The Electric Faro Box---The Greatest Gambling Invention of the Age.

One of the most ingenious inventions for fraud and deceit ever introduced to the "sporting fraternity" has recently been placed on private exhibition for the inspection of a few select gamblers. It consists of an electric faro box, so constructed as to permit cards to be secretly drawn, at the will of the dealer, without the possibility of the manner in which the movement is made being detected.

It will be first necessary to say to those who have never "fought the tiger" that a faro box is a very simple affair, usually made of some kind of metal, and is used to hold the cards which are presumed to be drawn singly while the game is being played, until the whole pack is exhausted. Every second card shown, except the first card, which is called the "soda," wins throughout the game. The first card shown loses.

This is the rule, although there are a few technical exceptions. The box is usually about 4 inches by 3 inches in size, and is fitted with springs which press the cards to the top whence they are released by being passed through a slot. In all square games but one card is passed through the slot at a time, although there are accommodation boxes which permit of all being drawn.

The electric faro box is very similar in construction to the box now in ordinary use among gamblers, except that it is is invariably made of steel or iron, and the springs for pressing the cards up are spiral instead of elliptic. Through one of these springs runs a wire which controls the magnet in the box. The table upon which the box rests is fitted in the usual plain way with the lay-out, the check-rack, and cases. Upon the lay-out, however, depends very much of the success of the fraud. This unpretending article is usually only a board covered with cloth, upon which is fastened one of each of the several denominations of cards in a full pack. These cards when used in connection with the electro faro box are oxidized and placed upon the cloth in such a way as to completely dispel all suspicion of their character. This is a part of the secret of the invention, and is claimed to be an entirely new thing in the science of electricity. Attached to these cards and running from each separately, are fine copper wires, which are placed under the lay-out board and run down through one of the table legs, where they connect with a battery under the floor.

The cards used may be of the common kind, but before being placed in the box they are immersed in a powerful magnetic solution, which is also held as a secret. When the game is about to open, and the dealer takes his seat, the table has the appearance of a very ordinary piece of gambling furniture. The box is produced and placed upon the table, immediately over a strip of oxidized cloth, highly charged with electricity, and the game begins. All the cards being magnetized, both in and out of the box, the current of electricity is made complete by a magnet skillfully adjusted in the box, which is always under the control of the dealer.

As all money at a faro bank is usually represented by chips some weight is placed upon a card when a bet of a y importance is made—for ten or a dozen chips will weigh several ounces. So sensitive are the cards on the lay-out that the slightest pressure is at once telegraphed to the representative cards in the box, and in consequence of their becoming magnetized they cannot be made to win unless the dealer breaks the current of electricity. This is done by an ingenious contrivance which detaches the magnet in the box when the current is off. Otherwise, the cards, having been prepared for the purpose, would come out in pairs or double, very much after the fashion of braces used in all "skin games." This is not easy of explanation, except that every card on the lay-out corresponds with four similar cards in the pack, and that they are severally magnetized, so that any card upon which a bet is made must lose if permitted to come out double with another card. This is done through the slot, which is so arranged that a slight piece of steel can be moved so as to increase or diminish the aperture. In this manner the deal can be changed—a proceeding that all gamblers will readily understand.—Electro-Telegraphic Review.

HOW TO GROW CABBAGE PLANTS.

EDS. RURAL AMERICAN:—To all who do not already know how to grow cabbage plants, let me say, make a box six or eight inches deep, and of the size you want, (in a box sixteen or eighteen inches square a hundred plants may be grown.) Fix it up somewhere three or four feet from the ground. Go to the woods and get clean virgin earth, or the ground from where a log heap was burned, at least; there should be no seeds of any kind in it, nor the eggs of insects or black-bug. The little black bug, or cabbage fly-eggs would hatch just as well in the box as on the ground. If the ground be too poor, leach some hen-manure or other strong manure, and pour the lye on the ground. Enrich in any way you please so you get no seeds nor bug's eggs into it. Or, fix up your box and fill with garden soil, and in July or August add one pint of salt to one bushel of earth, thoroughly mixed, leave exposed to weather. Or, use garden soil, and during summer, fall and winter, throw on plenty of chamber-lye. Salt or chamber lye destroy the bug eggs, but they must not be put on after the seeds are put in, or they might not grow. But garden soil will be full of weeds, which are a great pest to cabbage plants. Clean earth from the woods is, therefore, much better. The box should be very nearly even full. Now put in good seeds and you will have good plants. C. S. B.

