FRATERNITIES

Sororities

Kentucky vaunts its women in the face of the world. And justly has she earned that right. For fact—not fancy—leads the proud Kentuckian to boast of those who equal in fame the Thoroughbred.

In its men, descended from the venturesome "Leatherstockings" who first blazed a trail through the "dark and bloody" territory, the gawkiness of hardy forebears is a diminishing characteristic, yet the gentility of the sturdy pioneer has been retained. Kentucky manhood of today may be termed the fruition of an illustrous past.

The University is the Mecca of Kentucky's finest examples of both sexes. Thus it is inferred that the student galaxy stands unrivalled among the centers of learning of the nation.

The Greek organizations of the campus choose a goodly number from this tribe of "favorite sons and daughters." It is our privilege to present them to you in this, the Fraternity and Sorority Section.

Cats Fall Before Vanderbilt Commodores in Opening Tilt

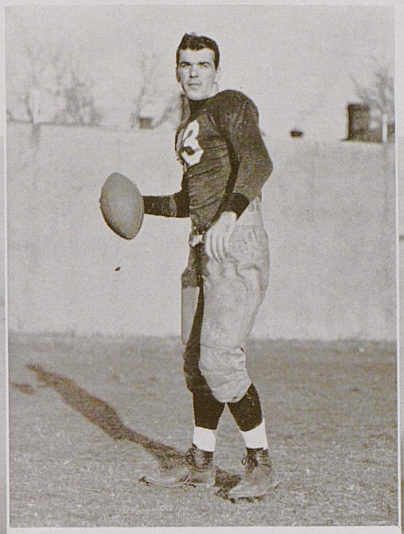

Opening their season on an alien field, the Cats were scuttled by the Commodores of Vanderbilt in rain drenched Nashville to the tune of 12-0. A concoction of the water-logged turf, costly fumbles and a package of sophomore dynamite named Bert Marshall, combined to hand Kentucky the first opening game defeat in a decade.

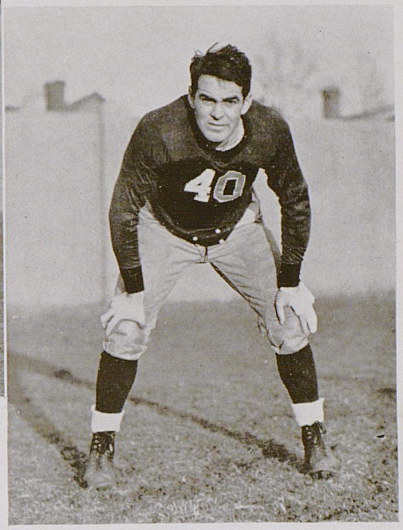

Soon after the second quarter was inaugurated, Kentucky fumbled on fourth down and Vandy took the ball on the Blue 45-yard line. Marshall and Ray Andrus combined to float the oval to the two, where Marshall slipped over tackle to score.

Pass, Davis to Robinson, Gives Cats 6-0 Win Over Xavier

Fading back from his own 27-yard line to mid-field, Bob Davis shot a pass to Dick Robinson, who, with the aid of perfect blocking crossed into double stripe territory to bring the Wildcats a meagre 6-0 win over Xavier in the second start of the year.

Captain Hagan

Play was ragged on the part of both elevens and numerous penalties failed to stimulate even mildly the overflow throng that jammed Xavier's Corcoran field for the day.

Following the marker, a Xavier punt was returned by Davis four yards to his 24 where a determined march moved the leather to the Musketeer 3. Walter Hodge hammered at center and missed the score by inches as the game ended.

Wildcats Succumb to Yellow Jackets In Third Start of Year

A machine-like band of Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets humiliated Kentucky in their Stoll field debut by a 32-0 margin in the third start of the year.

The echoes of the starting gun had hardly died away before Tech counted on a looping pass, Sims to Konneman. Still stunned by the suddenness of the uprising, the bewildered Cats watched another Jacket score originate as Sims, Konnemann and Appleby hammered the middle with Sims finally going over.

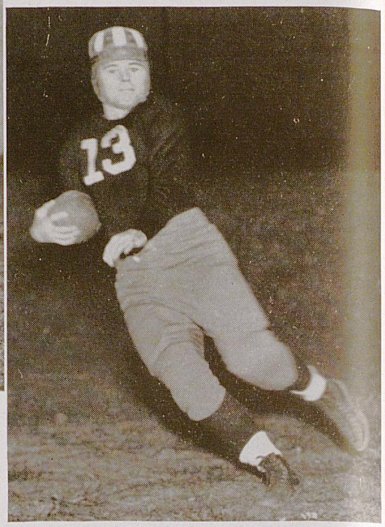

Again late in the second quarter the Southerners scored with Page scampering over from the 4-yard line.

Wildcats Romp Over Washington and Lee Generals 41-6

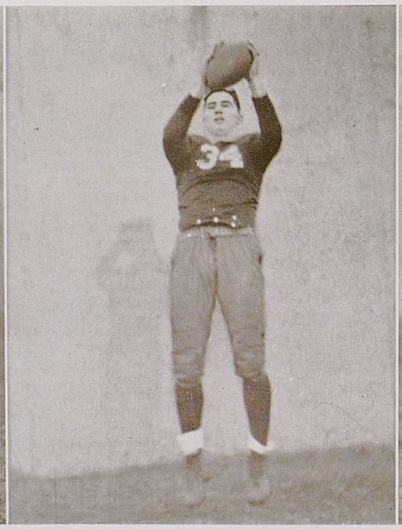

In their fourth attempt, the Cats held a touchdown picnic on Stoll field at the expense of Washington and Lee as 10,000 fans added their voices to the miracle. The guests were still trekking in when Hodge electrified the customers by returning the opening kickoff 80 yards to score.

Five plays later Bob Davis moved back into fake kick formation and slanted off tackle for another 80 yard scoring dash. Another Davis marker was generated when he gathered in a Washington and Lee pass on his goal line and streaked the length of the field to register.

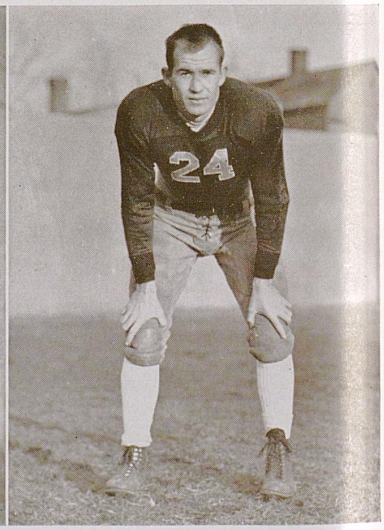

Howard scored for Washington and Lee late in the second quarter.

Cats Upset Dope Bucket to Trample Manhattan 19-0

With three spectacular opening half touchdowns, Kentucky practically turned the football world upside down by upsetting Manhattan College by 19-0, much to the delight of approximately 7,000 Stoll faithfuls.

The contest was but eight plays old when Bob Davis bulleted a pass to Dick Robinson for the first six-pointer. A few minutes later the elder Davis accepted a Jasper punt on the Blue 27-yard line and set sail on a 73 yard trip to make a second Cat marker. At the start of quarter two, Dameron Davis replaced brother Bob in the Cat secondary and immediately passed 35 yards to Garland for the last touchdown of the day.

Murderous 'Bama Offense Engulfs Blue and White 41-0

Sweltering in 85 degrees of late October heat, a murderous Alabama offense engulfed the sun-stricken Cats by 41-0 as the Bowl-bound Tide alternated three complete teams that registered scores in every period.

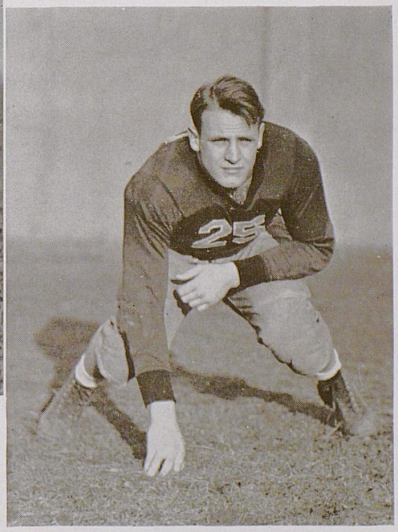

Bosse

Holm counted first for Alabama after 10 minutes of sweating on a 22-yard gallop. Before the first half was up, Blackwell, Kilgrow and Roberts had added to the Kentucky embarassment with touchdowns. Following the third Tide marker, Bob Davis took the Tide kick-off on his own 17 and contributed the games outstanding run by returning the ball 53 yards to the Alabama 30.

Bob Davis Leads 27-7 Victory Over South Carolina Gamecocks

Recoiling from the Alabama stampede, the Cats boosted the season's record to above the .500 mark by plucking the Gamecocks from South Carolina by 27-7 as 7,500 customers gasped at Bob Davis' brilliant running and groaned as Dameron Davis was felled mid-way of the second period with a head blow.

