The Sabbath Theme

"SO WHO NEEDS A NEW YEAR?"

As we look over the past few years, they have been cluttered with conflict and discord. We yearn for peace and quiet and yet do not find it. Why? Are we looking in the wrong places? Do we go about it properly? Do we know what it is? These and other questions will be considered as we begin a new year. A Sabbath Social will follow our worship service.

RABBI'S MESSAGE

Another year is fast disappearing. It seems like only yesterday I needed to be very careful not to date things 1963 instead of 1964, and now even 1964 will become passe'. Time moves so rapidly that we lose track of it. Suddenly, that little boy down the street has grown up. The refrigerator we purchased yesterday is 10 years old. There are new streets in town that we never heard of, with houses on them 5 years old. Everything is moving at a continually accelerating pace. There is new math, new styles, new teen-age dances, - new! new! new! Who can keep up?

And now a new year. Is it going to go as rapidly by us as 1964? What will we accomplish during it? What will we learn during it? The potential is there for us to make greater use of our days. Will we heed it, so that next year, as we ruminate over the rapid passage of time, we will also be able to say - Gee, that was a fascinating year. I did so very much; I learned about so many facets of life; I met so many interesting people.

Our lives can be full only if we make them so. Let us make this one of our most important intentions in the new year which we are about to welcome.

HOUSING CLINIC

On January 19, 1965, there will be an all day clinic of the problem of housing in Lexington. With our city growing so very rapidly, the need for adequate housing for all of our citizens will be a vital problem in the future. None of us can really be secure in our homes, if the blighted areas of the city still remain. Crime, disease, filth, social problems cannot be confined to only certain neighborhoods. They can blight the whole city if we do not awaken to their presence in time.

We live in this city. Its future is of concern to us all. Therefore, mark the date of January 19th and watch for further information on this vital day-long meeting.

SISTERHOOD LUNCHEON

SISTERHOOD BOARD MEETING

REMINDER.... Sisterhood Board Meeting at the home of President Mrs. Eugene Straus, 212 Culpepper Road, on Monday, December 18, 1965, at 10:00 A.M.

"TEN COMMANDMENTS OF FRIENDSHIP"

1. SYMPATHY is the soil in which the seed of friendship grows. Until one can look upon all his brothers with love and care, he cannot be or become a friend.

2. HONESTY gives friendship its virility. Without it the seed will be sterile and never bear fruit.

3. HUMILITY is the gentle rain without which the growing plant becomes dry and brittle. Without an attitude which is both humble and teachable, no friendship can develop and thrive.

4. TOLERANCE: No one of us is perfect, and if we expect perfection in a friend we shall be disillusioned. Patience is a virtue, and a friend is not easily provoked.

5. CRITICISM of another is essential to a growing friendship and to an honest relationship. To fail to offer helpful criticism for fear of hurt is to fail to help a friend to grow. It is like the pruning of the vine that its later growth may be the more luxuriant. Never criticize, however, until first you can sympathize.

6. DON'T GOSSIP: The habit of carrying about evil tidings casts a blight upon friendship's flower. Gossip is the grub from which emerges the cutworm of suspicion to sever the taproot of trust which nourishes friendship's life.

7. BE ON HAND WHEN NEEDED: There are times when every one of us desperately needs someone to take over for us until we can adjust and compose ourselves. Be on hand when that moment comes in the life of your friend. He'll never forget it, nor will you.

8. HAVE A POOR MEMORY FOR WRONGS: Most wrongs are unintentional. Most slights are fancied. Forget them.

9. HAVE A GOOD MEMORY FOR ANNIVERSARIES: A little appreciation is worth its weight in gold. It always repays its trouble in a thousand ways. It is, as the poet said, "the little nameless unremembered acts of kindness and of love," which make up "the best portion of a good man's life."

10. TO MAKE A FRIEND, BE ONE: There are two people in a Temple—one finds it friendly and the other cold. Each projects his own attitude into the outer situation. If you want a Temple to be a friendly Temple, be friendly.

The Sabbath Theme "RESPECTABILITY VS RESPONSIBILITY"

The American Jewish Community has risen from immigrant to middle class status in little more than two generations. It has not been easy. Many barriers had to be overcome enroute. But today, Judaism and Jews are generally accorded a respectable status within most aspects of American life.

However, have we not forfeited much of our responsibility in the struggle for acceptance? Have we not permitted the drive for acculturation to still our hands and gag our mouths, so that the Jewish voice of social criticism has become dulled?

An Oneg Shabbat will follow worship.

DEFINITION: Oneg Shabbat - literally - the joy of the Sabbath. Used to denote the social hour after Sabbath worship.

RABBI'S MESSAGE

To the recently arrived resident of any city, those things which the native takes for granted are all new to him, and his immediate awareness of them is therefore much greater.

One of the major contrasts between Concord and Lexington, and which I am only beginning to appreciate, is in the area of social problems. I had a vague idea that I was living in a relative Utopia in New Hampshire, and that the difficulties facing most of our nation today were largely academic there. However, I could not become fully aware of this situation until I left it, and became involved in another community, and could see the tremendous contrast first-hand.

Thus, as I look at the situation, even after such a short time, the problems which face Lexington are tremendous indeed. There are large areas of substandard housing (slums) which are crying for communal attention. Vehicular traffic flow needs immediate attention. Suburban sprawl seems to need greater coordination. The situation of the Negro in Lexington is sorely in need of the attention of our city fathers. The confused city-county set-up appears to be inadequate to cope with current needs of running a metropolis. And I suspect that there are countless other problem areas which I shall discover in time.

No religious organization worthy of the name, can separate itself from the problems of the community of which it is a part. Rather is its role to bring to bear upon the general community the message and influence of religious concern for people and how they live within society. For this reason our congregation needs a vigorous and significant social action program, involving all of our members. Our religion only has meaning when we make its teachings bear upon the many problems of life. We cannot be Jews in isolation.

TYG AFTERNOON MEETING

We are having an afternoon meeting on Sunday, January 17, 1965. The meeting will begin at 2:00 P. M. The topic for this study session is "ASPECTS OF SEX IN THE ARTS." Our speaker will be Mrs. Richard Munich.

After the study session, we will talk about our conclave which will take place April 2 through April 4, in Lexington. We want "all" the chairmen and their committees present. The time is passing fast and before you know it, April 2, 1965, will be here!

A meeting will be held on Thursday, January 14, 1965, at 7:30 P. M., in the Temple Vestry to discuss the formation of a Young Adult Group as a new Temple auxiliary. Letters have been sent out to possible prospective members, however, if you are interested and have not received a letter, feel free to join the discussion on the 14th.

"ALL KINDS OF RIGHTS"

Freedom, liberty, choice, opportunity are among the numerous ideal-words which we hear frequently used in our nation today. Unfortunately, they are usually emotion-laden and mean different things to the different persons who use them. With a new Congress beginning its term, and a president about to be inaugurated, the implications of these words are worth considering.

An Oneg Shabbat will follow the worship service.

Temple Youth Group

At the January 10 Youth Group meeting the conclave co-chairmen, David Rosenberg and Nancy Moskowitz, announced the following people as committee co-chairmen: Booklet Committee - Mike Mayer and Kathee Norris; Transportation Committee - Mark Rosenberg; Study Groups - Janet Adelstein and Julie Mickler; Religion Committee - Susan Jacobs and Mark Hammer; Friday Night Committee - Joy Sapoznick, Rae Marie Strauss and Jeanne Wickler; Saturday Night Committee - Susan Bolotin and Mark Rubin; Keynote Committee - Jeff Rosenzweig.

There will be a meeting on Sunday, January 17th. Further information will be announced by cards later in the week.

RABBI'S MESSAGE

Elsewhere in this issue of the Temple Bulletin, you will find an article on the forthcoming Housing Clinic to be held in Lexington. In a community which is expanding as rapidly as ours, adequate shelter is an important factor in healthy social growth. We cannot expect to attract newcomers to Lexington if our facilities for family living are inadequate for their needs. This does not only mean the new homes which are being built in the gilded-ghettos of our new subdivisions, but it includes the need for older homes in well maintained neighborhoods, adequate housing for lower income families, dwellings for Negroes who do not wish to be segregated into certain compact little areas, suitable apartments for families who do not wish to reside in a detached house, and a host of other considerations.

There are many avenues through which these problems can be approached. They will be discussed openly, fully, and hopefully honestly at the Clinic. I hope that our congregation will be well represented at these discussions. The future of the way in which each of us lives in Lexington may well depend on the outcome of these deliberations.

LEADERSHIP INSTITUTE

Board Members and their spouses have been invited to share in the January dinner meeting of the leadership program on Wednesday, January 27, at 6:30 P. M., at the Campbell House Inn. Complete cost for the dinner will be $3.50 per person. Board Members are urged to return their reservations card as soon as possible.

TU B'SH'VAT

Monday, January 18 is Tu B'sh'vat, the Jewish New Year of the Trees. In honor of this holiday, the entire Keren Ami (Charity) collection on January 24 will be donated to the Jewish National Fund, whose primary purpose is the re-forestation of the hillsides of Israel.

On this coming Sunday the children will be given information on this project, which is in conjunction with the Union of American Hebrew Congregations. Parents are urged to read the pamphlets also, so that they may understand the purpose of this special appeal, and help to make it a successful one.

To plant a tree costs $2.00. All money will be pooled, so that we may purchase trees as a school.

PARENTS!! TEACHERS!!

It has recently been brought to our attention that several Bulletin Boards and school property in the classrooms have been defaced or disturbed. We ask you to assist us to protect this property and to provide a safer environment for your children by instructing them to observe the following few simple rules:

1.) Children reporting for Religious School on Sunday will not go directly to the classrooms, but will meet in the Vestry until the teacher arrives.

2.) Teachers will please arrive before 9:20 A.M. and will go initially to the Vestry to escort students to the classrooms.

3.) Children arriving at other times for other purposes (Hebrew School, meetings, etc.) will meet in the Youth Room and will remain there until a responsible adult arrives.

Your complete cooperation will insure a safe, orderly atmosphere for all Temple activities in which our children are involved.

The Sabbath Theme

"A HOLY PEOPLE"

The Bible and our Prayerbook frequently describe the Jewish people as "chosen." This is a term which tends to make us uneasy. We sense in it a note of superiority. Are we justified in this feeling? Are we too self-conscious of ourselves as Jews? Or do we fail to appreciate the full meaning of this concept?

An Oneg Shabbat will follow our worship.

BOOK REVIEW: "Can Faith Survive?"
By Maurice N. Eisendrath
McGraw-Hill, 1964

Rabbi Eisendrath, President of UAHC, has written a most stimulating and provoking critique of modern American Judaism, puncturing some of our clay idols, challenging us to rethink our positions and sincerely asking whether faith "can" or ought to survive. Too many people give too little thought to relevant Judaism. Here is a book which will awaken many of those in that category, and will give needed support to those who are genuinely concerned about our faith.

RABBI'S MESSAGE

On the 25th, Alana and I shall be moving into our new home - the first one that we have owned. (In Concord the congregation owned the house in which we lived). We are all very excited about it. The apartment which was fine for temporary quarters, was really much too cramped for two active little girls and two adults who enjoy their privacy and quiet from time to time.

We are all looking forward to the day without exception. Alana will have a full kitchen to work in. The girls will have their own rooms once again, with all of their toys and books readily available. I'll be able to find all of the things that went into storage by mistake.

Even though the house will look only partially occupied for awhile (the house in Concord had seven rooms - but they were small), it will be a pleasure not to be tripping over each other at every turn. It should not take us too long to get sort-of settled. We'll be at 3441 Belvoir Drive. We do hope you will drop in.

INSTALLATION

A special service of Installation will be held this Friday evening, at which time Rabbi Leffler will officially accept the pulpit of Temple Adath Israel.

The installing rabbi will be Dr. Ezra Spicehandler, Professor of Hebrew Literature at the Hebrew Union College in Cincinnati. Dr. Spicehandler has also held a Fullbright Scholarship in Iran and is co-author of Chapters In Judaism, published in 1963 in Israel.

Also participating in the service will be Mr. Samuel Milner, President of the Congregation, Mrs. Eugene Straus, President of Sisterhood, Miss Samye Miller, President of Temple Youth Group, and Mr. Charles Stern, President of Brotherhood.

A reception honoring Rabbi and Mrs. Leffler will be tendered by the Temple Board following the worship service.

RABBI'S MESSAGE

When a rabbi assumes a new pulpit, he does so with a sense of anticipation. New challenges will confront him; new opportunities for service will present themselves, new intellectual horizons will open for him. In all of these, his life will be united with those of his congregation.

As I confront the special service of installation this coming Friday evening, it is with a sense of uncertainty. What will the future hold, both for this congregation and for me, as it's rabbi. The responsibilities will be great for both of us. The congregation will have to seek to fulfill the religious needs of its members in as many ways as possible, and, as rabbi, and spiritual leader, I shall have to discern these needs and guide their course, as together we seek to find the way in which God wishes us to live as Jews. To even contemplate such a task, is truly humbling. I pray that I shall be worthy of this charge.

THE GOLDEN RULE . . . IN TEN RELIGIONS

BUDDHISM. Hurt not others with that which pains yourself.

CHRISTIANITY. All things whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them; for this, is the law and the prophets.

CONFUCIANISM. Is there any one maxim which ought to be acted upon throughout one's whole life? Surely the maxim of loving-kindness is such. Do not unto others what you would not they should do unto you.

HEBRAISM. What is hurtful to yourself do not to your fellowmen. That is the whole of the Torah and the remainder is but commentary. Go learn it.

HINDUISM. This is the sum of duty: do naught to others which if done to thee, would cause thee pain.

ISLAM. No one of you is a believer until he loves for his brother what he loves for himself.

JAINISM. In happiness and suffering, in joy and grief, we should therefore refrain from inflicting upon others such injury as would appear undesirable to us if inflicted upon ourselves.

SIKHISM. As thou deemest thyself so deem others. Then shalt thou become a partner in heaven.

TAOISM. Regard your neighbor's gain as your own gain; and regard your neighbor's loss as your loss.

ZORASTRIANISM. That nature only is good when it shall not do unto another whatever is not good for its own self.

NATIONAL CONFERENCE OF CHRISTIANS & JEWS

The Lexington Chapter of the National Conference of Christians and Jews cordially invite you to attend the Annual Brotherhood Dinner on Tuesday, February 9, at 6:15 P. M. at the Phoenix Hotel.

The cost is $3.00 per person and reservations may be made with Mrs. John Sprague, 701 Kirkland Drive, 277-4826.

THE SEARCH TO WHICH WE ARE COMMITTED

The Bible nowhere calls upon men to go out in search of peace of mind. It does call upon men to go out in search of God and the things of God. It challenges men to hunger and thirst after righteousness, to relieve the oppressed, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and to establish peace in the world. These objectives must be elaborately sought. As often as not, such enterprises are attended by persecution and suffering. Judaism as a prophetic religion could not offer its faithful the compensation of peace of mind, except insofar as the confidence of faith lessens the tensions of doubt and despair; but it did offer them other and more precious compensations — the nearness of God, an uplifting interest in life, a nourishing pride and dignity and, on occasion, the ineffable ecstasy that derives from moments of spiritual daring and adventure. There is a lyrical vibrancy to such moments when man drinks of the wine of life and partakes of the very manna of heaven.

Personal sacrifices are often involved in the pursuit of the good life. Sometimes even martyrdom is called for. The moral commitments of the faithful are never of a limited liability. The Jewish people gave the first religious martyrs known to mankind, and through many dark and weary centuries of exile and persecution its noblest sons and daughters never denied God the supreme tribute of martyrdom. True love of God is to serve Him "with all your heart, with all your soul and with all your might" (Deuteronomy 6:5). Akiba defined the term "with all your soul" to mean "even if He takes away your life." He attested it with his own martyrdom.