Soap suds should never be wasted on washing day, but should be poured on the manure heap that is designed for the garden.

The luckiest man is he who makes his luck by careful forethought.

"Wanted—An Honest, Industrious Boy."

That is the advertisement I saw the other day. "An honest, industrious boy" is always wanted. He will be sought for; his services will be in demand. He will be respected and loved. He will always have a home. He will grow up a man of worth and character.

He will be wanted. The merchant will want him for salesman or clerk. The master mechanic will want him for an apprentice or journeyman. Clients will want him for lawyer, patients for a physician, parents for a teacher for their children, and the people for a public officer.

"An honest, industrious boy." Do you answer to this description, my boy? Can you apply for this situation? You may be smart and active; but that does not fill the want. Are you honest? You may be capable. Are you industrious? You may be well-dressed, and make a good impression at first; but are you honest and industrious?—Young Reaper.

THE HUNGRY CHILDREN.

A widow spoke one morning to her five young children:

"My dear children, I can give you nothing to eat this morning. I have no bread, no meat, not even an egg in the house. Ask the dear God to help us. He is rich and mighty, and he said himself, "Call upon me in the day of trouble, and I will deliver thee." Then little Hans, who was scarcely six years old went very hungry and sad on the way to school. As he passed the open door of the church, he went and kneeled down. As he saw no person in the church, he prayed with a loud voice: "Dear Father in Heaven, we children have nothing to eat. Our mother has no bread, no meat, not even an egg. O, help us. Give us and our mother something to eat. Thou art rich and mighty, and can easily help us."

So prayed Hans, in his childish simplicity, and afterwards went to school. When he came home he saw upon the table a large loaf of bread, a dish of meat, and a basket of eggs.

"Now, thanks to God," he cried joyfully. "He has heard my prayer. Mother, has an angel brought all these through the window?"

"No," said the mother, "but still God has heard your prayer. As you kneeled a good lady was kneeling also, in her place in the church. You could not see her, but she saw you and heard your prayer. She is the angel through whom God has helped us. Now then, thank God, and never forget through your whole life to "call upon God in the day of trouble."

☞An urchin being rebuked for wearing out his stockings at the toes, replied that it couldn't be helped —"toes wiggled and heels didn't."

CARROT CULTURE.

The carrot has long been in good repute as food for cattle. I do not therefore propose a dissertation on its value. If I can make such suggestions on the best mode of securing a crop, as shall be of use to your numerous readers, I shall have performed a valuable service. As your paper is national, I shall give such direction as will subserve a general purpose. The land on which carrots are to be raised, should be rich and mellow.

To enrich it, use such means as the particular locality and kind of soil require. If located on rich bottom lands, all that will be needful may be deep plowing and thorough working the soil before you sow the seed.

But in other instances you will need to apply barn-yard manure, or lime, or guano, or whatever else experience has shown needful to enrich your soil.—Then you must plow or spade the soil to a good depth, as the length of your roots will be determined by the depth of your soil. There are soils which may be plowed 12 or 15 inches deep, and where such is the case it is better to spread on your manure; plow in, and let lie for a week or more, then stir with a long tooth harrow and plow again. This plowing and harrowing may be repeated till the soil is well mellowed and the manure well incorporated therewith. If this is accomplished by the early part of June, it will be soon enough, as from the 5th to the 15th of this month, is, in my opinion, sufficiently early, especially in our northern latitudes, to sow the seed. Before sowing it is well to rake over the surface and as a general rule to follow the raking with a roller.

Some would now mark by drawing across the field a small timber pierced with pegs, set some 14 inches apart, so arranged that from 4 to 8 rows might be marked at one crossing. But I can see no advantage in this mode over that of using a seed sower which

THE CULTIVATION OF SQUASHES.

ED. RURAL AMERICAN:—The Squash, being a tropical vegetable, requires much care and attention in northern latitudes in order to be cultivated with success. Of all the varieties that I have tested, the "Hubbard" has proved to be the very best of winter varieties. Some regard it as nearly equal to the sweet potato; but for my part I think it is greatly superior, being equally as sweet and richer by far than any sweet potato that I have ever eaten in the "sunny south."