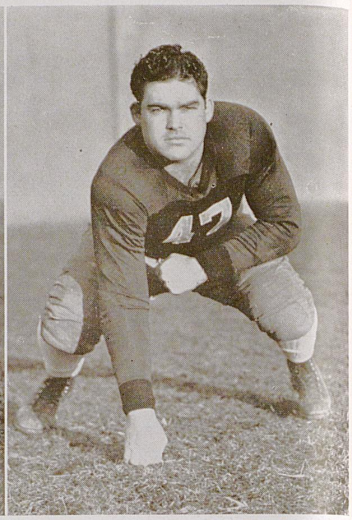

Bob Davis plunged over for the first six-points in the opening round. Another Bob Davis race, this time of 62 yards, annexed the second marker and Walter Hodge, set free by efficient blocking, journeyed 26 yards for the third. Curtis made the concluding score on a plunge from the 5. Larry Garland added three extra points.

On a field more suited to swimming, Kentucky, after a 2,300 mile rail ride, received a mud bath and 12-0 lacing at the hands of Boston College in the initial appearance of a Cat grid team in the bean town.

Twice in the second canto Kentucky had a first down within the Boston eight yard line but could not swim the ball over the last double marker. Late in the first quarter a bad punt presented the Easterners the ball on the Blues 36-yard line where Jivilikian skidded over after eight trys.

The last touchdown concluded a sustained swim of 61 yards down the field with Guinea crossing for Boston College.

Record Crowd Sees Wynnemen Drop Turkey Day Classic to Vols

The season's top mob of 15,000 passed the turn stiles for the annual Thanksgiving day feud with Tennessee and returned disappointed after viewing a sluggish Cat team drop a listless 12-0 decision.

A seven yard Wildcat punt inspired the first Vol score in the second quarter. Early in the third quarter Babe Woods scored another for Tennessee.

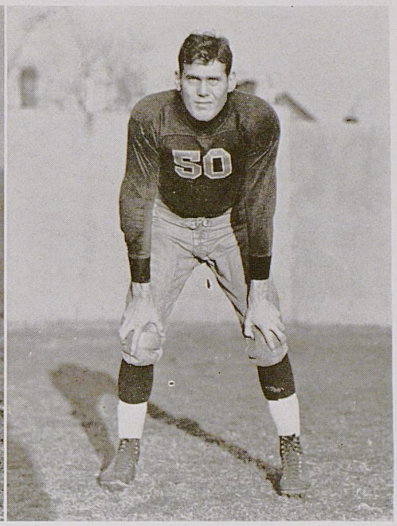

The Cats came to life after the score board had been altered by the 13th point. Bob Davis carried the ball to the three yard line where the attack stymied. Davis and Hodge moved the ball to the six. A first down was earned on the four but again the attack bogged and the Vols took the ball.

Florida Eleven Upsets Kentucky In Season's Finale

In the season's finale, Kentucky ended one of the most disastrous campaigns in recent history by dropping their wildest game of the year to Florida by a 6-0 score as a sub halfback's 58-yard dash set the scene for the game's winning touchdown. Florida scored in the middle of the third quarter after repulsing a Wildcat advance on their own 18 yard line. Ed Manning ripped off runs of 11 and 58 yards to put the leather on the 16 and from there, Delaney pushed over center for the score.

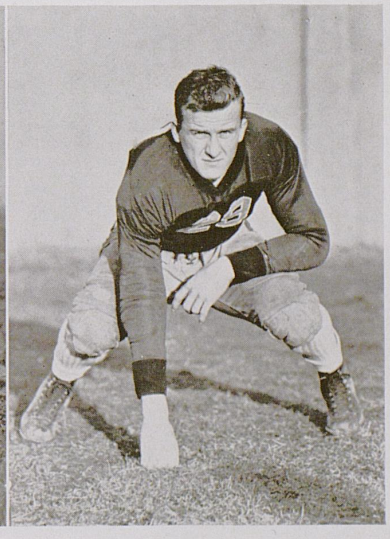

The nearest Kentucky came to a six-pointer was a 40-yard pass that was juggled on the goal line and finally dropped.

One of the largest freshman football squads in the history of the University greeted Coach Frank Moseley in his initial call for candidates.

Though failing to hang up an unbeaten slate, the Kittens presented one of the best first year teams in recent years as they moved through their portion of the grid schedule to annex one win in three games.

In their first encounter the young Blues were defeated by a giant Vanderbilt frosh team with a 14-0 score on a wet, mushy Nashville field. The first year Commodores placed a team on the field that averaged a fraction less than 200 pounds per man, compared to Kentucky's 190.

A strong first quarter attack netted the Tennessee freshmen a 12-0 win over Kentucky in the second encounter as 2,500 fans were present in Shield-Watkins stadium at Knoxville.

The concluding game of the schedule was annexed by the Kittens in a parade of touchdowns that ground the helpless Morehead frosh into the Stoll field sod beneath an 80-6 onslaught. Coach Moseley's charges scored 12 times in every conceivable manner.

Basketball

Opening with a 69-35 win over Berea College, the 1937-'38 version of the Wildcat basketball machine launched upon one of the most ambitious schedules ever carded for a Kentucky net team and when the season had been curtained, one of the most enviable records ever attained by a Blue squad had been registered.

Defending champions of the Southeastern conference, the Cats, led by Captain J. Rice Walker, recorded four straight wins before their mad rush was temporarily stymied by a disastrous Northern trip that sent the Cats home licking the wounds of three straight losses.

The highlight of the 1937 portion of the year was the Sugar Bowl victory over Pittsburgh on December 29 in the basketball feature of the Midwinter Sports Association Carnival held in New Orleans. Pitt, as Eastern Intercollegiate League champs, came South with one of the best teams in the history of the school but were decisively trampled by Kentucky, led by Opper and Hagan, for the first win ever attained by a Southern team since the series was inaugurated three years ago.

Immediately after classes convened following the Christmas holidays came the Northern jaunt and first a 43-38 loss to Michigan State, then Detroit University scalped the Wildcats by 34-26, followed by a 47-37 loss to Notre Dame. Failure to cash in on foul shots cost Kentucky the game with Michigan State. During the game the Cats were granted 15 free chances at the goal and made but four good. The entire offensive burden was carried by Hagan who put seven field goals over the rim.

Off to a slow start in the Detroit encounter, Coach Rupp's pupils were never able to catch within eight points of the fast-passing Northerners, who played their best game of the year. Hagan again was the scoring end of the team with 16 points.

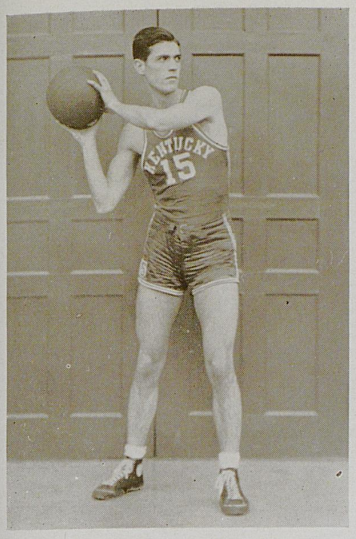

The third straight loss, an all time high since Coach Rupp moved into the basketball front office, was suffered when Johnny Moir, the Irish contribution to the All-American team, led a deadly shooting Notre Dame five to a 47-37 win. With Hagan temporarily stopped, Thompson took over the offensive responsibilities and added 15 markers.

Then a short conference victory was made with Tennessee falling victim to the Cats by 52-27 and Alabama's mighty Crimson Wave being reduced to an anemic ripple with a 57-31 riot. Vanderbilt was the next victim before a 42-19 onslaught.

The fourth defeat was felt after a journey to Cincinnati to engage the Xavier Musketeers, who won over the listless Cats by 35-29. Next Michigan State invaded Alumni gym for a return bout and were humiliated by 44-27 as Opper and Hagan combined to score from all angles during the last half.

Another revenge victory came Kentucky's way when Xavier made their local appearance and received a 45-29 lacing for their travel. Hagan led the scorers with 12 points but the defensive play of Rouse, sensational sophomore guard, was the outstanding phase of the fray.

The season's most thrilling game was taken by the Cats with a 35-33 win over the strong Marquette University team, conquerors of Notre Dame, when Hagan sank a looping long shot from the center of the floor as the game ended. Trailing by 33-31 with but one minute to play, Opper knotted the count with a long shot from the side, when Hagan came through with his climaxing shot. As the shot burned its way through the net, a capacity audience of over 4,000 burst from the confinement on the stands to engulf players of both teams.

From the spot which Hagan made the winning flip, Governor Chandler drove a nail into the floor as a remembrance of the occasion.

The conference schedule was closed with an unblemished slate as Vanderbilt, Tennessee, and Alabama were each again defeated.

In their first engagement in the annual tournament, before a scant crowd in Louisiana State's huge coliseum, Kentucky was eliminated by the combination of a band of inspired Tulane Greenies and the whistle conscious referees, who called fouls on the bewildred Wildcats for every rule infraction in the book. Unable to get their high pressure offense started because of the rigid arbitration, Kentucky was helpless. Bernard Opper, who was later selected as new captain of next season's team, was named to a guard post on the All-tournament honor team picked at the tournament, while "Red" Hagan was picked for the second team.

