FROM THE RABBI'S DESK

I recently saw the film The Color Purple, which is a fine moving motion picture. It portrays the story of a black woman and her struggle to assert herself as a person primarily in southern black society in the first four decades of this century. I strongly recommend it to you as a film worth seeing.

I say this for a number of reasons. The audience contained a larger number of blacks than I have ever seen in the movie theatre in Lexington. This film must really speak to them in terms that most motion pictures do not achieve. At the same time, its message is a very human one, in the sure way that Fiddler on the Roof is able to meld a universal message to a particularistic story. As Jews, we appreciate the latter awareness, we need to see that this phenomenon can break down other cultural distinctions also.

A second facet of the film is the Jim Crow attitude which appears in a limited part of the film. So many of the ways of that outlook are no longer legal or socially acceptable. At the same time, there are still residual aspects of it present in American society (the recent housing incidents in Philadelphia testify to this). Our forthcoming observances of Martin Luther King, Jr. day testify to this sorry aspect of the reasons that I shall be participating in a dialogue with Reverend Benjamin Baker after services on January 17th.

And a third reason for seeing this film is that it presents a family pattern which is very different from the one most of us know and idealized, but one which I suspect is not atypical for many Americans as we would like to think. Marsha Willis Fredman, a member of our congregation, a social worker and the consultant to the recent United Way study on human abuse, talked to the congregation on January 10th at our Pizza and Coke Shabbat on Human Abuse, a topic with which not too many of us are familiar, but one that is in the forefront of social awareness today.

Go see The Color Purple. It has a great deal to see on many levels.

CONGREGANTS AT T.A.I. TO BE SURVEYED

With input from the Long Range Planning Committee, a Temple questionnaire has been designed and will be sent in mid-January for congregants to complete. We will then be able to formulate programs at the Temple based on members' interests.

Please make every effort to complete and return this questionnaire at your earliest convenience! Your interest is vital for the Temple to continue moving in positive directions.

MARTIN LUTHER KING'S BIRTHDAY COMMEMORATION

Temple Adath Israel, under the auspices of the Social Concerns Committee, will participate in the first national celebration of Dr. Martin Luther King's birthday as a federal holiday. We would like as many Temple members as possible to participate in the following two programs in order to show our unity with the Lexington black community and with the many Lexington churches and other organizations which will be commemorating this special occasion.

1. Special Sabbath service at the Temple on Friday, January 17th, at 8 P.M. After worship there will be a discussion between Rev. Benjamin Baker of Main Street Baptist Church and Rabbi William Leffler dealing with the significance of Martin Luther King's life.
2. Participation in the Martin Luther King March and Rally sponsored by the Martin Luther King State Commission and local churches and other organizations.

Temple members should meet at Memorial Coliseum, Sunday, January 19th at 2:45 P.M. Look for our Temple banner. There will be a short march (depending upon the weather) and Temple members will participate as a group carrying our own banner. If you are unable to participate in the march, a Unity Ceremony including speakers and choral groups will be held at the Memorial Coliseum. Please arrive at 3:45 P.M. (free parking behind the Coliseum). This program is suitable for children, so come as a family.

Anyone requiring transportation can call the Temple office. Call Steven Bram (269-2979) or Martin Kaplan (277-3992) if you have any questions.

KIDDY KIDDUSH

All pre Bar/Bat Mitzvah age students in our Religious School are invited to participate in our second Kiddy Kiddush at Sabbath worship on January 31st.

The students will be able to come up on the pulpit and join the Rabbi in singing Kiddush. The service will begin at 7:30 P.M.

FIRST WOMAN RABBI

Did you know that Israel has its first woman rabbi? Rabbi Kinneret Shiryon is a 1981 graduate of the Hebrew Union College. She moved to Israel shortly after her ordination with her Israeli-born husband, Baruch, and she is now the mother of one child. Rabbi Shiryon was recently appointed Rabbi of the Reform Congregation in Ramat Aviv, and also serves as the ARZA representative in Israel. From Israel's Orthodox establishment, there has been no comment. If a member of our congregation wishes to meet Rabbi Shiryon during a visit to Israel, contact ARZA, 838 Fifth Avenue, New York, N. Y. 10021.

SERMON, DECEMBER 27, 1985
THE SPIRIT OF '86
by Ken Freedman

I don't usually spend much time looking at the calendar section of our Temple bulletin, but something in our current issue caught my eye. Under December 25th, the calendar indicated that the Temple would be closed due to a "legal" holiday. I found this very interesting. Is December 25th really considered a legal holiday, or were we just trying to avoid the word "Christmas"? I reached for my trusty almanac and looked it up. Sure enough, it is a legal holiday ... Despite what our government declares to be "legal", it seems we can't really escape the fact that in our society, this is the Christmas season.

For most of us, Christmas is a time for office parties or for getting together with friends and family. It's a break in the routine, a day off from work, a vacation from school. We notice the traffic and the large number of shoppers. We watch, or perhaps avoid watching the T.V. Christmas specials. We can't avoid the Christmas carols on Muzak. We're greeted by bell-ringing members of the Salvation Army and by clerks who wish us a merry Christmas. We see the wonder, and sometimes the fear, of children taken by their parents to the obligatory visit to see Santa Claus.

Of course, a few of us non-Christians get a little carried away by the Christmas spirit. We can't seem to explain the situation to our children without causing what we feel would be unbearable disappointment, so we decide it's okay to have a Christmas tree because after all it's really nothing more than a glorified pagan ritual. When a well-meaning friend asks us what we got for Christmas, mentally we may substitute the word Hanukkah, but we may find it difficult to set the record straight for our friend. In grade school we are often expected to participate in Christmas plays. There may not be anything wrong with this ... but then again, maybe there is. It's an uncomfortable situation to be in. Most of us hope that we can somehow blend into this holiday picture without causing conflict and embarrassment for others, and without feeling any conflict or embarrassment ourselves.

Sometimes this isn't possible. Sometimes the issue of Christmas presents itself in such a way that sooner or later a conflict develops which simply has to be faced. This is especially true in mixed marriages.

Many of you are aware that Reform Judaism is now paying special attention to what is known as "Outreach." We have come to the realization that no longer can we simply preach against the dangers of intermarriage. In a society like ours, intermarriage is here to stay. The questions becomes: What are we going to offer these families?

Several years ago Rabbi Leffler started our Temple's first outreach group, called the Jewish Connection. Membership consisted mainly of couples, one partner of which was not originally Jewish, or still was not Jewish. The purpose of the group was to talk about the problems common to all members, to socialize, to learn more about Judaism, and to help everyone feel comfortable in Temple Adath Israel. It worked. Over the next two or three years, most of those members, my wife and I included, were successfully assimilated into the Jewish community. About a year ago the rabbi started a second outreach group, which is still meeting monthly. Though most of the membership had changed, the issues remained the same. Prominent among these issues, as you might expect, is how to deal with Christmas.

Will the couple pay a special Christmas visit to the Christian side of the family? Do they exchange gifts? Will they let their daughter hang a stocking on grandpa's mantle? Will the couple let their three-year-old son go to church with his grandparents, aunts, uncles and cousins? What, if anything, do you tell the Jewish side of the family about all this?

Dealing with holiday customs is one thing, but dealing with deep-seated beliefs and personal emotions is quite another. It's not easy for some parents to accept the fact that their own child, even one thirty years of age, can still love and respect them even though that adult child fails to follow their parents' wishes in an area so basic as religion. They may have trouble accepting that their grandchildren will be raised in another faith. That their power has diminished. That they are no longer in control of their own family.

The new couples, at least those in Rabbi Leffler's Outreach group, want to deal with these issues. They would like to get things worked out with their parents once and for all. Sometimes it's fairly easy. Sometimes the conflicts are minor. Sometimes the couples find they are well-accepted by both sides of the family. But occasionally this isn't the case. How do you accept your new in-laws when they seem to blame you for marrying their son or daughter? How do you accept your own parents when they perhaps innocently make derogatory remarks about your new religion? How do you accept the fact that no matter how hard you try, you just can't make them understand that you didn't want to hurt them? How do you accept the fact that your parents may die without these things being settled?

Obviously the issue of acceptance is not limited to parent-child relationships or to mixed marriages. It's a part of our everyday lives. In school we may not do very well in a particular subject even though we may study very hard. The roof on our house may need replacing after 15 years and we thought it would last at least 25. A friend may move away. A loved one may die. If we can't learn to accept certain things, if we can't learn which battles to fight and which to pass up, we doom ourselves to lives of unhappiness and waste.

Just as the issue of acceptance is not limited to mixed marriages, we also see that mixed marriages are not limited to the state of matrimony. The United States and the Soviet Union are in a mixed marriage because we both have to share the same planet. Israel is in a mixed marriage with her Arab neighbors even though the various parties involved don't seem to recognize this. Throughout history we Jews have found ourselves in countless mixed marriages, and it certainly is the case for us at Christmastime here in Central Kentucky. Without some acceptance, hopefully mutual, Jews and everyone else wouldn't have gotten this far. With a little more acceptance, who knows where we would be.

Sometimes we may even find ourselves in a mixed marriage with our own congregation. This is to be expected. In any group of people there are bound to be disagreements and occasional skirmishes. A couple of us, for example, have let it be known that we think our building fund obligation is unfair, or that our dues are too high. Some parents have had trouble accepting the religious school requirement that they attend services with their pre-bar and bat mitzvah children. Some of us think we should be more active in community and social concerns, like the parade this coming January 19th to commemorate Martin Luther King's birthday and to promote civil rights. Others think we Jews are far better off keeping a low profile.

Even our own rabbi is the focus of disagreement. Some of us are quite upset that Rabbi Leffler will be leaving us, and some of us think it's time for a change... We all know that changes are inevitable in all aspects of our lives. Some changes may be easy to accept, and others very hard to accept. How unfortunate that what is so positive and exciting for some is so painful for others.

One of the hardest things for many of us to accept is time itself. But as 1985 draws to a close, we are reminded that time, in one way or another, is running out on all of us. We try to tie up loose ends, to get things done before it's too late, to put things in some kind of order.

This week's Torah portion also deals with the passage of time, and how we try to end things in an appropriate manner. We are told how Joseph was able to honor his father Jacob's death-bed request that he be taken from Egypt and buried in the land of Canaan. The Egyptians so respected Joseph that they escorted him to Canaan for the burial. Despite living in Egypt, and despite his eleven jealous brothers, Joseph was able to settle things with his father. He did not merely survive the situation; he faced it with dignity, and he conducted himself in a manner which brought credit to himself and to his people.

We have survived Christmas '85. And hopefully we have done so in a manner that has not compromised our own values. But another year is about to begin, and the question, as always, is: What do we do now? What do we expect from ourselves? What are our goals? ... But beyond the question of what is the question of how. How do we do whatever it is we'll be doing?

- *How do we conduct ourselves as 1986 approaches;
- *as we deal with the joys and challenges of growing older;
- *as we cope with difficult family problems;
- * as we try to accept the changes of the past, and face the changes yet to come;
- *and as we say goodbye to our rabbi and prepare to meet another?

We cannot know the future, but there is one thing about 1986 that we can be pretty sure of: It will tell us a lot about ourselves. Let's hope we like what we hear.

JANUARY 24, 1986

FROM THE RABBI'S DESK

I was recently in Washington, D.C. for a day at the B'nai B'rith International building, meeting with a young woman who is with their Community Volunteer Services Commission. We spent the entire time planning the agenda for a conference on the subject of Jews in Prison which B'nai B'rith will be convening in April.

My many years as a Jewish chaplain at the Federal Correctional Institution on Leestown Pike pointed out the genuine need for a conference on this subject, to begin to address the problems which this subject raises.

The meeting will focus attention on such topics as Anti-Semitism in our prison system, the problems that families of prisoners encounter, how the American Jewish community responds to the phenomenon of Jews in prisons, the trauma that prisoners experience when they first enter prison as well as when they return to regular society after their incarceration, as well as a number of other concerns. It will be a very full two days of meetings.

Among the people I hope will attend will be rabbis and chaplains, Jewish communal workers, former prisoners, and prison officials. David Wachtel, a member of our congregation, who is Acting Director of Division of Special Investigations in the Human Resources Cabinet in Frankfort and LEXTY advisor, will be the keynote speaker for this conference. I am grateful to B'nai B'rith for its efforts in bringing this meeting about and excited about what we may be able to accomplish.

Roy Goldstein - I helped my Dad put the fence charger up.