The planting should be done as early in the spring as possible after the weather becomes sufficiently warm, so that there will be no danger of frost nipping the young plants, as they are very tender. A few hills can be planted earlier and covered with hay or straw when there is danger of frost; in fact if the season is late, it will pay well to plant a goodly patch and protect them in that way, for a very few young plants will cover a wide space of ground when old.

The land should be made deep and rich, the richer the better, particularly in the hills; the best manure being composted hen-droppings. The soil should contain a sufficient amount of sand to make it quick and warm, and a piece of land should be selected sloping well to the south so that the rays of the spring sun can be quickly felt by the young plants.

Plant in rows at least 16 feet apart, in hills from 8 to 10 feet; putting from two to three seeds in a hill and when well started thin out to one plant. Cultivate thoroughly all the ground between the rows as well as around the plants until the vines cover the ground.

It is surprising the amount of good, rich, healthy food that can thus be grown on one rood of land even as far north as lattitude 46°. The summer bush varieties may be grown in the same manner, only that they should be planted much nearer together. If the little striped bug trouble them, dust with ashes when the dew is on. R. K. B.

Silver Hill, Minnesota.

LOW HEADS FOR FRUIT TREES.—We believe in low heads. But they must not be too low where rabbits abound, as they do in some localities in the West.—The rabbits have given us a sight of trouble, eating off the low branches of both standard and dwarf trees. Trees with a trunk two or three feet high could be protected. But it is difficult to secure trees with branches close to the ground. L. L. F.

SAYING "NO" EASY.

"How is it that you never go with any bad boy, or get into bad scrapes?" asked one little fellow of his playmate.

"Oh," said the other, "that's 'cause I don't say 'no' easy."

We thank that boy for his secret. It is worth a great deal more than a bag of money. We have no doubt saying "no" easy has ruined many a child and man, and woman too—saying "no" as if you did not quite mean it.

When a bad boy or girl tries to coax you to do doubtful things, say "no" as if you meant "no" and nothing but "no!"

When she whispers an excuse for doing wrong say "no," and no mistake. When Satan asks you to serve him, and makes as great promises as he did to the Lord Jesus in the wilderness, do not say "no" easy, but answer him as Jesus did:—Get thee behind me, Satan." That is a "no" he can understand.

CULTIVATION OF TOMATOES.

Eds. Rural American:—But few people understand properly how to cultivate and raise tomatoes. They set out the plants just where and when it is convenient. If they get any tomatoes, all right, and if they fail they curse the seedman or the soil, when in fact nothing is to blame but themselves. Tomato seed should be planted early in March, in a seed pan or box. The box should be filled with a rich compost of well rotted horse manure and loam, about equal parts. The seed may be sown very thick; the box should be left in a warm, sunny place, and occasionally the soil should be sprinkled with warm, soft water. When the young plants are about an inch high, with four leaves well developed, they should be transplanted into half pint or pint pots. These pots should be placed in a frame under glass, thickly together on a bed of loam and horse manure, and the spaces between the pots filled with earth so as to make an even surface. They should be watered once every day. Treated in this way, each pot by the middle of May will contain a strong, vigorous, healthy plant. It is as well not to transplant them into the earth until about the first of June. If no cold frame or hot bed is at hand, the pots can be kept in a window, or on a stand near a window, in a room in the house. But every one can very easily construct a small frame, and with a few old windows, an article always on hand, can cover over the frame. Plant on rather light soil, but manure highly in the hill, and apply bone dust or phosphate of lime with a liberal hand. A good gardener ought to raise at least at the rate of five hundred bushels to the acre treated in this way. There are many different ways of treating the vines. They will do well left entirely to themselves, but some artificial support is better. A short ladder, four feet long and a foot and a half wide, set into the ground, is a good support. The vines should be trained and tied to the sides and rounds. A round hoop with three supports nailed on, and driven into the earth is used by many. I have succeeded best by laying fine brush on the ground under the vines. These will keep them from the dirt, which is about all that is necessary. Others use a single stake, training the vines upward and tying them to it with strong twine.

There are many good varieties to cultivate; the large, Early Smooth Red is a good variety and produces well. Keye's tomato, also, is among the best. In setting out plants always select those with a large stalk. Never apply ammoniated manures if you desire fruit; you will get splendid foliage but little fruit; use the phosphates; these will give you fruit and not foliage. Tomatoes are of little use only for the table. What you do not use in summer can up for winter use. Tomatoes in winter are a luxury, and moreover are conducive to health. Preserve you can spare for winter use.