The season marked the end of the trail for three graduating seniors, Capt. Walker, Hagan, and Charley Combs, all of whom received letters for their services to the squad.

Varsity Basketball Squad

Freshman Basketball

Featuring six former all-state performers, the largest number of candidates to ever report for a University basketball team, heeded Coach McBrayer's first call for frosh net hopefuls.

Present in the all-state galaxy were Huber of Louisville St. Xavier, Ward of Inez, Combs of Hazard, Cluggish of Corbin, Montgomery of Frankfort, Indiana, and Jefferson of Midway.

After dropping the opening game on the schedule to the strong Edentide independent team of Louisville by 27-25, the Kittens gradually rounded into possibly the most formidable first year squad to ever wear the Blue. Only two decisions were dropped during the entire season.

The feature victory of the year was an overtime 45-41 win over the powerful Cumberland College team in a preliminary appetizer to the Kentucky-Marquette thriller. The Cumberland powerhouse came to Alumni gym boasting a clean slate in 18 engagements, but the scratching Kittens played their rangier foes off their feet and proceeded to ice the game in the overtime when Huber, Farnsley and White hit shots that annulled the Cumberland two-pointer made by Tallent.

In a return two game engagement, Cumberland defeated the Kittens for the second Kentucky loss of the year in another overtime game on the Cumberland floor. The preceeding night the young Cats completely avenged themselves with a 47-37 win as Orme, red-headed forward paced the point contributors with 20 markers.

Another close game was snatched from the Morehead College freshmen on a last minute field goal by Farnsley that gave Kentucky a 39-38 victory.

Other Sports

Track

Under the supervision of a new coach, C. A. Striplin, Kentucky enjoyed one of the most successful seasons in recent history as the Blues swept undefeated through a three-meet schedule and topped the year by finishing fourth in the annual Southeastern conference tournament.

The nucleus of the team was constructed around four performers, Captain Ben Willis, dash artist; Dave Rogan, the South's ace middle distance runner; Elmore Simpson, javelin hurler supreme; and Ralph Carlisle, high and broad jump. Before the season ended, another middle distance runner, Cecil Hellard, had been developed and rated among the best milers in the conference.

Captain Willis

Kentucky-Vanderbilt

In the season's opening meet, the Cats barely outlasted Vanderbilt to win by 59-58 on the Stoll field cinders.

Rogan paced the Wildcats by annexing first places in the half-mile, mile and two mile runs. Willis, upset in the dashes, scored wins in both the hurdles. Carlisle was not extended in winning the high jump and Simpson easily secured the javelin points.

Captain Elect Simpson

Kentucky-Berea

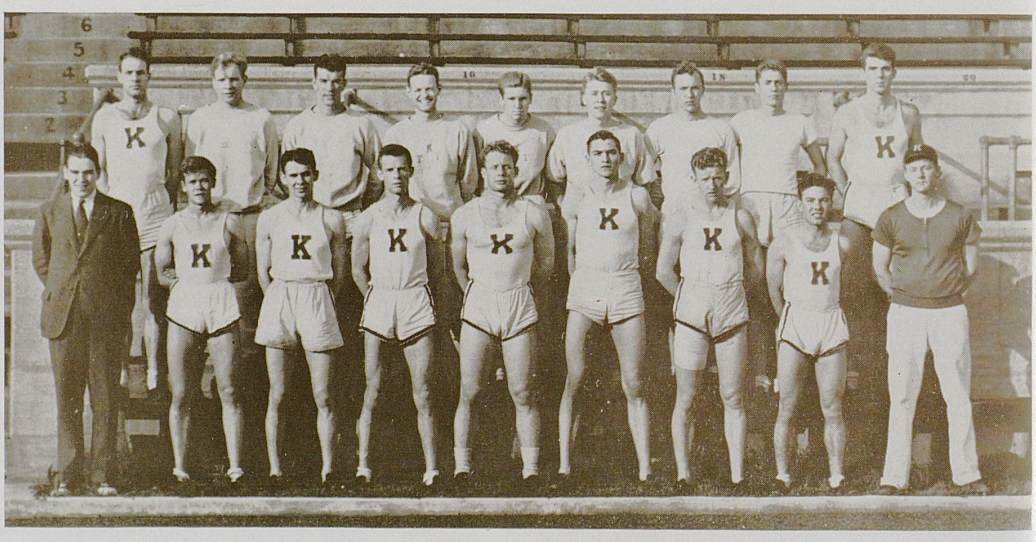

The second start of the year went to Kentucky by 95-36 over the hapless Berea Mountaineers, again on the home track.

Captain Willis clicked off the 100-yard dash in 9.9 seconds to win that event and returned later to sweep the hurdles. The discus sling and 220-yard dash went to Bob Davis, who made his first track bow. Rogan won the half mile runs, barely missing the track record for the mile by one second when he was clocked in 4:22.7.

Kentucky-Tennessee

Led by Willis who contributed a total of 20 points, the concluding meet of the year was wrested from Tennessee by 70-47.

Willis collected first points in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, as well as the usual sweep in the hurdle events. Rogan added points with firsts in the half-mile and two mile runs. In the mile trip, Hellard and Rogan finished one, two, when Rogan lagged on the last lap, allowing Hellard to pass him. A toss of 184 feet, 3 inches won the javelin event for Simpson. Carlisle topped the broad jumpers with 22 feet, 3 inches.

Conference Tournament

In the Southeastern conference meet held on Legion Field, Birmingham, Alabama, Kentucky finished behind Georgia Tech, Louisiana State and Auburn, by annexing 18 points for a fourth place finish.

A record smashing excursion of 4:16.3 in the mile run by Rogan shattered his own conference record. Returning to the track after an hour's refreshment, Rogan topped the half-milers to win with a jaunt of 1:56.2. In the record bettering mile trip, Hellard finished in fifth place after being blocked out of third position honors. Willis dropped the 100-yard dash to Olympic team dashman Bob Packard of Georgia, who won the race in the amazing time of 9.5 seconds. Due to a gale-like wind at the back of the runners, the time was not accepted as a record.

Simpson, pre-meet favorite, was nosed out of the javelin event by Standily of Alabama, and Jeffries of Tennessee.

Freshman Track

The Kentucky Track Kittens found little time to gambol last spring due to inclement weather which forced the squad to seek a roof above their heads. Less than a full week of practice on the cinders were provided the freshmen tracksters, most of the training being devoted to calisthenics in the gym.

Weather permitted one frosh meet with Berea, competing April 28 on the home field at the same time the Berea-Kentucky varsity met. A scheduled match with Hanover College of Indiana was drizzled out.

The lone contest of the Kentucky yearlings was their nemesis, Berea compensating their varsity loss by a score of 73 to 57. Powell of the visiting team led the frosh by winning two firsts in the hurdle events, second in the 100 yard dash, and third in the 220. Kennedy and Hammonds starred for the Kittens pulling down the shotput and broad jump points respectively. Both men bettered the winning marks of the varsity victors. Stafford took the 100 yard dash and T. Ledridge broke first tape in the 220.

Numeral Men for the season were Corbin, Hammonds, Kennedy, Lackman, Lancaster, T. Ledridge, Lyons, and McCubbin. Coach C. F. Striplin proved an able tutor and Kibby Vogt acted as manager of the yearlings.

Golf Team

The tryouts for the 1937 golf team, made April 7 and 8, 1937, resulted in a low score of 155 by Jack Mohney, thereby placing him in number one position on the squad which he held throughout the season.

Bain Smith, Bill Adams and Captain Thaxton qualified for the remaining positions with Walt Flippin and Gerald Holstein serving as alternate members. Thaxton was the only second year man chosen for the team.

Due to faulty management of the schedule, the first two matches were played away from home very early in the season. The first match, played at Knoxville, Tenn., was lost to the more experienced University of Tennessee team who had previously played five matches in the 1937 season.

The squad then travelled to St. Louis to play Washington University who had just tied the excellent Notre Dame team on their own links. W. U. defeated the U. K. team.