BOOK REVIEW: "The Teaching of Contempt"
By Jules Isaac
Holt, Rinehart & Winston

Christianity is slowly beginning to confront the manner in which it has traditionally depicted Judaism and the Jews. Professor Isaac's book delves into the historic and the theological facets of this relationship and presents an outstanding case showing the "Christian roots of Anti-Semitism". For those who wish to understand more fully the attitude of the Churches on this vital subject, here is a book which should not be overlooked.

JEWISH "IGNOSTICISM"

Within the past few weeks we have been hearing about a Rabbi who denies God and who has a growing congregation supporting his views - which he calls "Ignosticism." What kind of phenomenon is this? How does it fit into a Jewish pattern? What can we expect to come of it? These and other questions will be considered.

Herbert Andrew York, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence F. York will be named during the worship.

BOOK REVIEW: "The Catholic Church And Nazi Germany"
By Guenter Lewy
McGraw-Hill

At a time when "The Deputy" has caused so much debate and when prayer in public schools is still a topic of discussion, here is a book which ought to be read by everyone who wants to gain a greater insight into the effects of organized religion's subservience to expedience and to the state. Professor Lewy presents a well-documented, forceful account of the interaction of the church and Nazi officialdom and the disastrous consequences which occurred as a result of the German Catholic Church's acceptance of nationalism as more important than morality. The tragic lessons described in this book ought to cause all of us to reflect on the role of religion in our own society.

RABBI'S MESSAGE

The flags throughout our nation are at half mast - not for an American, (although he was an honorary citizen) but for a great man who devoted his life to the service of his country, who fought for it in colonial outposts, who led it in the hour of its most desperate need, who chronicled its events, and who painted its scenes - for the late Sir Winston Churchill.

No account of modern history will be complete without a description of this magnificent human being - a man who could muster the courage of his fellow countrymen in their darkest hour and restore their will to survive and to struggle on, overcoming seemingly insurmountable odds, against the apparently invincible onslaught of Hitler Germany. His life was so multifaceted and varied that one is left in awe attempting to appreciate its breadth. Truly he was a person who blessed the people of this century.

Let us thank God that men of his stature continue to appear among us.

JEWISH MUSIC SABBATH

February has been designated as Jewish Music Month and as our part in the observance of this occasion, the Temple Adult Choir has prepared special music for us. This music is liturgical, with both familiar and unfamiliar prayers, as well as Biblical passages, setting these various passages to the music of the Synagogue.

Rabbi Leffler has written a special worship service which incorporates the ideas and themes of the music and is intended to complement the mood of the choir.

Members of the Adult Choir are as follows: Miss Erna Abraham, Mr. Richard Allison, Mrs. Harold Baker, Mrs. Moses Fried, Mrs. Jack Hamm, Mr. Jack Hamm, Mrs. Ken Hart, Miss Judi Jacobs, Mrs. Max Kavinow, Mrs. Arthur Lieber, Mrs. Lloyd Mayer, Mrs. Harry Miller, Mrs. Ben Roos, Mrs. Saul Rubin, Mrs. Stuart Silbar, Mrs. James Wenneker.

Mr. Rudy Von Almen is the Organist-Director.

In Our Tradition

FRIDAY NIGHT IS FAMILY NIGHT

RABBI'S MESSAGE

This coming Friday, as part of our worship, the Temple Adult Choir will sing a wide selection of Jewish music for us - music coming from different backgrounds, modern as well as traditional. They have spent a great deal of time preparing this program, and I hope that you will make it a point to be present and worship with us.

Jewish music is extremely varied - from the joyous mode of Hasidic melody to the tones of the Yemenite and Oriental Jew, which seem harsh and dissonant to our ears, from the symphonic tones of a modern composer such as Bloch or Bernstein, to the chant of a traditional Eastern European Cantor. The range is tremendous and all of it is in some way Jewish, though we are apt not to see the unifying factor of religion amid the diversity of culture.

As an aid to increasing the awareness of Jewish music for our congregation, the Celia Feldstein Abraham Memorial Music Library has been established by Mr. Adolph Abraham. The recordings and equipment are presently being assembled by the committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Harold Baker, and it is sincerely hoped that Jewish Music Month at Temple Adath Israel will not be only a once-a-year event, but will be celebrated throughout the year by our use of this exciting facility - in Sunday School, at Auxiliary meetings, in adult education, in worship, and in countless other ways.

"THERE'S AN IMP IN IMPATIENCE"

This Sabbath occurs during Boy Scout Week and so our message is geared to them. They will be the citizens of tomorrow and are anxious to arrive at that time. What can they make of this impatience? What can we do to help them face their tomorrow which is so very uncertain - even for us?

An Oneg Shabbat in honor of the Scouts will follow worship.

ACROSS THE BOARD

February 2, 1965

The Board gave its support and encouragement to the formation of a community-wide Jewish young couple's group and offered the facilities of the Temple whenever possible.

The Worship Committee's report recommending that the public Bar Mitzvah receptions be held in the Vestry, and that the Sanctuary be offered as the place for the funeral of deceased members of the congregation was approved.

Future Board meetings will be held on the first Tuesday of each month.

RABBI'S MESSAGE

One of the suggestions which I recently made to the Worship Committee and which was accepted by the Temple Board is that the rabbi be free to suggest to the family of a member who has just died that the Sanctuary of our Temple is an appropriate place for the funeral to take place.

I feel rather strongly on this matter because modern America has taken to removing death from life. (There is a recent editorial by another rabbi on this same subject included in this issue of our Bulletin).

The Temple is a part of our religious life. We turn to it in prayer in times of joy, of stress, and of despair. It is, in a way, our spiritual "home." Therefore, we ought not to forsake it in the moment of our deepest anguish by seeking a place which is not familiar to us in which to hold this most sad form of worship.

The Sanctuary is the focal point of our religious life. It ought to be included at the conclusion of life, for the service of worship which we call a funeral.

THE YOUNG AND DEATH - FROM THE RABBI'S DESK

The following editorial, written by Rabbi Daniel Jeremy Silver, appeared in the February 14, 1965, issue of the Bulletin of The Temple, Cleveland, Ohio.

There comes a time each winter when the wind blows right through, and it is hard to believe that the spring and the sun will ever come again. The winds blow. The skies are steel and your spirits drop. We know that spring is only six weeks away. We know it, but we only partially believe it.

Imagine Adam's fear when the sun went down that first night. He had enjoyed its warmth and the many colors of his garden. Now there was darkness, black. All about him the garden came alive with frightening noise. Was this his eternal destiny? How he must have sat in fear and trembling that long night. Fortunately, the human race has learned the cycle of the days and of the seasons and of life and death itself.

Which is, by the way, why death strikes the young and the innocent a far more cruel blow than it does those who have loved and lost and learned that they can go on. Once you have been hurt, the next blow is not quite as staggering. I am unhappy with those who try to protect their children from reality. 'Darling, Grandfather has just gone away for awhile.' Grandparents and great aunts do die. Their death is a cruel blow but their death is also part of the wisdom of life. When we have learned to walk hand in hand with death, death does not close in on us quite as fiercely. What harm can come to a child at a funeral? He will hear kind words spoken. He will listen to the cadence of the finest Biblical poetry. He will see tears, and he will cry. He will ask questions, and there will be kindly answers. Death, where is thy sting? The child who sees and who is answered will go bouncing off to school the next day. He may cry again the next night or the next, but the temperature of his fear will have cooled. No one can escape being afraid of the grave but we can save our children the shock and pain of absolute surprise.

B'NAI B'RITH BREAKFAST

On Sunday, February 28, 1965, at 10:00 A. M., B'nai B'rith will have a breakfast in the Vestry of Temple Adath Israel.

The Sabbath Theme

"THE WORK OF MY HANDS"

This Sabbath Worship is devoted to our Social Action Committee, and a special service has been written for them, emphasizing the theme of involvement in society and its problems as a religious responsibility. Judaism is not a religion apart from life, but part of it, and as part of our worship, we shall see a film produced by the Union of American Hebrew Congregations illustrating this point. After the film, a discussion will take place.

At the conclusion of our worship, we shall have an Oneg Shabbat.

Adult Education

The next Adult Education session will be held on Monday, March 8, beginning at 8:00 P. M., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Levy, 1425 Essex Park. The general theme of The Family - The Jewish View, will be followed with discussion centering on Parents and Children. The cost of attending each session will be fifty cents (50¢) per person or per couple. Members may attend any or all sessions.

RABBI'S MESSAGE

Enclosed in this copy of the Temple Bulletin is a copy of a sermon which I preached last month in our Sanctuary. I urge you to read it and consider it in the light of the place of our congregation and its members in the general community.

American society is becoming larger and larger all the time. In this sea of bigness, the moral force of one individual often seems lost. Yet, it is only lost when he insists on remaining alone in his moral concern and in viewing his capacity to influence events. In sharp contrast, however, when he joins hands with his fellowman to influence the moral tone of society, he can exert a good bit of force for good.

Strangely enough we are all too reticent to accept the necessity to act in concert, to join together as Jews who stand for a tradition of human concern for our fellowman and voice this religious concern outside of the walls of our Sanctuary.

I urge you to worship with us on Friday evening, to consider with us the many facets of this phase of Jewish life, and to join hands with your fellow congregants in making Temple Adath Israel a positive moral force within our community and our state.

SISTERHOOD GARDEN CIRCLE

A special meeting will be held on Tuesday, March 2, in the vestry to discuss the organization of a Garden Circle whose purpose will be to provide flower arrangements for special Temple occasions and to help beautify the Temple grounds. One need not have had prior experience to participate, as workshops for learning the necessary skills will be part of the program of this group. Those women who might be interested are urged to call Evelyn Levy at 266-4393.

NEW TEMPLE MEMBERS

Temple Adath Israel extends a warm welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Avram Levine who have recently joined our congregation. They formerly lived in Cleveland, Ohio.

JUNIOR CAMP AT ZIONSVILLE LOWERS AGE LIMIT - SCHEDULES TWO SESSIONS FOR 1965 SEASON

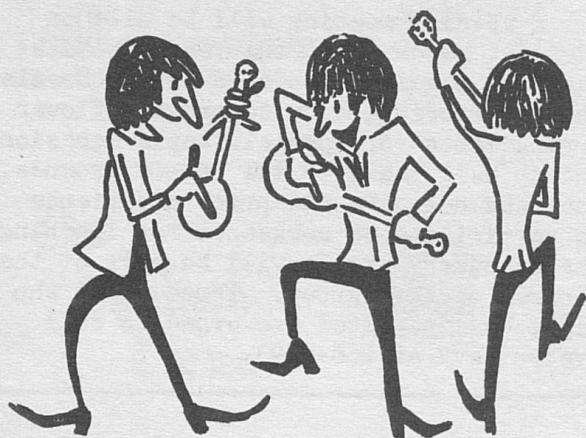

Two major changes for 1965 to enable more boys and girls to take part in the Junior Camp Institute sponsored by Temple Adath Israel and other Reform Congregations of the Ohio Valley Council, Union of American Hebrew Congregations, were announced this week.

For the first time in its history the Junior Camp will accept boys and girls who have celebrated their 9th birthday. Previously, the minimum age limit had been 11. The maximum age for Junior Camp enrollment remains at 14. Children will be assigned to cabins and participate in activities with boys and girls their own age.

To meet the increasing attendance at the Junior Camp, two 2½ week sessions will be held in 1965. The programs will be non-repetitive so that boys and girls may take part in both sessions. A discount is offered if a child is enrolled for the two periods.

The camp, now in its seventh season, is located at Zionsville, Indiana, 17 miles northeast of downtown Indianapolis. It occupies 52 acres of gently-rolling countryside and is easily accessible by virtue of the newly-completed Interstate Routes including the Indianapolis Circle Route 465.

The camp provides young people from the congregations in the five state area served by the Ohio Valley Council - and from St. Louis - opportunities for companionship for play, and for learning how to apply the principles of Reform Judaism to daily life.

Warm up your "Watusi" and dust off your "Dog"! You're going to Lexington's first Discotheque! (only Sisterhood's version has a band, the great sound of Dave Parry). Mark Down 7:00 to 1:00, Saturday night, March 27th, - in the Fiesta Room of the Holiday Inn East - on your Sisterhood calendar. Folksingers, Pat and Preston, will entertain, the money will help the Sunday School, and you'll have the Rock 'n Rollin' time of your life at another big Sisterhood "first" - The only Discotheque in the world with dinner and a live band!!!!

The Sabbath Theme

"THE WHOLE JEW"

Our Sabbath Theme this Friday is directed to the new membership of the Congregation - and there are about two dozen families who have joined Temple Adath Israel during the past year. Each new family will be escorted to Services by a Temple Board member. There are some old timers who may have met these newcomers to our congregational family, however, I am certain that they are not known to all of us. Here is an excellent opportunity for us to meet them and to find new friends.

An Oneg Shabbat will follow worship.

RABBI'S MESSAGE

President Johnson visited our city for a brief period two weeks ago hardly time enough for him to realize that he had left Washington. While his speech here was by no means earth shattering, it was of a generally inspirational nature and a charge to our Youth.

We read so often of the disillusionment of young people today, of their apathy, and lack of concern. There are those who justify this attitude by pointing out that they have known nothing but Cold War and fear atomic annihilation. But this is a very myopic view of what has been occurring during the past two decades. It completely overlooks the challenges and excitement which have been present in which Youth can participate. It overlooks the Civil Rights movement and the role that Youth has taken in this struggle. It overlooks the Peace Corps and the opportunities for service which it provides. It overlooks the increased role which education is taking in our society and the challenges which it presents. It overlooks the social problems which we are only beginning to realize and which are crying for people to help ameliorate.

Our nation is great. It is wealthy. It has a high standard of living. It has fine educational facilities. It still has many short comings. The challenges are everywhere for our youth. Mr. Johnson attempted to highlight this for us in his speech. The test of our mettle as a nation will be how all Americans rise to meet these challenges.

FRIDAY NIGHT IS FAMILY NIGHT

RELIGIOUS SCHOOL

On Sunday, February 14, the fifth and sixth grade Sunday School classes held class contests. The task of the fifth grade, which was studying about the Ten Commandments, was to illustrate each of the Ten Commandments in some manner. Based greatly on originality of the entry, the judges, Mr. I. A. Paritz and Mrs. James Frankel, chose Deborah Rubin's for first place and Gloria Baker's for second place. For her entry Deborah had written, added a comment of her own, and drawn a picture for each commandment. Gloria had put colorful pictures on a big piece of cardboard, which was cut out in the shape of the Ten Commandments.

The sixth graders, who had just finished reading a chapter in their textbook about nine of the Jewish holidays, were to illustrate each of the holidays in some way. The judges, Mr. Paritz and Mrs. Frankel, found their task a most difficult one, for there were five excellent entries. Based again, largely on originality, the first place winner was Jeanne Lyons and the second place winner was Faith Miller. Receiving honorable mentions were Patty Hymson, David Levy, and Ellen Liebman. Jeanne's entry was clay articles representing each holiday and put along a pathway to show the flow of the holidays throughout the year. Faith put her representation of each holiday inside open shoe boxes. A small Torah was awarded for first place and a book for second place in both classes.

"FRIDAY THE RABBI SLEPT LATE"

By Harry Kemelman

One seldom finds a murder mystery in which the rabbi is both a suspect and helps solve the crime. Yet here it is - together with some fine insights into the functioning of a congregation, as well as the expectations of the rabbi. Both mystery and non-mystery fans will enjoy this tale.

PURIM - A MAJOR JEWISH FESTIVAL (Begins at Sundown, March 17)

Two weeks ago, ten members of our Youth Group attended the Quai-State Inter-Sub-Regional conclave at Evansville, Ind.