Katie Cole - I helped my sister Aaron Ann and my Dad when they fell on the sidewalk.

Jeff Newman - I helped my Mom carry groceries in the house.

Heather Ravvin - David was crying outside and I helped him open the door and come inside.

Jan Leach - I helped my Mom clean up.

Marisa Dollinger - I helped my Dad find a friend's dog who ran away. We helped bring it back to our friend's house.

Our thanks to all who turned out on a cold, wet day to represent Temple Adath Israel at the Martin Luther King Commemorative march and ceremony. Members of the T.A.I. Youth Group were enthusiastic participants.

Together, with the other Lexington Jewish organizations, the Jews in our community made a good showing in this demonstration of unity between all races and religions in honoring the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King.

RETREAT PLANNED

The Worship Committee is now in the process of planning an overnight retreat on May 17-18 at Natural Bridge State Park. The purpose of the retreat will be to provide us with an opportunity to discuss topics of interest, to get to know each other better, and to enjoy the beautiful scenery of the Daniel Boone National Forest.

The retreat is open to all adult Temple members. We have reserved 15 rooms. The cost will be $54.60 per room, double occupancy; $5.25 for each additional person over the double occupancy rate or $45.15, single occupancy. Excellent meals are available in the lodge dining room. We expect this to be a popular and exciting event, so it is not too early to make your reservations.

T.A.I. Pre-School is now planning for its second year! We are increasing our classes to include a program for four (4) year olds. We are now taking applications for a teacher and a teacher's assistant.

BOOK DISCUSSION GROUP

The first meeting of the newly formed Book Discussion Group will be on Wed. March 12th at the home of Harriet Rose, 712 Beechmont Dr., at 7:30 PM. The book to be discussed will be The Abandonment of the Jews, by David Wyman. Leaders will be Bill and Frances Bloom. Anyone wishing to attend is asked to RSVP to Harriet's answering machine at 252-4386.

The second meeting is planned for sometime in May at the home of Marge and Lenny Lerner. The book to be discussed will be Inside, Outside, by Herman Wouk. Leading the discussion will be Harriet Rose.

MANY THANKS

The Library Committee would like to thank Anita and Harold Baker for their donation of The Art of Judaic Needle-Work, by Ita Aben, to the Temple Library.

PIZZA & COKE

Brereton Jones, owner of Airdrie Farm and Chairman of the State Committee studying the delivery of health services in Kentucky will be the guest speaker at our next Pizza and Coke Sabbath on February 7th. Mr. Jones has been very much involved in this area of concern, which is becoming increasingly important as the cost of these services rises and the technology of medical treatment poses increased challenges to all Americans.

Come and hear about the extent of the problems and the possible ways of dealing with them, some of which are already being discussed in the current session of the State Legislature. Whatever the discussion, you can be sure it will cost more money!

LETTER FROM A CONGREGANT

I was unable to attend the Shabbat service on December 27, 1985 when Ken Freedman delivered his sermon. I want to say how much I enjoyed reading it in last week's Bulletin. It was obvious that Ken spent a lot of time writing it and preparing for the sermon. I am sure other people who give sermons also put a lot of time and effort in preparation. It think it is a good idea to publish these sermons in the Bulletin so we all can share the ideas being presented.

Thank you Ken, for sharing your thoughts and concerns with us. It will be interesting to see what 1986 brings to us at Temple Adath Israel

Elayne R. Crystal
Temple member

NEW FROM THE LIBRARY

New Adult books now in the Temple library are listed below.

Odyssey, by John Bierman - This is the story of the Pentcho, a paddle steamer which left Bratislava in May, 1940 to sail down the Danube River and out to open sea and on to Palestine. The journey should have taken one month, but took four years; this books tells what happened.

Jesus the Pharisee, by Harvey Falk
A new look at the Jewishness of Jesus

Germany, compiled by Stuart Cohen - the topic covered is Jewish life in Germany starting in the 11th Century and ending up in the 20th Century after World War II.

A Leak in the Heart - Tales from a Woman's Life, by Faye Moskowitz - This book of tales will call to mind memories from the 30's; younger readers will feel as if they are reading about "olden times".

The Extra Dimension - A Jewish View of Marriage, by Roland B. Gittelsohn - This book is for a couple about to be married or for one who has been married for some time; its purpose is to strengthen the Jewish family.

RABBI SEARCH COMMITTEE REPORT

There are two very strong candidates at this time, with a possibility of a third. We have been pleased with what we have seen thus far, and hope to be able to present the name of a candidate to the Board at either the March or the April, 1986 Board meeting, or at a special meeting called for that purpose.

FROM THE RABBI'S DESK

I was in Florida on January 28th when the Challenger space mission blew up sending our nation into a state of shock and mourning. It happened only about 200 miles from where I was. The closeness to Cape Canaveral made the TV photos seem even more personal. Having lived in Concord, the scenes on TV of Christa McAuliffe's home town were familiar and personal too. The aftermath of this accident will have lingering affects upon our nation in many ways.

In contrast, the world still faces nuclear destruction from international attacks from any nation now possessing such military capacity - or perhaps by an accident at a nuclear energy plant. And yet we seem to overlook the terrible consequences of such a happening, as if it could not occur.

The accident at Canaveral should remind us not to take things for granted, not to think that things will work out properly, even after 24 successful missions, even after years of surviving the possibility of nuclear destruction.

We rightfully mourn the seven astronauts. Their bravery in facing the unknown is a source of inspiration. At the same time, what happened and our reaction to their deaths should also give us pause to consider the future of life on this earth after 40 years of nuclear power. We are numbed by the death of seven human beings in a spacecraft. Their tragedy should remind us of what could be far worse if we fail to control human use of nuclear power.

SURVEY STATUS

At the time of this printing, we have received 88 completed program surveys. If you have not already done so, please complete your survey and return to the office immediately. If you have misplaced the survey sent to you, we have additional copies available at the Temple office.

RELIGIOUS SCHOOL

We wish to welcome to our Religious School, two new students. Esther Brazin who is in our four year old class and Nicholas Vaughn who is in our fourth grade class. We hope you will be very happy in your new classes.

Marsha Matthews
Principal

THREE YEAR OLD CLASS

The three year olds have begun to learn about Mitzvot and helping. We also started to learn the Sh'ma and I want to ask parents to review this during the week with the children (in Hebrew and English). Tu B'Shvat has arrived! Kiss a Tree!

Naomi Bat Ami
Teacher

THIRD GRADE CLASS

Our third grade class has been studying prayer and examining prayer books. We picked out words we find over and over in our prayers and blessings. We have also been discussing God's oneness, and how that makes him unique. The children began their class quilt, which will show things found in the sanctuary. Most importantly, we're having a great time!

Judi Higdon
Teacher

FOURTH GRADE CLASS

The fourth grade class has been studying Jerusalem. We learned about the old city and the new city. We've celebrated Tu B'Shvat with a big feast and we made an almond tree. We also studied and discussed the story of Ruth.

Haggi Elitzur
Student

FIFTH GRADE CLASS

The fifth grade has been studying Jewish life activities including ceremonies, holidays and customs. The students learned that they observe Jewish activities in different ways and to varying degrees. Many of the students expressed the hope that they would have more Jewish experiences as they grew and matured. It has been a pleasure working with this fine group of young people.

Simone Salomon
Teacher

SENIOR BLOCK

The Holocaust class is using the text Never to Forget and this is the theme of our study. The Holocaust was an important, world-shaking event, not only for the Jews but for humanity as a whole. We are examining the sequence of events that led to this terrible occurrence, and also how Jews and Judaism have been dedicated to ethical ideals which stand against cruelty and immorality.

We are using many materials that go beyond the text: clippings from newspapers and magazines, videotapes, posters, slides and personal experiences. The following have made presentations to the Holocaust class, and we are deeply appreciative to them: Dr. Georges Birenbaum, Mrs. Michael Lerner, Mrs. Emanuel Mason, Mr. Joseph H. Miller, Mrs. Uriel Smith and Mrs. I. H. Stern, Jr.

Fannie Miller

FROM THE RABBI'S DESK

Heroism comes in various forms. Sometimes we recognize it. Sometimes it goes unseen.

Marilyn Klinghoffer was a hero. She died earlier this month of cancer, diagnosed in 1984. Her husband, Leon, was murdered by terrorists during the hijacking of the Achille Lauro. Marilyn spit in the face of the hijackers when she saw them later in Italy. She set up a Foundation in memory of her husband to study terrorism and how best to deal with it. In spite of her terminal illness, she testified in Congress on the subject and her experience. She withstood the anguish of her husband's death and the resultant and unexpected publicity it brought.

Anatoly and Avital Schransky are also heroes. Anatoly survived many years in a Soviet prison camp for his work on behalf of human rights and his desire to leave Russia and live in Israel. His wife campaigned to obtain her husband's freedom, travelling and speaking throughout the world. Their spirits were indomitable, conquering all odds.

We never know when some moment will call us to be a hero - to save a life, to stand up for a principal, to react to a situation. Heroism is a quality for which there is no training or preparation. It just occurs. It reflects the character of the hero - his values, his moral stamina, often his unexpected physical strengths.

Marilyn Klinghoffer was a hero; the Schransky's are heroes. Our world needs such people. We are blessed by their presence in our midst. Marilyn's death has both enhanced her stature and robbed our world of the blessing of her life. Anatoly's release shows us what determination can achieve.

RELIGIOUS SCHOOL

FROM THE PRINCIPAL

Senior Block III has just been completed. I want to thank Rick Arenstein for teaching Jewish Ceremonies and Rituals, Rabbi Leffler for his class on Jewish Religious Thought, and Fannie Miller for teaching Holocaust - Its Orgins and Effects. Senior Block IV begins February 23rd and ends March 30th.

Welcome back Bea Levy, our kindergarten teacher.

Marsha Matthews, Principal

SEVENTH GRADE CLASS

Our study of comparative religion started with a discussion of the significance of religion, and how beliefs developed from Stone Age superstition into organizes systems of thought. We reviewed Judaism from our beginning in the Hebrew tribes to the branches of Orthodox, Conservative, and Reform.

We are fortunate to have Sister Mary Leah, a teacher at Lexington Catholic High School, come to our class to speak with us on early Christianity and the Roman Catholic church. The following week we attended mass at St. Peter's Church. We were impressed by the large number of people at the service, and with the sincerity of the worshippers. We look forward to several more visits to area churches.

Ken & Marcia Freedman, Teachers

SR. BLOCK III - JEWISH RELIGIOUS THOUGHT

In the class, Jewish Religious Thought, taught by Rabbi Leffler, we have been learning the different ideas and opinions of many Jewish authors. We learned a variety of ideas concerning God, Messiah, Torah, forgiveness, and most important, the State of Israel. In the first hour of class, we have a class discussion where everyone participates and expresses their opinions. The last hour we read the different books on Judaism and report it to the rest of the class.

Susan Clemmons, Student

SR. BLOCK III-JEWISH CEREMONIES AND RITUALS

Justin Maxson

In this course, I've learned a lot about Jewish Ceremonies and Rituals - such as: Tallis and Tefillian and the marriage ceremonies. This is a very interesting class and I would take it again.

Amy Lowenthal, Student

This class has given some people ideas about the Jewish traditions and weddings. Everyone enjoyed all of the lectures and examples of wrapping the Tefillian around the arm, and the wedding section was very interesting.

Justin Maxson, Student

SR. BLOCK III - HOLOCAUST-ITS ORIGINS AND EFFECTS

The Holocaust was a terrible event of Jewish history as well as world history. In the Holocaust class we had a chance to read Never To Forget, which gave us the opportunity to view the Holocaust from a historical perspective. We also had the chance to see the Holocaust on a more personal basis. Three Jews who lived through the Holocaust came to speak to our class. We were able to see and feel some of the pain and understand the reality of this terrible event. We also had the chance to relate the Holocaust to today's society by bringing in news articles. The Holocaust is something that we shall never forget, nor should it be forgotten, and we will strive to make sure that something to horrible can never be allowed to occur again. We are grateful to Mrs. Fannie Miller for making sure our generation doesn't forget.

6TH GRADE RELIGIOUS SCHOOL REPORT

Scenario: Mrs. Matthews comes on the intercom and tells us that terrorists have control of the Temple; no one may leave; try to stay calm! This is the situation 6th graders presented to guest lecturer David Wachtel from the Special Services, Human Resources Cabinet. He told us the do's and don't's of being a hostage, and also the plan of action the police have for such a situation.

