PREFACE

The Inventory of Federal Archives in the States is one of the products of a nation-wide survey of the archives of the Federal Government outside of the District of Columbia. This survey operated from January 1, 1936 to June 30, 1937 as a nation-wide project of the Works Progress Administration, with the National Archives acting as co-sponsor. Since that date it has continued as a unit of the Historical Records Survey, also a nation-wide project of the Works Progress Administration, and a group of state or local projects of that administration.

The plan for the organization of the Inventory is as follows: Series I consists of reports on the administration of the Survey, acknowledgments, and general discussions of the location, condition, and content of federal archives in the states. Succeeding series contain the detailed information secured by workers of the Survey, in inventory form, a separate series number being assigned to each of the executive departments (except the Department of State) and other major units of the Federal Government. Within each series No. 1 is a general introduction to the field organization and records of the governmental agency concerned; the succeeding numbers contain the inventory proper, separate numbers being assigned to each state in alphabetical order. Thus, in each series, the inventory for Alabama is No. 2, that for Arizona No. 3, that for Arkansas No. 4, etc.

For each local office information regarding each series, or unit of related records, is presented in the following order: title, inclusive dates ("to date" indicating an open file at the time the information was secured), general description of informational content, description of the system of filing or indexing (if any), a statement of frequency and purpose of use, form of the record itself (bound volumes, sheets in folders, etc.), linear footage, description of the containers, physical condition of the records (not stated if satisfactory), location by room number or other identifying information, and finally, the number of the Form 58SA on which this information was originally recorded by a Survey worker and from which it was abstracted for the Inventory. This form is on file in the National Archives. When it contains substantial information on addenda sheets which has not been included in the mimeographed abstract, indication of this is given by use of the reference "See addenda".

The work of the Survey in Illinois began on February 27, 1936 under the supervision of Dr. Russell H. Anderson, with William E. Austin, Assistant Regional Director, and continued until June 30, 1937. Since that time it has been carried on by the Historical Records Survey under the supervision of the Director. This inventory of the Archives of the Federal Courts in Illinois was prepared by Stanley Schulty, assisted by Eugene Kendrick, and was typed and stenciled by Margaret Birdie of the Chicago office. Before final typing and mimeographing, this product was edited by Dr. Richard R. Stenberg of the Washington office.

INTRODUCTION

The United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit was established by Act of Congress, June 16, 1891 and embraces the states of Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin. It is located in the United States Courthouse, Clark and Adams Streets, Chicago. This court has no original jurisdiction but takes cases on appeal and thus relieves the Supreme Court. One Justice of the Supreme Court is assigned to each Circuit. The actual judges for this court consist of from three to six appointed to the Circuit, and all the district judges within the circuit. Court is held normally by three circuit court judges, but any district judge within the circuit may be assigned to sit on any case except those which have been appealed from his court. The term of court begins on the first Tuesday in October and is divided into three sessions, commencing on the first Tuesday in October and the second Tuesdays of January and April. The court retains its archives with the following exceptions: a Writ of Certiorari will cause the removal of the files of the case upon which the writ is issued to the Supreme Court. Certain financial reports are submitted to the Department of Justice, Washington, D. C., and duplicates are retained here.

The United States District Court for the Northern District of Illinois, Eastern Division, is located in the United States Courthouse, Clark and Adams Streets, Chicago. Federal Courts first began to hold sessions in Chicago sometime before 1850. It is known that Judge Thomas Drummond held court in both Chicago and Springfield as early as 1850. Probably these were sessions of both the Circuit and District Courts. The Northern District of Illinois was established by Act of Congress on February 13, 1855, which divided the state into two districts, supplementing the previous single District of Illinois. The newly created Northern District included the counties of Hancock, McDonough, Peoria, Woodford, Livingston, and Iroquois, and those lying north of them. Judge Drummond, who was officially stationed at Springfield at that time, as well as the Clerk of the Court, who was also officially stationed at Springfield, were transferred to Chicago. Both the old Circuit and the District Courts then held sessions at Chicago, as the seat of the Northern District. Section 2 of the Act of February 13, 1855 says: "There shall be two terms of the circuit court and district courts begun and held in each of said districts, to wit: at the city of Chicago for the Northern District on the first Monday in July and the third Monday in December....." A concurrent clerkship served both courts until about 1894, when a separate clerk was appointed for each court.