Everett, Mass. David Rice, M. D.

THE TOMATO AND ITS CULTURE.

This fruit, long known as "the love apple," a said to have come from the far south, has rapid gained favor wherever grown. It is susceptible great improvement, though it has generally receiv less attention than most garden vegetables. Wh under careful culture they have been long in read ing their present state, the tomato has been a co paratively short time under culture, and yet, natu has done so much for it that it already holds hi rank among our finest fruits of the garden. Ma medical men claim for it valuable hygienic qualiti and the human system—that most perfect of all lab ratories—has confirmed the decision. It is delicate acid, cooling and healthful. In hot weather our ch dren seize the golden "love apples" and quen their thirst, while we all use them at our tables.

Since this fruit must be brought to perfection, w grow coarse, unsightly, spongy, ill-flavored tomato when by attending to a few simple, but import things, the finest qualities may be had?

IMPORTANCE OF SAVING SEED FROM EARLY FRUIT.

The temptation of growers for market, to sell t earliest at a large price is so great, that little seed saved except from those maturing later; doubtle under the impression that the seed is just as goo But this is a great mistake. The seed from the fru which ripens earliest any season will be the earlie and best the next year. There is no doubt that t tomato has been vastly improved by careful cultu (and can be still further) in the desirable qualities earliness, productiveness, size, solidity, fewness seeds, beauty of form, thinness of skin, delicacy flavor and richness of color.

HOW TO IMPROVE THE FRUIT.

Our experience has told us that this is the way do it:

1st. Plants should be grown in warm, light, ri soil from the seeds of the earliest ripened fruit havi most, if not all the valuable qualities mentioned.

2d. They should be grown early.

3d. During no time of their growth should th suffer from want of warmth, sunshine, fresh air, a a soil in proper mechanical and chemical conditi for their healthy growth.

GERMINATING THE SEEDS IN A LITTLE BOX.

For family use, (and it is especially with this vie we write,) the plants may be started in a little box a warm room; and for field culture in a hot-bed green house. In quite a small box all the plants a family need may be grown. A few plants well care for will be worth a great deal more than a large nu

MARY'S PRAYER.

Little Mary's mother had occasion to correct her the other night. Mary was angry, and when she said her prayers, instead of asking God to bless papa and mamma, as she was wont to do, she said, "God bless papa, and don't bless mamma."

Her mother took no notice, and Mary jumped into bed without her good night kiss. By and by she began to breathe hard, and at length she whispered, "Mamma, are you going to live a great while?"

"I don't know," was the answer.

"Do you think you shall?"

"I cannot tell."

"Do many mothers die and leave their children?"

"A great many."

"Mamma," said Mary, with a trembling voice, "I am going to say another prayer;" and clasping her little hands, she cried, "God bless papa, and the dearest, best mamma any little girl ever had in the world."

That's the way, children. If you knew your mothers were going to die very shortly, you could not be half kind enough to them. But do you know that, be they long or short-lived, there lies before you, written so plainly that he who runs may read, "Honor thy father and thy mother?"

Remember that every wrong committed against loving parents will, when they shall have passed from earth, bite like a serpent, and sting like an adder.

WHAT TO DO WHEN ANGRY.

"I get mad so quickly, and then I'm sure to say something that I'm sorry for ever afterwards."

"When angry, count three before speaking," answered the boy's father.

The next time the boy fell into a fit of anger with one of his school-fellows, he remembered the advice of his father, and counted three. By this time he was able to keep back the hard words that were ready to leap from his tongue, and so saved himself the grief of shame and repentance.

Try this remedy, quick tempered boys and girls. It is best, of course, not to get angry; but if you do happen to lose your self-control, then put a seal on your lips, and remain silent until your hot blood has cooled a little. Every time you do this, you will gain some power over your temper, and after a while be able to keep it from breaking out and doing both yourself and others harm.

BAD BOYS.