Other recent activities have included: debate on "Should Jews Celebrate Christmas?" and a special film presentation, "In Close Harmony" as follow-up to interviews students were to have conducted with an older person (grandparents, etc.). The film's theme dealt with understanding the elderly and was a documentary of how one music teacher brought old and young together for a musical assembly and in "Close Harmony."

FROM THE RABBI'S DESK

As I began to write this week's message I received a phone call from the Business Manager of the Lexington Public Library. He was in "jail" for the Cancer Society, as a part of their fund raising effort. I laughed with him and pledged a contribution. I think this organization does some fine work and deserves our support.

There are many similar fine organizations in Lexington that provide excellent and needed services for people in our community. Unfortunately, I have discovered that the communication between our Human Services agencies and the clergy of Lexington is not very good. There are many clergy who do not know what services these agencies provide, nor how to find the right agency when they need this kind of assistance.

As a result, as President of the Lexington Alliance of Religious Leaders this year, I have headed up an effort to try to ameliorate this situation. We shall be having a luncheon meeting here at the Temple the end of May, hosted by our Sisterhood and convened by Mayor Baesler at which we shall be addressing the subject of improving this communication. It is an important area of concern for both the agencies and the clergy and I hope we shall have a good response. It will also be a good occasion for those who attend to see our renewed building.

RELIGIOUS SCHOOL

FROM THE PRINCIPAL

Naomi Bat Ami, our three year old teacher is moving to Israel. We wish her all of the very best. Our new teacher is Phyllis Russell. She has been substituting for us throughout the year. She is very qualified and will continue to be an asset to our Religious School. Welcome Phyllis.

Marsha Matthews, Principal

THIRD GRADE CLASS

The books we are using are called "Bible People Book Two" and "Let's Talk About Being Jewish". We are talking about things God gave us, our 5 senses and other important things. We learned that there is only one God. We made quilt patches about one God. We are also making a class quilt and will be drawing things we find in the sanctuary. In addition, we have done stained glass windows.

Stephanie Kocen and Jessie Matthews, Students

PRE-SCHOOL CLASS

The pre-school class has been very busy identifying ways in which people enjoy Jewish family life. In class we make spice jars to use Saturday evenings at the Havdalah service and played games of a Jewish content (e.g. Jewish dominoes, Shabbat bingo). The children were asked to bring Jewish objects from their home to show their classmates. The following items were brought to class: Shelley Harrison-music box that plays Hatikvah and Eli Eli; Roy Goldstein-aYarmulke from Israel; Katie and Aaron Cole-Shabbat candlesticks and candles; Heather Ravvin-a book of Jewish holidays; Marisa Dollinger-her Jewish birth certificate; Jeff Newman-a wall decoration and a Menorah; Elizabeth Eidelson-a Menorah.

At snack time we said the blessings over the Shabbat candles and Hanukkah candles and while eating enjoyed the Jewish music from the music box.

Elayne Crystal, Teacher

THREE YEAR OLD CLASS

The Three Year Olds have begun preparing for Purim. We told stories, whirled groggers, made masks, and this week baked piles of Hamentaschen, all with much merriment. Hag Sameach!

This Sunday was my last as teacher. March 13th I fly back to my kibbutz in Israel. I want to offer heartfelt thanks to the parents of the class, some of whom came in to help with special projects, all of whom were unfailingly supportive and helpful. Thanks also to a great bunch of kids, who made Sunday mornings a treat. I looked forward to every week. Finally, a very special thank you to Marsha Matthews who was always there.

My kibbutz in Israel is small and remote, close to the Lebanese border, all visitors are always, always welcome. Anyone from the congregation who is visiting the country and wants to see a frontier settlement, I would be overjoyed to see you. My address is:

FROM THE RABBI'S DESK

Usually Pesach and Easter are very close on the calendar. The New Testament tells of the crucifixion occurring at Pesach time. This year, Jewish leap year, we add our extra month. As a result, instead, Purim and Easter will be occurring in close proximity, and so we shall have Esther eggs.

Purim is not a major holiday for us, not because its message is not important, but rather because its origins in The Book of Esther are not found in the Torah, but rather in the third section of our Bible, the Writings, which marks it as literature from the late Biblical period.

The Book of Esther begins with the words - "And it came to pass in the days of ..." Such a phrase is similar to "Once upon a time," which is inadequately labeled as the beginning of a story, not of an historic account. And that is what Esther is, a story of marvelous dimensions - with a hero (Mordecai), a heroine (Esther), a villain (Haman), and a buffoon (Ahasuerus). It is as good a story as ever told in any literature. And out of this story comes our holiday, one that reminds us of the need for eternal vigilance against tyranny and oppression, a message as relevant today as it was for us. We continue to have our Hamans in the world. Hitler and Stalin were ones in our century. And we ought not think that the United States might not have had one. The ADL is always alert to such possibilities. Come hear Alan Katchen discuss the current situation from his viewpoint on March 21st. Part of vigilance is knowing.

SPRING BREAK

No Religious School classes
from April 6th thru April 13th.
No Hebrew classes on April 7th.

KINDERGARTEN

The kindergarten class has been preparing to travel to Israel to become more familiar with their heritage.

In preparation for this trip abroad, each student made a passport complete with their physical description, a self portrait, and an official gold seal.

Their first trip was to the mountain region in Israel. There they saw Mt. Sinai and while exploring, discovered a cave at the base of the mountain. When they entered the cave, each child found a "precious" gem which they could keep.

There are more discoveries to be made, so another visit will be made as they continue to study the wonders of Israel.

Bea Levy, Teacher

1ST GRADE

The first grade has been studying the major cities in Israel and has completed the labeling of a map of Israel including the cities, bodies of water, etc. We also learned about the variety of religions and ethnic backgrounds of people in Israel.

In addition, we dramatized the story of the Tower of Babel. We decorated balloons as characters in the Purim story and will be making hamantaschen. For Purim we will be dressing up as a Purim character and have a party.

Anita Mersack, Teacher

2ND GRADE

The second graders started a unit on Purim this past week by making Purim people with balloons. It was a lot of fun! We will wrap up the unit in two weeks on Purim by dressing up as our favorite Purim character and having a party. We are also in the process of counting to ten in Hebrew.

Beth Mersack, Teacher

4TH GRADE

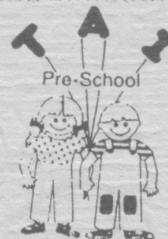

The fourth grade class is getting ready for Purim. We made hamantaschen and we are planning a Purim carnival.

Haggi Elitzur, Student

5TH GRADE

The fifth grade has been working for several weeks on a Holiday and Festival Guidebook. The chapters include the Sabbath, Chanukah, Purim, and Passover. These books can be used in each student's home to help celebrate Sabbath and the holidays. We are reading "When Hitler Stole Pink Rabbit", a book about a nine year old girl growing up in Germany in 1933.

Simone Salomon, Teacher

Now is the time to register your child for the 1986-87 school year. We will have classes for 2½ thru 4 year olds. If you are looking for a traditional pre-school that teaches about the Jewish holidays and traditions you need look no further.

If you would like an application or more information, please call Sally Kocen, Director at 269-2979.

APRIL 4, 1986

FROM THE RABBI'S DESK

Alan Katchen, the Regional ADL Director, was with us on March 21st. In the morning he spoke to a group of Christian ministers about Jewish concerns in the inter-group relations in this country. He spoke about the 20/20 TV program of last summer and pointed out that it greatly exaggerated the extent of the support of the farmers in Iowa and Nebraska of the Neo-Nazis who would foment trouble out of the current agricultural crisis. He spoke also of relations between Blacks and Jews today, especially of the diatribes of Black extremists toward Israel and the difficulties of that situation. He also discussed the recent political successes of two followers of Lyndon LaRouche in the Illinois democratic primary, as well as activities of a similar nature in Ohio and our respondent fears.

Jewish concerns are not only our concerns, they are also the concerns of other American citizens who do not want to see our liberties eroded. Christian leaders in Lexington do not often hear Jewish concerns, primarily because we have a long history of not sharing them. I was pleased Alan was here to do this for us and hope that my successor will continue sponsoring an Institute on Judaism for the Christian Clergy. It is a form of public relations that we very much need to provide.

RELIGIOUS SCHOOL

FROM THE PRINCIPAL

Senior Block IV has just been completed. We thank Rabbi Leffler, Fannie Miller and David Wachtel for a super teaching job.

Senior Block V begins April 20 thru May 25. Diane Freedman and Susan Mason will be teaching Jewish Holidays and Festivals and Their Symbolic Foods, Roy Meckler will teach Reform and Modern Judaism, and Rabbi Leffler and Fannie Miller's class will be Confirmation.

Marsha Matthews, Principal

SOCIAL VALUES - Dr. David Wachtel, Teacher

In this class we examined several controversial issues, such as the Death Penalty and Racism. These were examined both from what is presently occurring in this country and what should occur. The final class session will be a creation of a new society with new social values.

JUDAISM & THE NEW TESTAMENT - Rabbi Leffler, Teacher

Rabbi Leffler's current Senior Group class is studying the New Testament to see how it reflects the Judaism of the time of Jesus, what it has to tell us about the life of Jesus from the standpoint of the text, as well as the interpretation of Jesus' role as the Christian Messiah as reflected in the letters of Paul. As Jews, our students need to know what the New Testament is like, as well as how we, as Jews, disagree with many of its views about Jesus and the interpretation of his teachings.

SPRING BREAK

No Religious School classes
from April 6th thru April 13th.

No Hebrew classes on April 7th.

JEWISH LITERATURE - Fannie Miller Teacher

The Senior Block in Jewish Literature included a study of the great writings that are included in the Jewish literary experience from the Bible to contemporary authors. We read selections from the Torah, Prophets, Writings, Apocrypha, Talmud, Golden Age in Spain, Mysticism, Hasidim, Yiddish Literature, Zionism, Holocaust, Modern Hebrew Literature, as well as American Jewish Literature. We studied selections that reflect the past of the Jewish people, their contemporary situations, and their hopes for the future. In addition, each student read a book from representative periods of Jewish writings. We gained further insight from our guest speakers, Mrs. Michael Baer, and Dr. Richard Freed. It is hoped that because of this study of our great literary heritage, the students will be inspired to continue reading in these areas.

SAM MILNER

PIZZA & COKE

Sam Milner, a practicing attorney for 40 years, now retired, will be the guest speaker at our next Pizza and Coke on April 11th. He will speak on Capital Punishment - Pro and Con.

Sam was Adjunct Professor of Law at the University of Kentucky College of Law for 9 years. He was the recipient of the Henry T. Duncan Award presented by the Fayette Bar Association with citation for "Integrity, Leadership, and High Ethical Standards". In addition, he is a former president of Temple Adath Israel.

LINDA HARVEY

SOCIAL CONCERNS COMMITTEE

Linda Harvey will speak to our congregation after worship services on April 18, 1986.

Her topic will be "Poverty in Lexington, a Call for Citizen Action".

She is presently the chairperson of the Lexington Interfaith Council, and the co-ordinator of Christians and Community Service. Ms. Harvey is the 1986 recipient of the Brotherhood Award from the National Conference of Christians and Jews, Bluegrass Chapter.

"ANOTHER ISRAEL"

The lively audio-visual presentation offers a colorful montage of the many fascinating aspects of Israel today - people, culture, lifestyles, education, technological advances in science and agriculture, plus more. The presentation will take place April 19th - 22nd at Victorian Square.

Hundreds of color slides projected by 16 projectors onto a giant screen are used to create the panorama that is Israel, from the coast of the Mediterranean to the Jordan River, including the deserts and mountains. The introduction shows Israel's location and size in relation to other countries, as well as emphasizes the unique combination of Jews, Arabs and Christians that make up Israel society.

Glimpses of Israeli traditions and customs are accompanied by spirited music. The diaspora and return of the Jews to the promised land is also depicted.

The half-hour audio-visual spectacular leaves the viewer with the feeling of having taken a "mini-visit" to Israel, and shows the country in all her bounty and beauty.

If you would like to help out with this program, please contact Nat Sandler at 269-1150.

FROM THE RABBI'S DESK

The First National Conference on Service to Jews in Prison, for which I have worked to organize for many years, is now history. It was a great success, to a large extent due to the work of Julia Mack of the B'nai B'rith International staff who did so much of the detailed leg work needed to put it all together. In addition, David Wachtel, of our congregation, was the keynote speaker and set the tone for the meeting in his opening talk.