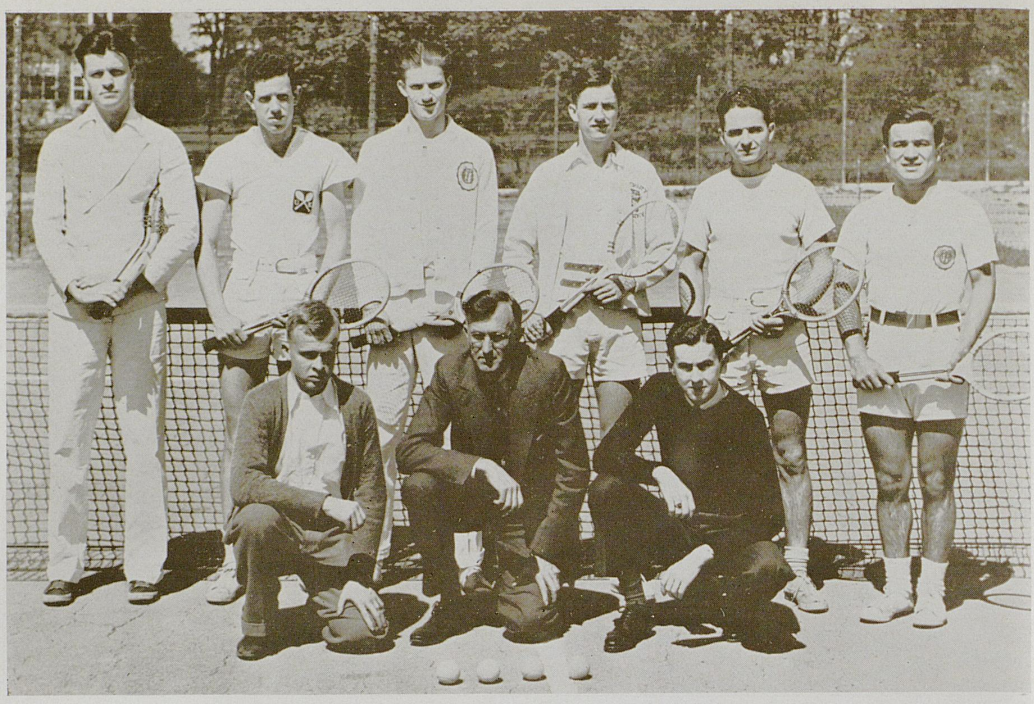

Returning home, U. K. defeated Cincinnati University, but was beaten on the following day at Dayton, Ohio by the Dayton University team.

The U. K. won the remaining four matches, playing Cincinnati and Eastern State Teachers College in return bouts and Tennessee and Eastern at home.

At Louisville the U. K. golfers won the team championship by default, and the individual first honors of the State Intercollegiate meet. Individual honors were won by Jack Mohney with a score of 223 for 54 holes and Bill Adams and Bain Smith who tied for third place.

The season was very successful for the U. K. team who won more matches than any former U. K. team in the same number of encounters.

Thaxton was reelected captain for the 1938 season.

Tennis Team

Coach H. H. Downing's University tennis team faced a difficult schedule in 1937, but when the season came to a close it had recorded eight victories in ten notches. The two losses, one of which came early in the season occurred on the home courts.

The netters were handicapped by the inclement weather in the early spring, forcing the squad into the gymnasium for the major part of the training. The team only had six days of outdoor practice before the first match.

In addition to weather difficulties, the team lost its captain, Dave Randall, who was sricken with appendicitis and was unable to play throughout the season. Dave had been counted upon to fill a regular position and his absence was felt sorely by the squad.

Returning lettermen from the 1936 team were "Monty" Montgomery, who served as captain, Bob Evans, and Randall. Chances for a winning team looked dim until Warfield Donohue, Phil Englebardt, Walter Botts, Oscar Wisner, and Ruel Foster came out to join the netters.

From the strong 1936 freshman squad which won six matches in eight attempts there was not a single man who made the varsity indicating the strength of the veteran varsity material.

The Cats opened their schedule on April 22 with a 4 to 3 victory over the Hoosiers from Indiana University, but the next day saw them fall before a better conditioned University of the South foe by a 5 to 1 score.

Rain prevented the Wayne University invasion from the north, April 24, and also knocked out the Berea College tilt after the Cats had run up a comfortable margin, but not enough to constitute a match. After this match the Kentuckians headed South for their annual trip.

Their first stop was at Knoxville where they disheartened the University of Tennessee, 7 to 2. Donohue took the spark out of the Tennesseans with a two set victory over "Biggy" Marshall, their pride and joy. This match also started Bobby Evans on a winning streak which lasted throughout the season.

From Knoxville they moved down to Atlanta, Ga., where they were supposed to meet the Rambling Wrecks from Georgia Tech, but rain washed out this battle as well as one scheduled for the following day with the University of Georgia at Athens. Out of the first seven scheduled matches only three were played. Thereafter the remaining matches were played.

On their way back to the Blue Grass state in an attempt to get out of the rain the Kentuckians stopped off at Sewanee and made up for their previous loss with a 7 to 2 victory. This match was played in near freezing weather on the first day of May.

The next match for the Blue and White was with the Michigan State team from East Lansing. The visiting Yankees made themselves at home with an 8 to 1 conquest of the Cats, but declaring however, that the Blue had been the best team that they had met during the season. They had already played some of the top notch squads of the Big Ten.

Notre Dame's mighty Fighting Irish came to town next, but felt the wrath of Kentucky's power and were turned away, 6 to 3. This match started the Kentuckians on a winning streak which they were on when the season came to a close. Phil Englebardt, playing the No. 3 position, began his own streak which he continued at the expense of the opposing players.

Next to come to the Blue Grass city was a neighboring school, the University of Louisville, who left after absorbing an 8 to 1 lacing. "Bosco" Wisner lost the only Kentucky match when he was defeated in a three set tilt after winning the first set.

The Lexingtonians left the campus May 15 on their last trip and crossed the Ohio river into Cincinnati where they trounced the University 7 to 2 with "War" Donohue losing the only singles match.

On May 18 the University of Tennessee came back for another crack at us, but this time they were subdued 7 to 0, even worse than their previous licking. Two doubles matches were rained out and only the No. 3 doubles team composed of Montgomery and Botts had sufficient time to take their opponents in a two set affair.

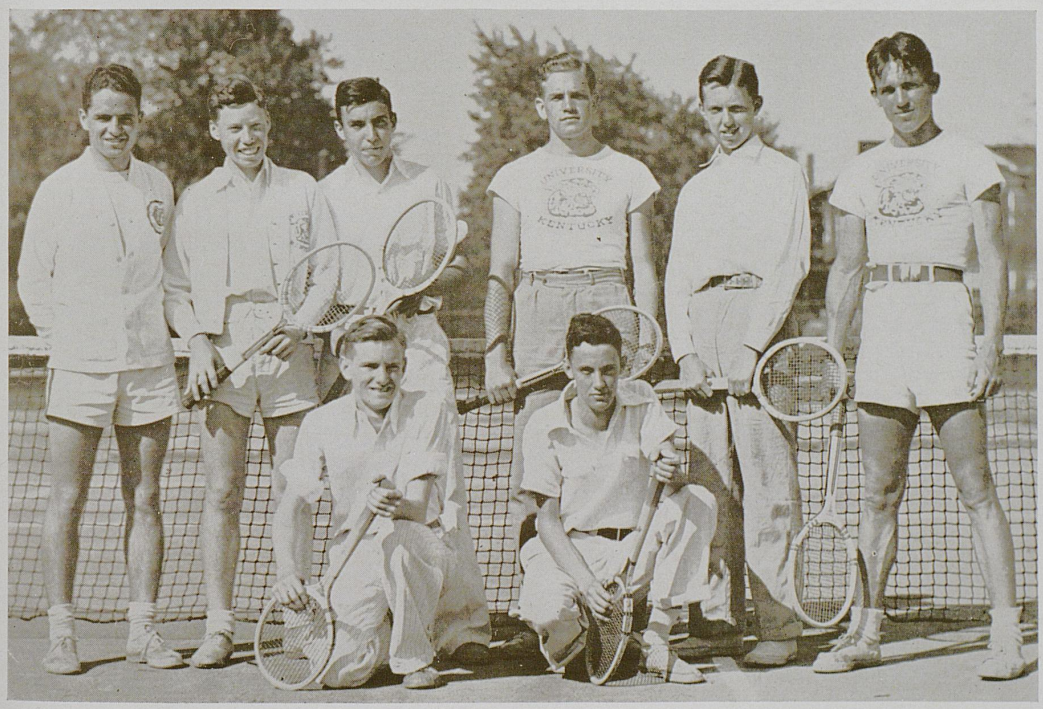

Berea College came to Lexington May 22 and the Mountaineers were turned back 8 to 1. Their No. 2 doubles team composed of Williams and Keith defeated our men in a close two set match. Kentucky put on the pressure and the Berea netmen were able to win only 20 games in the entire singles matches.

The 1937 frosh team had a highly successful season, winning all five of the matches that were played. The first-termers defeated the University of Tennessee frosh, K. M. I., Winchester Independents, Berea freshmen, and Cumberland college.

Varsity lettermen for 1937 were Captain Francis Montgomery, Warfield Donohue, Bobby Evans, Phil Englebardt, Walter Botts, Oscar Wisner, Ruel Foster and Manager Billy Young. The freshman numerals went to George May, Herbert Holman, Dave Ragland, J. C. Bristow, and Manager George Burke. Bobby Evans served as coach of the freshman organization.

Swimming Team

Two state championships and the prospects of a third in the offing, together with an enviable showing in Southeastern competition this spring, is the unusual record of the University Swimming team, organized three years ago without funds, without a pool in which to practice and without nothing more than potentially fine swimmers and the determination to enter intercollegiate competition.

This team, which has brought recognition to the University in the field of swimming, has so distinguished itself through its enthusiasm, its ambitious schedule and its fine record that last spring it was recognized by the University Athletic Council as a minor sport and for the first time in the history of the University the team was granted letters and numerals in the spring of 1937.