Those attending the conclave were: Jeff Rosenzweig, Mark Rosenberg, Nancy Moskowitz, Susan Jacobs, Neill Marks, Joyce Rosenberg, Steve Cool, Mark Wides, Davis Rosenberg and Sandy Levy.

The above members were accompanied by Jack Miller, one of the Youth Group Advisors.

The Youth Group regrets the inability to put on the production "April Love" which was scheduled for Sunday, February 28. The reason for the film not being presented was company from which it was ordered failed to deliver the film and through no fault of the Youth Group.

On Sunday, February 14th, Mrs. Siegmund Benjamin, Mrs. Meyer Godhelff, Mrs. Max Kovinow, Mrs. Henry Meyers, Mrs. Lawrence Sherman, and Mrs. Shirley Rosenberg prepared a lovely meal for our Interfaith Dinner. Many thanks.

There will be a parents meeting a week before our conclave in Lexington. It is the responsibility of each parent to make every effort to attend this meeting to be informed of the plans for this event. When the notice of the date is sent to you, please reserve the 90 minutes it will take to learn what our young people are planning and how you can assist. We know you will want to be "in" on it all.

A request for pen pals has been received from three 13 year old members of Temple Sinai in Wellington, New Zealand. They are Richard Fogel, Martin Aarons, and Lynn Abrahams. Postage is either 25¢ Air Mail or by using an 11¢ overseas air mail letter form, available at the Post Office. Anyone desiring further information about this may contact Rabbi Leffler.

The colorful Jewish Festival of Purim which recalls the ancient Biblical story of Queen Esther and her fight to save her people from Haman, the Persian tyrant, will be marked by Jews all over the world in religious services and ceremonies beginning at Sundown, March 17.

The one-day holiday contains a contemporary message universally echoed at this time - the dedication to assure religious freedom for all individuals.

The word "Purim" means "lots" and relates to the method devised by the Persian Prime Minister, Haman, to select the day on which the Jews would be destroyed. Queen Esther, the wife of King Ahasuerus, fought valiantly to save the Jews and rescind the evil deeds of Haman.

The legendary story of how Haman sought the genocide of his country's Jewish population is to be found in the Biblical book of Esther. Early in Jewish history this book was copied on the rolled scrolls called Megilloth. While other Biblical texts were similarly preserved, the reading of the Esther Megillah has always received special pre-eminence in the synagual observance of the day.

Purim is a true holiday. The festive atmosphere predominates. As the scroll is read at the worship services, children and adults are encouraged to use noisemakers to blot out the sound of the name of the tyrannical Haman every time it is mentioned. Costume balls and parties are conducted in the religious schools and Purim plays are traditionally presented at this time.

The threat to the physical survival of the Jewish people as represented by this story was no mere folktale to the Jewish people. Throughout their long and often tortured history, Hamans have periodically sprung up to destroy Jews, using as their principal reason that Jews chose to remain culturally and religiously identified. Though an ancient festival, Purim's message gives it a contemporary ring which all people, regardless of creed must heed.

The Sabbath Theme

"THINK NOT THAT THOU SHALT ESCAPE"

The world is sitting on a powder keg of hatred - Selma, Vietnam, New York subways, Egypt, student demonstrations, mine strikes and countless other examples. Yet each of us has a tendency to sit in the quiet of our own personal world, calmly going about our business. Don't we need someone to rebuke us as Mordecai rebuked Esther when she showed a reticence to speak to the king on behalf of the Jews?

An Oneg Shabbat will follow the service.

Adult Education

The third in our series of five Adult Education sessions on the topic "The Family - The Jewish View", will be held on Monday, March 22, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Wurmser, 3409 West Ridge Circle, beginning at 8 p. m. The subject for this meeting will be "Adults and Aged." Succeeding sessions will be held on April 5, and 19, at homes of members of the congregation. The cost of attending each session will be fifty (50¢) per person or per couple (bargain rates). Members may attend any or all sessions, however, it is hoped the former.

RABBI'S MESSAGE

Within the past week there have been a number of articles in the newspapers dealing with the matter of the lack of complete integration in the Lexington Public School system. And we have also read with increasing horror of the treatment of both Negro and white demonstrators in Selma, Alabama. Both situations are worthy of our attention as Jews, because both situations emphatically illustrate how we as Americans have failed to see our fellowman as a human being. Rather do we see him as an usurper - wanting the rights which we covet, as an outsider - upsetting the comforts of our status quo, as an agitator - fomenting trouble where we never realized there was discontent before.

The message of worship has too long been confined to the relationship of the church-goer with his next door neighbor. Today we are seeing it greatly expanded - realizing that each of us is touched by the actions of those whom we do not know, of the community as a whole, by fellow-citizens in other parts of the country, by persons the world over.

For too long we have circumscribed the "brother" of our "brother's keeper" and the "neighbor" of "love thy neighbor" to the literalness of language. It is slowly and painfully becoming clear that these injunctions have universal applications which we are being forced to accept.

FOLK DANCE GROUP

(The following letter was received by the Temple Board)

Gentlemen:

We would be most appreciative of your help to a proposed Folk Dance Group. We are interested in developing a Folk Dance Group for all interested adults in and around the Lexington area. To our present knowledge such a group does not exist. We feel that such a group could not only be "fun" but is a pleasant and natural way to enjoy and learn about various cultural and ethnic groups. At present, we have some people who are able to teach Israeli songs and dances - we hope to broaden this scope.

What we need most now is the use of a facility in which to hold these dances. We hope you might find it possible to provide this space in the Temple for perhaps one Saturday night per month - probably the first Saturday of each month.

As to supervision of the group, I can share with you that I am a social group worker with abundant experience in working with groups. There will also be another social worker in this group with similar experience.

We would very much appreciate your consideration of our request and look forward to hearing from you in this regard.

Sincerely,
/S/ (Mrs. Joseph) Evelyn M. Krislov

The Sabbath Theme

"WE BUILD MEMORIALS"

One of the unique traditions of Judaism is the keeping of Yahrzeits, and connected with this custom is the Yahrzeit Board on which plaques may be placed in loving memory of deceased members of one's family. This Sabbath we shall formally dedicate our new Yahrzeit Board, which was donated by the late Jerome M. Lederer in memory of his parents, Stella and Leo Lederer. Mrs. Jerome M. Lederer will be our honored guest at services.

An Oneg Shabbat will follow worship.

RABBI'S MESSAGE

The Sisterhood is currently planning to organize a garden committee, and I must say that I am delighted. Flowers speak a language of beauty all their own and are very much a part of the beauty which is our sanctuary; they add a joyous touch to the Oneg Shabbat table; they beautify the grounds around the Temple Building.

We speak of worshipping God in the beauty of holiness. Here is means of enhancing the beauty of our worship, of our functions, of our congregational site, and the women need to be encouraged in every way possible.

Yet there may be those who will say, why can't we let the professionals do it for us? Why should we get involved in this? To this I would answer that Judaism teaches that man is co-creator with God, and that wherever our congregation can provide an opportunity for its members to participate in this work (and surely floral arrangements are artistic creations), and not hire it out, we need to provide all the encouragement we can.

I truly hope that this endeavor is most successful, for I know it will be rewarding for those who participate as well as those who view their work.

BOOK REVIEW: "Federalism & Civil Rights"

By Burke Marshall
Columbia University Press

As we read of the events in Alabama and Mississippi, many persons wonder - just what is the role of the Federal Government in the struggle for Negro Civil Rights? Why doesn't it interfere where rights are so flagrantly trampled upon? In this brief, but succinctly written book, Mr. Marshall attempts to delineate the limits which our system of government places on the use of federal police and judiciary in these cases. A book highly recommended for those confused about the legal aspects of the fight for Civil Rights.

SURGICAL DRESSING UNIT

A REPORT FROM OUR SCOUT TROOP

Temple Adath Israel may have another Rogers and Clark team hidden somewhere in its scout troop or in the boys yet to join this troop.

We have eight fired-up boys that are progressing wonderfully well in this new troop. All of them have achieved advancements and it should not be too long before we have all FIRST CLASS RATINGS. The Scout Master says that this is the finest group of boys that he has ever seen in one troop and capable of doing anything that scouting has to offer. As a member of the Scout Committee I will have to agree that this is a high type group of boys and a credit to the scouting movement. The Temple can be proud of its sponsorship.

Aside from a report on the progress of the troop, it is a call for supervision, and for more boys. We were handicapped at the outset, in that our Scout Master who first took over the troop was transferred out of the city immediately upon our organization. Arnie Lang did a good job in working with the troop until a permanent Scout Master could be found to replace this loss. At present, Conrey Ryan is acting as Scout Master for this and another troop and doing a herculian job. He is also the Scout office representative for the entire Henry Clay district and here is truly a man interested in and working for scouting. It would be hard to find a better man than Conrey but it is also asking quite a bit of him to do all these chores. If you know of someone who would, or could, serve as Scout Master in or out of the Temple, please let us know. If you know of more boys interested in joining scouting, let us know and we will do the contacting. We expect to get most of our boy scouts out of our cub pack at Temple and look forward to having them.

We welcome visitors at any time and want to see participation of both parents and Temple members. If we call on you for help, don't disappoint the boys!

The troop engaged in a FREEZE OUT OVERNIGHT stay at wonderful Camp McKee several weekends ago and all survived despite the rain and snow. They engaged in all phases of camping even with inclement weather and came through with flying colors and quite a bit of mud. Many more camp-outs and outings of various activities are planned, so hurry up and join if you are of scout age and more power to a rugged troop!

/S/ Jim Levenson

In Our Tradition

FRIDAY NIGHT IS FAMILY NIGHT

RABBI'S MESSAGE

This weekend, Temple Adath Israel will be host to Youth Group members from a number of congregations in the Southern Ohio Valley. They shall be here for a number of purposes - study, worship, elections, socializing, to name a few.

For a weekend of this sort to be a success, numerous factors must interact properly. The planning of the host group needs to be complete in every detail. No aspect or function of the weekend can be overlooked, so that the guests do not find themselves at loose ends during any part of the weekend.

The members of the host group need to be fully aware of their responsibilities toward their guests, that every possible courtesy be extended, that no one feel left out, that they attend every session and that they see to it that friendliness is the keynote of the weekend.

And the adults of the congregation also have a responsibility. If guests are staying in their home, they need to see to it that the out-of-towners respect the regulations established for the weekend and if they act as chauffeurs, they need to see that their charges are delivered and picked up on time.

A Conclave is a big event in the life of a congregation. It requires the full cooperation of all. Let us all extend a warm welcome to our guests this week and show them what a fine community we have.

The Sabbath Theme

"FREEDOM AND HISTORY"

In our liturgical year, this Sabbath is known as Shabbat Hagadol - The Great Sabbath - the Sabbath immediately preceding Pesach. The name is significant because it is the Sabbath immediately preceding the Exodus from Egypt, marking the freedom of our people from bondage and the real beginning of Jewish history.

An Oneg Shabbat will follow worship.

RABBI'S MESSAGE

Within the past few weeks you may have read of the discussion in Bowling Green about teaching the Darwinian Theory in the public schools and the concern of some parents about this theory's contradicting the account in Genesis. Shades of Dayton, Tennessee!

As I read of what went on, I realized how very unfortunate it was that there was no clergyman down there to speak out and straighten out the confused parents and members of the school board. There is no conflict between the two accounts - because they are not speaking the same language. The Bible is not scientific, and science does not speak in religious terms. If one can understand this distinction, then the whole problem disappears.

All too often our children confront us with a question of this sort, whether it deals with the scientific accuracy of Biblical account, or the history account of what occurred. And frequently we are not certain how to answer them. I believe we will find much more assurance in our response if we try to show them the truths in the Bible rather than stumble on the question of whether the Bible is true.

UNVEILING

MASSIVE RESEARCH OPERATION TO CREATE "LET MY PEOPLE GO"

WOLPER DOCUMENTARY TO BE SEEN APRIL 8TH FEATURES NEVER BEFORE
PUBLICLY SEEN FILM FROM SOURCES THROUGHOUT THE ENTIRE WORLD

The results of one of the most massive efforts ever undertaken in the preparation of a documentary film will be seen here on Thursday, April 8th, on Channel 12, WKRC-TV, Cincinnati, at 10:00-11:00 P.M. and on Channel 3, WAVE-TV, Louisville, at 7:30-8:30 P.M., when "Let My People Go" is presented by Xerox Corporation. Produced by Wolper Productions, "Let My People Go" is the result of a herculean job of research, screening and editing of miles of film, much of which has never before been seen publicly and most of which has never been seen in this country.

Producer-Writer Marshall Flaum estimates that he personally screened more than three-and-a-quarter million feet of film in his effort to assemble a documentary on the subject of the struggle of the Jewish people for a homeland. He spent over ten hours a day viewing film to make his selections.

In Jerusalem, he obtained film of early settlers taken in 1910. The Israeli Government opened its archives to him and private parties made available to him including the members of the Irgun and Haganah who filmed their organizations smuggling of immigrants and arms. He discovered film of Allenby entering Jerusalem on foot (walking into Canaan to capture it for the Lord) after capturing it in 1917 from the Turks, and footage of the Grand Mufti reviewing the Arab Legion.

More than 100 persons aided Flaum in finding film. Some of the German footage found was too horrible for inclusion in a television broadcast.

Sisterhood

As a result of the Sisterhood Inter-faith meeting last week, Rabbi Leffler received the following letter from Rev. Richard T. Harbison, Minister of the First Presbyterian Church in Lexington:

Dear Rabbi Leffler,

You and your people were so busy last night that I was not able to see you and express my appreciation for a very rewarding evening. I wanted to say that your part of the program was most informative, the displays in the class rooms were interesting and helpful, and the refreshments were superb - in fact, they were the most delicious I have ever had.

My one regret is that I left with the haunting sin of envy hanging over me. I covet your library, and the only way I know to repent is to take this as an incentive to try to develop such a library for these Presbyterians. So, thank you for the incentive, and please thank your ladies for the good hospitality.

Sincerely yours,
/S/ Dick Harbison

In addition, the Temple office has also received a call of appreciation from one of our guests, another person is borrowing some of our text books to use in a Sunday School class, and still others inquired as to where the books might be purchased.

The Sunday School teachers and the Sisterhood are to be congratulated for such an excellent program!

CIVIL RIGHTS

A letter has been received from Rabbi Maurice Eisendrath, President of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, indicating, that the UAHC has recently responded "to the profound moral challenge of events in Alabama" in the following ways:

1. An urgent appeal for increased federal protection to counteract "outrageous police brutality" was dispatched to President Johnson and Attorney General Katzenbach by the UAHC and the CCAR.
2. Rabbi Richard Hirsch, director of the Religious Action Center of the UAHC, was one of an interreligious delegation of 16 - - representing the Protestant, Catholic and Jewish religious bodies - - who met with President Johnson on March 12 to discuss in detail possible actions by the federal government. The religious leaders placed great stress on the urgent necessity for strong moral leadership by the President as well as prompt and effective new legislation to safeguard the right of every American to the ballot.
3. Rabbi Eugene Lipman of Temple Sinai of Washington, former director of the Commission on Social Action, represented the Commission in Selma at memorial services for Reverend Reeb on March 15.
4. The UAHC Religious Action Center helped prepare the joint testimony by the three faiths on the new civil rights bill to safeguard the right to vote. Rabbi Hirsch represented the Synagogue Council in presenting the statement. This was the second time the major faith groups have testified jointly before the Congress on urgent civil rights matters.
5. Under the impetus of the civil rights crisis, the women's groups of Reform, Conservative and Orthodox Judaism issued a joint telegram to President Johnson. Initiated by NFTS, an emergency meeting of the three groups was called to map out a joint program of continuing common action on behalf of the women in all three branches of American Judaism.