Prior to the meeting, the Steering Committee met to discuss what we hoped to attain as the outcome of the discussions - an umbrella organization to meet the needs of Jews in prison and their families. After David's talk, the establishment of such an organization was a given. The questions were how to do this and what its agenda would be. By the end of the Conference all the Coalition was in place and its purposes spelled out. The meeting was a complete success. It had accomplished far beyond what I had hoped. Now the challenge is to fulfill the goals. It is a great feeling to be in on the start of the realization of a dream!

FROM THE RABBI'S DESK

Shari Eldot died at 5:15 P.M. on April 21st in Pittsburgh. For two and a half years her life hung in the balance as she went through the tests and procedures prior to a possible heart transplant. She spent six months in a hospital in Richmond, Va., waiting; she had been in the hospital in Pittsburgh for almost a month and a half - waiting. And she waited at home between her two hospitalizations. Two and a half years is a long time for a vital, energetic, enthusiastic, outgoing young woman to wait - to wait with hope, with plans, with expectations, with dreams for her future - and then to die. It is all so very sad!

Shari was a delightful person. She was president of her class at Case Western Reserve, active in Hillel and in other Jewish activities on the campus. She was a doer, a participant in life. Sitting on the sidelines was not her way. And yet in her senior year she was sidelined by her heart condition. She was not able to complete her college education.

However, people on the sidelines can still do things, and this was Shari. She wanted to organize a support group for people who faced or had had heart transplants. She knew she would need such people when, she hoped, she would have had her surgery. She corresponded and planned to set up such a group. If there becomes one, it should be called SHARI. I am sure that someone can find a suitable title for such an acronym. Shari was even making plans for Seder in Pittsburgh. Jews in hospitals should not go without a proper Pesach.

For Shari, life was full of opportunities to do things for other people. For her that was what life was all about - even to the very end. We are now deprived of her interest, her talent, her energy, her love, her words of encouragement, her sense of wonder and excitement.

We mourn her death.

Yet in retrospect, life should not be measured in years but in accomplishments within the years one is allotted. By this standard, Shari's life was a meaningful and significant one. May the memory of this remarkable person always serve as a beacon and a blessing for us all.

MODEL SEDER

Our Model Seder held on April 20, 1986 was a wonderful success. The students participated by making Matzah covers, decorating wine cups, making charoses, hardboiling eggs, setting up tables and chairs and setting the table. I want to thank JoAnne Randall for teaching the students to chant the Four Questions. Our thanks are also extended to Paula Harrison and Connie Loventhal for conducting the service for the primary grades (3 year olds to first grade), Neil Lerner for assisting them with the music, and Rick Arenstein for leading the service for the second to seventh grade classes. It was truly a group effort enjoyed by everyone.

PRESIDENT'S SPOT

At the last Board of Trustees meeting, Ben Baker, our treasurer, and Steve Kocen, chairman of Budget and Finance Committee, informed us that unless dues are paid on time and those who are able to increase theirs, do so, we may have to curtail some of our activities for the ensuing year.

I do not believe this congregation will permit this to happen. We have struggled too long and hard to get where we are today. We really should not have to be billed for the privilege of worship. We should voluntarily give what we can to show our gratefulness to our God for the privilege of waking up each morning, for our families, our friends, the freedom we enjoy. We should give from our hearts what we feel we can afford, not look for a way to avoid our responsibilities. Your fellow congregants may never know what you give but you will when you walk into the Sanctuary with the feeling of warmth and pride, knowing that you helped to build and maintain this building as a contribution to future generations.

My sincere apologies to Dr. Austin Cantor. I inadvertently gave credit at the Annual Congregational Meeting to someone else for his diligent work as President of Brotherhood. Dr. Cantor implemented new programs and projects which filled a need in our congregation. Not only did he do a fine job as president, but was and is always available to all branches of the Temple's activities in whatever capacity he is needed.

I also omitted recognizing each Committee for their complete involvement. Their reports are in your Congregational Booklet and I urge you to read them. The members of the committees are very active and committed. I look forward to working with many of them and any of you who are interested in getting involved in this year's Temple activities.

SENIOR BLOCK COOKING CLASS

The Senior Block's cooking class has been busy "Learning the Kitchen Instinct". We have been reviewing our Jewish holidays, but in a different light -celebration through the foods representative of the holidays.

Some of the recipes that we have most enjoyed preparing and eating are the (Pesach) matzah brittle, (Rosh Hashanna)honey cake, and (Shabbat) apple-noodle kugel, brisket, and challah. For the final meeting, we will have a Shabbat meal using the foods that we have prepared during the class sessions.

As an extra bonus, basic techniques of cooking have also been stressed, including the all-important clean-up.

Written by the class with the assistance of instructors: Diane Friedman and Susan Mason

REFORM AND MODERN JUDAISM

"God is a person who initials the Universe". "God is a force who watches over us". "I have no proof that God exists, but I sometimes think there is a God when I am at a funeral". These are just a few comments in this Senior Block class on Reform Judaism and the other three modern aspects of Judaism (Orthodox, Conservative and Reconstructionist) which Roy Meckler is currently teaching. The students, as well as the instructor, are learning about their own religious practices and beliefs. They are actively comparing their own views with the views of the other three types of Modern Judaism. The students are discussing the difference in services, interpretation of the Torah, God and many other interesting topics.

We will have a visit from Rabbi Smith on the 25th of May. He is the Rabbi of Ohavay Zion (conservative synagogue) here in Lexington.

Rabbi William Leffler

Thank you for giving in the month of April, 1986.

TAI Sisterhood and I appreciate very much what you are doing to support our ongoing effort for blood donations.

Lore Pappas
Chairman

Temple Adath Israel Preschool is very pleased to announce that their first year was successful. The children have learned a great deal about their environment and made some new friends along the way.

I would like to thank Elayne Crystal and Mary Eclov for doing a wonderful job in helping to develop self-esteem and independence as well as introducing socialization skills to these children. Elayne will be leaving us and we wish her much success in the future. Mary will be the new lead teacher and her assistant will be Eve Yost.

We still have openings in all our classes for next fall. If you have a child between the ages of 2½ and 4, please enroll now. The 2½ year old class will be held on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The 3 year old class will be held on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. The 4 year old class will be held five days.

For further information, call me at 269-2979. Thank you.

Director

ISRAEL INDEPENDENCE DAY CELEBRATION

Some of the people who enjoyed the celebration.

There was an excellent showing from the Jewish community to the gala celebration of Israel Independence Day held at the Temple on May 14th. Hats off to the LEXTY and Young Judaea Youth groups for organizing this fine program with the cooperation of the total Jewish community.

Board Briefs

MAY 6, 1986

The Board approved the Temple membership of Mr. & Mrs. David Moross (Kelly). Resignations have been received from Dr. & Mrs. Moshe Elitzur (sabbatical), Mr. & Mrs. Alan Pearson, Mr. & Mrs. Steve Kesten, Mr. Dan Silverstein, and Mr. & Mrs. Alan Brock.

As of April 30, 1986, there is a deficit of $2,621.55 in the Temple's operating budget. The anticipated shortfall will be $10-$12,000 this fiscal year.

The motion carried that the Board approve the purchase of $250,000 Israel Bonds, dependent upon the securing of signatures to guarantee the bonds.

Ruth Baker announced that the Sisterhood will host the 1987 interim meeting of the District Sisterhood.

The Social Concerns Committee reported that they are now exploring ways for the Temple to provide community service programs for those in need.

The motion carried that the U.K. International Folkdance Group with the cosponsorship of the Temple will provide recreational International Folkdancing open to the entire Jewish community every Thursday evening from 8-10 P.M. to be held in the Temple's auditorium.

ENDOWMENT FUND DISCLAIMER LETTER

Dear Mrs. Brazin,

Mr. Harold Baker asked that I write a letter concerning the disclaimer letter that we used in the compiled financial statements for the Temple Adath Israel Endowment Fund as of February 28, 1986.

The letter that was used is the format prescribed by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants, for a compilation statement. We are required to use the AICPA's standard letters in any reports that we issue.

In order to issue a report that has fewer disclaimers, it would be necessary to upgrade the type of report issued to either a reviewed report or an audit.

Should you want the report upgraded, the accounting time would be at least double the time involved in doing the compilation report, and thus accounting fees would go up accordingly.

The disclaimer letter used in the February 28, 1986 report is the same letter that we have used since first issuing the statements as of March 31, 1983.

Sincerely,

Annelle S. Fulmer
Certified Public Account.

Have a wonderful summer, all of you. Let us keep in touch.

From the entire Mitzvah Corps Board,
Love, Lore Pappas

LAW OF RETURN DEFIED

Shoshana Miller immigrated to Israel in October of 1985, after converting to Judaism with a Reform rabbi. Israel's minister of the Interior, Rabbi Yitzhak Peretz, has defied the Law of Return, and has refused to register Ms. Miller as a Jew.

Arnold Spaer, the attorney for the Israel movement for Progressive Judaism, asked that Israel's Attorney General intervene in the case. He refused and Mr. Spaer went to the Supreme Court, and obtained a show-cause order. The order requires Peretz to present to the court, an explanation of the Interior Ministry's action in the Miller case. The reply has not come forth as of June, 1986.

ARZA's Religious Rights Fund has agreed to pay all legal expenses for the Miller case. These costs will exceed $15,000. Resources have been exhausted and additional assistance to pay bills now due is needed.

Our congregation has been asked to assist by contributing $200. We will transfer money from our local ARZA fund but will still be in need of approximately $150.

Shoshana Miller is fighting our fight and deserves our support. It would be tragic if her case were to be jeopardized by lack of funds.

Please send in a contribution earmarked for the Rights Fund. Address the envelope with your enclosed check to the attention of Nat Sandler at the Temple office.

We are including the June 20th Yahrzeit again because of our incorrect listing in the last Newsletter.

G-D IS HERE

G-d is here.

G-d is invisible.

G-d is a figment of the mind.

You can call on G-d through the mind.

The same is with the devil.

When you call on G-d, do not create a G-d to suit your wants.

Create a G-d to suit your needs.

HOSPITALS

All of the hospitals in Lexington usually inform the Temple office when a Jewish patient enters them, if the patient signs in as Jewish. However, Humana Hospital does not provide this service. So be sure that you sign in as Jewish if you go into the hospital or if it is Humana and you want the rabbi to visit, that you be certain that someone informs the Temple office you are there.

LETTER TO THE CONGREGATION

Dear Congregant,

This letter is to encourage you to join ARZA, The Association of Reform Zionists of America. ARZA membership is especially important now. The Reform institutions are trying to obtain equitable funding from the Jewish agency. A national campaign is being conducted in Israel to ensure that the Law of Return is enforced. A new Reform free enterprise settlement is being developed. A vicious, anti-Reform campaign by the Labavitch Hasidim must be acted against. A series of projects in Israel including camps, school and youth groups have been initiated. The Ethiopian Jews in their struggle to be recognized as Jews need support. Elections to the World Zionist Congress will be held in 1987. Jewish studies programs for our Reform Kibbutzim are being provided. ARZA is directing all the efforts.

A membership for either a couple or an individual is $15.00. It should be sent in along with your dues payment. We are a check-off congregation and include the option to join ARZA on our dues bill. Our goal for 1986-87 will be 40% ARZA membership within our congregation. Such a goal is attainable. We can even exceed it if every member will just take the time to send his check to this very important and effective organization.

Sincerely,

Rose Brazin
President

Rabbi

MEMORIAL BOOKLET

It is a tradition of long standing to honor the memory of departed ones and friends with special acts of kindness and Tzedakah during the High Holy Days. One opportunity for an act of remembrance is offered through the Memorial Booklet.

Though there is no charge for such requested memorial listings, it is hoped that most people will be pleased to make a donation of at least $5 per name.

Names on our sanctuary's memorial tablets as well as the names of those who died in the past year are automatically listed in the booklet. All listings under a personal heading (i.e. "Remembered by...") will appear only by request. Detach this form and send it to the Temple office. Include a donation if you wish, making your check payable to Temple Adath Israel. Requests must be received by August 29th.