Captained and coached by Sherman Hinkebein, 1938 grid captain, the Kentucky natators defeated Maryville, Georgia Tech, and Loyola University this year, and were defeated by Tennessee, Georgia, and Indiana. They plan to defend their Kentucky Intercollegiate swimming title at the Eastern Kentucky State Teachers College in April.

The Wildcat swimmers have been able to function through the courtesy of officials of Eastern Kentucky State Teachers College, who have granted the "pool-less" Kentuckians the use of their tank three times each week throughout the season.

The Kentucky medley relay team has never lost a meet since the organization of the team in 1935, and Hinkebein has lost but one breast-stroke race. This record is in itself an acknowledgment of the superiority of the Wildcat swimmers who have met the best Intercollegiate competition and have come out more than even in a schedule which would have stumped more experienced and much better equipped squads.

Since its organization in 1928, the Intramural Department of the University has made rapid strides in fostering athletics among the fraternities and the independent groups on the campus. It has instilled in the boys the sense of fair play, sportsmanship, and has promoted good fellowship among the men students.

The season 1937-38 was very successful with an increased interest in boxing and wrestling as well as basketball. In the latter league, an A and B division was innovated, which increased the participants two-fold. A marked increase in touch football also was a highlight of the intramural season.

Fencing Team

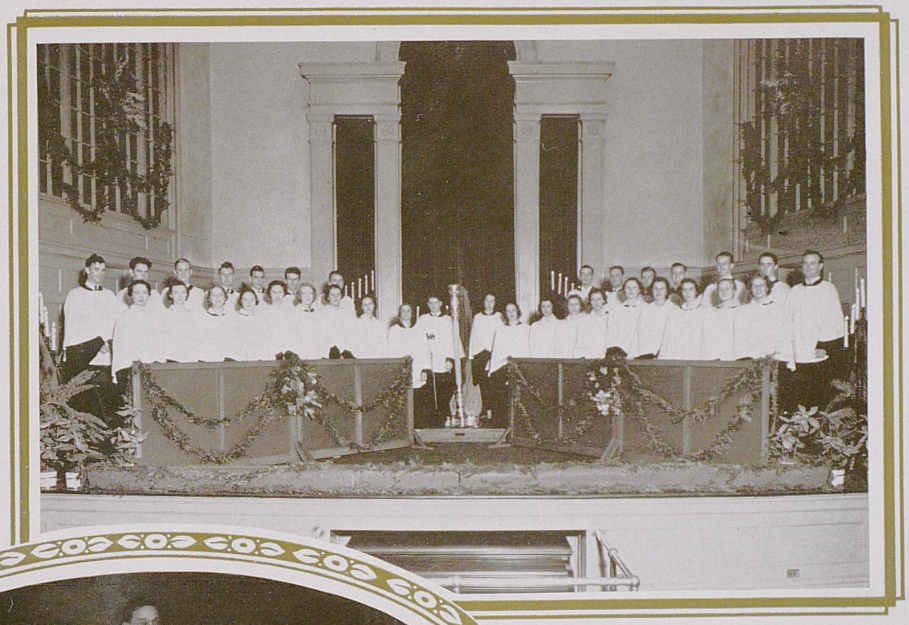

The past year has seen the recognition of fencing as an intercollegiate sport on this campus. It is one which has gained rapidly in popularity in this country in the last few years, being stronger in the eastern schools and clubs. The United States, though not steeped in the tradition of the sword, as European nations, has sent to the Olympics every Olympiad more and more successful teams.

Due to lack of material on the campus, more than once it has been difficult to be certain of the regular team, but this year's work was started to create interest in a fine sport and to gain experience for next year's team.

The members of the squad are H. Clifford Bailey, Virgil K. Beasley, Scott Breckinridge, Jr., Stanley Hays, J. L. Jones, Harold L. Riley, Chester Robbins, and Elbridge Snapp. Of these, three are seniors, which makes next year's prospects uncertain. Success as a team has not been expected due to the superior material and experience against which competition has been necessary.

Dr. S. D. Breckinridge, twice national foils champion, duelling sword medalist, and Olympic team member of 1912, and Dr. C. M. Knapp of the University faculty, formerly of the strong Columbia University fencing team, have coached the team, working hard to give a sound foundation to the fencers. Mr. C. W. Hackensmith has been of great aid to the team, acting in an advisory capacity and gaining recognition of the sport in addition to training the freshman squad. This year, the team met the University of Illinois at Urbana, the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Vanderbilt University at Nashville, University of Cincinnati at Cincinnati, and a return meet with Vanderbilt in Lexington. The season closed April 23.

HELD NOVEMBER 19, 1937

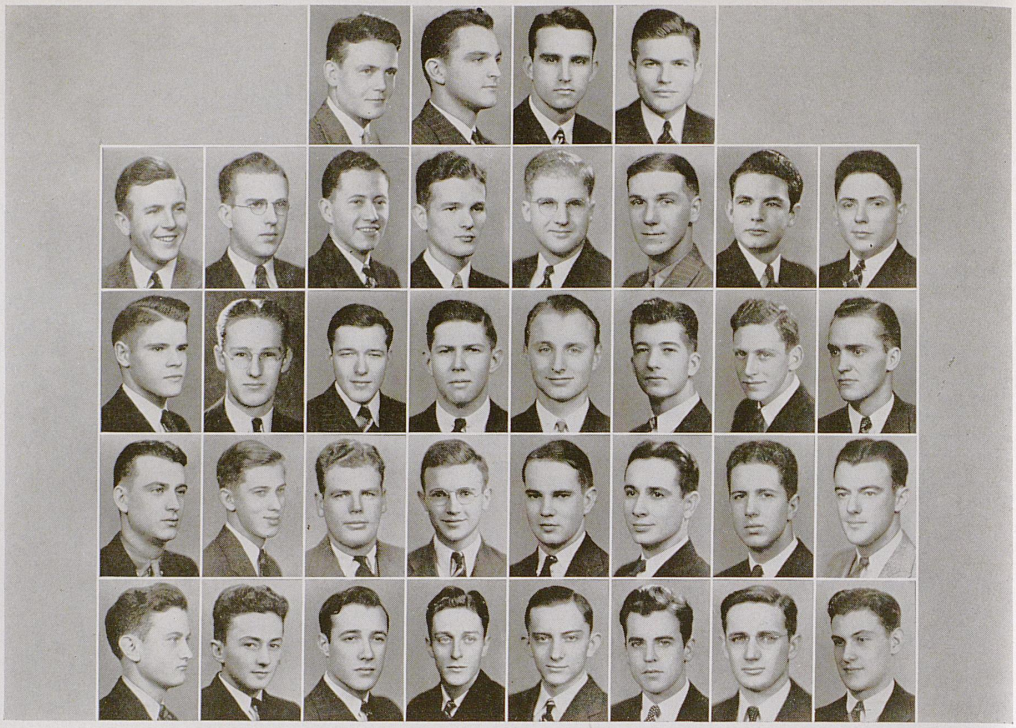

The election and crowning of a queen of the annual Fall Festival was conducted this year for the second time by Alpha Zeta, national honorary agricultural fraternity. The coronation of the queen by Charles Barrett, Chancellor of Alpha Zeta, was an outstanding feature of this year's program. Her majesty reigned with full power and becoming dignity over the best Fall Festival ever held at the University.

The Fall Festival is sponsored by Block and Bridle Club, national professional animal industry organization, composed of students majoring in animal husbandry.

This program, which is always given in the fall, is the outstanding event of the year in the College of Agriculture. All of the student organizations in the College of Agriculture combine under the leadership of the Block and Bridle Club to make the Fall Festival a representative show of Kentucky's farm products, and to provide real attainment for a capacity crowd.

Miss Jean Jackson, Lexington, sophomore in home economics, was elected by popular vote of the men students in the College of Agriculture to reign as the second queen of the harvest and this unique agricultural program. Miss Cleo Lane, Lexington, senior in home economics, and Miss Virginia Pettus, Stanford, sophomore in home economics, were chosen as the queen's attendants.

Baptist Student Union

The Baptist Student Union is an enlistment agency, enlisting students in participation in church work and in deeper Christian living personally. It has been called "the connecting link" between the college and the local church in the college center. It offers all Baptist students an attractive year-around program of religious activity. It promotes spiritual development and growth through sustained Bible study, prayer, mission study, and participation in the work of the church.

The organization, which is world-wide in scope, had a small beginning in 1918 on one of our southern campuses. The Union at the University of Kentucky was founded in 1931.