Many years ago, in a country town in Massachusetts, a teacher saw a boy come into his school, whom he knew to be one of the worst boys in town. He determined, if he could, to make a good boy of him. So he spoke kindly to him, and he behaved well that day. The next morning the Prudential Committee (as he was called,) came in and said: "Mr. Towne I hear that that bad fellow, Bill Marcy, has come to your school. Turn him out at once. He will spoil the rest of the boys." "No, sir," replied the teacher, "I will leave the school if you say so, but cannot expel a boy so long as he behaves well." So he kept him and encouraged him, and confided in him, till Bill Marcy became one of the best boys in school.—And afterwards, whenever William Marcy came from Washington, he took pains to go and see his old teacher, Salem Towne, and thank him for having been the means of saving him and making him the man he was.

NEW MODE OF GROWING THE GRAPE.

Ed. Rural American:—For some time it has occurred to me that an improvement could be made on the old plan of managing grapes in vineyard culture. It has always appeared to me that in the usual way of training upon the renewal system, viz: cutting off one cane and allowing it to grow for fruit the next season, and at the same time allowing the last year's cane to grow and bear upon the same post to which the new one is trained, was crowding the fruit too much with foliage, as well as very inconvenient to handle. Grape vines are mostly set about 7 or 8 feet apart in the row. Now would it not be better to plant them, say 3 feet apart, and grow but one to a stake. Say cut one down altogether, and allow one to stand to the fruiting stake to bear, while the other grew for fruit the next year. By thus planting close, no ground would be lost, and being but one cane to the bearing-stake, the fruit would get ample sun and air to ripen it—be more accessible to handling, &c., as would the growing cane on the other stake. Of course the ground should be well enriched to sustain so large a mass of roots as would thus accumulate, but it would certainly pay. We all know the trouble and difficulty attending the proper disposition of the growing cane and its branches, whilst growing and intermixed with the bearing cane on the same stakes, besides rendering necessary from the accumulated weight of vine, foliage and fruit, a much larger post than would be needful with but one cane to a stake. I merely throw out this hint for the consideration of others, as I mean to try the plan the next season myself.

Moorefield, W. Va. J. G. Mask.

☞ Hybrid Coleus are now being raised in England by the hundreds; The difference mostly consist in varying the number position, or forms of the blotches.

☞ The sunflower is very useful. Its leaves soon become large enough to be used as a covering for young cabbage and tomato plants. Its stem affords an excellent hop or bean pole, and when dead in the fall, if cut up and kept dry, it answers well for kindling wood. The leaves can be plucked off through the summer without injury to the plant, and dried for fodder, or fed green to milch cows or horses. Its seeds make a fine oil, or chicken feed. It is said to be an absorbent of malaria, and is often cultivated as a preventive of fevers near dwellings that occupy low places.

SETTING OUT FRUIT TREES.

Ed. Rural American:—How often it is said, I will not plant any more fruit trees, there is no use in it they all die that I put out, and it is just spending money for nothing. Three years ago I bought four acres of land and I planted out trees and vines of all kinds, and strange as it may appear to those who have no luck (as they say), I lost but few trees and I now have plenty of fruit.

1st. I bought none but good trees and vines. 2nd. I planted in the spring, which I consider the season for such work. 3d. Before setting out my trees I prepared my ground by plowing it up deep. I then laid off my ground 17 feet each way, and then I was prepared for setting out my trees. I first dug a hole 2½ to 3 inches deeper than the trees were while in the nursery, and dug the hole large enough to allow the roots of the tree to go in without bending; after the hole was thus prepared, I set in my trees and threw in on the roots a spade full of very fine dirt. I then poured in enough water to cover the roots of the tree. I then raised my tree up and down a few times to get the fine dirt all about the small roots. I then filled up the hole and packed it down hard after the two first layers of dirt were placed in, this left my tree firm and yet loose enough among the roots of the tree for all practical purposes; trees set out in this way will not die during a dry season, at at least they have not done so in my case. After setting out my trees I did not forget them, but on the other hand I took good care of them. The first two years I cultivated the ground where my apple trees were standing, the third year I seeded down to timothy, and at this time there is not a more healthy looking set of trees in the country. Trees of all kinds must be taken care of or they will do no good; and if a man does not intend to take good care of them it is useless to go to the expense of setting them out; if farmers only follow my method they will be well paid for setting out trees.

Missourian.

Luck and Labor.

Many people complain of their bad luck, when they ought to blame their own want of wisdom or exertion.

Luck is waiting for something to turn up.

Labor, with keen eyes and strong will, will turn up something.

Luck lies in bed, and wishes the postman would bring him news of a legacy.