It is a thoughtful gift for friends, even non-Jewish. Tasteful, full of beauty, and very reasonable. It may be found at the Temple Gift Shop or from Barbara Straus (266-6349). LAW OF RETURN NOT BEING ENFORCED

Rabbi Yitzhak Peretz, Israel's Interior Minister, is refusing to register as Jews Reform converts who immigrate to Israel. In effect, Peretz is refusing to enforce the Law of Return, which states that all Jews who come to Israel, including Reform and Conservative converts, are to be registered as Jews on their identity cards. ARZA, the Association of Reform Zionists of America, has announced that at least five Reform converts have had their Jewish status questioned. ARZA President Rabbi Charles Kroloff has lodged a strong protest with Prime Minister Shimon Peres; Kroloff pointed out to the prime Minister that Yitzhak Peretz is doing by administrative fiat what the religious parties have been unable to do by amending the Law of Return in the Knesset. Kroloff also announced the establishment of an ARZA Religious Rights Fund, which will pay for a legal challenge in the Israeli courts to Peretz's actions. The legal appeal will focus on the case of Shoshanna Miller, who converted in 1982 and who served for three years as a cantor in the Reform congregation in Colorado Springs before immigrating to Israel in 1985. You can help by volunteering to assist Nat Sandler, our ARZA Chairperson, in collecting funds, by sending a check to the Religious Rights Fund, in care of the Temple office, attention Nat Sandler.

VOLUME 54

1986 - 5746

SEPTEMBER 12, 1986

IN THIS CORNER

Almost three years ago, Sandy and I experienced "The Precious Legacy". This was an exhibit of Jewish art and artifacts now housed in the Prague Museum in Czechoslovakia. Our lives were profoundly moved and saddened as we wound our way through the small time capsule of Czech-Jewish history and culture.

Upon entering the area set aside in the Smithsonian Museum in Washington, D.C. we began reading about the background concerning this collection of Judaica. As the Germans prepared their "Final Solution" to the Jewish "problem" in Europe, the Jewish community was ordered to surrender their valuables; both personal and religious. The material was sent to Prague where Jewish curators patiently inventoried each item. The German purpose was to establish a museum to the extinct Jewish race. As you can imagine, numerous items such as: menorahs, yads, Kiddush cups, candlesticks, and other ritual items were collected.

The first photograph we saw, after the introduction, was of hundreds of Torah Scrolls stacked on shelves, each with a tag stating from what community the Torah came. The Torahs were and are unused. As we all know, Torah scrolls are perishable. To keep them in store, rolled up and unused indefinitely, would be tantamount to passive vandalism.

Twenty years ago, through the Westminster Synagogue's efforts, 1564 Torah scrolls arrived in London. During the last twenty years, each scroll has been inspected and catalogued. Under the stewardship of Westminster Synagogue's Memorial Scrolls Trust, the process of finding homes for these scrolls began.

It is their desire to place every one of these sacred relics with a congregation which will cherish it and appreciate its history.

I believe it our sacred duty to purchase one of these scrolls and give it life again. The cost would be approximately $1,000. In order to make the project one of our entire congregation, I am asking that each family contribute $10-20 toward the project. With the funds collected, we will obtain the Torah and then provide for a special place for this scroll to be housed. Please send a check to Temple Adath Israel's Torah Scroll Fund and let us together rejoice in the life of this Torah.

CKJF GUEST LECTURER - DR. SOL GORDON

The CKJF invites the entire community to the First Annual Sue Friedman Memorial Jewish Family Life Education Program, "Raising Children Conservatively in a Sexually Permissive Society", Saturday, September 20, 1986 at 8 P.M. at Temple Adath Israel.

Guest lecturer will be Dr. Sol Gordon, Director of the Institute for Family Research and Education at Syracuse University. Among his most recent publications are Raising Children Conservatively in a Sexually Permissive Society and When Living Hurts, a suicide prevention book for teenagers.

Dr. Gordon has appeared on the Today Show, Phil Donahue Show, Sixty Minutes, and Good Morning America.

On Sunday morning, September 21, Dr. Gordon will lead a series of three workshops related to his presentation on the night before. The first of these, "How Can I Promote Self Esteem?" will be a breakfast meeting from 8 to 10 A.M. It is for adults who work with or have contact with teens -- parents, educators, and other professionals such as psychologists, social workers and school counselors.

The two following sessions are for teens themselves -- 10:30 to 12 noon for 11th and 12th grades; and 12 to 1:30 P.M. for 8th, 9th, and 10th grades. The title of the teen sessions is "How Can I Tell When I'm In Love?" The two sessions for teens will overlap at noon when a pizza and coke lunch is served.

All three sessions are free of charge and limited to members of the Jewish community. They will all be held at Temple Adath Israel.

The entire two-day program is free of charge. It is underwritten by a generous endowment from Mr. & Mrs. Joe Wolf and CKJF. The program is presented in cooperation with B'nai B'rith, Hadassah, Lexington Havurah, Ohavay Zion Synagogue, Temple Adath Israel, and the University of Kentucky Faculty Association on Jewish Affairs.

BLOOD DONORS

This new year of our blood drive, July 1986 through June 8, 1987 has started off with a July "bang", and we thank you so much for caring and for giving of yourselves. You are all great.

Now, to all past donors, present and new future donors, this reminder is for you: PLEASE DONATE one pint of blood. It won't hurt, it will help so very many, so much.

Tell them at the Blood Bank that it is for T.A.I. Sisterhood. They will do the rest. The blood will then be there when you or your loved ones need it. At that time, just tell the hospital and the blood bank that you have donated blood for Sisterhood.

Sisterhood and I thank you.

Your Blood Donor Chairman,
Lore Pappas

TEMPLE ADATH ISRAEL BULLETIN

VOLUME 54

NO. 2

1986 - 5746

SEPTEMBER 26, 1986

IN THIS CORNER

On behalf of Sandy and Joshua, let me wish all members of Temple Adath Israel a Shanah Tova: a happy and healthy New Year. This should be an exciting year for this congregation as we introduce new and varied programs in all areas of this Temple's life.

I must pause a moment and extend my sincerest and most personal thanks for a beautiful, meaningful and moving installation weekend. The outpouring of warmth expressed by you moved me quite deeply. It is impossible to thank each person who worked so hard in making this installation an evening/weekend. I will never forget. Each of you know who you are. Thank you.

It is with these tremendous feelings that I approach Tishrei 1, 5747 with heightened awareness of the profound meaning of the New Year. It is certainly a new year for me. I have a new congregational family with whom I am forming personal and professional relationships. Many of these people worked hard this summer on active committees to establish a positive atmosphere of living Judaism for the days after Tishrei 1. New programs are planned as well as enhanced participation in a variety of ways for Shabbat services.

Finally, each Rosh Hashanah brings new insights toward ourselves: self realization and introspection. After serving under the supervision of a Rabbi in Indianapolis, I am slowly coming to realize the enormous responsibility I have accepted. As I look inside myself at this season, I pray to God for the strength, insight and endurance to achieve the goals of this Temple and the ability to carry them out.

Rabbi Jon Adland

BAR/BAT MITZVAH DATE

In the spring of 1987, Bar/Bat Mitzvah dates will be set. Anyone needing to schedule a date for 1987 or 1988 (children born in 1974 or 1975) should contact Rabbi Adland at the Temple (269-2979).

RELIGIOUS SCHOOL

FROM THE PRINCIPAL

We are really excited about Religious School this year. Rabbi Adland has already proven to be a tremendous asset. Sandy Adland's children's choir has had a very successful beginning with 30 enthusiastic children (still room for more!). We are very fortunate to have such a well qualified, conscientious staff this year.

It is important to have your children at Temple no later than 9:40 A.M.

Marsha Matthews
Principal

FIRST GRADE

The first grade has been learning the festivals that constitute the Jewish calendar year and their relation to the seasons of the year.

We are including singing and story reading during our morning.

Anita Mersack
Teacher

3 YEAR OLD CLASS

The three year old class has been involved in a number of interesting activities this month. Initially, the children are learning about themselves in an effort to develop a sense of Jewish identity. They are currently identifying the parts of their bodies and faces used to accomplish important Jewish activities. (Such games as "Shimon Omer [Simon Says]" and "What is Missing?" have been quite successful in helping to further develop this concept.)

Each week the class meets with Rabbi Adland to discuss a variety of Jewish subjects. Many of these topics are quite new to the 3 year old child and are met with a great deal of curiosity and enthusiasm.

Throughout the year, the children will be deepening their Jewish experiences by learning more about what it means to be Jewish.

Riki Lawrence
Teacher

4 YEAR OLD CLASS

The 4 year old Sunday school class is off to a great start. Shimon Om (Simon Says): Put your finger on your PEH, your ROSH, and your AF. We are learning the Hebrew names of our body parts.

Snack time is a very special part of our program. Thanks to Paula Harri for volunteering her time and bringing us a variety of snacks. We practice saying the blessings over the Sabbath candles and wine and challah at this time. I love watching the children's faces glow with the sight of seeing the Sabbath candles lit.

For the next few weeks, we will be making Torah scrolls and Jewish New Year cards. If you have any old Jewish New Year cards and/or receive any that you don't mind sharing, please save them. We will be using the pictures on the cards for special projects. Please leave them in the office or the Preschool class (room 19) for me. You can give them to me even after the High Holy Days are over and I will be able to use them throughout the year and next fall.

Elayne Crystal
Teacher

KINDERGARTEN

Kindergarten class is eagerly watching the tree in the magic garden as apples "grow" and the bee hive, where the bees will be "making honey". The children have learned the meaning of the tradition of eating apples dipped in honey for Rosh Hashanah. Their next project will be the creation of an art object for their classroom to commemorate an approaching holiday.

Their present unit will be teaching them the difference between different types of books such as a rolled parchment scroll, smooth pages in a bound volume and the names of the books that use each of these methods. They now know that we are KNOWN as the "People of the Book", an honorable title.

Bea Levy
Teacher

DEBBI MARTIN TO BE HOLIDAY CANTOR

We are extremely pleased to announce that Ms. Deborah Martin of Cincinnati will be our cantor once again for the forthcoming High Holidays. Debbie is a lovely young woman with a beautiful voice whose presence on our pulpit last year helped enhance our worship greatly.

Debbi has a Bachelor of Music degree from the New England Conservatory of Music and a Master of Music degree from the Boston Conservatory of Music. She has sung at Wolf Trap Center for the Performing Arts, Tanglewood Summer Festival and the Opera Company of Boston Workshop. She has appeared in musical comedy, opera and concerts. She has also worked closely with Bonia Shur, Director of Music at the Hebrew Union College in Cincinnati and is well experienced in Jewish liturgical music.

In addition, three professional singers from Cincinnati will be joining us this year.

We are looking forward to welcoming Debbi and the three singers to our sanctuary for the Holidays.

BULLETIN DEADLINE

The deadline for information to be published in the next Bulletin will be on Thursday, October 2nd.

The next Bulletin will be mailed the week ending October 10th.

HIGH HOLIDAY INFO

Temple Adath Israel membership cards for the adults in the family, who are Temple members in good standing, were sent via the mail. These cards are to be presented for admission to High Holiday services. Tickets for out-of-town guests should be obtained as soon as possible from the Temple office.

Babysitting will be available at the 7 P.M. service on both Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur Eve and the 10 A.M. service on Rosh Hashannah and Yom Kippur morning and the 4:30 P.M. Memorial Service on Yom Kippur.

It will be held in room 39, next to the Youth Group room. Babysitting will be for children from ages 2 to 7.

HIGH HOLIDAY PARKING

In the event that our parking lot is filled to capacity, the Ashland Avenue Baptist Church has again been kind enough to allow us the use of its parking lots during our services, except on Sunday, October 12th (Yom Kippur eve). Do not use the church lots on this evening, as they will be needing them. Please do not park in their staff spaces beside the church. The parking we may use is located behind 155 North Ashland and behind 713 Franklin. There will be security guards to assist you in parking.

PRE-SCHOOL ROSH HASHANAH PARTY

CKJF, in cooperation with Temple Adath Israel, Ohavay Zion Synagogue and Lexington Havarah will be holding a pre-school Rosh Hashanah party on Sunday, September 28, 1986 from 3-4:30 P.M. at Temple Adath Israel.

All 2½-5 year olds in the Jewish community area are invited to attend this fun event. For more information contact Ginny Luftman at 223-5033 or Terry Goldfarb at 223-9521.

TEMPLE ADATH ISRAEL BULLETIN

VOLUME 54

NO. 3

1986 - 5747

OCTOBER 10, 1986

IN THIS CORNER

The next month will be a busy one at Temple Adath Israel. The opportunity for community involvement and participation is high. I hope that each of you will avail yourself in any way possible.