Military

Lieutenant Colonel B. E. Brewer

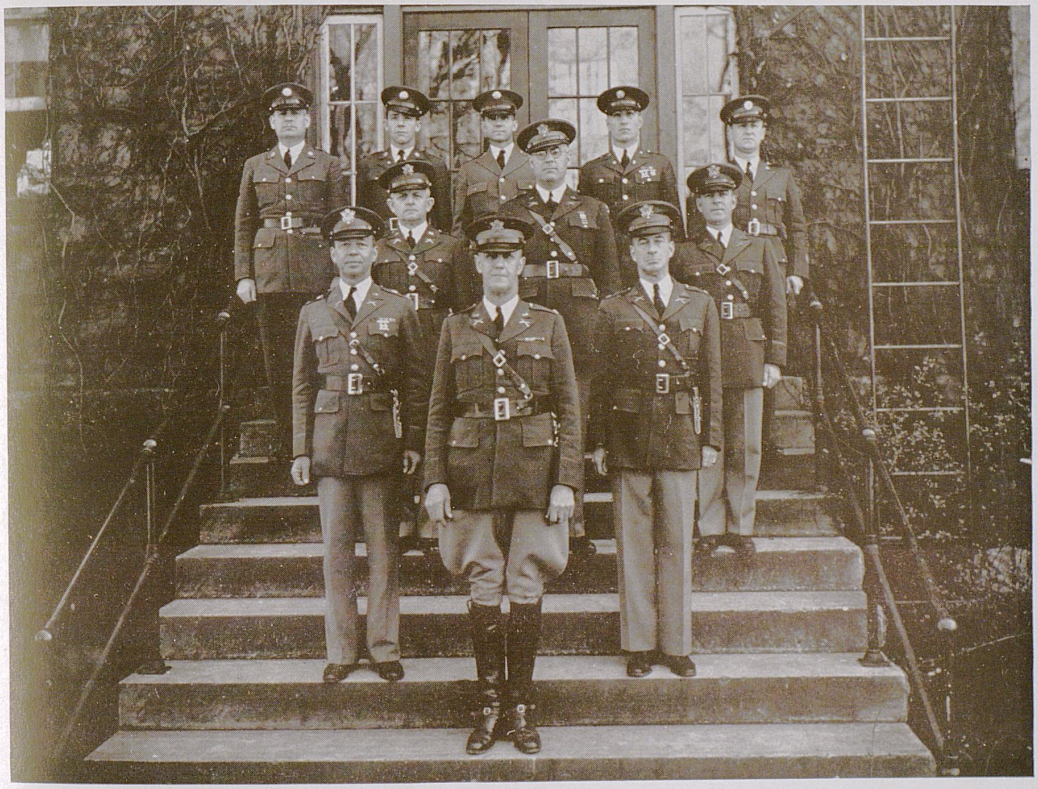

The Military Department

The World War found the United States in its historical status of unreadiness, necessitating the drafting of raw untrained men who were rushed overseas to the front lines with only a few weeks training which barely gave them the rudiments of military knowledge.

In 1916, Congress, realizing this state of unpreparedness, passed the National Defense Act, which provided for the manitenance of a small well trained army and a citizen reserve. The Reserve Officers' Training Corps was established with units at various educational institutions to provide the reserve. The R. O. T. C. unit at the University was established in 1917 by request of the University authorities to the War Department.

Although the year 1917 marked the beginning of the R. O. T. C. at the University of Kentucky, military training was by no means a novelty here. When the Kentucky A. & M. College was founded in 1866 under the provisions of the Morrill Land Grant Act of Congress, military training was required for every physically fit male student. In those days a student led the same routine life as a private in an army post, rising to revielle, marching to meals, mounting guard, drilling, and going to bed by taps. As a result of this monotonous existence, a spirit of dissatisfaction manifested itself and for a while enrollment declined.

Today, the four year course in Military Science and Tactics is divided into two parts: the required basic course of two years and the optional advanced course of two years. The advanced course is composed of students who are outstanding in their basic course work and are recommended by their instructors. After having completed the prescribed four years' work,

First Row—Lt. Col. B. E. Brewer
Second Row—Majors Randolph, Triplett
Third Row—Majors Scudder, Barrett, Morrow
Fourth Row—Sergeants Hoy, Draper, Short, Kinker, Perkins

First Row—Reg. Sponsor Jeanne Pat Belt, Col. A. W. Plummer

including a six weeks camp at Fort Knox, these men are commissioned Second Lieutenants in the Officers' Reserve Corps of the United States Army. Only a minor portion of the instruction is drill, its purpose being to teach the student team play and cooperation. Most of the instructional time is devoted to orienting the student in elementary phases of the military profession.

The popularity of the advanced course is evidenced by the increasing enrollment. The department outlines what will be expected of the candidate for the advanced course, and what he may expect, leaving the decision entirely to the individual. Each advanced course student receives a nominal remuneration from the Federal government; however, few students are motivated by mercenary considerations.

There are twelve hundred students in the Military Department composing two infantry battalions. Activities within the department include Pershing Rifles, honorary basic military fraternity; Scabbard and Blade, honorary advanced course fraternity; and the Varsity and R. O. T. C. Rifle teams.

The growth of the unit has necessitated the formation of two new companies, A-1 and G-1. These companies are formed only for parades now but in the future they will be added to the military curriculum. The military department also may be enlarged to include a cavalry unit which is in keeping with the location of the school in the heart of the Blue Grass so famous for its horses.

The Military Department sponsors both regimental and battalion parades which add much color and show to the school and culminates in the field day exercises during which the senior students receive their commissions. They also take part in the Armistice observances and in the graduating exercises.

Pershing Rifles

Pershing Rifles, national honorary military fraternity, was founded at the University of Nebraska in 1894 by General John J. Pershing. Its aim is to promote good citizenship and military efficiency in the universities of the nations.

Company C-1 was established on the University of Kentucky campus in 1931 by Warrant Officer George A. Knight and, in honor of its founder, the local unit is known as the George A. Knight Chapter of Pershing Rifles. Company C-1 entered its first regimental competition in 1932, emerging victorious that year and has won the same competition six consecutive years. No university in the United States can boast such a record and as yet no college has been able to perfect a drill unit as efficient. Major Irvin C. Scudder is the present drill master with Lieutenant Colonel Brewer serving as faculty adviser. Miss Mildred Croft, Delta Delta Delta, is sponsor.

UNIVERSITY CONCERT BAND

Music

University of Kentucky Band

JOHN LEWIS, JR., Director

The University of Kentucky's "Best Band in Dixie," under the direction of John Lewis, has completed one of the most successful years in its history.

In an effort to promote a greater appreciation of music at the University and throughout the state, the concert group appeared in six spring concerts and two Sunday Afternoon Musicales and presented a program at the Quicksand Sub-station. This group, in cooperation with the Kentucky Band and Orchestra Directors Association, conducted a series of band clinics at which the directors of the various state bands gathered to study modern teaching technique, new band compositions, and interpretation.

An outstanding spring appearance of the band was made during the 1937 Kentucky Derby festival week in Louisville. The band was presented with a trophy for brilliant marching performance emblematic of their victory over various collegiate bands from the Middlewest.

The band also played for the basketball games. The annual band dance in the Alumni Gymnasium drew a favorable crowd. Through the efforts of Mr. Lewis, Herbert Petrie and his White Hussars were obtained for a concert which was given under the auspices of the band.

University of Kentucky Band

The football appearances of the marching band, composed of one hundred and twelve members, were acclaimed with unanimous approval both at home and abroad. Much of this success may be attributed to the guidance of the musicians by Berkley Bennison, who has served as drum major for three years, and his assistant, Bruce Sullivan.

Miss Betty Bakhaus performed most ably in the role of sponsor. Her success was confirmed by the musicians when they reelected her for a second term to this position.

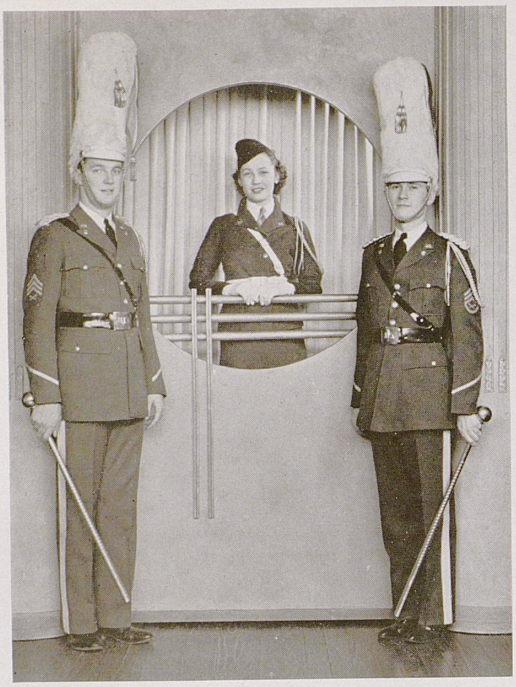

George Duncan acted efficiently in the capacity of personnel officer and business manager. He was responsible for the various contacts made by the band. On the field, various formations were made in response to signals from his pistol.

Novelties dominated the programs which delighted the crowds during the intermission periods of the games. Two football trips were made by this organization, one to Cincinnati for the Xavier game and the other to Tuscaloosa for the Alabama Homecoming.

Music was furnished by the band for all the military parades which terminated with the annual Field Day exercises. The band closed an active and successful season by leading the Senior Commencement March.