RABBI'S MESSAGE

Once again it is Pesach and so many of the happy memories of the family Seders of our youth are again brought to mind - the family gathering together, the busy preparations, the glow of the holiday table.

Pesach is indeed an exciting holiday! And one of the most exciting aspects of it is that it heralds spring. This is no chance coincidence, for Pesach was the early spring harvest festival of our forefathers in Palestine; the time when they celebrated the earth's reawakening from its winter drabness and that it was once again clothed in the green leaves and beautiful flowers.

We too, see this reawakening every year. It stirs our hearts to see the flowers again and it stirs the hearts of the gardeners to get out and dig. Its message of reawakening is an important one - for our lives are always in need of a reawakening - to appreciation, to consciousness, to beauty, to the bounties of life. May this festival of spring reattune each of us to the blessings of God's world.

Happy Pesach!

William J. Leffler
Rabbi

THE FESTIVAL OF PASSOVER

One of the major and perhaps the best loved of all Jewish holidays, the Festival of Passover, commemorating the Exodus of the Israelites as Hebrew slaves from Egypt, will be observed by Jews all over the world beginning at sundown, Friday, April 16.

Moses serves as the central figure in the Passover story found in the Biblical book of Exodus, but the true hero is God. The narrative tells of the time when the Israelites fled from the enslavement in Egypt under the tyrannical Pharaoh. The Hebrews were forced to endure bitter hardships at the hands of their oppressors, building pyramids and other monuments out of mortar and stone. Then, after a series of ten plagues, the Egyptian ruler bade Moses to take his people into the desert. The great story of Divine Deliverance from bondage is the theme of Passover and it is also the immemorial challenge to every generation of Jews to help break every shackle which enslaves man and robs him of freedom.

The Seder meal and all of the foods eaten during Passover are reminders of that struggle for freedom. Best known of the edibles is the matzo eaten during the entire observance of the holiday. Also found on the Seder plate during the home religious service are:

MATZO - Matzo is Hebrew for unleavened. It is called the "bread of affliction" and signifies the hasty provision the Jews ate while leaving Egypt.

CHAROSES - A Paste-like mixture of nuts, apples, cinnamon, and raisins chopped and mixed with wine until it reaches the consistency of the mortar which it resembles. It, too, symbolizes slavery by calling to mind the mortar manufactured by the Jews for making bricks, with which they built the palaces and monuments for Pharaoh. Its pleasant taste, however, symbolizes God's kindness, which made even the bitterness of slavery somehow easier to bear.

FOUR CUPS OF WINE - Each person at the table drinks four cups of wine to remind us that at the time Moses was sent by God to deliver the Jews from Egypt, four different expressions meaning redemption were used.

ROASTED SHANK BONE - (Z'roa) - This symbolizes the Paschal lamb offered when the Temple was still in existence.

ROASTED EGG (Chaggigah) - This represents the free-will offering presented on each day of the festival while the Temple stood. It is also a symbol of new life. The "Easter Egg" is a derivative of this latter idea.

MOROR - The bitter herbs that remind us of the bitterness of the Jews in bondage during their long stay in Egypt.

PARSLEY (Karpas) - The greens symbolize spring and the possibilities for physical and spiritual rebirth which that season makes us feel and see.

The Sabbath Theme

"AMERICAN JEWS AND JEWISH AMERICANS"

Jews have played a part in American history since the earliest settlers arrived. But because of the nature of our religion and its situation in respect to Christianity, we still are not certain of ourselves in society. Let us consider this question once again.

An Oneg Shabbat will follow worship.

THE INDIGNITY OF FRIDAY NIGHT PARTIES

"Friday night is Temple Night. To give parties and other social functions on the same night in the week dedicated to divine worship is to do damage to the dignity and self-respect of the family, the community and the Temple. To refuse invitations to such affairs given on the Sabbath eve is not a social mistake, but on the contrary, is an affirmation of spiritual integrity."

RABBI'S MESSAGE

April 25 - May 2, has been designated as American Jewish History Week.

Too few American Jews are aware of the background of the American Jewish community - the largest and most affluent grouping of Jews in the world today.

The history of how our people came to this country, where they came from and the obstacles which they had to overcome to get where they finally settled is as adventurous and romantic story as any novel.

Each of tends to accept the security and comforts of the Jews in America without too much thought. This is unfortunate because we fail to appreciate the struggles which were part of the lives of our pioneering ancestors, the uncertainty in leaving the old country, the confusion of a new land and a new language, the need to find a way to earn a living. What each of us is cannot be disassociated from what our forefathers were.

On the occasion of American Jewish History Week, I should like to urge you to visit the Temple Library and take a book out on this subject. We cannot understand our today, unless we are aware of our yesterday.

Sybil Stern reported on the progress of the Religious School, including both the improvements in this year's program, as well as the difficulties encountered because of increasing enrollment.

A motion was made and carried to present Larry Sherman with a token of appreciation of his work with the music program of the Sunday School.

It was voted to have the donated formica applied to the large tables used in the Vestry.

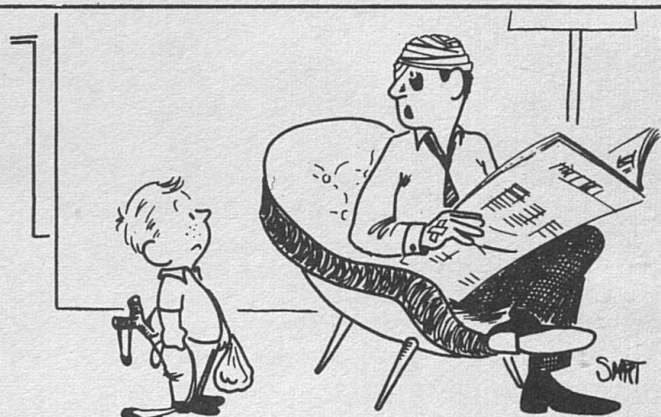

Jack Miller reported on the success of the Quai-State Conclave.

WHAT IS JEWISH IN YOUR HOME?

What do you do in your home that is required by our religion? Do you say the grace at meals? Do you kindle the Sabbath lights? Do you pray — when? Do you read our Bible now and then?

Attendance at weekly worship is important and basic but Judaism is not a religion for the synagogue alone; nor for that matter for the home alone. It is an all-time, all-place religion — a way of life!

We have heard many appeals to "do something about your religion." Better still do something with your religion!—Rabbi William R. Rosenblum

The Sabbath Theme

"TO KNOW AND TO DO"

Modern man is beset by countless problems. Some of them are ancient and seemingly eternal. Others appear to be the product of present-day living. As we face life we become aware of the things which we ought to do, but often we find that we are not able to carry through.

An Oneg Shabbat will follow our worship.

RABBI'S MESSAGE

The Jews have been called the People of the Book - and the Book refers of course to the Bible. And, in fact, the Bible is the record of our people during their earliest period in history.

But this designation is inadequate for us today. Jewish literature has many books and the Bible is just one of thousands of texts which have been the products of Jewish thinking, Jewish yearnings, Jewish history, Jewish learning. Synagogue libraries are full of books about Judaism - books of inspiration, books of instructions, books of facts, books of history, books of biography - books of every sort and description. The library is a veritable treasure house of information both for Jews to learn more about their own religion, and for non-Jews who may wish to discover what Judaism teaches about God and life.

Hillel said, "An ignorant person cannot be pious." His view is as relevant today as it was over 2000 years ago. The religious person needs to know what religion is all about. It is not just blind faith, but faith built on understanding and knowledge. There are many ways of obtaining this knowledge, and one of the best is through the reading of books - books which can provide the variety of insights which may not be readily available through an organized course of instruction.

The services of the synagogue library are at your disposal. The learning of our tradition is readily at hand, there, eager that you use it, and that you increase your adult understanding of our tradition and what it can mean in your life. National Library Week is April 25 - May 1. Let it be the time when you avail yourselves of this opportunity to increase your Jewish world.

(The following letter was received from Mrs. Elliott Marcus of Frankfort, Ky.)

Dear Temple Members:

Last Thursday evening we had the pleasure of hearing our Rabbi explaining the Seder and Passover, itself, for the Frankfort Episcopal Church of the Ascension. Many of these people are close friends and were kind enough to invite us to hear this with them. We were most proud and grateful for the beautiful manner in which Rabbi Leffler accomplished this task. Many friends told us of how fortunate we were for having a Rabbi of this calibre. We agree!

Sincerely,
/S/ Rena Marcus

EXCHANGE

The purpose of life is not to be happy. The purpose of life is to matter, to be productive, to have it make some difference that you lived at all. Happiness, in the ancient, noble sense, means self-fulfillment and is given to those who use to the fullest whatever talents God or luck or fate bestowed upon them. Happiness lies in stretching to the farthest boundaries of which we are capable, the resources of the mind and heart.

--- Leo Rosten

RABBI'S MESSAGE

One of the first requests which I made last fall when I arrived in Lexington was that a bulletin board be put upon the wall outside of my office. My request was most graciously accomplished, and since then I have been using the board regularly.

The purpose of this bulletin board is for you to look at and read. I am placing articles on it which I encounter in my reading, or which come across my desk and which you may not have had the opportunity to see but which I suspect would be of interest to you. They deal with many subjects, though all center in some way around Judaism - whether they deal with the Vatican Council and the Catholic schema on the Jews, with the Jews in Russia, with Civil Rights or with any other of countless topics which you should be aware of and informed on. The Board is changed frequently and as often as I find things to put up, I do so.

This bulletin board is for you. It is my way of trying to share with you some of the many facets of modern Judaism which I read about and which I would love you to know about also. Won't you make it a habit to have a look at this board (it is right outside my office door) every time you are in the Temple building. I'll try to keep it current for you, so that there will be something new each time you look.

MUSICAL EXTRAVAGANZA EXTRAORDINAIRE SCHEDULED FOR SISTERHOOD MAY MEETING

The ladies of the Temple Choir will display their extraordinary talents and versatility at the last and biggest meeting of the Sisterhood year, regaling their audience with a program that runs the gamut from Bortniansky to Bach.... from Psalms to Sholom Aleichem.

Rudy von Almen will both direct and accompany the singing group in the following program:

1. "Lift Thine Eyes" from Elijah, by Mendelssohn
2. "Lo, A Voice From Heaven Sings" a Cherubim Song from the Russian Orthodox Church, by Bortniansky
3. "The Twenty-Third Psalm" by Herbert Fromm (Flute Solo by Marilyn Lieber)
4. A medley from "Fiddler on the Roof", "Sabbath Prayer", and "Sunrise, Sunset" by Jerry Bloch and Sheldon Harnick

Vocalists will be Erna Abraham, Anita Baker, Mindy Kavinow, Marilyn Lieber, Marie Mayer, Jo Ann Miller, Audrey Rubin and Pat Wencker, all gifted and highly trained by Mr. von Almen.

New officers will be installed for the coming Sisterhood year at the luncheon meeting, which will start at 12:30, on Wednesday, May 19th, at the Campbell House!

Phone Mrs. Fernand Weil -- 266-6044 -- for reservations; and your musical treat of the season.

NFTS SPEAKER

Mrs. I. Allen Paritz, a member of the Board of the National Federation of Temple Sisterhood, was the speaker on May 4, 1965, at the Jewish Ladies Aid Society - Temple Israel Sisterhood in Columbus, Georgia. Mrs. Paritz spoke on Youth - Education - Sisterhood (YES Fund), and installed the officers and conducted a Board Workshop.

In addition, Mrs. Paritz was the speaker in March for the Temple Mizpah Sisterhood in Chattanooga, Tennessee.

HELP RE-BUILD MISSISSIPPI CHURCHES

A large sum of money is still needed to help the Committee of Concern, a group of clergymen of all faiths, in their task of rebuilding the destroyed churches of Mississippi.

Recently, the first of forty new church buildings was dedicated in Tongaloo, Mississippi.

Rabbi Perry Nussbaum, Jackson, Mississippi, reports that of the $50,000 raised thus far, about $7,000 has been contributed by Jewish groups. He said that $200,000 was needed.

If you are anxious to participate in a program of social justice, send your contribution to: COMMITTEE OF CONCERN, c/o Rabbi Nussbaum, Box 4766, Fondren Station, Jackson, Mississippi.

RELIGIOUS SCHOOL

The above photograph was taken of a display by the Elementary grades at the Sisterhood Interfaith meeting in March. It was an excellent meeting and one about which we are still hearing good reports. But perhaps even more important, it pointed up to us the fine quality of our Sunday School program. All too often we forget about this, and merely assume that we are doing an adequate job, however, when one is forced to consider the program, both the strengths and weaknesses become most apparent.

The last session of Sunday School for this current year will be on May 23, with our promotion exercises. After that we shall begin our evaluating and considering for the new year. Learning never really ceases - there are only vacations.

ATTENTION - 9th and 10th grades.....
The trip to the Church of the Good Shepherd has been rescheduled for May 9th. Please be at the Temple by 8:15 a. m. so that you may be on time for the 8:30 a. m. service. You will return to the Temple immediately after the worship.

A Message To The Jew

The following tale told by The Rev. Raymond W. O. Knowles, of Liberal, Kansas, was reported in "Guideposts," May, 1961. It has been picked up by the Bulletins of several Synagogues and is repeated here for its message to the Jew:

Grandfather would tuck his Bible under his arm and walk through the small town where he lived to Sunday school and services at the Baptist Church. For the last five years of his life he could not hear, and never heard a word of the sermon, yet he continued to go.

One day, I asked him, "Grandpa, why do you keep on going to Sunday school and church when you can't hear a word that the preacher says?"

"I keep on going," he replied, "even if I don't hear, because I want people to know whose side I'm on."

The Sabbath Theme

CIVIL RIGHTS

Summer is fast approaching - and we are in hopes that it will not be as violent a one as last year. Nevertheless, our theme for this Sabbath is Civil Rights, and our guest speaker will be Mr. James Clay of the Human Rights Commission. Mr. Clay is a native of Birmingham, Alabama, a graduate of Knoxville College in Tennessee, a veteran of two years in the Army, and has participated in the Eleanor Roosevelt Foundation Internship Training Program. He is a fine speaker and it is a real privilege to be able to hear him. His topic is timely, and one that you ought to hear.

An Oneg Shabbat will follow our worship service.

RABBI'S MESSAGE

There are many organizations in our community that work for worthwhile goals - for civic improvement, for cultural enlightenment, for social well-being, for human understanding. And among the latter group is the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

There is a local chapter of this organization here in Lexington and it has accomplished a great many things in the past few years. It has sponsored youth programs, Ministers' dialogues, community-wide dinners, as well as other worthwhile projects.

During the past few years, a member of our congregation has been extremely prominent in the leadership of the Lexington Chapter of the NCCJ - ably guiding its endeavors, setting continually higher goals for the organization, working diligently and tirelessly behind the scenes to bring about the success of each effort, gracing the dais whenever called upon.

I am certain that you realize that I am speaking here of Irma Rosenstein, a loyal and devoted member of Adath Israel. Her work on behalf of the Jewish community of Lexington has been outstanding. Her term of office in this position will shortly be over. Therefore, I feel it only proper that we pause briefly to pay tribute to Irma and thank her for a job most ably done and one which has spread its blessings upon all of us.

Theme

"THE SIN OF JUDGEMENT"

We all have opinions - about things, about events, about people. And often these opinions are formed on inadequate information, without sufficient knowledge of the influences at work in the situation. In our involved society, opinions are necessary, but faulty information often leads to ill-informed opinions.

An Oneg Shabbat will follow worship.

RABBI'S MESSAGE

This coming Sunday evening we shall have our Annual Congregational Dinner and meeting. This is an important event in the life of Temple Adath Israel for a number of reasons - any and all of which should impel you to be in attendance.

First, it is the one public occasion when the full scope of congregational activities is presented to the membership - when all of the many aspects of congregational life can be examined, evaluated, and when questions can be asked to clarify points of doubt or confusion.