First, on Friday, October 17, we will celebrate the festival of Sukkot which begins that evening. In the spirit of Thanksgiving at the fall harvest festival, we are sponsoring a canned food drive with the food collected going to one of our local food banks. The drive will continue until Sunday, Oct. 26 as Sukkot concludes. When you come to services or bring your children to Religious School, please bring some food (non-perishable) to help those less fortunate.

On Friday, Oct. 24, we will celebrate Simchat Torah and honor this year's Consecration class.

At the end of October, our expanded Adult Education program begins. There is a variety of possibilities for study over the next several months. Your participation will help guide the Adult Education Committee to further explore and expand our offerings.

I anticipate this month of worship, celebration, education and our out-of-town guests. I hope you will join with me.

During the weekend of Nov. 7, LEXTY will host the sub-regional convention for OVFTY's KITOWV. Approximately 80-100 teenagers will study, socialize, worship and sing together.

On the sheet enclosed in this Bulletin is a request for additional housing in homes where there is no teenager and the responsibilities this entails.

Adam Fain, son of Mr. & Mrs. Charles Fain

Brent and Gina Harris, son and daughter of Mr. & Mrs. David Harris

Joel Harrison, son of Dr. & Mrs. John Harrison

Matthew Higdon, son of Mr. & Mrs. Michael Higdon

Amit Nizan, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Moshe Nizan

Lealah Pollock, daughter of Dr. & Mrs. Frederick Pollock

Rory Stone-Walsh, son of John Walsh & Cynthia Stone

Benjamin Wides, son of Mr. & Mrs. Steven Wides

2ND GRADE CLASS

Our second grade class is learning about Jewish life-cycle events along with their customs and ceremonies. In addition, we are expanding our Hebrew vocabulary to include words that are associated with Shabbat and Festivals, e.g. challah, nerot, kiddush, menorah, Torah... We didn't realize that we already knew so many! While studying the Commandments, we not only learned a song about them, but we made up our own commandments that we feel we should live by. We made challot (Challas) one Sunday which turned out as our favorite activity this year. We anticipate more fun projects in the weeks ahead.

Sandy Adland
Teacher

3RD GRADE CLASS

The third grade class has gotten off to a good start this year. We're learning a lot of Hebrew words. We went on a nature walk and learned Hebrew words for objects such as the sky, sun, trees and flowers. We also created a sharing table in which our class displayed items that reminded us of God. A couple of special activities are planned for Rosh Hashana - making New Year's cards for our families and baking challah.

Beth Mersack
Teacher

4TH GRADE CLASS

Respect for our fellow classmates, respect for our teacher and respect for the classroom; these orders make up the "Talmud for fourth grade". With Rabbi Adland's assistance and instruction, fourth graders got a first hand look at the pages of the Talmud. We discussed some of the laws and commentaries that make up the Mishnah. Now our classroom has its own Talmud, with rules and commentaries by the students.

There have been lighter moments in our classroom, too. Paula Harrison introduced us to some Israeli dancers and the boys and girls have decided on a game to review lessons at the end of the class each week.

ARZA POLLS SHOW SUPPORT FOR PLURALISM IN ISRAEL

Nearly 65% of Israelis say that there is no justification for changing the Law of Return in a way that would cause harm to the Reform and Conservative Movements. Nearly 67% of the Israeli public agrees that the Reform and Conservative Movements in Israel should be recognized by the government and should receive the same rights as Israeli Orthodoxy. Orthodox spokesmen in Israel have frequently claimed that most Israelis support the Orthodox establishment, even if they themselves are not religious. Join the battle for religious pluralism by joining ARZA. Contact Nat Sandler, our ARZA chairperson, or Rabbi Adland.

TEMPLE ADATH ISRAEL BULLETIN

VOLUME 54

NO. 4

1986 - 5747

OCTOBER 24, 1986

IN THIS CORNER

Elie Wiesel's receiving the Nobel Prize for Peace is truly significant. Here is a man who faced the greatest horrors of civilization's history. He lost his mother and a sister in the gas chambers, his father died of starvation and he lived as a skeleton of himself in the most degrading of human conditions.

Wiesel's vengence toward the world is to let the world know what happened more than forty years ago. He writes books about his experiences filled with the question why. He speaks to audiences of children and adults, Jews and non-Jews, pleading for a moral world, a world of Justice and Compassion.

The Jewish community bonded together last year applauding Mr. Wiesel as he told President Reagan he was wrong to go to Bitburg and honor those who held no value or worth of human life. Mr. Reagan ignored Elie Wiesel's comments, but the world listened. The memories of the evil of the Holocaust struck a chord in a new generation born after the war. We, too, shall not forget. Elie Wiesel will not let us forget. His books and speeches will not let us forget.

Spirituality is a sense of God. Spirituality is understanding ethics and values, and then placing that morality at the forefront of our thought and behavior. Elie Wiesel is a spiritual individual. He is a role model for me.

On Tuesday, October 28th at 10 A.M. sharp, we are leaving from the Temple parking lot for a trip to Berea. We will dine in the famous Boone Tavern, ordering and paying for our own lunch.

Then, either in small or large groups, there will be ample time to visit the local museum and the many shops, displaying craft and furniture done by Berea students.

En route, coming and going, we should be able to enjoy God's given magic of the many trees dressed in their glorious fall colors.

We will be travelling by minibus, and possibly by additional private cars.

AMERICAN JEWISH HISTORY

The class in American Jewish History studied the impact that America and the Jews have had upon each other since 1492. We studied primary sources and examined five hundred years of American Jewish history through two points of view, that of the participants and that of the historians who interpret what the participants did.

An important part of this course was a study of the Jewish role in the making of America with emphasis on the important personalities involved. We spotlighted the real heroes of American Jewish history in a study of the people, events and ideas that have made us what we are.

Fannie H. Miller
Teacher

ISRAEL, YESTERDAY, TODAY AND TOMORROW

In the Senior Block I, [redacted] learned about geography, [redacted] life, Israel's customs and relationship between Israel and Palestine. We also learned about the lost tribes of Israel and whether or not to let them live in Israel. During the course of the class, everyone gave a presentation on different subjects of Israel. For instance, the life in the kibbutz and moshav, technology, population, ethnic cultures and the army service. Finally, this class has a general idea about how Israel is changing and what is happening around Israel.

Orly & Gabriel Maravankin
Teachers

CULTS

Religious cults has become a significant problem in our society; it is estimated that there exists between 2,000-3,000 religious cults at this time. Most disturbing of all, is the fact that the percentage of Jewish participants in these cults is much higher than our percentage of the total population.

The purpose of the six week Senior Block course dealing with Cults is to both expose and familiarize our children with the existence of the problem and to provide them with the capability of recognizing the characteristics and practices of religious cults.

The class consists of lectures and video tapes of news programs and dramatizations which I have collected over the past several years. Interestingly enough, several students who have had this course in the past have advised me that they have been approached by cults and that they were able to recognize and resist the problem given the background from the class. In short, this is precisely what the course is designed to do.

JEWISH ELECTORAL PARTICIPATION IS ESSENTIAL

Historically the American Jewish community has been able to exert political influence far greater than its three percent of the population would suggest. This has been made possible, in large measure, because of the Jewish community's effective usage of its legitimate political rights, including its voting participation on election day. For many years nearly 90% of all eligible Jews voted even while general voting rates fell to about 50%.

In recent years, however, the voting rate for Jews has decreased noticeably even while some groups like the Christian Right have increased their voting numbers. As a result, the margin between Jewish and general electoral participation has decreased. This trend has been exacerbated by significantly lower voting patterns for Jewish elderly and Jewish college students.

The candidates who will be elected next November will be making decisions over the next few years on a wide array of issues of vital concern to the Jewish community. Therefore, Jewish participation on election day is essential. The Union of American Hebrew Congregations has asked congregations to place particular emphasis on ensuring that elderly Jews have the means of getting to the polls and that college students register to vote. In addition, participation in general registration campaigns can help determine the outcome of elections which may be decided by 1 or 2 percentage points.

TEMPLE ADATH ISRAEL BULLETIN

VOLUME 54

NO. 5

1986 - 5747

NOVEMBER 7, 1986

IN THIS CORNER

This weekend, LEXTY hosts the annual KITOWV Subregional conclave. Approximately 100 teenagers from five different states will arrive in Lexington for a weekend of study, prayer and socializing. Steve Miller and Rebecca Mersack, co-chairmen for this conclave, have worked hard preparing the Temple and the Youth Group for this important function. Those of us involved with LEXTY know that this weekend will be exciting.

Many of the 100 youth participating in this KITOWV conclave know that the reason they are involved in OVFTY is because of Goldman Union Camp Institute, GUCI, our regional Reform camp in Zionsville, In., just outside of Indianapolis. GUCI has been a part of the UAHC camp system for more than twenty-five years. Hundreds of campers attend GUCI every year from cities throughout the midwest and Toronto, Canada.

At GUCI, our children enhance their Jewish identities by studying Judaism, singing Hebrew songs, observing Shabbat, learning Hebrew, discovering new Jewish friends and living their Judaism. The positive nature of this Jewish camping experience can be attested to by the numbers of former campers who continue to live Jewish lives and participate in the Jewish community either as congregational lay leaders or Jewish professionals: rabbis, cantors, educators, social workers and Jewish agency directors. GUCI provides a balanced camp life with swimming, recreational activities, arts and crafts, drama, dance, and fun, lively evening programs.

I sincerely believe that Goldman Union Camp Institute is a great Jewish camp. I have never met an individual who did not have a successful summer during one of the two four week sessions. Ira Mersack, Mike Lerner or I would be happy to talk with any interested congregant about the possibility of sending their child to GUCI. GUCI is a significant part of our Jewish future.

RELIGIOUS SCHOOL

BIRTHDAY WORLD PROGRAM
CELEBRATING ROSH HASHANAH

FOUR YEAR OLD CLASS

The four year old class has been busy discussing the High Holy Days and trying to be good and make people happy. Many responses were given by the children about what to say when they do something unkind. The responses are on the Selichot Wall in the Religious School wing.

For Sukkot, we make mobiles with Sukkot symbols to hang in the Temple's Sukkah. The children went on a scavenger hunt throughout the classroom looking for paper etrogs. They also played a game called "Rabbi, Rabbi, who has your etrog?".

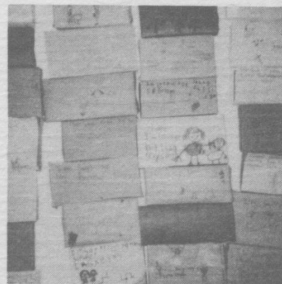

Each week I read the class a story of Jewish content or we see a film-strip from the Temple library.

Elayne Crystal, Teacher

SIXTH GRADE CLASS

We have been learning about Jews who have influenced history from the start of civilization until the present. We have a weekly "Jews in the News" review of current events and discuss how these fit into the historical perspective. A short videotape was prepared with portraits of Jews from the past commenting on their reaction to the current world situation. This was shown to the religious school at the Rosh Hashanah Party.

Fred Pollock, Teacher

SELICHOT WALL

THREE YEAR OLD CLASS

The three year old class sidetracked a bit from its curriculum this month to learn and share in a number of Jewish holidays. Each Sunday the children learned about 2 different holidays and made an art project related to that holiday. One especially nice Sunday was when the children were able to decorate a string of Jewish stars for Sukkot and then hang them in the Sukkah.

Next month, the children will be taught about the five senses. They will explore this through the world of Jewish activities, objects, people and places.

Riki Lawrence, Teacher

SEVENTH GRADE CLASS

The seventh grade topic for the fall is Comparative Judaism. We started with Reform and studied its historical development. We are planning a field trip to Cincinnati to see the Plum Street Temple, the Hebrew Union College, eat deli at Izzy's and buy bagels.

We use a textbook, a workbook and puzzles in our studies of the main branches of Judaism. To illustrate the most important ideas in Reform Judaism, we made big posters.

We write in journals in order to think about Rosh Hashanah, New Year's Resolutions, winning and losing, being kind to friends and parents and other topics.

Each week, we discuss current events, based on articles from the newspapers. We have a contest to see who can bring in the most articles.

JENNIFER STACEY GRAFF

Jennifer attends Beaumont Jr. High School and she is interested in reading, biking and listening to music.

We invite you to share in our joy and worship with us. Please join us for an Oneg Shabbat following the service.