The Kentucky Kernel

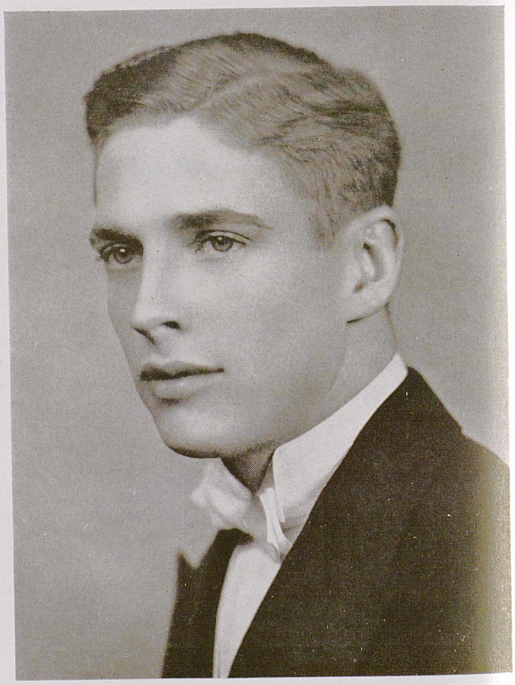

First issued in 1914, the outgrowth of "The Idea," an early student newspaper, The Kentucky Kernel is published twice a week during the regular University semesters, and once a week during the Summer Session. Growing considerably since it was first prepared in the basement of the Administration building where the journalism department was then located, and printed where the cheapest rate was in effect by a local printing company, The Kentucky Kernel now boasts a student printing plant valued at more than $50,000.

Located in the basement of McVey Hall at present, The Kernel plant now possesses three Linoptype machines, two fast automatic presses, a modern Duplex eight-page press capable of turning out 3,500 papers per hour, numerous varieties of type, and many other accessories necessary to the successful completion of a modern printing plant. A circulation of over 5,000 newspapers reach almost every state in the nation and several foreign countries with each publication of the paper. Recognized as being an outstanding collegiate journal, The Kernel's leadership among Southern college newspapers is undisputed.

Besides its duties as dispenser of University news, the paper is a leader in student thought and an interpreter of student opinion. Events of this past year have conclusively proved the role that the paper can play in being a leader on the campus. On several occasions The Kernel has assisted the Administration in planning and carrying out projects in the best interests of the University.

Not only is it the duty of the journal to act as a mirror to campus events, but also it is the main factor in training students in the journalism department in the field of their chosen profession.

An unexcelled laboratory, a news conveyor, a campaign leader, and a generally useful organ of the University, the columns of The Kentucky Kernel are always open for student expression, whether they be individual or group thoughts or attitudes.

The Kentucky Kernel

An ever important factor in the publication of The Kernel is the business staff of the paper under the direction of the Business Manager. Consisting of students of the University, it is the job of the business staff to solicit advertising from local merchants thereby placing the paper on a sound financial basis.

Few realize that the slim fee paid by students at registration time cannot possibly cover the expense of successfully publishing a semi-weekly newspaper. And few realize that it is the advertising revenue and the successful management of the numerous other printing work that the plant does which makes it possible for The Kernel to assist upwards of fifteen students partly to work their way through college.

The Kernel is recognized by leading advertising authorities of the United States as one of the leading semi-weekly college newspapers in successful advertising. One of the largest of these authorities names The Kernel as one of the leading ten publications of all college papers in the country.

The Kentuckian

The 1938 Kentuckian is presented to you with the sincere hope that we have accurately portrayed a cross section of the student life of the University of Kentucky. We have attempted to review for you the athletic endeavors of our teams, the honorary and activity organizations of the campus, the class of '38 and to present a composite of their functions.

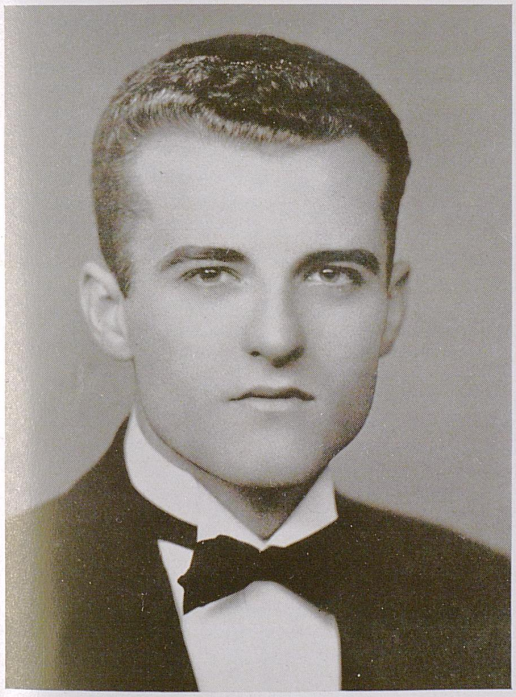

Not enough credit can be given the staff of the Kentuckian. The diligent and prolific work of Buckley, Tatum, Tudor, and Booher deserves special recognition.

ROGER BROWN, Editor

The theme of the book is intended to show the rapid advancement of the University since its founding and, in a limited way, the changes which have taken place. The old pictures used here are authentic photographs. Though some of these pictures are ludicrous in comparison with modern styles, there is no intention to cast any aspersions on the early students of the University.

The Kentuckian wishes to express its gratitude especially to Mr. E. L. Gillis, former registrar, for his cooperation in securing these historical photographs and the information on the history of the University which appears in another section of this book. It is also indebted to the Repro Engraving Company, Cincinnati, Ohio, and the Lafayette Studio for their advice and suggestions.

The Kentuckian

Through a competent sales organization, the circulation of this year's Kentuckian surpasses that of any previous annual.

A word of praise is given to Mary Lee Hope who turned in receipts for seventy-nine sales and to Nancy Orrell for sixty-six sales.

While individuals starred, it was the untiring work of the staff as a whole who have set a record of which we are justly proud.

Sour Mash

Founded in February, 1936, by Delta Sigma Chi, journalism fraternity, Sour Mash, the campus humor publication, has grown from a quarterly publication to a successful monthly magazine.

Supervised by members of the journalism honorary, the staff positions on the magazine are open to the entire student body. Anyone with talent along the lines of drawing, writing, or selling is encouraged to contribute to the magazine.

Outstanding sorority pledges, a pledge queen, and a campus sweetheart are annual highlights in features of the publication.

Consisting of original local humor articles, candid camera shots, campus gossip, cartoons, and similar material from campuses of other Universities, Sour Mash has come to be accepted as a popular publication at the University.

PEP ORGANIZATION

PURPOSE

SuKy is fundamentally a pep organization interested in the development of school spirit. With the money earned from the sale of refreshments at athletic events, SuKy sponsors Homecoming and May Day festivities, and awards cups for these events, contributes funds for band trips and for the Student Union.

Membership is based on amount of sales by tryouts at football and basketball games.

History

History of the University

A presentation of the early history of the University of Kentucky in a brief, simplified, and readable form, presents unforeseen difficulties which may escape the readers notice. The material for this compilation is derived from varied sources including a "History of Higher Education in Kentucky" by A. F. Lewis, the proceedings of the "Fiftieth Anniversary of the University of Kentucky," the vertical files of the Library, the files of the Kernel, Minutes of the Faculty, and certain records from the Bureau of Source Materials in Higher Education. The editors are also indebted to Professors E. L. Gillis and M. E. Ligon for aid in securing facts and correction of the manuscript.

Kentucky University came into existence following the passage of the legislative act of February 28, 1865, which completed the arrangements for the merging of the older Kentucky University, Transylvania College, and the Agricultural and Mechanical College into one institution. The college opened its doors in October, 1866.

The Agricultural and Mechanical College was, at this time, just beginning its illustrious history. It was founded as a result of an Act of Congress, the Morrill Land Grant Act, which, through the sale of a donation of land amounting to 330,000 acres in Kentucky, would provide sufficient capital to begin a state institution teaching "such branches of learning as are related to agriculture and the mechanic arts."

The older Kentucky University was the continuation of Bacon College, a denominational school begun in Georgetown in 1836. This school was removed to Harrodsburg in 1839, and abandoned in 1850 for financial reasons. Through the earnest efforts of John B. Bowman, it was revived in 1859 under the name of Kentucky University. The college building was destroyed by fire in 1864 which forced Kentucky University to begin looking for a new location. A consolidation with Transylvania in Lexington was consummated, 1865, in such a manner that the stipulations of the recent land grant act of Congress would be included. The new State university began its history in 1866 located on the Transylvania campus, "Ashland."

Track Team 1898

Mr. John Bowman was placed in charge of the combined institution, holding the office of regent. The first president of the Agricultural and Mechanical college was John Augustus Williams who occupied the chair until 1867 to be followed by Joseph Desha Pickett in '68. James Kennedy Patterson took the post of presiding officer in the fall of 1869 to begin a presidency which was to last for forty years.