Secondly, we shall be honoring two important groups within our congregational structure - our Adult Choir, which has added so very much warmth and beauty to our worship service; and our Religious School Staff and Faculty, who are entrusted with the Jewish education of our children.

Thirdly, this is your congregation. It often speaks in your name; it spends your money; its efforts are on your behalf. You need to be informed of its functioning.

And, last, and by no means the least, Sam Milner, who has served this congregation so faithfully and devotedly for the past two years as President of the Congregation, will be leaving office. In part, this meeting will be in tribute to him also.

For these, and no doubt for other reasons, you should be present on May 23rd, at 6:00 P. M., for this dinner and meeting. I'll be looking forward to seeing you there.

The Sabbath Theme

This Sunday is Memorial Day - a day originally set aside for the honoring of those who died in the Civil War. Yet, as time has progressed, its meaning has grown and deepened, and it has become sort of an American Yizkor. Memories are precious. As we live, we need to constantly consider that today's actions will be tomorrow's memories.

RABBI'S MESSAGE

Memorial Day which we celebrate each year on May 30th, was originally called Decoration Day - first designated in 1868 "for the purpose of strewing with flowers or otherwise decorating the graves of comrades who died in defense of their country during the late rebellion."

The idea of beautifying the depressing and drab is a significant one for mankind. It is a lesson which we learn from nature - when we see the bright colors of the flowers and the fresh green of the leaves return each year to cover over the pallor of winter's lifeless landscape.

All too frequently daily routine takes on the hues of a winter landscape - colorless, monotonous, all the same shade of depressingness. Each of us needs a personal Decoration Day from time to time - a moment when we can turn to enlivening our lives, when we consider the more delightful aspects of living, when we can remove some of the dross of daily doings and brighten up our personal landscapes with the freshness of new ideas, new friends, new hopes, new plans.

I sincerely pray that this coming Memorial Day will be one on which each of us considers the decorations which we have attached to our lives.

Theme

"ON BEING CONFIRMED"

Confirmation is this Sunday and thirteen children of our Congregation will be participating in our special service. It is a ritual with significance and meaning - not only for the youngsters who participate in it - but also for their parents, their families, as well as for the entire Congregation. Let us consider together the importance of this event.

An Oneg Shabbat will follow worship.

RABBI'S MESSAGE

Shavuot, the Holiday of the First Fruits, occurs this Sunday, Sivan 6. It is an ancient holiday, and is mentioned in the Torah five different times. However, unfortunately, unlike Pesach and Sukkot, the two other pilgrim holidays, it does not have an elaborate ritual or symbol connected with it - something which has "instant" appeal for the modern American Jew.

Nevertheless, it is not a holiday which we ought to overlook, for it can have a relevance for us if we but take the time to consider it. Traditionally, Shavuot is connected with the giving of the Torah on Mt. Sinai (which is why Confirmation occurs at this time), and we can utilize this occasion to reconsider the relevance of Torah to our lives as Jews. Torah does not mean law, as is so often stated, but rather teaching or instruction - and specifically religious instruction. But it is a peculiarity of Judaism that we see all of life as religious, and find difficulty in describing any aspect of it as non-religious, for every relation of man with his fellowman is a concern of religion - and specifically of Judaism.

Therefore, as we consider the holiday of Shavuot and its relevance to us, let us ponder the fact that the Torah was given on this day and that the Torah bids us treat our fellowman as we would wish to be treated - not just those whom we know - but all men with whom we have dealings. We have been instructed. Our carry-through is continually open to scrutiny.

Attend Sabbath Services Regularly

SUMMER WORSHIP SERVICES

With this issue of the Temple Bulletin, our regular schedule comes to an end. However, throughout the summer we shall be mailing you a weekly newsletter. Judaism does not take a vacation, even though most of us do personally. There will be services throughout the Summer on Friday evenings at 8:00 P. M. They will be abbreviated - but I should like to see you in attendance. Perhaps we shall have other activities, and I should like to feel free to call upon you for your assistance if necessary.

Do have an enjoyable Summer. Enjoy your vacation. Have a good rest from the rush of the year-long schedule and I hope to see you all refreshed and with renewed energies when we begin our regular program in September.

Sisterhood

SISTERHOOD PROJECT

The semi-annual rummage sale conducted by the Sisterhood will be held on Saturday, June 12. As usual, all proceeds will be utilized for the benefit of the Temple.

Household goods and summer apparel are needed. Those desiring to contribute these items are requested to bring them to the Temple by Thursday, June 10, or call Mrs. Eugene Straus (266-6349) for pick-up. It is necessary that all items contributed be in good condition and clean.

In addition, we need volunteers for sorters. Anyone wishing to help, please call Mrs. Eugene Straus for information.

The support and cooperation of all Temple members will be appreciated.

LOST AND FOUND

During the past months an assortment of lost and found items have accumulated in the Temple office. Unless these items are claimed within the next week, they will be turned over to the Sisterhood for their forthcoming Rummage Sale.

NEW TEMPLE MEMBERS

We are delighted to welcome to our congregational family Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Jacobs, who are living at 1746 Jennifer Road, Apt. D-1. The Jacobs' have only been in Lexington a couple of months, but we certainly hope that they will be life-long residents.

Mr. Jacobs works at Spindletop Research - as one of their able scientists, and Mrs. Jacobs is a registered nurse. She is presently utilizing her training at home, however, as they have a five and-a-half month old daughter, Robin Rebecca.

We wish the Jacobs' a most warm welcome and say Boruch Ha-ba-im.

* * * * *

Dr. and Mrs. Sheldon Rovin, 341 Jesselin Drive, have recently joined the congregation and we wish them a most warm welcome. Dr. Rovin is chairman of the Department of Oral Pathology, College of Dentistry, at U. K. They have three children, Lisa Beth, Suzan Victoria, and David Seth, and have come to Lexington from Huntington Woods, Michigan.

We look forward to their active participation in our congregation and hope that they will become a vital part of our Temple life.

REASONS FOR NOT ATTENDING A
BASEBALL GAME.....

1. Every time I went, somebody asked for money;
2. No-one ever spoke to me;
3. Though I was a good fan the coach never came to call on me;
4. The umpire said things with which I could not agree
5. The seats were too hard
6. I suspected that I was sitting with many hypocrites - so many fans seemed more interested in beer and hot dogs than in the game;
7. I have bought a book on baseball and can get as much out of it as I can at the game.

DIPLOMACY.....

The appointment of Justice Arthur Goldberg to the United Nations has raised the question of possible Arab reaction.

This situation is reminiscent of the appointment of Benjamin F. Peixotto as U. S. Consul to Roumania in 1871, during a period of excessive persecution of the Jews of that country, so that the U. S. might have as its representative there a member of the persecuted group. However, in contrast, Peixotto's appointment was made at the urging of one of the leading Jews of the time, and it was a non-salaried position.

PRAYER.....

to Rabbi William J. Leffler on the marriage of his mother to Mr. Merryle Stanley Rukeyser, on August 1, 1965 in New Rochelle, New York.

To pray for the impossible is disgraceful. It is as if one brought into a shed a hundred measures of corn, and prayed: "May it be Thy will that they become two hundred."

How should one pray? "May Thy blessing enter into the corn and not Thy curse."

BOOK REVIEW....."THE RABBI"
By Noah Gordon

Although this novel tends to over-emphasize the sensual aspect of Rabbi Kind's life, it does provide us with many worthwhile insights portraying him as both a human being and as a spiritual leader. In addition, the novel paints in very clear colors many of the strengths and weaknesses of modern American Jewry.

"GO AND STUDY"

We begin our new congregational year with a special service dedicated to the Jewish students at the University of Kentucky. They have come to Lexington in their pursuit of higher education; and this search is not only for secular knowledge but should also include a greater knowledge of their faith. Let us welcome them to our community and join them in worship.

RELIGIOUS SCHOOL

Religious School is off to an excellent start. We have a full staff and the latest and best textbooks available. September 19th is the first full morning. Please have your youngsters here a little before the 9:30 AM bell and pick them up promptly at noon. All children will be dismissed through the side door to the parking lot.

HEBREW SCHOOL

Hebrew School will begin after the Holidays. Parents desiring to register their children are requested to phone the Temple office, 266-3251.

RABBI'S MESSAGE

Once again our religious year begins. The relative quiet of summer is over and the organizations of our Jewish community have already begun to function, to send out notices of meetings; and to solicit the participation of their members in their many worthy activities and functions. And the Temple is no different - our activities are commencing once again, also, and I look forward to an exciting and spiritually rewarding year.

As is always the case, just about the first event which brings us all together is Rosh Hashanah - the Jewish New Year. It is a time of introspection and self-searching, a moment in life when we pause to consider life and our paths in it. And as we do, let us not only consider our own personal whereabouts, but let us go further and consider how our paths constantly cross the paths of others and that we are becoming more and more related to the totality of mankind.

Jewish tradition teaches that the world was created on Rosh Hashanah. On this Rosh Hashanah let us contemplate our relatedness to the world as it confronts us.

Alana joins me in wishing every member of the congregation a most happy and healthy New Year.

ROSH HASHANAH RECEPTION

Rabbi and Mrs. Leffler extend a cordial invitation to the entire congregational family to a Rosh Hashanah reception to be held in the Temple Garden (Vestry in case of inclement weather) on Monday, September 27, from 2:15 to 5:00 P. M.

First prize for the Brotherhood Dues Registration, a trip to Nashville, Tenn., with the Brotherhood to the Kentucky - Vanderbilt football game was won by Dr. George Pincus.

Second prize, a season ticket to Kentucky home football games was won by Dr. Lloyd Mayer. Congratulations to both from the Brotherhood!

A most successful dues drive was held Sunday morning and anyone that did not attend is requested to send in their dues.

Save the week-end of November 6th for Brotherhood's football trip to Nashville. Tickets on sale now. Contact Bill Wenneker, 277-4542 (home) or 252-3255 (office).

LUNCHEON MEETING WITH MUSICAL FARE

Sisterhood inaugurates its 1965-66 luncheon meeting with the musical fare of "Girl on the Cold Tweed Couch", a scintillating Sisterhood extravaganza about an earnest but confused, Sisterhood member who finds her problems too much to bear. It will highlight the opening meeting this Wednesday, September 15, at 12:30 PM in the Temple Vestry. Starring Jessie Mason as the doctor and Margaret Silbar as Sisterhood Sue, with Pat Wenner, Barbara Miller and Joanne Miller in the chorus, "Girl on the Cold Tweed Couch" is a Sisterhood version - with all apologies to the medical profession - of "The Medics." The entire production is under the sparkling supervision of impressario Joanne Miller.

Newcomers will be honored guests for this first opening meeting of the season.

The Sabbath Theme

"FORGIVE US"

Within Judaism, the period immediately before Rosh Hashanah is traditionally a time of penitential prayer. All of us err. We cannot escape this human failing. Thus, in order to prepare for the mood, the message and the meaning of the High Holidays, we need to seek forgiveness.

WHAT IS COMPASSION?

Compassion is the pain a father feels when his son hurts his hand playing ball; the pang a mother knows when her daughter is not invited to the party she had her heart set on; the concern a lover has for the least concern of his beloved; the anguish which touches a man when his friend bares his troubles to him; the tears a child sheds for the limp foot of his dog or the broken arm of her doll; the sigh a judge heaves when he must pronounce strong sentence; the care a doctor exerts toward a patient in pain; the dull tug at the heart of a soldier when he sees the destruction he has wrought; the help a businessman extends towards a failing competitor; the forgiveness a man grants toward one who has hurt him; the pleading of Moses when the people were to be destroyed because of their golden idol; the weeping of Rachel for the exiles who trudged by her grave on the bloody way to Babylon. It is the eternal mercy of the Lord toward the folly and misery of man.

—SAMUEL H. DRESNER

RABBI'S MESSAGE

This coming Monday the sound of the Shofar will be heard in our Sanctuary, an ancient call heard year by year during the High Holiday worship. And once again we shall gather to welcome another New Year with solemn worship and prayer. None of us can tell what the new year will bring to us and our loved ones. But, as in years past, we enter it with hope that the strife and conflict which has plagued the world for so much of our lives will be diminished, with the hope that human suffering and misery will be decreased, that understanding and mutual respect will gain a stronger hold in the hearts and minds of man.

Judaism bids us search our ways at this time of the year to seek out our sins of the past. And part of the sins of each of us is our participation in the contention of the world, in the strife, the ill will, the misinterpretation, the lack of accord. As we contemplate the forthcoming holidays, let us also consider our participation in these sins and the need for all men to strive for a better world in the New Year. L'SHANA TOVAH!

William J. Leffler,
Rabbi

ROSH HASHANAH RECEPTION

Rabbi and Mrs. Leffler extend a cordial invitation to the entire congregational family to a Rosh Hashanah reception to be held in the Temple Garden (Vestry in case of inclement weather) on Monday, September 27, from 2:15 to 5:00 P. M.

Rosh Hashanah

As the sun sets Sunday evening, September 26, Jews all over the world gather to observe the Jewish New Year, Rosh Hashanah, one of the most ancient and sacred days in their history. The commandments for the observance of the holiday are described in the Biblical book of Leviticus, compiled three thousand years ago. According to the Hebrew calendar, the year 1965 is the Hebrew year 5726.

The Jewish New Year is markedly different in character from the joyous, exuberant celebrations of other peoples. It is a profoundly serious day, during which Jews come together to pray, to examine their acts and their relationship to God and to each other, to remember the past and dedicate themselves to the future. It is the first of the great "Days of Awe," a ten-day period culminating in the Day of Atonement, Yom Kippur. According to Hebrew tradition, during this ten-day period man's fate is written down on Rosh Hashanah and sealed at last on the final, tenth day of Yom Kippur which begins this year at sundown, Tuesday, October 5. Orthodox and Conservative Jews observe Rosh Hashanah for two days, most Reform Jews for one. The two-day observance is the survival from the days after Diaspora, when Jews were separated and communication between them was difficult; since the Hebrew calendar was a lunar one and differed from the prevailing solar calendar it was feared that an error in reckoning might deprive a Jew in living in the Diaspora from observing Rosh Hashanah on the proper day.

The traditional Rosh Hashanah service centers around prayer and self-examination, but reaches an extraordinarily dramatic climax when the shofar (a hollow ram's horn, one of the oldest instruments known to man) is blown. The book of Leviticus refers to the sound of the shofar as a "blast of horns, a holy convocation." The sound is piercing and powerful; over the centuries it has symbolized many things to Jews ancient and modern; a call to battle, the tearing away of the old year and the past through repentance and forgiveness, a plea to God that he remember man, and an alarm to rouse man from his moral indolence to an awareness of his responsibilities toward God and his fellow man.

Though the holiday is a solemn, introspective one, it is colored by an underlying joyousness in its traditional songs and the poetry which has been incorporated into the service. The wish for a "sweet" year of happiness and fulfillment is symbolically expressed at the traditional evening meal; families dip a piece of bread or an apple into a bowl of honey in the hope that "sweetness" will flavor the coming year.

A CALL TO PARENTS

The following is reprinted from the Temple Bulletin of Temple Beth El in Detroit, Michigan. It reflects the thinking not only of our own religious school, but of religious educators throughout the nation. These ten points should be committed to the consciousness of all parents for the better Jewish education of our children.

1. Prepare your child for the opening of our Religious School. Give Religious Education the priority that it merits in your child's future. Impress him with its importance so that his attitude toward our school and his behavior within the school reflect your deepest interest.
2. See to it that he starts on opening day, that he comes on time and that he attends regularly.
3. Be sure that he obtains his books and school supplies at the very beginning of our school year.
4. Discuss regularly with your child the nature and content of our program in our school.
5. Become acquainted with your child's textbooks. Read occasionally a portion of your child's text. Your interest will serve as a stimulus to your child's progress.
6. Encourage your child to add a Jewish book shelf to his home library.
7. If ever your child's interest in his Jewish education begins to wane, bring the matter immediately to our attention so that jointly we can help him regain interest in his school work.
8. Share with your child various Jewish experiences. Religious services, Jewish holidays, Jewish books, Jewish music and Jewish art give meaning and value to your child's school experience.