REFORM LEADERS CALL ON UJA FOR EARMARKING PLAN

Leaders of the Reform Movement have called on the United Jewish Appeal to develop a plan which would allow UJA donors to earmark a portion of their gifts for Reform projects in Israel. The request came after the Reform Movement was unsuccessful in its efforts to get substantial funding for Reform projects in Israel from the Jewish Agency, a social service agency which receives the bulk of UJA money. The Reform Movement had requested $20 million from the Agency to fund approximately 40 Reform programs, but had been allocated only a fraction of this amount -- $266,000.

The Reform Movement has pointed out that there is ample precedent for earmarking. Keren Hayesod, the European equivalent of the UJA, regularly allows earmarked donations, and both the UJA and local federations allow them in some cases in this country. In recent years, UJA and Keren Hayesod donors have been contributing between $4 million and $8 million per year in earmarked donations to a wide range of cultural, medical, religious, educational and welfare institutions in Israel. However, none of this money has gone to Reform institutions. Therefore, Reform leaders believe that the UJA should now create a Reform fund which would support specified Reform projects to be agreed upon by the Reform Movement and the UJA. UJA contributors would then have the option of designating a certain percentage of their gift for that fund.

The Reform Grant Committee, consisting of the top leadership of 5 national Reform institutions, has been carrying on the negotiations with the UJA. The effort was initiated and has been coordinated by ARZA. Please show your support by joining ARZA. Those who join ARZA prior to February 1, 1987, will be eligible to vote in elections for the World Zionist Congress. A major ARZA victory in the election would greatly enhance the Reform position in the allocations process. Information on ARZA membership can be obtained by contacting Nat Sandler, our ARZA chairperson or Rabbi Adland.

SOCIAL CONCERNS

WAYNE SWATLOWSKI

Questions and comments from the congregation will be encouraged, including ways on how our congregation can provide assistance to people in need.

International Folk Dancing is still going strong at Temple Adath Israel. Our teachers have brought new dances from workshops in West Virginia and Canada and for those of you who want to join us but have never danced before or at least in the last few years, we will be devoting some evenings specifically to you. Beginning Nov. 6 and the first Thursday of every other month (Nov., Jan., March, etc.) we will be holding beginners night. We will spend the entire evening teaching only beginning, easy dances. And for those of you interested only in Israeli dances, the first Thursday of Dec., Feb. and April will be devoted to Israeli dances.

At the request of many of our participants, we have moved the time up to 7:30 P.M. on Thursday nights.

So mark your calendars and do plan to join us. Regular sessions always include teaching, reviews and request dancing (all levels) and are free and open to all. For more information, call Paula Harrison at 273-3492.

BOARD BRIEFS

Rabbi Adland will begin investigating a congregational trip to Israel to take place in late February, 1988.

The motion carried that the Board will communicate to CKJF, its concern about the allocation of the funds raised by the UJA in regard to Reform Judaism in Israel. The Temple Board, however, continues to support UJA and related federated fund raising.

The motion carried that the Endowment Fund Committee purchase bonding insurance of $1 million for the chairman and Treasurer of the committee.

PRESIDENT'S SPOT

I left the November Board of Trustees meeting with a good feeling that all my fellow Board members enjoyed the 2½ hour session.

It was a pleasure to preside at a meeting composed of men and women from busy walks of life taking time out to help improve the quality of the management, education, worship, caring concern to make this congregation a growing, viable institution.

The faces around the table were alert, questioning, agreeing, disagreeing, serious, laughing; no one lost their temper. Everyone parted friends.

As I drove on home, I reviewed the main events of the New Year. The exciting installation of Rabbi Adland, the warm welcome the congregation extended to him, his lovely wife Sandy and their son Joshua; members' enthusiasm and involvement in Temple life; the beautiful music on High Holy days; the new programs taking hold, the successful OVFTY Regional planned by LEXTY (what a joy it was to see all those eager young people); Sisterhood, Brotherhood, Mitzvah Corps, Young Couples, Young Singles, new members, preschool, all alive and well -- suddenly I looked up and I was home.

WOMEN'S PLEA FOR SOVIET JEWRY TO FEATURE RABBI JONATHAN STEIN

On Tuesday, December 9 at 8 P.M. at Temple Adath Israel, the combined Jewish women's groups of Central Kentucky are sponsoring the annual Women's Plea for Soviet Jewry.

This year's program will feature Rabbi Jonathan Stein of the Indianapolis (Indiana) Hebrew congregation. Rabbi Stein has recently returned from a trip to the Soviet Union and will share his experiences and contacts with Soviet Jews with the entire community. Many members of the Central Kentucky Jewish community are familiar with Rabbi Stein as the keynote speaker at the installation of Rabbi Jonathan Adland of Temple Adath Israel.

All members of the Central Kentucky community are encouraged to attend, Jews and non-Jews, men and women.

Rabbi Stein's presentation will include slides from his trip. It will be followed by a discussion of practical and effective ways for the citizens of Central Kentucky to expand their advocacy on behalf of the rights of Soviet Jews.

This program is co-sponsored by: Hadassah, the Sisterhoods of Ohavay Zion and Temple Adath Israel, CKJF-UJA Women's Division, and the sub-committee for Oppressed Jewry of the CKJF Community Relations Committee.

BROTHERHOOD SPONSOR FILM "SHOAH"

Temple Adath Israel Brotherhood has arranged for the showing of "Shoah" on Tuesday, December 16th and Thursday, December 18th at the Kentucky Theatre in Lexington. The theatre owners are donating the use of the film and their facilities. Most of the proceeds for the ticket sales will go to the Simon Wiesenthal Center. The remainder of the proceeds will stay locally to help strengthen our youth's Jewish identity. The film lasts 9½ hours and will be shown in two parts beginning at 7 P.M. each night. Tickets may be purchased in advance. The cost for both nights will be $10 for adults and $6 for students. Checks should be made out to "Temple Adath Israel Shoah Fund" and mailed to the Temple.

This movie received praise throughout the world. Gene Siskel called it "...the greatest use of film in motion picture history... among the greatest films ever made... significantly, no old concentration camp footage was included... The director, Lanzmann, a Jew and son of a French resistance fighter, devoted 11 years interviewing Jewish survivors, Nazis, Nazi sympathizers, bureaucrats, and townspeople who either manned the death camps or watched them from close range."

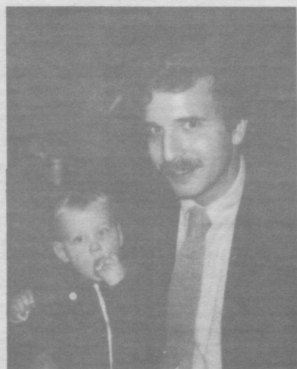

The Simon Wiesenthal Center established in 1977, has become the largest institution of its kind in North America dedicated to the study of the Holocaust, its contemporary implications and related human rights issues. It's goal is the preservation of the memory of the Holocaust through education and awareness, with the goal that no people shall ever again fall victim to an atrocity of such magnitude. One current ongoing campaign is to have Kurt Waldheim put on the U.S. "watch list."

This program should be of interest to all members in the Central Kentucky area. We hope to see all of you there. For more information, contact the Temple office at 269-2979.

KINDERGARTEN

Kindergarten class is starting a very busy session. On their project table, they will construct a model of a kibbutz. While this enables them to learn more about Israel so far away, they will be able to communicate their findings through broadcasts from their own TV station which is also under construction.

Stay tuned for their first broadcast. Call letters and their channel to be announced later.

Bea Levy, Teacher

SECOND GRADE

During the month of October, we took a break from our regular curriculum activities in order to take a closer look at the High Holy Days, Sukkot and Simchat Torah. We learned about songs, prayers, symbols, customs and rituals associated with each of the holidays. One activity of particular interest was taking a closer look at the Shofar service, as well as learning how to perform the Shofar calls.

Recently we have been learning about Jews around the world, and we found out that Jews live as far away as England, Holland, Turkey, Ethiopia, even China!

Sandy Adland, Teacher

THIRD GRADE

The third graders have been having fun these last few weeks. We have been talking about the many things God has created. We then discussed the various ways we can take care of God's creations and what we can do as individuals to make the world a better place. Such as not throwing trash into our lakes and oceans, and cutting down on pollution. We made a Modeh Ani Body Care Book which lists and illustrates ways in which we can take care of ourselves. We included items such as safety, cleanliness and healthy eating.

In the coming weeks, we are going into an in-depth look at the 613 Mitzvot. It should be interesting to see how many we can name and how many we have done.

Beth Mersack, Teacher

FOURTH GRADE

The fourth grade students have been exploring the many facets of their Jewish identity. At first, observance of the Jewish holidays was their primary concern. Now they are aware that ceremonies, songs, prayers, objects (such as mezzuzah and menorah), and even food (gefilte fish and challah) are meaningful to their Jewishness. Ask your fourth grader what his or her "favorite Jewish things" are. Hopefully, he or she will have more to say than "Chanukah".

We have also begun Bible stories, continuing where the third grade curriculum ended, after the Torah and beginning with Joshua. Soon we will be studying modern Israel, based on our text "I Live in Israel".

Phyllis Russell, Teacher

PLEASE NOTE

There will be no Religious School Sunday, November 30, 1986 (Thanksgiving holiday).

The Children's Choir has rehearsed every other Sunday since September, in preparation for our first Family Night Shabbat. We began with thirty members, and I am happy to say that we are still approximately twenty-two strong. We have worked on opening and closing songs, as well as new tunes to accompany the major prayers in the worship service. I am so proud of each and every one of our children's choir members, and I know that you will be too. Please join us for monthly Family Night Shabbat services, and let our beautiful children's choir lead you in song!

Our daughter, Jennifer Stacey Graff, will celebrate her Bat Mitzvah on Saturday, November 29th at 10:00 A.M.

Jennifer attends Beaumont Jr. High School and she is interested in reading, biking and listening to music.

We invite you to share in our joy and worship with us. Please join us for an Oneg Shabbat following the service.

YOUNG COUPLES

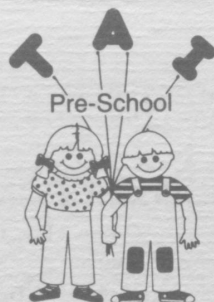

The Young Couples Group is off and running this year. Those of us who attended the rather soggy tailgate party and football game in October had a pleasant time. Our mid-November theatre night, where we saw "A Talent For Murder" by the Studio Players, was sold out. Upcoming events include the pizza and movie night on December 7th and a Chanukah party on Dec. 24th. Make plans now to join our group for these events.

Dear Friends at Temple Adath Israel,

On behalf of the entire region, I would like to thank you for your wonderful hospitality during our recent sub-regional convention here in Lexington. OVFTY is very fortunate to have such a supportive community which cares about our Jewish youth.

For hosting our OVFTY-ites in your homes, for providing food and moral support, and for allowing us to use your beautiful facility, we thank you. You all should be very proud of LEXTY and the work they did--we had a wonderful time here in Lexington!

Sanford Kopnick
OVFTY Rabbinic Advisor

TEMPLE OFFICE CLOSED FOR THANKSGIVING

BULLETIN DEADLINE

The deadline for information to be published in the next Bulletin will be on Wednesday, Nov. 26th.

The next Bulletin will be mailed the week ending Dec. 5th.

LEXTY

Mark Sandler & Stephen Miller
at the conclave.

After many months of hard work, the KITOWV Sub-Regionals are over. Through the leadership of co-chairpeople, Stephen Miller and Rebecca Mersack, as well as excellent educational, religious, and social programming, the conclave was a huge success. Everyone had fun while learning about our Jewish identities and making new friends. We would also like to thank the Brotherhood, the Sisterhood and the congregation for their food and housing contributions.

With the completion of regionals LEXTY is now planning many other activities. Our first function will be a shabbat service in honor of Soviet Jewry to be held on December 5, 1986. We hope that many people will join our prayers for our oppressed brethren in Russia. Thank you again for all of your support.

B'Shalom,
Jennifer Miller
LEXTY President

FROM THE TREASURER'S POCKET

The Temple's Budget & Finance Committee anticipate that the general fund will have a shortfall of approximately $15,000.00 for the 1986-1987 fiscal year that ends April 30, 1987.

Several members of the Board of Trustees are now requesting dues increases from some members of the congregation. If you are contacted, please give generously. If you are not called but would like to increase your dues pledge, please contact Ben Baker at 278-4038.

Building Fund statements have recently been mailed to all members with an outstanding balance. Our loan with First Security has been reduced to $47,000.00. It would be fantastic if we could pay the loan off in 1986!!!