It was ordered in 1855 that the records from Springfield be transferred to Chicago, and such a transfer was made. Thus, practically all the records for the old District of Illinois, plus the records of the Chicago District from 1855 to 1871 were destroyed in the great Chicago fire of 1871. It may be noticed however, that a very few records in the present files antedate the fire. Various explanations of these old records have been obtained. Some officials say that they were reconstructed from data located in Springfield, or from data in private hands. Other officials say the records were kept in certain fireproof vaults.

Records of the old Circuit Court are now in the custody of the Clerk of the District Court. The old Circuit Court was abolished December 31, 1911. The equity case numbers of the old Circuit Court were dropped, as well as the equity numbers for the District Court, and a new series was begun for the District Court on January 1, 1912. It had been the policy after about 1878 to file the Circuit and District Court Law and Admiralty cases under the same numerical series, and following the abolition of the old Circuit Court that numerical series was continued for the Law Series of the District Court.

The present Northern District was established by the Act of March 3, 1905. The Eastern Division includes the counties of Cook, DeKalb, DuPage, Grundy, Kane, Kendall, Lake, LaSalle, McHenry and Will. The chief clerk for the entire district is located in Chicago, with a Deputy Clerk for the Western Division in Freeport.

The United States District Court for the Northern District of Illinois, Western Division was established in 1905. It is located in the United States Post Office and Courthouse, 115 W. Stephenson Street, Freeport. This division includes Boone, Carroll, Jo Daviess, Lee, Ogle, Stephenson, Whiteside, and Winnebago Counties.

The United States District Court for the Eastern District of Illinois was established in 1905 when a general change was made setting up three districts in Illinois instead of the previous two. An office of Deputy Clerk and United States Commissioner is located in Cairo. The Eastern District is peculiar in that there are no divisions, as there are in the Northern and Southern Districts. The counties in the district are: Alexander, Champaign, Clark, Clay, Clinton, Coles, Crawford, Cumberland, Douglas, Edgar, Edwards, Effingham, Fayette, Ford, Franklin, Gallatin, Hamilton, Hardin, Iroquois, Jackson, Jasper, Jefferson, Johnson, Kankakee, Lawrence, Marion, Massac, Monroe, Moultrie, Perry, Piatt, Pope, Pulaski, Randolph, Richland, St. Clair, Saline, Shelby, Union, Vermilion, Wabash, Washington, Wayne, White, and Williamson.

Court is held on the first Mondays in April and October in Cairo, the first Mondays in May and November in East St. Louis, and the first Mondays in March and September at Danville. It was apparent, from the records surveyed, and confirmed by information from the Chief Clerk at East St. Louis, that the Chief Clerk now located in East St. Louis, at some time since 1905, had his office at Danville, with deputies at East St. Louis. The office of the Referee in Bankruptcy has likewise been moved from one city to the other. At present no current records are kept at Cairo. The records from sessions arising at Danville are kept in that city and those for the rest of the district are kept at East St. Louis.

The United States District Court for the Southern District of Illinois, Northern Division is located in the United States Post Office and Courthouse Building, Peoria. A Deputy Clerk to be stationed at Peoria was appointed in 1905, to have jurisdiction over the present district, which consists of the counties of Bureau, Fulton, Henderson, Henry, Knox, Livingston, Marshall, McDonough, Mercer, Peoria, Putnam, Rock Island, Stark, Tazewell, Warren, and Woodford. It is quite certain that sessions of Federal courts were held here beginning about 1855, but it is not certain that there was a clerk who maintained records here at that early date. According to one source of information, this first became an office of record about 1855. It will be noticed that there certain dockets here for the earlier dates which may indicate that there was a clerk officially stationed here, but that the case records were filed elsewhere, as at Chicago until 1905. Necessary reports are made to the District Clerk at Springfield and to Washington.

It is not certain when sessions of the Circuit Court were first held in Peoria, but one official stated that there was a Deputy Clerk of the Circuit Court before 1905. It appears from records found that the Circuit Court case files may have been filed at Chicago until 1905 and then maintained here after this city was placed in the Southern District.