9. As your child grows older encourage him to regard his religious education as a continuous and ever gainful process. Point out to him that at each age level he will gain from Jewish education a richer and deeper cultural heritage that will add essence and meaning to his daily life.
10. Take an active interest in all school affairs; be with us on visiting day; attend our school programs; join us during school holiday observances and celebrations and thus together we will share in your children's Jewish education. May we count on you as a co-worker in our mutual endeavors?

SUNDAY SCHOOL

Because of confusion in years past, no parent will be permitted to have his child dismissed from class before the dismissal bell without the written permission of Mrs. Sybil Stern, the principal of our school.

Parents are welcome to visit their children's class at any time on a Sunday morning, however, please check with Mrs. Stern before doing so, so that she is aware of your presence in the building in case of a phone call or other emergency.

HEBREW SCHOOL

Hebrew School will begin after the Holidays. Parents desiring to register their children are requested to phone the Temple office, 266-3251.

BUILDING & GROUNDS

The Building & Grounds Committee has been hard at work this year, as some of you have probably noticed.

The Sanctuary has been newly painted, as well as some of the wash rooms.

A concrete walk and steps have been constructed from the parking lot near Ashland Avenue to the front entrance of the Temple.

Another concrete walk has been constructed from the kitchen steps at the parking lot to the two hall doors entering the Sunday School building. This will allow access to the parking lot without the necessity of going through the vestry.

At present the hall doors to this walk can only be opened from the inside but soon we will be able to enter through them as well.

The fence around the parking lot was completed.

The curb in front of the Temple has been repaired.

BROTHERHOOD MEETING WELL ATTENDED

The opening Brotherhood meeting was well attended by more than 30 persons. Announcement of forthcoming events during the year were made and much enthusiasm was shown.

Mr. Gregory Shinert, Executive Director of the Lexington Commission on Human Rights spoke, after which he and Mr. Zirl Palmer answered questions concerning the status of Civil Rights in our community.

ATTENTION - ALL ORGANIZATION PRESIDENTS

Mrs. Louis Spandorf (phone 266-6026) will be clearing house for all dates for Jewish organizational activities. All presidents please contact Mrs. Spandorf and present to her your calendar for the coming year.

MR. MILTON SIMS..... 1937 Fontaine Road, who is associated with Welgo.

MR. BEN SCHWARTZ..... 1435 South Limestone, owner of the Stage Delicatessen in the Imperial Shopping Center.

Mrs. Metzler, who is Norman Wides' sister, is teaching the fifth grade in our Sunday School. They have two children - Malcolm, and Mrs. Paul Goldstein, and two grandsons, (and a dachshund, Snitzle). Mr. Metzler is manager of the Acme Wrecking and Lumber Company.

DR. AND MRS. ALBERT J. LOTT..... 765 Zandale Drive are former residents of Boulder, Colorado. They have three children, Sara, 5½ years old; Judy, 2½ years; and Joshua, 6½ weeks old. Dr. Lott is a professor of psychology at the University of Kentucky.

The Sabbath Theme

"ARE CHANGES NEEDED?"

This Sabbath is the Sabbath of Repentance - Shabbat Shuvah - the Sabbath during the Ten Days of Repentance. During this period we are urged to turn in repentance to God, to mend our ways and to attempt to alter the patterns of our past deeds. But - really are we all that bad?

YOM KIPPUR

From sundown October 5 till sundown of the following day, Reform Conservative and Orthodox Jews throughout the world will observe Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, the most sacred and solemn of the ancient Hebrew holidays. The observance of Yom Kippur is one which has remained unbroken for over two thousand years.

Yom Kippur, the last of the High Holy Day period known as the "Days of Awe" is universally observed by all branches of Judaism by fasting from sundown to sundown, by prayer and by a searching reappraisal of the individual's behavior, in his relationship to his fellow man, and to his God.

RABBI'S MESSAGE

Yom Kippur ends with a plea for a better year than the one just past. But I often wonder what each person means when he says that - what kind of a year should it be? Surely we all want health and peace, prosperity and happiness - but these are so general and vague.

Perhaps what is meant by a better year is that life should be more rewarding for us, that we should receive more personal satisfaction from our efforts, that our displeasures should be less.

Or, maybe a better year means that our family situation should improve - that there should be less bickering and contention, more contentment and harmony at home.

Or, perhaps a better year means that we will not have to face the same frightening headlines in the newspaper day after day - that men will learn to live in harmony with one another - respecting differences of opinion without resorting to the use of arms.

There are so many things that the term a better year means to each of us. I pray that we may see many of them come to pass.

William J. Leffler

The only significance of life consists in helping to establish the kingdom of God; and this can be done only by means of the acknowledgement and profession of the truth by each one of us.

The Sabbath Theme

Our Religious School has been in session for almost a month now and the children are becoming accustomed once again to the routine of learning. This year we have twenty new students in our school and as is our custom we shall have a special Consecration Service for them—officially and worshipfully marking the beginning of Jewish studies. This is a significant moment in their lives and a happy time for their parents and for the Congregation.

TYG MITZVAH DAYS

The Temple Adath Israel Youth Group is functioning! On Sunday, the 26th of September, we had a Socio-Drama which was a big success. The Nashiri, which is sponsored by the youth group, is now open every Sunday before Sunday School, from 9:00 to 9:30 A.M. There will be milk and donuts available.

On Saturday, October 16, the youth group will conduct a Mitzvah Day. If you have any work to be done, such as raking leaves, washing windows, etc., please call Mike Mayer (277-5487), or Pat Abel (266-8603).

NEW CHOIR MEMBERS

Mr. Rudy von Almen, the director of our choir would very much like to have a few additional persons to sing in the choir. He is especially desirous of securing a few male voices to fill out that section of the choir. Please - if you would consider singing, let Rudy know.

OUR CUP RUNNETH OVER.....

..... because of the wonderful people who help us "behind the scenes" in the Religious School. One such person is Mr. Harold Frankel. For several years, our supplies for classroom use have been secured and delivered by Mr. Frankel. Helping us to decide the main order at the beginning of the year is very time consuming. Harold is equally gracious about the little supplementary orders all year long.

If you peek into the second grade classroom, you will see a synagogue in the making. The basic wooden construction is by Harold Frankel.

The third grade purchased "The Holy Bible" for their permanent possession. All sixteen of them are beautifully covered in heavy clear plastic... by Harold Frankel.

For that extra devotion, please accept the sincere thanks of.....

The Staff and the students of the Religious School.

RABBI'S MESSAGE

The High Holidays have passed and Sukkot begins on Sunday evening. Sukkot is a holiday of mixed emotion for me - I always enjoy seeing the beautiful Sukkah which is built; I delight in waving the lulav and smelling the esrog, and yet at the same time, this holiday marks in a very visible way the end of the warm months and the beginning of the winter season. The leaves will fall off the trees, the flowers (which it seems like only yesterday I had planted) will stop blooming, the birds will wing their way south. The year, like an old man, is passing from one stage in its life cycle to another - and the muted colors of fall bespeak a sober joyousness, a happy sadness at seeing summer depart. Life itself flees away like a season, and our holiday reminds us of the rapid movement of time.

Despite this mixture of emotions, let me wish you all a happy Sukkot.

William J. Leffler,
Rabbi

The churches have been slow starters in their interest and participation in the struggle of the Negro for his civil rights. Dr. Spike, who is Director of the Commission on Religion and Race of the National Council of Churches, presents a fine summary of the history and groups involved in their struggle and then goes on to describe the problems which the churches have faced in mobilizing their moral forces to support the struggle, as well as the challenges which face religious groups in this area in the future.

CONGREGATION IN ISRAEL

At the recent Ohio Valley Council Biennial of the UAHC, it was voted to give financial support to one of the new Reform Congregations in Israel. As our part in this worthy project, an item for this purpose will be included in the proposed Budget for the coming year. So that you may understand the reason for this item, as well as the problems facing Reform Judaism in Israel, the following description of the Congregation in Ramat Gan, which we shall be assisting is included in this issue of the Bulletin as follows:

"KEHILAT EMET V'ANAVA (Congregation Truth and Humility)
P. O. Box 282
Ramat Gan, Israel

There are six Progressive congregations in the State of Israel. One of the two groups in the Tel Aviv vicinity is in the northeast suburb of Ramat, Gan, an economically advanced area of Israel where the population has been growing rapidly.

At Ramat Gan in 1963, under the leadership of World Union-assigned Rabbi Melvin Zager of neighboring Kfar Shmaryahu, a few dozen Central European residents formed Congregation Emet v'Anava. Since then the Reformers have increased in numbers and today count about 100 affiliated families. Well attended services are held regularly and the worshippers are drawn from the most highly educated elements of the community. Several government officials, as well as educators and businessmen, have been prominent in the administration of the congregation since its inception. Rabbi Zager presently conducts services, supervises the religious education of the congregants' children, and directs a successful adult education program.

The Ramat Gan congregation is already well known throughout Israel because of recent anti-Reform acts directed against its existence and operation. In the spring of 1964 a national political crisis resulted when members were prevented from worshipping in the modest apartment which had been serving as their synagogue. Orthodox pressures and pronouncements by the local mayor made it appear to some observers that the congregation had no future in that particular municipality. "Ramat Gan", however, became a rallying cry for religious liberty in Israel, and after extensive communication between leaders of the World Union and authorities in Israel, the matter was settled peaceably. Not all events since that resolution have been satisfactory, and the congregation -- more dedicated than ever to its right to worship as it sees fit -- awaits anxiously the time when its own synagogue can be built in Ramat Gan on land already generously offered for the purpose. Annoyances continue, but determination to persevere and grow strong have animated the imagination of Reform adherents in the young nation.

Since the Progressive community functions in one of the most prosperous areas of Israel, the local leadership anticipates self-support within a few years. However, much help is required at present, and many more residents will have to be encouraged to associate themselves before economic self-sufficiency is achieved. The World Union for Progressive Judaism employs the part-time rabbi and send a subvention to the congregation. Numerous needs other than the long-range synagogue construction project and full-time rabbinate must be answered. The provisional sanctuary has to be made more attractive, and in addition to other synagogue furnishings a Sefer Torah has to be found. Counsel and support in the establishment of a sisterhood, men's club, and other groups will be appreciated. The already existing youth group should have the cooperation of its counterparts in the adopting regions.

We welcome the following newly-weds to our congregation: Mr. and Mrs. Michael Ades, 1557 Alexandria Drive. Mike is an attorney and Harriet is at the University Medical Center.

HADASSAH DISCUSSION GROUP

The Hadassah Discussion Group will hold its second meeting on Thursday, October 28th at 8:00 P.M. at the home of Jesse Mason on the V.A. Hospital grounds.

The Sabbath Theme

"THE BEAUTIES OF THE SUKKAH"

Of all our Jewish holidays perhaps Sukkot is the one which appeals most to our sense of beauty - The Sukkah, with its boughs of foliage, with its corn stalks, with the colorful fruit and vegetables is lovely to behold. In addition our sense of smell is stimulated by the pungent aroma of the esrog. And we wave the lulav and hear its swishing sound. Our senses are stimulated by Sukkot; let us appreciate the beauty.

RABBI WILLIAM J. LEFFLER TO LECTURE AT PIKEVILLE COLLEGE

Rabbi William J. Leffler of Temple Adath Israel in Lexington, Kentucky will represent the Jewish Chautauqua Society as lecturer at Pikeville College in Pikeville Kentucky on Monday, October 18, 1965. The rabbi will speak at assembly at 10:00 a.m. on the subject "A Jewish Approach To Religion."

While on campus, the rabbi will present 18 volumes of Judaica to the library of the school on behalf of the Jewish Chautauqua Society.

The rabbi lectures on college campuses under the auspices of the Jewish Chautauqua Society, an organization which creates better understanding of Jews and Judaism through education. The Jewish Chautauqua Society is sponsored by the National Federation of Temple Brotherhoods.

SO YOU KNOW WHAT YOU LIKE!

Maybe you do and maybe you don't ! Either way, you're bound to know a lot about Pop Art and the other new movements in the art world after you hear Ada Gail's lecture on "So You Know What You Like" at the next Sisterhood meeting.....on Wednesday, October 20th.

An artist in her own right, Ada will point out what to look for in a painting and how to look at a painting. In case you don't go for this modern stuff, she might even show you what's to like.

"So You Know What You Like" promises to be helpful as well as entertaining. Call Mrs. Fernand Weil at 266-6014 for your reservations to next Wednesday's Sisterhood Luncheon. That's 12:30, October 20th.

APPRECIATION

Rabbi and Mrs. Leffler want to thank the many members of the Congregation who extended their Holiday wishes to them and to express in return their sincerest wishes for a good year.

RABBI'S MESSAGE

This Friday evening we shall be celebrating Sukkot during our worship service. In the past, Consecration has usually been held as part of this worship; however, this year, we are separating the services and devoting a Sabbath to each one.

Truthfully, I prefer it this way. Consecration is an important event in the life of our Religious School children and it deserves a special Sabbath unto itself.

And Sukkot is a beautiful holiday. It ought not be made part of another Temple event, but rightfully should be kept separate from other events.

Once again our Youth Group will be constructing the Sukkah on our pulpit. I am certain that it will be as lovely as ever. But just because our teenagers erect the Sukkah, does not mean that the Holiday is only for children. On the contrary, its message is for Jews of all ages. I look forward to seeing you this Friday evening, and greeting you from our Sukkah

Throughout history, Jews not living in Palestine have been considered to be living in Exile. Until modern times this situation was of minor consequence. However, with the establishment of the State of Israel, this concept took on new meaning. Where do we stand on this subject today?

RABBI'S MESSAGE

This week there are two parties to kick off the current U J A drive - the one major fund raising effort which cuts across all segments of our Jewish community.

The English word for this sort of effort is charity, but unfortunately it has a condescending air to it. Truthfully I prefer the Hebrew word, tzedakah - which means righteousness or correctness in living - which is a much closer approximation of the ideal of giving from one's material wherewithal.

We have just finished celebrating Sukkot, a holiday which recalls for us some of the temporariness of life - and included in this temporariness is our material well-being, for in one unfortunate stroke it could be consumed. Thus it is really only lent to us, for us to do Tzedakah with - to act correctly with. Therefore, I hope that you will act correctly, and be generous in your contributions to this year's U J A campaign.

William J. Leffler
Rabbi

YGS News

Mitzvah day was a great success and we thank everyone for your "sincere" co-operation. The Youth Group also constructed the Sukkah which graced our pulpit this past Friday evening.

Sunday, the 9th the youth group had a very successful meeting. It was great fun to learn about Jewish Folkdancing and everyone who participated enjoyed themselves. The nashiri is open every Sunday before Sunday School and donuts, chocolate and regular milk are available.

HADASSAH DISCUSSION GROUP

The Hadassah Discussion Group will hold its second meeting on Thursday, October 28 at 8:00 P.M. at the home of Jesse Mason on the V. A. Hospital grounds.

The subject is "Jewish Values and Modern Man". Everyone is welcome to come and take part.

For further information, please contact Joni Sobkov at 277-7878.

Brotherhood

The next Brotherhood meeting should be a live wire. It will feature a film entitled "This Is Our Faith," followed by a discussion on the subject, "What Do You Know About Judaism?" Rabbi Leffler will be present only as resource person, and not as participant, since the members of Brotherhood will be asked to express views.