During the first year of the actual operation of the A. and M. college which began in the fall of 1866, 190 men students, under the guidance of twelve faculty members, began work in a curriculum which, though being quite similar to that of the College of Arts, stressed particularly civil engineering, modern languages, and military tactics. The students also were required to work two hours a day on the ornamental grounds, the farm, or later the shops of the institution. Two hundred and twenty men students comprised the enrollment of the college in the second year of its existence, and in the third school year, 1868-69, the first term of the presidency of J. K. Patterson, there was an enrollment of 285 students. W. B. Munson, graduating in this year, was the first student to receive a B. S. degree from the Agricultural and Mechanical department of Kentucky University.

A glance into the minutes of the faculty in the opening year of President Patterson's administration will partially serve to show the close supervision placed upon the students at that time. From the minutes of Oct. 8, 1869:

"A number of students absent at 9 p. m. roll call last night were put on limits of 20 days."

View of Kentucky State College soon after it was built

From Oct. 20, 1869:

"Resolved that students rooming at the Woodlands be prohibited from visiting each other's rooms after 6 p. m. during study hours at night."

Kentucky University flourished with a growing enrollment for several years from this date, so that it appeared that the institution was going to overshadow every rival in the Mississippi valley. Yet during this time, factional strife had arisen among the curators, dissatisfaction being born from the facts that Kentucky University was influenced by denominational control and that the University was financially embarrassed about 1873, because some of the stocks upon which the institution owed the most part of its continuance were failing to pay dividends.

A complete reorganization was instigated through an act of the State Legislature of March 13, 1878, which divorced the Agricultural and Mechanical College from Kentucky University. In 1879, a commission was appointed to re-locate the A. and M. college and prepare a plan for a "first-class University." Thus the culmination of the separation of the schools which were subsequently to be known as Transylvania College and the University of Kentucky was enacted.

Classes were continued on the old location until March, 1882, the intervening time being taken up in a search for and preparation of a new location. The City of Lexington made the best offer, which was accepted, granting to the Agricultural and Mechanical college the site of the City Park of 52 acres valued at $250,000 which had formerly been the fair grounds and used during the Civil War as a camping ground. The city also granted $30,000 in bonds and Fayette County supplemented $20,000 in bonds to be used for building purposes. The land extended south on Limestone and east on Winslow (now Euclid) streets. The formation of the ground and the water from Maxwell spring rendered the construction of an artificial lake, with a boating course a quarter of a mile long. At this time, plans were made for the erection of a new college building, containing a chapel, society rooms, lecture and recitation rooms sufficient for the accommodation of 500 students. This structure, now known as the Administration building, was completed in October, 1880. About the same time, a brick residence for the president and a brick dormitory with accommodations for 90 students were erected on the new property. Meanwhile the matriculation continued to increase, there being 234 students in attendance in 1880-81.

In the latter part of 1885, the first important step toward a realization of the special aims of the institution was taken by the organization of an agricultural experiment station with Professor M. A. Scovell at its head. An act of Congress in 1887 gave impetus to the program by a $15,000 yearly appropriation to each state for the purpose of establishing an Agriculture Experiment station in connection with the A. and M. colleges. In 1888 an experimental farm of 48½ acres was purchased and equipped with suitable buildings. A $20,000 structure located on the campus was completed in August, 1889, to serve partly as the experimental station.

A course in practical mechanics was first offered in 1889 but no regular mechanical department was organized until two years later. The mechanical building was completed in January, 1892. The "New Dormitory," now White Hall, was completed in 1890. The A. and M. college, which now contained a Normal school, a classical course, and an Academy in addition to instruction in the mechanical arts and modern languages, was now growing rapidly and expanding widely its scope. The Natural Science building was completed and dedicated in 1898.

The Kentucky State Military Unit in the 1890's

View of the campus showing the old lake where the Student Union Building now stands

Let us pause a moment in this decade and notice the aspect of the university at this time. In 1880, the College employed six professors and, in 1898, sixteen professors and eight assistants. Imagine the main building, the dormitory, and the experiment station in a semi-circle and (from 1892 records) "Maxwell creek, which flows east to west just north of the pond below the main building of Kentucky State College forming one of the most beautiful scenes of the campus. Boys delight in bathing in it during the summer monhs, while skaters find it a strategic point when it freezes over in the winter."

Organized athletics had their beginning in the college during the fall of '92 although previous to this time, occasional games of baseball had been played between teams of the various colleges in the state. No games of college football had been played in the state previous to the fall of 1891. In this year Centre College boasted a football team and, toward the end of the season, sent a challenge to the A. and M. college which was accepted, although the students had no idea of how the game was played. The State College team had no suits and had to be given preliminary instruction on the field before the game by the Centre group. The resulting score was 10 to 0 in favor of Centre, yet all the scoring was done during the first half before the State team had "caught on."

From the minutes of the faculty of May, 7, 1902, an insight is given to the social activities of the students of this period.

"President Patterson called the attention of the Faculty to the fact that he had received intimations that the frequent 'Cadet Hops' were resulting in the deterioration of the quality of class work by the participants, and asked for the opinions of the members of the faculty upon the subject. . . . Professor Kastle thought that as the rule, the privileges of the Cadet Hops should be restricted to the upper class students and that the general student body should only engage in them at long intervals, such as once a year."

And on Nov. 16, 1903, from the minutes: "A girl was requested to withdraw when reported seen on two occasions waltzing with a young man in the college gym."

In the 1894 "Memorial," the first edition of a yearbook at the college, we find:

"What senior boy's heart does not swell with modest pride as he thinks how, when a junior, the midnight artillery avenged their liberties by firing a policeman off the cannon and then picking up his terrified remains, sent him home on a street car."

The name of the institution was changed from the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Kentucky to the State University in 1908. In this same year, the College of Law was established and placed in charge of W. T. Lafferty, as dean.

President Patterson resigned his position on January 15, 1910, to become President Emeritus of the University and, during the interim that followed, Professor James E. White, dean of men, acted as president. Henry Stites Barker became president in 1910 and governed the University until 1917-18, when Dr. Frank L. McVey took over the office. In 1918, the name of the school was again changed to the University of Kentucky.

Under the guidance of President McVey, the University has seen its greatest progress. The value of the property of the campus has increased from $1,750,000 in 1917 to $4,000,000 in 1931.

Three boys' dorms and one women's dormitory have recently been erected during his administration, and McVey hall was opened in February, 1929, made possible by the economic ability of the president through the saving of University funds. The Greater Kentucky campaign was launched through the efforts of President McVey and conducted by alumni, which made possible the construction of the concrete stadium, the Main gym, and Memorial Hall, the auditorium of which was completed in May, 1930. A library containing more than 212,000 volumes has been erected. Several agricultural buildings have recently been added, the engineering quadrangle has been completed, a new law college building is in operation, the Student Union building has just opened, and improvements are rapidly progressing even now toward a greater University.

The University of Kentucky is the largest institution of higher learning in the state today. It is non-denominational and offers equal advantages to all. It is composed of six colleges, a Graduate School, an Agricultural Experiment station, two Agricultural Experiment sub-stations, and a Department of University Extension and of Agricultural Extension. It also has a Bureau of Business Research in the College of Commerce, a Bureau of School Service in the College of Education, and a summer session.

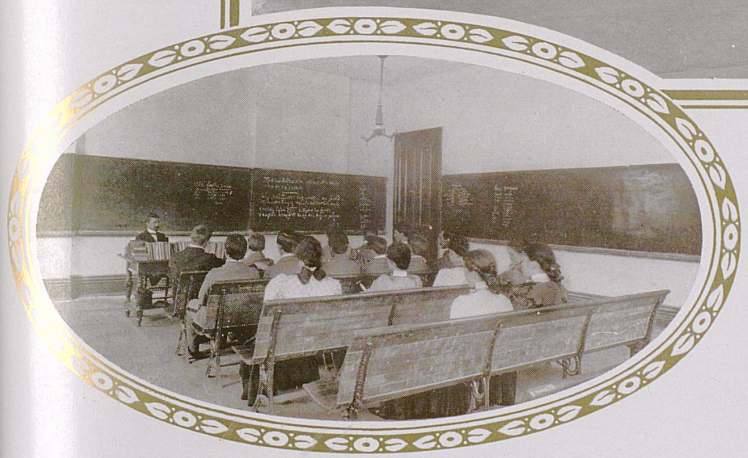

The College of Education was established on the campus in 1923 as an outgrowth of the Department of Education in the Arts and Sciences College. The Teachers' Training building, the present location of the college, was opened in 1930. The College of Commerce is the youngest of the colleges, established in the fall of 1925 under Dean Edward Weist. The College of Agriculture was formed in 1908, although the Experiment Station dates back to 1885.

Today the University offers over 1,000 courses, brings noted lecturers, artists, and visitors to the campus each year, entertains thousands of high school boys and girls during Music Festival Week, state basketball tournament, track meets, etc. It attracts about 35,000 people to the campus each year exclusive of the sports crowds, and its radio broadcasting studios reach an inestimable number.

President Patterson so aptly stated at the semi-annual jubilee of U. K. in 1916 that "the State of Kentucky will become to alumni a mecca to which the future pilgrim will return, feeling that its innermost shrine is the University of Kentucky."