OUTREACH GROUP

The next meeting of the Outreach Group will be on Wednesday, December 3rd at the Temple. The topic will be "Participating More Fully in Erev Shabbat Services."

For further information, please call Jacalyn Sosin at 276-4386 or Rabbi Adland at 269-2979.

GOLDMAN UNION CAMP

Goldman Union Camp Institute is our Reform Jewish summer camp. A fund, "Friends of Goldman Union Camp" was established a few years ago. Under the careful guidance of three co-chairmen, funds generated will be used to develop new programs, provide special facilities and equipment and bring in speakers, artists and leaders to share their talents with our children. At this time, the funds are building new cabins. Future possibilities are limitless.

Through your tax deductible pledge, a minimum of $100 a year for five years, you can be a friend of our camp and to youth. Contact Rabbi Adland or Dr. Ira Mersack for more information or send your contribution marked "Friends" to GUCI, 9349 Moore Road, Zionsville, In. 46077.

LONG RANGE PLANNING

At our October 27th meeting, the committee discussed a proposal for the Temple to implement a 2 or 3 day winter or spring camp program during the school break for 3 to 8 year olds. It was also proposed that a separate children's service be conducted at the same time as regular services for school age children at the High Holy days services. There was discussion on how to reach out to the unfiliated of the Temple's confirmation classes from past years. It was agreed that the Worship Committee be asked to explore ways to increase and expand recognition opportunities such as candle lighting and sitting on the Bimah for our younger and new members.

These are just a few of the exciting wish list items developed by the committee. Members of the congregation are invited to attend the next committee meeting at the Temple on Thursday, December 4th at 7 P.M. For more information, contact Joseph Miller, Chairman at 255-2344.

1986 - 5747

DECEMBER 5, 1986

IN THIS CORNER

I write this article with Thanksgiving only a day away. We have so much to be thankful for - living in this great land free from tyranny and oppression; opportunities abound for us. We are free to live where we want, receive public education, worship openly, express our opinions, vote and more. Our ancestors took great risks leaving behind family and friends, traveling across the ocean, attempting to establish a new home for their posterity. We are thankful for their bravery and insight.

Our ancestors arrived as Jews in a foreign land wanting to assimilate into American life and continue perpetuating Judaism. Our ancestors maintained positive Jewish identities upholding Jewish values. This is evidenced by strong Jewish participation in worker's rights, civil liberties, high rates of financial contributions to needy organizations, and a love of family, holidays and education. Jewish identity was strong in our Jewish ancestor pilgrims.

I worry now that our children don't always see the world through Jewish eyes, viewing Judaism as external like a limb, rather than internal like a heart. Temple Adath Israel tries to stimulate Jewish commitment in our youth by a creative religious school curriculum, family worship and youth group. The final stimulus to lifelong Jewish commitment emerges from a total Jewish experience where Judaism is not Sunday, but everyday. Goldman Union Camp Institute provides that stimulus. Jewish youth who go to one of the two four week sessions inevitably become active, participating members of the Jewish community.

I am thankful for this camp and its programs. You can be thankful, too, by sending your child to camp or contributing to its perpetuation. Let us all be thankful together.

Rabbi Jon Adland

Tickets may be purchased in advance. The cost of both nights will be $10 for adults and $6 for students. Checks should be made out to "Temple Adath Israel Shoah Fund" and mailed to the Temple.

WOMEN'S PLEA FOR SOVIET JEWS TO FEATURE RABBI JONATHAN STEIN

On Tuesday, December 9th at 8 P.M. at Temple Adath Israel, the combined Jewish women's groups of Central Kentucky are sponsoring the annual Women's Plea for Soviet Jewry.

This year's program will feature Rabbi Jonathan Stein of the Indianapolis (Indiana) Hebrew Congregation. Rabbi Stein has recently returned from a trip to the Soviet Union and will share his experiences and contacts with Soviet Jews with the entire community.

This program is co-sponsored by Hadassah, the Sisterhoods of Ohavay Zion and Temple Adath Israel, CKJF-UJA Women's Division, and the sub-committee for Oppressed Jewry of the CKJF Community Relations Committee.

Governor Martha Layne Collins has proclaimed December 9th as Women's Plea for Soviet Jewry Day in Kentucky. Let's all join in making this a significant observance.

TEMPLE ADATH ISRAEL BULLETIN

VOLUME 54

NO. 8

1986 - 5747

December 19, 1986

IN THIS CORNER

On Tuesday, December 9, 1986, the souls of a hundred lives of the Lexington Jewish community were inalterably changed. That night, through slides and recollections, Rabbi Jon Stein told us about Soviet Jews. Not any Soviet Jews, but those called "Refuseniks", individuals who apply for emigration and are refused.

We learned that once application is made, the Soviet state retaliates against the family by causing a loss of job, trumped up charges and prison sentences, physical beatings, fear, anguish and more. We learned that many Jews in the Soviet Union risk everything to be Jewish; celebrate as a Jew, learn Hebrew, teach and study Judaism and pass Judaism along to the next generation.

Rabbi Stein's slides introduced us to a dozen families filled with burning desires to be Jewish, yet shackled by a repressive totalitarian government. We met children fluent in Hebrew, the leader of a secret Jewish kindergarten, a couple who, for twenty years has tried to leave, and more.

We also felt shame and apathy, that we, American Jews, living in freedom who can choose to be Jewish often choose assimilation or establish homes where Judaism is a passing fancy or never participate in Jewish activities. While in the Soviet union, Jews risk everything to be Jewish - family, friends, work and peace.

Rabbi Stein pleaded with us to respond to the plight of 400,000 Soviet Jews who express interest in their Jewish identity. "Act! Go to the Soviet Union. Let them know they are not forgotten!" Rabbi Stein said. I will go. I must go. I must travel to the Soviet Union, meet refuseniks, bring my Judaism and my love for Jews to a land where love isn't. Hopefully, Rabbi Stein convinced some of you, too. Rabbi Jon Allen

JEWISH MEDICAL ETHICS

Jewish Medical Ethics is a complex and ever-broadening subject. With the increase in scientific and technical medical knowledge, Judaism continues responding to the changes by re-examining sources, traditions and opinions. In our class, we learned that there is no one answer to the questions involved in making medical ethical decisions.

Some of the issues we searched included the Jewish views on abortion, birth control, genetic engineering and organ transplants. We read traditional sources and liberal opinions. We discussed what we might do if we had to make a real life decision.

Most importantly, the students discovered that Judaism can contribute age-old rich opinions and ideas in helping us cope with some of life's most difficult moments.

FAMOUS JEWS

What would you think that Star Trek has in common with the Nobel Peace Prize? We found out in our session that Jews are involved in both (Elie Weisel, William Shatner and Leonard Nimoy). Finding out just WHO is Jewish and what they have contributed to mankind and to our Jewish heritage was the assignment given to students as they worked on individual projects. Each student picked two Jews to research, prepared an oral presentation, and submitted written abstracts from the sources used. Students used passages from books, video cassettes, tapes, and films to highlight the presentations. Among the famous Jews studied (in addition to the above mentioned) were: Albert Einstein, Jonas Salk, Marc Chagall, Leonard Bernstein, Louis Brandeis, Barbara Streisand, Anne Frank, Sigmund Freud and the Marx Brothers.

JEWISH HISTORY I

The students in the Senior Block course in Jewish History I have completed the first part of their study. This course dealt primarily with the period in which Judaism was formed and grew to maturity, to the time of the American Revolution. Emphasis was placed on Jewish History in relation to World History - how Jews have affected the non-Jewish world and been influenced by it. The text we used was My People, Abba Eban's History of the Jews.

SHOSHANA MILLER CASE UPDATE

Dateline Jerusalem, December 2 - The Israeli Supreme Court ruled today that the Interior Ministry may not stamp the word "convert" in the identity documents of an American immigrant.

The case involved Shoshana Miller who chose Judaism in 1982 in a Reform Jewish ceremony. Under Israel's Law of Return, Israeli citizenship is guaranteed to any Jew who requests it. The Interior Ministry, run by the Orthodox Jewish establishment refused Miller's request since her conversion was not supervised by an Orthodox rabbi.

The Supreme Court agreed that to label her a convert would be an act of discrimination. Supreme Court President Meir Shamzar said, "There are not two nations - one Jewish and one converted to Judaism." He added "The nation with which we deal is the Jewish people, which is one."

HANUKAH QUESTIONS

How should the Hanukah candles be placed in the Menorah?

Always place candles in the Menorah beginning from the far right and continuing to the left.

When should the Hanukah candles be kindled?

"Immediately at the appearance of the stars" if possible. Later in the evening if necessary, but always "before any member of the household-child or adult - goes to sleep." On Friday evening, of course, the Hanukah candles are kindled before we light the Shabbat candles.

THE DREIDEL

One of the most popular symbols of the holiday is the "dreidel" - four-sided top with the Hebrew letters signifying Nes Gadol Hayah Sham - a great miracle happened there. The statement refers to the cruse of oil that burned for eight days. The children play a "Put and Take" game with the Dreidel. For the game, each letter has a special significance:

N - Nicht - Nothing
G - Ganz - All
H - Halb - Half
SH - Shtell - Put

NEW MEMBER HIGHLIGHT

(This new Temple Bulletin column will appear in each Bulletin to help provide a warm welcome to our new members. A new member will be featured in each Bulletin.)

KAREN STRAUSS

Karen has been a recreational therapist at St. Joseph Hospital for the past 4 years. She enjoys swimming, playing tennis, volleyball, as well as reading and listening to music. She grew up in Louisville and moved to Lexington 13 years ago to attend U.K., where she earned a B.S. in social work and an M.S. in therapeutic recreation. Except for living one year in Frankfort, she has lived in Lexington since college. She has been involved in the planning committee of the Jewish Singles group since the fall of 1985.

Karen has two children, Ben and Clint, age 5½ who are now attending kindergarten. Like most children their age, they like to swim, bike ride, build things, draw, color and enjoy being read to. They will be enrolling in the first grade at TAI Religious School in the fall. Karen enjoys participating with her sons in the special holiday celebrations intended for children-like the Hanukah party. TAI welcomes Karen and her children to the congregation.

SOCIAL CONCERNS

HELPING THE NEEDY

During a recent Shabbat service, representatives of Community Kitchen and God's Pantry addressed the congregation concerning the philosophy/mission and service provided by their agencies.

The Temple Social Concerns Committee is establishing an ongoing program of assistance by the congregation to these agencies.

1. Clothing bank - bring used clothing, especially men's winter clothing to the Temple office. Overcoats are especially needed; also work clothing including jeans, shirts and shoes.
2. Donations of canned goods and other non-perishable food items. Please bring one or more items each time you visit the Temple. There will be a collection box. A cash/check contribution can also be made.
3. Volunteers are important to the many activities at God's Pantry and Community Kitchen. Scheduling and work assignments are very flexible and varied. Call Steve Bram at the Temple office (269-2979) or Dr. Martin Kaplan at 277-3992 (evenings).

SHLOMO

Dear Friends,

The following appeared in the December issue of Moment magazine. Please bring me a picture postcard as soon as possible and I'll send them to Shlomo at once. Let us bring joy to a boy filled with pain.

Rabbi Jon Adland

A young Jerusalemite and former soldier, Shlomo Galizon, is suffering from a degenerative disease that now permits him to move only his head. His sole remaining pleasure is to collect picture postcards from around the world. Moment readers, their families and friends are urged to send such cards, which need not even be with a message, to Shlomo at 19 Rechov Even Sappir, Nachalat Achim, Jerusalem 94551, Israel. This mitzvah will be much appreciated by this brave young man. (Airmail postage is 33¢ for a card, 40¢ for a half-ounce envelope.)

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

Lexington Lodge #289 of B'nai B'rith will once again conduct a volunteer relief Christmas effort at hospitals and other public service organizations in Lexington. The purpose of the effort is to relieve non-Jewish personnel who would otherwise have to work on Christmas Eve or Christmas Day, and allow them time to spend with their families.

Volunteers are needed for various fill-in jobs. If you can donate two or more hours of your time on Dec. 24th or 25th, please contact Harvey Hirsch at 268-2513.

FROM THE TREASURER'S POCKET

The Tax Reform Act of 1986 makes it important for all of us to review our charitable contributions. If you would like to prepay your 1987-1988 dues before December 31st, please do so. We will credit your payment based on your instructions. If you have any questions, check with your accountant or call the Temple office and we will find the answer for you.