Date for this event is Wednesday, October 20th at 6:30 P.M. in the Temple Vestry. Dinner is $2.25.....as great as the last one. Bring a prospective member with you.

Brotherhood president, Charlie Stern termed the recent Brotherhood Picnic "a huge success". One hundred sixty people attended the event held at the Temple property on Mt. Tabor Road. Each person had a box of fried chicken, cole slaw and french fries from Jerry's and all the pepsi he could drink. The boys (and a few girls) played football, with only one pair of pants as a casualty.

The picnic was the Temple's first official function held at the Mt. Tabor Road property.....the first of many.

President Stern reminded the community that tickets for the football trip to Vanderbilt on November 6th must be purchased as soon as possible while there still is space left in the bus.

RELIGIOUS SCHOOL

We are so very pleased with the early weeks of Religious School. The teachers are full of fresh, new ideas and it reflects in the faces of our young ones who are stimulated and challenged.

The music teacher, Mrs. Ira Gewirtzman, is teaching folk dancing and the singing accompaniment. Last week we peeked in as she was working with the youngest groups. It was a perfect delight!

The first teachers' meeting will be held on Sunday, November 7th from 12-2:00 in the Max Berman Memorial Library. This meeting will be for the Teachers of the Senior Assembly classes only.

The first meeting for the teachers of the Junior Assembly will be on December 5th.

The Sabbath Theme

The Vatican Council has once again considered the Schema on the church's relation to nonchristians and prominent in this discussion is the historic role of the Jews in the Crucifixion of Jesus. Why all the fuss? And what took them so long to consider the subject as they are now doing?

ACROSS THE BOARD.....

The secretary was directed to write a letter to Mr. Adolph Abraham thanking him again for the Celia Abraham Music Library.

Harold Baker and Mrs. Jay D. Weil were appointed to the Endowment Committee to replace Sam Milner and Maurice Hymson.

RABBI'S MESSAGE

I have been involved during the past month with the planning of what I hope will be a very interesting and thought provoking conference on changing patterns of Religion in the U. S. The conference which will take place on the evenings of November 2, 9, and 16 at the Lexington Theological Seminary beginning at 8:30 P.M. , will consider both the internal changes of religion, as well as the changes which organized religion is making as it confronts society.

Among the many sponsoring organizations for this conference is B'nai B'rith and the NCCJ, so that the basis of interest and participation will be as broad as possible. Leaders in many areas of American religious life will present preliminary presentations on the subject from their own viewpoints and then the audience will be divided up into smaller discussion groups, so that everyone will have an opportunity to air his own views. These smaller sessions will be chaired by persons from Lexington who are prominent in local religious groups, including a number of persons from our Congregation.

I am most enthusiastic about this conference and the opportunity that it will provide our community to learn about the changes occurring within different religious groups. There is no charge for attending, and so I hope that you will take advantage of the opportunity to attend them. If you would like to receive tickets, please let me know, as participation will be limited.

The following is a letter to the Sisterhood:

Mrs. Eugene Strauss, Pres.

Dear Mr. Strauss,

I would like to take this opportunity and thank the Adath Israel Sisterhood for giving me the privilege and opportunity to attend the NFTY Institute in Warwick, New York, June 29th through July 12th. I feel the experience was tremendous and I learned a lot from it. I only hope that I will be able to relate through my work with our youth group the wonderful inspiration that NFTY Institute gave me.

This camp is a wonderful experience which I will always remember. I hope that other girls from Lexington will have the privilege of attending NFTY Institute Camp. Thank you again.

Sincerely,
Joyce Rosenberg

.....because of the wonderful students who share their talents with us. Miss Marcy Hymson is just such a person. Marcy plays the organ for our Religious School senior assembly worship services on Sunday mornings. With Marcy's help, the students are learning our devotional hymns.

Marcy, a busy Junior High student, volunteers the time to learn and practice the music which greatly assists our teaching program and adds beauty to our morning.

For that extra devotion, please accept the sincere thanks of.....

BOOK REVIEW.....BERRIES GOODMAN
by Emily Cheney Neville

It is not often that one can read a book that is total pleasure. But here is one - a book primarily intended for teenagers. It is the story of a rather precocious little boy - Berries, whose real name is Bertrand - and his efforts to live as a real person, to overcome prejudice, and to see through grown ups. Smiles and tears are in this book, delight and frustration.....but it leaves you with a warm feeling. Take time to read this little book. It is in the Temple Library.

We welcome to our Congregation Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Kleber, 305 Glendover Drive, and their three children, Elizabeth Marc, and Pamela. Dr. Kleber is the chief of the Receiving Service at the USPHS Hospital. They formerly resided in New Haven, Connecticut.

We also welcome Dr. and Mrs. Nicholas Findler, 2167 Will Fant Drive and their daughter, Marianne. Dr. Findler is a computer scientist and associate professor at U.K., and they come to Lexington from Pittsburg, Pa.

There will be Hebrew Class this coming Thursday. Rabbi Leffler will not be out of town.

Kindliness is the beginning and the end of the Torah.

Rabbi's Message

My work at the Narcotics Hospital brings me into contact with people with whom most of us would normally have very little contact - persons who live on the very edges of society. One of the purposes of the hospital, and of my chaplaincy there, is to help these people to regain a foothold in society, to rehabilitate them if possible and permit them to once more live productive lives.

Within recent weeks I have had a most spiritually trying but rewarding experience there. One of the patients with whom I have worked very closely was ready for release and planned to settle here in our city. Together we worked to arrange for his employment, his housing and for his return to "civilian" life. So far everything appears to be working out well for him.

But of all the insights I received from my efforts to assist him, the one which distressed me the most was the general distrust of repentance. We speak of this concept in Judaism, as well as within Christianity, but we do not really seem to take it as seriously as we say. What can be done about this? I do not know, but I do think it is worth pointing out.

The Lexington Section of the Council of Jewish Women will hold an "Orbit" ball Saturday, November 12, 1965 in the Fiesta Room of the Holiday Inn (East). There will be dancing, skits and good food. The hours are from 9:00 P.M. until 1 A.M.

Mrs. Schatz's seventh grade room held a debate on whether Jewish life is more wholesome today than it was in the ghetto. Faith Miller was the team captain for the affirmative side and on her team were the following: Patty Hymson, Lynn Kavinow, Ellen Liebman, Elaine Levy, and Miriam Marcus.

David Fine was the team captain for the negative side and on his team were the following: David Levy, Philip Norris, Andy Hart, John Mickler, and Ricki Lyons.

The two judges were Mr. Joseph Marks and Mrs. Shirley Rosenberg. The debate was won by the affirmative side. Some of their points were: Their life was centered around their religion and it was a very important part of their life. The negative side stated that Jewish life today is more wholesome. Health was often terrible, and the people were superstitious. The captains summarized their team's points after separate reports were given by the team members.

BOOK REVIEW.... THE ANGUISH OF THE JEWS by Edward H. Flannery

The History of Anti-Semitism is a long and unhappy one. Of this, most Jews are aware. However, it has never before been presented to the world from a Christian standpoint, admitting the involvement of Church in this unflattering aspect of Christianity. Here is a book which must have been difficult for Father Flannery to write, but one which is well worth reading for all of us.

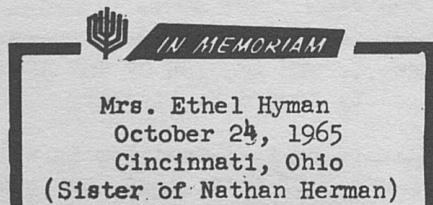

We welcome to our congregation Mr. and Mrs. David Doctrow of 3410 Woodside Way, who have moved to Lexington from Cincinnati, Ohio. They have five children: Mindy Sue, age 8; Jeffrey Alan, age 6½; Matt Douglas, age 5; Pamela Rose, age 2½, and Robert Mark, age 2 months. Mr. Doctrow is the manager of Jan's Shoe Store in Richmond. We know that they will be most welcome and at home here, especially since Mrs. Doctrow has some of her family living in Lexington.

RABBI'S MESSAGE

The end of this week I shall be leaving for the UAHC Biennial in San Francisco, and I must admit that I am looking forward to the meeting with great anticipation.

Meetings of this sort serve many purposes for me. One of them is that it permits me to place our congregation and what I am doing in a broader prospective. I can become more fully aware of our strengths and our weaknesses, where we are doing well and where we are not serving you as we should. I hear what other congregations accomplish and can measure it against our achievements.

Attending meetings of this nature also assists me to bring fresh ideas into our congregational program. It affords me the opportunity to sit and listen to others tell of what they are doing, to consider whether their successes might be adaptable to our congregation. No one can think of all the good ideas, and so the meetings give me a chance to study the programs of other Synagogues.

A third feature of the Biennial Assembly is the displays of current Jewish books, art, music and other Judaica which are there. We, in Lexington, are far removed from shops that specialize in this kind of merchandise, and so I appreciate the chance to feast my eyes and heart, to delve and take notes.

The Biennial serves many functions. The above are but a few that come quickly to mind. I hope that as the year progresses, I shall be able to convey to you much of what I shall gain by going to San Francisco.

SISTERHOOD

Reservations for Sisterhood luncheons should be made in advance! In fairness to the luncheon committee it is requested that you phone in your reservation no later than Monday prior to the meeting. The luncheon chairman starts preparation on Monday and needs to know how many to serve. Should she prepare for 35 and then 50 appear someone will go hungry. On the other hand should preparation be made for 50 and only 35 appear, there is quite a waste. Please cooperate by making reservations early and arriving promptly.

IT IS STILL A BEAUTIFUL WORLD

Go placidly, amid the noise and the haste, and remember what peace there may be in silence.

As far as possible, without surrender, be on good terms with all persons.

Speak your truth quietly and clearly; and listen to others, even to the dull and the ignorant; they too, have their story....

Keep interested in your own career, however humble; it is a real possession in the changing fortunes of time.

Be yourself. Especially do not feign affection. Neither be cynical about love; for in the face of all aridity and disenchantment it is as perennial as the grass.

Take kindly the counsel of the years, gracefully surrendering the things of youth.

Nurture strength of spirit to shield you in sudden misfortune....

Beyond a wholesome discipline, be gentle with yourself. You are a child of the universe no less than the trees and the stars. You have a right to be here....

Therefore, be at peace with God... and whatever your labors and aspirations in the noisy confusion of life, keep peace in your soul.

With all its sham, drudgery and broken dreams, it is still a beautiful world!

It's Your Child Welfare Department
What Do You Know About It?.....

Do you have a hazy picture of the Child Welfare Department?

Do you know how it functions? Do you understand its policies and procedures?

Have you any idea how you can help the department, your neighbor and yourself?

If any of your answers are "no" then you'd better get busy and find out what one of your important community services is all about.

Cookie (Mrs. William) Wenneker will give us all a chance to find out next Wednesday, November 17th, at the November Sisterhood luncheon at the Temple. Cookie, a relative newcomer to Lexington is a professional social worker with the Child Welfare Department. And, at next Wednesday's meeting, she will tell us what we should all know about Child Welfare, and answer our questions as well.

Be sure to call Mrs. Fernand Weil at 266-6044 and make your reservations for the Sisterhood luncheon, at 12:30, Wednesday, November 17thfor an enjoyable and profitable meeting.

It was approved that a new Stenorette be purchased for the Temple Office.

It was approved that the chains across the parking lot be not used until such time as leaving it open might prove a problem.

Rabbi's Message

This Friday is the beginning of Jewish Book Month. For that reason I am having enclosed in this issue of your Temple Bulletin a selected bibliography on books dealing with American Judaism.

The history of our religion in this country is a fascinating one and has countless aspects and facets. Unfortunately, most of us are only familiar with our personal backgrounds, our own family histories, and we overlook all of the glamor and excitement which has been part of the story of Jewry in America.

I urge you to consider this enclosure. Look at the wealth of interest which these books represent, the variety of subjects, the many areas of American Jewish life that are represented. And then, as your participation in Jewish Book Week, come to the Temple Library and take some to read, or purchase a few at a local book store, or check them out from the Public Library.

Celebrate Jewish Book Month.

The Sabbath Theme

In our nation of plenty we tend to take things as a matter of course. Ours is an affluent society and we seldom bother to stop and give thanks to anyone for the bounty which we enjoy. Yet there are many little things which are beginning to become apparent to us and for which we shall have to show a greater appreciation.

Rabbi's Message

Every year the nation takes a long week end at this time of the year. We think of the early Pilgrim Settlers and the rigors of their first winter. Children drew pictures of what occurred and families gathered together to celebrate a national holiday with religious overtones.

As we gather together at our respective tables to gorge ourselves on turkey with all the fixings, let us not merely consider feeding our bellies, but let us also consider the food for thought which this holiday presents. Let us think back to the days of our youth and consider the contrast between the comforts of today and then, in our material wherewithal, in the physical comforts we enjoy, in our material prosperity, in ease of living, in countless other areas of our daily existence.

Thanksgiving is not only a time for overeating, it is also a day of pondering and considering the blessings for which we should give thanks.

Have a Happy Holiday!

The eighth grade, on November 7, presented the first of many assembly programs to be shown to the Sunday School. A short service preceded a play taken from Dicken's A Christmas Carol. The participants in the play were the following: Jay Adelstein, Jay Hymes, Marcy Hymson, David Jacobs, Jody Gershman, Steve Goodman, Joan Leach, James Liebman, Maxine Lowenthal, Jeff Marks, Carl Meyers, Ann Rosenstein, Richard Rozen, Gigi Strauss. Carol Rosenthal, Mike Ruttenberg, Barbara Ruttenberg, and Mike Rosenberg. The play entitled "A Hanukkah Story" and the service lasted one-half hour.

There will be a meeting of the Religious School teachers of the Junior Assembly on Sunday, December 12th at noon.

The Hanukkah Carnival will be on Sunday, December 19th from 2:30-5:00 P.M. The Youth Group is in charge.

Once again we shall have a Hanukkah Menorah contest. Every student in Sunday School is eligible to enter. The Menorahs may be made out of any material the student may choose and decorated in any way. However---NOTE The menorahs are to be the work of the students and not their parents.

The Menorahs will be judged in the Library during the Hanukkah Carnival, and prizes will be given for the best in each grade category--pre-kindergarten to second, third to sixth, and seventh to tenth.

The next time you're in the Temple notice the display of Mrs. Rozen's Fifth Grade class in the cabinet in the entry hall.

There will be no Religious School on December 19 and 26.

Hadassah

Hadassah will present as a "bonus" speaker, Dr. Alton Shiloh, who served from 1954 until earlier this year as staff anthropologist with the Hadassah Medical organization in Jerusalem, at 8 P.M. Wednesday, December 1, in the Temple Vestry.

Dr. Shiloh, now staff anthropologist and director of the Behavioral Science Unit of the Veterans Administration Hospital at Downey, Ill., will be in Lexington December 1 to address a luncheon session of the U.K. Medical Center Patient management Conference. His host, Dr. Murray Menter, chief resident of the UK Department of Medicine, will introduce him at the evening Hadassah session, which is open to husbands and guests.

Refreshments will be served at the evening session.

"Art of Israel," an exhibition of more than 50 works by leading contemporary Israeli artists, will be presented Sunday, November 28 through Saturday, December 11, at Doctor's Park, 1517 South Limestone Street, under joint sponsorship of the Lexington Art League and the Lexington Chapter of Hadassah.

As of this date, Pack 222 cannot continue unless some parents are willing to give of their time and energy. We need at least two more Den Mothers and two assistant Den Mothers, as well as a Cubmaster. It would be a shame, if, on the 10th anniversary of Pack 222, the Pack folded. Parents, PLEASE! One of the major areas of disagreement in national policy at the moment is our role in Vietnam. There are those who support our efforts and those who are highly critical - and many who feel unqualified to take any stand. Yet all of us proclaim we are for peace. But do we know what it is?

