

INDIVIDUALS

RUNNING ATTACK—All leading ground gainers return, headed by SEC's No. 2 rusher (TB Rodger Bird—671 yards on 133 carries for 5.0 average) . . . FB Mike McGraw (10th in SEC with 370 yards) shifted to defensive line-backer . . . Probable FB replacement Frank Antonini (Bird's alternate in '64) third last year with 146 yards . . . Top frosh runner, Jeff Van Note (5.9 average), figures in at fullback.

PASSING—SEC's pass champ of '64, Rick Norton, returns to try and better record of 106 completions and 1,514 yards plus nine TD's . . . Due to get complimentary help from transfer Roger Walz, excellent sprint out type. Bird, second leading passer last year (53 yards on two completions) may also be throwing again as the occasion demands . . . Frosh leader Terry Beadles (14 of 24—305) assigned to safety but may see some offensive action.

RECEIVING—Top three receivers of 1964 return . . . All-SEC Rick Kestner, second in conference and 12th nationally on 42 catches for 639 yards and six TD's, looms as Norton's favorite target again . . . No. 2 man Larry Seiple (17—288) assumes regular duty at wingback . . . Bird, third receiver in '64, threatens improvement. LOST: No. 4 receiver Bill Jenkins (11—104) will be replaced by John Andrighetti—8th at 4 for 60 yards . . . Leading frosh receiver, Al Phaneuf (8—144), due to fit in picture as a wingback.

KICKING—Larry Seiple, part-timer as soph last year and prospective wingback starter in '65, punted 35 times for 42.1 average to rank 3rd in SEC and 6th nationally . . . Due to get help from Bird (35.7) and soph Terry Beadles (37.9) . . . Field goal work, glaringly inadequate the past three seasons (3 of 16) shows promise of improvement with John Andrighetti handling the assignment.

Kentucky's defense has shut out 213 opponents in 665 football games since 1881. The Wildcats have been held scoreless 148 times.

* * * *

Three of the nine assistant coaches on Paul Bryant's 1951 Kentucky staff have become leading coaches at other schools. Charlie McClendon is now head coach at LSU, Jim Owens at Washington and Paul Dietzel at Army. McClendon's team won the Sugar Bowl last season, Owens once won the Rose Bowl twice in a row at Washington, and Dietzel coached the national and Sugar Bowl champs at LSU in 1958.

When Kentucky meets West Virginia in Lexington Oct. 30, it will be the first time since 1955 that the homecoming opponent has not been a Southeastern Conference member. Kentucky beat Rice 20-16 in that year's homecoming game.

Footnote A — Although numerical scoring had not yet been introduced in Rugby football, either here or in Great Britain, when Kentucky and Transylvania (then known as Kentucky University) played their series in 1881, persons in charge of the games obviously had arrived at some sort of agreement assigning numerical values to the various scoring plays. Records never existed and men who played in the games are now deceased. All we can do is accept the scores printed in the newspapers—and surmise that a touchdown perhaps counted $\frac{1}{4}$ point and that a goal or an end-kick (a punt into the modern end zone) counted 1. That seems logical, since in the ratio scoring of that day, a touchdown was worth one-quarter of a goal. The end-kick, a British heritage, undoubtedly was introduced because all realized that green players would score few goals, if any.

Footnote B — The football rules took no official position on the score of a forfeited game until 1908 when it was pegged at 1-0 to make it different from any other score possible in the game. By common consent, forfeited games prior to that were entered into the records as victories by 6-0 for the offended team—everywhere, that is, except in the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association, predecessor of the Southern Conference and the Southeastern Conference. In the S. I. A. A. the 6-0 practice was followed unless the offended team had a greater number of points. In that case, the offended team won by the greater score to nothing. Thus, Kentucky's forfeiture to Central University in 1900 is 6-0, since Kentucky led by 11-0 at the time. Kentucky led Cumberland by 12-11 in 1905 when the Tennesseans forfeited. The Blue and White, under S. I. A. A. rules, gets credit for a 12-0 victory.