The United States District Court for the Southern District of Illinois, Southern Division is located in the Federal Building, 600-700 E. Monroe Street, Springfield. A Clerk of the Federal Court was first established in Springfield in 1839, when the state capital was moved from its previous location at Vandalia. The site of the District Court for the District of Illinois had been at Vandalia, the seat of the state government, from 1819 to 1839. This office continued as the clerkship for the District of Illinois until 1855, when the state was divided into two districts, the Southern District to consist of the counties lying south of the line formed by Hancock, McDonough, Peoria, Woodford, Livingston and Iroquois Counties. It is understood from officials at Springfield that the District Court held sessions at Springfield, East St. Louis, and Cairo (and possibly at Danville and Quincy) during the period 1855 to 1905. In 1905 the state was redistricted again so that now the Southern District of Illinois includes the counties of Adams, Bond, Brown, Calhoun, Cass, Christian, De Witt, Greene, Hancock, Jersey, Logan, Macon, Macoupin, Madison, Mason, McLean, Menard, Montgomery, Morgan, Pike, Sangamon, Schuyler, and Scott in the Southern division, with the District Clerk at Springfield, and the counties of Bureau, Fulton, Henderson, Henry, Knox, Livingston, Marshall, McDonough, Mercer, Peoria, Putnam, Rock Island, Stark, Tazewell, Warren, and Woodford, in the Northern division, with a Deputy Clerk at Peoria. Court is held in the Southern District at Springfield on the first Mondays in January and June; at Quincy on the first Mondays in March and September, and at Peoria on the third Mondays in April and October. There has never been an office of record at Quincy.

When the state was divided into two districts in 1855, it was ordered that Judge Drummond and the clerk of court of the old District of Illinois both be transferred to Chicago, and the records up to 1855 were likewise transferred to Chicago. Provision was made that certain of those records might be copied so as to be available in Springfield. Such copies as were made account for the few records in Springfield antedating 1855. The actual records transferred to Chicago were destroyed in the fire there in 1871.

The information obtained regarding the activities of the old Circuit Court in this district is not considered entirely reliable, but it was learned that probably there was a Circuit Court holding sessions from the time the District Court was established in Illinois in 1819. After about 1837, at least, the two courts had concurrent jurisdiction, and it is understood that there was a dual clerkship for the courts until 1855. Since that time it is certain that there was a clerk for each court, one for the Circuit Court at Springfield for 44 years until the Circuit Court was abolished on December 31, 1911. It is stated definitely that the old Circuit Court held sessions at Springfield, East St. Louis, and Cairo, and that sessions of that court were also held at Danville, Quincy, Palestine, and Vandalia. The records of the two courts have been separated in this report as much as possible, but any combination records have been listed with the District Court records.

Referees in Bankruptcy
7 So. Dearborn St.

This office is comprised of five Referees in Bankruptcy, all operating in the Eastern Division, Northern District of Illinois, and handling cases in Cook County, Illinois. Presumably, the Referee's office was established here in 1898, and probably the jurisdiction at that time was over a wider area. It is possible that there was from 1898 to 1905 a Referee in Bankruptcy in Peoria, in the old Northern District, reporting to the Clerk of Court at Chicago, before the state was redistricted. It is also possible that after 1905 the Referee in Chicago had jurisdiction over the entire new Northern District. Former locations of this office at Chicago are as follows: Montauk Building, 1898-1901; Monadnock Building, Jackson and Dearborn Streets, 1901-1921; Home Insurance Building, 1921-1931; and building at 100 W. Monroe Street, 1931-1934. Completed cases are filed with the District Clerk. Administrative and fiscal reports are made to the Attorney General's office. A great many of the older case files of the Referee in Bankruptcy, which had been filed with the District Clerk, are in poor condition. Records in this office are in good condition.

Referee in Bankruptcy
Jefferson Bldg., Jefferson and Fulton Sts.

It is presumed that there was a Referee in Bankruptcy for Peoria since the passage of the Act of 1898. If so, such a referee sent his completed cases to the District Clerk at Chicago from 1898 to 1905. The referee's records in custody of the Deputy Clerk at Peoria apparently indicate that such referee was located here. Since 1905 the referee in bankruptcy has filed his completed cases with the Deputy Clerk at Peoria. There have been referees in various cities of this division, and no complete report can be made on the varying areas of jurisdiction. For a time there was a referee at Galesburg serving Knox County alone. At present the referee at Peoria has the counties of Bureau, Fulton, Henderson, Knox, Marshall, McDonough, Peoria, Putnam, Stark, Tazewell, and Warren. A semiannual report of all activities of the referee is sent to Washington and one copy of the same report is sent to the chief clerk at Springfield.