The December dinner meeting of the Leadership Institute for Board Members and their spouses will be held Thursday, December 9, at 6:15 P.M. at the Campbell House. Rabbi Charles Mintz will speak.

Our apologies to Mr. Samuel Milner for the omission of his name in the congregation letters which were sent out to the members.

Rabbi's Message

Within the past few weeks there have been a number of articles in the newspapers pointing to an increase in the amount of cheating going on in our American school system. Various reasons have been given for this activity, including the pressure upon students to get good grades so that they will be accepted into college, the competition for academic honors, and often the over expectations placed upon their abilities. Surely it is not the effect of only one cause.

But whatever the reason for the increase in cheating, the upsurge in this form of dishonesty among our young people should be of grave concern to us, because it is highly reflective of adult society. We are really culturally ill if we place so much undue pressure upon our children that they cannot be themselves, if we are not satisfied with their producing at their honest level of work, if we give them so many other interests that they cannot devote time to learning what it means to develop into human beings with honesty, integrity and the ability to say, -"this is beyond my ability to do."

A nation that encourages and accepts dishonesty in its young people is in a sorry way. For within a few years these same young people will be adults, teaching the same values to their children. Is this the kind of outlook that we want for ourselves, for our children, for our grandchildren. I have my doubts! Then we need some honest reevaluation of expectations which we accept for ourselves and for our children. Are grades really that important? Is social status really that necessary? Is cheating justified to achieve our goals? Or does our educational system and the scale of values we have placed upon it need some serious rethinking? Let us at least ask the questions.

Adult Education

What do you know about Judaism? Why we celebrate our holidays? What is Israel? What is Torah? What is the Messiah to be like?

This year our Adult Education Committee is planning a series of five sessions, based on the Book Basic Judaism. They will be held on succeeding Thursday evenings, beginning January 13 from 7:30-9:30 in the Temple Library and taught by Rabbi Leffler. Registration for the course is $2.50, which includes the text book.

If you wish to participate, call 266-3251.

MY TEMPLE

Brick and stone and wood do not make a Synagogue. They make a building. People make a Synagogue. It's people that give the brick and stone a character and a personality. As you and I walk by the Temple we do not say, "That's a House of Worship." We say, "That's my Temple." And the word "my" tells the whole story. There is an intimate bond between the building and us. We belong to each other -- not merely in a public communal sense, but in an intimate kind of way.

The Temple is no mere building. It is newly born babies, and little children, and young men and women, and just married husbands and wives. It is middle age and old age. It is companionship and loyalty and love and hope. The Temple is memory; it is dear ones, the living and the dead. "It is MY Temple; for my life is anchored there."

THE OLD CELLIST'S PRAYER

"Lord, let me never teach a note that is not divine,—
That does not help some soul to better live.
Make me respect my material so much that I shall not shirk.

Help me to be honest toward Art and Loyal to the best in Life.

Teach me to be pure as the happy children whom I lead.

Give me the tone-color that is but a reflection of the inner light of perfect peace with God and Man.

Let me hold to Ideals, for there is an enormous expenditure of energy in the pursuit of the Unreal.

Keep me from caring more for Art than for human needs—more for Perfected Bow than for the Unbent Twig.

Guide me in my work that I may do the best that I can in the face of absolute Truth; and when, Lord, my work is done, grant me but a modest competence,— enough to make the path a little easier as the Light grows dim and the hands become too feeble to guide the Staff. Then take me Home, for I shall be tired—very tired after the long journey."

Rabbi's Message

This past Sunday, the five upper grades in Sunday School took a field trip to see the Collection of Israeli which was on exhibit at the Doctors' Park on South Limestone.

Sybil Stern suggested that we do this and I thought it was a fine idea for a number of reasons.

First it was an opportunity to introduce our youngsters an aspect of culture with which they normally have minimal contact -- modern painting, for I believe that one of the purposes of a religious education is to make a person sensitive to the beauty of life in its many forms.

Secondly, it was an opportunity to introduce the youngsters to an aspect of Modern Israeli life which is of universal significance. So much of what we read and hear about Israel is weighted with chauvanism, that this was an opportunity to encounter Israel on a level at which this bias was irrelevant.

And thirdly, the youngsters were afforded an opportunity to realize that our religious school is not routine, but that we alter our schedule, We consciously seek to make it different for them and to bring into their learning processes as much excitement and variety as possible.

I hope that you had an opportunity to see the exhibit yourself, and that if your youngster was among those whom we took to see it from Sunday School, that you discussed your impressions of it with him and had the opportunity to compare notes.

From my experience, our children sorely need to have the opportunity to discuss matters in which honest difference of opinion is encouraged.

Rather it is not an arm, it is the essence of the issue -- not the organization of economy so much, but as the supremacy of moral law, and therefore, the right of the individual, his right to be protected by the state and not be at the mercy of the state.

The Sabbath Theme

More and more we are losing our sense of rightness. Actions and ideas are being judged not by some objective standard, but by what others think, by consensus. What is this doing to us as human beings? Dare we not ask?

YOU STILL HAVE TIME

To do your last minute Hanukkah shopping. The GIFT SHOP has a wide selection of menorahs, dreidles, candles, books and decorations for all your Hanukkah needs.

WHO CARES?

Our constituents do not know poor people just as they do not know Negroes. We live on the manicured country-club side of town -- or even better, in the outer reaches of suburbia. The poor are invisible to us except for the fleetest glances from airline limousines as we speed to the hotel, or from the flashing windows of our suburban trains. The poor are abstractions, statistics, problems; they are not human beings. How do we move the haughty hearts of people long preoccupied with the stock market, the golf game and plans for the next trip to the Greek Isles? It will not be easy and it may be impossible, but if we cannot do it we will be neither leaders nor relevant to the changing world of community relations and social action.

Rabbi's Message

This Saturday evening we light the first candle of Hanukkah -- the holiday which commemorates the victory of the Maccabees over the forces of Antiochus Epiphanes. It's a holiday celebrated with joy and excitement, with Latkes and dreidels, with carnivals and plays, with candles and songs. We greet each other with the phrase Happy Hanukkah.

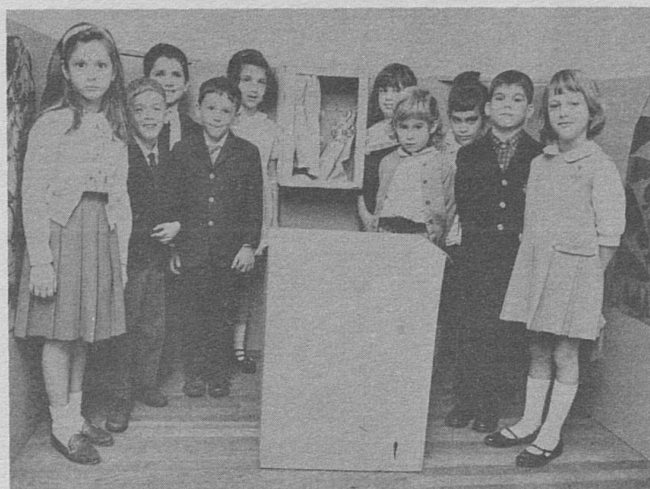

But, as I consider it, I would suggest that we drop the word happy and substitute for it the word meaningful. Holidays are celebrated so that a message of importance may once again be brought to mind for us; it is a refresher course in the meaning of a religious teaching. And it seems to me that happy is just not appropriate, that we ought not just expect the holiday to be happy, but that the holiday needs to be meaningful.

Consider what Hanukkah commemorates -- the first time that men stood up and fought for religious freedom, the right not to be coerced into worshipping as they did not please. How relevant this is when we consider the history of religion in our western culture -- that only this very month has the Roman Catholic Church issued a statement on "the right of the person and of the communities to social and civil freedom in matters of religion" -- more than 2100 years after the Maccabees fought to establish this principle. Rather a long time to gain wide spread acceptance!

Let us not take religious freedom for granted. Let us realize its tremendous importance and value. May you have a meaningful Hanukkah.

Our Jewish Anxieties

Recently there have been a number of bold headlines in the newspapers about Jews and Judaism. We read that Reform Jews appear to be opposed to the government's policies in Vietnam, that the Vatican Council has cleared us of any guilt in the crucifixion, that a rabbi's good government award was retracted by an American Legion Post, that a Jew who had been in a prominent Klu Klux Klan position had committed suicide. Regardless of the fact that headlines are frequently misleading, as I listened to the reactions within our community, it struck me that we are still very insecure as Americans. We find it difficult to accept a minority position on a public matter, to accept the fact that Jews can be the bad guys, that Jews should have headlines in any but a laudatory manner.

With all of this, I think that perhaps it is necessary for us to reconsider our position in American society, to ask whether we really are as secure and as accepted as we like to bally hoo. Do we feel as much at home in America as we like to proclaim, or are we still the outsider, the guest of Christian America - as much as we may protest to the contrary -- for strangely, our reactions do not coincide with our words.

In a recent issue of the New York Times, there was an interesting article on the situation of the Jews in South Africa. It was pointed out that "the South African Jewish Board of Deputies, which calls itself 'the official mouth piece' of the community of 116, 000 people," has maintained an embarrassed, ambiguous silence on apartheid. Silence - the worst of sins, as Rabbi Prinz pointed out in Washington during the March in 1963 - silence is the policy of this Jewish community - silence in the face of a tremendous moral crisis within their nation.

Why silence? Because, as the article points out, because of the desire not to make trouble, not to rock-the-boat in an emotionally charged situation, where if a rabbi were to speak out, his words would immediately be taken to be representative of an official Jewish position. Yet were the Anglican bishop to attack apartheid, no one would assume that he were speaking for all the English speaking community -- a rather strange turn about when one considers that we have no hierarchy, and the Anglicans do.

This silence on the part of Jewish leaders - silence because of an overwhelming anxiety on the part of the Jews of South Africa, citizens of that country is out of fear to take a stand in opposition to what their government is doing.

I wonder, are we Jews in this country as anxious as the Jews of South Africa? I have my suspicions - all the public proclamations of assimilation and acculturation to the contrary - whether in New York or Miami, in San Francisco or Lexington, despite the Jewish mayors and the Jewish congressmen, the Jewish judges and the Jewish diplomats.

Let me give you a few examples to consider. Suppose that the next Russian spy to be uncovered in this country is named Ivan Cohen; or that the next student to publicly burn his draft card is named Jacob Bernstein; or the next person to sell his home to a Negro in a white section of Lexington is named Isadore Rabinowitz. What then: How will we feel? What will we say when our non-Jewish friends discuss the incident? How will we react to the headlines?

These are legitimate questions to ask when we begin to consider our place as Jews in American society. I say this because too often we forget that Judaism is a unique religion. Too often we want to be like the Jews of Germany - more American than Jewish - until the cards are down and then unfortunately, we do not have the fortitude or background of commitment to withstand adversity.

Judaism is unique because ours has been the role of conscience to the world. How we have been treated and fared has been reflective of the people among which we have resided. Admittedly this is not a comfortable role, but then was man created just to live comfortably? But surely the role is an important one in the history of mankind, one that is noble and a challenge, yet one that has prevented us from living the ordinary life of those among whom we dwelt - that has caused us by word and by deed to be dissenters from the general patterns of behavior - whether because of the ghetto walls, because we were not of the majority religion, or just because we were obviously different and did not conform to all of the patterns of the general culture.

Thus, anxiety because of dissent is nothing new to us as Jews. We have always faced this sort of a situation - whether in pagan Greece, in Christian Spain, in Moslem North Africa or in Czarist Russia. We have always been in the culture of the area in which we dwelt, but never of the culture. And despite our efforts to assimilate and acculturate in this country, our actions and our reactions still indicate that we feel this difference still is present. We are not certain of our status. We ask why we should be singled out as Jews when something occurs. We wonder why they should point a finger at us collectively.

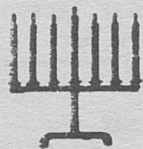

Perhaps the answer goes back to the very nature of Judaism and the basic idea of a covenant between Israel and God - that we are an, a special people, a people treasured by God - set aside by Him to be different - not better - but more sensitive to injustice, to inhumanity, to personal and social wrong - to react more than other people in countless situations. Admittedly this is a theological idea, and not one which is scientifically verifiable. Nevertheless, historically it has some basis, especially when we note the number of Jews who have been involved in movements for social betterment.

Thus as we consider our situation, our anxieties over what Jews do and say in criticism of the status quo - whether economic, social, political, or personal - criticism that says that that which is and is being done is not the best that we can do, that we can do better if we would but try - let us react with anxious concern concern not that what is being said is unpopular, or unpatriotic, or un-something else. But that perhaps we can do other than what we are doing and that to seek a better, more equitable, a more satisfactory approach merits our concern. Thus let us channel our anxieties so that we may realize our religious heritage as descendants of the Prophets of Israel, of men who challenged that which was accepted as satisfactory in their own time and who reminded their contemporaries that far more could be expected of them. This is an anxiety worthy of us as Jews.

The Sabbath Theme

This Friday evening is our annual College Homecoming Service, a time to worship with those young people from our congregation who have been away at college. After the service join them in a discussion on the subject: The Place of Social Concern on the Campus, keynoted by a sermonette by Mark Rosenberg.

There will be no Religious School on December 19 and 26.

There will be a Teachers' meeting for teachers of the Senior Assembly on Sunday, January 9th at 12:00.

Report cards are being sent out to the parents. Please contact your child's teacher if you wish to discuss his performance in Sunday School.

Rabbi's Message

One of the major concerns of parents today is for the education of their children. Even if he is not such a good student, his parents often expect him to attend college.

And so we find that a large portion of our young people in their late teens and early twenties are students - sent off to college to learn more about life and how to make a living.

And they are learning - not only from books - but learning about the world into which they are returning and of which they will have a part. And many of these are not happy with what they are finding, what we adults have been doing with this world. And quite frankly it is not in the best of condition. There are countless reasons for concern - and they are showing their concern - a concern for the cessation of fighting in South East Asia, a concern for human rights and dignity, a concern for human welfare and well-being.

Not all campuses are the same in their manifestations of this concern, but it is to be found in one form or another on each campus. Therefore I have asked some of our college students to discuss with us The Place of Social Concern on the Campus - indicating what they see and feel on this subject.

Frequently the press accounts are inadequate to convey to us the college climate on this subject. Join me in worshipping with our young people and then in our discussion of this subject as we consider with them their reactions to the ferment which is currently occurring on the American campus.

The Sabbath Theme

This Sabbath is New Years Eve. The festivities and parties to celebrate the demise of 1965 and the birth of 1966 will be uppermost in the minds of all. But pause a moment. Let us be grateful for the blessings of the past year. Let us also pray that the new year will bring great well-being to all men. Let us worship in the Sanctuary before we celebrate.

Rabbi's Message

In a recent issue of Newsweek there was a lengthy article about Jewish charity pointing out its vastness, and its many aspects of big business. It also compared the high pressure salesmanship of many of the charities to the traditional Jewish view of Tzedakah - that the giving of one's wherewithal to those less fortunate is a religious obligation - on a par with study and worship.

I have recently spoken with one of the leaders of our Central Kentucky UJA Federated Drive, a fund which encompasses 27 worthwhile organizations; and he indicated to me that the response to this year's appeal is well below the level that ought to be expected. I find this a sad commentary on the calibre of our community - to think that a Jewish community, which prides itself on its many attainments, is failing so miserably in this important area of its responsibilities.

Conspicuous consumption is a part of our society. At the same time though we need to ask: Is my contribution to the Federated Drive commensurate with my comfortable house? Is it commensurate with my new automobile? Is it commensurate with the cocktail party I recently gave? Is it commensurate with my vacation plans? No one can answer these questions for you but they certainly can ask them of you.

As you consider your contribution to the UJA Federated Drive, why not ask these questions of yourself - before someone else asks you?