Labor turns out at six o'clock, and, with busy pen or ringing hammer, lays the fonndation of a competence.

Luck whines.

Labor whistles.

Luck relies on chances.

Labor on character.

Luck slips down to indigence.

Labor strides upward to independence.

☞A paper in Jacksonville, Ill., has a romance of a pair of stockings:—"There is a very respectable lady now living in this county, not a dozen miles from this city, who has a pair of stockings that her father bought in Springfield, Ill., for her to be married in. She, her sister-in-law and four of her daughters, were all married in the self same pair of stockings. She yet has a beautiful and blooming unmarried daughter who declares that she, too, will stand as a bride in the same dear old stockings, provided she gets married before the death of her mother, who, by the way, is carefully preserving them to be buried in. The lady says this is the only pair of stockings she ever had that were bought from a store. She also says that she has raised the cotton and carded, and spun and knit all the stockings for herself, her husband and all their children. The pair of stockings cost one dollar and thirty cents forty years ago."

☞"These ladies are like birds that are long on the wing," said a humorous clerk to his employer as a bevy of shopping damsels left the shop. "Why so?" asked the proprieter, "Because it takes them a long time to settle on their purchase," (perches) replied the clerk. The proprietor saw the point, and was so gratified at his own acuteness that he at once raised the clerk's wages.

The Silent Coal Scuttle.—A very simple remedy has been suggested for the annoyance caused to invalids by the act of putting coals on the fire. It consists in wrapping the coals in paper bags and placing them quietly on the fire with the hand, when the bags quickly ignite and leave the coals to be distributed noiselessly over the fire.

☞A correspondent of the Country Gentleman, in an article on raising wheat, says: "If the farmers of this State would try one half as hard to raise their own bread as some of them do to raise fast horses to spoil their children with, we should soon hear the last of importing wheat from the West."

☞The Agricultural Department's report for August states that the probabilities are that the corn crop will fall considerably below that of last year, and that the cotton crop will be as large, if not larger, than that of 1868.

☞The evening is the time for social delight. The fountains of pleasure, like many springs in nature which stop in the daytime, bubble up in the bosoms of companions at nightfall.

☞To reprove all faults with undue vehemence is as absurd as if a man should take a great hammer, because he saw a fly on his friend's forehead.

☞Grace does not destroy nature, but rather perfects it. Grace is of ble offspring; it neither turns men into stocks nor stoics.

☞Cooked meal is nearly double the bulk of uncooked, yet quart for quart it goes as far. The difference is, that much of the food is undigested unless cooked.

☞All plants grow stronger and ripen better when the air circulates freely around them, and the sun is not prevented from an immediate influence.

☞Douglas Jerrold says a garden is a beautiful book, writ by the finger of God; every flower and every leaf is a letter.

Safety in Thunder Storms.

Sedulously avoid all conductors of electricity. Do not shelter under trees, nor go near them; the great majority of accidents arise from want of this precaution. Do not handle or be very close to metalic bodies; a servant cleaning a silver fork at a window, during a thunder storm, the prongs being outward, was struck, but not killed; a young lady, during the same storm, sewing near a window, was thrown from her seat and experienced a glow. The centre of a room, if a metalic lustre is not pendant, is safer than any other part of the apartment. It is not safe to be between the window and the door, or fire-place, where there is a current of air. A bed is the securest retreat; so all ye who fear, and fail to derive pleasure, mingled with awe, in beholding this, the grandest of nature's meteors, ensconce yourselves within the woolen folds, and, sink in your downy couch; if ye cannot fall in to a gentle slumber, think at least that you enjoy comparative safety.—Dr. Thompson's Meteorology..

The Secret,

"I noticed," said Franklin, "a mechanic among a number of others at work on a house erecting but a little way from my office, who always appeared to be in a merry humor, who had a kind word and cheery smile for every one he met. Let the day be ever so cold, gloomy or sunless, a happy smile danced like a sunbeam on his cheeaful countenance. Meeting him one morning, I asked him to tell me the secret of his constant and happy flow of spirits. 'No secret, doctor,' he replied. 'I have got one of the best wives, and when I go to work she always has a kind work of encouragement for me, and when I go home she meets me with a smile and a kiss; and then tea is sure to be ready, and she has done so many little things through the day to please me, that I cannot find it in my heart to speak an unkind word to anybody.'"
